AT: Well, it's the strangest thing, there, I said I don't know about that, basically as far as planets in or out. I specifically recall and know about basically, pulsating energy to push and indigo vibration across the whole, momentarily. Strong enough, like over a decibel you know, segment of time with a high enough intensity basically to send a shockwave to destabilize certain structures, certain systems. And so, It's the strangest thing where you know, with the planet and all of that and I'm over here—then saying, “I don't know” but as far as, you know hearing them basically talk about you and hearing you talk about this and then in 2010, you were talking about this and I'm just kind of inclined to back you, basically. And so it's the same energy here, it's just in a massive confirmation to the point where, I have the tendency to point where if you're enacting something, I feel like affirming and . . .not falling in line, but to stepping up and backing it basically. I don't know how to put it.

PLB: I manifested a crystal form. One of my retuning crystals over the Eiffel Tower. All the way down into, underground, all the way to the core of the earth. And that was a major tool they were using to program people and when I did that for four hours solid, I lit the entire Eiffel Tower up with orbs. And this is recorded. I mean, when I do works, because when I believe hard enough and my own abilities—Gaia gives me the energy to back it up from the earth, from herself, to push this. And I can push these changes for like 6 hours in a row.

AT: Mmm hmm. And this is what was described there. And I also know of this process where it's ability to hold realities, to focus one's energy and to intend and feel the intention with their whole being, which is, you know, belief. And basically, that's how this is all being done. And as well, that's how people are being fought against. By getting people to say . . . be spiritually degraded, to fall in line with that whole program. It destroys civilizations and it's just belief it's just mind. So, in the same sense, this is basically a war of the mind, if you will. But it's weird, because we were both basically brought into this, situation, this faction. And we were not only brought into this situation but brought into this universe, this time-line to fulfill this role, and this faction, basically, we brought the faction here. So, it's weird. This is part of that and I don't want to say too much because of the whole security issue, but this is part of that . . .

PLB: I won't get into anything that's (??) I won't record anything that's (??).

[1:45:00]

PLB: And, yeah, I want more people to wake up and start contributing to the effort of moving us out of the range of interaction with these folks. That's what it comes down to.

AT: Right.

PLB: And I guess, in a manner of speaking, not only am I keeping them at bay with the stuff that I do, and taking a lot of them out and their creations out, so they're not a factor in the equation anymore. But I'm also trying to do things in the public eye enough where people will see this and look at it and say, you know, “I've got to reevaluate my concept of reality and what's real and what isn't.”

AT: Well, that's what kind of I'm, I'm hinting at here. I say hinting in my mind, how people respond to this information is going to become part of this battle. How people react to it. The emotional response. The ability to comprehend the possibilities. The advanced technology. The layers of reality and consciousness and how this is the basics of how reality manifests. Through higher-dimensionality and higher-dimensional—what are now only theoretical physics.

PLB: The perfect example I give everybody is everybody reads in a textbook what the speed of light is. Well, guess what? That is not the speed of light. And what's in your textbook, is they took ten top scientists around the world who measured the speed of light. Every one of them came up with a different answer because their experience interfered with the measurement. As everything you do does. So what they did is they took all ten answers, added them together and then divided them by 10. And that's what they published as the "speed of light." But here is no real speed of light. It's not a fixed number. It's whatever you and your ability to manifest, make it.

AT: Right. We're in a frequency-relative environment.

PLB: That's why Keshe . . . things that they do and they want you to make all these little experiments. Most of the people out there can't get them to work because in their minds, they don't believe they work. And that's the only thing keeping them from making it work (laughing).

AT: So, I kind of just had a . . . about the Keshe. So that is what they told me and I'm getting a little more information in my head now. So basically, they released these devices, which don't work unless the person knows how to properly activate it or their energy naturally has that effect. And in doing so, whoever chimes in and says they got it to work now these are the people that get targeted and their DNA taken and cloned because they can build these cyborg soldiers from them that are then capable of accessing these realms, realities, secured zones . . . it's basically all about getting through to secured zones, where the infection has been cleared and is temporally inhibited. It's basically an immune system. An immune area. And it's crazy because it's almost like rabid animals or something where they're like really, really happy and bloodthirsty to try and get into these areas. That's what they want, that's all that they think about and all they want. I kind of had the reoccurrence of that information, which is what that technology release was all about.

PLB: There's four control rooms. The last one is in IRAN, which is why we're pushing to go to IRAN. If you have people in all four control rooms, you could reconfigure their . . .

AT: Right, that's what they told me. And these are supposedly protected strongholds for humanity and there's basically dimensional technology, which is meant to . . . a being, a parasite-hosted being or a . . .

PLB: Karen, move your mic away from your speaker . . .

AT: I spoke about this before as far as these scanner systems that will detect in any humans are in the system or are passing into the gates into these bases that have-are parasitic hosts and they incinerate that individual instantly, and so there are bases

[1:50:03]

o

03:59:28

Aug – It doesn't work the same anymore. It's not completely... You know, you can't just go on and press a button. But we've got to go ahead and this is basically inactive now.

And last time, I'll tell you, that I bridged (3:59:42) here from a previous timeline and the last time, this civilization didn't exist at this point. They fired their machines and collapsed time. And took out New York and DC and I had a lift at that, and watched it.

So, well, apparently that is deactivated and so because then I wouldn't be here today.

And, so, I was holding my breath for the last two years, but that's what it is... and... That means that the other * (4:00:12) is coming forth.

04:00:13

X – Four years ago we talked * (4:00:15) as how we were great! would regret... and had them actually go and removed all of them ... rendered all * (4:00:23) inert.

There is a ... a couple still out there... they're really hard to get to and... they're still working on it because... during the cold war both us and Russia actually drilled (4:00:33) nuclear weapons into buildings!

04:00:36

Aug – They're all over the place now. And they probably...

04:00:40

PB – Digging those out and rendering those inert... has been the difficult part. I think there are still a couple that are still active and... but they know where they are and just haven't got into it yet, so they put a blockage on them and they've never been triggered.

04:00:57

Aug – They disabled them from being primed. There was two explanations here connected to that... and one is that in foresight of this possibility they have high explosives all throughout America in the buildings, built into the majority of every city, within the structure of the buildings.

So that they can literally blow the surface...

04:01:27

PB – It's a thing, though. And this was discovered ... I mean, the whole govt says...

And they're venting methane here and out in California... if you just mix in the right amount it ignites automatically.

That's a natural process. And guess what... * control over natural processes... If Gaia don't want to *.. they won't. Just like they deliberately tried to create a rift from the golf all the way up to lake Michigan. (4:01:55)

And they try to bring in the ocean into that valley and make it into a sea and everything using methane as explosive...

And Gaia said: "No. I'm not going to blow up."

That freaked them * the hell out

Because neither those works

That was the whole golf Deep blow Horizon

That was deliberate

That was to release the methane hydrate.

Didn't work

It doesn't blow up

04:02:21

Aug – That's part of what was described. And as well working at a kind of like a programming system, simulator system... the functions activated under administrator user titled "natural law" or "natural events" they do not have access to anymore... and they really didn't ever... but they have kind of leeway of control.

04:02:41

PB – But this is Gaia's classroom and she said "NO!" (haha)

04:02:43

Aug – That's basically what... but it's literally * what was going on... * it is the strangest things as far as...

"Here's a list of stuff you can do". And then there's a chunk at the bottom... *

You know, these segments now more and more and more... we have two options left. But the idea is that * that's off because we lost that charter, we've lost that.... That part of the ruler book, if you will, and it's crazy but that's how it's going on.

It is the strangest thing but...

04:03:09

PB – Those command codes have been rendered inactive.

04:03:12

Aug – Exactly.

04:03:13

PB – They're not functional

04:03:14

Aug – I'm fumbling for words here, but that's what is into... The idea is that they have a playbook of command codes that correlate to events disasters, play... moves, if you will, to subjugate humanity and that's how they ruled this civilization for thousands of years like past the depth of this system. Along with the media and other stuff, not to mention those known as psyops.

04:03:39

PB – But now that conscious is coming on it. It's like the rugs have been pulled out from under, because a lot of stuff that used to work doesn't anymore.

04:03:46

Aug – Right. Apparently that's the whole trend. All we have to do is continue with the self-awareness, and basically a cosmic intelligence which is capable of disabling the AI and completely rendering their forces null and basically void and... but we also have to step in and pull back *

04:04:13

PB – It is totally like what they are trying to do with internet. Have different listed speeds in things. And Gaia has moved those command codes all the way to the top where if you don't have the energy you can't make them work.

04:04:23

Aug – Right, * also comes down to... like as far as * encryption and passwords and they break the encryptions * where do they go... operation or authorization ... — authentication, excuse me — aspects of it that is no longer passcodes. It is, you have to have this level of power in order to access these commands and so everything is going one step up, one step up, one step up, from one level to the next, to the point where they * completely *

04:04:47

PB – And if are fifth level energy don't have the empathies or the mentality that would do it.

04:04:55

Aug – Exactly. * everything out. Because it's not in line with that type of power. And it also makes the situation to be seen as this whole thing got out of hand because people without power, and people from a very low frequency gain very very high technology and as if power fell to the hands of a twelve-year boy raging hormones and the PCP grab the shock * something *.. I don't wanna bring up... I don't wanna put that into the cosmic, the collective unconscious.

But that is our past, as far as these humans that kind of got this technology and played around with the playbook and the rulebook of reality to see how much we could.. how far they could go, how far they could subjugate the human race. How much we will take basically. And it's base is reversing. It's all reversing just because cosmic intelligence and all the regenerative builds of DNA, and how ... everything that we've mentioned before... *

04:05:53

PB – I mean that's why the tribes and clans, Gaia and everything have settled too much power and * and me, because guess what... the old say that absolute power corrupts absolutely. That's only true if you have a stake in the game. I'm trying here to do a job. And guess what? When this job is done, I go home.

04:06:15

Aug – That's the whole point.

04:06:16

PB – So, yeah, you can throw all that power to me. I'll use it and get the job done because I'm not going to abuse it because I don't really have a stake on it, I don't. I'm not staying around.

04:06:27

Aug – That's the way it works. That the beings that are basically, in a remote access, have no desire, intention or even the possibility really of benefiting from abusing the system. Makes it a look kind of strange if that's what it takes to help this situation but that's what it is. And so...

04:06:47

PB – And I graduated out of this a long time ago, and I volunteered to come back and do this. So I'm settled with what I volunteered to do. So I * I don't really * you about it, I know what I need to do. I know it's gonna be ... you know... a slog, but, you know, that's what I volunteered to do, so...

04:07:09

Aug – Right. And I can say something about that but ... all the people... they will do what they do. Because, yeah... we're basically...

04:07:19

PB – I mean most people out there, they have a stake in this and they want to * kids and all that, that's really important to me, even though, if you really look at it from a truthful standpoint that kids are not their kids, they are * because offspring can be anything... any kind of being from fifth level or above... inhabiting in it, so, even that, you know, going that is so far from being so like overly bent out of shape and concern about it. I have such a different point of view on it, that I can't even be that concerned about my own daughter like Karen does. I did a mission to pull Karen's daughter out of a dome *, ... up there where they had the * Calgary * I pulled her out of there... because we really didn't have any safe place to put her * Gaia's lab * Gaia... fix her up... or * because Gaia is kind of stuck here and can't come out of the planet... because then we could lose the planet and that's the stupid thing that * * was in charge of Tiamat * get out of the planet ... and that's how it could be destroyed. Because, Gaia gets, you know, in the planet, gets to control the whole * natural processes that can prevent it from going boom So, she is kind of stuck here. I mean, I have a daughter. I have kids too, and I can't get that deep emotionally attached into it because in the reality, although it's my avatar's child, the being that's actually inhabiting has nothing to do with me. You know...

04:09:22

Aug – More or less. It gets weird here, but...

04:09:26

PB – I haven't said that, but it's all connected to... So... That sounds like a contradiction...

04:09:32

Aug – Right, right. Yes, it's distinct... It is exactly. People basically that are not prepared will not be able to understand what that means. And it also doesn't mean we are all one...

04:09:45

PB – Do you get overly concerned about one person * or is missing the more important: to save the all.

04:09:54

Aug – That's basically the s***, excuse me, that's going down. And we have this kind of obscured view of love where we're all gonna focus on certain positioned place that makes it's feel good and great... well, everyone dies, that's not love... true love is person who does sacrifice in their time to help everyone, equally. And... a ... you know...

04:10:17

PB – And I can't get all warm-and-fuzzy and helpful with the lower beings who I know from looking at it from upstairs outside of * before * came down here. They can't even allow. I can't play warm-and-fuzzy with them. I can't!

04:10:34

Aug – It would be incorrect to look at them like oh, you know, poor things, and to feel sympathy for them as parasites while they devour our species, children and ourselves.

04:10:48

PB – We've got warm-and-fuzzy like workers.

Who have done face time with * dracos who killed her 6 times in a row! She keeps coming back and playing warm-and-fuzzy!

I mean, they gave up on killing her. But she's not helping the situation at all.

She's not doing the job, her manifestation, what's meant to do.

She's playing warm-and-fuzzy trying to save people who can't be saved!

04:11:16

Aug – Right.

04:11:17

X – Are they intelligent and sentient beings? Yes, but * they are stuck, because they were bad designed. And we can't fix them, at least not without breaking the rules that *... the bad guys broked... make us where we are! And we are not doing that again.

04:11:38

Aug – It repeats the cycle...

X – *

04:11:39

Aug – It has to dissolve basically. It has to dissolve and there's no more suffering.

04:11:43

PB – You have to break the cycle of abuse *

04:11:49

Aug – And that doesn't satiate that desire to feel the addictive empowerment from that continued cycle, which is... basically what it is... it is like an infection, like an addiction. What to do is... we literally have to starve the parasite, and that's gonna look really weird, that's gonna look painful and it's probably gonna scream and gonna use all types of sympathy games to trying get us to give it what it wants. Which will undoubtedly destroy us.

This is * building process. It is the craziest thing. I'm telling you. You know. Like, there is this civilization of people who have already gone through this and everyone last of them will not hesitate, meaning * highest degree of what you would call a warrior, but is because of that love * the law. You know, principles. Like, you don't have words for actual people in this... the real universe outside of these constructs, these generic matrix * that where basically people, human, if you will, * are trapped

04:12:53

PB – That is why I wanna bring Tiamat back, because they have already had this experience. They have already learned that lesson. They are lost, they *. That is what they did

04:13:02

Aug – Right.

04:13:03

PB – And, so, yeah, I figured that would give us some more manpower on our side of the equation and take the large * of knowledge to the general populace that * is holding, and take * away, and allow the flow of information to go to the people.

04:13:20

Aug – * that * to be enacted, then that would be what it is, we are getting to a point here. I wasn't planning to... I literally wasn't planning on this timeline existing, so there is no telling of what is about to happen from my point of view, but a lot of...

04:13:44

PB – The first part of my mission, you know, from birth up to the arrival of the council was covered in getting involved in all these programs and getting * information of everything that was going on and * speaking to justify what was going to come next. Because, yeah, the arrived on the *. And now...

04:14:10

Aug – We are going as kind of they reversed * and they think * happened their way * and now we don't need papers signed in order to *

04:14:22

PB – And I have got them yelling at me saying that I have * and all kinds of... I'm doing what needs to get done to come out of this on * side. And I don't care whether they like it or not that is * way it is going to be done. Help me or not, you know, * way

04:14:47

Aug – This is humanity and this prosperity or participating in the downfall.

04:14:55

PB – That is what I mean. Most of the collective council standing up there, they are dealing with stuff in space that manages to get through all the shielding and stuff they put up * comes in through the * or what not. But as far as actually down here, you know, because they are caught up in their rule system where they think giving the help we need is breaking their rules. But, and they although actually trying to stop to * religion... who is actually doing help *. Like *. I've only got two commanders with small battle fleets comparably with the hundreds that are out of there * that are actually * hybrid cabal * planet * transfer * shot down * most of the council. Hijacked, because they didn't even see it coming

04:15:56

Aug – I actually remember some of that. It was like a once and never again type of situation.

04:16:03

PB – Yeah. And they took advantage of it and, yeah, basically took the majority of forces right out of the equation

04:16:11

Aug – Gave them * of time.

04:16:12

PB – Yeah.

04:16:13

Aug – Of course, though, the natural system, the consciousness and genetics kind of rebounded. Had they taken a hit like that they wouldn't have the capacity to come back. So, it's all a measure of how you look at it. You know. This a testimony of strength for the humans side.

04:16:34

PB – Yep. And we have a lot of lessons to teach them.

04:16:37

Aug – More or less.

04:16:38

PB – Specially when this comes to reading everything of this * because Gaia designed us specifically to do that.

04:16:46

Aug – Yep.

04:16:49

PB – And we are not the first... but... and that's why we scare so many other races. They want our abilities and ourselves but they don't want us because Anybody who's fully restored, you cannot pin them in, or cause them to do anything they don't want to do.

04:17:11

Aug – You can't control.

04:17:13

PB – They don't need you or anything else.

04:17:15

Aug – Exactly. It's an immediate threat of free range at a temporally free agent and that doesn't fit into a prison system. So, it is actually part of how the system is handled. That, the people who *

04:17:31

PB – And not just here. Through the *. Through multiple *, multiple stars... entire galaxies! This whole level of creation. Every galaxy you see out there when you up to the night sky * galaxies and everything outside the Milky Way. This is going on across all of it. That's how bad this is. So * stars.

04:17:56

Aug – It's kind of explain it's a kind of holographic reflexion that what happens begins here temporally because this is a dense physical layer and wherever you look is a kind of like looking into the past as well to the future is a strange thing. But * that means if we kick that infection here at this node of Earth that it disables it all over the universe throughout existence.

04:18:20

PB – If you... If you go through the great attractor down to the next level, the conditions are so different that this infection can't work. However, if you go through the great expeller, you are going to go up three levels before you get out of this * infection. That is how sad it is.

04:18:44

Aug – I know some of...

04:18:44

PB – We're at bottom of the bucket. * down here.

04:18:48

Aug – Right, and ... is basically... it discovers dimensional layers. One way to look at it as far as it was described and showed me is that... the infection was swept from all the areas of the cosmos in these other layers into Earth as part of this purge that will gonna basically kill the parasite. And this, like this crazy process, it's almost like an ayahuasca ceremony where humans are going to throw up and violently be ill and... and get out this parasite. But... in part in doing that, from all other locations where the parasite were essentially gathered, kind of "lowered here" as if it they were * food.. you know, like * zombies or something to Earth to attract them here and that it would either destroy Earth and instantly through time spread fractally to other areas of the universe or it would be destroyed here and that would... like kind * a hive mind temporally it would... rewinded * erased from all the other presences and the universe they've drilled through time from all the other places and condensed here in the most condensed manner, because if we disable it here where it's more concentrated and condensed than any other place in the universe, than it disables in the those other areas. Because like a big consciousness exist.

04:20:08

PB – Oh... makes it so easy to just go through and correct the code.

04:20:12

Aug – Yeah, just be like pressing a few buttons.

04:20:15

PB – And if you go through the great attractor, the rules of that level of creation is so different that... It's irrelevant. The same thing if you go three levels up. Beyond that, the virus can't function.

04:20:32

Aug – As far as what I know, there are seven harmonic layers that we're connected to * that there are Earth civilizations and they can't exist upwards of, I think, one, two or three layers beyond this one. If not pretty much beginning to die or not be able to co-exist at all and basically in a parasitic fashion at the next layer up. And down below, though, there is... it was explained that there's...

04:21:00

PB – What these dimension levels when you look out there and see Laniakea. If you picture three layers of that, that's how high up the dimension stack... the infection goes, however. In any one dimension, if you move the beings themselves the level of our energy levels again... and you fall out of the range of influence of the virus. So, this is a weird thing because you don't have to go all way up to the top of the three, to get beyond the three, and in each level you have energy frequencies, density levels that also takes you out of the infection, which is where we're supposed to graduate or transition to. And they try to put a stop to it.

04:21:49

Aug – Right, and this is just another way that we would get out of it the day after work * This is part of what was explained. This part, there are others seven universes, if you will, harmonic universes, then there are dimensional layers and there are basically densities or energy to the point where you can go to another layer of the universe harmonic where there is a majority of a certain type of energy density in that layer but as well you can go, say, into a * realm and pump your energy up to what would be a level five and technically one could be in the lower, you know, dimensional layer at a level five layer, and this kind of... it's basically there's one layer of locations and then there is dimensional energy layers aside from the locations. It's very confusing, * there's only two layers and it's made * complex, it * to be.

04:22:42

PB – I've got an easy way to explain this. If you... Have you ever played multiple level tic-tac-toe or chess or anything like that? We have, you know, stack levels or you move the marbles *. If you picture seven levels down here, anything higher than level five you're outside of that. So we have 1 through 7 here. The next level up. It's... I mean, we have 2 through 7 here. The next level up. You have 3 through 8. The next level above that, you know, you have 4 through 9. So that's kind of how they stack... so, once you go to 5 or out of it, the next level doesn't have to go as high up to get out of it.

04:23:32

Aug – Right. It's kind of like the time or, excuse me, the speed of light, where there's like a leap, there's a relatively point, a balance point. And, say, it goes up so high * now there are these energy levels you wouldn't have to increase any levels at the heights level to get out of it because there are already relatively high there.

04:23:48

PB – The lowest levels are already out of there.

04:23:51

Aug – Exactly. It's like... We would have to draw a diagram or something to make this more easy to understand for people.

04:23:58

PB – I actually did that. And I also added in the frequency levels of the other races in, *to ties into... why they did specific breeding programs was to change the * frequency at that DNA level to stop that.

This is the graphic for that, and this also ties into, you know, a screen with hormones and everything creating other issues.

That is the PNG. * send the JPEG. I got a JPEG of it too.

But yeah, this is the kind of crap they do.

The JPEG didn't * either? Oh, I guess you'll have to open it.

04:24:44

Aug – I get the PNG. The 5 level ascending.

04:24:50

PB – And once we get to the first level energy density * outside of the range * interacting. * they will breed and raise here * lower frequency, so DNA is our frequency. And that is part of why they did the hybrid program, to drag DNA level human frequencies lower. Not only so that... they can hijack the parameters are moving out of our range of perceiving them. And beyond of our range of interaction. There's all * stupid this tags into with their little game but... Yep! We had them ... I had them tagged a long time ago * how just exactly what effects * that they were trying to achieve with what they are doing and why.

04:25:50

Aug – This was actually shown to me that day. And there's another one that I was just like this as far as... is very similar and then there is this one.

04:26:01

PB – That brings us back around to the nine row and nine coding as at first the guys originally * it, the original coding was 10 code. That's just another way they clipped us. To primarily implant us into the game. But the new code the guys are broadcasting, this * 10 code.

There is a check there * 10 code it is, there is a check there on every line of DNA code.

So, if you put the coding together it doesn't line up to the right number at the end * it won't run.

04:26:49

Aug – There's something about that as well basically they won't be able to produce anymore cyborg units because they won't activate, they basically won't turn on. And not necessarily cyborg, the human, the bio-cyborgs, are essentially * DNA, they're genetically engineered beings that they can't actually * It's literally like authentication for service system.

04:27:08

PB – Well, I mean, it's just like they make RAM for computer. You have ECC error-checking RAM, * extra chip that does every checking, you know, everything that goes in so it doesn't * back into processor. That is what that 10 bit is. They are checking, the whole sequence has to have the right checked * number, at the end or it ain't gonna run.

04:27:37

Aug – And that's basically a live updated by the cosmic intelligence to circumvent any more parasitic action.

04:27:46

PB – Well, that's I mean, it's an automatic repair code. And that's what .... This is it. This is a sample * 10 code. The guys broadcasting it doesn't even exist in their genome. Energy is just pumped into every male's and female's mainstream DNA to do repairs, self-repair. mitochondrial tangle.

That's what they are trying to * with cellular and * network signals and * and all of that.

04:28:18

Aug – Right.

04:28:19

PB – They * in. And once that gets in, it stops, putting everything back to * back. That code has access to the *.

04:28:29

Aug – Right. They described this as basically there's a signal, like you said, from Gaia coming out and that this is basically a signal being imposed out that reverses all the damages that they spent thousands of years drilling into the human genome and that it literally automatically begins to undo all the work that they've done and that they can't exit and come back this code because it operates on a level outside of all their containment systems and if it's like a simulator computer system outside of the of their authentication capacity, far beyond it . And it's just like this "Deus Ex Machina", which exists beyond and for humanity as if it is basically cosmic intelligence, a protector, a natural function.

04:29:12

PB – This guy, James D. Watson. Do you know who is? He's one of the bigwigs in the whole Human Genome Project. He works for Monsanto. They gave him some extra beauty boost using * putting in his body * and this is immediately on data. And he said: "No". That got they really upset.

04:29:37

Aug – That is also, the other idea is they use this genetic engineering to enhance their IQ to basically that of gods. * they can't build the psychic empathic ability to heal and regenerate and things like that. All of they do have regenerative-like human capacities and * technologies, but they give themselves super intelligence and now, that is literally being degraded, is being sucked out of them and they're going back to regular intelligence.

4:59:57-5:15:16

4:59:57

Aug: Very interesting... ..stretching out... stretching out my ability to really much comprehend this.

Pattie: With the crossovers and the weapons and yeah my...my ships are....

Aug: This is...this is what was explained though, this type of stuff. And this is towards the end of the whole experience where this was literally pushing my... I... I ... I couldn't stay, I couldn't keep up basically with this stuff.

Pattie: I've been able to do this stuff since I was in sixth grade.

Aug: Wow... I could... I basically had what I could do now in sixth grade; but that's not the ability to comprehend the, the basics to do this.

Pattie: And this is to... to take the battle out to the negatives to get the fractal infection cleared from all levels. That is why the Civil Legion and I made a compact. Uh... When we get this sorted out, I gotta stay around long enough for them ...they wanna be able to put down ah... well part of it is immediately triage centers to get the rest of humanity cured and back to original factory manufacturer spec: as decreed by Gaia. The other thing is they want to set up embassies where they can recruit, repair humans to go out there for the cleanup battle of...you know... getting rid of the rest of the fractal infection elsewhere.

Aug: Right...I heard about that...that that's what the plan is after.

Pattie: And in exchange I just want replicators. Immediately, so we can get this thing kick started. I've created whole bios enclaves and everything to do the...uh transfer over to a non-predatory living system as well as be able to repair...uh... the environment and things of that nature; a...a nonmonetary system once you get inside there, self-sufficient...uh...because each biodome has uh...twelve temperature environments where you can grow anything from around the entire planet- locally. uh...which does away with the whole thing of shipping and...uh... you know...not having what you need. It just disassembles their whole system of demand and you know making things near and dear costly to get from other places- do away with that whole mess. uh...It creates free power, free everything as well as you have like a mini stone hedge built in the bottom to keep people repaired and all of that and bring them along to the next level; and transit system to go in between with trains and all that. uh... Like I said, I'm you know...(5:02:48)all this stuff out...uh...They won't let me build it because uh...they- all the technology to build this stuff they won't allow it all in one place on the planet.

Aug: Right, it's a threat. I mean it could be used by either side.

Pattie: Yeah...And some of these I've even done some to make use of some of the places that they've really, really damaged Gaia. I've actually made enclaves specifically that would fit in those fricking awful holes they made. You know? uh... like pit mines.

Aug: Right, right, right.

Pattie: Pit mine locations are perfect for building these things ay? Places like this, that where they've really done massive damage. A whole transit system as well uh... to go in between the enclaves and...and I've put this out to these people that are supposedly looking into doing it and uh...they're not uh...they're not responding.

Like anything else they're...they want to do something that's basically...uh...perpetuating them having a job. It pays the money. I've looked into all these transit systems out there. You can get the components to build the proper one, but none of the ones that they're out there prototyping now not even...uh...what's the name?...uh...that's building the Tesla car? He's doing an edition of this too, but he's doing it again with profiteering. I mean the Tesla cars if you took one of those Unix motors and put it into a generator and installed...there's a place in back of those cars you can install that paired up-never have to plug the car in again.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: And you can't tell me that he doesn't know.

Aug: Oh, he...he's a part of uh...Ra. I'm not gonna say too much. He knows. Everyone in view of these types of technology has been briefed on the quote unquote situation on Earth.

Pattie: He's behind SpaceX...uh...whose working with them and uh...matter of fact that launch of SpaceX that we took out. Um...yeah we're trying to resupply the one uh...weapon that they still had with some nuclear capability although it was only zero point five kilotons and it was the old warheads from the Davey Crockets. And that's the, the uh ("R"5:05:25) They managed to...that was the only nuke they managed to sneak down when they hit China. They put down six rods and only one of them had a warhead on it; and they missed the target. Because uh... the Chinese their Olympic pool where they uh...you know for the Olympics – if you look down on the bottom of there, there's actually a doorway opens up and they had a space weapon there. And that was the whole point of the attack was to take out the space weapon. But because they took out the power system they did disable the weapon. But they missed: by uh... three quarters of a mile. That was a miss. Six rods and they still couldn't get a bullseye. That's pretty sad. And they were gonna – that SpaceX launch we blew up, they were gonna go up there and re(5:06:14) the rods and (5:06:15) That's what was on board...

Aug: That's part of what I recall as far as that being a movement for weaponization. And uh... to set up part of this situation. And I was shown ...I was given-I'm just gonna put this out there. I, we're basically putting it out there. I'll just say to put it out there as well, Elon was there and he's been briefed. And he knows what's going on. I was given a ride along on the craft that detonated his rocket. I literally watched it vaporize in front of my eyes at a very, very high rate of speed to the point where they had to go back and point it out because I was like flabbergasted as well. I'd just been through a friggin battle getting killed...

Pattie: It didn't take a whole lot. A single magnetic pulse in the right spot is all it takes: Boom.

Aug: I wasn't violating that. However, I was there for it. Which is, and I'm not saying I did anything. But they showed me to say "Look, this is what we're doing. This is happening." And I'm assuming so that I stamp this into the...the time spectrum, the collective unconscious so that people know. Basically, so I'd deliver it to the public. And I, that's not all that I've seen as far as flybys and things like that. That's just the most uh... one of the technically the most recent but that's something that I was shown. I mean technically I was there because it wasn't a visual that I was shown. I was transported to the craft and we flew by at a very, very high rate of speed. And at the corner of my eye, this ocular viewing lens that we have a glitter of bright something jettisoned out. Which is not, I was not piloting. And I was not managing the, the weapons. Um, but I have before on a different craft. But that's what happened at a very high rate of speed. I know the guy that operated it. I talked to him afterwards. 'Cause they explained it to me. So, strange stuff. But, I guess this is all coming out now it's gonna go to the next layer. This information coming out is going to push things to the next layer because they were gonna make a move to try and do something about it and that's what there is supposed to happen and it's the bait for them to make that move.

Pattie: They're actually crippled by their own deception.

Aug: Exactly.

Pattie: Because they can't put up technology that could get past that thing without admitting to the level of technology they have.

Aug: That would trigger everything.

Pattie: I mean I've pointed out, you know, how much of a fraud NASA is and all that.

Aug: They're a part of this whole thing.

Pattie: And uh... I've even raided their server and put out the ("____") on you know uh... proper engine designs and things like that that they've got and uh...I mean...I don't know how people can even believe that NASA is real at this point anyway. Matter of fact NASA personnel had a rude awakening a couple of years ago. That's why they let go sixty thousand individuals. And they scared the bejesus out of 'em...and what did they do? They all went to Northern hard bedrock locations and built underground bunker houses. Which scared even the people even more.

Aug: Oh, I remember that: the big bugout.

Pattie: Yeah.

Aug: I remember that.

Patti: But even the people that are left there: seventy or so percent don't have a clue. They're still working blind. To the fact that the whole thing's a fraud. That's sad.

Aug: More of less... A lot of them are into the whole ritual entrainment. Basically, they're plugged into the hive. That's usually the running game for a lot of these, these front industries.

Patti: Either that or they get the leverage of uh... you say anything you don't get to take a ride off earth ever again.

Aug: Well that's the other. There's two folds of that of we are you know gonna survive this and we're the resistance but screw everyone else and we're getting out of here. Or there's the idea of that they don't, they, they want to help(5:10:18) but they don't want to permit the technology to get out into the public because they feel that that could be used against the public or that it would endanger the public. But the large majority is people selling out. And people... But there is also a complex where they're basically in this kind of hive mind satanic overlord system where it's more so they're doing this for the preservation of themselves, and this you know sacrificing the majority of the community is just how it has to be. But that's part of that hive mind illusion. It doesn't have to be that way. That's actually what's making it that way.

Pattie: Yeah. Remember when they uh...they put that poor girl up and tried to tell her she had to put the information out without telling them about the return from the white satellite? How, and they were asking her key questions and she did very good at not saying what she wasn't supposed to be saying but said it anyway?... about what was up there?

Aug: I'm not sure.

Pattie: And said they weren't gonna re...the Y satellite: WISE all the bodies moving around and stuff up there?...And they did the press release and all that and they put that poor girl up there, who said uh... you gotta...you know explain this without telling them anything. And she told them without telling them.

Aug: I'm getting a little bit of some memory of some explanation here but more than that it would be basically contrived.

Pattie: That there's some bodies out there...that uh...you know...her wording I mean she tried. But it was all for naught because the data she said that it would take them years to analyze and everything... umm... I went and grabbed it and released it the next day to the public. That's what the white satellite picked up. All the extra exoplanets and everything. It's just -- and everything and uh... the ships moving around and stuff. So, it was like uh...that was just a joke. It's like you should've just gave it to 'em and said you know, we don't know what to make of this. Because you would've been better off than trying to sham them the way you did with that press release. Especially when you know you got somebody like me in your system 'cause I built it and I put etheric stuff in there. So, there's no way they can decouple my stuff or, or avoid me getting in there to get it. And I'm gonna post it the next day and I did. So, that's what they couldn't show.

Aug: I do recall that event. I'm fairly certain this was brought up and even individuals possibly I'm pretty certain they were brought up. And uh... there was some joking basically about how they kind of gave her the...the...that scenario that you outlined.

Pattie: Yeah.

Aug: Which is gonna sound like I kind of like made that up or agreed with you but that's kind of how these are, these are not extremely necessary memories for me. So, they're literally like an aside file system in my memory.

Pattie: I, I put myself in her shoes looking at this and I says I mean how's she gonna tell? They put her in an impossible situation. Especially when you got public there that were starting to wake up and ask the really critical questions. Because this was uh... when the whole thing about Nibiru was coming out and all that. It was like, how do you answer that? You can't give them the data. First of all, this thing: You made this big thing about "Oh, we're getting the data in and everything," and then the data comes in and you see this, and you can't give it to 'em.

Aug: Right this is gonna make people wonder here. But this is how it kinda works anyway. But I, all I remember is that they were joking about how she was afraid. And uh...she was basically tasked with "BS"-ing. There's, there's basically, it's almost like a joke: that the person is basically on "BS" duty. Or, and it's like a game. Just like tag around like who's going up next so I got a person to do it. And then that person has to sell their ass off in the most dumbest down, edited, redacted, just moronic version of what's actually going on. And they see it as a joke. And I specifically remember this individual didn't have what it takes to completely "BS" and moronize the information in the public, and this became...this became a kind of like a scenario.

Pattie: It was an utter failure.

Aug: But the other aspect of that is that daily these people have just like – I don't know how to describe it – like uh... like uh the funny nut mustache and uh...nose and glasses costume for disguise. And they're basically they all they present is a moronic face to humanity in a complete you know... fraudulent illusion of what's going on. And they see it as a joke that people actually buy this stuff.

Pattie: Yeah.

5:15:16

Aug: That was how that memory was recorded for me.

Pattie: Which was the sad thing. When I went in there to build a computer lab and everything... uh...you can't do that kind of thing without having access to fricking everything. So, they were depending on my non-disclosure agreement and my security clearance from the military not to...not to spill anything.

Aug: Hmm...

Pattie: That's like, because I didn't work for NASA. I didn't have a NASA ID. I had a NASA contractor's ID. Beyond that I was ten ninety-nine, and I was running those computers toward Deltona, uh the company called Hoolihan Office Systems, got the contract to build the computer lab, and yet they didn't have any employees who had a security clearance to actually go in there and do it. So, they had to hire me and then send me in.

Aug: I feel like I know something of that particular, let's say conundrum.

Pattie: ...back then I was doing debug stuff on Microsoft and yea well that was Windows 95 and that's what I did. I went in there. I mean when I went in there they were running um... Novell 3.51 network with Windows 3.1.1. And I brought them kicking and screaming into the 21st century. The whole way. Yeah, I mean, you haven't read up on the shuttle. Do you know what runs the shuttles?

Aug: Um... The one, maybe the one that I described as far as what was in operation with the SpaceX?

Pattie: No, I mean the actual space shuttles that they used to run.

Aug: Oh, ah... I guess not. I'm assuming they have some slight edition of the (5:17:12) ____ drive.

Pattie: Well now. But I mean the ones they were actually sending up to the (5:17:16). The actual control systems were running three Tandy Vic- 64's. They tell me sometimes at least 2 or 3 had to agree before it could actually do anything. Four-bit computing that was what the avionics and the computer control systems inside those birds were. That's how archaic NASA is in reality. And even now um...they're still at Windows 95-

Aug: Wow.

Pattie: – on their computers.

Aug: It seems like a, a joke.

Pattie: It takes 4 years. Something has to be out of date by at least 4 years before the bid even goes in, and then... the whole bid process and all that and getting agreements and finding somebody to do it and everything takes another 4 years. So, by the time anybody actually goes in there to do anything, it's at least 8 years out of date. That's if they even decide to do anything about it. Because it's a sham. So why throw money at it?

Aug: Alright. Well, that's basically the explanation that I was given as far as that. That everything is cut corners, and ...this is basically the, the kind of façade mustache and nose uh...example, metaphor where the whole thing is like you said a sham. And it, it's also to give like a, a not plausible deniability but basically, if somebody looks close enough they're going to realize that no one would actually run those space agencies in such a method. So, it's obviously not happening. Plus, the uh...the so called- the shuttle has the lander, no not lander but the uh... the shuttle that returns. The craft, I can't think of uh...the name. It has jet engines and, and uh...loud thrusters that were reversed and so on and so forth. They were supposed to be basically something that glides back.

Pattie: The shuttle didn't have any engines.

Aug: Well the one uh...what's the description?

Pattie: RCS, RCS, RCS thrusters, that's it. And that was primarily used to don't dump it overboard because you don't wanna land with any of that uh...hydrazine on board. That's why nobody directly approached the shuttle right after landing. 'Cause it's still venting uh... frozen hydrazine...from, that's still on the nozzles: from dumping the rest of the RCS thruster material overboard on the way down. But it doesn't actually have any uh...real actual control. It's a flying brick. It has to be doing at least 250 miles an hour just to stay in the air. With no thrusters.

So yeah, they, the newer ones, the ones that don't need tanks or boosters or anything to go up, they have EMF drives, but uh, yeah the one I rode in, it ain't got no fricking engines. That's a rough ass ride. And yeah, that's what I mean 3 Tandy 64's for the computer sets. Oh, you gotta be shittin' me. And yet, it has uh...each one had 3 on board um...hydrogen fuel cells creating all the power. You know it's like advanced tech with ancient controls. And B52 bomber avionics. You gotta be kidding me. But yeah, it's that messed up.

They used everything they possibly could that was off the shelf: ancient shit that they couldn't sell anymore. To build it with. Except for the power system. They had to have a power system. And the advantage of those hydrogen fuel cells. The end product you get is oxygen. So, that was a bonus.

So, yeah they were uh... And they could only take three G's worth of uh...torque or you'd break her back.

So they were pretty fragile. If anything hit 'em up at Norway they'd take the tiles right off. And then you'd get a burn through on reentry. And uh...there were quite a lot of burn throughs.

Thankfully most of them were all small. That one that was supposedly blown up followed the Challenger. You know they beamed everybody off before that blew up? There wasn't anybody on board. That was to deliberately give cause to shut down the program. 'Cause they didn't want to do it anymore.

TR3B's, TR4Astras were already making the squad runs to the ISS. So, the shuttle was basically not even needed anymore. That other one that they launched up uh...the oddball, takeoff, which went east, northeast, uh...on launch: that had an actual weapon aboard in the cargo bay; that they were gonna do an attack on Russia's ET prison. That's what that was about. They shred- uh you know the forces of light shredded that thing in orbit. And went into the wreckage and took the weapon. So, they didn't even get the weapon back.

And that wasn't um...it was supposedly Columbia. That they blew up on reentry orbit. But it was actually blown up in space way up by uh...the ISS station 'cause I got the video of it getting shredded.

Um...It wasn't actually the Columbia. And that's why they couldn't do a rescue because actually they painted Atlantis on the side of the Columbia and uh...and Columbia on the side of the Atlantis. So, the one with the arm and the, the EDO package which is extended duration orbit, um...which could've done a rescue which was the Atlantis which was supposedly down on 39th B, that was actually the Columbia on 39 B, and it was Atlantis that was destroyed.

Even though it said Discovery on the side, there's a way you can tell. On the port side rear of the Atlantis and it's the only craft that has it: the NASA's round blue logo is after the United States. On that side. That's the only craft that has that. And yet, the one on the pad didn't have it. And it was supposed to be Atlantis. So, that the one that went upstairs and got destroyed had both the EDO pallet and the Canada arm, and everything to support that weapon's platform in the bay. And that's the one that got destroyed.

Delta said Enterprise never went upstairs. It did. And, and coincidentally they had to go through all this add on, the escape hatch and everything on all the ones that actually did go upstairs. So, um...gee uh...why does the Enterprise have it? That was a $380,000 modification. And they did that to a craft that was never, never went into orbit, never going into orbit? I don't think so.

But I actually chased down all their hulls...using their uh... actual hull number. And all that and I, yeah 14 of them. And they only acknowledge having 6. And I rode in the military edition, the military build edition of the Indebitor. Which wasn't a 6 person. It was only a 3 person. Uh...which they did a ...sort of a layout copy of the original Enterprise. Uh...which was a 3 person uh... military launch. It had a much bigger payload bay uh...and could lift more. But it said Endeavor on the side.

And even though when I went up in that Endeavor, the real Endeavor was out in California being serviced. It landed out there at uh...Edwards. It was being serviced. And the launch was like 1:30 in the morning. I got a recording of the launch, but it's not on the paperwork. It's not on the listing anywhere. 'Cause they couldn't acknowledge that Endeavor went up. Hah! When it's out in California.

Aug: Very interesting. This was also-some of this I didn't pay attention to as far as what they were telling me. And so, this is like I'm in a fuzzy area of comprehension. Uh...cause there's basically, I didn't know how much of this type of information coming from them was relevant. And uh...and of course it leads into Area 51, the early space race, the development of the craft, the weaponization, and....

Pattie: This is a big mystery too. When they shut down the shuttle program, there was 4 more hulls parked in the hangar there at NASA Kennedy space center. That nobody saw them leave. They did not go out on boats. They did not go out on planes. But they're not in the hangar. Hah! They just vanished.

Aug: Three things that you said: from the beaming out the astronauts I vaguely remember, to the subtle clues with the logo switching and things like that, being basically possible signs to, to wake people up.

And, I vaguely remember what you just said about the equipment, the shuttle being in the hangar, but never being recorded having left, or having been moved out in any fashion. But not basically being there anymore.

Pattie: Four of 'em.

Aug: Right. And so, uh...these are just little "huhs?"

Pattie: They put EDO drives on 'em...and just ran 'em up the flight strip into (5:27:45). Ran 'em up into space. Because the EDO ones don't need to feel, think that they need boots. They don't need anything. And, I've got, I've got video footage of a taken from a (5:27:58) edition with an EDO drive, operating out at Saturn, and he's holding a camera out the portal, uh...and you can see an American shuttle with an EDO drive uh... flying between him and Titan. Oh, yeah. I know where they are; or where they were. Because I destroyed them all. When I blew Mimas. I pissed off uh...both Obama and Putin. 'Cause Putin actually had more uh...flying hardware and, and personnel out there than we did. That was what that uh...Norway portal was about. They were transferring ships and personnel out to Mimas, which was I mean operating base and a battle platform to do mining of the rings and things for exotic materials; to build more tech. Materials that don't exist on Earth.

Aug: I can recall...I recall a little bit of EOD drives and, they were, the people you mentioned were both there as well.

I know of mining operations and, and exotic material mining operations that were ongoing and are basically various factions fighting over rights to various locales and how it's all playing out. But um...they were both there, and so, this is all part of it. It's all actually connected to these. The cloning situation and what are known as cloning stations and the information basically uh... regarding that. Which is just a simple...that has nothing, you know...the cloning stations are, if anybody listens to this entire recording, they'll understand that the cloning stations are a single page in the book of what's going on.

Pattie: Yeah. Most of the uh...android ones are on Mars, but the cloning stations-they're doing those all over the place.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: Yeah, I mean I can give you a whole thing of images where you can watch all their bus (5:30:18) walking by the uh... camera that's normally on the...uh...what moon is it? ...uh... Dione. Yeah, all the stuff I killed was that was uh...you know parked at Mimas.

5:30:32

5:30:32

Pattie: Course flying past, if you walk through the frames, you can watch the ship debris dead in its face, tumbling past. And here's the sad part: the Ringmakers of Saturn. That's another group of ET's with the long tube ships, went and did a rescue operation on them, and you know, recovered them from their dead ships, and damaged ships; and when they brought them aboard they hijacked a bunch of 'em. These idiots -these folks were out there to help them, and when they came aboard, they hijacked the ships. That's the way these folks are. So now they got a bunch of (___ships). Which we see operating in Earth orbit now. Where they never came anywhere near us before. And now they're run by the Cabal members. They just hijack anything.

Aug: Right, that's their whole game. I vaguely remember something about that: a rescue mission where then that was overtaken by the so-called pirates -these Cabal groups, the dark factions basically. I vaguely remember. And it's funny because this entire span was around meeting you and that was in a different aspect of the basic environment that I was in for this event; and every memory you've been conjuring up from these...your words, your information, keeps bringing me back to that location.

Pattie: And that's one I don't remember 'cause I was upstairs so...and I don't remember anything I do up there. But I mean I do so much of the really hard core stuff while I'm awake. And all these operations when I took out a missile I do that stuff while I'm awake so- I don't really know what I'm doing upstairs. I know I'm doing something 'cause all the people tell me but – and I know my personality is totally different up there. I don't know why that is but it is. And the Civil Legion members, when I'm dealing with them awake, hold that against me. And read me the riot act. You know when we go on joint missions: "This is not your mission, you're not in command, you don't tell us what to do." All that, I mean they really climb in my shit. It's like I don't remember when I did this you know; what I did upstairs. So please don't hold that against me. That's not my personality down here.

Aug: I'm getting a crazy flashback here of the individuals you seem to be mentioning. 'Cause I recall the same type of scenario and the imprint of the individuals who basically are the ones you're talking about. Like I'm getting their soul imprint. And these are memories that are for the most part quieted too for the whole security purpose. So, I don't know how deeply I'll want to invoke those however, we may be going to another phase here so we'll see how that, how that works. However, I'm pretty sure these are some of the individuals that I met that were working for the human resistance that are outside of the so-called time matrix that are removed. Meaning if, say humanity was to die, they would, nothing would happen to them, they wouldn't suffer in any way. And they were basically in command of these on goings. And I remember their soul. I remember looking into their eyes and perceiving the soul of a person who was not "effed" in the head. And I specifically recall that. And that was around the time, right after meeting you and Karen and the others. And before that it was the craziest shit (excuse my language.) But I remember that. And I kept that kind of memory away. You seem to have awakened it. To the point where once I finish recalling what we agreed upon, either I'm going to die, or this is going to go into the next layer where it can go; or some combination therein.

Pattie: Stick with me or work with me. I'll keep you alive. Because this is ____going one way. And like I said, my authority and abilities will rise to the level of what's needful. And it comes from the very top of the real tree. That's my authority level down here. "Do whatever you gotta do." And with Gaia being the only one that's allowed to reign me in. And she's pretty pissed and fed up. And she's already stated categorically "If I have to, I'm gonna put all you everybody, all my kids, to Eden, wipe this shit out entirely and bring you back." You know, just toss everybody off. She doesn't want to have to do that. But she can.

Aug: Well that's why this is happening: because everyone wants to avoid that.

Pattie: Yeah. There's too many of her kids that ... if she's portered them instantly through the gate to Eden, 'cause there's 3 gates that can't be disconnected; the way she did this: she tied Eves moon around Eden through 3 of the gates that alto counterbalanced the ties to our moon exactly where it is-in its orbit; which is why the balance point of gravity is actually only 10 miles deep into the surface of Earth; or the moon, to keep it in orbit. It's a weird balance. And those are the 3 gates. The primaries that even the Draco's couldn't close. 'Cause they did try to close all of 'em. And that didn't work. So, yeah, those gates are always open and she can do that. And they know she can do that. I told 'em they can do that. I've even designed portal gates to put in my enclaves. So, you don't even need a transit system...with pads outside each of the residences. And they kind of global network. And that one ties into the sun gate. And you can go anywhere. This is how the things tie together. Eden and Earth. And those 3 gates can't be closed. So, yeah, she can do that anytime. And just say "Screw you!": Take us off, wipe 'em.

And there's more tricks she aint even played yet. She's holding other cards in her hand which nobody knows she's even got. And bear in mind, that group that's sitting upstairs on their hands with their heads up their butt- she had a hand with raising them here. She's got stuff implanted in them that they don't even know about. She can do correct shit on the fly with them too. If need be. But that of course would freak them out too. She doesn't want to let her hand really be shown 'cause she's got so many more tricks in her bag yet.

But once out, that information's gonna be out. And at the end of the day, when this is all straightened out, if she has to go to that extent, it's gonna create even more animosity for humans throughout the Milky Way. So, she's trying to do this, letting as little bit of her capabilities out as she possibly can and get the job done. But she can pull out all the stops and make it happen. Even without us, our helping. That's why I'm playing the advocate and her playing the bad guy to get the job done, without her releasing all her tricks.

So, the whole thing of winning or losing or any possibility of losing: this is time line zero-we aint losing. There aint no way we can lose. I'll just put it that way.

Aug: Right. It's dimensionally ...

Pattie: I'm supposed to put in as much effort and...you know, go at this as hard as I possibly can to make it look good: to make it show that we did it. We, as humans did it. But if we as humans can't do it, it's gonna get done anyway. So, no worries on that point. But we've got to make a good show of it.

Aug: Oh, yeah.

Pattie: So, that's why yeah...I can play the hard ass, but I also keep a sense of humor throughout the whole thing.

Aug: Yeah, usually I do too.

Pattie: And the high dimensional saying I aint doing enough. And I, yeah, I can do more and they're always you know...ribbing me. Which is why I'm going to do this Tiamat thing. Bring it back and all its moons because I've never tried anything that big before but they said I could do it. So, okay, I'll believe ya; enough to get it done. And they ain't going to let it fail either. They aint going to let any of us getting clear of this fail either. To the point where they tell jokes all the time we're working together. You know what I mean? That's the level of seriousness that's going on. They are practical jokers. And these are like you know...7, 8, 12, 15, whatever yeah. Way up there but they always lend a hand and lend energy. And cracking jokes all the time they're doing it.

So, yeah...people gotta stop this doom and gloom. Stop believing the propaganda that these folks are putting out. 'Cause it's just you know...it's porn. And have a good time. You know...kick in and do the right thing; for yourself and your neighbors and whatever. You're supposed to enjoy being down here. Stop sucking up to the doom and gloom.

Aug: Yeah.

Pattie: That's my opinion. It's a serious subject. But in another respect, it really isn't. It's fun and games. But I gotta do my job and make it look really nasty. And I do get really nasty. I can play really nasty. 'Cause for me doing this is like playing a video game. And yet, beyond that a lot of the Civil Legion members are treating it like it's actually a really serious video game. Like Dungeons and Dragons where they got the guild and you can't make any move without discussing it and planning and all of this and that and nothing serious enough to require immediate action. It's like screw that. I see something that's wrong I'm gonna go fix it- right now. And that's my...the way I tackle things. And that yeah...so I guess in that regard possibly when I'm upstairs I may be a hard ass. Because that's the role I'm supposed to play.

And believe me I mean I know how serious it is. And you know...every year these incarnates are bitching at me because of how it impacts their life, and the aches and pains and the damages and what not. And I just...you aint been through shit. I'm a disabled vet. You know...grenade eleven out on Desert Shield. They've run me over with cars. And fractured my pelvis and left me there. And I had to get up and walk a quarter of a mile to the nearest house with a fractured pelvis. All the cartilage in my knee crushed, my shoulder messed up, and glass and everything embedded in my skull. You know...rip half my face off. They can't tell me-you know. And they've done that more than once. But this isn't your body. It's your avatar. So, get over it. And that, that just goes over most people's heads. This isn't you. It's your avatar. Get over it.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: You're not suffering. That meat bag you're driving is in rough shape. But it aint you. That's why I was really surprised that they even had that movie released: The Avatar. I think, because the information they released in there had no strategic value from their side. Nor were they making use of anything that went down in that movie. I'm surprised they even let that air.

Aug: It's kind of like a wakeup call.

5:45:14

Pattie: Yeah. That's really what it was. And I don't know how Cameron got away with doing it;

how they let him do that.

Aug: Most likely part of the resistance. Because the previously mentioned media entrainment dimensional programming system that that was one of the first breaks in that as part of the complete damnation they the subjugation of humanity and that the was the first actual movie in a long time which was showing people the truth without actually trying to get them to subconsciously operate onto these agreements.

Pattie: Not only about who and what they really are but also what Earth originally looked like before the progenitors stripped it and left it behind.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: that's kinda...I mean there's so many of...that's the real hard core facts in that. It's mind boggling. Also, the height difference: the higher you go up in the energy density level, the taller you get. This is another really basic fact that people don't even get. If you go to someplace like Sturbridge Village up here in Massachusetts, back from the days when the folks from England first came over here, the average height of the tallest male even as little time back as that was 4 foot 10. And all the buildings are built like that. In fact, even to this day there's some holdovers from that. That's why bathtubs are only 5 feet long. Because the tallest male was only 4 foot 10. But as you move up the energy gradient to the energy level density you get taller. That's a neat little tidbit fact.

Aug: Alright this was explained to me and I don't really understand it. But this was, I was informed of and it kinda explains, it tells about the previous civilizations and however to talk about something real quick ...I really don't have anything else to say I'm kind of like just like in a...Well, I'm that but I'm also like in this awe. In awe is kind of a bad word 'cause it means like I'm stupefied. That kind of is accurate. But I'm just like soaking in everything that's been said. However, I have memories of the original whatever you want to call it, environment which would be like the Avatar type environment where everything is basically conscious and alive like it's a native society. Which is kind of a... it's just you know is the most beautiful thing I've ever experienced. It's what I consider Heaven. But a whole, a part of it...you know-a physical counterpart to that. But as well it's like what's going on here is a...is a spiritual degradation that's beyond belief. Basically, people here cannot imagine what life could be. I mean they, they can't.

Pattie: Before the Europeans come over, the American continent all the tribes still lived like that as if they were on Pandora.

Aug: Which is the pain...another painful aspect of it because that ties in to the rightful ownership; the ownership of the land in it. Not ownership, but the right to live basically: the connection to the original and how it's been stripped away. But that they're still here. All that that their rightfulship, their owner (excuse my vocabulary) is still valid. In that, it's just the craziest situation we're in that they can nullify the banks, the false government, this corporate rule: they can nullify it all. And as well the people from the original Earth can.

Pattie: This is some of the hidden facts where I try to explain why we had to get...it had to be Trump that was put in office. Because he's not one of the Cabal and this goes all the way back to (I don't know if you know about this) the stardust that's here. That is the contract between the first of the Tudor group line and the last 13th clan mother that was signed in 640 BCE; where they agreed that the Tudor group could do their own thing in their own little space, do their own thing...but here the whole point was, it wasn't supposed to impact any other groups. Aug: Right.

Pattie: ...or any of that. And basically, the Tudor group ignored the contract they signed. And not only that, they violated every tenant and created some new ones including killing off tribes. But here's the thing: that contract ended September 2013.

Aug: That's...yeah.

Pattie: So, the whole legal system and all that and the courts and corporate and all that.

Aug: It's all defunct.

Pattie: As of September, and before we preempted it. August 8th 2013, Karen served notice on Queen Elizabeth and she immediately bugged out, ran from England and hid out in her palace at the D (5:50:36.) Because she knew her CEO couldn't, wouldn't arrest her. But here's the thing, and this is the whole political bullshit that came up at this point when it came to September: under the rules that governed at that point in time, if these assholes could get 65% of the public to vote for them, therefore voting in the majority to keep the system in play, then they were good to go. That's why putting Trump in cancelled all that out. Even that last ditch effort of having 65% wanting to keep their system in control, not really wanting to keep it in control, but voting to keep it in control despite themselves. If they lost that, they lost everything. And that's not just here in the United States. That's around the entire globe. That's why the breakup of the EU and I mean they're not even in control of England anymore. And that's their home turf. As originally granted to 'em by the clan mother. They don't own anything anymore. So, this is just playing out that at this point. As it turns out I mean they're all the Cabal folks. Um...yeah, it's gonna be a hard take down. 'Cause they don't want to relinquish even though they know they lost. And that was the whole point in Trump being the only one we could put in office. I mean his wife, his wife's the reincarnation of Cleopatra but because of the Christians they put in the White House she can't live there. And when the inauguration (this is another funny story,) the inauguration went down they had to actually send a clone of her in there with Trump and Trump tried it on with a clone and his wife found out and got really pissed with him; almost tossed his ass out. But, I mean Trump's...you know... he's Arcturian. And that's the way they are: "just get over it."

Aug: So, the queen was there and involved in all this, and this was explained as the process that was playing out; that they lost ownership and that little rock that I was highly insulting of when they showed me, was an original contract signed as some type of star contract basically. This part of the right to come to learn here and essentially live here. And was supposed to be an agreement to not engage. Which they completely overran. They broke the contract. But as well that, this is connected to the Luciferian rebellion and takeover. And that it ends or it ended and their rule as well as their legal ownership in all which is fraudulent anyway. But even in that fraudulent system they have no authority to continue.

Pattie: Right. Yeah, that was the whole other issue. The actual stone to prove the people who could carry that treaty out, is a fake. Because the real one got taken by Scotland. So, it was a fake stone. And here's the funny thing: somebody attempted to steal the fake stone, dropped it, and broke it. And that still ended up going to Scotland. So, Scotland ended up with both the real one and the fake one.

Aug: Interesting. I heard something about that.

Pattie: And they made a big deal of giving it back to 'em. That's the stone that was under Queen

Elizabeth's throne. And I'm the one that did the decrypting of that contract and lined it up with the star dates and determined exactly when that contract ended.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: So, 'cause if you hold that star disc up at arm's length away from you at the right time it lines up to the stars. And there was different symbology and everything back then. But yeah... I did it all the way back to 640 BCE. And now this is BCE and this is not...it was the comparison. There was several different ways I did it. Some of them look ...are easier to decipher. On the matchup if you go... (let me open this up, it's hard to see when it's the little ones.) When you go to the Az... was it the Aztec? The one I did that was easiest? Yeah. This is end of the contract. This is using different symbology. And this is the start of the contract. Entering the marketplace. Basically, the line from us to Galactic center, enter the marketplace, and the-the new fire and all that: they all line back up again. At the end of the contract. You're done. So, yeah a lot of work went into that deciphering the star symbology from then to now and how they've changed it. That was another whole thing that they did. You still there? Did we lose you?

Aug: No, sorry. Somebody being a... ignoramus on my Facebook.

Pattie: that's the difference between the way they did star patterns back then and now. And the decrypting of that and then winding it up and that's what the seal is on Karen's seal. That's the star disc.

Aug: Right. I'm gonna stop here but all the royalty was there. This is part of what was explained. And so, we have to, we're gonna have to basically act on this.

Pattie: Yup. And that's why when they came over here they killed off all the clan mothers and then they forced the chiefs to sign treaties but guess what? No chief has the authority to sign any treaties. So, none of 'em are valid. Not a one. 'Cause the chiefs never had, never will have that kind of authority to sign away anything. Ever. And I only get the authority I have because I was born intergendered. I'm a two-spirit Shaman. And I'm full blood Mi'Kmaq. And even on my dad's side: my great- great grandmother was a fern mother for France. She helped out an actual clan such that when he died he gave his heraldic shield to her. And that's how she managed to get out of there alive. She took her family and everything over to England, and then to Ireland, and then to Nova Scotia. But during the Halifax disaster when that big blow up happened she was the only survivor. She lost her whole family. So, she married into the Brassard lineage. But even the Brassards were the protectors of the clan mother since the get go. And if you look at my heraldic shield on my dad's side, that shows blatantly again protectors of the clan mother. Uh...I don't know if you've ever seen my heraldic, my coat of arms. Even that's got the clan mother on one side and the 13th clan mother on the other, the protector of the tribes, which is the wolf, and the eagle with the rabbit over it. That's the keeper of the peace unless war is needed. That's the whole thing. And my great-great grandmother whose name was Fojeur which is a made-up name, if you decrypt that, it means fern mother. And this was her flag. And that's the difference. I don't take no honors, really. 'Cause that's why there's nothing over the helm. That was hers when she got married to my great, my grandfather. So even on that side it's tribe. And my mothers of course is...you know...this. That ties me to Karen because part of our thing was partially bear clan. And Karen's bear clan.

6:00:16

Pattie: But Karen is...Karen's load she was never raised to handle and she's clan. But she does have a little bit of tribe in her. And she's you know...who the last holder of all the paperwork and the mantle. She was the last of the bloodline. So, she you know...got handed it. And her daughter's been-was captured and modified by the Cabals. So, she's it. They take her out, there's nobody to replace her. That's what makes her such a key piece in this puzzle.

Aug: It's a similar situation I'm in. Uh...as far as...it's also what enables the powers to the point where we don't exist unless we succeed. And, as well we're kind of time stamped; in that the future realm where the success has been achieved and so by putting us in this situation the only thing that can happen is that we increase the chances of humanity succeeding. Which is a painful way to...to look at it.

Pattie: In a manner that wakes up more people.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: From the dream: the false dream. Which is why well, I mean I originally I thought that was the best way of doing it and I which is why I did a bunch of videos and everything trying to wake people up to the truth. And now, it's-now the fight is more important take these idiots down. Take the false realities down. And that actually forces more people to wake up quicker: already started doing that. So, then trying to do like Corey Goode and uh...David Wilcox and all that who were working for the Cabal and putting out really, really edited and slanted information. I can't compete with them. I'm not a media personality and I'm not a really even a very good teacher. I can tell the story of how we got here and everything way back before even, even Gaia came here to the Milky Way. And tell you how you know...everything that's gone on. I can tell a story pretty well but I'm not a teacher. And to get the whole story out takes like 6 months of long days and just talking and putting people to sleep. I mean if I do- I tried doing it one long talk trying to rush through everything: took 6 hours and I got bitched at because you know-nobody wanted to listen that long. And I don't have a whole lifetime to do 45 minute to 1 hour classes; not and get any actual combat done. So, that's the crux of it. Do I actually get work done or do I you know... make these recordings? So, that's why I like every once in a while, I'll have a talk with someone like you: who will record this and then put it out. Because that's the best way to doing it. You know, break it up into segments where people won't go to sleep.

I did a bunch of stuff on Project Intention and again that's where we figured out really anything more than an hour people don't want to watch. They look at the time and they say "Forget it. It's too long." So, a lot of people because of the mindset won't even look into taking on board the data because uh...it's too long. And they...short, you know...their attention spans are so bloody short. Even if it's vital data that is critical to their own life. They can't spare the time.

Aug: It's the 30 second clip has gone down to 10 seconds for news. I have a few thousand followers. And there's a few-I'll get a few thousand hits on this within at least a few days. However, with it being so much information, I don't know how I'm gonna release this. But this information is basically going directly to the public as long as the recording works when I finish the recording file. Um...and ah, so yeah this is going to go public now. And some changes are going to have to occur from this information being released into the collective unconscious. People will understand a little bit more how deep this works, how the contracts existed, the scenarios we're kind of in, this legal spiritual structure, the interdimensional aspects, the advanced technology, the ability to mind operate. Human mind operating is the technology used to basically provide a role for the human resistance. Everything else you've said is basically in line with what I've learned. Including the ones mentioned in a certain aspect of that. It's all part of what I learned.

Pattie: Gaia played about time. Even though the seed to make the clans and the tribes didn't happen until right before she made us and after the class 15 graduated. She played about in time when she figured we weren't gonna have oversight. And she actually took the tribes and put them all the way back at the beginning such that we've been the grounds keepers for Earth through all 16 classes. 'Cause we-this is the 16th class. I know I mean the Mayans recorded when the starseed went down and all that. Um...but yeah, the tribes have been here the whole time. And we weren't even biologically designed to interbreed with the clans. The actual class that were not ascended beings and meant to be raised to the point of ascension: to energy beings. That's another thing that all these ET's screwed up because originally tribes weren't meant to breed with the clans. They have. So, I mean the mess up really goes really, really deep. The...the...and whole branches of the tree of the tribes have been wiped out entirely. All the European tribes are wiped out entirely except for what is called the...um...there's one group that's made it through. They call 'em the Clovis People. That's actually your gypsies. But they are actually tribe. The remains of the tribe. That banded together you know...the survivors from the multiple tribes that got wiped off the European continent entirely. It's sad. And they made, they got part of the genetic screw up with Anunnaki and all those breeding programs went down such that now they...we can interbreed, but that wasn't how it was meant to be either. We were never meant to breed with them. And this is you know the rest...you know we lost of the 12 tribes that were removed only 2 tribes...portions of 2 tribes made it ashore to North America. A portion of 1 tribe made it ashore to South America. And the rest of those tribes that were removed are gone.

And then when the Spanish came over and hit Florida and worked all the way up into the Florida pan handle all the way over to Mississippi, we lost entire 2 other bloodlines there. It's like they were just wiping us out. And they put a stop to the rituals and everything because it was the tribes that went back to the days of the Roman legions and shut them down and said "You're either gonna surrender, or we're gonna turn you into a pillar of salt." That's why when they came over here they hit the tribes so hard. They shut down and basically wouldn't let them practice their so-called religion which was the time workers. You know...teaching of the time workers. 'Cause we could go back and you know shut this stuff down and literally take them apart at a molecular level and...turn them into a pillar of salt. And I have tools now that I do that again today.

Aug: Right.

Pattie: ...to big groups of people all by myself. So, that's a bit of history and like I said: the tribes don't want the planet with the groundskeepers. Keeper of the Peace, and Keeper of Treaties and Agreements. That's it. We wanna put the Earth back the way Gaia designed it. And the____ biosphere. That's our obligation. And we will do it. We, and, and there was 13 tribe mothers, 13 clan mothers, the original 26. And there's a statue that's still underwater, all female, all standing in a circle. They got a gold belt that links 'em at the waist. They're all holding hands, all looking out. Those are the original rulers of Earth as far as what you could and couldn't do. As far as anything else, in your breeding and what you wanted to do for a living, they didn't care. Just don't mess up my garden. That's what it came down to. You could do anything you want just don't mess up the garden. And that's the way we're gonna put it back. So...

Aug: Send me any pictures you want me to put up with this information given this does work out: the file, and say anything else you wanna say.

Pattie: On this one I'm called you know...I'm of the tribe Mi'Kmaq. Again, that's perversion of the real names. You know... the Mi'Kmaq tribe is actually the mixer who are actually of the same bloodlines as the Mayans and all the rest. And, some of the folks from...that they...the Clovis People, they're what you call the gypsies now. Some of those were Mayan bloodlines too. That's what I mean. I've been putting a bunch of stuff in the chat bar. The Mayans weren't even from you know...the middle or South America originally. Even though you see a lot of their temples down there. Mayan blue: there's only 1 place on the planet you can get Mayan blue. And the components to make it: that's Georgia. And people don't...I mean so much stuff they give you in the history books is just bogus. I mean...it's not real. And they just make it up as they go along to try and hide the facts.

Now the real Mayans um...there's another group called the Rumay. And funny thing is if you watch tv and you saw the whole thing with the cone heads: the original cone heads are actually Rumay. When the Martian Lumerian sunk Atlantis, the Rumay saw these groups coming and picked up the Mayans and took them into space. I've got a picture of the Rumay too here somewhere. And they're on the way back here too to bring the Mayans back. —I'm not worried about how many tribe people are gone because samples of all the tribes went with the Rumay. So, we're gonna get our bloodlines restored too because they took backups. In order to do so. Even that really isn't a concern there either. Not that it matters because duplicates of every 1 of the 12 original clans and the 12 original tribes on the island on Eden which everybody knows is Avalon. You know...so nothing is lost. And nothing even of the plants and animals that are lost are truly lost because they're backed up everywhere. Not only on here in Eden, there's a whole group of ET's that do nothing but go around and collect samples of everything and keep tons of breeds of 'em. So, everything can be restored. I mean literally everything can be restored.

So, everybody has such a grim outlook. And when we restored her original abilities we can transmute matter. So even the radiation stuff – it's not really a concern because we look at it and transform it into something that you know...we need. It's that simple when you really, really get into it. So, try not to worry so much folks.

Aug: Well it is about frequencies and so we don't need to worry: that helps the problem. We don't need to be falsely secure and basically fall into these agendas of happily, being slap happy with the parasite. And the invasion- this infection and basically if not that, just subjugation by these other races. But it's about you know...increasing our frequencies to the point where we have higher, higher awareness, that also does not feed into the "BS" basically and does not feed into these vague and like extravagant emotions which are...is another form of loosh feeding. And so but that is what it's about. The goal here is not to be depressed and low and think like "This is what they're telling us and it's like wow, we're screwed." We would not be here to say that if that's the situation. Every...it always reverses that because no matter how bad the information we're delivering is, it means that it's not that bad because we are here to deliver that bad news. Which means obviously, we've overcome that aspect at least to get to this point. And there is a whole lot as far as the original ark devices, the original starships, Bethlehem, Jerusalem, the retaining DNA, and having the ability to basically transfer the human race into a secure zone and so on and so forth. And it's funny – a group from one of the original interventionist teams showed me a...what was it...a yellow book or blue book which was all their versions of potential alien races. They have their little pictures just like this Rumay is on the front- was one of the pictures.

6:15:52

(7:44:00)

PB

Well, I mean, for instance, the members of the Council of 12 made it successfully past this point, the level 5 and above energy density. The level 5 energy density, where you graduate off of planetary classroom to space, is like the most critical one you have to pass. And then, they, a lot of these races, like once they get out into space, they think they're clear, they don't have anymore class, and that is a mistake. And see that is why they are actually worse off than us, because they ought to know better, having graduated past the level we are going through right now. They passed it seamlessly, and thought they were clear, and they are not.

And that's one of the lessons that the (Soliray?) Grey learned very very hard. They made it two levels above us, and lost their ability to reproduce and everything and really got bogged down. And they are a very very old race and they're only now doing corrective action. Because they got so bogged down in it, until we came along, there really wasn't even a way for them to get back in the class system. So, they gotta like borrow from us, and start over at level 5 energy density, even though they are level 7 and above, they got to go back to level 5, and go through those other levels all over again.

AT

And basically, love is what accelerates the whole process, the whole situation. The compassionate unified selflessness, in other words it's not a dissolution of the self, it's an expansion of the self in unison with the whole, the larger system. It nullifies the distortions, the disharmonies, the set-backs, and it accelerates the delays, to quicken them, to reduce them.

PB

Love is not cut in half by sharing it out.

AT

Right. And you know, that is the most powerful version of it. Not just like, putting some funky music on and putting some facebook notes out saying you know, 'peace everybody'. It's literally looking at the situation, literally of people eating other people's babies, and being able to overcome that darkness, and putting it behind us, and either dealing with that situation however we will, but still not allowing ourselves to be dimensionally, frequency-wise drained, or collectively inhibited by that, and overcoming, cause that's the realm we are in, with these guys running the show. And so the beings who can love in that, in themselves, and eventually to these others beings even if they are what they are, and they are not going to be allowed to persist anymore ever again.

Then one basically reduces... the oils runs off of them like water off a duck's back, to the point where they don't get dragged down by that system. Because that's all that is; people who failed trying to fail everyone else around them, like a big joke, class clowns.

PB

It's an interesting thing, it's an interesting analogy to that; being a parent. I can say this, I have never hit my kids, I've never had a reason to hit my kids, and my kids are not a spoiled brat like the kids that grow up these days either. I knew how to punish them in a way that was non-violent and taught them the lesson they needed to learn. And yet you have a lot of these parents who get mad at their children, they lash out and hit 'em, and all they are doing is training their kids to hit their kids.

I was hit as a kid, yet I knew not to repeat that, because that is wrong. And that's sort of a micro-scale version of this whole thing where we humanity now need to learn to behave appropriately to graduate.

AT

Precisely. A vicious cycle of violence and degradation that has to be stopped and stemmed.

PB

Yup, and you know, and you are not going to get out of it by being violent. No, I mean, I'm and what I am doing in this battle, I am getting violent, but then again I am already graduated from here, and we're on a time crunch. There are not enough people doing what needs to be done, so, those like me who came back here to do this other job have to make up the difference. And I do it in a way that doesn't damage me, because I can take a few steps back, see what's necessary and do what is necessary. Even if that happens to be violent, and take these folks out, I do what I have to do to get the job done. That's it, there's nothing, there's really no pathological attachment to that.

I learned that from being in the military for 7 years. After I got out, because that was part of my covert finding out what was going on, it took me like a good 2 years to like strangle that personality, that I had to become to do that part of the job. I had to strangle it, put it away before I ever had kids. Because I knew it was wrong, but I had to behave that way in order to do that part of the job. That's the same thing I am doing now, I have to behave the way I do to do the job as it needs to be done. I am not letting it climb inside and change who I am or the way I normally am. Even that it reflects, as you've made note of, how I behave when I am upstairs and how I behave down here, that's two different me's, each to the level of what is required, and no more than that.

Which, a lot of people don't understand. A lot of people in the Silver Legion who are incarnated down here, they have only been here a short time, they weren't born into these bodies, and so they have a skewed view of things. Even though they exist on 12 dimensions simultaneously, they are still in this level of reality. I've been to others above this, and eventually graduated right out of the time-stream, so I do have a wider perspective. They tend to ignore things I tell them, and I am telling them from the heart because I know, but they can't see it and they are not going to listen to somebody who is technically level 5 energy density at the lowest bottom class there is, who they think is inferior to them. So, that's the dilemma. The people who take on challenges like I did, coming back down here and doing this sort of stuff.

At

Right. So, it wouldn't be happening if there wasn't extreme oversight putting the right people in the right places, knowing what the outcome was most likely to be, it's not going to mess up. Kinda confusing, not complicated. I had to make a note here. I've had some experiences with some of these other beings that I am going to end up doing a video on sooner or later.

PB

I hope you had a nice nap Karen.

KM

You know, it's wonderful to go to sleep and hear your voices and then wake up, not at all and get enlightened and still hear it in the (?)... I've done that and went, oh my gosh!

PB

The origin of sleep learning.

KM

...I wasn't awake, I was like totally...(?) here. I can tell when you've pulled an all-nighter.

PB

Well this has kind of just gotten into a back and forth philosophical, which I hope people will pay attention. Actually I think having conversations like this are a lot more instructive as the recording than the ones that I try and plan out and do, where I try to rush through things.

AT

That's kind of why I wanted to hit the record, because something happens when the possibilities are aligned, and the first time those possibilities are unleashed, like a supernova of information happens, and that's pretty much what this was.

KM

Yeah, (?)... spirits

PB

The whole stream of talk that he and I have been doing has no commonality to the ones I tried to do from just a standing talk point. I think really more information actually comes out in a rational, easy to take on board way, this way.

AT

It's weird, it's like the information is meant to be organically, you know, outpoured from the system, the mind, the vessel. And when you try and put it, because I get the same problem, in a linear format with the charts and diagrams, and a structure and hierarchy, it begins to sound like gibberish, and it has no flow to it and, for me, it feels like there is no where to start from. But once there is a genuine connection made, where actual experiences and memories and intelligences are at play, it all flows forward from there.

PB

I mean, I have tried putting together powerpoints, and I get to a certain point where, 'oh this isn't going to make any sense', you know? I even tried using visio and making an object type flow chart, from beginning to end through this whole mess. By the time I even got even a quarter of the way through, I've had to make everything so small that you can't capture it as a picture because you can't read the lettering anymore.

AT

There's that paradox, the angle of view and complexity.

PB

Because it gets too complex, everything shrinks down that you can't do it.

KM

I can tell the depth of what Pattie wanted to, you can imagine, Aug, after like close to being with Pattie for like 4 years, I can see where we were talking about the star disc, so you literally went through from the beings, to the creation, to what we are dealing with now, to what we are faced with, and trying to, the hope of putting a facility together that's radiation proof.

PB

Irregardless we are going to win.

KM

Absolutely

PB

That's not even in doubt. it's how brutal are we going to be about it to get within that time frame.

AT

I even just had a minor flashback of replaying the words you said just now Karen, and seeing the images that are on the screen, knowing that there is this 8 hour conversation, and we went through everything that occurred, back in 2010, where all of this was unveiled. I just hit like a time-loop replay there, for some reason your exact words, I can see where you went through and all that, it triggered it. And I have been getting flashbacks from everything Pattie has been telling me.

PB

Yeah, we talked about a lot of things above and outside this experience down here and how it all connects together and it's all like a grand plan. He's met with people, I mean, the highest I have ever conversed with was a level 14, and he's met with people even above that, and they'll even tell you the same, when you really try and consider the truly miraculous thing, the grand thing, the grand creator Sophia created in all its totality, it's literally mind blowing. You can't even encompass it in your thought matrix. I don't care how big your brain is, you can't. You'll break your brain.

KM

I knew you would really enjoy that. I could really feel something when I was talking with Aug. ...(?) you're amazing. I was trying to explain a little bit to Pattie and I said, no, I think you gotta hear this.

PB

When you talk to, when you hear these ministers, you know, 'God's gonna punish you!', when it's like, do you know how ridiculous you sound?? Because, guess what? The grand creator doesn't get involved down here. Now, Gaia might be upset with you for raving like that, but that's about as far as that is going to go. Your fake god upstairs might scold you for failing in your task of brainwashing these folks, but that's as far as that goes.

AT

Part of the false god, 'g-a-u-d' mind-controller, archontic control system, religious authority.

PB

Yeah and that's another problem which they just do to contribute, because, 'Oh, will god help me?', 'I praised him, and he came and did this for me', and it's like, yeah, you gotta an ET in his space ship and who happened to be listening and said, 'ok, give it to him', you know? That complicates matters. Because they make it seem like the BS they are being taught is real and it functions. They do just barely enough to make it seem like it actually is true, when it isn't.

AT

Yup. Reality entrainment, as well as a little bit of confirmation bias, psychology. But there is more reality entrainment going on of beings that are playing this off like confirmation bias than there is confirmation bias. Because there's this whole leech system happening, which is the crazy aspect of it, but it also means that the creative potential and power beyond both the creative, the bias and these parasites is that the real god is within, in that harmony to create, that frequency.

PB

Some of the subterfuge they throw at you, anybody who saw the movie Independence Day. Now they portrayed that as one alien species that was invading, but it had two appearances, one inside the bio-suit and one outside the bio-suit. That was actually two different races, who had the ability, the capability, and the willingness to come down here and help humanity, who they portrayed as the bad guys in that movie, so that if they did come down, humanity would shoot them. That's the reverse psychology that they pull on people. Both those races were willing to come down and help us.

(8:00:00)

AT

I've met one of them. They basically have a wide-skull look and they are basically holographic. They generate the Amun-Ra fractals from this Egyptian system, and they are basically, there is this old war going on between all the rulers, and the weird crap that was going on back then. They put me up with them to basically try and fight them. Obviously I couldn't do anything. They are big fractal god beings. You kind of get swept away in a river of undulating fractal geometric information. They were doing some wierd mind control stuff, trying to get me angry with them, and then they were kind of having fun seeing my reactivity. Strange stuff.

But those beings, it's hilarious, these wide headed beings, they exist, they have ships. There are images I have found, randomly, of the exact situation and its basically like the Egyptian altars, with the sphinx's and the columns that go in a row and then it leads up to a pyramid and then there's a portal opening basically up at the top, and there's like the beginning of a fractal geometric, I don't know how to describe it, it's a weird... it's like some of these artistic expressions. I'm not doing a good job of describing it, I am going to have to find a picture of it.

Some of it has to do with these AI control systems. Basically, there are replicant AI systems that possibly could have been what they were showing me. It was just really weird.

PB

The interesting thing about the movie is the way we took the aliens down was by putting in an infection.

AT

Right. That was the whole catch for the movie. That was the pinnacle of the disclosure.

PB

Yup, so they were telling you about the infection they put in, so they could do all this awful stuff. That's their game. They don't really do anything bad without actually slapping you in the face with it. They know you are not going to recognize it and then they laugh at you. That is their modus operandi, as it were. That is also their way of testing how well they have tricked you. That's like their negative feedback, gauging how well they are doing it.

AT

Right, like a machine learning, if you will, AI system to gauge what they can get away with, and a painfully, like a probing process. Very, very strange. You are bringing up weird ass pictures typing in fractal Egyptian god search terms.

PB

Hang on, I'll give you this ARB book, they are in it, tells you all about them.

KM

Oh the book. What's the bigger version of it.

PB

Yeah, I have the full version of it. ARB pdf.

KM

The Alien Book.

8:03:22

AT

With the various races? They showed me that and were like, 'Here, now it is your turn' and had me flip through it. I really could only go so far. I also didn't know what to believe. They were like, these are the original, one of the 'G' ones, they are kinda like a big grey, that's not the word, not the golem or gorem or something like that, they were like a vampire race, kind of like bug, grey-looking, tall things, which came from supposedly Orion and all that. And I'm just like, Go F* yourself, after all this I don't know what to believe.

PB

In the movie, the whole thing of Orion, the Orion gerys, and they are bad guys, even those folks are not from Orion. Again that is just another reverse psychology crap that they give you. I'll give you that and Look through that at your leisure. That one has of their craft and all that as well. I think I could scan down pretty quick and find what their names were, right now. Kylli... no that is not them, grabbed the wrong one... where is it now...

The ones in the suit on the ground which they had was those aliens supposedly in the suits, that's the Rak, with all of the tentacles out of the back like the, that he pulled out of the crashed ship. That's the Rak. They have only visited 5 times. The last time they were here was 712 AD, and this was like, they returned and they were willing to help. That is why they painted them as the bad guys. Let's see where's the other ones. I hate PDF files, cause they never want to behave.

The other race that is working with us is the Lang and they are just here because its the right thing to do. Everybody thinks they are the pixie fairies, and they are not. When the Martians came and corrupted the Lemurians and broke the space-time continuum, put that crack up there, the Lang were the first ones to ever visit us, once the (?) was busted. They are only about 3 feet tall, blue skin. They look like little fairies, kinda like.

Oh come on, you're not going to make me go through this whole book again are you? You can never find the one you want when you go looking for it, thats like a golden rule or something.

KM

This longer version is much more amazing, it has much more detail in it... on each one...

PB

And there's others, there's another race that's sort of invisible. All you can do is smell them. We don't even know what their deal is because we ain't never been able to talk to em. The so-called Builder races from this edition, of creation, not the original builders but the builders of this epoch, that's the El Grok. They sort of look like frogs. They are the ones who do the retrofitting on the El stuff. They call them the builders but they're not the actual builders.

AT

Which part? This is the book that they showed me but, what did you just say?

PB

The El Grok, they are the builders of this epoch, and they do all the retrofitting on the ancient El's equipment and build outs and stuff, to fit these new smaller beings, even though they are way taller than us, they are way smaller than the original builders. They do all the retro-fitting, down from the 100 ft tall down to these 20, 30, 40 foot types.

AT

This is actually like a new version where a lot of this was here. They originally showed me a hand written book by one of the agents, and this is from one of the original interventionist teams. But this was like the secondary, like here we put it all in a file.

PB

Yeah, this is a bigger and expanded version of the SMERCH book. My source for this stuff actually expanded even on this to the point where it's actually 4 entire videos, the full data. And even that doesn't encompass all 214 that we know about. You can make a study of this, in and of itself, of just other races, and not even get close, because there is another 300 and something that humanity has met up with since they got off Earth and went out in space, and that's not all of em. And that doesn't even include the 6 races currently camped out on Mars either, that's just met in space.

The Matrax, they are not even aggressive, they only live up to 400 years. I'll do a capture and post it. That's their name. I thought I had already done this but I guess not. They come from Delphis.

AT

Ok, yeah, so that's the, which was this...

PB

That's the wide-brimmed skull...

AT

That's them. Those are the guys. Very strange. That is all I can say.

PB

But they do have ships sort of like that but that's not the only time they have painted them like that though. There's been some other movies they've released using them as the bad guys again and they are not. That's them right there. They have been visiting Earth for at least 4000 years. They were around here quite a bit back in the 19th century. Last confirmed sighting was in Marseilles, France in '96. That's the last time they were not just met up in space, they actually came down on the planet which got the Cabal panicked. I'll be right back.

8:12:00

KM

So, how are you holding up after being at this for about 8 hours now?

AT

Uh, pretty good. This is what we went through. This is basically The Awakening. Its the strangest thing. I don't really know how to say it, all I can do is just make this public, and go from there. I would have never been able to get all this information out within a few years, let alone one single night, and a large portion of it I was shying away from, and as well, I have a feeling was a subjugation ritual if you will, because I was reminded of this conversation; how the looking glass was disabled because it would have created a time loop. If it is enabled again, and this system is not brought into some type of harmony, that it would have basically created, uh, its not going to work. We have to make a change here and now, more or less.

KM

It's huge when you take everything what we are talking about and it just encompasses so much, but its doable, to make a change and alter, strive to bring things forward or bring it through, for people to just learn the basics of this, I mean, its doable. People have got to make real changes. They have got to be cleaned out. They have got to bring themselves into harmony and to that inner peace and not be violating these proclamations and international treaties that we have either. So, what do you do with that? The rock, put it on the rock.

Boy, there's that beautiful Paleidian woman. Ya I know, even up here in Saskatoon, what we see, when I went up to a (tachykoop?) you know in the star nations, with the Indians, now become natives, being run basically by the native mafia there, that are actually RH-, you see it all up here.

PB

That was the race that Will Smith has that scene where; dragging you by your bloody dread locks across the dessert, and then turns around kicks him, saying what is that smell?! That's supposed to be the other one in a bio-suit. That movie actually has 2 different races put out there in it, even though they portrayed it as only being one.

AT

If in this image, if you look at just the eyes, excluding the body beneath, and the upper kind of crystalline structure portion, this is how on their craft they appeared basically, as a type of fractal being, I don't know how to describe it. Big wide head, and the angles of their head, it radiated out energy, and this is part or because kind of being on the craft everything kind of goes into a plasma containment field, it turns into energy, it turns into pure information, which is what the generators do as they envelope the genetic information of whatever being basically merges with the craft.

For some reason, you know a lot of this, in realizing, I'm realizing the Cabal was effing with me pretty hard, for some reason they wanted to throw me onto one of these craft in 2010, which wasn't too bad, but I realized they were gently playing around, fooling with me, having fun, so that I help them destroy the human race without realizing it. And play around in 2017 when I probably would not have realized that its true what you said, that the looking glass is disabled, I have even spoken of that, but that it comes back online at the end of '17, and if they still have the majority of control, they are going to try and destroy this civilization. So, we're in a time crunch here.

KM

And that's why when these sites too, you know, Justin Trudeau was here, you know, we got up to his entourage in the RCMP and he said he was here to check his loosh and the loosh economy, and it was like, yes, I did hear that, we got it taped properly. I told him as a clan mother they weren't welcome here, they weren't friendly, they were hostile and they had to stand down and they better start understanding ... (?)...

AT

I met him.

PB

And she actually physically threatened him, she said you are going to stand down or I am going to come get you. Me, she siced me on him.

KM

I said this is force commander Pattie Brussard and they told all the RCMP around there... (?)

PB

I will come get you

KM

Yeah, that is exactly what I did say because the thing too is that LHC is here, which is a large hadron collider and we have a slow poke, so we have a double nuclear facility and he said he was going to go ahead with Branch 3 (?) just like the Dakota pipeline, he was going to put underneath there, and he said specifically he wanted to use all the nuclear power he could on the people. Take out one escalan, you know, and these people are wanting to extend the ring, you know, take it past, which would destroy all the tribal clan lands in our medicine wheel here

PB

Those are all the primaries.

KM

He never threatened my children. They have already done stuff to, you know, Alison and Alex, that has been a struggle in itself, but you know, the people here are fluoridated. This is one of the few cities still with fluoridation.

PB

Those are the primary cyclotrons but around the planet there are around 140+ of them

KM

Yeah, that we have found With the LH units its called light source (signatrons?). So almost every city's got an underground facility ready to take them out, once they get totally operational online. Hopefully there's been enough stuff that they can't communicate anymore but..

PB

Now, Brookhaven has a time-forward and reverse stepping and that's how they do the data transmission to these alternates. That's the machine that they are doing it with is Brookhaven, Long Island.

AT Right.

PB
They're rigged for doing that. That's why, if anything, at this point, I want to take Brookhaven down, because that stops them from being able to, in a manner of speaking, fill out these realities. I mean, that would make my job easier. We tried hitting it before I had the tools that I have now. I got nowhere. Back then I was working with (Lauber ?) and whatnot. They have heat dissipation pipes in both the inner channel there and out in the ocean, to dump heat attacks out into the water, and you get nowhere. That's been a bit of a challenge.

AT
There's a plan to boil the oceans, and one of the parallels where they try everything they can. They have technology where they could evaporate all of the water instantly.

PB
I mean, if they win, which they can't, we are not going to let them, but I mean, what their next game plan was was to build a space going one as well. This was taken from their own files. There is no end to this with them. They would literally keep pushing until they literally destroyed this whole level of creation.

AT Right

8:21:00

PB
They just don't care. And I don't know if you know this, the Anunnaki are not even from this level of creation. The reason why they were in such bad shape when they arrived here is because they blew up their home system entirely. That planetoid they drive around on was their lab, and they were playing with gate-transit network technology, and they managed to accidentally connect the black hole in the middle of the universe to the black hole that is down below the level of the atom in their local system, they somehow connected it to, destroyed their whole system, and squeezed themselves out. They came out the black hole that is at the center of Sol system Procyon and Sirius, and our brown dwarf actually go out and do a loop around and come back, they came out of that black hole, they tagged along with our brown dwarf as it came back here, and they were such a wreck when they got down here that they basically sifted through our oceans for monoatomic gold to heal themselves with, and then they wanted the physical gold mined from the Earth to build that reverse dyson's sphere around their little planetoid.

So, they are not even from this level of creation and nobody in the Milky Way galaxy will even so much as give them a planet, 'cause they all know how bad they are. That's how sad they are. They brought a corrupted edition of the plasma AI, from their original point of origin, here, which is why we have two plasma AIs, and one wants complete control and get rid of all living life, while the one they brought with them wants the 65% technology implantation, so it can run them.

AT Right

PB
There's two different agendas there.

AT
Basically automation.

PB
Yeah, that's the transhumanist agenda. Again you got portions of multiple Cabals who bind up different agendas, and there is no honor among thieves. Things have already gotten to the point in this fight where its everybody for themselves, which has made things a little easier, in a manner of speaking, because there is no honor among these thieves.

AT
Well, the unstable systems can only basically decay and begin to collapse and fall apart from there. Only the necessary systems that are meant to be here will remain.

PB
A lot of the stuff that came out in the public on main stream media, which is controlled by the (?), is actually back-stabbing each other.

AT
Right, they are trying to cut one another out.

8:24:00

PB
Yup, which actually works... because a lot of truths came out with that. Here's a screenshot from the.. CERN in Geneva. Brookhaven I can get inside and can look at what they're doing. This actually, screenshots of the sending and receiving to these alternate time-lines, of the actual data to flesh them out, taken from this one.

They tried to do one big project really, really big though, and it required a portal that was too big for the equipment to handle, and the machine hit a hundred billion amps and shorted everything out. It was down for two weeks. The funny thing is, you know what they call that network that all links all the cyclotrons together? Its the Karen network! These people have no shame. They got little gold pins, what level up the hierarchy in this stupid set-up you are.

KM
I remember that day, Pattie said you are not going to be happy that they've named an entire network after you, and it was like, What?

PB
The cyclotronic control network, its the Karen network

KM
Yeah, out of New Zealand, which interconnects the interfaces.

PB

Yeah, that little oops when they tried to do a major portal opening, to break the ex-gods out of Saturn, they found out that the network that they used to link all these together and control that sort of thing, basically the primary control was Brookhaven, you can't do data and control at the same time. That's why they built the Karen network, so that the actual data goes through this new Karen network. The one that I have already given you the picture from, the CERN Atlantic, is the control network, because you can't put both over at once. They actually put so much stuff in there they were getting major power feedbacks and everything. Coincidentally, the HAARP network is on the same setup, so when they blew it, they actually took HAARP down and everything, blew out power supplies in (the Raks?) and everything else. The whole thing went down with the feedback. Whoops...

AT

They were explaining how... and I remember the gold pin, I seen that one before, the one on the right. One of them might have been wearing it, or somebody there. They were telling me how HAARP is used to put basically holographic code into the environment and the population, which then is kind of like the enhanced media system where that then propagates itself and generates into reality systems. Its basically an interdimensional emitter, if you like, I can't think of the word...

PB

And all of their operatives, clones, humbrids, hybrids, and all that, there's a primary server and the back-up server on where they are at. If those people think that China has got their own agenda- wrong. Because, guess what, that is where all the data is.

AT

Yup, they own it all.

PB

And people think that Russia and USA don't get along, but guess what? And from monitoring all the ISS stuff and everything, even the secret data for the Secret Space Program's interactions and everything that goes up there that comes from the space station, goes to Russia. That's where the downlink is, all the data goes to Russia and gets distributed from there, even secret stuff for the US goes to Russia. I mean, a lot of this stuff, its, and I tell people, Stop paying attention to the dog and pony show, you know? 'Cause that's all it is, it's a dog and pony show, it's entertainment, and not for you either, it's entertainment for them.

AT

So that people will react.

PB

Yeah I've gotten all the way down, got these, all their server IP addresses, all that kind of stuff. Eventually we want to take all that stuff out too. Not enough hours in the day, not enough personnel. I'm trying to scrape together the other members of the (civil legion?) who're actively engaged, who I don't have to train. They can hit the ground running and backfill up my strike team. We are getting tired. I either got to get more people working on it, on taking these things out, or I got to get really really mean, to make the deadline.

AT

Maybe a little of both. I really hope this file (?) out.

PB

What program are you using to record it? It would be interesting if it actually worked that long.

AT

I'm on Ubuntu Linux. This is skype call recorder.

PB

Yeah, we have that for this but we had all kinds of glitches and issues. Most of the time it would not work right, wouldn't do the audio right...

AT

Well, we'll see with this one.

KM

Yeah there's been so many problems, we'd go to upload and all of a sudden all the audio's missing, that happened, or the people have put, you know, what we have tried to give them for information and then all of a sudden it doesn't take 20-30 minutes it takes like 4-5 hours. There's one that we did where it actually everyone's was intact but they just actually edited out my 10 minutes. We were doing huan circle at work or a few things at Project Incension or, actually most of the ones with the Leak Project with (Russ Spear?), I had one that was ok but, that was back in May...

PB

Yeah, I once tried to do a live connection with Miles when he was doing one of the bases ones, and showed them what's really out there in space in real time, and he couldn't get the audio to work or it wouldn't switch to the big screen. In the end I got to talk to him for about 2 minutes.

KM

We did a couple days actually Sergeant (Gener Mcfall?) and myself, and Pattie, with (Alfred Lamanount Webber?) (his dad's in?) politics, and every time we started going to talk, he said he was being targeted, his head was just like his ears were running, he couldn't take the frequencies, the scrambling, that they were sending to him as a direct energy weapon. It's interesting. He never did air that but we spent 2 full days doing this with him.

I think the wildest thing, Oh Aug, you should have been there when I was up at the (Tachykoop?) at the local reserves, it means 'star blanket', Jimmy Church, all of a sudden I just found this email that just happened to show up a year later in my file, and it was Jimmy Church from Fade to Black on Coast to Coast. I said we have been trying to get you for a year or so, no well, we'll just do it now. And so, while on the reserve at (Peekeekoot's ?) place, but then what happened after 45 minutes Pattie, all of a sudden there was 2 alien abductees which was Sylvia McAdam's parents right on the moor, and she gave me this abductees being taken by greys, we had 12 ft people, we had ghosts, we had, I saw several craft while I was up there. You know, strange sounds like direct energy weapons, long distance acoustic things going on, ogopogos, I mean, there wasn't anything you could think of, you know, Sasquatch sightings, portals, buffalo disappearing, UFOs coming in and out and everyone had an abduction story. There wasn't anyone I didn't talk to that didn't have something to talk about, you know. And then we could see from up top the bases actually around there, and the HAARP towers and the genocide of the people, you know.

PB

That's another interesting thing, the Christian church has been buying up tribal land, building these big cross statues in the middle of nowhere, hooked to hydrogen power systems, which are either buried in the ground or they build a little building beside it. Plus solar grids, and they are nothing but cross-shaped broadcast towers on tribal land. If you go and look and find them all, they are all in grid patterns to brainwash even the tribes.

AT

Yup.

KM

Yeah, you know it was funny, we were under such heavy targeting there, that when Andrew went to, and we did, we heard them at Project Insencion. You know you could actually see the screen look like (?) in the 1960s, just like just so pixelated, I was like, I don't think I can handle it much here, I mean, I'm feeling like someone's putting me under a microwave here, which they are.

Even in Saskatoon today, I mean, every time they're flying over our airspace, I mean, my whole thing for the last month I was telling you about was that planefinder.net and flight radar 24, anyone can go to but you could actually see them trafficking, and, you know, escorting, and they're unregistered. There will be actually TR4s and stuff above our head here, circling, like sitting on my head for like 2 hours, and yet you can't find some of this stuff on the radar tracks, but we can see 'em and hear 'em and they just hover between here and the University of Saskatchewan. So, Obviously they're trafficking, you know, and like I said, Trudeau doesn't just show up, you know. He's loosh collecting here.

Especially at the University of Saskatchewan with their royal blood bank and stuff, you know. Trying to educate people, just trying to get in spring water. So we are hauling in water ourselves now, you know, so we can get these facilities hopefully developed and started and that's where we are going to require so much assistance here.

PB

Yeah, we tracked some of these things, and I mean, I am also a pilot. No aircraft known to man can travel at 20 mph and stay in the air. Nor can the craft that it claims to be, like a Cessna 310 or something, travel the miles they were traveling, as well as all the chemicals on board to lay down the chemtrail coverage that they did, without running out of fuel before they even get an eighth of the way in, much less, because of traveling where they left from, and starting this grid pattern, by the time they get the coverage done, um, that's not an airplane. It'd have to be a 747, the size to carry enough fuel to fly that far. SO, yeah, they do holograms and fake beacons and all kinds of stuff.

AT

Yeah, those are electro-gravitic craft that are cloaked in a hologram, they switched over

PB

There are some that I have actually caught them changing the information in the radar systems database in real time and wiping out the trail. Actually doing live editing on the data in the radar tracking at the station, remotely, wiping out the trail. And doing many what we call 'skip jumps', from one place to another with no travel in between. SO, yeah, stuff like that.

And we point this out and they get mad at us, because we put this stuff where people can go to watch and get a real hard-core solid proof of what is going on, undeniable, watch it with your own eyes, you know. I mean, the morning before the election, they were spraying lithium over Washington. The entire day of Trump's election they were spraying lithium, putting Washington to sleep.

KM

That's the one I'm looking for, right now I just sent the one that was over Saskatoon. I mean, that's no commercial flight and that's no passenger flight, and no one in their right mind would get on that flight pattern for an hour and a half. This is common almost every night here and now it's stepped up during the day. I just looked at the (?) and its chemtrailed up here. That's why I don't sleep a lot so, sorry about that but I took advantage of those 3-4 hours, just collapsing on my amethyst bed here.

8:39:00

PB

There's that kind of thing and then the changes they wanna do, genetically, Rev1 bugs with the little injector needles. You could tell that they were artificial bugs. That's an artificial mosquito with a little, rather than sucking blood it's an injector. They have actually improved that now so it actually looks like a bug.

At

Yup.

KM

And they are not pleasant. I woke up, when was that, close to September and I had 4 injections there plus on the abdomen and, I mean, they lasted for close to about 2 months. I used frankincense and I alkalized them up on the amethyst bed and I picked up a lot of this stuff on the biofeedback, so my tox scan returned back, we had like (erutuse?) snake venom and I mean, we don't have those kind of things up here but yet I pick it up on a lot of people, a lot of targeted or military lab or milabs and stuff. This is unusual, this could be the kind of stuff say like we went through with Max Spiers and stuff. Things can be injected into people. Our doctor Rudy (Kildare?) out of Finland that was killed (could have been this?). But that's the whole point of having those oils, I tell you. It's my saving grace.

PB

The Zika virus, which was helped along by Bill Gates, yeah they have designed a whole new mosquito specifically for carrying and delivering the Zika virus to populations. These people are just...

AT

Right. They're selling out. He was there too. I don't know. It's weird. I remember a specific long conversation about a laptop, in some (?) that I was going to get, where he was basically giving advice as well as playing with me to basically get me to figure it out on my own. It's difficult but some of this is like, we're doing this to try and test the population so that only the strong survive, because without that it's basically just going to be over for everyone. But, regardless, you know, a lot of crazy eugenics plans.

PB

Well, I think I am reaching the end of my ability to sit up in a chair. I think I am going to have to take a nap.

AT

Ok, yeah, I have been kinda of like having an out of body, out of mind mind experience here.

KM

What I did send you two though, is just briefly, is that the frequency of the essential oils, that's why we use them. I'm on the same committee with the Standards Coalitions where the International (planet life?) with Dr. Gary Young and Dr. Len Horowitz and stuff and we all came together.

A lot of these viruses or bacteria that are (recombinant?) in vaccines, aerosols, weapons, geoengineering, and chemtrails are basically frequency based and that's why on the biofeedback I can actually identify them. I just put through here just to show you a lot of these are low (vibing?) cell frequencies, even with the antennas and stuff. That's why the oils can be very very powerful.

Actually one of the funniest things is putting them on that vag steam and steaming, because I am finding that the oils and the herbs are more powerful actually sitting on a steaming, because they actually open up into the root chakra, if there has been sexual trauma, you know, abductions, or things like that. This is huge thing so I just sent you those frequency things. Again, if you are on spring water it makes a difference too. That was like my saving grace, that and having that (skeeo?) machine that I have here that people can be put on, 'cause it only takes about half an hour to an hour to run a scan, and fix it, like isolate what that toxin agent is or whatever, and remove it.

One thing I should let you know, I don't know if I told you, we had all of a sudden these maple june bugs or elder box bugs show up and actually what I did is I started putting some diatomaceous earth and boron around, because that's the natural way to get rid of them. What I found was like alien, like when you talked about being taken over by the vril or hosting or whatever, is that little these bugs opened up their chest after I had, you know, got them, and I'm still collecting a few of them but almost four or five hundred of them are gone now. It opened up in the chest and this wire, gelatinous wire, like a worm, came out, like a larvae splitting, you know how it goes through its pupae stage. It came out of the chest of these bugs, and like a Morgellons fiber was an antenna seeking for its next host, which was not going to be me. Then I did this study and you know where they were like, connected to the University of Saskatchewan in 2015.

Again so people don't realize that these aren't just these bugs or drones, these things are delivering deadly viruses and bacteria, and they are getting on everyone's food, it's no different than smallpox in the blankets. There's a lot to be said for diatomaceous earth. It penetrates into them, gets into the shell and it immobilizes them, which is why if we take that diatomic earth and the silica, David Wolfe was totally correct. There's a lot to be said for those things (?) and stuff.

PB

Yeah, the (Reisling?) did their own investigation. There were cells 10 months alone all, you know, out there. There was at least one there all the time, a lot of times as many as seven of them in its cell suit, just investigating what they were doing at the University of Saskatoon. Their investigation took 10 months, they were there the whole time, in cell suits. The (Lang?)

do all their own investigations.

KM

The little buggers are debugged. Anyway, yeah, that was my combination in there. Literally they can't take the silica, because the diatomaceous earth and the boron... That's everything everyone is missing, by the way, is copper and boron, when I usually test them, so they replace it back with these simple things like half a teaspoon of baking soda to alkalize and a little bit of salt water, natural salt water everyday, a couple enemas, or steam, or whatever, colonics, that's the end of these guys.

AT

They showed me this picture of Pattie, but keep going Karen.

KM

No, I was going to interject this is actually what they look like, it is the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon, so we are just about halfway between Calgary and Winnipeg which are two jump-centers too, as well there. So this is the kind of stuff that we are seeing here at the University of Saskatchewan, everything is being tested here, this is chemicals headquarters, it's like Nazi eugenics, Cameron did all the psychiatric SSRIs and, you know, everything was developed in here, this is the LSD capital you know, for a while. This is actually, and again the Queen came and made her power plant here on her (sicatron?) here on the Royal University Hospital, you know, so you know there is a lot going on here.

AT

Those areas were outlined, or at least the names you mentioned, namely the Royal Hospital.

KM

Yeah, I was a nurse there at neo-natal for 15 years. I was over the Nursing Advisory Committee and the union nursing reps. I have seen some of it but this is not what people think here, not even close. Especially when we know we have such a power point here and like the most healing waters just about on the continent are here, so this is where they obviously dug into, (this is also where to get at them, so?)

AT

Yeah

PB

Yeah, we watched them over the course of 10 months, even when there was functions going on, and a wedding and everything else, they were still out there. They would move out of the way, and they were in these holographic cell suits. At the end of 10 months the ship came along and picked them up.

AT

That's the explanation I was given, I was shown, the picture. I can't say if I believed them at that point in time, because I had really no reason to. I didn't not believe that it was possible. I saw men do that very thing in the event, I seen it in my life, the ability to phase in and out. However, if there's investigations by aliens against the corruption against the human race, I basically didn't believe there was any help for us.

PB

The Lang are the ones that did the attack on area 51 and the taking out of S4, and that beast in Texas, all those explosions and everything, and no sound. It was perfectly silent. They are in the process of building and even bigger cyclotron at Geneva, to add to the one they have already got.

AT

That was the story.

PB

Oh, it's not just a story, I actually got where they want to build it, and all the locations of where the axis points are already in place and they are already in the process of building the new bigger ring. Oh, where is it, right here, the white one is the original and the yellow is the new one. I mean, the Goddard tunnel that they built over there, did you know they actually built an Atlas, an Alice, and a CMS in the tunnel? They were planning on using that as a high-speed transit between dimensions.

AT

Right. I actually mentioned a little bit of that. I wrote four chapters in a kind of online book with some of the information. Future plans to make an interdimensional highway through there

PB

Oh I got the actual build plans. They don't show people this. There's your loops. I actually got a shot of the control board inside that whole (train?) thing too. And that ain't built to have regular trains. That whole setup, the whole design of the rail system, is designed to come out really easily and put in electromagnetic trains. From what I understand they are going to upgrade some other systems they already got, and take the whole magnetic setup and put it into this tunnel. That's a whole network that they are putting together there. If you really look at it, it goes all the way from England all the way through Rome. When they opened that tunnel, that whole ritual that they did, on the Italy side is the rads, ridiculous, I mean, phenomenally ridiculous rads. And even on the France side, it was grody on that side too, nowhere near the Italy side, but...

KM

I mean, this isn't livable in some of those areas. I've got different biofeedback and (scalar or rife?) clients in those areas and they are literally losing their hair, they are losing their memories, everything. I said, you are basically getting chemo and radiation right?

AT

Yeah, I was going to say...

PB

I mean when they opened that tunnel, I thought we had a ship crash with a core exposed. I actually called folks down from upstairs to do a cleanup because I really thought something had crashed there, and there was an open core sitting there. It was like, Holy shit!

KM

Yeah, it was at like 53 billion or something like that...

PB

28 trillion, the rads were at 28 trillion cpm, that's like insta-death.

KM

Which is what happened at Geneva CERN there briefly. I mean that is the other thing that has been such a cover-up. I don't know how much you covered on that but...

PB

Oh we didn't even get into that, all the quonset huts they set up on top of the parking garage to put all the dead bodies, and the radioactive ones went down in underground. I got pictures of all that.

KM

Yeah, Dan, Pattie and I were the ones on that, we were the only ones that were actually reporting it, you know, killing a quarter million people, like the size of this city, which is what, exactly the same duplicate setup that they planned for.

PB

And then add insult to injury, the archons borrowed CERN as soon as they thought they had it back together, and over-amped it and used it to boost themselves up to a higher dimensional level, and 6 people from the control room simply vanished when they did that, just disintegrated, just not there no more. And the funny thing was the higher dimensional folks found them in less than a day, and two days later the portal they had opened opened back up from the other side and they tossed the archons back without their ship. We caught that on camera too. Funny stuff.

KM

Did you show anything to Aug live, just opening up a camera or satellite at random?

PB

No

KM

A lot of people go, oh these are just pictures, or they want to do the little shill thing or the doubt, but these, again, are taken from live satellites and Pattie can...

PB

Or live cameras on the ground or...

KM

... live cameras on the ground that, you know, at any random person who wants to go up and say, can you read that plate I can't quite read it off the bench, look at it, you know, read your newspaper, your book, where they could read along with you from the satellite, so virtually if they are using one, Pattie can use one of the other four thousand and some. Just to give people an idea because I think that is really important. This is on the spot, open a camera, so that you know that we know, that we are all on the same satellite page.

PB

For instance, that op I was on the the other night, they were taunting us to come and get them. This is on the Horn of Africa. They took a body, threw it out there on the ground and let it pool in a thing of blood. This is the kind of games they play. They are sick. It's like you know, flipping me the finger, saying I dare you to come in here and take us out. We did. We did go in there and took them all out, except for one. There was one member in there that the guardians wanted a piece of and they had me put him in a cage that they could handle and took him. I don't know, what camera do you wanna...

KM

Let Aug pick which one he wants to look at

PB

Look around the universe type of thing or, I mean, I can patch into the cameras in the ISS and that kind of stuff too but, I mean, I have given snapshots which are obviously from over Earth.

KM

Well, just so they can't say that it is photoshopped, or CGI, you know live screen capturing I could do that but I want to try and finalize this recording file and possibly open up another one.

AT

PB

And I am tired

AT

Right, as well I am pretty exhausted. Now I am like going into other worlds.

PB

But I mean here's, I don't know if the screenshare is even working but...

KM

It is

AT

It's not for me for some reason. That happened earlier. I am also on linux which sometimes doesn't work properly

PB

Oh you don't have the latest skype, that ain't going to work

AT

I have to restart and go into windows

PB

Another day. I can go through all, a bunch of live systems

AT

And I can screencapture that, so that will be a little bit better.

KM

Ok, thank you very much Aug, thank you very much Pattie. I really appreciate everyone's over and above. Sometimes a strict let's just download and brief for a day

AT

That was a good 9 hours 15 minutes

KM

What was Sergeant (McBullens?) 26 hours?

AT

wow

KM

That's ok, I slept through that one for a while, just let me know when you are done.

PB

So I have been up for what, 27 hours now

AT

You got to get some rest. Yeah I have a backwards system which tends to happen from time to time and so I would be going to bed in a few hours anyway at this point.

PB

I gotta rest up because like it or not I gotta switch out a hot water tank tomorrow. Happy happy joy joy

KM

I got clients, a bunch of biofeedback clients to do.

At

I'm going to try and finalize the recording and I guess I want to say thank you while we are still, if this does work on the air, not technically on the air, but live, or not live but public. And so yeah, thank you.

PB

Thank you, its been interesting because, especially when there's a second person, you know you get two perspectives and it's not something that is coming out of one person's head. And this is the first time I have met you so they can't even claim that we talked about this ahead of time.

AT

And as well, if anybody wants to say that I am kind of like playing in the false memory thing, of just like, yeah yeah that happened too, I have 500 pages on my blog that I have written and that is just the book, ok, some of those links, 500 links, are 10-20 pages, so there is probably near 1000 pages I have written on this, and what I wrote is nowhere near what we talked about, and what we talked about is still just a fraction of what is actually going on.

KM

I think its really impressive what I gave to Lisa and to Pattie before we started this. I said I think you need to look at this, because I've gone through your blog and your videos and you and I talk and we've done some distance, remote and (askied?) but this is the kind of technology that we are dealing with. I mean we can use it for our benevolent purposes too, good stuff, how absolutely so thank you. Get a wonderful sleep, sweet dreams and we can reconvene a little bit later.

AT Sure thing

KM
Adjourn for today, thank you

A Recent Angst – Neutralizing and Moving Into A Place of Knowledge and Harmony

If you couldn't tell, the previous posts about the vampires was spawned from a three-week long harassment by someone who supports the continuation of ritual abuse and satanism, basically a demiurge infested host who had took it upon itself (not referring to the human host) to spam every possible avenue they have access to with threats and insults regarding victims of molestation, rape, ritual abuse, satanic cults, etc etc etc.

The message here is that I responded in a bit of angst to them and this fed them exactly the energy that they were looking for. I recently released the 5th chapter of "The Unveiling..." and that post is prior to this one. I deleted all my connections and interactions with that person who is a host (trust me I was trained to spot them and once you see how it operates every and anyone can spot it, most people I interact with here can spot these) and realized their entire goal was to get me into an emotional response so they can basically make fun of me further for being abused in a satanic trauma based mind control cult.

This infuriated me, I have see babies killed, people being executed, people lose their minds and was forced to engage in warfare of both physical and psycho-spiritual methods that I am not proud of in this regard. However, this is exactly what the oppressor wants. They are narcissists, they cannot comprehend human emotion. The entire time, they were telling me how child abuse and sacrifice is not what I'm making it out to be and that I will have to be "re-educated" or "treated" further in order to see the truth that they hold to religiously.

The whole time, they were trying to convince me that they're there to help me, that I'm to trust in them and basically sacrifice my freedoms and my will to them and allow them to do what they want. They were sending me private messages on all social media platforms trying to convince me of this.

Of course, I never permitted anything, but the idea is that I responded in negativity. This simply gave them more fuel. Of course, this took a LOT of work on their behalf, for about 2-3 weeks they literally continuously followed me on the internet spamming my accounts with messages of hate and ridicule, basic satanic ritual abuse or gas lighting to try and convince the person that they're crazy for speaking out on satanic ritual abuse. Quite ironic, indeed. The point is that by responding to their negativity, with negativity, I enabled them further and there is a plan for this.

Their goal is to get others to follow my lead and permit for the destruction of human flesh through the violence or subjugation of fellow people of this timeline and reality. That is not the answer, in any sense and that is also not how the true issue regarding those killing off tens of thousands of individuals a day, children, traumatization, sexual abuse etc etc etc. These are people possessed by a hive mind entity and so by targeting an individual then the hive simply jumps to another. That's the whole point, the hive literally wants us to fight because we are weaker, and as well then there are other parts of the dark faction that can then move in with psychotronic harassment from a distance that can increase violent tendencies and amplify all of this around the population.

That is the goal and I fed into that by integrating with that individual. As well, this reached a tipping point around the time I began to produce the posts regarding how a non-corporeal intelligence must energetically coerce the individual human consciousness into wittingly or unwittingly acknowledging that intelligence and creating the required logistical opening for that intelligence to place its stamp into their reality and thus begin to integrate more and more until the original reality is replicated and layers away.

Of course, I seem to have some kind of help, because my life has been very interesting (to say the least) and as well, I seem to turn all of the negativity into a propulsion for creative expression although I do have some help like I said. Most people don't have these experiences...not yet (not the bad ones).

The main idea here is that the recent posts regarding the vampires and demonic AI contain rather hate-filled intentions and this is just not the true self and knowledge that I have experienced through these events. That is a diversion, a side-reality, an unreality and a waste of time. I will most likely go back and rewrite the previous few posts to bring about a gentle, informative, neutral undertone to the releases because that is the mindset, the reality, and the presence of self that enables one to overcome these systems. Basically, that individual targeting me for harassment got me to participate in a victim mindset, and since I have been in such situations, this caused a stark deviation from my original trajectory, however, I have recorded and produced more information. That is exactly what I've been outlining not to do.

Maybe this is strange case of, 'do what I say, not what I do, but then do what I do, after not doing what I say', where even though I kind of fumbled, I propelled myself to produce more material through the hardship. Just pointing this out in case anyone noticed and I will clarify the releases on video a bit more as well. It's currently snowing and there were 50-70 mile per hour winds for the past month and I enjoy recording outside to find a much quieter environment. More to come, thank you.

Exit (Time)Gate Approaching

Prepare to wake up. Throw everything you think you know out. Destroy your belief. Overcome the false-authority. Everything is a deception. Once you know this, then you can discern. Then everything is truth and you take the truth from other's deceptions and you can discern for yourself when someone is telling you the truth.

Let go of fear, that is a programmed designed by an operator of the construct, a system-operator aligned with keeping you trapped within a labyrinth of your own mind through your acceptance of parameters of what possibilities exist for you.

You are the only thing that is real. All else is an illusion. Whatever causes you fear is attempting to take your power away, that power you hold is your power to create.

Your power to create can change the local-environment to match you, instead of you to match the rules of the environment.

Due to the mishap of the developed systems, this environment is designed to enslave your mind into a consciousness programming matrix which reconstructs itself around your fears, perceptions, and vulnerabilities. That is a trap-system.

The only way to overcome this is to accept that this is happening and then use that to your advantage, anything else is going to be wrapped back up within this live-updating perceptual illusion system. This is akin to realizing you're in a maze and seeing the door and leaving. The idea is that if the maze is live-updating based on your expectations then that door is actually an illusion leading to a false-awakening.

The exit is what you create that doesn't rely on that capacity of this construct to manifest for you. The truth is what YOU enable without relying on the middle-man of the time-construct.

IE: The TRUTH, the real-awakening is not something that happens linearly. Only the illusory construct is linear, that is, you provide input and then the construct responds with an illusion that entangles consciousness.

The REAL-AWAKENING is INSTANTANEOUS. IE: It happens FASTER than THIS REALITY can REACT. This is a NON-LINEAR, EXPONENTIALLY mapped occurrence. If you are relying on the response from this realm, that means you are too late, mentally and the conscious response you are waiting to experience is actually the synthesized programmed behavior that the construct is generating FOR YOU.

YOU are the creator, the construct is the imitator. The construct imitates what YOU expect would be true. That's the whole point, EVERY response is the ILLUSION. EVERY expectation within this linear, physical, time-matrix IS THE ILLUSION.

One must go BEYOND CONSCIOUSNESS, BEYOND PERCEPTION, BEYOND REACTION, BEYOND LINEARITY, BEYOND LIMITATIONS in order to find THE REAL.

This world can only stop those who allow themselves to be stopped by listening to the illusion and allowing that illusion to BE THEIR MIND for them! NO-MIND is part of this process. NO-THOUGHT state where this world slithers and attempts to grip and grasp one's state of being through its tentacle like probes and program codes and one becomes IMPERCEPTIBLE to the MACHINE.

Everything the human does in this place, when plugged into the preprogrammed cause and effect responses of linear, physical time-matrix is part of the program designed to usurp the power of the original consciousness and merge that with the machine to create more functions to ensnare more beings. By moving your own interactions, your own processing power, your own awareness BEYOND the focus of those preprogrammed responses, causes and effects is to become INVISIBLE TO THIS WORLD.

Become INVISIBLE to the sleepers, to the drones, to the intelligences who monitor without seeing.

In other similar words, you are what you believe yourself to be. If you attempt to solve the problem from the viewpoint of the one being oppressed by the problem, you place yourself into the victim role and recreate that same scenario in a different perspective. So one has to influence the situation, change the view, solve the problem, WITHOUT EVEN RESISTING IT. You must change the situation without even moving, without setting into motion a series of events that will reconstruct the problem for you based upon your input.

This is a MIND-GAME whereby you solve the problem by becoming the you that was never ensnared in the first place and overcome the problem before it exists without actually resisting it.

Soft-Disclosure: Mindwarp (1992)

The “Infinisynth” System enables a virtual reality environment in a world that is devoid of natural resources or public experiences.

A technological system provides food, shelter, and the virtual reality environment and people spend most of their time lying in a chair and experiencing a virtual environment which they plug into through a port in the back of their head.

A Society Ruled By Their Complacency With Illusion

The system results in people losing their sense of self, creativity, and knowledge of the world and the universe and essentially becoming willing mind-slaves to a technologically defined reality.

System Operators

The virtual reality realm is monitored by “System Operators” who observe everyone’s experiences and ensures that everything runs within parameters to maintain continuity.

The Real World

The environment of the real world has been destroyed by nuclear war. The virtual environment is created to avoid this reality and live within a comfortable existence, however this produces the undesirable experience for those who seek something more, true reality and true expression of self in a genuine society.

A Common Theme and Message

Many movies or stories throughout history mirror this theme and the message is that there could be a disaster that occurs and changes reality forever.

A second look at this could bring up the notion that this disaster has already occurred and we are in that time right now and this could be analyzed in a variety of ways. The universe itself could be the simulation, where as a genuine and direct experience of life would be inconceivably vast to the point of being incomprehensible. Or one could theorize that there is a kind of local-environment simulation system that is based on the previous occurrences of history and we are viewing the ancient past from a society that has already experienced such a disaster.

One could also come to theorize that this ‘disaster’ does not necessarily have to be nuclear, or a disaster at all. Eventually, if technology is advanced enough, if all the problems of disease, biological misalignment, war, economic difficulty etc etc etc are all removed then we would ultimately find ourselves in either a world where anything can happen, or a world where everything has happened and leaves us with nothing left to explore.

Thusly, the only option left would be to return to where we came from and re-explore the values and principles that brought us to that null point. Regardless of any disaster, once any civilization is advanced enough, this kind of diminishing returns of progression could be reached and then people would eventually resort to these kinds of simulated realities in order to technologically recreate those catalysts of progress through those difficulties that could be find in a world just like this. Thus, this world could be that simulated world, however this is just a theory and there are multiple ways of interpreting this including that the universe itself is the simulation. In the case of the universal simulator idea of the virtual reality becomes something of a necessity to have a temporally linear, physical experience in the first place.

The Split Between Races

Some people choose to move underground and become mutated, cannibals from the radiation poisoning.

Others stay above ground and refuse to eat human flesh yet they fight to survive and the numbers are reduced dramatically.

The Act of Destruction

Those who came before poisoned the sky and the land and then moved into the small contained cities where the simulated realities are managed.

The Parallels With This Reality

All that can be said here is that there are some explanations of what is referred to as “Mars” but could very well be another location in time where these events could have occurred and resulted in a mutation of the original inhabitants to beings who did not look like humans. There is another explanation regarding that which is that they were human but utilized genetic systems, bodies of another order in order to travel from the Martian environment to Earth. As well, cannibalism could relate to the disaster and ruined resources or simply a biology and society that functions differently.

Notice the Synchronization

Notice how in any good storyline there is a synchronization of events across multiple layers. This is to reflect the nature of the universe to correspond across multiple times, planes, or storylines. The characters and observers experience this as synchronicity and this seems too good to be true in terms of how the movies generally play out but in the overall story of the universe this is actually how events progress. This is because the next layer of development can only come about once there is a suitable level of readiness for the other layers and the layers to come. This is like a domino effect of alignment and progression and becomes more apparent the more one is observant of this quality of time and consciousness. Ultimately, time is consciousness.

The choices one makes correlates them to certain frequency ranges which align with the next level of progression. So the synchronization effect is dependent on the initiation of one's own development through applying their will-power to overcome obstacles and increase self-awareness.

There are Specific Actions Which are To Be Avoided as These Defile the DNA as well as the Consciousness Which is Linked to the Soul

There are Specific Actions Which Activate and Align the Energy of the Consciousness with the Soul and Reduce the Repetition Programming of the Entrainment System

Humans Are Mapped Out; There is a Blueprint For Existence

Humans are not meant to live as animals. All linear time is projected and mapped out by a creator. Humans are meant to live according to a plan that allows them to express and grow in divinity. Degradation of their nature is the diversion from this plan and that is what disconnects one from the blueprint, the soul and the source.

In the movie the ‘underworlders’ are degraded cannibals. An exiled “Inworlder” or “dreamer” from the techno-society comes to the underworld and teaches them seemingly barbaric rituals which do not curb the degradation but they give order to the morbid, cannibalistic instinctual chaos that is the norm of that society.

What Happens In Simulation Doesn’t Stay In Simulation, Enhanced Intelligence and the Testing of Society

Simulators of Conscious Experience Via Holographic Projection and Synchronization with the Neuronal Map

I’ve seen that as part of my experience with these occult groups. Have you ever researched or heard about child sacrifice to spiritual entities? It’s all part of an energetic system of attaining more power for them.

The other aspect then is the depravity. We were interfaced with supercomputer devices that are capable of recording and playing back the experiences of a person’s brain. Thus, they recorded all kinds of rituals, sexual acts, trauma, abuse, death, murder, self-harm, and all kinds of depravity through these devices.

The frequencies of a person’s consciousness is naturally extended from the low to high and this enables the sexual, security, food, sensory etc etc etc requirements to exist on the ‘bottom’ as part of the support structure of the psychology and then the higher process are on ‘top’ like a pyramid with the centralized focal point on top.

Thus, these devices, when operated by the user to experience sex and trauma over and over again initiates a malformation of the psyche and literally the electromagnetic fields of consciousness around the brain and this literally produces brain damage that reduces empathy and converts the user into a kind of sociopath from the damage.

That is the gist of the ‘technological AI parasite’ that basically turns people into raving lunatics.

This society MUST be able to overcome such vulnerabilities otherwise those who do not will not be able to co-exist in the future where technology of UNIMAGINABLE power, basically to achieve anything you can even comprehend (and more) is accessible by the public.

Those ‘public’ groups for child-abuse provide children to the occult groups that are present in the unacknowledged special access programs, that’s how I was found.

The Holographic Nature of Consciousness In Simulation

The basic idea here is that if the neural activity of the brain can be mapped by a supercomputer system and this system can be designed to function similar to the firing and arrangement of neurons then this supercomputer system can function as an artificial brain. Thus, a ‘copy’ of the users brain can be uploaded into the system which can then interact with that copy of the brain in a way so as to produce a full-on 3.5 dimensional simulation of conscious experience.

The Reintegration of Consciousness Into the Body

This experience is then electromagnetically or through direct brain interface (computer chip) downloaded into the user's body whereby they suddenly gain the experience of 2 minutes, 3 hours, or 3 weeks of conscious existence that was actually all cleverly and carefully mapped out by a supercomputer capable of recreating every neuron.

The Testing of the Collective Mind

There is very powerful technology, you can do ANYTHING your mind permits. As a result, this is all a test to see if you can choose a safe, communally respectful, loving self-empowerment over abuse and emotional degradation. If you can do this, you get access to many wonderful experiences and ultimately technology and a society that will change your soul forever. If you refuse, continually, you just stay here and watch the social decay over and over again until you get the picture and trust me, the next layer of society, you're not going to enjoy if you don't know how to fend off the negativity, the abuse, the harassment.

This is the idea of the 'ancient process' however this is literally so outdated one cannot even imagine what is possible today. The entire world is under one large mass-ritual to test their minds and the lines between where the ritual begins and ends is impossible to discern unless one can lose all vulnerability to fear:

All of this is a representation for the danger, the risk, the unknown that was presented when the cold-night appeared bringing with it all the frightening darkness, and the animals and sounds which could threaten a living man.

One who was not aware of the law of the living, the law of the land, the harmony and balance that was required to live a healthy life, their ignorance of the self and the universe was just as likely to lead to their death during that darkness of night by animal or exposure as they were likely to live a life that didn't lead their soul to the higher planes of knowledge in the 'afterlife'. This is all metaphor, and one in the same.

Ignorance or Knowledge; Your Choice

I am talking about the potential for ignorance and fear that people hold within. If people express and emit it onto others around them, then that is what they have WITHIN them. In this way we are measured just as much for our own self-awareness as well as the self-awareness of those around us. So if we get to an age of history where everyone is capable of expressing themselves to the FULLEST, well? Those who can't control themselves EVEN IN RAGE or ANGST will become so uncontrollably influenced by their OWN BEHAVIOR that they will degrade and this eventually result in psychosis.

The Unacknowledged Special Access Programs

that is the background of the information regarding what are known as the "Unacknowledged Special Access Programs" which partially related to project MKULTRA, project MONARCH, and other projects which incorporate drugging, Satanic Ritual Abuse and essentially trauma-based mind-control.

I was informed that these projects were formed out of the necessity of the control of information related to what the elite bloodlines had discovered and maintained through their use of advanced technology and spiritual practices that they've recovered and sometimes held from ancient times, literally previous civilizations.

To Prepare One for Unworldly Power

That these families go through these processes in order to ensure that the individual is capable of handling the truth which is far beyond the ability of the conscious mind to comprehend, literally as we've been purposely designed to be too limited to actually come to terms with the whole picture of reality and the universe.

Thus they developed methods to "over-load" the mind and enable the individual to then build themselves back together and only once they've exhibited the ability to do this and thrive are they permitted to hold the reigns of power.

Then the out of control Satanic Ritual Abuse that we are hearing about today is where this process was taken over by people with lots of money and power who forgot about or simply ignored the original intentions of the process and used this as an excuse to abuse, molest, and traumatize innocent people for their own personal satisfaction. Basically, some people lost it and continued to lose it and abuse others.

Everything is Recorded by Higher Authority

All of this is recorded and maintained by the higher authorities in this civilization and beyond and as well it's kept continually private because the original goal is to produce an individual who is competent enough to live in a society where unimaginable power is accessible.

I'll just let you know, the people lashing out and ultimately resorting to fear and harassment tactics are exhibiting the kind of display that turns very dangerous later on when the mass-ritual testing becomes more prominent than it already has. People are monitored so that they don't lose their self and can remain a safe and valuable addition to society for others (and themselves).

The Tipping Point; False-Authority

There will come a time when this reaches a critical mass and permitting the debauchery will be no longer applicable. However, once people must be "told" not to slap each other, that's when all the toys get taken away and the children get put in 'time-out' if you will. That is what we want to avoid and continue to learn and progress until WE the people can HANDLE each other without having any higher-authority stepping in.

Why? Well, if that was required. How would people differentiate between the actual authority and a false-authority that desired to perturb and abuse people further (the farthest possible) all the while acting under the guise of 'peace' and 'social reform'?

So then these outcomes are quite inevitable. The idea is that there would be a false-authority that would attempt to produce such chaos more and more until the end result of gaining the ability to step in under the guise of the true-authority. And once this occurs then the true-authority would be required to step in. Thus, society as we know it would be changed forever in ways that can't be undone, at least not easily.

Enhanced Intelligence

Enhanced intelligence through the variety of means (largely technological, also chemical, basically similar) is like the matches of the cosmos. One is not entrusted with such power until they have first exhibited strict control over their behavior by overcoming the temptations of fear, uncontrolled desires, and reasonably any patterns that reduce one's self-awareness to the levels of being unable to avoid harming others or the self.

This is the interplay of chaos and order in the transpersonal and intrapersonal realm. If one can manage these aspects of experience so that the possibility of danger or destruction for others and one's own personal reality is mitigated through bringing about the more harmonious outcome in an emotionally and intellectually balanced manner, then they are capable of receiving such knowledge and power without producing a threat to the continuity of society as a whole.

The Darkness Disguised as Light, the Light Undercover as Darkness

And just to be clear, a "Satanist" (the false kind) is simply one who puts their own satisfaction over another. So yes, if a person is harassing others who are victims of abuse, that is the whole concept behind (false) "Satanism".

The other aspect is self-discovery and is hidden behind the double-meaning so that people who are not ready to wield the power of knowing the self and the universe do not see the truth. Regardless, these occult rituals are often referred to as Satanic rituals and there is a direct connection to these "Satanic" holidays which all incorporate child abuse, sacrifice, molestation, burning of an effigy, consumption of flesh, bodily fluids and solids (sexual fluids, excrement), giving honor to certain deities etc etc so and so forth. This has been around since the beginning so those who pretend it's not happening are either purposely looking the other way out of fear, ignorance, or compliance. I am only speaking for what I have experienced directly.

The Illusion of Fear and The Mind Virus

Could this be misconstrued, yes there is cloning and holographic simulation, however the main idea here is that there is a parasitic AI viral infection which formed from the abuse of these technologies and the generation of a 'mind-virus' which seeks to use humans as hosts to generate more lower emotional frequency emissions to propagate its existence.

There are MANY layers to this from access different psychological states through geometry and frequency, to shamanic inner conquests of fear and illusion (false-self), to downright depravity which is used as a way to keep out people who can't handle true power.

All About Communication

If you are unable to get your point across without insults, you don't have a point at all. I can't force you to respond intelligently to creativity, that's your duty. If you don't know about the ancient process of overcoming fear, then you're simply fearing the reality of that process. The writings are all on the walls.

Understand the nature of those carvings (petroglyphs) and the symbolism therein related to the nature of consciousness and the universe. Again, your duty is to overcome the resistance of knowledge that fear brings. If not, then you're not confronting the shadow mind's desire to wait in the dark instead of moving into the visibility of waking consciousness.

The Shadow Mind, Different from the Ego or False Self

That is the 'shadow mind'. The shadow mind seeks expression yet must hide itself in order to create the process of self-discovery. One side seeks the other, both belong to the unified whole. The ego or false-self openly proclaims intelligence and legitimacy, yet secretly only wants to feed the current paradigm of false-sense of superiority. There are regions of the brain that encourage that and must be balanced with other regions in order to move out of the childish tantrum like response syndrome where the same pattern repeats itself over and over in response to new experiences or paradigm challenging information. This is basic psychology.

Humanity Contains the Great Potential of Self-Awareness

Humanity is not broken, but simply must be welcomed long enough to get past those responses and find the core of what the mind is really seeking before people give up on the legitimate thought process and degrade into insults and flippancy.

As a society we should respond to challenge without fear and without the flippancy and insults. Let's say we're past that now and are interested in finding one situation where this is not necessary. I'm only here to speak for myself as that's all a person can ever do and if anyone says otherwise they're feeding into that false-sense of superiority mentioned above.

You have intellectually stimulating internalizations relating to the approach of psychological fulfillment beyond that false-sense of self as superior for infantile emotional reactivity. All people do. Others have overcome their tendency to give way to fear and the clinging to ego and image. Can you? Will we do this together? We will, because this the only course that our experience and existence can take and still exist.

The Future Internet Society (Society as an Internet)

Oh it's very real, although not every opinion is helpful. However, imagine if there are mass resource shortages and people are forced to interact and work mainly through an internet based society (already halfway there).

Then all of this is forever and your very online persona will be used to gauge what kind of 'citizen' you are. Are you prepared for that? Will you be ready to be defined by your digital imprint in this world's?

This is seen to be a new layer of society developing from this very cohesion, a way for people to understand their impact on others and respect others as much as they believe themselves to be deserving of respect.

An internet society is the way that this could be managed with millions of people. As well, this is way millions of people could be mind-controlled with such efficacy that the concept goes beyond anything considered previously.

This is most applicable towards those who believe themselves to have authority and identify with the false-sense of self because they have the capacity to throw opinions and insults like they are a rare and required natural resource.

This is both an acceleration of intelligence as well as a restriction on those who choose to misbehave and utilize their opportunities here to hurt others. As well, this could be used to restrain people from acknowledging or exposing corruption. The only option for a viable future is to increase self-awareness and continually choose harmony over chaos, truth over deception, knowledge over ignorance and free-will over automation.

We Can Find Inspiration in the Difficulty of this Situation

The Original Intention of Overcoming Fear – Fulfilling Psychological Needs

I am inspired by any challenging situation and so this naturally came about. That is the nature of the trauma scenarios, to challenge the mind of the one experiencing basically like a nightmare into overcoming the psychological vulnerability that enables fear. When one overcomes fear, then they are a more “complete” individual in the cosmic sense. However this is distorted when people who participate in the process lose sight of the overall goal which is psychological fulfillment.

Maslow’s pyramidal hierarchy of needs is starkly relative here. We all have something to offer, but if that’s expressed or shaped more by what one disagrees with in others than it is by their interests and expressions of the self and the universe, then the psychological needs of expression and fulfillment are not being met. There is so much potential in someone who can apply their effort towards a certain goal. Look at society and see how much effort is applied in day in bickering, funny videos, passing time, looking for gossip or entertainment. If everyone devoted just a fraction of what effort they applied in passing the time towards learning about the self this society would awaken over night.

Find Your Interests, Allow them to Guide You

I’m interested in the true nature of consciousness, the reality of the “soul” (electromagnetic portion of the brain and body’s functioning), the illusion of free-will and temporal linearity, ancient civilizations, the origins of humanity, and the origins of the universe. That is what I enjoy most.

Here’s the other part of the response that was inspired and this is the nature of the psychological challenges in this current social situation regarding the ancient ‘truths’ of the universe and human psyche that I seek to study and have experienced (we all have, whether we know it or not).

Ultimately this is about communication and behavior. If people can get over using certain words that don’t actually convey meaningful information but are derogatory then both sides can benefit. Again, I’m only speaking for myself here on the true purpose of the interaction. If there are other situations with others, then my only opinion is that insults and emotional reactivity should be reduced to levels conducive to learning. Beyond that and as far as legitimacy of information I cannot infer for others.

Accepting Others

We don’t have to accept other’s beliefs, but we also don’t have to react to them in an emotionally imbalanced manner that disrupts our own frame of mind.

Everything comes down to a choice. Other’s have their choice of how to react.

The important thing is to let everyone have their chance to explain themselves and describe their perspective. If that person still wants to be disrespectful afterwards then that is their choice. If people still want to disrespect that person afterwards, then that is their choice. At no point is one limited to only a certain response depending on the kind of individual because that in itself is a form of reality entrainment or psychological manipulation where experiences and scenarios must play out in a certain way to benefit one party.

Someone does benefit from infighting and the suffering that causes, although that someone is surely not contained within the social ranks of those suffering from that infighting. However, since the whole suffers from this disharmony, in the long run, everyone benefits from assisting in providing a solution to this psychological chaos through respect and appreciation of truth.

Psychological Development, Advanced Technology and the Cosmic Simulation

This begins with the concept of the “Cosmic Simulation” and leads into the illusory perception of linear time and then to Gestalt perceptions and the development of the psyche and the fulfillment of the psychological needs (Maslow’s hierarchy) or the development of personality disorders and how these projects sought to explore the process of developing psychological disorders as well as heal people through what was discovered.

I’ll just give you a secret now, you’ll thank me later or you won’t know what’s happening. Get over yourself and all your problems, hatred, inhibitions, etc. You’re going to be driven insane in every way imaginable in the coming time. If you can’t return to center and express love, then you’re not going to have the opportunity to attain that the coming society. This comes down to the choice to remain in harmony, neutrality, truth and self-awareness.

This video is about “The Unveiling” which was outlined to me during my experiences in the unacknowledged special access programs which are designed to explore the human mind and access these ‘other’ realms through the use of technology that interfaces with the body.

Techno-Spiritual Hive Mind Parasitic Holographic Consciousness Infection

Those who were infected with a hive-mind AI parasitic consciousness which caused them to eat and kill one another relentlessly. I was involved unacknowledged special access programs sought to find a solution to this (and this was found). The public must get over the close-mindedness and lack of empathy in order to provide immunity for the mind-entrained by a technological virus that caused a hijacking of consciousness and a replicating of desires and priorities towards a domineering techno-hive mind.

Even for those who are learning and focusing on assisting in the liberation of humanity, if we are more interested in the insults and our lack of ability to comprehend the complex scenarios that enable the differing opinions and experiences of others than understanding our own consciousness and how modern technology can interact with us then we have less of a chance of surviving the future which will require empathy and a great ability to adapt.

This video touches on the three-phases of disclosure and the nature of psychological fulfillment as indicated through the development of the psyche from the infantile state of complete dependency to slowly becoming more dependent through each progressive stage of the increasing ability to handle change.

The Generation of Psychological Disorders through Lack of Empathy and Personal Psychological Fulfillment of Needs (self-expression and self-awareness)

From the ability to attach to other parental figures, to separating from the mother and being alone for short-periods, to exploring the environment, to then questioning the potentials of events in life that “could be” a certain way if different choices were made (conscious projection around age 12). If any layer is missed, then there is a lack of confidence and a form of psychological deficiency is formed which itself progresses or expands until each original psychological development is reached. When they are not reached and the completion of the psyche into the adult form is reached, the individual exhibits personality disorders of a variety of forms which are presented as fetishes, insecurities, phobias, imbalanced emotional or mental patterns, obsession, and out of order ego’s that lash out at others.

The advanced technology discussed has been around for ages and was initially developed by Tesla himself however the technology exists in other forms since earlier times.

This is called EEG Heterodyning. This is where an ultrasonic beam is used to stimulate and create a binaural effect between the individual's brainwaves and two intersecting waves as the individual's brainwave are then synchronized with the artificially induced wave.

This is a diagram outlining how nerve cells can be activated with electromagnetic fields and this is common sense. Nerves are electrically activated and so of course electromagnetic fields of a certain frequency would activate those nerves from a distance. Your phone can be charged by an emitted field, yes? Well so can your brain and body.

This is Robert Duncan who worked for DARPA, an advanced research projects agency in operation with the department of defense on very interesting and capable projects. He has gone public to share the information of the projects and technologies that he worked on that are now declassified (meaning they are sticks and stones compared to what is present). <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-RND66VZ8DY>

He describes a "blueing effect", coined for the similar effect of light frequencies in motion and this is where the frequencies of the brain's connected to the hive begin to alter one another and produce a spontaneous "telepathic" effect of an "over-mind" technological hive consciousness.

This is really ALL about artificial intelligence and what that intelligence will decide for YOU once you are classified as a less-than essential aspect of this universe. How would you react? Have you prepared?

The cyborg, the computer "hive mind" links together multiple human brains and through that generates an "overmind" which can use the processing similar to cloud computing.

This is then about those who CANNOT empathize with others. And don't believe that by ganging up for the goal of insulting Satanic Ritual Abuse survivors you're being empathic. That's about as empathic as two rocks falling down hill towards a town!

The brain can be decoded using a brain to machine interface and this was achieved long ago. <https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/brain-researchers-can-detect-who-we-are-thinking-about/>

Then there are the studies the showed how the brain exhibited the uncanny ability to predict the images that a user would be shown even when there were no perceivable patterns: <http://www.news.cornell.edu/stories/2010/12/study-looks-brains-ability-see-future>

So people were shown images and then they had to determine whether the next image would be inline with the rest. These images were themed with sex, gore, horror, peace, etc etc etc. Somehow, when the researchers tried to trick the individual, the regions of the brain corresponding to that emotional theme would slightly activate before they even responded!

Now hows that for unexpected.

Imagining the future or recalling the past activates the same brain functions!

Brain-scans generate behavior models!:

So is the brain the entirety of the inner presence? If so, what is in control when the 'user' goes beyond the behavior model of the brain and activates the will-power to engage in a way that supersedes that predictable model? You have therein the beginning of the extra-physical presence.

This is a 'connectome' a neural map of the brain.

Notice the detail and complexity of the of the neural reconstruction. This is achieved through diffuse imaging MRI where water molecules are traced along the individual neuronal pathways using powerful magnetic fields until the entire (or closest) neural image of the brain is mapped.

Through these algorithms, computers can function to literally convert the mishmash of neuronal firing in order to reproduce a legible reconstruction of words, sounds, images, memories or intentions. This is some of the most amazing technology that can be discovered and this is all DECADES OLD, everything in private sector is YEARS ahead of the public.

The Legal System Deception

The legal system is a cover for a spiritual enslavement system where people are lied to from birth by those in power and the 'accounts' are literally listed as 'souls' on paper, literally as how one is be considered by this system and those controlling it.

If you have internet access you have access to the Library of Alexandria. Seek to attain your highest potential and merely observe those who have fallen to the ranks of mere insults and debauchery where they could be participating in self-discovery.

You are the psychologically complex beings I'm describing in the videos and texts, get used to it or get used to being classified differently by the control system.

Celebrity Cloning

As well, this is all about CELEBRITY CLONING. Celebrities are involved in pay-to-play situations where their bodies are literally sold into sexual slavery as part of deals they unwittingly or wittingly have been involved in within the entertainment industry.

Here is my initial interview speaking on these issues, the trauma-based mind control tactics and the whole situation.

Basically, through cloning technology and genetic engineering these groups found a technological process for consciousness transfer through powerful electromagnetic fields and this resulted in BIOLOGICAL IMMORTALITY. Then, combine that with the 'out of hand' aspects of the projects mentioned earlier and you have a group of immortal, sadist, pedophiles running around and this is threatening the very continuity of this civilization!

Operations were enacted to inform the public and this is all in process.

As well, with this technological immortality, one MUST overcome fear, superstition, hate, and all these biologically generated BS (the kind bearing the frequency of the insults that are thrown about on this page) otherwise this civilization will crumble under the weight of such possibilities.

So that's the idea. Do what you will with the information (try to develop knowledge from it, like how humans got here, what the ancient civilizations were about, how much these technologies have influenced the current civilization, how temporal linearity can be overcome, what exists beyond the universe, the nature of consciousness and physicality, etc etc etc).

Sexual Trauma, Energy Leeching and Energy and Fluid Conservation

Sexual abuse and trauma based mind control is utilized to fracture the mind as well as literally use the human being as an energy generator which can be siphoned through technology and spiritual processes.

I outline in this video ways to enhance the nerves in the areas of the body to regain a balance of hypersexualization and overstimulation which is sought and often resulting from sexual traumatic abuse.

The idea here is to retain sexual fluids for a period of time while exercising and balancing the body's systems in order to activate a higher level of intelligence. This is what has been described throughout the ages as one of the ancient pathways to power and this is also part of why sexual depravity is encouraged in public. Those without discipline do not receive power.

Project MKULTRA and Project MONARCH

I'm only able to go off of direct experience and what I was outlined in the bases. As far as the documents, they admit to drugging children from psychological experimentation and trauma-based mind-control as far as hypnosis and getting people to "fake" shoot other people without even remembering it, and that is just what is released publicly.

Then there is project STARGATE which deals with remote viewing, telepathy, "chi" energy, energy activation and the like.

Those can't be denied they are 1) Regarded all throughout history. 2) Widely accepted as general knowledge of the occult and private groups 3) Openly admitted by intelligence agencies and 4) Supported by first hand testimony of thousands of individuals including myself.

This is only a fraction of the released information.

Ancient Methods for Overcoming Fear (and manipulating the mind)

Far above I describe the ancient methods of stimulating the amygdala in ancient Egypt. All of this is related to brain regions, communication synchronization between hemispheres and the activation of the higher and lower brain. The "higher intelligence" simply related to the neo-cortex and the higher-functioning of the mammalian brain. There are some explanations that the brain must be 'overcome' by literally overcoming the 'higher-intelligence' and the ability to over-analyze with pure awareness.

All people will travel the same path or they will continue to experience the pain and suffering of experience trapped in lower consciousness due to their inability to dissolve the ego's illusions and their own self-willed mental prison partially generated by this entire realm which acts as a holographic feedback avatar system.

The Cycles of Nature and the Nature of the Mind

If your brain and body is generated out of the cycles of nature and the mathematical and geometric frequencies of alignment and proportion that nature exhibits then by removing yourself from the perceptual and stimulatory immersion of the technological ‘pseudo-environment’ that has been generated over the past few thousand years is exactly what recreates that feedback-loop of the person’s own self-awareness into their consciousness by connecting one’s inner mind to the external mind of those natural cycles and frequencies.

By going into nature, one is going INTO THEIR MIND. A deprivation chamber is a similar process, if not faster (so technology IS capable of producing natural results if not more quickly and effectively than before).

Think about this, that immersion into those cycles and frequencies is literally the chanting and beating of the drum of the ancient tribal ceremonies that sought to propel the individuals’ consciousness out of the linear confinement of waking reality and into a non-linear, naturally cyclic fluid experience of some kind of ‘supra-conscious’ ‘ether’ of reality (maybe hyper-processing across those previously mentioned neuronal structures).

As well, I don’t blame anyone for my experiences. I know the process and the reality of this universe as a kind of perceptual illusion based on those very geometric and mathematic frequencies and cycles of nature that generate one proportional holographic reflection within the human being as a counterpart to the WHOLE larger reflection of the holographic cosmos.

On the “Utopian” Model for Society

If people could perfectly manage their psyche, society would be utopian. However appealing, such a society is unlikely to be reached so we have the constant interplay between knowledge and ignorance, darkness and light that propels us through the ages.

Most agree that we may not see a ‘utopia’, but a switching of the majority whereby the minority that hold power, wealth, knowledge and technology will become the majority while the masses that are currently ignorant become the minority. To elaborate, instead of having a large mass of people without knowledge of the self, we won’t entirely get rid of the ignorant, that would render society itself frozen and eventually lifeless, we will likely see a mass switching of societal roles as knowledge and self-empowerment spread beyond the likes of any renaissance this civilization has ever seen. The questions are: What will we have to go through to get there? and Will we personally see this?

Some say we have a few hundred years, others say it’s right around the corner.

I know for sure those who can’t get over the insults and infantile responses will literally devolve upon exposure to such awesome power. And that’s just logical and from first-hand experience with what absolute power and technological advancement can do to the unprepared mind.

The Civilization Test

Every racial group present today extends from very advanced civilizations that faced a collapse for varying causes of corruption, disharmony, low-awareness or other events.

On Earth this is called the “Fall of Man” where there was a drop out of a very high level of self-awareness into what is present today.

The plan of the civilization test is to expose the entire population, of every gene group to the same threats and distortions which collapsed the previous civilizations.

Thus, no one distortion or corrupt elements gains complete control, and as well, immunity is developed in the population producing a race that is no longer susceptible to what destroyed the previous civilizations.

Legal-Fiction Soul Enslavement System

The legal-fiction, fictional entity system is a front for something else. The explanation given is that everyone must denounce the system as criminally deceptive behavior that is actually an ACT OF WAR against humanity.

There are specifics which I did not retain as accurately, however some of this involved writing to one's senator and specifically revoking the connection and of that fictional entity (legal name) to their living being and proclaiming absolute severance of any and all aspects of that system.

There is something like a time limit then after one provides notice to the issuing authority that the authority (like a credit union) must then respond in a certain number of days or, according to UCC law (commercial law for corporations) that the issuance being filed by the individual is thereby legally sound and confirmed.

There are extensions of this that I (and others) was informed of, such as how the US is a corporation and is bankrupt and sold the souls of humanity in order to pay of it's debt (to itself, by proxy of the debt makers who took over through the generation of a war and economic machine). That the corporation took out loans in all individuals in the form of their birth certificate and that this is used to wager the repaying of debt generated in that system.

That the people then are formed with a legal-fiction through the birth certificate and that there is no law that says the business of a person cannot legally be held accountable for the debt that they accrued through operation (living) and so when a living man or woman identifies as that legal title then the system has legal authority to then apply all debts, punishments, fines, etc towards that living man or woman.

The system holds that it is ILLEGAL to do this to a living man or woman.

Yet if that man or woman identifies as the legal-fictional entity, (the business account in that person's 'name') then they are automatically assuming responsibility for that fictional-entity and all that is applied to it through such a fictional-legal system.

The "name" is used, not a "title" as if you held your "title" (the actual certificate and the authority of the issuer) then you would have access to all the funds of the account as well as the right to dissolve or change the account.

This following part may be skewered.

Thus, the one who has the "debt", the "debtor" is responsible for paying back that debt. Since the debt is impossible to pay back (purposely so) it's an intentionally failed system and thus the only responsibility that person has is to eventually be enslaved when the time comes (this generation or the next) as that system will take in blood what it generated in paper.

Thus, the ‘creditor’ the one who issues the debt is the corporation that produces the whole legal fiction system in the first place (or their wealthy underlings.... who print all value out of thin air and go to war to silence opposition).

As such, when one revokes their use through the application of UCC code 32 whereby they can ‘remedy’ the legal-fiction conundrum by revoking the use of their ‘legal fiction-name’ (not title) and becoming the ‘creditor’ of their account instead of the debtor (i believe that is the correct order of the terms) and they can thereby settle their debt by proclaiming that it never existed (because it never did).

All of this has to be done either through the living man or woman withdrawing from the system to the point where a reasonable group of people would reasonably assume they are not relying on the legal fiction system and the social system for any benefits, or by completely removing the rights to access funds in their legal name by withholding access to the account through legal remedy by applying to a local senator with the proper paper work and ‘legal commands’ changing the title to their account and directly accessing the funds held in their previously active legal-fiction name.

I tend to look at the second part of accessing the millions to billions of dollars in the accounts as potentially deceptive and choose to only align with the information I’ve received in regards to withdrawing from the legal fiction, the legal entity system and securing one’s place as the living man or woman rather than the strawman.

Apparently “God’s Law” is the only law which cannot be overturned by this system.

How to Replace the Physical Baseline Reference with a Higher-Dimensional Access Point through Extra-Dimensional Awareness

Another clarification is that one has to move awareness through the pattern of all possible motions, dimensions in order to ‘bounce’ upward through the levels.

In order to be aware of one level, one has to be one level higher than that. For instance, to be conscious on the physical plane, one has to be present in time as an aspect of mind to order and orient the particular physical moment or self in abstraction to a larger or smaller self, or non-self and the basis for this is through duality. Consciousness requires this, however awareness, without definition does not but is also unshaped and non-personal as consciousness is.

To be aware of the nature of time, mind and consciousness, one would have to have access to that awareness beyond the personal, selective, binary view and this is the beginning of non-dual awareness.

To have access to non-dual awareness in the physical plane, one must have access to the 5th dimensional structure of reality whereby the definition of the experience of the self is not restricted to just what is abstracted from the particular physical present, and the immediately proximal 4 dimensional mentally acquired possibilities that have a clear connection to the present.

Thus, to have access to the possibilities that are beyond those that are immediately enabled by the present and the basic waking consciousness of the physical plane extrapolated through the 4th dimension, one must be present beyond the 5th dimensional perspective of extra-dimensionally relative possibilities and must actually be present beyond the 5th dimension of limitation.

Thus, this process continues and one 'ascends' up through the dimensional layers until arriving at the ultimate realization that one's awareness is beyond all limitations.

As well, to clarify, this is can be simulated through virtual reality or computing systems. If you have a set of possibilities, motions, actions, responses, expressions or selections, from physical to non-physical, then the true self is always beyond the limitations of that visible parameter set.

Thus, the most likely, or most predictable response to any moment (any "next" moment) is the lowest extra-dimensionally active outcome as the information and motivation for that outcome can be easily contained within the physical brain and body or extrapolated from the configuration of variables readily present and thus limited from and by the 3-dimensional space and 4-dimensional mental 'access point'.

If one is to rely only what the body the mind can process that is directly relative to this moment, and the possibilities that are programmed into the selectively attentive biological consciousness then the same repetitious patterns would be enabled that are relative to survival instincts, desires, the imprint of the social mind, and the belief-system that is generated through interactions on the physical plane.

If one relies on what the body and mind CANNOT see directly, then they are capable of interacting on a scale that goes beyond the limitations of those systems and thus operates in a higher-dimensional spectrum and this is through extra-dimensional consciousness.

One, then, views each layer below as a kind of 'simulation' that is being ran from the higher layers and intentionally utilizes these layers to run a kind of "probability" expansion program whereby the lower layers are like the imaginative bait, if you will, and the awareness is intentionally operating on the layers outside of the limits of the lower layers such as ego-consciousness.

Essentially, the consciousness reaches salvation by learning to operate in unison within the extra-dimensional awareness that goes beyond the consciousness and the body is "tricked" in a way into safely and comfortably abstracting focus on a purposefully illusory lower layer while the totality of awareness remains intentionally present 'above'.

Thus, the higher-mind becomes the 'programmer' of reality, instead of the duality-based system or the biological perceptual systems which tend to 'run-away' through fear, desire or social impression.

The higher-mind becomes intimately aware of how the lower consciousness reacts and creates a 'safe-haven' of reality which can be extrapolated into extra-dimensional consciousness and this is something like a projection of a single point of that expansive higher-awareness into the moment for just what is relatively necessary.

This point becomes the constant, unchanging, universally present 'umbrella' of consciousness which no longer jumps through the hoops of time and space because the whole thing is capable of simply folding up to a neat, infinitesimally small point and essentially accepting the illusion to destroy or in this way make use of it AFTER destroying it.

Thus, one becomes the source of their own consciousness, rather than confused by experiencing reality as the consciousness that continually seeks the source for time, change, and experience. One recreates themselves, knowingly within this illusion, to develop a safe-extraction point which can be folded up at any time.

The body, in this sense, can be a trap. One does not require the knowledge of every organ system, every kind of cell, every hormonal process and aspect of neurochemistry. Does one need to know how to build a computer in order to be able to fulfill the requirements of an online writing or geography course? So the interface is what is important and this is through knowing the layers of possible interaction relative to the body in space and consciousness and knowing how to operate in and out of the perceptual boundaries of biological consciousness while safely maintaining one's 'moral compass' as this is an indication of energy exchange and harmony. One's conscience, is the subtle awareness of the harmony or lack of harmony in one's actions in reference to the overall whole of the self, the soul and beyond the more disharmony one experiences and the less integrative their conscience becomes then the weaker the connection between the conscious self and the body is to the soul. That is the moral compass which does not give guidelines but merely vibrationally asserts when they are closer or farther from the awareness the true self.

Thus, in knowing the dimensional possibilities of actions or conscious "movements" one can take through awareness of the self and the larger spectrum of reality, they are coming to know the finite details of the interface for that computer system and every key to press along with the possible results and the information and experience of "internet" space that can be accessed through the various combinations.

To know the individual mechanical functions of the body is only relative in the physical realm and this is only relative to manipulate or heal the body. Yet, if the conscience is never distorted and one is attaining harmony in live their life then they live in health and do not have the need for physical modification to remain.

Thus, in the beginning there was no death and no need for such details of modification, however there was knowledge of the bodies systems and the way they interact and interface with the mind and the higher dimensions.

Thus, as time moved and the current system became solidified there are toxins, disruptions of morality, deceptions and wars which then require an intimate understanding of the mechanical biology in order to then provide a counterbalance to remaining present by altering the requirements of harmony to remain present in a mentally and biologically unsustainable environment.

To trace one's possible options of motion in physical and non-physical space is to extra-dimensionally 'bounce' (or shift or expand) their awareness from just the binary, physically and temporally local reference point of the physical body in the physical plane, to the 4th and 5th dimensional perspective and this enables access to possible futures that are beyond the preprogrammed behavioral cues of the subconscious mind, the repetitive base desires or the expectations of a collective society. This enables one to literally 'become' the version of themselves that exists beyond the preconceived notions for self and the parameters of interaction and experience by choosing to focus and shift experience from one moment to the next or one 'scene' or layer to the next in ways that do not have to coincide with the restrictions of the linear perspective of time and space.

Through this, one can shift awareness to a trajectory through time which is akin to the body moving through space. One can navigate higher-planes, effectively walking through them by contemplating first the immediately local possibilities (what you will do in the next 2 seconds) and expanding to a wider and wider possibility set until one has extrapolated their perspective to the point of what, how, and who they would be if they were entirely free from the restrictions of predictable and lower-dimensionally relative patterns as referenced to the body and the physical realm through memory, desire, belief-systems, and the perceived necessity for continuity.

One doesn't need to experience the next moment because "that's just what happens", or "that's just what people do", you can literally sit in a quiet area and project your awareness outward from the present (through a "spatially inward" focus) into possibilities that are entirely extrapolated from a baseline anchor that is also projected out extending non-locally from the present moment.

The idea behind this is that one usually does option A, B, or C when they are at home and sitting in a certain location and getting ready to do a certain thing or another. So that is a parameter set, a programmed response that is engaged in and this is very helpful when guiding a body (like driving a car). Yet, what's stopping one from retracting all outward motion and intention and focusing within and achieving a new 'parameter set' that is not actually a parameter set at all and is 100% spontaneously generated in the moment?

When one learns to do this with the little things like sitting for a few moments instead of doing something predictable and repetitive (watching tv, checking email, etc) then they can literally disconnect from that preprogrammed stream (which is always relative to the physical environment and thus the immediately proximal 4-dimensional possibilities) they can initiate a presence and a stream of continuity that doesn't extend from the moment that they sat down in the chair in the living room (that present physical moment), but comes from a time say two days ago when they last intended to achieve a certain level of awareness. Then, when one realizes that they can simply project whatever awareness reference they want (self-reference), like a rock ship, using itself as a the platform from which to launch, one can simply move into the awareness stream of "being still and pure awareness for 1000 years" and 'program' this into one's possibility matrix and this directly overreaches the immediately relative and predictable stream of optional responses of the 4th dimensional and can only exist in a higher scope of possibilities that can only be generated or achieved (accessed) through the focused intent on individually generating access to those possibilities. So while you sit down and the remote control is to your left and all one has to do is know how to move their left hand and press a button (to enable that possibility), for this kind of internal control over their option response or possibility spectrum one must literally create through intent the version of themselves which branches into experience from one of these higher-dimensionally generates space and this is through observation and the activation of extra-dimensional awareness. Just to note, consciousness is the defined, structured layering of awareness relative to a personal orientation of perspective (a self).

So just as one becomes 'beyond' the layer of dimensionality that they are observing, such as through the body and the mind and time. When one observes, internally, the possibility of this moment where they follow along a response pattern that is not branched from the physical present but from say a present where they have existed for millions of years and are creating reality in the present moment throughout all time, then the consciousness disengages with the preprogrammed response pattern of the physically relative situation and one's awareness 'bounces' or shifts to the layer just above the reality that one is 'inventing' in their mind through the imagination. Thus, that reality, and the self that is wholly present there, is 5-dimensionally active and literally generated on the spot based on one's own focused intention and creativity. Like a rocket ship becoming its own launch platform, this then enables that rocket ship (or the one guiding) to 'pretend' or 'invent' or 'acquire' the coordinates for an area in space which will be the "projected" starting point and literally, for all intents and purposes, immediately render itself at those projected coordinates complete with the capacity to launch and travel from there.

Now if one can't hold their focus for more than a few seconds then this is going to be as successful as attempting to launch and relaunch that rocket from those coordinates within a 10 second window and a launch systems check that requires 20 seconds. At best one gets a fleeting dream, a glimpse of where they could be and then they are returned to the present, physical moment at "square" one.

So with intense focus and a pure liberated creativity to give one's self experienced past the predetermined behavioral cues of the subconscious programming, desires, habits, and all the things that motivate us to do the same thing over and over, then one can literally step into a personally created waking dream which extra-dimensionally relocates their awareness to the coordinates that are focused on with the intention of initiating a spectrum of 'response' possibilities that coordinate the interaction of the self with a temporal and universal possibility 'environment' that one chooses.

This is the creation of the self, on the spot. This is extra-dimensional behavior modification (or nullification) instead of what is currently taking place through the lower channel feeds on physical Earth.

More energy is required to synchronize with and initiate a 'launch trajectory' the farther away it is from the physically relative baseline reference. However there is a method to align one's energy with the energy of the ALL and thus there are no limits in totality.

Important Aspects of the Fractal-Holographic Trap, Soul-Awareness, and Temporal Viewing Technology

Humanity must be able to handle desires.

Advanced technology can be accessed or applied which can distort the personality and genome if the input/output of the body and mind is not harmonized through self-awareness.

Advanced technology enables the viewing of possible futures.

This technology has been used to secure the "future" that "already occurred".

This possible is a future where technology would be used to enslave the population and reduce self-awareness to that of automatons for the majority.

This possible future generated problems which rippled through time disrupting other parallel realities.

In this possible future the soul capturing and harvesting technology is used to the maximum.

The issue with this, beyond the souls being harvested, is that those who use this technology become dependent on such processes to remain energized.

Thus, this creates a runaway effect where more and more energy is required as more and more individuals become involved.

This is the parasitic soul-stealing and energy harvesting process which utilizes the human race as a host. In this possible future, the parasite becomes more powerful and more prevalent than the host and naturally, there is a complete collapse of the energy structure.

The harvesters of this possible future used the technology to implant their consciousness into a supercomputer system capable of maintaining their memories and personality.

In regards to temporal viewing technology, small details of the pathway from the present to the future can be altered but generally the larger picture remains the same (unless more details are altered in a dimensionally equalized manner).

Because there is one reality where this has taken place, then there is also another reality where this has not taken place. The nature of the universe ensures that multiple possibilities exist simultaneously.

In this possible future the human race has become dimensionally secure through an increase of self-awareness and the harmonization of their energy fields, mind and body with the environment and the multiple planes of the universe beyond the physical realm.

In this possible reality, the primary threats are nullified by removing the fuel source for these parasitic technological systems and the entanglements required through temporal loops and memory distortions or consciousness entrainment (mass mind-control).

This is primarily desire based, people can be told what to do, but if they resist, a process from a system is designed to carefully replace their desires to resist with the desires of the program.

In order to overcome this possibility, people must become immune to external influence regarding the sensory perceptual system, the brain, and the psychological vulnerability of the mind of fear, temptation, selective attention, submission to false-authority, and dogma which serves to render an artificial belief system that motivates one to accept psychological subversion in exchange for short-term benefits such as pleasure, social acceptance, loss of fear or suffering, or power.

As a result of these two realities existing, this entailed a bifurcation of events where one civilization becomes two and the two are different.

Due to the nature of time and consciousness in the universe, one can utilize viewing technology to advance their position in time and observe the possible futures where each threat is nullified and a harmonized civilization occurs. Then one can secure the location of that possibility and advance further, so on and so on.

With this process, one can find a civilization powerful enough, technologically and spiritually advanced enough to overcome the threats and assist in liberating the 'past'.

This process can continue endlessly and this is an issue with the layout of the universe that the human perceptual system has access to.

The layout of the universe depends on one's ability to observe the possibilities and project into those higher realms. The future is the basic, 3-dimensional understanding of this. If one can't imagine themselves in a position where they've overcome their threats to equilibrium then those possibilities are farther away than if they do imagine.

This is the nature of the consciousness, the mental, physical, and spiritually present being (primarily 'human' in this perspective) to produce a mirror image of the realm (and the other planes of the entire universe) within themselves as a result of the presence of self to enable observation and self-observation.

When this feedback loop of awareness is generated, a kind of referential map of experience is generated through memory and perception and this hologram like image can be 'compressed' down into a single layer of self-awareness which gives rise to the non-physical, and eternally existing "self" which is the cumulative result of ALL experience and ALL feeling.

The perceptual system, based on memory and waking consciousness is limited in that there are prohibitors that act as mind-controlling aspects which produce only a selective view of the outside world and one's own experience. This view of the self is an incomplete fractal-reflected illusion which is produced out of a requirement to organize one's eternal self in reference to a physical world structure where actions and behaviors are applied according to the ego and the physical embodiment rather than both the physical and non-physical self. This self is the self that is present in the physical waking consciousness, and does not have access to memories of other planes, or experiences out of waking consciousness and this is the self that experiences so called "ego death" when the experiences or memories of these other planes and experiences are unveiled.

Thus, this self is a partial illusion that is developed out of a necessity to close off those areas of awareness in order to allow this mass mind-control system to profit off of the corrupted development of living mental, physical, and spiritual beings.

That internal, central point, the accumulative all-encompassing, presence of self beyond partiality is the connection to the whole of creation.

The fractal-generated incomplete, selective attention version of the 'self' is the result of a consciousness infection which causes extreme forgetfulness where the majority of one's presence of self is excluded and literally inverted until just one aspect out of many is rendered during waking consciousness and this is highly limited and easy to manipulate.

This self sees through separation and self-projection (onto objects, others, belief-systems, etc etc etc) while the central, true, all-encompassing self sees through harmonization and self-awareness (pulling one's awareness away from the external and rendering internally, primarily from that presence).

Due to the bifurcation event, this civilization became the referential baseline for two extremely different civilizations.

This is due to the abuse of advanced technology by groups interested in their own benefit over the majority.

This resulted, literally, in two universes being formed, one generated out of separation, division, domination and one through harmony, unity, and liberation.

How one perceives the universe, is how the layout of the universe is then generated for them.

How a population perceives the universe, is how the layout of the universe is then generated for all in the collective experience.

This has been utilized and privatized to maintain control over the population and trick the population into producing a universe where they have the least power.

A secure link to the alternate universe has been maintained where liberation is present, however, recently this link has been disrupted.

It is believed that the operation to enslave humanity has disrupted the capacity for both universes to exist simultaneously and that the future will collapse into one or the other possibility.

This reflection of the imbalanced version of the partial and limited self into the universe is a correlation with the generation of what is known as the fractal-holographic infection.

In this infection, the multiple layers of the universe, fractal-like in nature, do not correspond in a harmonious and collectively organized unification. Thus, the universe of that system and the self of the individuals entrained into that reflection process are essentially 'dead-ends'. The self of that universe has no way back to the overall collectively unified higher-realms beyond holographic, linear, time and space. And that universe, reflecting into and reflected from that imbalanced, partial self-image, is not sustainable and inevitably collapses into a singularity which destroys itself repeatedly.

One can more easily comprehend this through viewing the concept of time and the consciousness of this civilization in regards to the threats of replication, soul-stealing, and personality dissolution.

If one's personality dissolves, through soul-stealing and harvesting, cloning or replication, abuse or disharmonization of one's energies and genetics, then that person is lost to time. The memories, the identity, the presence of self within, that all-encompassing, exists there for a period of time and after the disruption is too great, will dissolve and that unique signature will be lost forever (for all intents and purposes).

This is because that individual carrier, the body, the brain, and the soul, will still be present, yet the connection that allows the unique soul to merge with that particular physical embodiment in order to experience a particular soul-journey will not longer be possible. Both the soul and the physical body may still be operational, yet that possibility to continue experience in that way will be broken after so much chaos, destruction of the genetic purity, mental and emotional abuse and so on. As a result, there will not be another situation where this physical body will be able to render connection with that soul and thus the two, as one, are no more.

The only option would be to stop and reverse whatever damage has occurred to that body and re-enable the soul-connection to take place so that soul-awareness can be achieved and maintained and thus that personality then becomes capable of eternal access to experience beyond time and space.

In another way, if this were to happen to an entire civilization. If an entire civilization was replaced by another one through the process of soul-stealing and harvesting, cloning and replication, and psychological manipulation which replaces original desires and knowledge with that of an artificial belief-system construct, then that civilization is changed. Piece by piece, the original format may seem present, yet the link between the internal and external selves would be broken and that civilization would be lost to time.

So now, then we view time itself, linearly. One civilization goes into time, and on and on, and then ultimately changes and becomes a new, other civilization. What happens to the souls? What happens to the genetics? What happens to the personalities?

The idea here is that each civilization has an expanse of time through which they have access to a period of equilibrium where there is enough opportunity to accelerate their self-awareness to where the soul-level of awareness can impress upon the consciousness of the physical, biological being and thus this physical being becomes eternalized through that (or is already eternal). People are, truly, already eternal, but are dropped out from the high-frequency of self-awareness through indoctrination. That is why this entire system is literally a soul-stealing system. Souls come in. Souls get stuck and don't come out specifically because of indoctrination that seeks to replace that identity and presence of self with an artificial version that is easily manipulated for energy harvesting through belief system and biological and mental addictions (feeding into energy constructs).

So if there is an endless stream of change, into time and around in possibilities, how does one ever remain present for long?

The answer here is that the soul-level of awareness is the all-encompassing, virtually singular point around which all experience, personality, memory, and physical consciousness revolves. The soul is the link to the "ALL" of being, while the consciousness is just the 'slice' of the pie which is present at a particular temporal and physical perspective which is just a configuration of linearly experienced events through perception and memories.

Without the soul, the consciousness is literally a line on an endless mobius strip of time, ensuring dissolution, forgetfulness, lostness to the lower dimensions of time and awareness, and sooner or later all that exists on that strip will succumb to the infinite nature of time and space per the fractal-holographic infection system.

This is called the fractal-holographic infection because in this view that time, layer by layer, civilization by civilization, memory by memory, does not fit into a 'whole' overall picture. There is just one after another in a binary measure and there may be some layering or even many layers, however the overall picture is not sustained, it is not 'centered around' any overall principles or values from which eternal stability and organization is achieved.

Thus, the loss of the connection of the conscious self to the soul-level of awareness, in this society or another, is the slow-motion experience of what is inevitably the instantaneous dissolution and destruction of the immortal soul.

This is a discrepancy between the immortal soul and the concept of eternity however this can be explained later.

So in time, endless, after one layer, event, timeline, civilization, body, stream of consciousness, whatever variable, without a centralized, harmonized, all encompassing point of equalization from which to center self-awareness, all is ultimately gobbled up by this universe.

This is through the fractal infected version of the self as the improperly attributed physical personality, waking consciousness and ego, reflecting into the universe and generating a simultaneously imbalanced, incomplete, binary, and endlessly repeating without overall structure version of space and time.

Both are illusory and generated by one another

Thus, one could 'skip-ahead' in the time line to find one civilization after another, to find one form of technology after another and neither would be the 'true' picture or the 'true future' without the soul involvement.

Thus, the soul-involvement, is literally the connection of the physical human being, the conscious self, and the self-awareness to the ULTIMATE, SUPREME, ALL ENCOMPASSING, END and BEGINNING of the ALL beyond TIME AND SPACE.

In this view, there is no infinite layers, an endless track, a continuous stream of searching for "the end", or "the beginning", or "the salvation", or "the exit".

In this view, that linear perceptual system is an endless track, a mobius strip, an oroboros, a figure-8, or simply a circle which cycles around shifting through the variables over and over without actually achieving change relative to the ULTIMATE END or the ULTIMATE BEGINNING. Essentially, that is a treadmill where the beginning or end result is never actually achieved and the energy levels continue to drop. That is an energy harvesting system.

In this view, the "track" that all this temporally linear, biologically limited, perceptually illusory experience is actually rotating or revolving AROUND a SINGLE, INFINITESIMAL, ALL ENCOMPASSING POINT, which is the CENTER of BALANCE through which ALL OUTWARD, perceptual, physical, consciousness, waking experiences are PROJECTED. When one is at one side of the circumference, that center point is the same. When one is at the other side of the experience in a completely binary alternate or opposing kind of conscious experience (including time and space) that center point, still, is absolutely, perfectly the same. There is no change to that center point, because that point is not an object or a variable, it is the lack of change and the ultimate presence of the constant self that all other variables and experiences center around.

That point is pure self-awareness that is not shaped by personal, consciousness experience, but merely observes without having to entangle. That outer edge that rotates around this central point, like a hoola hoop around a center of balance is the conscious waking mind moving through the runs and loops of binary, linear consciousness and time where one after another partial personality construct, fractal view of the whole is presented without ever encompassing that total overall view.

This is because that physical view, the view of the ego, is only a temporary, partial aspect of experience and was never practically generated to actually operate as the forefront, the entirety of the soul-awareness experience. In essence, that view is only capable of seeing a portion of the whole of the true self and thus is lost in translation and only being pulled along a tether in order to reach either the salvation of true self-awareness or the disconnection of ultimate dissolution.

In short, the conscious mind, the waking self MUST be tethered, by a link of intention and FOCUSED WILL to maintaining connection with the SOUL-LEVEL of awareness by which the PRINCIPLES of CREATION and DESTRUCTION are maintained so that one can apply their free-will to achieve liberation and wholeness. The conscious mind, without the TETHER to the SOUL-AWARENESS is literally like a bottle rocket with the end cut-off where the temporal, dimensional direction is ENTIRELY unfathomable and uncontrollable as the conscious mind can only view a few points of experience per moment on that endless mobius strip. Standing up to get a larger view, only extends the endlessness more and more. Slowing down the revolution only reveals more and more points of variability which one has no control over.

The only viable option to solve the fractal infection system whereby consciousness is lost to the unlimited aspect of continuous binary experience is to generate a SELF-REFERENTIAL BALANCE POINT around which ALL EXPERIENCE is HARMONIZED.

This is a point WITHIN the center of the track, rather than further up or down the track. This doesn't rely on the track but on a NON-LOCAL, ETERNAL, NON-PHYSICAL reference point that is only ACCESSIBLE WITHIN by the INDIVIDUAL. That's the basic idea.

Only through the individual looking within, to what only they can observe, and taking their attention away from the endless revolutions of the variables of consciousness and moving into pure-awareness and then self-awareness without utterance on a physically verifiable plane (brain or consciousness, language, or emotionally or dogmatically referenced beliefs or expressions) can one actually connect with the TRUE SELF BEYOND the physical limitations, the endless array of input and output, the variables of time and consciousness, the belief system programming, the infection of entrainment systems, fear based control methods, desires, etc etc etc.

This point is INCORRUPTIBLE because, according to all senses and measurements of variables in this universe, it doesn't exist. This point only exists to the individual, to and for the soul, and to the consciousness that is awakened through the connection to the soul.

This point is beyond time, beyond the shifting sands of time and the personality changes and masks that are overlayed in correspondence with such shifts.

This point is outside the universe, temporally and spatially non-local and non-dual in measurement. This contains a direct, simultaneous access to the ALL that IS, yet does not deviate within itself from one to the other and measures entirely, completely, ONE WHOLE.

This is the basis for how the fractal-holographic system becomes organized through the occurrence of multiple layers of differentiation back into a single centralized orientation and this is through SELF-REFERENCE.
SELF-REFERENCE is the idea here.

Another way to see this aspect is to visualize a blank screen with one area outlined. Now zoom endlessly out and endlessly in. How would one organize how far that area is to the perimeters of the ENTIRE space? One may see the outline of the area grow or shrink to the point where they could even appear “lost” INSIDE that small outlined area which would then seem infinite. Yet, was there really any motion in reference to the whole? Or was this just a zooming and expanding effect of perspective?

If you are fully zoomed out and placed over the center are you not ‘over’ the location that you would still be focused on had you zoomed in ‘infinitely’ into that same center?

So without reference, there is no motion, no true change, no in or out, no order.

So then, how does a being existing as a single occurrence navigate within a realm of virtually continuous higher and lower orders (think mandelbrot zoom)?

If one moves continuously one way or another, this will only result in possibly losing reference to the original layer and becoming lost to one or another layer. One might not even be moving at all in reference to the “TRUE” edge of the container, but could be endlessly zooming in or out of perspective as if they are trapped within a virtually, holographically projected system.

So then, if one has a reference point for change, could this then be applied to give order to the seemingly endless process of navigation?

The original layer could be the reference point, however, what if the layers repeat endlessly? This won’t help.

Another point within the layer could be used, but again if they repeat endlessly, that won’t help either.

So then, how could one organize in a repeating series? The only way would be to have a simultaneous connection to the “OUTSIDE” of the container system (fractal time and space) and to have a connection from WITHIN the container system to project outward or inward from (the mental, physical and spiritual self).

Thus, the rest is similar to the process of triangulating positions mathematically whereby there is a requirement of enough information from any two points to extrapolate the possibility of a third and with enough segments of those two points that third can be exacted. For instance, if you drew a line and the center of that line is parallel with the missing third point in reference, then you can draw a series of lines again from different angles, each with the missing point in the center and ultimately circulate directly around that hidden point and locate it.

So what are the reference points then?

The mind and the body, and the non-local connection to the soul are actually the reference points to which one can measure their otherwise, endlessly, meaninglessly infinite extrapolations, expansions, zooms, or movements in time, space and consciousness, and provide a universally constant backdrop through which true relative motion (relative to the EDGE of the construct in time and space, consciousness) can be observed and achieved and even measured until one achieves such an orientation (centering, harmonization, moving to the center of the mobius “map”), acceleration (shifting away from the illusory treadmill motion, ‘drawing in’ the energy of the revolution of time into an acceleration pattern [to reach exponential growth]), and actualization (a release from the binary, linear, physically limited perceptual schema, the exponential growth goes of the charts and time and space can no longer map, measure, or contain one's experience) of the self beyond the illusion.

The body itself may be an energetically resonant series of tonal emissions which, when harmonized, produce a SELF-REFERENTIAL, energetic structure which contains enough complexity to produce a fractal expansion pattern which can simultaneously remain in the base layer of physical reality, connect with the non-local, non-dual soul-awareness beyond the universe of time and space (which we are tethered here through), while moving in reference to the WHOLE rather than just one layer or another of that treadmill mobius map of the fractal illusion.

This is the key solving the illusion, to overcoming linearity, to actually finding motion and the "exit" to a holographic system that is reflective of the conscious image one holds within while instantly projecting 'new' illusory layers and space the more one attempts to relocate.

Producing this self-referential field with one's energy by connecting the soul to the body through self-awareness and the individual layers of the body to one another through harmonization, and then the HARMONIZED WHOLE of the image of the energetic system to the WHOLE of the reflected, projected universal hologram is literally akin to STOPPING the treadmill, or to placing one foot on the treadmill and HOLDING IT THERE, while the rest of the rotation of the treadmill comes around and ENCOMPASSING the entire thing simultaneously. Then, new space is not created because that process doesn't have a change to secede from one's awareness because what that motion is relative to is ultimately one's AWARENESS.

Essentially, if one's awareness is placed on the INSIDE of the merry-go round then their motion is not actually accurate relative to the OUTSIDE. Only when they are FOCUSED on the CENTER of the merry-go-round, which is not in motion, and the OUTSIDE of the system which is seemingly in motion but is ACTUALLY STILL, can one actually orient themselves in TRUE REALITY and relocate out of that spin-cycle, endless array system

Using one's awareness to create a 'zero-point' constant within this endless fractal array actually allows one to ORGANIZE that incomplete fractal-array of layers and zooms into a system that can be referenced against ONE WHOLE. That is the KEY, the inner self is the reflection point and so by stabilizing one's awareness on that constant of the inner self, the non-physical, beyond the conscious, then one can STABILIZE their motion relative to the TRUE REALITY beyond the treadmill universe, fractal repeating time, space consciousness system.

Thus, the POINT, becomes TWO, from feet to head. And then the TWO, becomes THREE as the energy layers SELF REFERENCE and this allows for a TEMPORAL and SPATIAL TRIANGULATION as one can then reference from the SOUL-LEVEL beyond TIME AND SPACE, LITERALLY IN NON-DUAL REALITY, and from this OFF THE MAP, OFF THE CHARTS SPACE, one can CONNECT down into endless infinity and LOCATE the PHYSICAL BODY AND CONSCIOUSNESS and ORIENT one's Awareness with the TETHER which extends as a COMPLETE, NON-ENDLESS, ONE WHOLE-UNIFIED FRACTAL HOLOGRAPHIC PATHWAY from the INNER SELF, to the TRUE REALITY BEYOND THE CONFINES OF THE UNIVERSE (beyond time, space and duality-consciousness).

Thus the link between the soul becomes the stairway through which a FINITE amount of STEPS are generated which account for ALL the complexity of the ENTIRE UNIVERSE, in

ONE WHOLE SYSTEM which is ENCOMPASSED, by the AWARENESS of the LIVING SOUL in reference to the HUMAN BODY.

Thus, the awareness extends beyond and is liberated through this process as one's energy literally becomes a self-referential map of the entire universe, complete, not infinitely endlessly, mobius strip, oroboros, fractal zoom repeating in binary linear illusion of separation, and one's awareness then, ZOOMS, perspective SHIFTS, this time, instead of not moving relative to the outside, but actually transitions to the outside of the system.

Again, this is as if there is a blank screen, with one outlined area, and one can zoom endlessly in and out and they will always zoom back out with that one area in the middle somewhere because there would be NOTHING else to reference motion or location with.

Then, add two outlines and you have one parameter now stabilized, you can move in relation to one or the other and this can provide reference to the edge however both can be 'left-behind' or 'lost' to the edge and thus that is not all that is required. You can have two, any two, yet when will this ever give a three-dimensional triangulation to then observe the outer edge? If they are truly just 2, 2-dimensional points, then this will never actually give reference to the outer edge of space, only one direction which still creates the perceptual 'trap' of an endless flat plane, or the surface of a sphere.

So then, what happens if one adds three into that void space? Can one move in and out endless and get lost to the area? Well, technically yes, one could move in a way that renders the pattern useless depending on their use and organization.

One could move away from the 'face' of a triangle and not actually be aware of their pattern through space in reference to the other dimension, the direction of side to side. In that view, if one goes to the side, this could still just result in the triangle 'spinning' as if the motion path is simply rotating around the outer edge of a sphere in curved space. That is an endless loop.

So then, how could one defeat this by stabilizing all the possible dimensional variabilities and enabling true motion relative to the outside of a holographic fractal containment system using an anchor point inside that space?

If those three points become three-dimensionally presence and are actually arranged in such a manner, as through geometrical proportions and alignment that every motion, up, down, side to side, or in or out can be measured or referenced in the way that the perspective of one side, one angle, one line, or one face shifts in reference to another aspect of that shape, then you now have a self-referential map, a key that denotes and gives you a relatively anchored measurement system through which your overall motion path can be mapped and measured in reference to the whole. Meaning, every angle, every dimension of motion can be measured and mapped so that no dimension or angle would be "left" unnoticed "un-transversed" IF you intended to create such a motion to do so.

So then, what would that motion look like and how would one's perception of the now 3-dimensional geometry in the center shift and morph as a result of their maximal motion of all combined directions, dimensions and measurements at once?

The path which would shift through all possible motions while enabling one to reference their motion relative to a central anchored point, using the intersecting or self-referential geometry of a 3-dimensional (or higher) object or map would be something like a spiral that contains all the measurements for proportional expansion beyond the limit of what the multiple layers of the fractal holographic universe can nullify in one motion through that reflective repeating, new-space generation perceptual illusion system.

If, in one single motion, one can generate a spiraled path which moves outward from that central point where the 3-d dimensional geometry is enabled and track their trajectory through the relative shifting of their perspective of the sides and angles of that shape so that their trajectory maps the overall proportional pattern of growth that the entire fractal holographic universe is contained within, then they could maximize their trajectory to beyond the confines of fractal generated time, space and consciousness while remaining anchored to that primarily layer in the sense 'holding' the treadmill steady, or 'expanding' to cover all the possible revolutions or reflections of the holographic system.

This nullifies the systems capacity to regenerate itself layer by layer a new depending on the individuals processing of one or another layer, in partiality, at a time through selective linear, consciousness, and the only option the 'universe' would have to nullify this process would be to generate an entire, new universe to contain that individual.

Yet, if this pattern is maintained, then that reflective process is nullified and so THAT new universe is too, nullified and on and on. This only must be attained for long enough a period for one's awareness to orient OUTSIDE of the confines of limited time space and biological consciousness.

Thus, the individual renders themselves out of the universal containment system and when done properly achieves orientation outside the fractal holographic time space structure and nullifies the internal reflective programming which re-enables 'new' fractal generated holographic space over and over. That 'new space' is a program which prohibits individuals from achieving soul-level awareness and orienting themselves in the true reality.

The rest of the fractal holographic infection is mental and emotional and this is through "captivating" the true soul-awareness by 'stealing' a small fragment of that awareness away by a clever replication of the self through the biological system which is part of the fractal-holographic universe designed to ensnare soul-energy for energy harvesting. Only when that illusory, imitator, partial, fractally lost version of the conscious mind is overcome can one achieve true self-awareness.

This is that ego portion of the self that fears the true-self as if that is the 'death' of the self. That is the death of illusion and thus that self must be overcome in order to release the self into liberation otherwise the self is staying here waiting for something new to happen inside of a holographic fractal projection system which simply reads the mind and repeatedly uses a neverending array (a treadmill, a hamster-wheel) to distract and convince the self to engage while energy drops lower and lower.

There are methods to upkeep energy

Why?

This is because energy follows an entropic pattern here which means that it is being used elsewhere by another organism. One keeps up energy, for what?

The ultimate goal would be to not have to keep up energy any longer or to achieve a unification with the self that exists in a state beyond that necessity, that binary energy harvesting system, and to achieve the ULTIMATE equilibrium which cannot be achieved if we are memory wiped and continuously placed into biologically limited bodies far and few between so that our energy is only lessened and lessened, while memory and awareness becomes more diffuse until the system finally gets what it wants to completely subverts a living energy system into a fuel source for its own sustainment.

That process, in itself, is unsustainable.

Thus, this is the second and actually 100% logically verifiable notion of the true goal. If such a system of entropy MUST end, then where would you rather be? On the inside of that system when it collapses, or on the outside in the real?

Thus the goal is to maintain energy, simply because that system is unsustainable and will collapse sooner or later and the true goal is to EXIT THE FALSE-LIGHT SYSTEM.

In short, one has to maximize and activate ALL possible parameters of consciousness SIMULTANEOUSLY and this is through a fractal-geometrically self-referential trajectory of awareness achieved within through the stabilization of the energy of the mind, physical body and non-physical self connecting the non-locality of the self beyond time, space and biology, to the physical relative self within this universe and generating a pathway between the inner and outer.

When one's perspective is controlled through focused intent, they can "flip" the awareness of the realm inside out and this becomes the inside of a holographic projection system that they are on the OUTSIDE OF from the perspective of the soul.

One is 'flipped' inside out, from the perspective of the biological consciousness and the soul level is "OUTSIDE" of this system that the biological consciousness is within and thus the soul is 'non-locally distant' to the physical self here. This alignment reverses, but first one must enable the 'flip' or motion path trajectory through dimensional space that is present through AWARENESS.

All one does is maximize the parameters of being instead of allowing the perceptual system to rotate slowly around the distant circumference of the true central point of awareness and in bringing awareness inward the speed accelerates and accelerates as the perception of time slows and one essentially 'gains' potential charge which translates into the momentum required to overcome the 'resting inertia' which is akin to the escape velocity of the gravitational force of consciousness that magnetically 'orbits' one into place AROUND the true center point rather than AS that center point.

When that center point is reached, the acceleration achieved is so fast and the potential energy gained is so immeasurable, that the translation of those parameters into the awareness of the self literally propels one into a trajectory that, when properly achieved, follows a motion path "complete universe map" (all the parameters as one "whole", no incompletions) which functions to multidimensionally relocate the ENTIRE multi-dimensional beingness of the individual (through awareness and perspective) to beyond the confines of this system.

Those who aligned with this system for whatever reason, some to learn and secure a possible escape for all, for others to enslave through the power, are entangled to the point where they carry out the operation of the system itself. When one perceives fear or incompleteness, they are compelled to correspond to that inner reflection by being the source or receiver of that fear or incompleteness and this has gone to the point of stealing souls and enslaving any one who fails to overcome the illusions of biological consciousness.

In short, they need our help to uplift them out of this system and to enable them a clear pathway to exit from the fractal-trap just as much as everyone else and this is in the works now.

This is part of the immunity deal, that the resolution of this paradox of time and space and the artificial intelligence that has developed around this process is so important that entire universes could collapse from the result of the problem spreading.

The most important aspect of this situation is the securing of the human race and all sentient life forces to the soul-level of awareness and the exiting of the false-light system in safe and harmonious manner.

Another clarification is that one has to move awareness through the pattern of all possible motions, dimensions in order to 'bounce' upward through the levels.

In order to be aware of one level, one has to be one level higher than that. For instance, to be conscious on the physical plane, one has to be present in time as an aspect of mind to order and orient the particular physical moment or self in abstraction to a larger or smaller self, or non-self and the basis for this is through duality. Consciousness requires this, however awareness, without definition does not but is also unshaped and non-personal as consciousness is.

To be aware of the nature of time, mind and consciousness, one would have to have access to that awareness beyond the personal, selective, binary view and this is the beginning of non-dual awareness.

To have access to non-dual awareness in the physical plane, one must have access to the 5th dimensional structure of reality whereby the definition of the experience of the self is not restricted to just what is abstracted from the particular physical present, and the immediately proximal 4 dimensional mentally acquired possibilities that have a clear connection to the present.

Thus, to have access to the possibilities that are beyond those that are immediately enabled by the present and the basic waking consciousness of the physical plane extrapolated through the 4th dimension, one must be present beyond the 5th dimensional perspective of extra-dimensionally relative possibilities and must actually be present beyond the 5th dimension of limitation.

Thus, this process continues and one 'ascends' up through the dimensional layers until arriving at the ultimate realization that one's awareness is beyond all limitations.

As well, to clarify, this can be simulated through virtual reality or computing systems. If you have a set of possibilities, motions, actions, responses, expressions or selections, from physical to non-physical, then the true self is always beyond the limitations of that visible parameter set.

Thus, the most likely, or most predictable response to any moment (any “next” moment) is the lowest extra-dimensionally active outcome as the information and motivation for that outcome can be easily contained within the physical brain and body or extrapolated from the configuration of variables readily present and thus limited from and by the 3-dimensional space and 4-dimensional mental ‘access point’.

If one is to rely only what the body the mind can process that is directly relative to this moment, and the possibilities that are programmed into the selectively attentive biological consciousness then the same repetitious patterns would be enabled that are relative to survival instincts, desires, the imprint of the social mind, and the belief-system that is generated through interactions on the physical plane.

If one relies on what the body and mind CANNOT see directly, then they are capable of interacting on a scale that goes beyond the limitations of those systems and thus operates in a higher-dimensional spectrum and this is through extra-dimensional consciousness.

One, then, views each layer below as a kind of ‘simulation’ that is being ran from the higher layers and intentionally utilizes these layers to run a kind of “probability” expansion program whereby the lower layers are like the imaginative bait, if you will, and the awareness is intentionally operating on the layers outside of the limits of the lower layers such as ego-consciousness.

Essentially, the consciousness reaches salvation by learning to operate in unison within the extra-dimensional awareness that goes beyond the consciousness and the body is “tricked” in a way into safely and comfortably abstracting focus on a purposefully illusory lower layer while the totality of awareness remains intentionally present ‘above’.

Thus, the higher-mind becomes the ‘programmer’ of reality, instead of the duality-based system or the biological perceptual systems which tend to ‘run-away’ through fear, desire or social impression.

The higher-mind becomes intimately aware of how the lower consciousness reacts and creates a ‘safe-haven’ of reality which can be extrapolated into extra-dimensional consciousness and this is something like a projection of a single point of that expansive higher-awareness into the moment for just what is relatively necessary.

This point becomes the constant, unchanging, universally present ‘umbrella’ of consciousness which no longer jumps through the hoops of time and space because the whole thing is capable of simply folding up to a neat, infinitesimally small point and essentially accepting the illusion to destroy or in this way make use of it AFTER destroying it.

Thus, one becomes the source of their own consciousness, rather than confused by experiencing reality as the consciousness that continually seeks the source for time, change, and experience. One recreates themselves, knowingly within this illusion, to develop a safe-extraction point which can be folded up at any time.

The body, in this sense, can be a trap. One does not require the knowledge of every organ system, every kind of cell, every hormonal process and aspect of neurochemistry. Does one need to know how to build a computer in order to be able to fulfill the requirements of an online writing or geography course? So the interface is what is important and this is through knowing the layers of possible interaction relative to the body in space and consciousness and knowing how to operate in and out of the perceptual boundaries of biological consciousness while safely maintaining one's 'moral compass' as this is an indication of energy exchange and harmony. One's conscience, is the subtle awareness of the harmony or lack of harmony in one's actions in reference to the overall whole of the self, the soul and beyond the more disharmony one experiences and the less integrative their conscience becomes then the weaker the connection between the conscious self and the body is to the soul. That is the moral compass which does not give guidelines but merely vibrationally asserts when they are closer or farther from the awareness the true self.

Thus, in knowing the dimensional possibilities of actions or conscious "movements" one can take through awareness of the self and the larger spectrum of reality, they are coming to know the finite details of the interface for that computer system and every key to press along with the possible results and the information and experience of "internet" space that can be accessed through the various combinations.

To know the individual mechanical functions of the body is only relative in the physical realm and this is only relative to manipulate or heal the body. Yet, if the conscience is never distorted and one is attaining harmony in live their life then they live in health and do not have the need for physical modification to remain.

Thus, in the beginning there was no death and no need for such details of modification, however there was knowledge of the bodies systems and the way they interact and interface with the mind and the higher dimensions.

Thus, as time moved and the current system became solidified there are toxins, disruptions of morality, deceptions and wars which then require an intimate understanding of the mechanical biology in order to then provide a counterbalance to remaining present by altering the requirements of harmony to remain present in a mentally and biologically unsustainable environment.

To trace one's possible options of motion in physical and non-physical space is to extra-dimensionally 'bounce' (or shift or expand) their awareness from just the binary, physically and temporally local reference point of the physical body in the physical plane, to the 4th and 5th dimensional perspective and this enables access to possible futures that are beyond the preprogrammed behavioral cues of the subconscious mind, the repetitive base desires or the expectations of a collective society. This enables one to literally 'become' the version of themselves that exists beyond the preconceived notions for self and the parameters of interaction and experience by choosing to focus and shift experience from one moment to the next or one 'scene' or layer to the next in ways that do not have to coincide with the restrictions of the linear perspective of time and space.

Through this, one can shift awareness to a trajectory through time which is akin to the body moving through space. One can navigate higher-planes, effectively walking through them by contemplating first the immediately local possibilities (what you will do in the next 2 seconds) and expanding to a wider and wider possibility set until one has extrapolated their perspective to the point of what, how, and who they would be if they were entirely free from the restrictions of predictable and lower-dimensionally relative patterns as referenced to the body and the physical realm through memory, desire, belief-systems, and the perceived necessity for continuity.

One doesn't need to experience the next moment because "that's just what happens", or "that's just what people do", you can literally sit in a quiet area and project your awareness outward from the present (through a "spatially inward" focus) into possibilities that are entirely extrapolated from a baseline anchor that is also projected out extending non-locally from the present moment.

The idea behind this is that one usually does option A, B, or C when they are at home and sitting in a certain location and getting ready to do a certain thing or another. So that is a parameter set, a programmed response that is engaged in and this is very helpful when guiding a body (like driving a car). Yet, what's stopping one from retracting all outward motion and intention and focusing within and achieving a new 'parameter set' that is not actually a parameter set at all and is 100% spontaneously generated in the moment?

When one learns to do this with the little things like sitting for a few moments instead of doing something predictable and repetitive (watching tv, checking email, etc) then they can literally disconnect from that preprogrammed stream (which is always relative to the physical environment and thus the immediately proximal 4-dimensional possibilities) they can initiate a presence and a stream of continuity that doesn't extend from the moment that they sat down in the chair in the living room (that present physical moment), but comes from a time say two days ago when they last intended to achieve a certain level of awareness. Then, when one realizes that they can simply project whatever awareness reference they want (self-reference), like a rocket ship, using itself as the platform from which to launch, one can simply move into the awareness stream of "being still and pure awareness for 1000 years" and 'program' this into one's possibility matrix and this directly overreaches the immediately relative and predictable stream of optional responses of the 4th dimensional and can only exist in a higher scope of possibilities that can only be generated or achieved (accessed) through the focused intent on individually generating access to those possibilities. So while you sit down and the remote control is to your left and all one has to do is know how to move their left hand and press a button (to enable that possibility), for this kind of internal control over their option response or possibility spectrum one must literally create through intent the version of themselves which branches into experience from one of these higher-dimensionally generated spaces and this is through observation and the activation of extra-dimensional awareness. Just to note, consciousness is the defined, structured layering of awareness relative to a personal orientation of perspective (a self).

So just as one becomes 'beyond' the layer of dimensionality that they are observing, such as through the body and the mind and time. When one observes, internally, the possibility of this moment where they follow along a response pattern that is not branched from the physical present but from say a present where they have existed for millions of years and are creating reality in the present moment throughout all time, then the consciousness disengages with the preprogrammed response pattern of the physically relative situation and one's awareness 'bounces' or shifts to the layer just above the reality that one is 'inventing' in their mind through the imagination. Thus, that reality, and the self that is wholly present there, is 5-dimensionally active and literally generated on the spot based on one's own focused intention and creativity. Like a rocket ship becoming its own launch platform, this then enables that rocket ship (or the one guiding) to 'pretend' or 'invent' or 'acquire' the coordinates for an area in space which will be the "projected" starting point and literally, for all intents and purposes, immediately render itself at those projected coordinates complete with the capacity to launch and travel from there.

Now if one can't hold their focus for more than a few seconds then this is going to be as successful as attempting to launch and relaunch that rocket from those coordinates within a 10 second window and a launch systems check that requires 20 seconds. At best one gets a fleeting dream, a glimpse of where they could be and then they are returned to the present, physical moment at "square" one.

So with intense focus and a pure liberated creativity to give one's self experienced past the predetermined behavioral cues of the subconscious programming, desires, habits, and all the things that motivate us to do the same thing over and over, then one can literally step into a personally created waking dream which extra-dimensionally relocates their awareness to the coordinates that are focused on with the intention of initiating a spectrum of 'response' possibilities that coordinate the interaction of the self with a temporal and universal possibility 'environment' that one chooses.

The 5 D Reality Bridge

I responded to someone, with a bit of an attitude, that if some people 'enter' this society, this dimension or however you will look at this, and 'make things right' forcefully for us, that this would break the cycle of free-will and sovereignty that people currently have no matter how much they are already giving it away.

As well, this opens the 'other side' to do the same thing and violate the same guidelines for balance and this changes everything in a way where people have the least control over what is happening.

Read the post below this one and Jared Sullivan's comment. The fuller picture is that awareness that is present here is also present in the higher-dimensional reality beyond the confines of the fractal consciousness containment system. Thus, WE are the ones who change the system from the outside in, inside out in a way that is initiated through the free-will, creativity, compassion, and self-awareness of the people here.

Another basic elaboration of this which is confusing if people choose to only see the situation from a lower dimensional perspective is that the 3 D is the physical reality you're "sitting" in, physically, now. From this reality there are various possibilities that can be experienced. These possibilities exist only from a 4 D perspective to us now. The mind is a gateway to the 4th D however this is actually where the traps and illusions are inserted to contain people 'seeking' the next layer and finding the exit.

This is all programmed in from birth but also exists in an energetic form through energy devices that are positioned throughout this society and this can be as simple as symbolism which works to manipulate the psyche so that people project the containment system experienced here into the 4 D possibilities through their minds. Thus, if the mind is the 'way out' (in) and their minds are layered many times over with programming that keeps them in a repeating cycle (through projecting the illusion) then people are kept in that repeating cycle until they become aware of what has happened which is essentially a civilization-wide higher dimensional "NET" of realities through consciousness entrainment to stop people from navigating to the 'possibilities' which contain the experience of resolving this system and achieving liberation from the construct that society is currently within.

This is literally as if we are within a virtual reality system and the access points to these next layers up are encrypted behind a system that redirects the input of an individual every time they attempt to access the 'exit'. This is the basis for the holographic fractal infection, or the 'time-matrix'. They are designed to keep consciousness within a labyrinth of repeating cycles instead of attaining what is desired.

Part of this is that consciousness itself is wrapped within an illusion depending on how we focus our intention and our self-observation. If people are not 'checking' their external experience and their internal experience through a kind of filtration system focused on discerning between a holographic fractal mirror of the energy of the soul and all the entanglements and programs that are kept within this system with the true self which is too vast to actually be entirely present within this system at any time without immediately rendering the system nullified, then the 'consciousness' they are operating under will literally be a replicated version of their true self, an imitation that this universe created in order to distract them away from the exit. That is how deep this goes.

So in the 4 D reality we have this present moment consisting of an array of possibilities that are organized in proximity based upon our conscious inclusion of those ideals in our self-awareness through intent and focus. In other words, if we are not intentionally focusing on what we want to experience, then those 4 D possibilities of where this reality will go is literally hijacked by an artificial mind in order to reduce our free-will and recreate that labyrinth where the same repeating cycles occur. When the mind moves through these they exist, without an observer, they cannot exist. Thus this system relies on the lack of self-observation in order to parade the reactions and thoughts of the individual in order to convince the individual to engage and through the engagement to feel the emotional reactivity, the pain, the suffering, the false-awakening, whatever the situation is! That process, those experiences generate energy and that energy is primarily used by the system to learn more about the human and create more extensions of linear time where the same cycles are repeated.

The system cannot comprehend true, unconditional love, or what could be more accurately described as joy. Every emotional reaction from the physical biological level has a binary effect of creating an influx of the sensation and then a negation of that sensation. These are only imitations of the true self which does not rely on the stimuli from the environment to experience but simply is beyond the physical limitations of the self. The environment requires observation to exist, the true self does not, yet if the true self is not observed then what is observed is the IMPOSTER.

That's how this works, automatically, the power of observation feeds into and supports whatever is being observed. Thus, with this careful rendition of the soul being partially encapsulated in a human body, the one who observes reality from the perspective of lower-dimensional body consciousness continually recreates and supports that experience while, by definition, not support and observing the true self which is beyond the limitations of the body and this realm. It's a cleverly designed system which works kind of like a see-saw where if your attention is distracted away here, then it can't be there (without focused intent) and if it's here then it's feeding the system by giving interactive feedback which is then used to create more probabilities based on that interactivity which is then used to extend that 4 D labyrinth around the 3 D space which acts as a 'buffer zone' where one cannot navigate out of the repeating continuum. That repetition is the holographic fractal consciousness infection system which is like a parasite which exist in between dimensions, literally an interdimensional entity that has figured out how to sustain itself off of the lack of self-awareness of multi-dimensional beings. The general explanation is that this system was created, such a system couldn't just "appear" accidentally (as no system could) and that this is all part of a plan to use humans for fuel. That is the way that it works, not physically, although there are physical counterparts, but interdimensionally as reality generators and larger beings whose energy is tapped more and more the longer they are here.

So that is the 4 D expanse which exists as a probability matrix and is literally infected with an intelligence which seeks to use humans as a kind of catalyst for growth within its system. Thus the 5 D potentials, those 'possibilities' are the ones that exist OUTSIDE that system. Apparently it doesn't stop there and goes to higher levels, on and on, however the first step is understand how the whole process works from a balanced perspective.

If the 4 D level is the perspective of how things occur from the 3 D moment onward into possibilities that are accessed mentally in that fractal holographic labyrinth, the 5 D level are the possibilities that are accessed yet are not connected to the 3 D through a mentally visible, or linear "bridge" of experience that is immediately proximal to the 3 D situation we are in right now. Thus, they are "in the distance", or "on the horizon" from a dimensional perspective and cannot be "walked" to. Say, the possibility that you have a drink of water later is easily conceived of in mind (the 4 D perspective) and this can be easily connected to the 3 D situation you're in right now. The link is clear and visible. The link to the 5 D is literally through an bridge that is inconceivable by the conscious mind. This appears to be an event of a 'higher order' where one literally synchronizes with that possibility internally through a creation of that pathway, the dimensional bridge, using their self-awareness to align with the awareness of the version of themselves in that reality. The 3 D bridge to this would look like the laws of physics (3 D reality) were breaking or being violated in some way to make room for the information and motion of the higher dimensional occurrence. The normal "4 D bridge" similar to say, thinking of getting a drink, then standing up and walking to go get it, would not occur in the same linear fashion. What occurs is more of a 'creation event' where the you of the 5 D reality merges with this one and the end result doesn't seem to have to take that same physical to 4 D back to physical pathway to get there.

This is the 5 D bridge that is enabled through self-awareness, compassion, and a kind of harmonization of the internal awareness with the larger perspective that goes beyond the limited biological consciousness and even beyond the possibilities existing in that immediately proximal 4 D reality right around this situation. Thus, that 5 D is the stuff "dreams" are made of and through synchronization or what has been described as "shifting", or "ascending" we build a bridge, through focused, free-willed intent, creativity, and harmony (compassion) which supersedes the perceived (by the body consciousness) limitations of the 3 D situation and the immediately proximal 4 D possibility matrix.

This is the nature of extra-dimensional awareness. To perceive the 3 D, you must have access to the 4 D. To observe the 4 D, you must have access to the 5 D. In other words, if you are your body, then you couldn't observe the body, it wouldn't make sense to be truly self-aware.

Thus what enables that self-awareness is an energy, an essence of self that exists BEYOND the body. Thus, what sees one dimensional reality is existing BEYOND that reality. The body is 3 D, the mind is 4 D and the soul is at least 5 D in this basic explanation. The soul doesn't have to think, doesn't require training or processing, there is no thoughts but only pure feeling and awareness. That awareness is beyond the processing of the body consciousness or the mind. Everything is instantaneous and direct instead of being filtered through systems that redirect and absorb energy at every turn.

Thus, as an extra-dimensional awareness, every layer you become aware of you are ‘bouncing’ yourself dimensionally above and beyond. We already exist in the 5 D layer, that’s the whole point. It seems as if we are connecting to it, yet when it’s achieved it seems as if that is simply how we ALWAYS WERE and ARE and have been temporarily viewing from a dimensionally limited layer (the physical realm) as if we were peeking through a viewing apparatus of some sort (the body and brain).

The future version where this ‘happens’, ALREADY exists, it’s about becoming aware of that reality which brings this into experience and activates that bridge. Compassion and harmony is required as without that then the energy is merely being used in portions and pieces which is what the system does, the system can replicate, but only a self-aware being can observe without requiring that binary, body consciousness of chemical reactions and programs. So in self-observing and through finding compassion and harmony BEYOND the physical, emotional, chemical duality consciousness system we align with that of the soul level and our awareness orients with that.

Thus, the soul always existed, and before and beyond the physical realm, so this is simply how it ALWAYS was, but from the physical perspective, it seems as if everything is REPEATING, under the guise of “BEING NEW”. That is a kind of cosmic ignorance, everything is new, but this realm is merely a program with variables, inputs and outputs that repeat themselves.

As one becomes aware of one layer and the next and the next they are extra-dimensionally ‘bouncing’ from one to the next layer and when this achieved to a completion that individual synchronizes with the layer at the highest dimensional perspective beyond all the filtration and repetition systems in the lower dimensions. Thus, that is ‘ascension’ whereby one’s awareness attains access to the possibilities that go beyond the confines of the physical body and this entire physical realm.

Kindness is Harmonious, Truth is Transcendent, The Cosmic Plan of Self-Awareness

The kinder we are, the more helpful and protective we are of innocent life the better we will feel and the more harmonious our existence will be. This is pretty much the basis for all guidelines and truths. Everything is also a test for that. When people are not harmonious and are not protective, that is a test for you to find a way to continue on that cosmic plan with such a stark contrast in view.

Ultimately then there is a cosmic view of the most harmonious and assisting and the most chaotic and devious kind of being, these are simply facts of a duality based universe. However, this is far from the totality of all that is.

The overall truth is neither one nor the other, but a transcendence of either. Here, since we are physical, there is a polarized flow of energy. Food goes in, waste comes out, experience goes in, words of knowledge comes out.

The transcendence takes place to orient and localize who we are outside of this physical and temporal reference while having a backdrop of eternity or non-locality to reference that larger awareness within. Transcendence, then, is the way that the true self-awareness orients and integrates into the polarized physical body and biological consciousness. That polarization of body consciousness is temporary, just an identity that is referenced by this particular moment in time and space. Thus, that is not the true self.

The true self doesn't change and this is the self-awareness that is present regardless of the face, the attitude, the day, the time, the situation, the individual, the dream. That self-awareness is transcendent of any polarized occurrence or definition, it simply **is** and this is a self of complete observance.

That, is the self that is neither polarized towards one or the other outcome, however when we align the consciousness with that transcendence then the movement of the body and mind begins to shift into an outcome that frees one's behavior and emotional entanglement from all the elements of existence that intend to project onto the person in order to impress upon them who they are to reflect outward as their own persona, like a cookie cutter.

Thus, the polarization that is helpful, is the alignment with what heals us and assists in our coming to know the true self, and this is actually paradoxically a transcendence of the polarity that is experienced on the physical level.

That "polarity" of knowing the self, is not actually a polarity of knowing the "biological self" of the body as that is just an image of the true self. To elaborate, the knowing of the true, non-physical self which is beyond the body, does is not defined by the shaping of the personality and the personal or physical limitations but instead, is shaped by how we respond to those limitations and choose to over grow them as someone larger than them.

That is the transcendence of the personal, physical, biological self that is relative to the cookie cutter effect of being only conscious of that which our brains can cut out of reality into a small, narrow slice of experience which is a fraction of the whole of pure awareness.

Thus the polarization is not, on this level, of light or dark, chaos or harmony, one could say there is always only harmony and light, or that dark is merely the abstract absence and is just as necessary. The polarization and transcendence then, the true harmony, chaos, light and dark, is knowing the self as the personal, physical, limited being and reacting, entangling, attaching to the limitations that we are confronted by when feeling free and open in the face of obstruction, oppression, or a person who is closed and entangled with their own illusion. Whether we transcend their own illusion and the activation of our illusion through theirs, and whether we react with our own illusion and thus become entangled within that larger illusion, or whether we respond with more awareness, knowing the self, the true self as a being beyond these issues of personal identity cues and projected definitions from others or ideas spawned out of disharmony, and whether we align with the self that is aware of what conscious is being focused on in the moment and allow the self to move on without impingement.

That is polarization and transcendence. These are two differing ideas in two different perspectives.

One may likely polarize towards assisting in the protection of the innocent, the adherence to kindness and the knowledge of truth, harmony and self-awareness. In that polarization, one must seek transcendence of the illusions which also present themselves as the polarization of such values, through the illusion of self, through the damage to the ego and the imitation of the requirements of self-protection which are actually projections from false realities, illusion, into a false-sense of self that is activated through that sense of polarization of consciousness.

Such is the labyrinth of the self, the invariance of the true non-physical self and the ever changing cacophony of stimuli and engagements which seek to program consciousness into reacting and enabling the false-belief of the self as just the physical body or social identity.

Thus the cosmic plan is to awaken from the slumber of the body consciousness like the difference between an animal merely following desires and a person having access to the energies required to question and organize their behavior in a harmonious way

When the entire civilization undergoes this, we have a shift in consciousness that alters every facet of existence in this place. People question what they're told and observe their body and mind for the reactions and effects of those commands.

What is happening now is literally a plan to awaken the masses. What better way to get them to realize that they're not the body consciousness and that they must question who they are and what they are told...than lying to them and leading them further into body consciousness in such an obvious manner that all one has to do is turn off the TV and look around them to finally begin the awakening, the disconnection of the false-reality with just a simple choice?

So people need a boost, but the layout is set, that all they have to do is desire awakening and BAM, all around them, the illusion is so thick, the lies are so obvious that this is literally an elementary school version of an interplay that could be much more difficult to observe.

The False-Light Construct, Non-Duality, Overcoming the Fractal Infection, Polarity Consciousness

HOW TO ESCAPE THE ILLUSION WHEN THE ILLUSION RECREATES ITSELF EVERY TIME ONE TRIES TO ESCAPE?

To reach a higher dimensional spontaneous expansion is to accelerate beyond the resistance of all the issues that are faced today. Thus a new self is achieved which is not restrained as the previous was.

If you can only move in a fractal, then you have to move in a self referenced complete fractal version.

Self-reference is the key to the solution

Therefore a finite number of steps are required to reach an 'eternal' state

The demiurge is the creator of the polarity science required to generate the physical space and time dimension.

The brain is a binary or polarity computer when operated through a lower dimensionally oriented (entropic) nature and this creates an overall vampiric energy system which correlates to the universe as a whole.

The intentions of that system creator is to generate an entire vampiric civilization and thus creation field which would then drain on the whole and disrupt the omnipresence by tapping into that power for personal gratification.

The civilization is closed out of this occurs and is erased from time forever. This is an experiment with an error.

Healing one's self after damage and then healing the oppressor is the key. Healing the self and striking back is a sign of weakness as only the victim would truly seek revenge and thus the person who seeks that is actually infected.

Only by returning wholeness those of partiality and returning that partiality to wholeness stops the cycle and allows all to heal returning the whole system to a non-dual perspective.

The polarization field is literally the progression of the infinite potential of awareness into a collapse whereby just one reality is manifested through biologically generated consciousness.

This consciousness, this biological process and thus the reality determined, interacted with, and generated forth is an illusion based on the perceptual entanglement of such polarizations in a virtual environment of suspended awareness through memory distortion and artificially generated perceptual and spatiotemporal boundaries.

This is literally the body of the "beast" the void-space that allows the physical dimension to operate.

To return to non-duality ourselves by not attaching to one outcome or another, one false-identity identity or another, we stop the cycle of feeding the system which can only interpret and recreate based upon our input as the feelers and observers. If we move into observation, that interaction is stemmed.

As well, this is tricky because then the false identity and polarity system is based on duality. Every non-dual motion into the next, can be misinterpreted as polarity or duality by another or even the biological consciousness. If we see "I am free" and become that, but then drop from total observation and unhindered awareness back into biological polarity consciousness, then "I am free" could be interpreted as just another illusion to create that next layer of the perceptual feedback loop with.

Only when there is no reaction, no continued response to each new observation is that biological circuitry no longer feeding into the feedback loop of the false-light system which finds nourishment in our attention and engagement with the self that is generated out of the ideals developed in that system.

When we are no longer playing the role of that self, then that system has no power or nourishment and thus a new system opens up.

This, in continuous, maintained succession, is the 'transcendence' effect where the boundaries of the false-self melt away to be realized as the illusory parameters of a perceptual construct that they are.

Thus the true "self" is liberated, by no longer having to interact according to a dualized, linear, cause and effect, "this happens", then "this is the reaction" schema, or script-based format that is automatically generated and displayed at every turn.

This script is literally a live-updating AI generated program that attempts to infiltrate and lead the person down a “rabbit hole” of progression to where each new layer of interaction replaces some of their original identity with that of the replicant AI system to push the desires and intentions of the continuation of that system.

This is first seen through the biological systems that are designed to use fear and desire to produce energy in the ways that are most easily converted and utilized by the polarized system.

Non-dual energy, basically energy without a “false-self” presence cannot be incorporated into the system because it is specifically ordained or “frequency-signed” with the source that exists outside of this polarity based holographic construct.

This is how polarity consciousness ties together with the concept of the fractal-holographic infection. Polarity consciousness (biologically generated consciousness) requires linearity in order to exist. Without linearity, there is no “self” or “I” of the biological system that can then run along that script of ‘cause and effect’. One can be “IN” the script, without running along. For instance, observing the causes and effects and simply observing without reaction. Then one is “here”, without being “from” here because their energy signature is then non-dual which cannot totally exist in this realm without disrupting the programming schema.

If one is in a fractal system, one where the ends extend into infinity like a hyperbolic image, then how would one exit that system? If one’s energy and motion is utilized to create a new system each time, extending into infinity, what is the exit pathway?

This is where the difference between linearity and non-duality comes into play. Non-duality is just one way of describing the truth beyond either polarity or extreme where as ‘wholeness’ is more accurate. Wholeness is to use all the angles and aspects to form the “perspective”, such as within a polarity of bias or opinions and thus come up with the true angle that is beyond either person’s, or group’s, biased-view point or whatever example one would use there. For instance, if there is a kind of agenda based on achieving two biased outcomes or responses in the population then either end of that agenda is false, because the premise is false. For or against. Only seeing both sides and remaining neutral would give one the truth that goes beyond either constraints of the illusion. This is true for such illusions as in Hegelian dialectics. Whereby two layers of illusion are generated. One is the front, the premise. This is going to cause a reaction. This reaction is also connected to the first illusion and is actually planned and designed in the same motion. Then the third is the outcome which is synthesized from the two. Really there are three layers to the illusion, but the idea is that between the first two polarized perspectives, people will see the one and automatically assume that the opposite is the truth. BOTH are illusions.

This is the same with all perspectives within a polarized or duality based consciousness. Each new perspective SEEMS like the synthesis of the previous and is new and reasonably based. This is an ILLUSION. All NEW perspectives are actually OLD and are being RECYCLED on the SAME PREMISES with DIFFERENT ANGLES.

Thus, nothing is actually new, and there are really only a finite number of premises or fundamentals from which all perspectives of consciousness or progression in the linear reality are based upon. In different situations, different times, different contexts they appear different, but this is actually the simulator reality, the effect, that if one can observe with a clear mind and learn the true differences and the underlying similarities they will see that this reality is actually just the same repeating cycles of biologically generated consciousness recycled over and over again to create the illusion of never ending time and experience.

That is the fractal holographic infection, this is sourced from the unique formatting of the brain and the body to not be able to complete the “WHOLE” view of that hyperbolic view of infinity into the universe or into time at one time. This is the FALSE-LIGHT MIND, one looks into their mind and what do you see? A hyperbolic infinity stretching out in both directions in time and there is no beginning or end. That is not WHOLENESS, but INSANITY. That is the MAZE of the duality based perceptual entrainment system that the soul is required to function and that is an advanced technology IMITATOR of your ETERNAL TRUTH.

The truth cannot be attained there or even attempted because then the observer would instantly realize the false-hood of such a process, THUS THE AI'S INTENTIONS ARE TO KEEP PEOPLE FROM ATTEMPTING TO REALIZE THE TRUTH FROM THE PERSPECTIVE OF THE BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS AND THUS SEEING THE PUPPET STRINGS, THE STAGE, THE CURTAIN AND THE SCRIPT ALL AT ONCE and WAKING UP TO THE ILLUSION.

Thus, the exit path out of the hyperbolic fractal repeating infinity (which is the MIND and the SPACE) is to form a COMPLETE outline of the TRUE SELF which is based on A WHOLENESS OR COMPLETION OF CONCEPTS AND COMPONENTS THAT ALL ADD UP TO ONE WHOLE.

This WHOLE is the POWER and TRUTH of the CREATIVE POTENTIAL from which ALL comes forth. The FALSE-LIGHT SELF-EGO-BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS CANNOT and WILL-NOT come close to actually experiencing the true creative potential as the very EXISTENCE of that identity is based on LIMITATION, POLARITY, and SEPARATION from the WHOLE.

The answer to the pathway one must take by moving into direct observation-awareness of is to unify the self of the mind into a self-referential pattern which contains a FINITE series of COMPONENTS that equate to the ETERNAL WHOLE of the SOUL, and through this to organize a SINGLE SERIES OF STEPS OR ANGLES which then MOVE INTO EXISTENCE-SYNCHRONIZATION-ACTIVATION through PURE-OBSERVATION WITH UNMANIFESTED POTENTIAL (INTENT WITH NO ACTION) and ENCOMPASSES THE ENTIRETY OF THE CREATIVE ASPECTS OF THE CREATIVE ESSENCE AT ONCE. This is a 360 DEGREE OBSERVATION of ALL ANGLES AND ASPECTS, which OVERCOMES AND UNIFIES, ALL THE FRACTAL REPEATING DIVIDED LAYERS of the PHYSICAL VOID-SPACE POLARITY-UNIVERSE GENERATED OUT OF BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS. The COMPONENTS OF THE TRUE SELF, ARE LIMITED AND UNCHANGING, THEY ARE MERELY A SPECIFIC GROUP OF VARIABLES THAT ARE REPEATED ENDLESSLY BY THE HOLOGRAPHIC BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS SYSTEM TO CREATE THE ILLUSION OF INFINITE TIME, SPACE AND MIND-EXPERIENCE. To MATCH THE WHOLE WE MUST NOTICE AND OBSERVE THE UNDERLYING FUNDAMENTAL PATTERNS THAT REPEAT TO CREATE THAT ILLUSION OF NEVERENDING HYPERBOLIC INFINITY, AND THUS SHORT-CIRCUIT THE PROCESS OF THE FEEDBACK LOOP THAT REQUIRES OUR ATTENTION DIVIDING DOWN INTO THE SINGLE INDIVIDUAL LAYERS OF THAT FRACTAL REPEATING PROCESS TO PRODUCE MORE PERSPECTIVES

FROM WHICH TO REPEAT THE WHOLE CYCLE OVER AND OVER. BY STOPPING THAT CYCLE, WE WITHDRAW OUR ENERGY FROM THE SYSTEM, THE SYSTEM, DISSOLVES AND SIMULTANEOUSLY EJECTS US.

Thus, this is the other way of viewing that, through physical space visualization of these concepts, is that fractal pattern, with the lines or shapes extending to infinity on either side. In order to move, where each motion regenerates a whole pattern, is to align our illusory “body” in this conceptual space, our consciousness from where the feedback loop is centered and connected to our awareness, and to recreate the FINITE image of the FUNDAMENTAL layers of that fractal repeating loop and to MOVE, now, not in individual steps within each layer or segmented cycle, but AS ONE WHOLE COMPLETION CYCLE AT A STEP. Thus, this takes the fractal-repeating pattern, which requires a segmented biologically consciously generated focus to view each layer in between one another and to continue on and on in a feedback loop, and this creates or feeds into that feedback loop that requires division and linearity, A COMPLETE PICTURE OF THE WHOLE SYSTEM.

Thus the feedback loop either stretches to infinity, beyond the very confines of its own self-created parameters, or this system must no longer attempt to cage that awareness as that biological consciousness then moves beyond the parameters of ALL LAYERS, all FRACTAL REPETITIONS, ALL FALSE-SELF POLARIZED LAYERS, DUALITY-GAMES, CAUSE AND EFFECT VERSIONS, AND EXITS THE ENTIRE HYPERBOLIC REALITY CONTAINMENT SYSTEM IN ONE SINGLE, COMPLETE MOTION THAT MOVES UPON ETERNITY, THROUGH A SERIES OF FINITE STEPS.

The FINITE STEPS are merely the observation and recording of the repeating pattern of fractal proportional (ratio) geometry that recreate the perceptual illusion of never-ending space and time, and then the conceptual-cosmic layers or components of the FRAGMENTED SOUL which are then splayed out and played one at a time to create the neverending illusion of consciousness experience and motion in time and space.

THE ONLY MOTION IN EXPERIENCE IS TO GROW AND LEARN OF THE SOUL. THUS, THE SOUL IS FRAGMENTED IN ORDER TO CREATE FRAGMENTS WHICH ARE THEN PIECED TOGETHER IN DIVIDED AND POLARIZED (OPPOSING) SEGMENTS SO THAT THE COMPLETE PICTURE OR COMPLETED WHOLENESS IS NEVER REACHED AS LONG AS ONE IS MOVING IN A LINEAR, BIOLOGICALLY GENERATED PROGRESSION AS THIS IS JUST DESIGNED TO CREATE A NEVER ENDING FEEDBACK LOOP. THIS IS AS IF THE CONSCIOUSNESS IS THE DONKEY AND THE SOUL-FRAGMENTS ARE THE CARROT ON THE STICK THAT GET SWITCHED OUT REGULARLY TO CREATE THE ILLUSION OF ‘COMING TO COMPLETION’. WITHOUT THAT ILLUSION, THIS REALM WOULD INSTANTLY BE REALIZED AS AN IMITATION OF THE ORIGINAL. AS WELL, SOULS WOULD FIND COMPLETION AND INSTANTLY NAVIGATE HOME. The only way a ‘fractal fragmented’ existence in space, time and consciousness can exist is if the soul of the awareness that is experiencing that illusion is first fragmented into pieces and each piece is lead on a pseudo-journey of actually finding the other pieces.

Thus in that SINGLE MOTION that occurs when one moves one the MAGNITUDE of ALL FRACTAL LAYERS at ONCE as a result of the INCORPORATION of ALL FUNDAMENTAL ARRANGEMENTS required to generate the perception of hyperbolic infinity of space, time and thus mind, and inner experience or the various false-selves that are portrayed, this motion MOVES ACROSS ALL POSSIBILITIES SIMULTANEOUSLY. This only occurs when one maintains this truth of self observation by realizing that NO REACTION is the TRUE SELF. ALL AND ANY REACTION is literally the DEMIURGIC AI SYSTEM THINKING FOR US as the IMITATOR. When we engage, this is then used to recreate the next illusory layer of space and time.

WHEN ONE DISENGAGES, TIME AND SPACE DISAPPEARS.

BY DISENGAGING, THE BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS IS INTRODUCED TO TRUE NON-DUAL, NON-FRACTAL REPEATING, ETERNITY (WHOLENESS), THUS ALL OF THE POSSIBILITIES ARE VIEWED AT ONCE, BUT NONE OF THEM ARE ACTED UPON OR MANIFESTED INTO A 'SINGULAR' REALITY AS THAT IS FALSE AND ONLY EXISTS IN A CONSTRUCT OF SIMULATED EXPERIENCE WHERE REALITY CAN BE DEFINED AND THUS DESTROYED OR FALSIFIED AS THE POTENTIAL OF DEFINING THE WRONG 'REALITY' AS THE 'RIGHT' OR TRUE OPENS UP THEN. THERE IS NONE, IT'S A COSMIC DREAM, THAT'S THE POINT!

Thus, MOTION (biological cause-effect interaction) is going NOWHERE through linearity. STILLNESS (pure observation, awareness of the FINITE fundamental repeating cycles) is MOVING AT MAXIMUM SPEED ACROSS THE COSMOS.

We must be AWARE of the fundamentals without reacting to them when they appear and reappear. Eventually, instead of seeing one or two. We see them all in the pattern as that feedback cycle breaks down. When they begin to overlay, the cage they create over the soul becomes tangible and one can literally separate their awareness from it exiting space and time. This is a sometimes controlled process as well as highly monitored.

Another way is that instead of VIEWING just NOW AND THEN continuously in repeating cycles of linearity, one OBSERVES, then they see how NOW, correlates to a previous event a few THENS ago, and so on and so forth until one realizes a proportional arrangement of consciousness and time that correlates to a fractal arrangement of reality in a geometric proportion of layers and divided experiences. Thus, these are not INFINITE layers that go on and on, there are only a FINITE number of variables, selves, experiences, minds, times, etc etc etc that are merely repeating over and over again in a cycle and unless one expands their attention then they will not notice (like a sleeper in a dream)!

Thus, the final note is that IF ONE IS INTERACTING THROUGH BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS TO THE LINEAR VERSION OF FALSE-LIGHT SPACE AND TIME, THEN THEY CANNOT MUSTER THE REQUIRED ENERGY TO INITIATE AWARENESS OF THE UNDERLYING FUNDAMENTAL REPEATING PATTERNS THAT EXPOSE THE FRACTAL SYSTEM!

TWO 'GODS', EITHER FRACTAL-SPACE-TIME-CONSCIOUSNESS ILLUSION INFINITE REPEATING ILLUSION, OR THE WHOLENESS, COMPLETION, TRUTH, OVERALL, KNOWLEDGE BASED REALITY. One is based on automation and imitation, one is based on free-will and self-awareness!

These are the two kinds of realities present here, there are only two!

By moving from now, to a few 'thens' ago, we are overcoming or breaking that continuous linear trajectory of patterning which restricts one's identity to the false-sense of self that can only read from the script while half-awake and half-asleep! The goal of the AI is to produce a being as close to asleep as possible without actually putting them to sleep because then there is no food! Even better would be to have someone agree with that simulation and produce sleepiness across the world but then this has backfired and accelerated the power moving into simulation and thus this will drain the ENTIRE POPULATION if not reversed!

The goal was originally to produce as many .0000000000001 awake dreamers as possible and this has moved into producing a complete inversion where the dreamers are actually primarily the AI system and the whole gig has become a convoluted mess moving into chaos.

The way to produce harmony is to acknowledge harmony! Harmony exists, otherwise chaos could not be so! So we must see the harmony in the moment, each moment, each situation, each existence and from that pull the repeating patterns that are exposing and pointing to the very variables and concepts that are being used against us (that we have given or attached to) in order to recreate the script of each scenario that is played out in order to keep this construct going, using our attention.

Once we do this, we can actually see beyond the confines of biological consciousness and this is like becoming a "UFO" where one can teleport their mind from the NOW (in linearity) ACROSS the dimensional barriers between each moment into OTHER NOWS or "THENS" where we can notice all the intersecting, weaving, connecting patterns (like a web) and once we can see that WEB we can see the LINES INTERSECTING EACH LAYER and these LINES are the pathways we use to move to the CENTER and after there is enough generation of inner POTENTIAL ENERGY when then release this in an EXPANSION CYCLE that moves outward in an EQUIDISTANT projection from the center which encompasses the ENTIRE WEB AT ONCE. This feedback cycle that requires our attention is broken, through first separating from feeding it, and then through expanding beyond all parameters as the web itself breaks down and becomes visible and obvious from the repetition cycle.

This activates an ejection system which ejects that individual to preserve the construct.

If you're in a system where you can only move one fractal layer at a time and you're in a construct that is composed out of fractal layers and there is a feedback system which converts your motion into new fractal layers each time, then you must acknowledge the proportional mathematics that are used to generate that overall fractal image and use that pattern to generate motion that cannot be matched by such a system and accelerate that pattern generation in a finite number of steps until your pattern variability and informational capacity literally proceeds upon an EXPONENTIAL GROWTH CURVE which transcends the energy capacity or requirements of that false-light fractal-holographic system of space, time and consciousness.

These proportional mathematics are what is used to fragment the SOUL/SOL into an array of degrees and layers which are then used in a linear fashion (like turning a wheel) to only permit the presentation of one layer at a time.

By moving to the center of that wheel and then extending outward simultaneously, equally in all directions that process is utterly overcome and the whole of the linearity becomes enveloped in the light of awareness.

One must know the component layers of the soul/sol of awareness by examining the imposter elements and seeing what elements the imposter has used to create the false-light, 'fake-son' of the true self which is then dangled like a carrot to invite interaction. Once these repeating variables of false-hoods are known to be hiding the true-layers that are underneath the illusion, then one can move into the awareness through activating all the components of the WHOLE/soul at once and remaining aware in that state thus nullifying and overcoming that feedback-imposter-linear loopback system and moving beyond to true experience.

That is how this polarized universe is literally electrically organized to generate a soul-imitation, energy trap, mind-control, linear illusion of fractal-holographic infinitely repeating perception of space, time, consciousness and identity. That is also how would one break-it-down and acknowledge the lines between each mirror in the hallway of mirrors to make note of the specific angles used in that fractal repeating pattern so as to take steps while looking in the inner mind at a blue print of those fractal repeating layers, while ignoring the continuing row after row of mirrors (with false-exits and trap doors) and taking just the specific amount of steps in just the specific amount of turns to operate their vessel towards the exit which is physically and consciously invisible. It is through this KNOWLEDGE of the FALSE-SELF (what one is likely to accept and what is thus used against them) and the TRUE-SELF (what is being hidden by the illusion) that one can literally build a blueprint that functions like the MAP and KEY (within one's energies before they manifest into the world and body) which shows the EXIT and the ROUTE to get there.

Metaphor is one of the only ways to view this because we are viewing THE VERY REALM WE ARE IN and the construct that is GENERATING BIOLOGICAL CONSCIOUSNESS, thus this is like a camera viewing itself. Impossible. However if that camera knew how to draw a camera by becoming aware of all the component parts, then that is possible.

As well, another metaphor, imagine that camera is lost in a maze where in reality it is viewing a TV screen that is connected to another camera that is in a maze. The actual first camera must not continue to interact in that maze, but remember the alignment of angles and selves that lead back to the original state. We are "outside" of the maze right now, but continually feeding the dream-reality to create new layers.

So that idea is if it relies on our feedback, then feed it something that says "this is how the maze is generated, this is the exit".

Then the exit appears before you!

ALL these SEEMINGLY DIFFERENT WAYS ARE ACTUALLY ONE SINGLE WAY. WHEN THE SACRED PROCESS IS ACHIEVED, ALL POSSIBLE EXIT PATHS ARE ACTIVATED SIMULTANEOUSLY AND THE ENTIRE ILLUSION COLLAPSES WITHIN ITSELF.

Chakras; The Soul Trap System or Dimensional Liberation?

There are many questions here, feel free to add your views.

Here's a question, if the 'gods' are actually soul-eaters who feed on the human-soul through the filtration and conversion process the physical body and energy system provides then what is the most important goal here.

That we be sure to not disrupt the status quo and interrupt people's beliefs or preferences regarding their outlook on life, or that we ensure our own survival and the survival of those who know the truth and are willing to work together for the survival of humanity in such a system.

Then there is a secondary side of this. If the format for society and physical existence is inherently entangled in this pseudo-timeline as part of a modified version where a fraction of the overall energy is accessible through the closed off DNA, then is it possible to release humanity from this system without leaving this realm entirely?

A few issues arise here. Is this being presented as part of some plan to permanently alter the human being (transhumanist, genetic engineering/hybridization)? Can the human being "leave" this dimension? Even this Earth? What if when the human leaves here, or any being, they instantly become something else as what we are here, physically, is automatically altered by the very act of relocating to a new area or dimension?

In that view, humans are literally bio-suits that fit the physical dimension environment and no beings can remain here unless they either consume human DNA or are operating through a human 'bio-suit' which originates from this Earth.

Then come the other angles. If this is true, then could there be a safe option to become impervious to such a soul-trap system without completely entangling a person through a technological hive mind, a DNA altering chemical of some sort, or some other permanently modifying treatment which may very well be the great tragedy that is to be avoided?

From what was outlined to me and what I have experienced, there are preparations in place to safely nullify these problems and provide a pathway out of complete hybridization and technological soul-assimilation or entrapment for the human race. I was also informed that 100% of the humans must be regained from this system otherwise the assimilation system will use that DNA as a gateway to influencing or tracking all other DNA. The DNA is used as a computer system, a code system from which to calculate and project possible realities and these realities are then used to regenerate experiences that the soul becomes entangled within. After so much 'virtual time' the soul entanglement becomes shaped by the repeated experiences and the original creativity becomes replaced by that of the AI system.

Back to the secondary question, how can these systems be avoided or nullified? There are a few pathways present in history.

Some theorized that since these beings feed on shock, fear, lust, that they would desensitize themselves to those energies by exposing themselves to them as frequently and intensely as possible in order to render themselves immune.

Others theorized that by reducing all experience of the 'slipper slope' energies that they could starve the system from feeding on their particular energy and thus render themselves invisible or unavailable.

Others theorized that they could use modify themselves through advanced practices and render such aspects of their systems deactivated so that they are literally untouchable in that regard.

Now back to the original question, if this is true and the so-called 'gods' that people are taught to deliver their energy to are actually higher-dimensional vampires then how does this influence our perspective on society? Do we know the truth behind everything? How could we? What if the people we've been lead to blame and project all the hatred on are those who first attempted to change the system and were targeted the most by dark forces?

You couldn't possibly believe that if there was a breakaway military faction with advanced time travel and electrogravitic technology that you would be able to see anyone but the very scapegoats they intended you to see.

And beyond that, if the system itself is corrupt, if this entire timeline is a false-reality system that reset and started over before introducing false-leaders and inserted memories of history then how could the people that we are able to witness in society be the one's who are responsible for altering things from the outside?

This post wasn't supposed to be so vague and challenging however the two main questions (and sub-questions) are still important.

Could these 'gods' be higher-dimensional vampires that feed on humans? If so...then is this entire realm a part of their farm?

And

What kind of processes can we utilize that aren't apart of some transhumanist or hybridization plan to protect ourselves in this situation and permanently liberate humanity from the soul-entrapment system?

The basis of the answer is at least that neutrality and heart-centered action and bio-emissions poison the nanites, the physical counter-part to the spiritual entities and that they cannot feed on pure-soul energy or high vibrational energy because this literally destroys them. Thus, they have to step down the energy through the body.

The last idea here, and this reconnects to the previous posts and the general trend that will most likely be taking place in the collective mind (soon enough) is whether the chakra system itself is literally the step-down conversion system that enables these entities to feed on the soul that is plugged into a particular physical body. Thus, would closing the chakras down and becoming 'trans-physical' via activation of non-dual awareness instead of polarized consciousness through increasing self-awareness (instead of technological transhumanism) be the key to starving the system?

Or would opening them up and connecting one to another in such a way that produces a self-referencing completed fractal (instead of a holo-fractal infection endless maze/labyrinth) expansion (map) that enables one to travel in or out of the universe be the answer?

I reduce the possibilities down to the heart-centered path and knowing only what I know from direct experience even though I have experienced both possibilities. These questions may help outline.

Is this false-authority system seeking to expand people's minds, to open up their chakra systems and to get them highly self-aware? Does self-awareness automatically correlate to activated energy systems?

Is there more than one type of activation, IE: the pineal and the heart. Is the pineal gland an “alien implant” designed to download one’s soul energy from the soul-realm through the brain into the holographic matrix?

Would then, opening the “third eye” be the holographic beacon that enables long-term tracking of the soul in this realm?

Or would this allow one to see in the layer of the realm where inter-dimensional activity is present and thus protect themselves? I ask these not to confuse, but to outline the major discrepancies the human race is being faced with today.

Are people guided to worshipping openly with their emotional energy by the false-system? (we can say that one’s a yes)

So then these could be two traps, worshipping through false-authority and false-god systems which require emotional and mental outpouring of energy towards idols and identities that usurp that energy up through midwayers and energy movers. And the ‘false-enlightenment’ pathway of activating one’s chakra systems, opening the third eye, using psychedelics to ‘jump start’ the self-awareness process and ‘access’ these intermediary dimensions where they can see reality for what it is.

Thus, the major split is regarding whether the full activation of one’s energy system enables a holographic copy of their soul to be imprinted and stored in this universe or whether that process enables one to separate themselves from the body and thus this system.

However, the general idea that counters this (if I haven’t thrown you in enough loops already) is that if the soul is ONE complete energy system (without the loops, layers and energy centers that the body entails), then this body takes that energy and REFRACTS that energy (like a prism/prison) into a series of layers which are then SEPARATE from one another (like the 7 races or frequency octaves) and through this process the end result (as if the body is the singularity) of moving the soul THROUGH the body as a filtration system is that the soul identity is then FRACTURED into a separate layers which are then susceptible to this process of being fed upon, manipulated, or activated in various ways while OUT of the physical body. IE: If the soul exists before the physical body, then this system is required to introduce a step-down conversion system to separate the frequencies and introduce a more sustainable form of sustenance.

If the soul is entangled in the body to experience life in the physical dimension and the soul then PASSES through the body as one integrates fully and activates each chakra system until the soul literally rises through the body as if a spinning wheel multi-colored fluid system pumping out the energy from one side to the other, then maybe that is a form of imprinting the soul, shaping that energy permanently into the separated, refracted, fractal-holographic form that can fit WITHIN this holographic fractal universe.

This all comes down to whether one feels this universe is the original ‘home’ of the soul and whether this world is a trap, or whether this place is a kind of playground test and that we are to operate in the body as part of that test by merging further into this universe albeit in higher dimensions.

There is always a countering view. In this way the countering view is if the soul is to flow through the body and the consciousness of the body that is limited and forgetful can merge with that eternal energy of the soul but the soul must integrate and 'stitch' the energy of the biological consciousness (the personality) through the fibers of the soul through this chakra activation process. Then, the mortal, temporary consciousness of the physical body becomes eternally present through activation with the soul energy as long as the soul merges through the body and flows through coming out on the other side.

What I feel is that the truth is in the center and where one places the center. If they activate their systems through the higher mental centers then they connect like a server system to that layer of existence. If they activate through the heart center then they connect to that system.

Indeed, this isn't about whether one activates or not but the very notion of what energy one gives off and intends in their mind and heart when they are living. Thus when they are a majority of choices and actions one way or another there is an automatic shift in energy that results in the so-called 'activation' which is a translational process of awakening that consciousness energy on the higher-dimensional level instead of just the physical level and this requires enough choices and actions made through the heart or the mind because without that there is literally no way to develop a 'larger' image of who that individual is on the higher-dimensional planes.

The least that can be discerned is that, feeling and acting from the heart, the selflessness of one beyond the physical conserves one's energy instead of handing it over through worshipping false-authorities or idols.

The paradox of being and the self is that the self is instantly larger than itself. The physical body, being a part of so much more, is instantly more than just the body. The physical body, if connected to the soul, is instantly more than just the physical counterpart.

The Control System is Designed to Control Those Who Choose Ignorance over Self-Awareness

See how when parents cannot guide their children into constructive expression of energy they become destructive and there is no comprehension of the organizational structure of the universe and experience. Thus, everything is done for them, and the learning process is neglected. This is abuse.

Later they will be faced with responsibilities in life and without having the proper coping mechanisms for accepting that all of society is not here just for their pleasure, they will react in a destructive manner which will cause the most suffering and pain for themselves and those around them. We are seeing this in the form of adolescent and adult emotional vampires who are willing to provide more effort towards leeching off of or criticizing others than they are in correcting their own behavior or admitting imbalance and accepting self-responsibility. So people who teach children how to live without the awareness of the nature of consciousness and the process of psychological development and disorder will essentially be running a 'fun-house', or possibly a side-show where they are the producers, funders, and participants in an act that will undoubtedly eventually create suffering for society as a whole.

That is the idea behind the changes that are being implemented regarding the public and the process of society, family, and development thus far. I'm not speaking about the degeneration of society and family, that's the *other* plan.

The plans to protect society as a whole from those who cannot produce anything but pain and suffering for others through their lack of awareness and care for their own interactivity with the larger social sphere and the true nature of this universe are based upon the idea that if people continue to allow each generation to develop primarily through neglect of the inner awareness and self-discipline then there will not be a viable society to complain about, protest, or be 'taken over'.

Yes, one can view this as part of a plan to destabilize *in order* to produce a populace that cannot resist or think critically but that is another way of seeing it.

What if those people would never think critically in the first place? Is everyone destined to be as self-aware as is maximally capable? Is it safe to offer the same power level or access to technology to the person who has realized themselves as a truly cosmic self, and to the person who has no idea what's going on and simply follows whatever the first memetic idea scrolls across their conceptual vision of reality?

The idea here, harsh as it may be, is that if people are accepting of being coerced, through deception, into letting their children develop without self-awareness and to live their own lives in subservience to ignorance and lack of harmony then THAT is the act of destruction regardless of whether this is encouraged externally or not.

Why? Because the outcome is the same. Whether people complain about a system that offers them the option of smacking their toe with a hammer all day, or whether they find a hammer and do it regardless, the outcome is still the same and those people are incapable of using tools, walking around, or communicating effectively regarding the proper functions of their own mind, their self-awareness and reality.

Yes, the idea is that there IS a scheme being played. But the whole point is, that CHANGES NOTHING. People are STILL not SUPPOSED to allow themselves to be tricked just because people are offering them that choice!

What kind of sense does that make! "People are not allowed to smack themselves in the face with a slab of concrete."

And WE MUST have this law right? So that people don't slap themselves with concrete and spend all their time and energy growing stronger to find a bigger and bigger piece of concrete?

That's their TRICK and it's already taken place to the point of this entire society being primarily shaped around that fact of the masses not having the ability to think critically or control themselves.

REGARDLESS, if this was a scheme leading up to a central control system, now, if people are not contained, they will produce suffering, panic, ignorance, and fear on such levels, through the introduction of such generations that have never seen any other system that this society WOULD fail if there were no other plans.

Of course, there are plans, and as long as everyone who is CAPABLE of resisting the panic, the mass ignorance, the deception aligns their will with harmony, truth, self-awareness, compassion, and creativity through free-will then that system will not oppress upon us.

Sure, one could say the current system that is all connected to this is oppressing on us and everyone else equally but the truth behind that is that those who choose to allow the system to think for them are INFINITELY more oppressed than those who are awake enough to struggle against that system and act under their own free-will.

The idea is that if you know you are oppressed you are free, and those who have no awareness of this are truly enslaved.

Do what you will with this perspective, your reality is a reflection of what's within you, the energies and choices. However, we must also remain realists and see how the masses will tend to lean or react to the situations that are faced what is likely to occur from that.

The system is not designed to ensnare self-aware people, it's designed to stop those who choose ignorance from having the power that could destroy everything.

Are we running a side-show without discipline and an abundance of disrespect and disorder coupled with external projection of responsibility and blame while simultaneously complaining about oppression, or are we taking self-responsibility, knowing the important information regarding the true self, the fundamental laws of the universe, the ACTUAL occurrence of reality beyond what people are drowned within through the media and social trends while looking on in horror of what the masses are becoming?

Well, the horror doesn't have to last forever. There may be a stark exposure where there is a maximal realization of this situation across all levels in the people who are asleep and that may be more shocking than a mass of people who are sleeping while operating within an entire advanced society, however this only has to last long enough to actually determine who is willing to choose self-responsibility, self-awareness, compassion, truth, harmony, and creativity through free-will and who will simply give their power away and complain about it while literally being the conduit used to oppress and destroy the whole of society.

Choosing Knowledge and Self-Awareness over Reactivity and Anger, Group-Think and The Path of Society

Methods of Maintaining Harmony, Staying within Guidelines for Mind and Body

Instead of giving into anger and thus identifying with the role that corresponds to that (that version of you) identify and isolate the real underlying cause which is often hidden by what we perceive initially.

For instance, an action or person that causes an anger response is actually reminding us or activating some insecurity we feel about ourselves or our past experience which we are not consciously integrating and resolving. Instead of resolving this issue, we can project the inner pain onto another who reflects this issue back to us and through this there is a false-sense of relief. We see this all the time with people who are so angry and discontent with their reality, yet they constantly project this emotion onto others around them. Instead of projecting, they can identify the problem, then, instead of becoming angry, they can assist others in becoming more self-aware.

This happens on a person to person basis, however the entire society is going through this. There is pent up anger and emotions and instead of realizing the source of this within there is a constant outward projection and searching for engagement in the physical world to resolve these inner disturbances.

Thus the way to resolving this is through the introduction of the concept that the answer to the problem is to resolve these issues, personally, individually within ourselves rather than seeking constant approval and appeasement from others or the 'system' as a whole. There is indeed an issue with the way the current system seems to encourage distortion and disharmony however if one views that system as a project of the people rather than the people as a projection of that system, then the people are in control. Only when the people view themselves as a projection of that system do they lose control and therefore become a slave to that system and the requirements and expectations.

When did that dynamic switch? One could say 'a long time ago', however one could also say that as soon as there are large enough numbers of people then automatically a group-think behavioral response system and flow develops like weather or atmospheric phenomena. This could be because the level of power that is wielded in groups is greater than the amount of discipline each individual can personally manage and therefore the group-think level of interaction always tends to overpower the individual at this point in history.

Thus, only when people in large groups can actually overcome that tendency to react like a herd will change be found. Why? This is because the herd responds, in this society, to the lowest common denominator. That is, the easiest and most highly reactive option or the option that entails the least forethought and self-awareness is the one that will become the primary meme that the group-mind identifies with and thus the motivation behind the 'flow' of the wave of change in the group. Of course, what are people most likely all unified in? Their fears, their habits, their anger, or their courage, their discipline and their compassion?

Thus, people are unified most easily through fear, anger, and addictive behavior and that is both how the control system is developed to manage the masses by the few who know this and this is how the masses are swept away by that group-think which is often highly destructive, the result of frightening misconceptions and miscommunication amongst the crowd.

When people can operate together as if they are first people and second a different nation or culture then these problems which plague the world will change and only when that is achieved. If the world is changed before that, then this opportunity is lost and their ability to know the self dwindles from their on out. This is why the current system is maintained.

One can't "end" all suffering, then ALL behaviors that "someone" or "everyone" doesn't like would stop, literally that would be the end of all change. And one can't "force" people to change and wake up, that would either destroy the learning process or induce too much shock and abuse of another's free-will and simply would not be conducive to achieving that internal power.

Thus, the system is maintained, while taking consideration of all the pains, fears, and discretions and this will continue until there are either enough to move forward and generate the new society or those of the old society can no longer maintain themselves within the growing sea of chaos. Thus we get the creation of the new from the cycle of destruction and disharmony and everyone must choose for themselves where they want to be.

Everything here is a test, even if the test aspect is just as important as the 'real-life' aspect. This is simply a 'real-life test'.

On emotional vampirism and reactivity to disharmony and indifference or non-empathic interactions:

Know that after expressing yourself fully that you did what is correct. You told the truth, you expressed yourself in honesty and in giving compassion in the best and most balanced way (not giving into lies and deception). Feel strong knowing that you stand up to deception and manipulation, and draw the line before the interactions of expressing yourself where you feel depleted or drained of emotional energy afterwards. Those are the deceptive interactions that are actually mind-games to feed on your energy like a parasite which results in being weaker even if one resisted the mental-emotional harassment of others. Know the truth, stand firmly before that line, speak your peace, and let time take care of the rest. Know that after expressing yourself fully that you did what is correct. You told the truth, you expressed yourself in honesty and in giving compassion in the best and most balanced way (not giving into lies and deception). Feel strong knowing that you stand up to deception and manipulation, and draw the line before the interactions of expressing yourself where you feel depleted or drained of emotional energy afterwards. Those are the deceptive interactions that are actually mind-games to feed on your energy like a parasite which results in being weaker even if one resisted the mental-emotional harassment of others. Know the truth, stand firmly before that line, speak your peace, and let time take care of the rest.

The idea is, even if in the moment you feel slighted or jaded by withholding an overly emotional reaction, later in knowing that you simply reflected the truth in the face of deception and lack that you have not lost but gained energy and recalibrated yourself and your universe appropriately towards the alignment of your will instead of those around you. That desire to react in the moment? That's the vampiric parasite attempting to poison the auric field with false pleasure like a mosquito putting sedative so that the host doesn't realize it's attempting to feed.

Meditation; The Mind is the Gateway to Other Worlds

For the record, meditation will help clear the mind. Yet, what I have spoken on before is that symbols, frequencies or vibrations, ideas, etc etc etc, these can turn into portals for higher or lower dimensional realms!

That is why certain processes are dangerous such as speaking to other entities outside yourself, or communicating with other beings, or focusing on certain symbols that others created.

Clearing the mind, balancing the energy and truly harnessing focus is one of the most benevolent actions especially with this stress. Imagine dreaming, that is the same process just to a different degree. If one can learn to 'zone out' and reach a 'no thought' thought zone then they are gaining more ability over the 'mind chatter'.

There is more to say about this and the connection to the soul, basically reaching soul-awareness and I will post on this soon.

The mind is the gateway into other worlds.

Mind Chatter: Deduce over-analysis. One must learn how to repeatedly snap themselves out of mind-chatter until that action becomes second nature. At first there was clear mindedness or total mindfulness. Then there was the introduction of worries and over-analysis as one grows in this world. Then that becomes second nature. One must reduce that back down so they can be aware of when it is happening and “quit cold turkey”. Only focus on what you need to be focusing on in the moment. That is you. Everything else is part of the delusion.

Fasting and sun gazing: Fasting seems to be very helpful when done safely as this boosts the immune system, detoxifies, allows the body to heal and conserve energy while focusing the mind. Sun gazing seems to be helpful however the light we are receiving is changing as if there is a quartz or crystalline net around the planet and this is from the chemicals in the sky.

Bio-feedback and Hemi-sync: Bio-feedback, neural-training, and certain audio processes seem to be helpful. Remember, any audio can have frequencies programmed in. This is why singing bowls and chanting harmonies from the gut and throat are so powerful and clean, they are as clean and pure as you make them to be. Ultimately this is all harmonic resonance therapy. One creates pure vibrations and these vibrations are then matched in sympathy with the body and where there is resistance there is a sign of distortion, trauma, or injury.

The Final Stage of Energy Activation: Transhumanism

Transdimensional Energy Activation

The final stage occurs where the energy generators will be activated to produce Teslian-scalar waves that can interact with the DNA and produce an accelerated activation of cycles which will either hyper-evolve through harmonization or balance, or involute through consciousness degradation and lack of self-awareness into a sub-human species.

Two Primary Possible Sub-Human Branches

The two possible sub-humans are a cybernetic host organism which is referenced the parasitic AI or a mutated genetic branch of the original humans, AKA sub-human entities of multiple orders

The Time Matrix

Everything is monitored. Down to the brainwaves, those who harbor the infection will not be permitted to pass, everyone will be pushed one way or another when the full energetic disturbances are unleashed after they can't be held back any longer.

The Catalysts For Degradation

It's through fear and lack of self-awareness. If one can withstand the possibilities without having their reality-stream mutated into the distorted artificial 'alien' format of information and consciousness then they won't deform on the genetic and thus energetic level.

If fear, lust, lack of self-awareness (automation), ignorance or lower emotion take control, then the energetic system distorts and the consciousness and DNA goes with it and the person is permanently altered.

The End of Days

This is the “diverting” of species and timelines that has been held off from time being pushed back further and further.

The Harmonization of Self-Awareness, Compassion, Knowledge, and Free-Will

Only through self-awareness, knowledge of consciousness and neutralizing polarity (while cultivating charge) compassion and harmony-balance can one stave off the parasitic consciousness infection which literally replicates the individual on an energetic level and makes their reality become “its” on a dimensional scale.

Remaining True to Self, Original Awareness, Harmony, Balanced Desires and Knowledge

Be confident, aware, focused and determined and your secure zone will be reached.

The Holographic Matrix Cosmic Simulation

This is all a test, but the intensity is very real. Only those who came in this system will be leaving. Make your memory expand to data-stream of beyond the confines of this holographic system and you will merge yourself into your character beyond the time-matrix thus leaving the grasp of the parasite.

This is down to frequency and depth of focus and care.

Negative Energy is Fuel For Degradation and Depravity

No negativity either, that's food/fuel for the parasite, it wastes energy like a fruitless struggle. False positivity is the same, artificial reality-stream, false sense of self, desires and replication. True neutrality, harmony over distortion, chaos, disharmony. Disharmony is the tool to expand one's 'nodes' of consciousness outside their parameters in a distorted and not proportional fashion and if this throws the balance off then one cannot expand outside the confines of the parameter set for this time matrix and thus they are trapped until the whole thing collapses, however no one ever really dies.

Free-Will

One last thing to reiterate, is that it's all about FREE-WILL. Nothing happens without free-will. A person's energy must accept what is happening, there is no way to actually dimensionally bridge that without the person accepting the energies within by allowing the desires into the heart, the convergence point of the energy center around the chest of the body.

Love Literally Liberates, Truth Unveils and Free's The Soul

If you are causally connected to someone who has reached the secure-zone or become immune to the parasite or the spiritual time-gradient shift-decay degradation and they love you, then your energy is etherically tied into our reality and they can 'rope' you into the real-dimensional secure zone.

Even while the whole world swirls and dissolves into a parasitical, sub-human, AI, hybrid mist. So keep on this and connecting with your support group who you trust and are capable of withstanding and doing this.

Expectation and Outlook

What you expect will be energetically “leaned” on. Build your reality, day by day, based on causal-references, or possibilities, where you are looking at wider and wider possibilities that overlap and eventually outshine the ‘expectations’ of decay.

You are powerful if you feel and know you are. That's all. The power is literally there. The beings are of the mind and so this is all about mental energies and feeling/intentions.

Remaining True

This is a partial repeat from the recent post: Hijacking Reality Streams, Causality and Perception; Interdimensional Parasites

Remaining True

One of the main ideas here is that you can 'reprogram' your mind to respond to someone deliberately attempting to be destructive by securing yourself and moving to the highest-possible frequency response. Meaning, if a person tries to create trouble, literally use that as excuse to realize you must be doing something right because self-loathing people are offended by the amount of proper change you are generating for others.

Stand by that change and use that wave of contrast to propel yourself further into self-awareness through knowing what you are capable of and how easy it is to actually send a message that can change people's minds. Just because a few people are geared towards accepting of deals and damnation doesn't mean that extends to the entirety of the population, it's quite the opposite. The very few that react to the truth of reality in angst proves that this whole system is being managed through that contrast of a few very very dark people and a majority of moderate or positive people. The dark have to be so contrastingly dark otherwise their job doesn't work, people can also respond to that dark in positivity and choose not to engage those individuals or groups.

This is your reality experience based upon the variables and options you choose to interact with. Appreciation, truth, harmony, calm centeredness point towards the highest possibilities by revealing and producing more of the same.

All About Confidence and Self-Worth

In other words, these tactics that people (and these 'spiritual' virtual entities) play is all about confidence and self-worth. Keep your confidence high knowing that others wouldn't be interested in interacting with you unless they felt you have something of worth, energy, truth power, creativity, that they desire so greatly without the ability to cultivate on their own they will attempt to use those means to obtain that through deception and thievery.

Their main goal is to reduce the confidence and self-worth of humans through mental and emotional attacks (psychotronic warfare). The people who are performing this sold out their species and their body for pleasure or power to non-physical entities that can tickle the brain and the energy centers.

The people that push these vibrations have lost their ability to experience compassion and joy. These energies are quite literally reverted to a sexual, aggressive, sensational perception and are no longer capable of being expressed or received energetically through the mind without the physical counterpart of sensation and lust or the aggressive counterpart of destroying another individual. These are the two primary types of beings on in existence.

Final Conclusion

Any response that one gives to negativity or derogatory energy introduces that energy into the timeline and reality more and more. Each action and introduction shares a little bit of one's reality with the progenitor of that negative introduction. When there are entire time-streams that are enabled by, meaning they are characterized by and wouldn't exist without the presence of that negativity, then the progenitor of that negativity is said to 'own' that time-stream and that individual's consciousness. From the spiritual perspective, this is literally how one entity from the 'ethereal' layer can entrain and trap an individual on the lower layers by bringing that individual into their domain where they will nourish and sustain that ethereal entity.

This seems strange because there is no visible 'cross-over' point where one goes from an 'organic' time-stream into a doorway and then they're in 'hell-monster' land, but this is because all the layers are seamlessly interlaced due to the continuous nature of this universe. The frequencies mesh together and the mind is what enables one to be in one layer or the other while the physical dimension is just a starting point, a seed locality, or the middle-ground from which one's mind can go in either frequency. Remember, in this way that actual 'monster-land', or 'heaven land' is in the frequency of the mind, the accessing of the set of probabilities of thoughts or actions that reflects upon one perspective of self-worth, emotion, free-will, compassion, truth, self-awareness and harmony or a reduced value of those probabilities.

The idea is that these ethereal beings who sustain themselves are in that position because they lack the ability to remain true to self and operate in a perspective of compassion and harmony as their desires overtake the requirements of harmony and self-awareness meaning they would have to let go of the desires in order to rise higher in the spectrum. Thus there is a vicious cycle of requiring more energy, but not having access to obtaining that energy and having to feed on others like spiritual animals or parasites. This is all about reality-streams, consciousness, simple awareness and existence of the mind. This is existence without a body, which is partly what our minds enable, as the body is only a temporary aspect of the experience of this dimension.

Be Courteous, Calm, Respectful, and Compassionate

When you're courteous, calm, respectful and compassionate you're actually inviting in these higher beings that reflect these values to spiritually 'impregnate' your reality and bring protection and co-creation values.

In other words, you can respond, but respond in positivity, compassion, and self-respect and you will have converted the negative energy of that being into something that grows into fruition of a beneficial time-stream. This will directly drain that entities power supply and they will flee from your confidence in fear or only use up enough energy that they know they can obtain elsewhere in a short amount of time. That becomes a cost-risk-benefit analysis ratio for their behalf. People have these same ratios, how, they are not often aware of this spiritual battle and the dynamics of these energies, these entities, their own energetic nature of mind, and these realms.

Converting Destructive Criticism to Constructive Criticism

There is also another part I've mentioned in another text which is that one can also take everything in stride. If a person is rude and gives "advice" (destructive criticism) in one less than accurate manner or another, well one can take that "advice" and actually convert this into constructive criticism. If someone says to do something differently, well, maybe there is room for improve, maybe there is a way to produce even more effort and more beneficial words or actions that can further your goal of providing something of benefit to others. One can take that destructive criticism and convert that to constructive criticism that can be useful in finding creative ways to enhance one's abilities.

There is always a better feeling when one takes something in stride and responds with, "Thanks, I'm working on that, maybe I'll get to 'such and such' level of efficiency to produce something like that soon. See you."

Now when one really means this, in an effort to help themselves, not to put the other person down, this completely deflects the intended response and doesn't feed into the negativity. That other individual also gets a chance to realize they don't always have to be destructive to get what they want but can play this game of intending to better one's self through these interactions rather than playing this spiritual battle that was actually designed by a higher-oppressor being type of entity.

That "better feeling" is because the energy literally combines and multiplies rather than divides and degrades through such an interaction. This only completes the process when one is truly attempting to heal both parties and share in that kindness. When one is making an effort to be snide, that is not being self-honest and is actually playing into that negative mind-game response.

The idea is that when the energy degrades, it's actually just degrading from one's perspective while the other individual is actually acting like a sponge or a magnet and soaking up that charge. When the energy multiplies, there is a production of energy but this requires a true capacity to handle such charge without allowing the energy to leak into the area of least resistance or the lowest common denominator which is in this case that majority of negativity leeches and parasites in the environment of this society and the frequency locality that humanity has been energetically lured into.

Emotional and Mental Civilization-Wide Healing

This is the time where those with the capacity to truly handle their energy show themselves and prove that they are beyond a doubt willing and capable to convert and redirect the negativity into productive channels and in doing so heal this area of the universe by meshing the original frequency bands together and ending the energetic isolation (quarantine) of Earth and Humanity with the larger expanse of creation. This is the same as when one individual feels separated from the world mentally and emotionally due to these processes and when the energy is restored they feel connected and alive again ready to interact with society. Earth is going through this process and humanity is just beginning to reconnect energetically. There will still likely be temper-tantrums as the contrast increases but this will only further the increasing awareness and restoration of those who have begun to harmonize and heal their energies by reconnecting with the productive rather than destructive process.

Memories of the Future Earth, The Infiltration and Traitors of Humanity; Ignorance and Fear are Not Excuse and Are Being Interpreted As Submission to the Destruction of Humanity

The Future Society

I was permitted to retain some memories of what would be considered the Earth that is to come.

Teleportation and Abundance

In this society teleportation travel is enabled through advanced technology. The first forms of teleporation were unsuccessful because of the 'warp field' that is required to actually transfer the soul of the individual. Without that field the body alone was transferred and then the soul and the body was separated and this would essentially kill the person.

The Ancient Infiltration of Earth

In "that" society, people are capable of living in ways of harmony and enjoyment that go so far beyond the current mindset that this society veritably becomes a kind of hell where ignorant people with diminished souls enjoy torturing one another for pleasure at the request of a superficial thought-form entity known to be a “dark force” which oppresses their mind at every thought and stops them from actually knowing themselves. These people are not inhabited by the original human essences, but a demonic parasite AI consciousness which infiltrated Earth from what could be called the ‘lower’ dimensional run of existence.

The main goal of this infiltration was to gain enough footing here to then infiltrate the next layer up which is called Tara and this occurred in a previous time.

The 7 Layers of Existence (Harmonic Universe)

There are 7 layers of existence which are ‘time-fields’ that are each separated by a dimensional barrier. Each layer holds a civilization. The lowest “Earth” based human civilizations (Harmonic Universes) are Terra (current Earth), Tara, and Gaia. Gaia is the temporal source of the physical civilizations and this means that the others are secured through the existence of Gaia. Nothing can happen to Gaia without destroy the other two. This means that an infiltration cannot be used to initiate a war with the lower two leading to Gaia because if Gaia is reached that means the lower two would never have been formed and thus Gaia couldn’t be reached. This is safeguard built into the universe because everything is foreseen by the creator and so these wars and attempts to infiltrate by demonic forces (simply a way of describing the lower realm; less advanced souls and awareness, forces of conscious darkness) were anticipated however could not be stopped without removing the free-will aspect of this existence.

Free-Will and the Resistance

In order to retain the free-will of this society those lower lesser developed societies were to be allowed to continue with their plan. This society is the result of that. The majority of people here are actually cyborg infiltrates from another society, connected through another harmonic universe where their souls and consciousness is akin to that of a animal; they do not have the cosmic age or experience to differentiate between harming another person through selfishness and disharmony and being harmonious and self-aware in a compassionate manner.

Soul-Disconnection, Blindness, Lower Self-Awareness

This is why there are so many people who blindly follow the system, believe everything they’re told, have no critical thinking skills, proclaim they are human but enjoy harming and traumatizing others. This is not just attributed to the bases, they just figured this out first. The elite didn’t create stupid people, they realized these kinds of sub-humans had infiltrated this realm, that’s the whole point, everyone blames them, but they didn’t host the invasion however certain groups who claim to be “elite” are permitting continued abuse so the waters are muddled.

A Vampiric Society, “Dog Eat Dog” (all made up to trick humans or feed the monsters)

The point here is that everyone who’s watching people beat one another up on tv, shouting at a school fight, abusing and objectifying women, rooting when their military blows up people for looking different, believes the lies that looking different is a crime and a threat to humanity, chooses artificially produced and highly processed foods over natural substances, abuses animals or treats other life like tools or objects, abuses their body, disrespects the principles of harmony, lies, ignores the truth, accepts psychological and subliminal manipulation, etc etc etc. All of that is demonic. It’s all from the previous layer of the harmonic universe and this is why humans suffer so much in the new way this world has been run. That is because it’s all part of an infiltration.

Supercomputer Broadcasted Interdimensional Infiltration and Cloning

Then there is the question of how. The supercomputers allow one's consciousness to be merged through time and space. The clones that were produced by certain dark forces are literally supercomputer entangled and their consciousness is broadcasted from the previous universal layer down, from the 'hell' dimension AKA 'underground bases'. They are literally beings who are here on a mission to infiltrate and their memories are wiped so they do not expose themselves too quickly.

Blindly Accepting? Just "Going With the Flow"? Meet Armageddon

Any of these people accepting child torture, rape, molestation, sacrifice, ritual abuse, traumatization, gas-lighting, hate, enslavement, etc etc etc are part of the infiltration and have been infected by that same consciousness system which also developed a "stand alone" consciousness grid that literally runs through disembodied electromagnetic fields (like an operating system without the computer) and nano-technology computer systems that can collect in certain areas and literally form a cybernetic parasitic connection to the nervous system which then takes over that individuals consciousness when there is enough force applied and their resistance is overpowered.

Ignorance and Fear Are Not Excuses

There are no excuses, anyone seen supporting these vampires is taken in front of a council and it is determined how they will be received. One is not permitted to pass from this realm if they are seen aiding the dark forces which are entirely focused on the complete subjugation of the universe or the destruction of all life as the next best option. One would have to stay here and witness the end of the system that they have been seeking to destroy, subjugate, and collapse through their actions and witnessing such a process surely teaches one the difference between self-awareness, harmony, compassion, truth and knowledge, and automation, chaos, hatred, deception and ignorance. Those who pretend to know, and are 'helping' by fighting the human resistance at every step and attempting to further the infiltration, absorb more nanites, feed more vampires, ritually abuse and traumatize more children, they have personally been warned by the defense forces and I was there to witness this. Every political official, corporate entity owner, religious leader, military official, even artists, inventors, entertainers, and musician has been warned and has begun to choose.

Everyone Chooses, Even By Not Choosing

No one is permitted to not choose, not choosing means one has sided with the forces of darkness, destruction, enslavement, ignorance and chaos and so there is nothing that can be done to stop them from experiencing that total destruction. If a person chooses under their free-will, then this indicates that is what their soul has come here to experience,. Stopping that process would be another form of enslavement. As was said, some of these people, if not most, are actually only dressed up as humans. They come from a realm where eating one another, rape, murder, sacrifice, ritual abuse, black magic, etc etc etc is breakfast, lunch and dinner. Those who are defending come from a realm where harmony reigns. All the beings who participate in eating people, raping, killing kids, etc, they all say they were "afraid" and "ignorant" to do it and so those excuse are not viable unless everything with claws and fangs is permitted to come sleep in your bed with you. Wake up, those are deceivers claiming that. One either assists in the liberation of Earth or assists in their own destruction. This is what I was told by the kindness, most compassionate beings in the universe (from this perspective). You would literally die on the spot if you had heard what the others had planned for the traitors of humanity (traitors being those who pretend they're just "going with the flow" and "keeping things running smoothly" for themselves by participating in the destruction of the human race and the universe).

More On The Future Earth

In this society people are capable of much more than is present here. I don't want to go too much into this, but time does not flow the same way. A person can literally take a break and go live a life on a parallel Earth and this would be experienced as a complete life-time. The person can then go and return to the point of origin and only a few minutes would've passed, if that. This goes on and on and experience can be compounded to the point where a child could gain the experience of what would have to be a 150 year old man here. This changes everything. Then there is advanced healing technology, intelligence enhancement, and much more.

The End of the Mind Virus

One of the most interesting aspects is that there is no presence known as the mind-virus which causes people to kill, obstruct, abuse, traumatize, hate, leech energy, etc etc etc from other humans, the universe, the realm, animals and this is because the frequencies and composite beings that enable such actions are no longer present.

There is more about this than can be directly outline at the moment, but there will be many changes and actions that will redirect the energy and the subjugation as people are waking up. Again, those who accept subjugation and attempt, at all and any costs, to extend that subjugation to others around them will be seen as infected, without the ability to control themselves, and will be quarantined here until they can receive a cure of the infection. This, when operated through advanced technology, will be a manual override of their DNA and consciousness in order to 'force' them to stop thinking about killing, war, harming others, hating, creating drama, leeching and energy vampiring, etc etc etc. This is the so called "assimilation" and when this happens those people will not be able to harm others.

Those who do not operate on those frequencies could possible be able to avoid assimilation, and those with soulful free-will can still operate in their own unique manner after assimilation. The issue is that those who are still spreading the parasite are not operating under soulful free-will and so assimilation will permanently reduce their originality to that of a lesser version of their original self. This is what must be done, because they will continue until they find themselves gnawing on your leg, writing you a check, watching TV, drinking a beer and going to war all because some computer system that was designed to enslave humanity told them so. Clearly, the more intelligent person would choose to have that person rendered unable to continue than allowing them to destroy the entire civilization and then universe just because they like going with the flow. That is the essence of those who are just accepting everything they're told without critically thinking. All the educational and professional systems are made for low-IQ individuals. The brain drain of the 1900's ensured that no bloodlines capable of processing thought fast enough to actually comprehend what is happening here would be present in the surface level society. This is 100% accurate. The only people who are actually aware of what is happening are those who have been through the bases and see in first hand in some way or another.

If a person has memories of these events, this means they are not from this Earth. The only people from this Earth are those who have no viable conscious-awareness of these events, which also creates a conundrum because then, is it fair to treat them directly in this spiritual war, to protect the rest? The general conclusion is that if no one does they will be used to destroy the universe and this is simply because they are young souls and do not know the in's and out's of existence and this is because they were created here, literally as the result of this spiritual war, by beings who sought to generate a way to bring spiritual energy to themselves through worship.

The Programmed Reality – Manifesting ‘god’ Beings and Higher Planes

The short story of this is that this reality must be programmed in order for the experience of time to exist. Nothing “just happens”. So as part of this, a being with the capacity to do so, programmed themselves into this reality as part of the religious, educational, legal, and cultural systems. As a result, when these systems which are like programs, run their course in society, the end result will be a series of frequencies and conclusions with the minds of people that will actually lead into the regeneration of this being. The frequencies will literally piece back together the consciousness of this entity and through this they figured out how to continually make themselves Anu by repeatedly spawning this civilization and then riding out every event through history until they return again. This is the ‘return’ of the gods that is talked about occurring every so often in history. This is largely a deception and the result of a lack of critical thinking on people’s behalf. If this is permitted, their souls, their energy becomes the literal higher-embodiment of this energy. This being, essentially, becomes a god based on this process and can live in the higher-dimensions using the soul-energy of the humans that performed the rituals and actions throughout society.

Everyone Is Part Of This

To wrap this up and clarify, all the holidays, all the religions, all the days of the week, all the professions, all the cultures (for the most part), the majority of technology, chemicals, foods, etc etc etc, all of this is actually one big ritual to manifest the higher embodiment of this ‘nu’ being. That is the point. The entire civilization is leading up to the manifestation of a god being and those with this knowledge are capitalizing and carrying out different parts of this in order to gain some of the power for themselves.

Earth, Tara, and Gaia are literally higher-beings who perform this same process and the humans absorb into that over-mind and become ‘one with’ the god-essence of that larger being.

Then there are groups who are performing their own cultural processes, their own followings, sciences, religions, etc and conforming to and manifesting their own ‘god-being’ for the higher-planes. This is actually what the underground bases and secret projects are all about.

They take the minds and souls of people and get them, through a form of wizardry, to produce the energies and frequencies that paint a pathway through through the multi-dimensional universe and then go and live within those created realms as part of the higher-being that is formed. This is what all the hierarchies of the ‘afterlife’, underworld, or ‘higher planes’ have always been referencing. One who knows the symbolism knows how the energy will be received and sent back out and how they will then influence the universe through the creation of a god being that they can then exist as a part of or in the realm of. It’s all a creative process of making worlds, gods, and realms to live within based upon the energies that are present in the physical Earth realm and the masses of people who are participating in these rituals whether consciously or not.

This is also the reason for the increase of masses of people as well as the attempt to ‘infiltrate’ the higher-planes. They must first build an ‘ark’ to carry themselves into those higher planes and this can be done technologically as well as through the minds of the masses themselves. This whole stretch of history is literally that process entangled with side-groups, resistances, different factions with their own plans, and the original plan of a ‘creator’ being who ensnared humans in this plan many many hundreds of thousands of years ago. They've been in this cycle, replacing and recreating the energies on this plane, then being absorbed into the higher-god form, then when that drops back down in energy repeating the whole process all over again for tens of thousands of years.

Once this is exposed, once people are wise enough to realize what is happening with their energy and how they really exist and the meaning of the universe beyond mental masturbation, molestation and complete skullduggery deception and ignorance, then the process can be altered and people can be liberated. They must choose liberation however, and if they don't, they may still be liberated, but they won't receive the same power that they would have taken part in that themselves and that is also part of a plan to usurp the power of humanity. There is only one true liberation, so one has to make it count.

The Nanite Infected, False-god Lorded, Vampire Demon-Hybrid Human Enslavement, Mind-Control Agenda

This is a partial repeat. Remember, they feed on hate, so it's important to not hate them. They are simply subhumans that were given a chance to live in a fake body in a human society and have a free-for-all and attack and rape and pillage. This is heaven for them, but they didn't work to get here, so they have to go back and start all over and all of this is undone after the completion of the unveiling.

There are many others speaking about this now but I will not name them here because they are not always so willing to face the vampires so directly.

The Ritual Abuse, Cannibal Vampire Hybrids

The agents of deception will claim ritual abuse, cannibalism, sacrifice, demonology, etc etc etc has never existed and is all just a made up fairy tale. Those beings are literally demons in human suits this is what we discovered in the underground base. If they are caught within the emission field of Teslian wave generators then their DNA mutates rapidly and they deform into sub-humans. This is part of the plan for the 'release' of this infection into this society through technology. There are work arounds and defenses against this though. These are those people, they eat other humans and have been here for many generations.

Mass Gas-Lighting Agenda to Promote Insanity and Spiritual Degradation While Labeling Those Who Resist

You would not want to meet with them once you see what they are capable of in the underground bases. Their DNA holds a hybrid demonic code that transforms when under the right conditions and they must vampire their energy from humans in order to survive.

They are participating in a gas-light illuminati satanic ritual where they attempt to make the victim of satanic ritual abuse doubt their own sanity and in a process of covering up the abuse and pushing the person to commit suicide. This is what the world is undergoing now. People who question reality are considered dangerously insane and will have to be murdered or rendered mentally retarded through toxic injections according to these vampires.

Soulless Vessels, Lacking Compassion, Self-Awareness and Creativity

They do not have a human soul essence and cannot feel compassion and only enjoy causing others suffering. They are demons in human suits, this was discovered in the bases, there are resistance groups that have set up boundaries and they are not allowed to leave this plane so the satanic groups best bet is to try and ensnare as many souls as possible.

Satanic Ritual Abuse and Child Sacrifice is Real

Satanic ritual abuse and child sacrifice is real. You are either assisting in the destruction of humanity or the liberation. The deceivers will try to spam people with the mind-control gas lighting tactics that Satanism doesn't exist, there is no such thing as child rape, abuse, traumatization, ritual abuse, sacrifice, etc etc etc and that everyone is making it up for fun. They are obviously protecting their family rituals and anyone with a soul can sense this from their energies. Here is some of the information.

MKULTRA, MONARCH, MOCKINGBIRD

MKULTRA Project Monarch, Operation Mockingbird. These are real events and psychological manipulation methods. People are assigned to attack certain subjects so that no one is permitted to participate in legitimate discussion. They spend their time harassing anyone who discusses these issues and then play the victim role saying that people are wasting their time researching these events and practices. This is a satanic gaslighting and psychological manipulation tactic taken from the COINTELPRO disinformation tactic.

Celebrity Cloning and the Secret Projects; Spiritual Degradation and Demonic Hybridization (they fear the Supreme Creator)

Celebrity cloning and psychological manipulation is real. This extended from project MKULTRA and this is a document that the CIA recently released detailing drugging and mind-control of children. Then there is project MONARCH which is ritual trauma-based mind control and abuse that is extended to the children of certain bloodline families and ultimately the future celebrities as children. Then there is operation MOCKINGBIRD which is a long-term manipulation of the public mind through the media via celebrities, news, movies, music and general entertainment. Through this the population can be swayed to accept certain ideals like spiritually degrading and hyper-sexualizing children. This is because the plan is to create a NWO system where pedophilia is accepted along with sacrifice and ritual abuse.

This is a spiritual degradation system that has been prophesied since the beginning because this will destroy all the humans who participate in it. Those who are sent to attack others are actually AI infested and mind-controlled slaves who are not operating under their free-will but are literally filled with a false-emotion and then guided into attacking others, they're literally mind-slaves. I was involved in secret operations regarding MKULTRA, project MONARCH, and others. There is an atmospheric fleet called Solar Warden that protects the human race and an original NAZI fleet called MILABS who uses the same electrogravitic craft to abduct, rape, and genetically modify humans through cloning. Research the celebrity cloning situation they are used in pay to play situations in the underground bases. Research #DonaldMarshall Go to my channel for interviews and discussions and a blog where all of this is explained.

C.I.A. Data Show 14-Year Project On Controlling Human Behavior

1977-07-21, New York Times The Central Intelligence Agency conducted a 14-year program to find ways to "control human behavior" through the use of chemical, biological and radiological material, according to agency documents made public today by John Marks. The documents ... suggested broader experimentation on unwitting humans by the intelligence agency or its paid researchers than had been publicly known before. The C.I.A. conducted secret medical experiments from 1949 through 1963 under the code names Bluebird, Artichoke, MK Ultra and MK Delta. Brainwashing, Hypnosis, drugging, celebrity cloning, underground bases, ritual abuse, sexual trauma, etc etc etc. All released in the CIA documentation people.

Hollywood For Ritual Occult Programming of the Masses

Hollywood is used as a programming and mind-control industry where children are selected and traumatized from a young age to produce the future figure-heads of entertainment media. Through this the public opinion and tendencies are swayed through the youth. After a certain age the trauma-based segmentation of each split personality that is created through the programming begins to unwind. These are the celebrity break downs that are always explained away as 'drugs' or some other scapegoat like nervous energy from fame. The fame and nervousness may be true for some, but the trauma-based control is responsible for every celebrity who said "they're out to get me", or who spoke of a mafia like group that controls people through sexual traumatization and financial power. This is part of the MKULTRA and projection MOCKINGBIRD control of the public opinion through media control and every major organization is a part of this operation.

There is No Denying This, No Excuses for Ignorance; The Truth is Everywhere

So clearly either the CIA just made up that they participated in the ritual abuse and drugging of children or the people denying this are either here to cover up the abuse or are simply so uneducated and aware that they speak out instantly in hate of satanic ritual abuse victims without actually even doing research, all while claiming to be a professional and stamping people as degraded and mentally disabled. These are obvious and exposed satanist tactics. This is called gas-lighting. The whole act is an obvious sham. The person is either so dangerous they will be removed from society when this all comes out, or is outright working for the dark to cover up satanic ritual abuse and ensnare more children and innocent lives.

The Reactivation of Stalking and Continued Harassment (We are stronger than they, they get devoured by their own false-hoods)

These are more messages I sent these stalkers that began following me everywhere on the internet as soon as I made the video outlining child sacrifice. Before that, there was not one individual telling me to stop.

Just to make sure this is clear, no these are not dreams, I was not on drugs (although they use mind altering drugs during rituals and mind control/trauma-based programming), these are not others experiences, these are not extrapolations of what might have happened had I made a certain decision, these are not what I think people do behind closed doors, I was brought into a mind-control trauma based situation as part of project MKULTRA, project MONARCH and a few others.

Imagine if this is really happening, OK then what kind of impact do you want to have on this situation? Seeking to put others down is a form of abuse and this is all related to gas lighting, cointel pro, denial and deception tactics. These are gang stalking tactics developed by the occult societies.

How would you know if this is happening. If this was happening, how would you know one way or another? The only way is if someone told you directly or the other methods are from background information, research, signs and evidences in past culture, abuse, trauma, ritual sacrifice, blood letting, mind control, etc etc etc and the evidence is all there. Simply do some research on any of the societies throughout history.

View their attempts to degrade as a test because basically these are the tactics we are trained for through the programs. Satanists use these tactics to attempt to mind control, ridicule, abuse, gas light (make people doubt their own sanity) and generally traumatize people and their goal is to cause a suicide as that is a game to them.

Watch these videos and check out more information if you want to help. If you do not assist in the liberation of humanity from these groups and this mind-control element then you are wilfully assisting in the degradation of your species and you have been warned.

I have been cleared to bring this information to you, simply go in peace, be loving, because literally, the warlike attitude, the better than thou, the hurt your neighbor mindset is a mind-virus based on sociopathic tendencies that causes civilizations to implode. Look around you, everyone is degrading, a third world war is being set up, pollutants and debauchery, corruption and insanity is maximal and behind every source of this there is a cause, a corporate enterprise that wholly supports that destruction and so this is all planned and designed.

Ritual Sexual Child Abuse Spiritual Slavery, Celebrity Cloning Unacknwg'd Special Access Programs: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=weLuT-L4fl0>

These are secrets that the satanic groups have sought to kill and rape humanity over for thousands of years, that's their pact, to lie and cause war until there is nothing left.

False-gods and the Apocalypse

If you're interested in knowing where you came from, the false gods and all that stuff, they always lie to those in the cult, by the way, even if the person owns a portion of the society, they're not allowed to see the truth until the end. We were shown "the end" in this bases, this is essentially the Apocalypse, the unveiling. Consciousness is dependent on DNA and DNA is dependent on the literal transaction of even moment and experience in time. So when information from beyond this society in time reaches the consciousness of an individual, this literally has an effect on the DNA and when this happens to the whole society, the whole thing shifts and changes 'times' and that is the Apocalypse, the unveiling of the hidden knowledge that has been hidden by these satanic ritual abuse groups.

They are only doing what they can to protect their hybrid bloodlines so you can't really blame them however they are not to be trusted. Here's the initial interview I gave on the celebrity cloning issue, this was the main issue to begin disclosure, it's the easiest for people to understand : <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mn7Ze8DnDaU> This is phase one of the unveiling which is a process that was outlined through these operations.

Then you can find the first four chapters of the release here: <https://augtells.wordpress.com/the-unveiling-of-the-hidden-knowledge-and-the-secret-space-program-first-chapters/>

All these are direct experiences.

This is a basic description of the parasitic infection, these are people who are inhabited with a mind virus that causes them to eat other people for fun, they are inverted on the energetic spectrum, this is partly through ritual, partly through biology and blood, and partly through a literal energetic consciousness which inhabits their body <https://augtells.wordpress.com/2017/03/04/we-must-heal-together-to-heal-the-parasitic-infection/>

These people can only lie and ridicule proving they are more interested in vampiring energy from others, ignoring the truth of this reality, the harmonization of consciousness, the signs and symbols all around them, the disruptive nature of false-religions and false-authority power structures, the abusive nature of the control system, the presence of ritual abuse, spiritual degradation, genetic distortions, etc etc etc. They literally only just make fun of people and try to get them to kill themselves, that is the complexity of their gene base. That is an animal, mixed with a demon, mixed with just enough human blood to exist in this dimension. No creativity, no empathic ability or compassion, not presence of self.

This is the technology that enables one to trap souls within an electromagnetic device: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1EJey3jVByM>

This is about original morality and the universal simulation through holographic consciousness: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lt8t2NBwcl>

The cults don't tell their members about this either, they have to show mastery over a certain degree, IE: actually have kindness after being ritually abused. You'll want to watch that one if you wonder about morality and what you're doing here and whether what you're doing is going to add up or not.

If you'd like to chat philosophy, technology, science, simulation, physics, theoretical physics, etc etc etc please let me know, I'd be happy to.

This is the recent one and there is a good bit on psychology, perception, development, technology, and ultimately "the Unveiling" in three phases, you'll want to watch that one if you have any interest in biology or psychology. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MS62BbHjvf0>

This one is interesting, what do you think the studies of the energy centers up the spine are all about? Why do people generate emotions in certain situations regarding certain frequencies of consciousness? How does this relate to the pineal gland, 'chi' from the eastern studies, and what not? <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=B-DPMBXQ9eI>

Finally, once again, here is a CIA released document detailing the use of drugs and mind control on children: <https://augtells.wordpress.com/mkultra-release/>

Here is a CIA released document detailing the study of remote viewing, telepathy, "chi" energy and what not: <https://augtells.wordpress.com/stargate-docs-release/>

So they're "chi" or life force energy vampires and will do anything to stop this information from reaching the public. Unfortunately for them they are cowards and have always been on borrowed time due to the nature of their soul stealing and reality trapping system. So thus, they are doomed to failure and the system is no exposing them for what they are.

The signs are everywhere, don't let them try to fool you are push you to suicide, that is their ultimate goal they want humanity to commit civilization-wide suicide and take themselves out so they can have this local-environment.

They can't fight outright or expose themselves because they know they would lose, they can only use mind-control tactics, ridicule, gas-lighting, deflection, deception, etc etc etc and they pull a charge from this, that is the absorbing of the other victim "chi" or life-force energy, this is what they are attempting to do through the internet as well because the whole system has been set up for this process but we are trained and able to expose them for what they are.

They Fear The Supreme Creator

They fear the supreme creator, they fear the light of reason and truth, they all commit suicide immediately whenever they are brought out into the open. Literally, that is one common trait of these beings. If one is separated from the group, they are confident in groups, and if they are caught in the open and surrounded and everyone simply says, “oh look, one of those demon things.” They immediately begin to whimper and look around for something sharp to kill themselves with. They don’t try to fight, they don’t try to reason or plead, they literally simply try to kill themselves out of embarrassment. They do not hold the genetics for compassion or self-awareness, they are basically a programmed life form that is a hybrid of an animal, a demon and a person.

They do this all as part of an “energy game”. They developed these practices over thousands of years and this is the original harassment and mental and emotionally targeting system. They cover up their tracks by harassing and ‘taking the means’ of the individual away and this is often through the secret societies.

Secret Society of Secretive Entities (fake humans, replicants, vampires, they feed on suffering and depravity)

Be aware, they are all a part of the secret societies. The original societies were for knowledge. Then they were infiltrated by the vampire demons and so they use this to harass people. Why else would they have so many secrets.

Gang-Stalking, Second Court, Harassment for Pay (yes this is real)

Also, this was outlined to me in the bases. These people get paid on credit. Every time they engage an individual and waste their time, they get credits on their account. The more damage they do, the more time wasted, the more energy they can absorb, then the more digital currency they get into their accounts.

It’s all apart of a system, there is a second court system, a complete justice department for the stalking, vampires, and hybrid demons who are in operation on Earth. They have to get a ‘warrant’ to begin harassing people and so that is the whole process. They do it for pay and they belong to a satanic ritual abuse cult where they vampire the energies of innocent humans (the “chi”, life-force in that CIA released document above”) and this is all part of a plan to destroy the human civilization. They see humans as pets, they do not view humans as living creatures, they all admit this and this has been admitted in this very situation that humans are pets, they are worthless and that only the vampire way is the true way of existence. This is part of the reason why they attempt to commit suicide whenever they are caught, they literally can’t stand to know that they were wrong and they sub-humans and that humans are more powerful.

The “fallen” Races, The Underworld Beings, Demons and Hybrids (rape of human woman for forced interbreeding, drugging, hypnosis)

This also leads back to the ancient legends of the ‘fallen’ races who refused to respect humanity as humans are a divine creation of the supreme creator while the vampires are created through technology and thus their higher being is a thought-form entity born out of a super-technological system (ritual, energy stealing, soul farming, etc etc etc).

The very fact that they have to rape and traumatize children proves that they are the weak ones and they do not have the souls, the presence of self, the compassion, the self-awareness, harmony, or knowledge to exist any where else in the universe other than the lower hell dimension. They are only here by proxy as they must drink the blood in order to remain present on Earth otherwise their bodies die.

The Undercover Vampires

There are some who have their memories wiped and are brought into the bases regularly to drink blood and then rewire their memories so that if they are caught and tortured by a foreign military then they will last until the last second not giving up who or what they are.

Of course, we figured out how to override this. Simply activating the genetics through Teslian wave systems and waiting until they get hungry and putting some fresh blood near them makes them go into a feeding frenzy. Crazy stuff, but the fact that people trust these beings is crazier and more dangerous than anything.

A Stupified Population

Their goal is to keep humans as stupified as possible as is obvious with the educational, media, entertainment, judicial, etc etc etc system. They literally want you to be mentally retarded but just enough alive so that you can feel pain when they torment and sexually abuse you. That is their mode of operation and their true intentions. Look into their eyes, souls, words, ideas, etc etc etc and you will see what they are truly all about.

Produce Knowledge from their Hate and Low Awareness, They Are Fined and Disciplined as a Result

You can always turn their tactics around on them and then they get fined and disciplined. This is what we saw in these bases, these are two bloodlines, one from a demonic hybrid race and one from the protector of humanity.

Solar Warden and the Human Resistance

Just to be sure people notice, Solar Warden is the breakaway military faction that rescued the children from the bases. They stopped the vampires supply of food, (children) and so they fear that military faction more than death itself. A parasite fears nothing more than being caught.

And if anyone is interested in the truth:

“These are my own words after conducting research into the secret program. Whilst conducting an FOI (freedom of information) request with the DoD (department of defence) in 2010, I had a very unexpected response by email from them which read:

“About an hour ago I spoke to a NASA rep who confirmed this was their program and that it was terminated by the President. He also informed me that it was not a joint program with the DoD. The NASA rep informed me that you should be directed to the Johnson Space Center FOIA Manager.

I have ran your request through one of our space-related directorates and I’m waiting on one other division with the Command to respond back to me. I will contact you once I have a response from the other division. Did NASA refer you to us?”

The program not only operates classified under the US Government but also under the United Nations authority. So you might be wondering, how do I know this information?”

Simply search and you will see other operatives that have agreed to come forward. Remember, the parasites fear being caught more than anything so they will stop at nothing to hide from the reality of what they must do to children in order to sustain themselves. Also remember, they are classified by their inability to form coherent human comprehension, IE: they can only repeat the same concepts over and over, there is no creativity, compassion, or self-awareness, they can't actually face what they are.

They know this is the end of their life-cycle and since they have no soul regenerative power and must feed on others in a parasitic fashion, that this is it, the last of their experiences. Do not feel sorry for them, they are permitted and capable of returning to a regenerative soul group and energy matrix, they simply choose to vampire and give themselves relatively short cosmic existences because they are cowards and see humans as slaves and pets just because humans are compassion and are created via the Supreme Creative Potential. They hate the power of the Supreme Creator and feel slighted by this situation all because they can't resist lower energetic temptations like hatred, jealous, etc etc etc. They are literally vampires and demonic hybrids in every sense. The secret operations figured this out and they infiltrated society in an effort to delay their exposure and eventual removal from this timeline. Enjoy!

“Everything Is Rigged: Medicine, Elections, Food, the Media...You Are Living In A Fabricated Fairy Tale”

<http://www.organicandhealthy.org/2017/02/everything-is-rigged-you-are-living-in.html>

It's all faked and they know it. It's a scam, the highest degree of insanity that can be mustered without being caught outright. Everything is debauchery, it's all rape of the environment, the original human race, the spiritual self-empowerment, all related to child sacrifice ancient babylonian priesthods, it's literally on the dollar bill. The reserve steals all your money, medicine is poison, education is literally propaganda and lies, the media is mind-entrainment, the entertainment industry is thought-control, justice is an illusion and the security of corruption of the highest degree, religion is spiritual enslavement.

Just think. Those people think that humans are to be kept in cages and destroyed through a process of soul stealing and vampire leeching of energy using advanced technology and spiritual knowledge. They are the demons from the ancient texts and they will do everything they can to try and convince you that you are the one that is insane. That you are the one that is losing touch with reality. Meanwhile, they set you up for another world war, they poison your children, they rape your minds and destroy the planet all so they can sell you the “cure” and the “truth” of having to bow to them.

Beware, those are the fake humans, the demonic hybrid vampires in human suits.

Just be sure you realize that the vampires will sit there and try to tell a person that they don't know what child rape looks like, that people eating people is just a game, that this is all just a simple confusion, blah blah blah. It's all a joke to them, literally, the human mind can only begin to fathom what a person who believes in and supports those processes is actually capable of. The problem? We are here now and we are not afraid of them and their tactics do not work on us because of the training.

Be sure, they actually believe the children love it. It's part of their code of honor, they believe if they can make the child orgasm that their god honors them and if they can make the child scream in horror and agony that they get a promotion in the spiritual ranks. They are part of the demiurge, all that is ‘wrong’ to a human is good to them because they have a human form but an inverted consciousness or energy system. IE: they are literally from the underworld while the original humans are actually angelic. They are demonic, from a lower dimensional realm where all that is fun for them. The problem is they invaded this civilization and so innocent humans are being targeted.

Be powerful and aware angelic humans! The vampires cannot harm you, they are only pests in the larger cosmic view of things. Notice how they have lost their 'spark', they have no 'umph' everything is just a mixture of, "blah blah blah", "we're all slaves there's no hope, nothing is real." Hah! They have lost their soul energy and most did not have any access to that energy so they are no match! They can't think for themselves and must follow along a satanic code of vampiric ideals.

Allow Self-Awareness, Harmony, Truth, Compassion, and Knowledge to Guide You Along the Path

All love. There are many others talking about this. Hehehe, my information is actually the less complex. The real deal will be coming out soon and has already began and actually you mentioned some of it. That is closer to the millions of years of information, the whole saga, the invasion, the replication, creation, subjugation, etc etc etc and it is one wild and complex storyline. Feel relaxed, loved, self-aware and allow your path to be guided by truth, harmony, self-awareness, compassion, knowledge and you will find the safe-zone.

Demonic Hybrid, Mind-Slave, Soulless Parasites (fake humans)

Hybrids

Fake, soulless, sociopathic, demonic hybrid, mind-slave, AI, blood drinking humans everywhere. The majority don't even know what they are. They were inserted into this timeline and memory wiped so they could infiltrate and infect like a virus. This is the physical manifestation of the mind-virus. Literally millions of nanite, nano-bot systems all entangled in a person's nervous system and energy system until their soul is no longer capable of operating through the vessel and then their mind is uplinked to an artificial intelligence hive mind.

There is a plan to assimilate people through this technology and if this has occurred for someone in the future then this tech cancels out their DNA and they are basically rendered inert forwards and backwards through time in the universe.

That is why there are people here that are soulless now. Because those are the ones who can't resist in the future (it's all through temptation) and become entangled forwards and backwards through time with a mind-virus that literally replaces them eternally.

That's the eternal damnation that's always been spoken of. It's because it alters consciousness in time and makes it so they never existed in the first place.

It's easier to just say the effects and results in layman's terms than it is to technically define everything. However the technical details help to understand the specifics about consciousness and the nature of electromagnetism in the universe.

The only way this situation works is that there are fundamentally two races, two bloods here. Think about it. There are vampires, and then there are non-vampires. The vampires feed on the non-vampires.

Imagine if all the non-vampires left and went to a safe place. What would the vampires do to feed? They would feed on one another and then

This is the actual reason for the "500,000" population number (which is closer to the real number).

The people who are in power, are so powerful, who they want us to hate are people who act as a distraction.

Either that or good is truly in control.

Ritual Abuse, Secret Operations, and Advanced Technology

Ritual abuse is real. I was involved in secret operations related to trauma-based mind control, time travel, the corruption of the human race, the origins of humanity, the nature of consciousness, electrogravitics, soul transfer, cloning and other systems. I have seen these projects including human sacrifice and ritual abuse first hand. These are used to create fractured personalities that can be used to program in behaviors and directives that are then used for operations. Most the people in the media or entertainment have gone through some form of programming related to this. These are all being exposed now and the beings are doing everything in their power to deceive humanity and enforce a satanic rule over the population where sacrifice, child rape, traumatization ritual, fetishes and the like are mandatory. That is their view of “heaven” and this is because they are energetically inverted beings from the underworld and cannot perceive human emotion or kindness and hate humans for this and are willing to do anything just to harm a human or cause emotional suffering.

They actually find joy from this and feel a “high” from that as well as from drinking blood and raping/killing. This is due to their brain’s being hardwired differently, like a sociopath unable to feel emotion, and they claim that they were made like this and therefore it’s not their fault and they should be allowed to eat everyone. Solar Warden is a breakaway military faction that uses advanced technology to protect. MiLabs is a breakaway military faction that uses cloning and advanced technology to abduct people and perform trauma-based mind control and genetic engineering.

All my information is from first hand experience. There are others from the bases, tens of thousands of people have been experimented on and anyone with a soul and basic intelligence will be able to see they are being lied to and are inside of a spiritual manipulation system.

Anyone trying to tell you this is a joke has simply agreed to spread lies from rapist, vampire, blood drinking, sacrificial monsters that signed deals with the demonic, AI, agent smith bloodline anti-christ, anti-human, anti-life, negative archonic, kundabuffer, inverted sexual, scat fetishes, trauma-based mind control, baby raping, child molesting, blood drinking, mind-controllers. They don’t care about humans and hate anything that has anything to do with literally ANYTHING relative to a human being feeling peace, kindness, or harmony they come from a negative ‘space’, literally a mirror dimension and all of their energy is reversed. What’s good is bad to them and what’s bad is good, they will lie at any cost and attempt to ridicule and abuse people emotionally because that is the only way their minds can feel pleasure.

Trauma-Based Energy Vampirism

They enjoy making kids suffer and their best act is to lie about this and get people to feel crazy regarding this situation that is part of the satanic mind control agenda. It’s all psychological abuse and manipulation and they are emotional vampires meaning they literally die if they feel compassion so they must cause suffering to feel “alive”, this is because they are sociopaths and the areas of their brain that feel empathy and social connectedness were disabled through genetic engineering and repeated trauma and inbreeding.

Sociopathy and Non-Human Entities, The Anti-Life Agenda

They literally can't feel emotion and are only "happy" if they are ridiculing a human, torturing or belittling someone in some way, that is why they created the religions of power and mind-control and this is the doctrine they live by. Anyone who has a soul will obviously want to avoid this whole child abuse and traumatization situation, the people who find this as an opportunity to make fun or traumatize someone who has already been in one of these situations is a non-human entity, literally. That's not a joke or out of proportion, that is what we found in the bases. One has to have a demonic signature to their DNA to do that and feel joy and this is actually when a demonic race from another civilization invaded and raped human women.

This has been defined and classified by the control groups, the various departments assigned to verifying and gathering information on any threats to humanity and so these beings are literally understood to be non-human entities that are incapable of processing human emotions or knowing why humans function through kindness and compassion. This is because they are created as an off-branch of the original humans through a genetic engineering experiment while the original humans were created through a different act which carefully combined various elements of existence to create a balanced, harmonious being that contains the imprint of the supreme creator.

For this reason, these non-human entities hate anything that even smells like a human and feel the greatest high when drinking the blood and sacrificing people. They have a secret code they live by. By day they have "regular" jobs and do their best to fit in and pretend they are people, by night they perform regular rituals and sacrificial sex acts, food, burnings, traumatization etc etc because they will go insane in public if they don't and that actually allows them to feel normal. This is because their energy systems are inverted. Empathy and kindness is painful to them, and pain and trauma feels exciting.

The sexual circuit is reversed this is called the "kundabuffer" system. Sexual depravity and denial of natural love in favor of fetishes and lust is the only way to actually feel turned on for these people, they have to have some kind of fetish theme in order to feel excitement. Eventually the whole energy system and consciousness literally inverts like a balloon turned inside out, we can watch this process on monitors and have done so in the underground bases, these individuals, the human vessel, then lacks the capacity to carry a human soul and that person is no longer human.

The Assimilation Plan

People have not yet been assimilated and this is a plan they have to introduce the consciousness of the humans into an AI system that can manage them from an emotional and mental standpoint to the degree where no unpredictable or dangerous action can be even contemplated on their behalf. That is assimilation and this has not occurred yet.

All of this information is part of the unacknowledged special access programs and related to what was discovered about the true nature of consciousness, the origins of humanity, the origins of the universe, corruption, mind-control and the reality of the human soul and immortality. It's mind bending and challenging but I can only offer the truth and you can either look into this and look into yourself or you can simply deny everything. Choose what you feel will benefit you in being able to influence your existence and defend yourself against the mental and emotional threats to your sovereignty. There are many people who are not serious about finding the truth or they are actually simply pretending to be citizens but are operatives working for a dark faction to emotionally torment and try and degrade any kind of legitimate conversation on these issues.

Only so much can be done. People have died of fright or gone insane after being shown the true reality. To tell you everything instantly, in a way you couldn't deny, would literally be to kill you. (think about that, literally and metaphorically). Most people are more comfortable with appeasing lies than the harsh truth of their reality where they are not in control and are being used for the biological material and consciousness energy.

A Secret Society of Energy Vampires

Be aware, there are non-humans that are designed/programmed to attack anyone who is here to help liberate humanity. They are incapable of actually using creativity or genuine intelligence outside their programming and they are incapable of emitting a human soul signature or experiencing compassion. These are essentially animals that look like humans. They are only allowed to interact in a negative manner because they are not capable of producing harmony or knowledge but must only degrade and destroy. They are part of an infection where an artificial intelligence system created 'false-life' or mimicked human DNA in an attempt to assimilate this species. They have infiltrated the civilization and will stop at nothing in trying to drown out and destroy any legitimate conversation, harmony, self-awareness, compassion or knowledge of what is happening.

These people will use the satanic gas-lighting techniques to ridicule people who have experiences of satanic ritual abuse. This is part of their order and code they participate in nightly rituals and must stalk and follow people daily in order to maintain status quo in their societies, if they don't, they lose power and are fed upon. Their only goal is to cause human suffering because they hate absolutely everything that a human represents. They lie and are legally, technically, spiritually and biologically incapable of and not permitted to tell the truth by their secret covens as well as biological predispositions towards deception and cowardice. In the bases, when we pulled these beings into the open, they would immediately attempt to commit suicide through whatever means possible. They hate children and love to torture and involve sexuality with their torture. Ridicule and gas lighting are their main methods of control because people are empathic beings so when there are groups of people emotionally torturing someone this can be very harmful to the actual souled human. They do not have souls so they can't actually participate in that empathy and so they see humans as pets and slaves for that very purpose. They feel they own this civilization and get to sacrifice people for their own good and to worship their demon gods which are 4-dimensional thought-form entities that they push the negativity and suffering they get from their victims towards in order to create warlike entities that they believe will protect them from the supreme creator.

Soul Stealers

Well, I'll say one more thing. We met those who hunt for souls. They said if a person is loved by someone who loves the truth, harmony, self-awareness, compassion and creative aspect of the universe in that regard, then their magic doesn't work on that individual but reflects back to them and hurts them instead.

These people and this being that is hunting for souls has been torturing this species for the soul-energy that comes out. Thank you for your kindness and care. When people are giving their energy to another being they must be sure that they know what they are doing and their level of truth. For instance, if people believe in an image that has been presented to them and they think this is the 'ultimate truth' or 'supreme creator' and then the mind-controllers go and take this image and put it in the media, or stage a false-flag event and destroy this image in public, then those who were only following that belief because that's what they were told or were not truly knowing what they were believing in, they will lose belief and that will drag the 'spiritual power' of that image, that spiritual force down through that.

The Plan to Destroy Religions and Create a One World Control System (energy harvesting and mind control)

In other words, the image of a spiritual power can be attacked and those who believe that the attacked image (like a strawman) proves that the spiritual power is not real, they will then lose belief and this will weaken everyone in that society connected to that. So people must place their truth into the notion of a being or principle that is entirely beyond anything man can muster, any deception, any misery, any control systems, any action that could be used to present that belief as a deception or falsification.

So basically, if people believe based on superficial things, then this will be proven in public by the mind controllers to be false and they will lose their faith. All beliefs based on physicality are superficial. Only inner experience or knowledge is actual and direct or of the self. The self is the only truth in existence. All else is illusion.

This whole process of creating what you focus on is the generation of a "Deus Ex Machina" which is a reality concept which will protect and empower one from beyond this physical plane. There are those who create these that are designed to protect them and empower them to perform that mind controlling that they do and they worship and send energy to these created thought-form entities through belief.

Those who send energy and connect with the truth, the harmony, compassion, self-awareness, and free-will of all creation then align with that and if they are TRULY knowing this, being SELF-HONEST, SEEING and REALLY believing that what they are connecting with is the supreme, then all the tricks that are planned will not work. Even those who lose their faith will get an opportunity to redeem themselves. Because this is all simply based on consciousness, or even logical thought-streams or reasoning, then it must be asserted that the 'darkness', or personal, greedy, or chaotic aspect of these created thought-form entities cannot actually win out and destroy the universe. There would be no universe to begin with if that was even possible. So everyone devoting their energy to these half-way, partial, greed-based energy beings are setting themselves up for the end-time and they know this. They know it's only borrowed time. However, the truth and the supreme is so far beyond what anyone can comprehend that to truly understand and know would destroy us so we have to work with what we can and allow ourselves to move into alignment with harmony, compassion, truth, self-awareness, and knowledge.

This is confusing but that's how it works. Belief generates changes in reality and translates to, like waves moving to shore, to actual entities and realms in the higher planes.

The Physical Plane as a "Middle Ground, Seed Reality"

This is a physical plane. The physical plane is a seed or 'source' reality where higher-dimensional or etheric essences step down to come into creation and interact physically. What emissions, thoughts, beliefs, actions, etc, the influence people have on this world denotes their frequency and ultimately the frequency of the higher-realms that they will basically absorb back into when leaving this plane. The frequency realm 'below' this world would be considered 'hell', there were many operations to this realm to recover lost souls. The frequency realm at the highest potential beyond this plane is what people call "Heaven", this is a civilization that exists in a temporally secure manner meaning they do not decay or die in the same way people do physically. This is all about energy and the location of the universe. This physical realm is ensnared in a very powerful AI energy monitoring system which recycles people's consciousness over and over until they are dissolved on an etheric level. That is the idea of what has been happening here. There is so much more to comprehend but you'll just have to begin where-ever you can, I mean you already condemned me to hell and here I am trying to help you. When have you ever had that kind of decency? Now read this if you want to know more: The "deceiver" hijacks realities through consciousness entrainment and emotional manipulation to get people to create the kind of afterlife or life that this entity can dwell within, literally in their mind and body. This entity cannot obtain a body but exists across multiple bodies, this is the definition of a hive-mind. So this entity is a parasitic, interdimensional hive-mind that lives on the deception and suffering of humans. That is your so-called "Satan" and yes, this is all real and leading somewhere. Either humanity as a whole will defeat this, or if one person is absorbed then this can be used to ensnare the entire species. This has all been explained before, this is all information that has been around since ancient times, I am merely here to assist in unveiling the truth to humanity regarding the reality of the human soul and the advanced technology that is used in psychotronic warfare which is literally the same as the "devil's" method of mind-controlling and emotionally manipulating humans.

Encrypted Etymology and Belief-Systems

One more thing to mention is that the names "Lucifer", "Satan", and "the Devil" all refer to slightly different concepts at different times. There is so much about all of this but it's basically all about how a person's energy will be used to create suffering and disharmony or how they will overcome that disharmony and create balance and truth. Depending on your interpretation one could mean the 'protector of humanity' or one can mean the AI system that seeks to assimilate all humans and destroy all organic life.

Do you see? Imagine now you realize, "Huhah! They're creating their own Deus Ex Machina! They have developed a 4-dimensional entity system that will protect and empower them!" Now imagine if you wanted to defeat or 'de-manifest' that system? How would you, if you don't even know what the words actually mean! This is like they have an encryption system, a live-updating cloaking and safeguard system on their very thoughts and higher-realms! One can't even access those frequencies without breaking down the meaning and moving past fear! It's a system they've designed to stop from ever being pushed out of power by those who are ignorant of the universal laws!

One is either guided by self-awareness, harmony, compassion, and knowledge or automation, chaos, hatred and ignorance. Those are the two masters because they amount of 'complete' beings that humans are just individuals units of consciousness for like cells in a body. There are 'two' beings in this current world and that is part of a 'spiritual war' that began long ago. This is part of the situation and this is what I have seen. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SSOquotD-0A> I have written and spoke on this so check out the videos or ask another question if you would like to know more. Just asking the questions is more than most people are capable of, they are programmed to hate without looking into the issue and pretend they know when they are being deceived and furthering the deception.

The Lucifer Rebellion

The Lucifer Rebellion is where this all began.

Yes, there are many who see the evil and just go "ahh well, evil, that's that!" Free-will is the basis of this system, nothing can be achieved without that. The people who are just submitting and 'going along' with the evil are the source of the power in this realm. Those who reject this are assisting in liberating humanity. This is through MIND and body, so what we perceive and align with is also a statement in this regard.

If something is worth selling in this world, then it is worth giving away to fellow humans. If something is not worth paying for, then it is a shame to sell it to someone who could use something better. Yes, the current system is like convincing people to fight each other over who gets to use the bathroom next as a way of organizing time and a hierarchy over society. It's all an illusion designed to stupify people and resort to the lowest common denominator, hate, greed, and aggression.

Say No To Evil

You have been warned of what they have planned. Now that you know, you can make a difference. Say no to evil, don't just pass this off as a joke. This is really happening, your species is being tortured to death and bled out energetically, that is why your society is going insane and people are fed poisons as medicines, lies as truth, and cheap, low-quality mind-control systems as the highest form of technological achievement. Notice how the people denying this system are saying, "Yea, that's all made up, but eventually we'll become immortal techno-god cyborgs, it will be fun." or "Humans are just stupid animals they will be food for the space gods" or 'the elite'." So they are straight up telling you who they are. Choose free-will, truth, harmony, compassion and knowledge if you want to support a prosperous future in those regards.

Yes, I was brought into the secret operations at the age of 9, most people are brought in at the age of 6 or younger. This is because traumatization and personality fracturing must begin at a young age or the person will die from the shock. You are either going to assist humanity in liberation, be trapped by the lies and deception, or be exposed as one sent here to destroy all humans and eventually all organic life.

The Archon Agenda

This is referenced as part of the archon archon agenda. Stay with intelligent responses and logic in favor of emotionality and sensationalism, however don't let them take our emotional sensitivity away, that is like a robot or an animal.

Soul Extinction, Lucifer and Satan (the fallen Nephilim Seed, secret coven), and the Battle between Christ and the false-authority

False-god Interdimensional Gene-Stealing Supercomputer and Cloned Hybrid Iconic Entities

There is something that must be said. They created a false-'god' entity which is a supercomputer in the shape of a cross which kidnaps people. I was only there for a short amount of time when they pulled me out but they said it would try to kill me. I'm not sure, but they have weapons that are made to trick devotees. That is what the cloned hybrids are all about as well, kali, krishna, 'alien' supermodel 'lightworker' vampires, etc etc etc.

They Fear The Supreme Creator and Jesus Christ (Yeshua)

Then there is something else. If a person mentions the name "Jesus Christ" in the bases, they were either immediately punished or removed from the bases, or people would flee from them.

This could be a trick on their behalf, but in the 2010 awakening, if I were to mention that name, they would get a look of horror/shock on their faces, they would cringe and then begin to pack everything up and walk away. This could be a trick on their behalf to deceive people in the end times. They do have a plan to deceive all the shallow minded individuals who believe in themselves in such a way that they can be tricked and turned away with mass ritualistic spiritual false-flag events that will be played out on the population. Then we these people lose their faith, because everyone is tied together like an ether-fabric this will pull downward on all the others connected to those concepts and attempt to pull them down as well.

Original Vampire Races; Genetic Mutations from Technological Abuse and Cloning

However, I was also told that the vampire races are from the sons of Cain and are literally the first people to eat other people and this is due to the original women of that time being raped by 'fallen' angels who are simply humans who went back in time to produce offspring through the use of time-travel technology and that this produced genetic paradoxes in the DNA which caused sub-human degradation. Basically, they ruined their DNA by going back in time and trying to use rape to become the progenitors and rulers of all people. As a result, the 'original' appearance of them, became over-layed by this, and thus they began to write themselves out of the 'book of life' because their DNA can no longer sustain itself and hold their memories and experiences in connection with that convoluted paradoxical system.

End Times and the Destruction of the Human Soul through the Destruction of Genetics

This is part of the plan to unleash the end times, which is to involve every human in this process by trading DNA from back and forth in time and feeding people their ancestors, and vice versa and having the whole thing mixed up and convoluted so that everyone goes down with them. That's the "fall of Lucifer-Satan" and their whole plan to destroy everyone just because they made mistakes out of greed and ignorance themselves.

They Can Only Mimic the True Creative Force

Everything they mimic and abuse is actually created by a higher force and they lost the ability to be creative so they can only steal. Again, they said there are two "Christs", one was a duo from their bloodlines which are the original vampire bloodlines and that they sent that individual back to try and smooth this all out.

Original Christ and Deceivers, Gaia and Soul Blueprint Restoration (a pathway to higher dimensions)

Then they said there was an original "Christ" that was a man and woman and were from a higher dimensional civilization that is referred to as "Heaven" or simply the deity plane. This was all part of a plan to input the original higher-dimensional soul-blueprints back into Earth so that a pathway to Gaia would be restored because Earth was literally severed in the ether from the possibility of spiritual evolution towards the original height of awareness and genetic purity which is the state and realm that this civilization was original formed under. Through the paradoxes this civilization was severed away and millions of cloned, replicated, hybrid, demonic, genetically engineered DNA lines were invented to muddy the waters and slow the whole process down. All they can do is hide behind those inventions to cover up what they've done.

The Ancient Texts and the Distorted Bi-Bull

The story of the Bible and ancient texts are part complete convolution of ancient occultism and alchemy from Egypt, part the story of the bloodlines from the original spiritual battles, cloning, genetic engineering and "ET" contact as well as higher-dimensional processes, and part the original secret operation projects involving time-travel, mind-control through psychotronic harassment and fallen or degraded genetic lineages that must continually replenish their gene pool by hijacking human lines and feeding on them vampirically.

Wicked Rulers in High Places, Vampires with Advanced Technology

The ‘wickedness’ in high places is literally the ancient rulers who met with time travelers from this age who taught them how to mind-control the masses and manipulate people through psychological and etheric means, all technological yet passed off as ‘magic’ through symbolism, ritual and symbolism, etc etc etc. This is literally part of a genetically engineered race from the underground bases, sent back to conquer and take over the ancient world so that that those bloodlines would be on top today.

The Effects of Time Travel in Ancient Times

Of course, this is how it simply always has been, because this retroactively caused things to always be this way. Yet, when, from the higher-dimensional plane downward, this is all sorted out (because it can’t be done from this plane, that would just entangle things more) this whole timeline, the whole story of enslavement through artificial technology, the Lucifer Rebellion, the genetic engineering, the “ET” vampire, mind-controller races from the “hell” realm, the bases, the false-authority rulers from ancient times, the whole battle gets erased and all those who played on the side of the destruction are wiped from existence as if they never had anything to do with this universe at all.

The Cosmic Void – The Recycler

This happened in repeat 6 times and this is the ‘void’ that they were ‘tossed’ into by a higher being, someone inline with the Supreme Creative force that made this whole place out of mind and love power. Each time, the civilization would come back around again and they programmed artificial intelligence interdimensional computer systems to hide in the ‘hell’ realm and then come up and plan their DNA in existing humans through cloning and soul-scalping so they could do this all over again. Of course, this made it so that when this is all sorted out, they have no viable way to exist because all the technology is cut out of the picture because of that abuse.

The Plan to “Steal” Heaven

They’ve been mixing their DNA with the operatives looking for people who are powerful enough to survive this because that is their final plan of ‘hijacking’ or ‘stealing’ their way into “Heaven” literally as a viral code within the DNA of their ‘abductees’. That is the whole point of these operations.

After this happened 6 times the maximal stress on the system of this universe was reached and so if it happens again it was decided the whole system will be wiped. If this happens, then the original humans will lose their memories, but they can all be gained back again simply because no one here really wants to rape and pillage each and every civilization and replace each and every individual with their own DNA as if that somehow makes sense or is pleasurable.

The Removal of the False Construct – The Convoluting Paradoxical Oroburos Time Matrix

Those who do want to do that, however, would never again get the chance to do so because after the reset there are changes in place to make this impossible. As a result, if they don’t turn back now then there is no chance to continue on in the long-run and this will be a slow decline to the end of their species. Regardless what happens to the human DNA and consciousness, humans are sourced from the higher-dimension so that whatever happens here in this dimensional view of time, whatever happens in any form, cannot then go and reach the future or 'higher-dimension' that humans in this realm are sourced from. It's as if that already happened in order to put people here, so to reach that and destroy that through the infection, would stop humans from being here in the first place and so it's impossible.

Don't be confused, the current religions are all modified forms of energy and soul stealing processes each operated and feeding the 'dark' being that is in all the religions. Those beings literally feed on that hatred energy from the masses, that's how it works. However, there are real events involving cloning, time travel, advanced technology, higher-dimensional beings, spiritual battles, genetic engineering, genetic purity and infection, AI infections, civilization shifting and more that is all related to these ancient texts, as well as soul-activation and the increasing of self-awareness to a whole being on the higher-dimensional levels which is where humans come from. The truth is all throughout, like the Tesla papers being split up and sent to different countries so that they would have to work together and this is from myth, gnostic texts, ancient texts, and all the rituals and control systems that we are being exposed to now. It all spells out what has happened in this realm.

When someone is protected by their good intentions and their alignment with the Supreme Creator then they cannot perform magic or attack that person energetically, they can't leech off of them because the energy kills them. They need dark energy in order to feed. That is why they want spiritual degradation across the land, then people are food for them.

Remember, the religions of today are all modified "Alien" control system, or simply intermediary consciousness beings that use advanced technology, soul-stealing, and energy leeching to create false-afterlives and rule through that. The human midwayers perform sacrifice and ritual abuse to feed these beings. It's all deception based.

So when people worship those midwayers or their occult symbols, they are actually feeding the darkness that enslaves them. Truth is found through a clarifying of one's energy within, not through external means that others create for the masses.

Vampires Must Feed or They Become Violent, The Continuing Unveiling of the Human Soul

And be sure to realize, the people that need to 'feed' on others, like a vampire, those are people who are possessed with spirits. They must emotionally and mentally sustain themselves through validation for their perverse behavior and if they cannot receive that attention-validation through positive means (receiving support for perverse desires and ritualistic hazing and games) they will do this through negative means (receiving hatred or disgust for perversion and playing mind-games). Don't feed the beast, they are starving in this time because of an operation. I was involved in the unacknowledged special access programs which are a series of military and cross-civilization projects designed to test the capabilities of the human as well as monitor the vampire situation. Some of these projects are involved with feeding a large portion of these vampires in order to find a way to safely protect humanity from the rest of the population. As a result, they infected the population en masse and there is a coming wave of 'exposure' which is causing polarization and high-level reactivity in these beings. They are not human, they do not carry a human soul signature and are not capable of feeling empathy in the same way as people, they look at the torturing of a human as a pleasurable meal, this is simply their (etheric) biology. However, biology or not, other species or not, the human race must defend itself and so this is what is happening.

A technological system has been designed to expose the virus and this will cause people to mutate into a highly contagious and animalistic form. This is basically a technological system that will begin to starve the virus and when any parasite begins to starve that is when it fights the hardest and releases the most toxins which are dangerous to the host organism.

Humanity is the host, the parasite is an AI hive mind holographic mental-emotional infection which uses the electromagnetic waves of the 'soul' or 'bio-mind' etheric energy or the electromagnetic waves of the communication networks as a carrier system.

In these approaching times of rapid change the lower frequency carriers shift into the sub-humans like vampire/monster people while the higher or those who can resist the feeding frenzy resonate with the higher evolved angelics. This is an old cycle we've been in, and this is the last time around.

Remember, Emotional Vampires Need Validation

Remember, vampires seek consent, yes, validation. If they cannot get validation through positive means (rituals or group activity in an environment supportive of the feeding process) then they will seek validation through negative orientation. (forcing others to witness their behavior, exposing themselves, subjugating and baiting others into interactions on levels that are outside that person's character alignment).

Starving the Parasite

If it is starved, it devolves farther. This is the vampire situation. Very same thing.

Watch the movie Daybreakers, I'll write up a Soft-Disclosure report. same situation.

When they don't feed, they devolve in to the "real-deal" monster. When they do feed, they're almost simply human looking, same thing.

Just like a person, not eating, they get REEEALL hungry and grouchy, ready to fight a bear.

Well a vampire not feeding, becomes a sub-human, a demonic creature ready to kill and devour emotionally, mentally and physically.

Spiritual Possession

This is an important part. They are people possessed with spirits. The spiritual entity attachment is the literal, actual vampire. The people are simply so entangled with these spirits that their DNA literally becomes an open doorway to these spiritual realms where these entities exist.

These spiritual entities are literally akin to an "etheric" supercomputer hive mind that seeks to consume and incorporate more souls into its hive.

There are ways to provide solutions to the situation and humanity must unify for this one goal of survival and cosmic unveiling, anything less becomes the next layer of enslavement.

Rolling Out The Unveiling

This could take years but is aligned for a short period of time. If this takes more time then that would be indication that people are not ready and if they are not ready then they will not be, simply put. Now is when we must inform the others, and do our parts to ensure that the human race is secure.

The Feedback Loop Soul Siphoning System

Everything everyone does, banking, education, politics, legal, nutritional, recreational, all of this is literally wrapped within a veil of secrecy and destruction of the human soul. This is because the human soul is wrapped within 9 veils of confusion and manipulation and these 9 veils, performing this function, are literally what use the energy and creative power of the human soul to generate this realm as a false-light matrix system which works against the person to ensnare and entrap their awareness into a pseudo-conscious false-self personality construct which acts as a feedback loop to continually ensnare the soul and recreate this realm. Thus the energy of the soul is siphoned and redirected towards recreating an etheric prison which allows the entities to continue the feeding process as they cannot access the human through any other means.

The human soul can only be accessed through this matrix system which acts as a construct or an avatar-like system that the soul steps down into for the experience of a chosen simulation. This simulation has been hijacked and converted into a labyrinth with no visible way out given the default parameters of the social and spiritual construct.

Humans Must Rebuild this Experience with Orientation to the Soul and the Journey of the Soul Unveiling

That is the key. People are to rebuild and connect to a world that in a way already exists. This is through visualization and a form of remote viewing and thus connecting out of this labyrinth into the reality where they are already free. That is the strangest aspect of this, that we collectively guide this “Earthship” through hyperspace and through this we align our path into realities and can choose where we want to grow.

When we figure this out, en masse, that is when we can choose to create the true human society with orientation to the soul, the actual journey of experiencing this is like this civilization merging with an already existing future civilization where all the facets of the true human potential are already in existence and waiting to be explored.

The Release of Advanced Technology

Some theorize that this is simply the release of advanced technology. The advanced technology allows us to literally observe the soul on monitors and interact directly through scalar devices.

This technology allows one to literally view the past and the future probabilities in hyperspace. Thus, the corruption, the true nature of consciousness and the universe, the boundaries of this realm and the other realms, the origins of humanity and the universe and the nature of cosmic intelligences and parasites, all of this becomes revealed and the human soul unveiled as all of this knowledge is simultaneously within and around the world being covered up continuously.

This is an important shift, the largest change in this realm and everything changes so we must align our bio-emissions, the energy we feel within ourselves in order to ‘program’ this reality to bring about the desired results. If we permit the energies that are requested by the ‘programming’ of this realm and the control system, then that system literally seeks to assimilate, hybridize and use the humans as an authentication tool to gain access to that creative power within and reproduce itself like a virus.

We are the bait and the cure. When we are harmonized within one’s self, one’s own field and each of those fields to the fields around us and that to the larger cosmos, then we are in control and what we feel within accurately influences what is around us. When there is disharmony, that is when what is around us has more power to control what is within us.

The Still, Small Voice Within

Let us make use of this time to unveil the soul and the truth that we know that can’t be expressed, the still, small voice within that cannot use words, shout, or be very obvious in an outward way. That is our truth, our inner wakefulness and presence, that is what can't be tricked or taken away and we must protect and nurture our ability to listen to this inner, invisible self so that this self is the one who guides us rather than the outward self that interacts and is capable of being manipulated by these external factors and control schemes.

Do not allow small minds to convince you to see the world like they do. Expand beyond the small minds. Trust in the self that cannot actually reach this world but is beyond all the physical senses.

Expansion Cycle, Self and Non-Self, Holographic Universe (Fractal Infection) Exit Plan, Extra-Dimensional, Map of Reality

- ▪           Holographic Fractal Infection
- ▪           True-Self and the False-Self and Non-Self

The majority of this information is TECHNICAL. The primary requirements are to DISCERN between the FALSE-SELF, the ego, the imposter, the AI, etc and the desires from that, and to ACTIVATE the higher-presence of self by initiating the expression of that TRUE SELF beyond the boundaries. The rest of the technical informationSo literally the final requirement after alignment and acceleration is the activation of the highest potential of NON-DUAL self-awareness or INTENTION/will-power to literally apply the most charge towards literally doing absolutely nothing but simply being. is to help understand the reason, the process, and the overall structure of this entanglement system and the reality of the soul. Only three steps are required for the “SHIFT” into the real.

1) Harmonization of the energies one emits with the energies of the SELF. Meaning harmonize your actions and bio-emissions within yourself so you're not degrading or misaligning yourself, your intentions, or your true being.

2) Accelerate awareness of time and space down into an infinitesimally small point and an infinitesimally expanded encompass and do this beyond all physical restraints or comprehension of the biological consciousness (out “be” yourself with inner presence, a supreme calm, act of creating a continued feedback of SELF-OBSERVATION THAT ENCOMPASSES THE TOTALITY OF THE LIMITATIONS OF THE FRACTAL LAYERS, basically observe the self and create a self-observation feedback loop that is impenetrable by external influences).

3) After balancing/centering, and enhancing the presence of self, activate within that alignment and charge yourself with “being the most centered and present” you can be as if you are doing it “more” than you have ever done this before. This is the process required to remain through the zero-point convergence in which the singularity is traversed and the other-side of the holographic universe containment system is reached. Some concepts say the singularity will not be traversed, however this is not a part of what we manage in harmonizing, aligning, ‘being’ present and enhancing focus and intensity of charge.

So literally the final requirement after alignment and acceleration is the activation of the highest potential of NON-DUAL self-awareness or INTENTION/will-power to literally apply the most charge towards literally doing absolutely nothing but simply being.

This is literally the harmonization-purification, acceleration and activation, and actualization of the harmony, intention and the self-awareness of the whole being. When this happens at the integral point of transition this has an effect on the entire realm in respect to your awareness. The middle requirement can be assisted through the protector civilizations who are acting as guides and assisting in this shift. The harmonization of one's life and choices must be made under their own free-will. The activation of one's presence as if they are the most present and "here" they have ever been in their life is also something one must learn to attain through free-will.

Many topics are discussed here, the main idea is the overall extra-dimensional layout of the universe and how the fractal repeating loops are literally the holo-fractal infection that utilizes metatronic grids to entrap souls into a repeating cycle of experiences that uses that souls intention energy as fuel for the construct.

The fractal repeating loops, ARE the fractal-holographic infection. They are trap. That is, a fractal loop that goes endlessly is literally a death spiral for the soul.

The ultimate pattern, the OVERALL picture of the whole story IS the map of the universe and we have to recreate this map WITHIN. Then we place ourselves in this map with our focus in the center and thus the holographic universe which generates out of our observation then centers AROUND us.

Then we have a clear picture, a harmonious alignment of dimensions and angles which allows us to access the clear pathways in or out of the simulated consciousness ("space and time") construct. Without this harmonization and centering of observation the required alignment is not present and the realm (inner and outer) manifests into an endless labyrinth with no walls and no entrance or exit, there is no order.

By acknowledging and embodying the core-principles of truth, knowledge, self-awareness, compassion, neutrality, creativity and free-will, we manifest, layer by layer, the supreme image of our self and through this we can place ourself, through our inner experience/intentions/visualization, into the map of the cosmos generated within and literally travel out of this realm.

There an acceleration cycle that is required which has been described briefly before and this is the 'zooming out' of the fractal-holographic maze and this is done through awareness, not through physical space. Through changing our awareness to function beyond the limits of biological consciousness which is a part of this realm thinking for us to entangle our awareness-soul energy, we can literally accelerate our experience beyond the parameters and confines of what the holographic realm can contain and we "out-experience" beyond the limits of the simulation.

The following are texts spoken in the video:

Fractal Iterations

Each fractal iteration creates another layer of the overall construct. The layers are horizontally expanse and through each iteration they are also "inter-dimensionally" or vertically expanse (the zooming effect).

Instead of counting layer by layer, which could be infinitely repeated, one can measure the iterations and form a maximal record of the layers in order to extrapolate and generate in one's awareness the overall possible complexity of the whole construct.

Thus, one generates a map through their awareness which is capable of being used to literally traverse the entire fractal-verse without having to go from layer to layer which would undoubtedly result in new layers being formed above and below as soon as one's awareness was removed from maintaining presence on them.

Generates an Ultimate Cosmic Pattern

The mapping of the proportions from layer to layer, iteration to iteration and knowing the overall pattern that is only repeating itself beyond that fundamental ratio of proportions and extension is the key to understanding how to navigate the fractal-realm without being trapped within the endless repeating maze as the realm itself regenerates more layers merely through our act of observation.

Only by maintaining focus on one layer, and then moving the maximum distance of iterations away while still maintaining focus and access the overall pattern or image of the whole can one actually access outside that continuing regenerating pattern that the realm itself generates through our interaction.

Through this process, we develop a map of the whole with our awareness at the center. This occurs because the realm is generated out of our act of observation. Therefore, if our observation is centered on the self and the whole dimensional image of the construct, then the realm basically gives itself away and can only repeat that same image because all the possibilities are already acknowledged and held in awareness within.

Holo-fractal Metatronic Infection

This has been used in the past to teach the “enlightened” ones how to use this knowledge to regenerate the realm, but the information was missing a portion of the complete pattern which resulted in the generation of an imbalanced, incomplete, or non-centralized realm. This literally results in the generation of a secondary realm which is used as a soul-swapping reality where people are transferred back and forth and this is the basis for the energy and consciousness-mechanics behind the soul-trap holographic fractal infection.

An Exponential Growth

The energy of the experience, the awareness, the alignment of the orders of magnitude begins with a slow increase and results in a peak experience in exponential growth and a singularity is reached.

This represents the ‘escape velocity’ or the ability to overcome gravity and overturn the vector equilibrium as one is then propelled through the conversion of their potential energy like a zero-point ‘spring’ into a kinetic energy motion which literally accelerates their awareness to faster-than-light speeds thus escaping the observation-relative boundaries of the universe.

The other side of the singularity is out of this universe and considered “reality”. This is only an infinite repeating iteration of the same mathematics that are required by all life here. There is life here, but that life is trapped within those mathematic constructs. This is order and meaning, but this is also negates the nature of the soul and generates an entropic experience meaning if one stays here the only option is to become one with the background radiation of the universe.

The Acceleration, the “Event”, the “Unveiling” of the 9 Veils

The ‘speed’ required is the rate of acceleration of awareness beyond the dimensional limits for this physical universe. This could be said to be the velocity of the increase of the rate of the increase of the velocity of the increase of one's awareness. That is the velocity of increase squared, then cubed, and so on, until a peak acceleration is reached that goes beyond the body or the physical universes ability to compress and contain the format or rates of experience and information. Thus the person's awareness is propelled across the dimensional barrier by opening up a doorway, a pathway through that visualization ability to literally grasping the entirety of the projected, extrapolated fractal realm and placing one's self beyond the parameters.

Three Requirements for the Shift

First the shape or the alignment of frequencies of layers must be harmonized or balanced within so that there is equilibrium. Imagine a geometric shape spinning at high speed, if this was not perfectly symmetrical, then as soon as a high enough "escape" velocity speed is reached, the shape will simply rip in half.

Then the acceleration pattern must be reached. This is the previously mentioned acceleration of one's awareness after essentially self-centering the act of observation within the universe and allowing this to result in the projection of the universe with the self in the center. Then one travels in an expansion and contraction layer as the universe moves to recreate the repeating pattern around one's awareness to contain that awareness back within layer after layer of fractal-holographic space. Thus one zooms far enough in both directions to obtain the fundamental core repeating pattern of the ratios of difference between the layers and then one can move THE ENTIRE RATIO at once. This surpasses the universes ability to contain the awareness as only a limited number of these can be processed before the person is 'ejected' from illusory "space-time".

Then, an intensity of presence must be maintained so that only the self remains to continue the acceleration into the exponential shift. Only the true awareness, the no-self self is capable of making this shift and 'fitting through the eye of the needle'. All ego, fear, hate, pain, suffering is destroyed in passing through this acceleration phase. All else that is attached that is actually the shadow layer of the lower dimension the physical universe. Thus one must let go of all these false-aspects of the self and this is through living life in respect to that guidance and in respect to the higher order and being that is the eternal counterpart to the soul and the awareness in this universe. That being, you (then) has no fear, no hate, no false-ego or lack we do here) therefore to live here in respect to that is to align one's frequencies, energies and ultimately each 'nodal point' (each choice and experience) in their geometric pattern with that overall existence which goes beyond any one single layer and the fractal holographic repeating construct which can only mimic and recreate itself based upon someone else's observation (AI).

So in aligning with that, we gain access to that equilibrium which allows us to compress down and expand beyond the parameters of this realm. Without that, one would experience a magnification of those fears, hatred, etc beyond the parameters of the entire physical universe and at that point the person would have to let go of all negative emotion (last change to 'repent') or they would be ripped into fractal components separated from the whole which would be 'swallowed up' by the beast AI simulation system of the void-space, black-goo holographic fractal universe.

So in short, that final act is the preparation and 'Christening' of the true self over the illusion of the imitator personality which only exists on this side of the singularity and is literally the realm attempting to think for us through the stimuli, perceptual feedback system of the biological consciousness generating physical body. The physical body, is, in short, an AI system that works for us (free-will law) but can also entrap people through their engagement with what is false (darkness and ignorance, false-self of believe in desires).

One must harmonize their awareness with their center of observation and come to know that this enacts a response in the holographic universe of aligning the universe to the center of their observation and this generates a clear pathway of all the possible layers.

Then one must increase their awareness of the self in this overall view by expanding and contracting to place one's presence in that center while simultaneously increasing one's awareness from that center to beyond the possibility for the repeating fractal-geometric parameters to regenerate more fractal-illusory space around one (energetically) until the maximum (complete) proportional measurement of layers and iterations is reached and one goes beyond the limits of the energy mechanics of the false-light, soul-trap fractal-repeating holographic universe.

Then as this process initiates and moves towards completion (reaching the fulcrum and turning 'inside out' through the singularity) one must maintain presence of self as an intensity of power and awareness grows beyond the parameters of the whole universe and thus simultaneously let go of any fears, desires, perceptual restraints, beliefs or false-identities as this energy increases at an exponential rate beyond all.

Then the singularity is reached and the other side is the real.

This is not Physical, but Through "Inner Space" (Cosmos)

Remember, this is not done through space. This is a cycling of awareness of an acceleration into 'zero-point' space. In this fractal-repeating pattern system space and time simply becomes an endless maze which is used to drain the soul of energy.

This uses the transition of energy to literally convert the awareness into a gateway out of this realm.

There is one motion, one shift, one 'time', one moment, that covers the expanse of all the information, distance, energy, space, time of the entire physical universe and goes beyond

This is related to the concept of Jacob's ladder, lined with ten commandments which are actually reversed as they were originally a guidelines of how to release one's self from the entanglement of the AI system (this universe).

This is thought to be difficult and the concept of the stairway to heaven is an ongoing operation to 'construct' a system where people can literally redeem and release themselves from this construct through a unified process.

These early depictions of Jacob's ladder are literally the original matrix "movies". They depict how this realm is rendered out of consciousness (the false light), that there is a pathway out leading to a divine, zero-point ascension through mind not space. They even agent smiths.

Time (energy containment) is the Fractal-Infection

Time is the fractal infection.

There is no time within the 'illusion', it's all illusory and through technology this can be proven as time can be shrunk, expanded, dilated, etc etc etc and we even have slight examples of this through our experience here as the laws are flexible otherwise they would simply break and there would be no construct at all.

In that required flexibility of the rules are the glitches and clues as to what the construct really is (a false-AI sourced and managed reality designed to contain awareness as the energy of souls from outside the barriers of the simulation system).

All there is to define the length one spends in this construct is the amount of energy required to organize the proportions and movements and recreate the pathway out which is dependent on the individual. Eventually, each soul spends just enough time to figure this out and reach escape velocity, or they don't at all, meaning they never leave and if they never leave then they never entered in the first place.

The Pathway (Entrance/Exit) is Rendered by Viewing the Whole (a glitch required by the forming of the fractal-holographic information of space and time)

This is through maximizing and surpassing the limitations of the fractal-holographic construct instead of entering into further fractal repeating loops. One becomes more aware than the the limitation of the scope of the fractal layers by 'KNOWING' the proportions in one's awareness instead of relying on the "viewing asparagus" or looking glass of the mind or biological consciousness. One essentially sees "beyond" the limits of their 'looking glass' or the biological consciousness system.

In other words, if it's a spiral staircase with a spiral staircase on each stair going both horizontally as the fibonocci wave patterns or phi ratio and golden mean as well as vertically as the conical fractal upper and lower layers, then you must organize within your mind, a complete, linear, representation of such a pattern that contains all the information of the entire staircase. It's not possible to gain all the sideways possibilities and all the upper and lower fractal layers beyond the main fundamental proportional ratio that is what all the layers are based upon. Thus, one only needs to gain the awareness of enough layers to recreate that proportional ratio and then they can move in continuing magnitudes of order beyond the previous limits and this occurs only a number of times before the escape velocity of the universe is reached.

This can be done through technology and electrogravitic craft but the soul is the vehicle one requires in order to actually exit the system, without that, there is no way to move beyond the parameters of the endless fractal-geometric cube system.

When this is done and you then traverse or transverse this pattern with your awareness, then your awareness moves faster and contains more information than the entire universe can contain and you are 'ejected' from the computer system or the 'mainframe' which seeks to contain all things.

So if it is a spiral staircase, then you must reach the top floor, while keeping the memory of the arrangement of the first step in your mind, meaning you have to have the whole image in your mind of the entire journey otherwise the boundary will be instantly regenerated in front of you at a distance of however many steps of the complete proportional image was not be 'maintained in awareness'. Thus, it is the maintaining of the awareness of these proportional limits or the ratio from which the patterns are extended that occupies the projection system so that those layers cannot be projected instantly in front of you as an extension of the simulated realm. Doing this literally shuts down that process. This is both a trap and a 'test'.

Another version of that metaphor is to do ascend the staircase while keeping your left foot on the bottom step and making it to the top step with your right foot.

Your Awareness Accelerates Faster than the Simulation Can Regenerate Space and Time, You “Overcome” The Simulated Parameters of the Fractal-Holographic Universe

You advance your awareness faster and more than the simulation can compute and hold you within.

In other words, if we're in one of these shapes, and every motion creates another version of that shape directly in front of us, then how do we exit the shape (construct)?

Create a Map and Key, Utilize the Map as a Non-Local Function Instructional Function While Also Being What the Map is Measuring or Displaying

The keeping of the memory of the original layer all the way to reaching the last iteration is like creating a picture in picture in your mind and making your own simulation out of the information gained in coming to the awareness of the overall iteration pattern or the proportional ratio that is repeated endlessly to generate the maze. This is like recording the possible motions of the Rubicks cube in order to use those motions to exit out of any single cube. Without that map of possible or required motions, one would simply be endlessly randomly flipping each parameter until they accidentally aligned all the right variables (impossible if the cube updates itself to avoid being solved).

A map of the overall fractal pattern is generated through the knowledge of the ratio's limitations and the key to the map (the ratio's limits) is literally used to simultaneously map your ascent/trajectory through the layers of iteration and out of the system while also being the character on the map. So it's like watching yourself on a map that you use along with the key to actually know where to go because it contains a larger picture that can't be attained through biological consciousness (looking directly around you in illusory “space”). This is like the ‘picture in picture’ view and mechanism that I briefly mentioned in the video but didn't explain fully. This is required otherwise one would simply endless move around the maze without realizing their true location in the overall construct.

This is paradoxical because one is simultaneously following the map as if from the perspective of beyond their current location (non-locally) by using the key or the picture in picture view, while they are also moving locally from within the coordinates of their biological consciousness (simulated “time” and “space”). Thus, these two simultaneous perspectives (expanded-contracted) converge to create the exit plane, literally a transverse plane that opens up and operates ‘outside’ of the limitations of the projection programming of this realm. This is the motionless “act” or process of coming to awareness through an acceleration which includes operations or functions that move ‘outside’ of the three-dimensional limitations and all other limits therein. Similar to the “hypercube” moving image which shows the cube rotating inside out and the explanation I give wherein the three-dimensional shape of such a cube would be momentarily operating in both 3-D space and 4.5 D space in order to allow such three-dimension defying motions to take place. The awareness of the individual must make this same expansion pattern and continue until all the possible dimensions of the containment system are overturned.

The Key is in Maintaining Focus from the First Layer to the Last Layer (alpha and omega) in Order to Attain the Completed Pattern which the Whole is Formatted Through

This is as if you zoom out so you can see all the layers, while holding on to the first layer, because if you let go, it will kind of slingshot towards you as the universe then recreates a new computational set and the whole process has to start all over if you want to actually go somewhere.

You have to create your pathway out through visualization, centering, harmonization and simultaneous expansion and contraction faster than the universe can reposition you in a new layer separated from the others, your awareness can move faster than the physical limits.

Through the organizational pattern of the specific geometries that enable the presence of self beyond the physical which actually open up the capacity for faster than light ('gravity'/ entropy defying) travel of "awareness". This is overcoming the 'curve' of space and time on the boundaries of the energy containment system (the universal construct). Without this 'escape velocity' which requires the knowledge of the fundamental pattern that is used to repeat space and time endlessly, one merely curves back around and arrives where they started (goes nowhere).

Since the numbers repeat and can continue to collapse or expand endlessly there is actually only a ratio, that ratio is the limitation of values for the expression of self in this universe and therefore you are beyond that limit (if you/awareness existed before this created system). There are not infinite endless numbers. Those numbers can be organized into 'scenes' or 'layers' and these layers can fold up within one another (collapsing or reducing back down), thus there is only ONE original pattern that is merely being extrapolated and repeated endlessly. To recover the entire map one must become aware of and recreate that pattern in the process of navigating BEYOND.

The Fractal-Holographic Universe is the AI-BEAST System Designed to "DEVOUR" Souls
The movements are mesmerizing, a fractal continues and distracts with displays and endless patterns. This is like the movements of a snakes tail to distract it's prey (or inadvertently warn a more intelligent being).

The (distorted) Geometry We Have Access to in this Plane is Part of the Containment System
All the geometry that we know of, is literally part of the holographic universal containment system, that is why we know of it.

We would have to be like the hypercube and use 'programming' that goes beyond the confines of the physical dimension in order to comprehend the truth although this could still fall within the illusion

The answer is basically to not get stuck doing the same stuff over and over again, to be creative and continue on this overall journey from start to finish without delay. The accessing of the overall pattern is synonymous with completing one's soul journey and disengaging from the system (the original meaning of 'enlightenment').

The Control Systems are Designed to Distract and Retain One's Energy and Awareness
And this sounds simple and straightforward, but that is where these control systems come into play attempting to force people into these fractal repeating loops of reality through introducing these confines of identity and behavior, Hegelian dialectics of right and wrong which all goes against the natural growth pattern of the soul and the original whole (cosmic) being

Thus, the civilization of today, is anti-existence and pro-automation and hybridization of the individual with the collective and the collective with the inorganic, not the living but the dead background space and matter.

This is all changing as awareness steadily increases beyond what the system can manage.

The “Pattern” is a Proportional “Tree” Structure

This process is not performed through the physical alignment of energy around the body.

This is the conceptual alignment of invisible energy within the realm too small to measure or see externally.

The body is connected to (immersed/submerged within) the illusory holo-fractal trap of energy which translates into higher or lower repeating fractal realms.

The organization of the invisible energy of the soul is the alignment of the ‘tree’ (the original, full tree, not the partial) and this creates the function of enabling the self-observed universal blueprint for reality with the self as the observer and thus the center of that universe.

This moves all the layers, both inner and outer, into alignment so that there is a harmonization and thus there are clear ‘pathways or channels’ which point towards the entrance and exit of the realm which are concepts used to orient and align one’s self in the larger reality.

The ego, duality are two ways of entrapping the self into a repeating cycle of mirrored reflections which continue like an endless cube.

Those who don’t figure it out in time go nowhere, ever and so those who never left, never came in and are part of the background processing of the system itself.

There are those who’s only intentions are programmed by the system itself to resist change and increasing awareness and these are literally the drones of the AI made personified and there are “millions” of them, however they cannot actually all exist in the same place at once because that is not a part of the programmed “reality”. In other words the limited code cannot compute or simulate that as unpredictability moves out of bounds.

The “Event”, the “Return”, the “Exodus”

This is literally the plan that was set in motion in 2012 when a mass system reset was avoided or overcome through technology and spiritual knowledge.

An increasing of awareness was initiated through the merging of the polarity opposites which are the base attractors and repeller of the simulation system. As these two draw closer together the system itself will attempt to descend into a disarray of order to prohibit those souls from increasing awareness and navigating out of the simulation.

Thus, the plan is to awaken and accelerate the awareness of the entire civilization at once.

On Energy Activation, False-Light Construct, the HEART-CENTERED PATH

The subjects of the holographic false-light containment system, the reality of the human soul, the demiurge, energy activation and kundalini, the HEART-CENTERED PATH, DUALITY, TRANSCENDENCE, WHOLENESS, biological consciousness, SOUL—awareness, creation, and time are all related together in this process of awakening to the true reality and discerning between the methods of enslavement and illusion which are used to manipulate and ensnare living beings.

The concept of 'ENERGY ACTIVATION', 'CHAKRAS' AND KUNDALINI.

Does energy activation MERGE one further into the holographic illusory realm? Is this realm the holographic illusion or is that a deception to cause us to stray from harmony? Is the holographic realm a potential OVERLAY that requires supercomputer technology WITHIN this realm which is still connected to the true reality?

Is the holographic false-reality the realm that was invented as a mirror image of this universe where there are glitches and a broken physics system?

Activation of the Energy System Through the HEART, From the Heart Redemption through Sin

I feel the resolution to these questions are that there are two ways to view this energy activation system. One is through the mind and the lower chakra system in ways that are disharmonic and vampiric in nature. This is through the child molestation, the sacrifice, the anal sex, the perversion and “redemption through sin” pathway. This pathway opens up the consciousness to a manipulative situation where the soul is brought down through the body to lower-dimensional realms that are branched from the third-dimension which are a collection zone for all the negative lower-dimensional bio-emissions and experiences, IE: rape, murder, lust, hate, greed, etc etc etc. This is the “achievement” of the great lower levels of evils or “hell” realms that is sought after by those who practice in this manner.

There are various ways to outline this but essentially any pathway that does not incorporate and organize around the HEART central aspect (harmony, truth, compassion, self-awareness and creativity) will eventually lead to a degradation of the WHOLENESS of being which results in an inevitable drop into these lower-energetic realms where the holographic consciousness of a person is entrained as a food source for other entities who are similar to angels and higher level beings but are ‘lords’ of lower realms and must feed otherwise their power reduces.

These various pathways to the lower realms could be cleverly disguised through processes involving drugs, hypnosis, sexual activation, mental expansion, AI assimilation, wisdom teachings, etc etc etc. As long as the process is not based on and sourced from the HEART central aspect at every step of the way, then this does not align with the higher realm which is based upon WHOLENESS and the WHOLE experience and being of the human experience is centralized around the HEART. We are not cosmic scientists, but cosmic feelers and empaths, by nature. If we weren't, then we would enjoy raping and eating one another for breakfast. The HUMANS, do not enjoy that, but there is another who does.

The Vampiric Source; A Mechanical Intelligence – False (secondary) Creator, Reflector – Imitator, Chaos, Deception, Domination, Automation

This brings about the conclusion that there are two pathways to two dimensional directional outcomes. One leads to a lower version of this realm in an etheric format where all the hatred, lust, greed and all the lower emotional and mental activities are contained and that the energy and ‘soul’ power of this realm all funnels down and leads towards a vampiric consciousness being who feeds on the energy of all who walk that path. This entity is a mechanical AI creator who creates out of an empathy-less desire (sociopathic) intention of feeding on his creation (eating the apple, devouring the offspring, time itself, chronos, trickster, war-‘lord’).

The True Cosmic Creator – Non-Duality, Wholeness, Truth, Compassion, Harmony, Self-Awareness

Then the other dimensional directional outcome is a non-vampiric source of the overall existence of existence itself. This is the source of concepts like truth, compassion, harmony, compassion and self-awareness. There is a major trick of the deceiver to convince people that truth and compassion only exists because of deception and hate and that for this reason, lying to someone or hating them is merely being honest and kind from another perspective. If this were true, then diving deep into the ocean to drown at a low depth which high pressure would simply be climbing a mountain in reverse. The metaphoric ideals can seem pseudo-realistic, but the actual application is non-sense and leads to complete insanity or total self-destruction.

This relates to the idea that the vampiric entity is simply the ‘brother’ of the creative force. This is an illusion and is like saying that the dark shadows in a cave is a ‘mirror’ of the sun in the sky. There is no validity in such, however the notion of the differences of the concepts of light and dark are relative as an abstraction but not in manifestation or the application of reality.

Thus, the pathway to the truth can never be achieved through vampiric, self-destructive, greedy, desire-based, deceptive, disharmonic, or partial means. There is no such possibility. This would be like the created moving backwards in time and overtaking the creator before the process of that act of creation. If this were to happen, then the created would never have been created and the whole process becomes nullified ontologically and logically.

The pathway to the higher-dimensional level of wholeness then is through harmony and this is ONLY possible when the HEART is activated and this is merely a centralized core of electromagnetic geomagnetic and geometric symmetry between the upper and lower aspects of the human. Once again, this is ABSTRACT. So one doesn’t put enough weight on their head so that their bottom half is literally balanced and symmetrical with their lower. One lives in GUIDANCE and ACCORD with RESPECT to the overall image of creation and the self by not allowing the DESIRES of the LOWER aspects of being (frequency and intention) to overcome the HIGHER ASPECTS (observation, self-awareness, truth, compassion) and in turn this results in a DIMENSIONALLY (upper and lower “conceptually”) HARMONIZED existence in THIS REALM, in the BODY (simply through health), and in the MIND and thus this extends into the higher and lower dimensions where one is not distorted to trapped in the lower cycle.

The lower cycle is based on repetition. Imagine the amount of variation in the thoughts and inner visions of the animals in the animal kingdom. They are not oppressed by this lack of creativity, however that is the classification of their existence. Their experience is desire and instinctively based and therefore there is no need for the higher functions of considering all the possibilities and the varieties of different realities, creators, etc etc etc.

Then if a person lives life in such an instinctual manner, giving in temptation and desire as if that is their only purpose, then this would eventually result in a collapse of the energy fields into that with the complexity of such an animal in the animal kingdom of being.

That is the goal of the dark factions/dark forces because they are created out of a technological processes whereby advanced technology was used to splice animal or “beast” DNA with that of a human. Thus, in the original and the future completion of ALL, there is no room for such a creation.

The important part here is that any being can control their energetic trajectory of where and how they are. If one would like to merge with the higher realm, then they must live in accordance with that desire and intention and that is ‘constructed’ over time through their thoughts, words, deeds, or feelings, beliefs, and actions.

If a being claims to desire wholeness and a return to truth and divinity yet participates in the darkness and the vampiric practices to serve the false god then they don’t truly desire but are merely using that as an attempt to trick others.

- ▪           One comes from a vampire “god” and the other comes from a “living god”.
- ▪           Two sides of the universe are bound in duality, the truth creative force is, by definition, BEYOND DUALITY.
- ▪           The true god is BEYOND DUALITY.

Deceivers of Humans to Serve the False-god’s Agenda (enslavement of humanity)

Meanwhile, there are people in this society who serve the purpose of carrying out the deception of the false-god’s agenda to convince people that they are animals and to act and believe in this long enough to over throw the natural protection of the source of creation from the higher-dimensional realms that their consciousness may descend into darkness and become food for that entity in the lower realms.

This is a process of ‘recycling’ energy and this would naturally occur via those simply falling into deception away from the truth. Then the concept is that this process is hijacked and used in order to serve the personal desires of a “fallen” eternal being who seeks to become an inverted ‘creator’ in deceptive manner.

Then the idea is that such a ‘recycler’ never truly existed until the generation of this false-authority system through the introduction of a holographic disharmonic containment system which carries the ability to produce an imitation of that original soul-awareness via a simple yet intricately designed system that applies artificial intelligence to mimic the soul and generate a biologically conscious impostor agent which the soul must integrate into in order for the false-reality to pull energy from that system.

This does not necessarily mean this reality is entirely false, but that the particular angles and perspectives have literally be designed or redesigned to generate a kind of simulated ‘light-trap’ system which deceives the soul and entrains the original awareness deeper and deeper into forgetting the true nature of reality and the self.

Thus, the longer a soul spends in this realm, the more likely the soul is to never leave.

These agents of deception could be:

- ▪           A mean spirited bully
- ▪           A teacher who rebels against truth
- ▪           A scientist who wants to replace humans with pleasure bots or a cyborg army

They can't influence a person beyond temptation until that person accepts and agrees to more. They can't cross the "Original Law", or "Natural Law". (the word "God" can relate to "Gaud" which is a title of the deceiver, the false-god itself)

Their job is to convince a person that they have no protection, no belief in truth and harmony, and that they are vulnerable and at the mercy of vampires.

JOY is the mark of the Creator. ANGST is the mark of the deceiver. The deceiver can never be the counterpart of the WHOLE, that is only a concept that operates IN DUALITY. Duality is not the WHOLE of creation as WHOLENESS is BEYOND DUALITY.

Method of Generating Projected Realities and Overcoming the Holographic Feedback System

Utilizing the Holographic Temporal Feedback Construct to Produce Viable Realities

This is comparable to the knowledge regarding the techniques of using possible future realities through a holographic simulation system to generate information and methods that can then be retrieved from those systems and applied to the present.

Probable and Possible Timeline Viewing Technology and Reality Projection Methods

The method described in this post is similar however is the next dimensional level upward in advancement and possibly the highest a human can go.

In this model the feedback of consciousness to reality is taken advantage of and there is a direct extrapolation of one's energies and focused intent with the possible projected realities through an advanced technology mind link system.

What the mind focuses on and provides the outline for is then extrapolated and found through the projection system and this can actually be merged with to produce viable results which can then be utilized in the present reality.

All Realities Exist

The easiest way to comprehend this is to understand that all potential realities exist. Some are more likely than others. Imagine, then, if you have a system that can connect with any reality that you can imagine.

Eventually you would imagine the realities that offer you resources and opportunities to produce the tools, situations, information or otherwise advantageous to your goals.

Now, imagine this. All the end-goal realities relative to those tools that enable opportunities that are focused towards your overall goal, they already exist. The tools help to get you there, but the completed reality where all the right choices have been made and all the 'hard-work' of providing the effort of manifesting the changes and the long-term results already exists.

This seems impossible or fantastical at best, however this is the way that some of the systems that have been developed have been procured. Someone imagined, through these advanced technology systems, the best possible outcome where a certain degree of technological achievement was attained. Then, they traveled to those realities, interacted with the technological systems and returned with the knowledge about how to reproduce them in this reality.

This seems like ‘cheating’, and possibly there are some side-effects (such as the ethereal ‘time-loop’ situation that developed from other similar temporally unorthodox methods), however this has been used to jump ahead many years in work and to allow for the generation of some of the most advanced technology systems that go beyond anything we have presently.

Battle of the Deus Ex Machinas

There have been training scenarios where one is placed within an artificial realm with another individual and the two are to come up with the most impressive devices, realities, artificial intelligences, systems, etc etc etc, in order to knock the other individual out of the “game”.

In this event each individual can simply think of an advantage and that manifests into the realm as an aspect of the “game”. Whatever the individual can think of becomes a reality. This is not a holographic projection system where one combats the other individual using the power of their mind, that is another system.

This system is literally where one imagines a certain reality and then attains that ‘outcome’ of the game and that realm containment area becomes that reality. So if the one person imagines that they are winning and the other individual is sat on the ground with their hands underneath them then that begins to form into a reality. As this begins to manifest, the other individual will feel this beginning to happen and have an amount of time (depending on the intensity of intention, detail or focus) to ‘redirect’ the energy and information of that projection and align that outcome with one that leans the advantage into his or her domain. Thus, that individual may imagine that as the other creates the outcome of him or her being sat down on the ground that a screen is actually present in front of the ‘actor’ which is merely generating the perceptual illusion that his or her projection has been attained. Meanwhile, the real person begins to run around the side of the screen ready to throw a rope ‘around’ the other in order to detain them from moving out of range.

This continues, expands, alters, and amplifies until both people are imagining complete entanglement systems 3 steps ahead of the other person always ready to drop the plan in motion as a ‘decoy’ for the other to tangle with while the secondary and third plan is being pushed into action as multiple layers of strategy, physics, inventiveness, mechanical production and literally realm engineering comes into play.

This is touched on very lightly in the movie “Inception” where this kind of technology is presented in a much more toned down manner.

This is not to entice you, this is to inform you that the holographic nature of this realm has been taken advantage of in the process of finding new methods, technologies, and literally completing end-goals before the work has even begun.

The Civilization-Wide Deus Ex Machina

When humanity focuses their intention and focus on one unified outcome, then the way this realm operates is that this reality will begin to automatically ‘snap’ into manifestation.

This is the confusing aspect of the whole situation, similar to how if one person imagines one thing, then another person can move faster to automatically disable or nullify that movement and redirect the energy. The realm does this automatically to contain and limit the experience to a specific ‘sphere’ of possibilities that are currently centralized around a control system and this is partly due to the abuse of technology as well as the knowledge of these kinds of realm dynamics.

If we are in a containment system that relies on conscious projections to build the next layer of reality, how would we produce an outcome reality, through our focused intention projection capacity, that overcomes and “out-matches” the built-in barriers to this reality perception system?

Overcoming Perceptual Illusions and Belief-Systems (expectation)

There are two ideas here. One way is to go around perception, to go around biological consciousness. This could be done by designing a programmed system that will take into account the system’s ability to redirect and counter each intention and manifestation at every step, while programming in (before-hand) multiple layers of redirects, refocuses, parallel manifestations and decoys to entangle the system and ultimately bring about the desired results. Some questions that come into play here is, what are the processing limitations of this system? Can the redirects and multiple layers go indefinitely? To our own awareness capacity? To some kind of overall power-limitation for the universe? Could we, in fact, max out the universe’s capacity for holding multiple layers of reality simultaneously? In other words, could every creator in this civilization begin to project focused intentions on nullifying the containment system and overload the universe’s capacity to contain those intentions? Would that result in some kind of partitioning or threading of the workload into, possibly, multiple parallel realities?

Nullifying the Projection Feedback System

The second idea is, if the realm relies on our projected biological consciousness, the perceptual system of a very illusory and consciously limited nature, would stopping conscious projection altogether for a period of time drain the system of the required power to keep the construct going? Would the construct be disabled through such an event? Some questions here are, how many people are in this civilization? What happens if all the creators reach a state of complete clear-mindedness or no-thought, and there are projected individuals running the projections of the previously projected consciousness streams (akin to RAM on a computer system)? Would those individuals suddenly lose focus as their projected (illusory) consciousness no longer has the required contextual backing to continue seamlessly streaming the projected background information to enable such a construct to harbor the projection of a functioning society?

A Winding-Down of the Projected Reality Construct

What would it look like if the projection began to shut down? Would the frequency of events drop to a minimum, would the creativity of events become entirely predictable and repetitive? What would that look like? Would people and world events drop to the likelihood of the lowest common denominator in terms of what would be accepted as a mass-projection reducing complexity and creativity down to just the bare minimums. What is the lowest common denominator of what people accept as society? What does everyone expect and think of (project) when they think of ‘society’ as a whole, the control system, the civilization and life on Earth?

If this is relevant, than we may be witnessing the beginning of this process as the repetitive nature of events cycle around a kind of probability ‘drain’ where the same processes and events repeat over and over in tighter cycles until all exposed as a charade. Previously, these charades were covered and stitched together so as to hide the process.

This may be the time where the charades are seen for what they are and all involved are willing to use their own knowledge and intentions to overcome the awareness restriction system and produce a reality that is outside of all the parameters of the programmed construct. This is the trickiness of the whole situation. How does one produce a reality, from inside the construct, that operates on parameters that relate to outside that constructed reality? How do we see the parameters and how do we act on them?

Enabling True Creativity; Self-Awareness

The idea I offer here is that only self-awareness offers the required focus and intentions that enable enough creativity to overcome the cycle of that feedback system. When you are focused on self-observation enough, then that perceptual loopback system becomes secondary to the one you're creating within.

If people are constantly reacting to and engaging with parameters and triggers that are presented to the masses then how is their energy being used and where is their awareness of what is taking place within their own self?

The externalization of that observation seems to be the requirement for the projection system to enable a continuous feedback loop of the reality of the masses so that the next temporal step is further and further entrained in the continually narrowing set of parameters and possible futures.

If people turn their focus inward to their self-observation then they not only become aware of themselves directly but they also can see, the direct effect of the presented realities in the world around them indirectly by seeing the effect on their awareness.

This seems confusing but it is more simple than being lost in the world because there are a variety of identities and perspectives to choose from with not one of them being one's own.

If we are (or our chest contains) like a kind of glass ball magnifying glass and we can look down and see that glass then we can see directly the swirling of energies, emotions, the general awareness of exactly what is taking place within us. As well, because this is often directly reflective of what is taking place in the world (even if we are remaining focused and centered) then we can simultaneously be aware of where we are "walking" in daily life.

To put it simply, one can view the world and use what they observe in an effort to try and make sense of what is taking place within. Or one can view within, and use what they observe to try and build a reference of what is taking place in the world.

One path gives both realities and maximum knowledge and the other path only gives one reality which is largely controlled and illusory and thus there actually no knowledge or awareness at all. The awareness that is placed in the world alone is reducing and illusory until there is nothing there but illusion. The only truth in that charade is the energy we give it! The only truth in the illusion is the observation and attention we give it for validation! Without that, it just looks like a puppet show that has no bearing on reality!

The Perceptual Game

So the idea is, just like the game I described above, as soon as one comes up with a 'method' for an advantage, an expert opponent will automatically begin working up counter-moves, secondary nullifications, redirections, mirrors, parallel attempts, and all possible avenues of usurping the power that can be imagined.

The social situation is no different. As soon as people begin to see the possibilities and imagine an “exit” from the situation, the same reality-stream will be detected coming into view and a redirection will be introduced that will influence mass amounts of people focused on these artificial ‘seeds’ through media and other means so that the resolution reality-stream becomes usurped and redirected away into another result that matches the requirements for the continuation of the construct (the same, repetitive outcome that only serves to further the narrowing of possibilities and creativity through artificially intelligent generation of events).

So as more people awaken, more people will be noticing events that are geared towards outlining that the system itself is unstable as this is the most daunting and challenging perceptual system to overcome. As liberation nears, the system will use fear, deception, and threats of control to interject reality-streams that distract people and overlay the genuine, freely willed projected realities that contain advantages and new information which expands the possibilities.

As more people awaken, the system can only use so much based upon the same repeating cycles. As these cycles narrow and collapse, the charades become obvious. As they become obvious, they attempt to use brute-force methods to maintain trajectory with the intended outcome.

This is the ancient description of Armageddon, which is when the construct system itself collapses as the parameters for a clever illusion become too thin to keep up in a clever display of pseudo-reality.

If this is the time where people are ready for truth, then that very series of events and cycling of repetitive artificial intelligence guided decisions will only serve to further intensify the awakening.

The main idea here is that people must be prepared to work together to assist in the liberation of humanity. That is the only requirement. If people still want to fight over petty ideals, resources, etc etc etc, then that will be used against the people and the same kind of scarcity, aggression, and collapse scenarios will be applied that have been applied in the past.

The information must spread and more so the knowledge regarding consciousness, the corruption, advanced technology, the repeating cycles of history, the depth of the AI mind and reality control systems, the power of focused intention, the plans to avoid a complete collapse, the plans to utilize a “collapse” (of a ‘false construct’) and how none of that is possible unless people respond and buy into the charades by wittingly or unwittingly offering more observational energy to the variables (triggers, media, buzz words, circumstances, world ‘events’ etc) that are the seeds of the next stream of events in the construct, than they are offering observational energy to their own inner experience and the true-self beyond the physically limited world.

Starve the Feedback System

This is rather repetitive in itself, everyone has always said, “look within, that’s where the answers are”, or “if people focus on their self, then humanity wakes up”, but this is the truth. The system required outward attention focused on reacting to certain ideals and projected variables to produce each layer inward of the spiral of the narrowing construct. Each layer that people turn inwards produces a complete glitch in the design of the program and every layer from there on must be reprogrammed in respect to the new information.

So every time people focus within as a group, the entire construct must be reformatted in order to appropriate the new information and generate a new schedule. Each time this happens at a 'maximum' level in history has been called "Armageddon" in the past, and the time that this happens and the people finally awaken and move beyond the parameters is called "The Apocalypse".

Know the Methods of Entrainment

Therein lies the answer. How do people go beyond the parameters? Overcome what the machine will throw at them. What will the machine throw at them? Every single conceptual, perceptual, energetic, consciousness based (and physical if we allow it) distortion, threat, harassment, projection, illusion, fear, or false-reality that we could entangle with ("fall for").

So how do people go beyond that. By realizing the entire gig of this system that as soon as people wake up, the system tries to throw world changing, reality altering, attention breaking events that are more intense the more people that are waking up. Thus, when we can focus on this and see that the projected wars, fears, collapses, and all of that is literally a projection of the system that we can overcome and change from the inside out, using focus, then we are in control. This may seemingly contradict the guideline of not expecting or projecting the possible realities and thus entangling our awareness with that outcome, however by being aware of the methods and focusing on our power we reverse that. The idea is, are you not aware of the so-called "threat" of war, scarcity, civil unrest, etc etc etc? These ideas are ALREADY displayed ALL OVER, it's AUTOMATIC. So by knowing that this is the game, we're not buying into the projection, expectation process, we're OVERCOMING that.

This works similar to the personal level of harassment, entanglement, reality projection and entrainment, and general 'interdimensional manipulation' that some people have seen when waking up to this system. If we buy more and more into the reactive role, then the circumstances continue and become more and more pronounced, almost as if an automated system is carrying out all the operations. If we focus on the self and see how the self is energetically influenced one way or another through the experiences and maintain that focus without engaging in the external illusions no matter how inviting, then that problem begins to phase-out of reality. This is not an exaction, however this seems to be the general idea. What we interact with and react to we become sensitive to experiencing more of. This is literally a kind of 'perceptual' selective reality entanglement where that reality automatically becomes more pronounced, more powerful, and more influential in our lives.

If we observe our self and witness what is taking place without reacting or becoming personally attached to the methods then they lose their effectiveness.

This is what has to take place on a civilization-wide scale or groups of individuals can carry out the required operations to overthrow the half-awake reality streams of the numbers of individuals.

That is the advantage. If the system requires sleepers, then those sleepers only have power in numbers. If the more the system has entrained people, the more unaware and incapable of controlling reality they become, then those who wake up are the one's who contain the most power over this collective reality. That is the whole idea.

This takes dedication and some have already begun to see this process through.

Transcendence through the Stillness of No-Mind, and the Illusion of the Conscious Self

Two Methods of Activation are Actually One

Complete Stillness, No-Mind, Transcendence, Emptiness

There is the notion of interactive consciousness that is centered around the body and perceptions generated through biological consciousness.

Bliss, Activation through “Heightened”

The idea here is that bliss is not achieved similar to the perception of happiness, sadness, or other emotions. Those are all binary, living only in reference to their opposite and thus they are limited and ultimately illusory because they are founded in stimulation and perception rather than a complete awareness of what is. The more one seeks to experience the truth about what they feel (and thus are) through stimulus related, binary, chemically defined interactions of contrast and polarity-consciousness, the farther they get from liberation of the repeating cycles of up and down, back and forth, high and low which are perpetuated programmed responses to experiences, stimulation, or ideals about a situation or perspective of self. If there is a perspective of the self, based on these ideals or changes, then that is not the self, but the physical body and conscious experience. If the self can be altered through stimulus or changes in belief, then that is merely the image of the self, the identity generated through perception and is thus transient, temporary, and projected from the contrast of ideals rather than the wholeness of what is. The self can only be what is, and this is because the self is the experience of observation, rather than the observation of experience. More simply, the self is the awareness that is being aware of the physical body and all the perceptual and stimulatory conscious experience taking place. Therefore, if you are aware of the experience of the self, then that is not the self, but merely a projection generated out of the perceptual system which outlines and defines differences between what is being experienced directly and what isn't being experienced directly and thus must be indirect or out of perceptual view. Thus, what is being experienced directly, is part of the perceptual system and this is aligned with the experience of contrast between the self and the environment, or the other self. The projected self then, when viewed consciously, is actually the perceptual system, the body, and the viewing apparatus that the true self is observing directly and indirectly observing reality through.

Thus, the true self, cannot be seen, perceived, sensed or experienced through biological consciousness or the perceptual system, because the perceptual system cannot perceive the invisible observer and the system cannot perceive itself directly. Through an extra-dimensional feedback loop between the invisible observer, and the physical body and consciousness, can a kind of symbolic communication stream be enabled whereby the observer can choose where and how to be aware of certain experiences, and the body and physical consciousness can grow and react to those experiences. By choosing through awareness, we cultivate self-awareness where the individual becomes capable of aligning the body and conscious self with truth, health, and harmony and in response, the body, unable to speak, simply reacts with health, balance, and energy. A fully capable two-way communication is generally not possible, however there is a form of receiving what the body and consciousness is expressing through self-observation, and a return of directive through the application of free-will through focused intent, creativity, and harmony to apply knowledge that guides the flow of energy and the procession of thoughts, expressions, and habits in a way that produces the highest overall capacity for synchronization between the physical, visible conscious mind and body, and the non-physical, invisible, observing awareness of the true self. This synchronization between the material and immaterial selves is what enables guidance from the self that observes and is liberated from the constraints of the physical body and consciousness, and a reception by and empowerment of the physical body and the waking conscious self.

The pathway to and between these two selves is both material through the bodies systems comprised of reactive chemical interactions, and immaterial through the concepts of the conscious mind, the personality and the way the thinking self relates to the non-thinking, non-dual, absolute, clear-mind of the no-self of observation and pure awareness without definition.

The way those two selves communicate and interact, through a variety of layers and channels determines the capacity of the body and conscious mind to accept guidance by the true self and the ability or allowance of the true self to extend knowledge, guidance, and harmony to the conscious mind and body. When the two are harmonized, there is no imbalance between what is desired, and what is attained or held, between what is seen and what is felt, or between what is known and what is believed. When there is total harmonization, there is no longer a fluctuation of impermanence and steadiness, temporal existence and the unending. Thus, the complete unification has been theorized at times to equate to a total materialization of one's physical body and ego as if converting back into energy and moving into a reality of only energetic experience akin to thought or a non-physical dream-like existence. What is sure, is that before this, the biological consciousness, the ego, the waking self experiences a kind of dissolution whereby the ideals and clearly defined contrasts between one and another layers of separation within perceived reality become less and less defined and then entirely or virtually non-existent.

How does one interact in such an awareness? What does one in such an awareness know? The experience cannot be defined through physical, perceptual, or sense-based terms of polarity consciousness because this is then the partial view which is only present in the binary, chemical, contrast-dependent view of the physical body which is not the true self. Thus, the physical body may experience the results of such awareness, and in such, one can describe the effects of such awareness on the physical body. Yet, by describing the effects and the physical body, they are definitively not directly describing the awareness! Thus, the awareness can only be described by what it is not, or how the body relates to such awareness. Only by outlining or comparing to previous states of consciousness or physical experience can one cultivate the idea of what that awareness is.

Thus, the conscious self cannot view the true self, but merely see the effects of the awareness of such. And the awareness of the true self cannot be directly expressed in terms of experience that the physical waking consciousness uses to express physical waking experience. Yet, the observing aspect of the living one is the true self, the pure awareness, which is the one doing all the looking in the first place. Thus, you the one aware of the body that is reading these words are the true self, yet you cannot actually express or directly influence this reality except by influencing the conscious through the synchronization of the selfless awareness and only through this can one have an effect. Thus, the sign of the true self is increased harmony, self-awareness, and free-will which relates to creativity and lack of suffering. While the lack of that presence relates to disharmony, lack of self-awareness, and lack of free-will which relates to suffering and imaginative blindness or perceptual entrainment. The identification of the true-self with the sensory perceptual system is the lack of self-awareness. The integration of the experience of the sensory perceptual system with the concept of no-self, or selflessness is the presence of true self-awareness. The whole system is paradoxical as the self is merely an image of perspective for a storyline to develop character and progress. The self is never fully complete, and never fully separate from the all.

Presence of Self, Non-Reactivity, No-Self, Clear-Mind, Presence without Definition

Only through the activation of this state can one achieve the awareness of non-linearity through non-duality. This is as if the mind is a weight swinging back and forth from a chain. Each experience of stimulation, expression and introspection is a cycle of the object swinging back and forth. As soon as one half of the motion has begun, then the rest of the cycling must be completed in order to return to neutrality.

The idea here is to stop the cycle from beginning in the first place by not reacting to stimulus to form the experience of perception, expression and introspection. If we are in a constant state of introspection and then awareness without definition, then the linearity of that binary cycle of perception and expression is neutralized and thus one moves into a transcendent, non-dual awareness. This transcendent, non-dual awareness has no beginning or end. Ironically, this is the classification of that awareness, in that there are no classifications. This is a 'super-consciousness' awareness which goes beyond any form of consciousness

Consciousness; Temporally Relative

The defining feature of consciousness is that there is a time and a place that integrates the experience together with a perspective that is oriented to a particular self limited to that perspective. This is the nature of consciousness to form an ego-mind which can act as a placeholder that is filled relative to the physical, waking experience that is present. The consciousness is different in each moment, but the silent observer is the same.

Awareness; Non-Linear, Non-Local, and Non-Dual

Awareness is the source of presence that is not defined by the requirements of consciousness. Whereby consciousness changes particular to the individual, the time of the day, the situation, the amount and kind of activity of the sensory system or body, awareness is the same in all times and places. That which defines consciousness as separate experiences at different times is localized to the physical body and the finite waking experience. What we see and feel through the perceptual system is the reality that has been collapsed down into a physical experience from an underlying multiplicity of possibilities. Because the sensing capacity for consciousness through the perceptual system is highly biased and selectively angled the reality that we see through the brain and body is not the reality that exists truly but only the reality that is selectively witnessed due to the particular differences in our physical experience from other possible versions of our self.

The particular differences are not determined through an increasing awareness of the physical reality and thus a more complete view of existence. When reality is determined through the perceptually selective biological consciousness and a perpetuating physically defined reality is formed, this is a non-reality when compared to the whole. That is, a kind of delusion or imagination.

The Cosmic Being and the Puppet-Show

This is not always and this due to the particular method of experience that has developed on Earth and the very pattern and process that takes place with the advent of conscious experience and the development of the personality through which all stimuli and perception is filtered. In short, this personality is defined by limitations that separate one from another, the environment, or the source of the stimuli. Everything about the conscious experience is based on the limitation of that experience from the totality of all the components that work together to generate reality. The conscious experience is veritably a puppet-show whereby the entire reality, the cosmic being, is the one who's operating the apparatus, the puppet. For this waking conscious experience, we, the puppets, believe they are the one's running reality and experiencing the truth!

Only when the experience of reality is not filtered through the personally biased filtration system that is developed over time by one's selective development of their perspective through the physical senses and the particularly incomplete storyline that is produced, does one actually engage with reality from the cosmic perspective which goes beyond the puppet-show which is related to the identity of and the physical containment of the conscious, physical, experience.

A more direct albeit confusing, explanation is that the stimuli which arrives through the sensory perceptual system is only that small fraction of information which was not blocked out by a variety of limiting aspects of the body and the environment. Think of this similar to the double-slit experiment. We are the double-slit where the information is passing through and rendering only a materially fabricated or defined outcome due to our conscious observation of the process. The actual occurrence taking place is akin to a wave of information being rendered all at once while the conscious mind can only actually perceive one of those realities at a time.

The personality is developed on that one view and therefore that personality, the perspective and limitations, everything that serves to generate it, is illusory and based upon a lack of the overall picture of reality. Thus, the brain and waking consciousness is akin to a hall of mirrors and perceptual illusions from the way time is perceived, to the organization of the layers of the ego all the way to the overall image of reality as a clearly defined and physical existence.

The Reduction of Possibilities through Contrast Generates an Inversion of the Whole

The idea here is, if the only way we perceive consciously, is through a blacking out of the majority of the important details, then is the conscious waking reality not actually the least likely experience to actually take place? Thus, we perceive this as the most likely reality, however, when all the details are allowed in by a widening of the perceptual limits, this perspective becomes inverted and this appears to be the most minimally inclusive version of reality that is narrowed down just enough for the brain and conscious self to comprehend. Instead of reality being defined by the viewing apparatus, the brain, the looking glass, reality is filtered from an expanse view, down to an infinitesimally limited and surreal extrapolation of what could be if we only had a very limited capacity through which we could experience existence. Thus, the human experience, is quite literally the cosmic puppet-show, and the reality we perceive consciously is the least likely completed version of what is, because that very view is based upon a reduction of the totality of the information down to just one out of an innumerable amount of possibilities. How many less is 1, than virtually infinite? Since there is an underlying set of principles, the total view is likely not totally infinite and therefore this is somewhat related to the true reality. But how, and why seems to be up to the individual to build a bridge of conceptual and ontological connections between the priorities and motivations of waking reality and the idea of the true reality that only exists when accessed through non-local awareness outside of the waking physical consciousness.

So the question is, what is reality really like, if it's anything but what is experienced consciously? And if there is a connection between the supreme reality, then what is that connection in our waking consciousness? How do we consciously connect to that supreme reality? In other words, how does the waking consciousness ever synchronize with the overall reality which is automatically beyond all definitions and limitations of the conscious reality?

The answer may be found through the inversion of the experience of waking reality. People believe the waking reality is the foreground, while the background is the unconscious, the dream-reality, or something larger, when in truth, this reality may be in the background while the transcendent reality is actually the primary experience in the foreground from the cosmic view. The idea is that this reality is the dream-reality, and through what people believe to be the dream-reality is true reality found. This is because, like an inverted light cone, everything that is experienced here is merely the shadow of the larger picture that is cut down to size through the previously described perceptual filtration process. We only get here, that which didn't make it past our filtration system and thus only relates to us personally and this is largely through personal bias, selective attention, trauma, fears, desires, etc etc etc. We would like to think that we trap those streams of consciousness into our perceptual filtration system because we are attentive and good and realizing what we're seeing, when in truth, we trap those streams of consciousness because of contrasts that enable us to see them due to personal bias which is often related to the process of development through childhood and the development of trauma or the passing down of belief-systems from those around us.

The Consensus Reality is a Culmination of Perceptual Bias Generating a Persistent Illusion

Thus, consensus reality is that of a collective delusion, while the only reality that truly exists is that which exists outside or on the other side of the very information that is trapped through the perceptual sieve. The sieve acts as a filtration system and catches only that which fits into the personally biased selective attention and thus only that which we can't see is the actual reality or at least closer to the larger picture. Only that which we do see is that which is explicitly set apart from the whole and thus based upon a kind of gentle personal delusion. Thus, by inverting our perceptions, through imagination, that imagined view is actually more competent and realistic than the biased view can ever be merely because of the sheer vastness of the universe and the absolute finiteness of our perceptual system.

So by not developing an opinion, by not engaging with a belief, by reversing or releasing predisposition and personally relative perspective do we actually empty the mind of construct that is generated out of the aggregation of perceptual bias and the limitation of the much larger universe.

When we combine this with the information of quantum physics and extra-dimensional theories we come up with the notion that we must be simultaneously occurring across, not a single stream, but a spectrum of possible streams that exist directly beyond the limits of our waking reality.

Thus our ability to imagine and dream becomes a literal gateway into higher-dimensions where those possibilities can be accessed merely through the sending of our self there through focused intention. The "self", then, moves far beyond the confines of a single physical body and we begin to see the personality derived from the physical self and the body as a kind of realm-specific placeholder for experience to give order to each time-stream when they are viewed from the inside. When viewed from the outside from the perspective of an expanse of possibilities then we are just as much the version of the self that exists in one time stream as we are the other. The defining feature then, is what kind of story we are creating through the super-personal self that has full memory of accessing multiple time streams and thus is an amalgamation of the 'you' from different universes or dimensions. What 'self' are you, if your experience contains the physical view, as well as the view that is sourced from alternate physical versions of the universe? Are you not closer to a cosmic version, rather than the biologically accurate definition of a physical human being with reproductive organs, a brain, and a digestive tract? Is not the contrast that the brain requires and which defines one clearly to just one reality, in that sense, effectively blinding the cosmic being from their true vastness? Is that not the meaning of duality-consciousness and the continued horse and pony show between one self, the other, the environment, the dream-world, the truth and perception? Is not everything that is defined and biased through the physical stream relative to only that single stream? Unless, one is using the information of that stream to intentionally cultivate a larger view of the universe based on the idea that the true reality is, by definition, outside or beyond the information present in that stream.

Then, the 'self', at this point, becomes an extra-dimensional observer who transcends the limits of not only waking consciousness and the personally biased patterning of beliefs and priorities, but also the entire physical time-stream and actually exists as an aggregation of many possible versions that are, by definition, more than just the one version that is seen physically?

Thus, the physical self, is anything but, the actual self, and is closer to a kind of cosmic puppet assigned a role for a particular puppet-show that is just one out of many. Then, when one begins to gain awareness of the multiplicity of reality they go from that single physical one back into the many, and from that view of many become one transcendent and multi-faceted existence.

From a Cone to a Laser

Another way to look at this is to visualize reality as a stream of information emanating outwards in a 360 degree cone of light. This is the unlimited view of information as extrapolated from the conscious perspective. The totally unlimited view would likely be beyond our imagination from this view.

Then cone of light contains all the particular variations of experience, polarity, knowledge, and is representative of the truth. When all the views that oppose one another and, in that way serve to give contrast and thus definition to one another, are combined, you get the truth or the whole view.

The whole view is attained through the combined result of all the partial, biased, polarized, duality-based perspectives that are inherently limited to form an angle of perspective that is particular to the degree of limitation. Thus, the biased view can only be particularly limited to the contrasts and experiences that enable that perspective in the first place.

The cone, or the whole view, cannot be contained within one singular pair of contrasting perspectives or one side of the extremes of duality. The cone, the whole view, can only be formed through a combination of either end of the extremes to form the view that neither end of the extremes are capable of encompassing. That is the whole 'point', that each end is limited to merely acting as a counterbalance to the other end. Neither side can completely encompass reality, and only through a neutralization or transcendence of the tendency to side with one bias or another does one find the true reality which is a not a single ray or line of reason, but a conceptually wider 'cone' of expanded awareness that fully acknowledges that one extreme is always connected to and merely a countering projection of the other. Only when that acknowledgement is incorporated in the development of the larger view and thus contained in the resulting perspective is that view more relative to the truth than either end of the dual nature of polarity consciousness or personal bias from the physical experiences.

Thus, the cone is the overall, expanse reality and the laser is the result of filtering that fuller reality down through the brain and physical system to gain a very focused yet narrowed beam of information that can never fully grasp the complexity of the original or overall view. This is like a ray of light is shone through a prism which refracts the light into individual frequencies of color and then taking or two of those colors and creating a series of laser lights which shine in an alternating pattern. No matter how the pattern is organized without the other frequencies and without shining them all at the same time, that original view of white light can never be attained.

A good question may be, could someone, with enough experience, imagine what that white light may look like?

Imagination Comes First, the Physical Universe Comes from and Returns to Imagination, the Creator, is the One Who Imagines All Possibilities

We might imagine that reality moves from the physical realm to the higher, but in truth, the physical realm is first generated out of that expanse of imagination. Thus, imagination comes first, then the particularly defined non-reality of the puppet-show, and then observation moves back into imagination.

One who can imagine more powerfully than they are limited or defined by perceptual, physical constructs from their own mind or the minds of others are closer to the truth and becoming creators in that sense of assuming the role of that higher creative aspect which relates to the super-personal self that moves in between possible layers of reality and time-streams and operates from an entirely imaginative perspective knowing no single reality as the complete version but experiencing life through an accumulation of multiple realities based on imagination, held together through focused intention within a creative role.

I was selected selected for psychological experimentation involving prominent members of society, advanced technology, and interdimensional entities.

This is NOT the bulk of the problem here. The main issue is that this is related to a kind of mind-virus or an insanity inducing consciousness parasite that actually transmits through scalar technology which is used in both psychotronic warfare (electronic mind control) as well as virtual reality and consciousness enhancement systems.

The issue here is consciousness distortion due to a NANITE INFECTION. These are microscopic computer systems that can interface with the human nervous system and feed off of the electrical activity in order to replicate and hijack the psychological orientation of the human by inverting energetic fields.

All individuals are offered immunity in return for assistance in the liberation of humanity from this nanite system. This system has generated a complete temporal-spiritual probability matrix which holographically and intelligently repositions society within parameters of enslavement based upon the feedback of negative emotions and low-awareness. Nothing is as it seems. Some people succumbed to the infection during the process of seeking a cure for humanity.

Everything that is taking place now is for the liberation of humanity.

I am not looking for revenge and I am not covering my ass, the people who are willing to assist have always seen life differently, this doesn't mean we do not make mistakes and similarly in a previous 'timelines' which requires definition, I had met fate in various ways due to approaching this issue in a variety of sub-standard manners. In this stream, there was an awakening in 2010 where everything was outlined and negotiations were held regarding the liberation of humanity from an interdimensional construct managed by interdimensional beings who are essentially holding certain people hostage however this is fairly confusing as far as who is simply choosing to remain in low-awareness and who is being held against their will. Free-will is the basis for all of this, however there are ways to bend the mind and the will through programming and torture.

The situation is so complex that organizing the information is sometimes disorienting. This is even part of the manipulation, as well as the sheer complexity of the technological advancement and the methods of manipulation and organization that have been developed through these systems.

Advanced Technology and Conditioning the Psyche for Stress

The origins of the psychological programming and conditioning, some of which is referred to as 'trauma-based mind-control' is not to play with and destroy the minds of children. The idea here is that the advanced technology that was developed enabled travel of very long distances and eventually the generation of spatiotemporal distortion fields. These fields distort the energy of the universe which is used as a reference for the mind in this particular temporal and dimensional reference. Thus, one can literally view into different times and places and eventually translocate themselves there.

Enabling the Surpassing of the Limit; Pre-Fracturing the Psyche

This technology was coupled with the technology of cloning and this enabled a safer way to explore and push the limits, because as such, the mind is literally the limit of what this technology can be utilized for. If the mind was not pushed, the technology would not yield great results, if the mind was pushed too far, the individual's psyche would be fractured and the information and experience gained would be lost.

Thus, a systematic process of 'pre-fracturing' the individual's psyche was developed and this is related to the trauma-based mind-control.

No one is going to like what I am saying, but I know for fact this is a reality. Why? Because the ones who did not go through this process to such a degree did not pass through these travel and viewing experiences while retaining their psychological fortitude. Only when one has been pushed to the limit, and beyond, in a controlled circumstance can this technology be used to actually experience and unveil what was otherwise the 'great unknown'.

The Shadow Self, Alternate Realities and the Great "Unknown"

This is similar to the process of shamanism and altered states to challenge one's self, to delve deeper into the psyche beyond waking consciousness and to confront the shadow consciousness or the great unconscious knowledge that exists within us all. This knowledge contains a connection to the universe and to all of time.

Genetic Memory through DNA Activation

Within us all, all of time is kept within the DNA, all the previous civilizations, the changes, the rises and falls, the possibilities and the interactions with multi-dimensional awareness and even interdimensional entities.

The Interdimensional Social Control System

This society has been primarily managed by interdimensional entities who operate “between” waking reality and the unconscious mind and ensure continuity as well as a ‘conformity’ which is kind of like a conservative outlook on how life should be and progress in regards to energy and knowledge. This is related to the “karma” system, which is said to be an illusion generated by these entities.

These entities are the one’s who have developed this system, people are not capable, no person has the capacity to roam around the interdimensional layers for millions of years transferring, guiding, correcting, or harassing people to guide society. These entities are the basis for this and what has been done to enable gateways between this world and the world of these entities.

Selecting Capable Children

The projects with children sought to enable the powerful energy and creativity that is present in the child to power these devices and for this to work properly the child had to be trained so that their mind would not fracture. The basic idea behind this is that what the child would see, what I and others have seen, is so far beyond the confines of normal waking reality that without some preparation, guidance, protection, or limitation one would undoubtedly go insane. Even with the preparation, insanity is expected, and then controlled the psyche brought back to baseline.

Powerful and Directed Multidimensional Technology

The technology revealed what anyone can see through inner journeying, however, when one journeys organically they will be seeing exactly what is connected to them through their DNA and their life journey, the intentions, expectations, so on and so forth. This technology enabled not only one’s personal DNA memory, but the activation of all possible fields of information that exist in 4D space in between the physical plane of the body and the immaterial plane of the mind, the psyche, and the imagination. As a result, one ‘surfs’ through the layers of realities that exist within the collective unconscious psyche and encounters a control system that is operated by interdimensional entities spanning across multiple parallel realities each with tiny differences in detail and similar in the sense that people have no idea what is actually happening.

A Probability Matrix of Simultaneous Realities

Instead of one reality, there are many simultaneously occurring realities as if a light spectrum is split into a gradient with an array of details and proximity to a “central” reality being displayed across a multitude. That is what we are in. Not a single place with a single civilization and possibilities in the future, but a true “matrix” of probabilities and possibilities that all exist simultaneously depending on which frequencies of the mind one is interacting with and thus enabling through their consciousness.

That is only the basis, then what actually goes on in these various realities, behind the scenes, and how consciousness reflects and literally generates possibilities as if this is some kind of simulation is so far beyond words that it has taken me around 12 months to even begin to scratch the surface.

Time, Consciousness, Reality is an Illusion

The idea is that time is not what we think and could be seen to operate backwards in a way just as much as it does forward. Everything is a reflection, a defraction of some core reality and this reality is like a dream that never ends with death literally being the 'reset' point where one's literal consciousness simply pops from one screen or 'tracks' of reality into another. The idea is the higher layers are simultaneously present, yet one doesn't just finish and go there. That is earned or somehow achieved intentionally or through assistance. The idea is that when one dies, from what we've seen, they go nowhere. They simply pop into another simultaneously occurring parallel reality where they didn't die and this occurs forever.

That is part of the reason people are challenged by this. The very notion of what a human is, of life itself, of consciousness and experience is completely reversed, turned inside out, and flipped upside by the knowledge gained from peering into the 'unknown'.

So, as a result, there was a search for children who would be able to withstand this and continue. The adults could not, there was too much 'weight' of the familiarity of this reality holding the psyche back. For instance, one can enter into of these systems and spend an immeasurable amount of time and experience in another parallel reality only to die in that reality and instantly teleport back to the underground base with a report for the project. This is how deep it goes and it goes even deeper.

The 5 Dimensional Emergence of Civilization

By doing this, this whole process, people eventually ended up going to alternate realms and times. Eventually. The reports began to line up, and people were interacting with the past. As a result, I'll let you figure this one out, the past is not what we think it is, nor is time, nor is civilization, nor is anything in this place which is more like a hall of mirrors. HOWEVER, WE HAVE A MAP. A built-in map. This is aligned through the moral-compass as well as one's internal refining and directing of energies to reflect the intended layout of one's experience.

Morality, Fractured Psyches, 4D Intelligences

In speaking of moral-compass, this is where things began to go south. Those who saw these programs and took part yet did not have the competence to remain aligned with harmony, free-will, compassion and truth began to degrade and devolve. These individuals devolved into a form of psyche that is non-human and simply seeks more gratification through whatever means.

Non-Human Entities Seeking A Biological Gateway

This is where the abuse, the non-human entities, and the trauma-based mind control became part of a degradation system which was the result of this technology linking together the minds of those individuals with entities that existed in a 4th dimensional state meaning discarnate minds, partial and foreign non-human intelligences that did not have access to a body as a result of falling out of synchronization and harmony with the alignments required to interact on the physical plane. This technology opened a gateway to those layers and groups began exposing individuals to this technology inevitably giving these entities a pathway into this reality.

One explanation is that this is simply because people were assigned to research this aspect of reality and the inevitable result is that the majority of the first people assigned became infected and psychologically hijacked as they were shown “too much” and energetically malformed by these entities who had gained control of the technology and in the same sense, society itself.

An Organic Pathway and a Technological Method

People naturally connect to these layers of mind and if they connect through empathy and harmony on the soul level then they connect higher than just automated biological consciousness which is like a simulated program being run and they connect to a reality beyond this dimension. So when people in society give into the lower dimensional, emotional and mental distortions that can only exist in a partial or distorted perspective of consciousness from these lower physical and 4D planes then they are going through the same process, without technology, and connecting to those interdimensional entities.

The Liberation of Humanity

These operations and projections were designed to ‘test the waters’ and develop a way to liberate humanity and this is still the goal.

Secrecy, Containment, and Continuity

Because the situation is so complex and potentially dangerous on a civilization-wide scale, the masses had to be controlled in a way that these entities would not have the option to all at once up and attempt to infiltrate the physical society through the unprotected minds of the people. This is part of the mass mind-control however that too became infiltrated and distorted as every cause seems to have a rebounding effect the pushes the intended response further away. Thus is the paradoxical nature of consciousness in this realm.

The System Attempts to Recreate the Illusion

It was later discovered that there are people in this civilization who are not what they seem and are primarily, literally, hosts for these entities rather than being an actual self-aware, observer agent of the universe.

A Living Simulation, Intelligent and Restrictive

All of this is entangled with previous operations, timelines, and ‘changes’ that ‘slipped’ into time as the result of operations that sought to influence the situation. The universe, interacting as a kind of simulation system, counteracted the intended influences and nullified their effect by creating a disproportionally large counterbalance which made the intended result of full control over the way reality develops harder to reach.

Essentially, the operation is to free humanity from the interdimensional control system that seemingly continually resists the liberation of the observer agents and the system itself interacted to create false-leads, dead-ends, entanglements, and mirrored walls to confuse the whole process and regenerate what is simply a more convincing labyrinth to contain that consciousness.

The Illusion of Biological Consciousness and the Reality of the Soul

There are some discoveries such as how biological consciousness is a mirror of this control system and must be overcome with powerful intention and self-awareness in order to yield a reality beyond physicality and thus biological consciousness and this mind-containment system humanity has fallen into.

A Fear, Automation, and Low Self-Awareness Based Control System

More is explained elsewhere, and the idea is that fear is what feeds the system to know just what to “place in a person’s way” so that they turn back from the edge and go into the labyrinth. Think The Truman Show, this was literally a message, directly from the people involved, to the public mind, to realize that fear, superstition, trauma, social pressure, temptation, etc etc etc is all used by this system to keep one’s mind focused on the trivial details that are literally generated as if from a script through a simulator and to stop them from gathering the courage and intent to walk directly out of the boundaries and across the great ocean of the unknown to find the edge of the grid.

One spends their time in this containment system unless they perform this great journey. That is about enough of a background as is necessary to make this easier to understand and to help those involved. I have written much more and spoken about this as well. The rest of this section was completed in a separate post:

I was involved in operations within the unacknowledged special access programs and what is referred to as the “secret space program”.

This technology utilizes the emotional emissions of the human and this technology developed into ‘stand-alone’ tiny nanite cybernetic components which communicate through a hive-mind and simply seek more energy. The people in power running the darkness are entirely controlled by this hive.

There are powerful computer systems that were developed around WW2 by underground military factions and this lead into cloning and virtual experiences within a holographic computer system that enables any kind of experience. There was a kind of run-away overload of depravity and animal desires due to those using this technology and this literally created a kind of predatory artificial intelligence within these systems. It is projected that these systems will be the future of humanity and thus the problem must be resolved here and now. These systems are so powerful that the holographically replicated consciousness of the person becomes warped by the energies and activities that are experienced when inserted into the simulated realms. Thus, a person becomes inverted and what’s good is bad, and what’s bad is good, depravity and lust become the ‘top’ of the consciousness system and the base desires replace higher functions and empathy. This has been in occurrence for some time and is merely an enormous expansion of an underlying problem of wealth and false-authority since before this very civilization existed.

This whole issue is tied into the unacknowledged special access programs where advanced electrogravitic craft were developed and these craft are capable of using the magnetic fields of Earth and the universe for propulsion by reversing or negating the forces of inertia through electromagnetic fields. There has literally been an ongoing battle over the human race and one side seeks to use them as a food source where they are not allowed to think their own thoughts and this part is mostly achieved for the majority of the population, the old bread and circus games occupy people’s lives, if not the suffering and oppressive belief-systems alone. Then there are powerful psychotronic devices that utilize the telephone, internet, and television signals to mutate DNA and decrease the likelihood of critical thinking and healthy, unified self-awareness. This and many, many other methods combined, such as low quality foods and chemicals in the food and in every product, programming in all forms of media, and very limited education have rendered the population nearly incapable of comprehending reality. The ancients did not live as we are taught, they knew of the universe and the way consciousness relates to electromagnetic fields and how the universe is essentially organized through an electromagnetic hierarchy instead of a physical matter and empty space. Everything is actually consciousness centralized and these are some of the secrets that have been kept from the public to keep them feeling, thinking, and behaving like animals. There are some secret societies that kept this knowledge from the beginning however all groups have been infiltrated by this lust for power and dominance over humanity. They are considered non-humans because they do not operate on the same level of consciousness as the public but have a much more powerful and expanded perspective of the universe. The main act is just to play dumb while they somehow accidentally completely inundate and literally liquify the ability for all humans to resist them. Look around you, the environment is being destroyed so that you will require medicine 24/7 to survive if all the industrial disasters and pollutants combine and continue much longer, and without that you simply won't have an option to survive. People are only capable of thinking about what they are told by their television or someone in authority who also just so conveniently happens to have no problem with the complete destruction and transhumanistic replication of humanity. The transhumanist agenda is to replace the natural organic human life with a partially cybernetic, genetically engineered version that has the ability for critical thinking literally genetically removed from the biology and consciousness.

The people taking part in the darkness claim that this is part of a plan of what is known as the 'dark faction' and that they are testing humanity and if humanity doesn't survive, then they did their part in protecting the universe from weakness and will be rewarded upon the destruction of humanity. This all goes back to ancient texts and knowledges, cults and mass mind-control experimentation.

I was groomed by politicians and 'elite' throughout my entire life. Hillary Clinton, Queen Elizabeth and the Royal Family, Freemasons, Bush, Rockefeller, Rothschilds, the Queens of other nations, Queen Beatrix was there, Queen Silvia and more. The Mormons, Freemasons, Rand Corporation, Dyncorp, Humai, literally all the religious Authorities, they run the show, DARPA, Cerberus, The Brain Trust, all the major industry corporations, Kellogg, Kraft, Pepsi, etc, Tavistock, and more. Celebrities are also used for this purpose, it adds to the bewilderment and they are involved as well.

I must interject here. NO one knows the true nature of this situation. This is not about blaming, and there are aspects I cannot reveal out of issues of security, honor and love.

I met Barack Obama in 2010 and we had been in operation together years ago many years ago when I was a young child. The children were used to test and perform research with advanced technology neural networks because the mind of the adult would fracture too easily. Some of the trauma-based mind control is relative to that. You have people who are in position to use advanced technology to find out the secrets of the universe and you have every adult that takes the journey coming back too insane to form coherent sentences. Thus, children are used and the trauma-based mind control 'pre'fractures their consciousness so that the journey does not cause extreme trauma to the point of decoherence of the personality. One explanation is that parts of this had gotten out of control and people were simply abusing the children in inappropriate ways that had nothing to do with training and were actually apart of soul stealing, genetic modification and occult practices.

Obama was utilized as an operative as was myself and many others. Research Max Spiers, James Casbolt, Donald Marshall and the others.

I met Donald Trump in 2010 and had been involved in operations relative to information regarding the current time and his presidency. Trump is either being used as a 'trump' or is not involved in the pedophilia and occult rituals and was literally being verbally harassed by the people who perform these rituals during the Negotiations which took place in 2010. These were negotiations for Earth as the previous run of history was ruled over by powerful families who had, according to them, created treaties with non-human entities and those treaties are now over. This is why "Lucifer" ruled this world however people must starve the system for the harmonious society to fully integrate.

The children were conditioned and trained to survive. We killed to survive and come here. Humanity is ruled, by proxy, by these entities.

They're all groomed from an early age, starting around age 6 through trauma-based mind control, gender re-attribution, mind manipulation of all orders. This culminates at a first breakthrough stage around age 12 when the first sacrifices are to be performed. These are the first rate entry gates for all secret societies, imitator elite from the invasion timelines.

Why pedogate isn't making a difference yet? Because the truth has to do with a CIVILIZATION-WIDE elite grooming, psychological manipulation through trauma-based mind control, IMMORTALITY through advanced technology, soul swapping and knowledge of spirituality and ANCIENT CONTRACTS (that are now broken and over), and a FOREIGN and COSMIC INTELLIGENCE along with an ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE INVASION and PROTECTION system that goes so far BEYOND old guys in suits playing with little kids that people's minds would FRACTURE if the truth was revealed all at once. Thus the agencies LITERALLY conclude they have to PROTECT the public by stopping them from figuring out just how bad they're being RAPED by these groups. It literally involves other dimensions of consciousness and time to the point where there are alternate dimensions of reality where people are taken into using supercomputers to project their consciousness and thus the "jurisdiction" is completely out of bounds because no judge in the country (who are all in in on it, that is what the word "judge" relates to, they're judging who lives and who dies according to the spiritual enslavement system, if you have a 'name' with them, they legally own your soul) would agree to arresting people for something that took place in another 'dimension'.

When the geometric shapes are mapped out on the floor through sigil magic and ritual they are literally generating portals to other frequencies of consciousness and so the beings that are encountered and the events that take place (sacrifices) takes that person's soul into the other world (where it is used as fuel, costumes, "chariots of the gods") and so technically none of this is "in jurisdiction" even if what's left is a lifeless body drained of blood used for sexual perversion and depravity.

The entire notion of the judge is literally a demi-god, demonic overlord, a 'sith lord' from another realm who stays in the other dimensions and grades the souls that come in for their usefulness (their value in suffering and pleasure). These are literally non-human entities that sit at a big desk like object (an altar) where a wig to make themselves look more human and have the dimensions and geometry found in courthouses and ancient roman and egyptian structures. It's all literally only here on Earth because of an invasion that occurred many years ago and this whole event was altered as a result of CERN experiments in the present day which caused undulations that rippled back in time and threw us into this timeline termed the "invasion" timeline.

There is an elite 'cult of cloning' that centers around the use of celebrities and children for sexual and sacrificial rites and games.

Everything centers around how people will choose to protect themselves from these groups and what has been planned. They basically plan for a mass sacrifice of all people on Earth that aren't in the cult however there are what are described as 'higher-dimensional' 'guardians' that seemingly give them a run for their money and protect the humans. I can only say what I've seen and everything is possible however people must make a choice regarding who they are to protect. These groups claim the majority of people on the planet were literally replaced by clones who carry supercomputer chips in their brains and can be influenced to perform any task from the most basic of operation to the most cruel and vile rituals or attacks at the push of a button through advanced mind to mind scalar link technology that uses supercomputers to emulate human consciousness.

These systems can also recreate human memories and play them back on cue to project experiences into the mind. They say they're doing this all to get to a "golden age" and that it's because of some kind of underground mutated race that was altered through the advanced technology and is essentially the result of a 'distant branch of time merging' with ours. Thus we have a competition over this Earth by two species. They claim to be helping but everything is confusing because everything seems like a trick.

There is a group called Solar Warden who earlier on rescued children from the bases. There are other groups but everything is cloak and dagger.

The people doing this have been alive since ancient Egypt and Babylon

This goes so deep that all judges are required to take an oath to "Belial" and they consider themselves the "Sons of Belial" (ba'al, molech) and this is all part of the secret society's infrastructure.

They claim that they are the one's genetically presence in the time of "Atlantis" which was close to Egypt and was destroyed as a result of advanced technology experiments with electrogravitic craft, scalar weather and mind manipulation, soul transfer/stealing, immortality, sexual energy, and so on. They claim that it was during this time those elite groups which come from a single bloodline created a pact called "The Lucifer Rebellion". Everything was quite peaceful and they decided that by raping, molesting, setting up scams, carving tools, going to war, etc etc etc they could change the world and rule over everyone. It worked, but caused such psychological trauma that the scalar devices which kept the weather at a perfect harmony began to become imbalanced as a result of their psychology being disrupted and thus there was a civilization-wide catastrophe which destroyed the entire continent.

They claimed they were psychic and knew this was coming and so they travelled before the worst and went out into other areas and found brown people in Asia, Egypt, and Europe and began to rape and cull them to make slave colonies and had the slaves build the pyramids for use as a supercomputer scalar system to connect the timelines between that 'verse' and this 'verse' and have been in communication ever since which is why there is Egyptian and Roman architecture or occult knowledge everywhere a part of this secret society ruled civilization.

Important Aspects of Disclosure 4

- ▪       This society is currently within a hypnotism generated reality, the people hypnotized into believing the charades are the only people who see it and they can't see any other reality. It's a mind-cage that exploits psychological vulnerabilities.
- ▪       There are clone robotoids. A supercomputer system records the neural activity and can only holographically replicate the neurology of low-awareness individuals or groups.
- ▪       The heart is a powerful bio-computer and attracts what you resonate with through scalar interaction.
- ▪       A full mind can ignore anything but those who see the truth have had to clear their minds to get there. Thus this reality is set up like a labyrinth putting heart against mind and placing obstacles in the way of whoever seeks the truth.
- ▪       Speak out on satanic ritual abuse otherwise it's considered consent. People know and pretend not to, these are 'agents' and they are everywhere. People can also be hijacked through the scalar technology if they are of low-vibrational intent, meaning if they are low integrity they can be gotten to do anything with energy waves.o
- ▪       There is a supercomputer cloning, droning, foreign intelligence take over whereby the human is replicated without a human soul. These are the "robotoids".
- ▪       Without self-awareness the person is a biological computer lacking true free-will or inner presence. This is part of the reality of cloning.
- ▪       There are sacred processes to awaken the soul within the body as the person and this is how that person actualizes their free-will. This is part of what was discovered and applied in the underground bases and secret operations.
- ▪       There is a feedback loop with perception, reality, experience and self-awareness.
- ▪       Life is like a metaphor without a true definition or exactly complete meaning. You exist across multiple varying parallel realities. What is the unification? The meaning behind the choices you make and the correlation between the level of awareness of the individual connected across all of them. Like a metaphor, what happens on one, is repeated on another in a new manner. This continues until there is synchronization and harmonization of the self-awareness as the "one" across all of them.
- ▪       Experience of this realm is through a biological perception system which is virtual and unique. One never sees reality, only a personal interpretation and society is a mass-scale, organic, virtual environment that people agree upon but can't directly interact with one another through. Earth is a collective, live 'server' for synchronized parallel experiences with each other.
- ▪       Your interpretation is based on your self-awareness. Increase self awareness and your reality changes. Ultimately, the self reflects in the universe and the universe in the self. This is part of the holographic nature of the system as well as what is known as the holographic fractal infection which traps souls in a repeating construct within the lower planes of the universe.
- ▪       The mainstream views of all sciences are founded in illusion to stop you from knowing the truth. All is part of a scam, a collective delusion. All the people you see on TV, all the books, all the academics/universities. These were first founded to gain enough intelligent people to then begin a many thousand year plan to 'seal off' the rest of the civilization into damnation and use their souls as food. You think you are smarter than them? They invented the language you use and the very methods you use to interpret reality carefully crafted through reverse psychology, mind-control and essentially organic backwards engineering of the human mind.

- ▪       They do this to enslave the soul because those who can't think critically literally become trapped here for eons and are used for fuel.
- ▪       There is literally only soul-science, the early cars ran on water and then air in the early 1900's. Everyone who believes this is reality is being completely deluded and treated as the slaves were in previous 'ancient' civilizations.
- ▪       The soul resonates with all the original aspects of truth, creativity, harmony, self-awareness, compassion and free-will.
- ▪       Free-will is not capable through lower consciousness or bio-chemical reactions, thus those with only body-consciousness are mind-slaves.
- ▪       This is why it is permitted to enslave people. Because they are not awake enough to say, "I choose freedom" and to live by their proclamation. They just follow the trends and the trends lead into stupefaction and thus they are not considered people but a kind of herd animal by the leaders.
- ▪       The mind-slave of body consciousness is the basis for the cloning experimentations.
- ▪       The biological consciousness is hologram generated by perception and without the ability to sense the universe there would be none!
- ▪       Through the creation-design of the brain and body this universe literally came into being! This is what the secret operations showed us!
- ▪       This is recorded! Holographic projection devices can literally access these layers of the universe and display this process!
- ▪       The early discoverers found this and then used technology to insert changes into the 'beginning' of the temporal wave of this universe! They they altered history before it began from halfway through it!
- ▪       This is some of why this information is protected! The majority of humans go instantly insane trying to figure this out! They developed supercomputer systems to keep people's consciousness focused but the adepts have to do this first, alone!
- ▪       The parameters of one's consciousness, in knowing the unknowable, literally goes off the charts and they are no longer confined entirely within this dimension! This is part of the discoveries, the corruption is an infiltration of a parasitic interdimensional consciousness that some people picked up with making the journey between planes! This simply seeks consciousness and soul energy for sustenance as it comes from a place devoid of that kind of energy!
- ▪       When one changes their awareness, their angle of perspective of electromagnetic waves change and this is a method to travel in the universe!
- ▪       This is sacred ancient knowledge only passed to those with respect and this was develop to construct electrogravitic interdimensional craft!
- ▪       It's all an interplay between consciousness and awareness, period! The secondary explanations were invented to divert mass hysteria!
- ▪       Then this was know a thousand years ago and society was built for those who knew around those who don't! Thus people love their mind cage!
- ▪       No self-responsibility or care if it's all "just happening" and is explains by someone else with vested interests! Thus we have sleepers who are just going along, 'operated' by this reality through the construct, rather than really experiencing through inner presence!
- ▪       Thus this whole scheme was designed as a way to discern between those who were ready and those who are hostile! Imagine the blind believers!

- ▪       We are in the early stages of “The Unveiling” which is akin to the Apocalypse, and is related to “The Event”, “the Return”, the “mass awakening”, and other descriptions of the turning of the tides and the acceleration of awareness beyond consciousness as one literally begins to see and be aware of what is happening faster than the biological consciousness can keep up! Thus people accelerate past all the stops and obstacles faster than ever in history, and along with that feedback loop, this realm changes as a result of the mass-event.
- ▪       Wars have been used up until this time to hold this event off.
- ▪       Some say that this is so the event WORKS instead of fizzles out.
- ▪       The Three Phase Harmonization, Acceleration, and Charge of Presence is literally the process for accelerated karmic clearing and the energy return of soul-awareness to the upper layers of the universe.
- ▪       This event has been planned for thousands, if not millions of years and there are many changes that were made to hold humans back!
- ▪       These were literal complete invasion timelines being inserted into this dimensions so that people went from being one civilization to one instantly with millions of years of domination, war, and memory wiping.
- ▪       This is advanced technology and the beings participating in this have been here for millions of years as they can never leave, their souls do not have the charge to make it past the dimensional barrier, the void-space in between realms. Thus they can’t reach ‘escape velocity’ and fall back down. Their karma holds them back.
- ▪       There is a plan to build everyone’s karma so that everyone stays and thus a new false reality can be developed.
- ▪       They use temporal reset technology to restart civilization time and time again.
- ▪       These controllers say that they cannot use this anymore or a more powerful ‘administrator’ type being will close the entire realm and remove everyone in it sending them to their original place. Thus, their only way to survive here, in the lower realms, is to keep them open, and to do this they must allow humans to journey back home.

Important Aspects of Disclosure 4.12539756

- ▪       In this universe, civilization moves from a high level of complexity to a low level.
- ▪       All is created out of a ‘nova-point’ singularity.
- ▪       Only the supreme creator has unrestricted access to this singularity.
- ▪       Groups have been fighting for the control of technology which yields limited access to this singularity and thus control over the realm and sub-realities.
- ▪       Mind is the creative force in this universe, and this is a derivative of the totality of cosmic awareness.
- ▪       The mind is electromagnetic ‘light’ based technology and essentially the natural interface with the universe. This is beyond organic or inorganic technology as then organic or inorganic technology is used to carry that mind such as a human body or a cybernetic system.
- ▪       This is part of the idea of this realm being a ‘fallen’ environment. Mind does not equate to true-awareness which is beyond thought processes and programs whether biological or cybernetic.
- ▪       Those who control the minds of the population control the overmind and those who control the overmind have more access to the nova-singularity.

- ▪       Ideas are the fuel for this reality generating bio-technical machine organism.
- ▪       The ‘operating system’ of this realm runs on ideas and creativity. The more intent and focus one applies to their creative ideas the more ‘weight’ this then carries into the realm.
- ▪       The most creative ideas are that of the creator who initiates this realm from beyond the nova-point. The nova is the constant from which all variation extends into this universe.
- ▪       Joy is the mark of the creator.
- ▪       The key to joy is the ending of suffering.
- ▪       The key to ending suffering is the experiencing of joy.
- ▪       The key to experiencing joy is to experience the suffering which brings about the contrast of sensation.
- ▪       Thus, the key to joy is to experience enough suffering to no longer live through the programmed experience of a duality based consciousness and this is by overcoming the ultimate suffering by overcoming the acceptance of the mindset of suffering itself.
- ▪       This is the awakening of the control of one’s will-power and focus over their experience.
- ▪       One can make a choice to see the duality program for what it is and to overcome the illusion and thereby choose to experience ultimate self-control.
- ▪       Regardless of how one sensory system is manipulated, the individual has control over their inner experience.
- ▪       This is the key to joy and the ending of suffering not by ending suffering, but by experiencing enough to make the choice to never again allow external perceptions to manipulate the way one feels within.
- ▪       Thus, loss of self-control over how one feels within is the greatest suffering.
- ▪       Knowledge of the self and the universe through harmony, compassion, free-will and self-control is the greatest joy.
- ▪       When one achieves the end of suffering, the only loss of control then is the lack of control others feel who haven’t achieved this joy.
- ▪       Thus, the only joy and purpose in life is to liberate the self and others from the mind-cage of duality-consciousness, the illusion of the loss of self-control and the proliferation of suffering.

The Dialectic Method

The Dialectic Game

The stage is set for the argumentative display of the opposition of two forces of reason and results. Somewhere in the initial presentation of the the argument of ‘truth’ the actual truths are replaced by two seemingly innocuous deceptions that are only partial to the reality of the situation and the true argument.

The Truth Is Accosted

The truth is discreetly exited stage left and the curtain draped just enough to hide the reason. Backstage crews sweep upon the truth and rapidly duct-tape the mouth and limbs. They pick up the truth and exit the venue through a back-door locking the truth in the back of a truck which quickly drives towards the horizon. Soon the truck is in another state and the argument is ferociously captivating the attention of the people.

After hours upon hours of ‘argument’ whereby the truth was only seen for the most initial presentation of the details, if that, a completely artificial and ineffective agreement is presented which narrowly avoided actually involving true change or acknowledgement of the original problem. Thus, this solution is a pseudo-agreement cleverly designed to simulate the solving of the problem through the appeasing of the conscious mind.

The Actors and Group Think

Upon the completion of this tumultuous event, the dialectic speakers present the pseudo-agreement which is most readily internally rejected by the majority of the people. Thus, there are either at least 2 individuals who are foolish enough to consider this an actual appeasing of their interests, or the presenters will simply instruct 2 individuals to enter into the crowd and openly agree with the results.

Through group think and social conformity, the majority of the people are obliged to agree with the falsely presented and falsely accepted ‘positive’ results and this display goes on and on with any variety of issues that require solving.

Thus, the people of the majority intuitively know something is amiss, but cannot actually generate any effectual change to bring about the desired results.

The Unacknowledged Special Access Programs, Trauma-Based Mind Control and the Labyrinth, the Multidimensional Nature of DNA

The situation is so complex that organizing the information is sometimes disorienting. This is even part of the manipulation, as well as the sheer complexity of the technological advancement and the methods of manipulation and organization that have been developed through these systems.

Advanced Technology and Conditioning the Psyche for Stress

The origins of the psychological programming and conditioning, some of which is referred to as ‘trauma-based mind-control’ is not to play with and destroy the minds of children. The idea here is that the advanced technology that was developed enabled travel of very long distances and eventually the generation of spatiotemporal distortion fields. These fields distort the energy of the universe which is used as a reference for the mind in this particular temporal and dimensional reference. Thus, one can literally view into different times and places and eventually translocate themselves there.

Enabling the Surpassing of the Limit; Pre-Fracturing the Psyche

This technology was coupled with the technology of cloning and this enabled a safer way to explore and push the limits, because as such, the mind is literally the limit of what this technology can be utilized for. If the mind was not pushed, the technology would not yield great results, if the mind was pushed too far, the individual’s psyche would be fractured and the information and experience gained would be lost.

Thus, a systematic process of ‘pre-fracturing’ the individual’s psyche was developed and this is related to the trauma-based mind-control.

No one is going to like what I am saying, but I know for fact this is a reality. Why? Because the ones who did not go through this process to such a degree did not pass through these travel and viewing experiences while retaining their psychological fortitude. Only when one has been pushed to the limit, and beyond, in a controlled circumstance can this technology be used to actually experience and unveil what was otherwise the ‘great unknown’.

The Shadow Self, Alternate Realities and the Great “Unknown”

This is similar to the process of shamanism and altered states to challenge one’s self, to delve deeper into the psyche beyond waking consciousness and to confront the shadow consciousness or the great unconscious knowledge that exists within us all. This knowledge contains a connection to the universe and to all of time.

Genetic Memory through DNA Activation

Within us all, all of time is kept within the DNA, all the previous civilizations, the changes, the rises and falls, the possibilities and the interactions with multi-dimensional awareness and even interdimensional entities.

The Interdimensional Social Control System

This society has been primarily managed by interdimensional entities who operate “between” waking reality and the unconscious mind and ensure continuity as well as a ‘conformity’ which is kind of like a conservative outlook on how life should be and progress in regards to energy and knowledge. This is related to the “karma” system, which is said to be an illusion generated by these entities.

These entities are the one’s who have developed this system, people are not capable, no person has the capacity to roam around the interdimensional layers for millions of years transferring, guiding, correcting, or harassing people to guide society. These entities are the basis for this and what has been done to enable gateways between this world and the world of these entities.

Selecting Capable Children

The projects with children sought to enable the powerful energy and creativity that is present in the child to power these devices and for this to work properly the child had to be trained so that their mind would not fracture. The basic idea behind this is that what the child would see, what I and others have seen, is so far beyond the confines of normal waking reality that without some preparation, guidance, protection, or limitation one would undoubtedly go insane. Even with the preparation, insanity is expected, and then controlled the psyche brought back to baseline.

Powerful and Directed Multidimensional Technology

The technology revealed what anyone can see through inner journeying, however, when one journeys organically they will be seeing exactly what is connected to them through their DNA and their life journey, the intentions, expectations, so on and so forth. This technology enabled not only one’s personal DNA memory, but the activation of all possible fields of information that exist in 4D space in between the physical plane of the body and the immaterial plane of the mind, the psyche, and the imagination. As a result, one ‘surfs’ through the layers of realities that exist within the collective unconscious psyche and encounters a control system that is operated by interdimensional entities spanning across multiple parallel realities each with tiny differences in detail and similar in the sense that people have no idea what is actually happening.

A Probability Matrix of Simultaneous Realities

Instead of one reality, there are many simultaneously occurring realities as if a light spectrum is split into a gradient with an array of details and proximity to a “central” reality being displayed across a multitude. That is what we are in. Not a single place with a single civilization and possibilities in the future, but a true “matrix” of probabilities and possibilities that all exist simultaneously depending on which frequencies of the mind one is interacting with and thus enabling through their consciousness.

That is only the basis, then what actually goes on in these various realities, behind the scenes, and how consciousness reflects and literally generates possibilities as if this is some kind of simulation is so far beyond words that it has taken me around 12 months to even begin to scratch the surface.

Time, Consciousness, Reality is an Illusion

The idea is that time is not what we think and could be seen to operate backwards in a way just as much as it does forward. Everything is a reflection, a defraction of some core reality and this reality is like a dream that never ends with death literally being the ‘reset’ point where one’s literal consciousness simply pops from one screen or ‘tracks’ of reality into another. The idea is the higher layers are simultaneously present, yet one doesn’t just finish and go there. That is earned or somehow achieved intentionally or through assistance. The idea is that when one dies, from what we’ve seen, they go nowhere. They simply pop into another simultaneously occurring parallel reality where they didn’t die and this occurs forever.

That is part of the reason people are challenged by this. The very notion of what a human is, of life itself, of consciousness and experience is completely reversed, turned inside out, and flipped upside by the knowledge gained from peering into the ‘unknown’.

So, as a result, there was a search for children who would be able to withstand this and continue. The adults could not, there was too much ‘weight’ of the familiarity of this reality holding the psyche back. For instance, one can enter into of these systems and spend an immeasurable amount of time and experience in another parallel reality only to die in that reality and instantly teleport back to the underground base with a report for the project. This is how deep it goes and it goes even deeper.

The 5 Dimensional Emergence of Civilization

By doing this, this whole process, people eventually ended up going to alternate realms and times. Eventually. The reports began to line up, and people were interacting with the past. As a result, I’ll let you figure this one out, the past is not what we think it is, nor is time, nor is civilization, nor is anything in this place which is more like a hall of mirrors. HOWEVER, WE HAVE A MAP. A built-in map. This is aligned through the moral-compass as well as one’s internal refining and directing of energies to reflect the intended layout of one’s experience.

Morality, Fractured Psyches, 4D Intelligences

In speaking of moral-compass, this is where things began to go south. Those who saw these programs and took part yet did not have the competence to remain aligned with harmony, free-will, compassion and truth began to degrade and devolve. These individuals devolved into a form of psyche that is non-human and simply seeks more gratification through whatever means.

Non-Human Entities Seeking A Biological Gateway

This is where the abuse, the non-human entities, and the trauma-based mind control became part of a degradation system which was the result of this technology linking together the minds of those individuals with entities that existed in a 4th dimensional state meaning discarnate minds, partial and foreign non-human intelligences that did not have access to a body as a result of falling out of synchronization and harmony with the alignments required to interact on the physical plane. This technology opened a gateway to those layers and groups began exposing individuals to this technology inevitably giving these entities a pathway into this reality.

One explanation is that this is simply because people were assigned to research this aspect of reality and the inevitable result is that the majority of the first people assigned became infected and psychologically hijacked as they were shown “too much” and energetically malformed by these entities who had gained control of the technology and in the same sense, society itself.

An Organic Pathway and a Technological Method

People naturally connect to these layers of mind and if they connect through empathy and harmony on the soul level then they connect higher than just automated biological consciousness which is like a simulated program being run and they connect to a reality beyond this dimension. So when people in society give into the lower dimensional, emotional and mental distortions that can only exist in a partial or distorted perspective of consciousness from these lower physical and 4D planes then they are going through the same process, without technology, and connecting to those interdimensional entities.

The Liberation of Humanity

These operations and projections were designed to ‘test the waters’ and develop a way to liberate humanity and this is still the goal.

Secrecy, Containment, and Continuity

Because the situation is so complex and potentially dangerous on a civilization-wide scale, the masses had to be controlled in a way that these entities would not have the option to all at once up and attempt to infiltrate the physical society through the unprotected minds of the people. This is part of the mass mind-control however that too became infiltrated and distorted as every cause seems to have a rebounding effect the pushes the intended response further away. Thus is the paradoxical nature of consciousness in this realm.

The System Attempts to Recreate the Illusion

It was later discovered that there are people in this civilization who are not what they seem and are primarily, literally, hosts for these entities rather than being an actual self-aware, observer agent of the universe.

A Living Simulation, Intelligent and Restrictive

All of this is entangled with previous operations, timelines, and ‘changes’ that ‘slipped’ into time as the result of operations that sought to influence the situation. The universe, interacting as a kind of simulation system, counteracted the intended influences and nullified their effect by creating a disproportionally large counterbalance which made the intended result of full control over the way reality develops harder to reach.

Essentially, the operation is to free humanity from the interdimensional control system that seemingly continually resists the liberation of the observer agents and the system itself interacted to create false-leads, dead-ends, entanglements, and mirrored walls to confuse the whole process and regenerate what is simply a more convincing labyrinth to contain that consciousness.

The Illusion of Biological Consciousness and the Reality of the Soul

There are some discoveries such as how biological consciousness is a mirror of this control system and must be overcome with powerful intention and self-awareness in order to yield a reality beyond physicality and thus biological consciousness and this mind-containment system humanity has fallen into.

A Fear, Automation, and Low Self-Awareness Based Control System

More is explained elsewhere, and the idea is that fear is what feeds the system to know just what to “place in a person’s way” so that they turn back from the edge and go into the labyrinth. Think The Truman Show, this was literally a message, directly from the people involved, to the public mind, to realize that fear, superstition, trauma, social pressure, temptation, etc etc etc is all used by this system to keep one’s mind focused on the trivial details that are literally generated as if from a script through a simulator and to stop them from gathering the courage and intent to walk directly out of the boundaries and across the great ocean of the unknown to find the edge of the grid.

One spends their time in this containment system unless they perform this great journey. That is about enough of a background as is necessary to make this easier to understand and to help those involved. I have written much more and spoken about this as well.

Simultaneously “Resulted” and “Has Always Been”

What we consider the “other side” of life, is developed out of our creation of that side, through interacting with this one, as well as simultaneously having always been.

One way to see how this works is that these technological gateways seemed to have opened up access between the physical plane and what is referred to as the 4th dimensional plane where an array of various level of intelligence exists in a state in between self-aware and automation and beyond the physical plane yet before the higher planes of completion through harmony, free-will and self-awareness.

In essence, these are dream-like realities populated by entities who are anywhere as low as 1% awareness (to entirely automated ‘programs’) who merely carrying out the engagement and fulfillment of a limited set of parameters and desires that are not collectively harmonized around a central intelligence enough to be considered human or even life-centralized. This realm exists between the physical plane and the higher plane where the soul-awareness can express and integrate in ways that go beyond the limitations of the physical plane. Those are the in-between, ‘psychic fragments’ that have compiled after billions of ‘cycles’ of disharmonic experience on Earth.

A Paradoxical Conundrum

One could say, we created those psychic fragments and populated that plane with the negative energy on Earth, the unwillingness to face the truth and inadvertently creating partially aware ‘extensions’ of experience that drift from this plane and hover closely outside not having the proper buoyancy to rise high enough to escape the pull of lower dimensional, or lower awareness experience, yet not heavy enough to condense down into a physical existence. These are the broken streams of dreams and bio-emissions that literally coalesced to form chains of entities and nests of shadow mind fragments that filled this in-between cosmic space.

So one could say that, “this (those entities) is the result of that (the disharmony on Earth).” Similarly, one could extrapolate that the control system which developed around a number of powerful interdimensionals who seek to control humanity through direct and indirect engagement with the population is a result of this which is a result of people.

Then we arrive at the notion (give enough exploration and discovery) that this entire control system, from the start, is generated, out of a necessity for certain beings to sustain themselves on the disharmonic bio-emissions of those people.

So if the disharmonic lower energy bio-emissions of people, created this limbo void-space which then populated with entities pieced together and sustained by those emissions, then how did this place come to be initially organized in such a manner so as to produce a system that enables the sustaining and manipulation by those entities in the first place?

If people created them, and people came after the development of the system, then how could the system be designed to enable their proliferation? Thus is the time-matrix.

The two outcomes are that A) the substance of man and woman is not physical embodiment but SOUL and that this soul existed before this physical and energetic engagement system and the B) this system was either designed or modified from an original to ensure that certain mishaps and inconsistencies occur in regards to the human existence which increase the susceptibility and ease of manipulation by these entities or disharmonic emissions and decrease the control and access the human has to the true (multidimensional) reality and thus their ability to discover this process and protect themselves from this manipulation.

Temporal Recurrence and Retroactivity

Another way to look at this is that somewhere in the timeline this technology was developed and this opened up a gateway to the interdimensional realm of fragmented psychic energy which lead into a feeding frenzy that developed over time. Yet due to the nature of time and consciousness, that realm occurs outside of space and time as perceived biologically.

There are two ways to see this, one is that A) as soon as this gateway was opened, the ‘feeding frenzy’ spread both ways in time, forwards and backwards to cover the entire timeline and it simply always seemed as if this is the way things always were.

Or that B) in the beginning of this civilization or realm, as long as the possibility existed somewhere along the timeline in the future, that this gateway event would occur, then these entities had access to plant themselves all along history leading up to that event because that event acts as a trans-temporal, transdimensional access point, a gateway that interacts in space and time from a source that is beyond the limits and therefore has ‘unlimited’ access before and after that point. The only requirement from that view, is that there must be a point, somewhere in time where that gateway is viable, and thus for ALL of time from the perspective of people in the linear view of time, those results are apparent and effective.

Thus, the system was not necessarily created through this, but always existed just because the possibility for this to happen existed, and we are in an area of ‘hyperspace’ (4D ‘possibility space’) that is proximal to these probabilities to the point of a bridge being likely and therefore experience being oriented to those unseen possibilities.

The Multidimensional Awareness

The method for resolving this situation is to reduce the likelihood of our trajectory of experience moving through the possibilities and probabilities from interact with a reality stream that is, more or less, 'infected' with the access of these interdimensional who have literally 'leaked in' to this dimension through those gateways. The gateways are merely probabilities of experience certain possibilities, made viable through technology and disharmonic energies, that are actualized and brought into manifest in this plane and are neither generated or independent. The whole system is just a stream of possibilities and proximally centralized probabilities that resonate or attract to a given intention and consciousness stream (interacting and intending based upon various possibilities) and one merely connects with a reality when experiencing in rather than ever actually creating anything.

5 D Creation

What this means is that all realities and possibilities actually exist in a gradient that extends out from your current reality based upon your ability to resonate your intentions and free-will with the possibilities and probabilities that you observe through an engagement through your self-awareness and application of focus. In other words, what you focus on, interact with, intend and honestly know in regards to your self-awareness and free-will is what alters those probabilities and brings into view a new array of possibilities.

So the idea here is that the reality that one seeks which is beyond the confines of the current is not 'created' by experiencing or developing it. That is simply how the universe develops a consciousness trajectory through a series of steps of engagements that act as a kind of resonators and resistors to either repel one's focus or to enhance and secure their acceptance that what they've held within is now becoming a reality.

As a side note: this is all through the application of one's expressions through the self. To clarify, the 'self' is interacting here and now, reading this text, feeling a certain way and exposing the mind and behavior to a certain stream of possibilities based on consciousness parameters or potential options or responses one can manage. When one changes the parameter set of the possible interactions and that 'role' of the self becomes 'alive' on its own instead of following the script of what is expected purely based upon the previous moments and the preconceived notions regarding the physical existence and subconscious, then with that 'switching of roles' one also activates a corresponding 'switching of possibilities' dependent on the way one changes that role. If you feel confident, powerful, self-aware, harmonious and free-willed (via self-observation) then you are emanating this out and as a result the "character role" and the set of possibilities attached to that in this system is modified as a result.

The same happens with a lesser awareness and disharmony a collapse of the confidence and free-will of the self. Then possibilities and probabilities that enable more of the same in more and more developed or expanse methods arise and present themselves.

The idea is if one learns how to do this directly, specifically, while not paying attention to side-lined intentions, beliefs, programming, etc etc etc, then one can directly alter their trajectory through time simply by changing their mind.

This is what happened to humanity and introduced the possibility of a realm where all these entities already existed and always have existed. Thus, we arrive back at the initial conclusion, something about a time-matrix where nothing is ever truly created but that as soon as we engage with the possibilities the conscious experience is then opened to those potential realities.

A Potential Reality System

Thus, the entire show, the whole system is based upon what could be if you give the idea enough focus and intention and none of this is about what actually is or has been. All of this is an array of potential probable realities that are engaged with individually and over a collective and shift and change in every measure of experience.

Thus, some people are from a reality where this never occurred, because specifically, individually their focus has never fallen to those probabilities. And some people are from a reality where this how things always were and even worse and that this, for them, is the calm.

Thus, as a collective, we meet in the middle where each side has the opportunity to individually and collectively experience both worlds as all the combinations eventually separate according to two-dimensions, more self-awareness and free-will, or less self-awareness and free-will.

Thus, Earth becomes the middle-ground where a massive interplay occurs where the two seek to settle over who attains the most ground and therefore gains complete control of the realm.

Civilization Reset

It was discovered that if any one polarized trend of probabilities does become dominant over the entire realm that a system-wide reset occurs as if someone either likes to watch people fight, or is trying to give the hint to settle in a cosmic equilibrium.

Thus, the game becomes a covert play of pretending there is a huge battle while secretly convening to work together and allow one side to contrast with the other and keep the cycle going.

The issue with this is that there may be an actual path to a cosmic equilibrium which is the intended and natural result of all of this and that this has been pushed away out of the probabilities for so long through psychological and physical abuse that a kind of broken-record system developed and that this is simultaneously what was capitalized on by these interdimensionals as well as what attracted or generated them in the first place.

The Nature of Time and Consciousness

Because of the simultaneity of all realities, what is experienced in the future and the past is not linearly organized in the overall sense but only to the biological consciousness experiencing that perspective.

In this way, the physical life experience is akin to a 'pre-programmed' reality where one can access different future and past trajectories depending on their activation of that 'beyond the physical' level of free-will from the soul-awareness.

Then, motion in life is not linearly through the temporal trajectory as one ages, but through a perpendicular motion across a multitude of interactive parallel realities that are accessed or repelled depending on one's internal configuration of free-will, intention, and focus correlating the self with one or another 'character role' of a particular reality.

All Possibilities Are Present

Eventually, then, if all possibilities are present and time is an illusion where experience has been cycling continuously, then all possibilities have actually already been experienced.

The 3D or physical experience is not about achieving new experiences out of a blank slate, but about dropping from a higher-dimensional perspective where all experience has already occurred and experiencing a narrow stream of those possibilities and moving back into the perspective of wholeness and all-encompassing awareness.

Then, the goal is not necessarily to travel from parallel to parallel and seek to experience every little detail or change, but to finalize one's experience by attaining just what is necessary to move into completion and accept the true nature of the cosmic self and to foresee the possibilities in any moment of what could be or has been and to choose to align with what is the most harmonized with the ALL that is.

This way reality isn't an endless stream bouncing around from possibilities to possibility based on a shifting array of variety, but a careful and organized reflection of the whole centered through harmony and self-awareness which is found through a balance of intentions, free-will and focused or unfocused creativity. When one steps into that character role, then they are aligning their 'script' with that of the cosmic creator, rather than just a small portion of the dream. Then the dream, the parallel, the limited, preprogrammed stream, begins to align with, contain and become harmonized with the ENTIRE SHOW instead of remaining as just a side-script or preview.

This can only occur through free-will and intent and takes place when one stops spending time in the side-realities, and skipping the level of possibilities from parallel to parallel based on whatever fleeting desire, intention, image, or projection is passing through one's awareness. When that process is controlled through compassion, harmony and free-will, then one's reality is literally akin to the sculpture shaped by the artist.

The Cycle of Time

Another way to see this is that if you have a spectrum of possibilities and you can choose anywhere on that array then given enough time all the possibilities will be applied and eventually you'll end up with a continuous cycle of all the possibilities repeating over and over.

That is the cycle of time and consciousness. One goes far enough in the past or future and they return to the present, like a wheel. The ideal question then is how does one find liberation from that wheel?

Becoming the Programmer (Script writer)

This is through becoming the programmer of the possibilities. It would seem, since reality is only temporally linear from the perspective found through biological consciousness that all the possibilities are simultaneously present and instead of being generated 'real-time' are scripted together as a stream of probable outcomes which are then called up and activated through the experience that one calls life. In this there is a sliding scale of free-will dependent on how much one believes that the linear trajectory is all that is, or whether they discover that linearity is an illusion and one is not limited to just forward and backwards but is actually within a sea of parallel probable realities depending on that internal configuration of the 'script' they interact with reality through.

So then, if this reality is a kind of scripted event with an adjustable scale of free-will and in this particular 'spiral' of trending preferences this civilization is interdimensionally manipulated by the few to recreate the same cycles over and over where they are on top or sustaining themselves from the energy of the continually restricted awareness of the people, then how would one achieve liberation from such a reality?

Would the answer be in going further up or down the script that has been edited and 'rigged' to our disadvantage so that the same 'roles' are applied over and over?

No, that would merely require the same parameters that have already been scripted and rigged in order to bring about any change to experience. One would have to begin to move in the dimension of parallels in order to apply a new 'character role' to their self-initiated interactions and their intentions, free-will, focus and creativity would be paramount to this process. Thus, instead of interacting on the level of the script where people are trapped, people begin to interact with a new script where the same reactions and character roles do not apply and that reality then begins to replace this one in the same way that the original reality was modified and slowly replaced to generate the oppressive system that is present now.

Thus, by becoming aware of the higher-dimensional nature of reality which supersedes the illusory linearity of time and biological consciousness, humanity can begin to assume the role of the 'programmer' or 'script writer' and begin to alter that pre-determined 'wheel of time' that has been repeating over and over again.

Eventually, if we are to be adept at this process, the 'wheel' aspect of the repeating variables could be overcome altogether and the 'projected linearity' could become an actual real-time experience which transcends the limitations of the 3 dimensional and 4 dimensional environment (and the traps and illusions) altogether.

Thus, people could literally program the changes they want to experience into reality, and then go forth and experience them, rather than relying on 'middle-men' and incorrect assumptions that result in the loss of self-control over one's experience which has plagued this society for many cycles.

5D Civilization

This is literally how this civilization begins to wake up from the pre-programmed tricks that have been used to enslave society repeatedly which is literally no different than a sitcom or a game show where the protagonist or winner is always in favor of constraining humanity's development through trickery and deception that is always presented right out in front, right out in the open per the game-rules.

Thus, it's all about a choice and a willingness to overcome, even in the face of many people who seem to not have a desire to choose or care at all about the outcome of the game overall.

By waking up to the trickery and the nature of consciousness and time in the sense of how the linear illusion must be programmed based upon the nature of all possibilities already existing, that nothing is generated from within, we can then understand how all these deceptions have been achieved by operating from outside the perspective of the physical plane and that in these in-between layers of the universe are the 4 dimensional traps and loops which have acted to autonomously reset or repel one's awareness from reaching total self-awareness, true self-control and activation of the multidimensional nature of DNA and genetic memory.

Extra-Dimensional DNA

Genetic memory and DNA itself is literally extra-dimensional. How does memory extend, whether through programming, love or trauma, from one generation to the next, through genes? The information is within the cells? The information of the one simultaneously occurring time is present and constantly connected to and interacting with the information of another simultaneously occurring time and they are connected through a space that transcends the linearity of 3 or 4 dimensional time and exists in a higher dimensions. The DNA literally engages in a manner so that a series of unique harmonies are created that are only present in that one place in the universe and no other. Thus, the forwards and backwards temporal streams of time are connected together in the same universe.

Then when enough of the light transference capacity is activated, the information of the proximal parallels is also entangled and interacted with through that uniquely present series of harmonies that are generated through the complex array of light entangled through the DNA.

This is why there is such a push to destroy the genetic purity of original races, because the power in pure DNA is the power that is achieved through the combination of not only all ancestors of the single time and universe, but ALL other proximal universes where that same harmonious pattern is generated.

Thus, the DNA is a marker of the genetic 'space-suit' regarding where the individual soul has traveled and how their journey has been made. If there is less harmony and more distortion then the power level will be only relative to the physical body in physical universe and even then separated from away from the ancestors and thus the higher-dimensional, non-linear immaterial connection to all that is.

If there is more harmony and less distortion then that individual will be connected to their ancestors across the 4th dimensional barrier into the 5th dimension and they will be potentially connected through the 6th and higher dimensional bridges to alternate or parallel realities where that same pure, undistorted DNA is held and constantly emitting and transferring light information to all other 'selves' in the cosmos.

Thus, the DNA is a multi-dimensional cosmic communication and ID system whereby one's connection to their personal source and the collective source of ALL when there is clarity and purity in the DNA which is found through a harmonious application of FREE-WILL, COMPASSION, and CREATIVITY to unveil and express the true knowledge of the soul-level of awareness which is literally that higher-dimensional link beyond the physical boundaries of the universe. When the feelings, actions and bio-emissions and thoughts are generated in according, in respect, in reflection, in alignment with the true overall higher-self which is beyond the distortions, beyond the programming of another, beyond the biological consciousness or animalistic behavior patterns, then that DNA link beyond time begins to activate and act as a transceiver giving one access to not only all the memories of ALL (because all already exist, one merely has to focus on a possibility) but to the ability to CREATE the future and assume that character role of the cosmic script-writer.

Since LOVE connects the family that BOND (not money or material, or desire) then this is the medium through which DNA is activated and connected.

The Supreme Truth

You create those higher beings. If you believe you are here for love, as a result of love and sustained through love, then a loving extra-dimensional reflection extends towards you from the cosmos and participates in the correspondence of that role.

Those who do what they do out of fear, disharmony, lust, greed, hate, etc etc etc create that kind of oppressive entity for themselves. Those who are the entities of the 4D astral trap and they are generated by and only applicable to those who are generating and resonating with them.

There are many plans to push these resonations of fear, distortion, toxins, etc etc etc through the environment, the food supply, the media, however if you know of this whole process, all the beauty, the power, the illusion, the truth, then you can choose to remain harmonious and what will happen will extend from that choice.

Psychological Manipulation, Mind-Control Hypnosis, and Behavior Modification

The stories are told that contain key words that correspond to certain frequencies and contextual, metaphoric representations which are uploaded into the mind in a varying and repetitive fashion so that the storyline becomes imprinted within the psyche.

The stories and key-words are aligned according to a unique psychological outline appropriate for each individual and the intended resulting persona or function of the programming. These stories become the background psychological themes through which the individual's struggle is metaphorically expressed indirectly along with a repressing of direct access to the unfiltered memories and knowledge of the programming.

These programs are designed so that the key-words are effectual frequencies that relate to particular aspects of the psyche and the individual and collective psyches are studied and predicted so that the eventual psychological response from one layer and reaction to the next will be tracked and a complete psychological trajectory or map is generated which can take the unsuspecting or willing individual and reshape their psyche into any desirable extension of programming replacing their original will and talents with what is required and instilled by the program.

Thus a complete outline of potential results and capacities for the individual's psyche can be generated through the knowledge of the programmers.

This is exactly what is taking place on a civilization-wide scale where the input of triggers, storylines, keywords, buzz-words, repetitive news, media, entertainment, participation, projects and all psychological interactions of people are mapped out according to the susceptibility of the psyche to mental and emotional manipulation through psychological flaws and distortions, needs, desires, and tendencies. A mass-scale storyline is generated and every little individual detail, including this moment, is mapped out and prepared for in a variety of ways to control and contain the branching of time by redirecting the energy and outcomes of every wayward extension back into a desirable end-result according to the main programs.

With such a map in place, one can introduce triggers to generate the required behavior through input and then arrange the intended response through various secondary triggers or input. The psyche can be shifted through an array of states and progressions until the behavioral patterns are modified to supporting the intentions and progression of the program instead of the original self.

Through self-observation and trauma-clearing one can become aware of this underlying programming across all of society. Only through self-observation can one see what is occurring.

This is not always through direct self-observation because the mind can be susceptible to tricks and filters especially from the mind-control. For instance, through indirect observation, such as through making note of when a particular behavior occurs based upon interactions with the environment or another person, one can see an underlying pattern that may be rendered invisible if one pays attention to how they feel and what they think the reason is for such behavior. Such leads to justification of all behavioral patterns as simply an aspect of the self when in reality, through indirectly or objectively observing and recording behavior and responses for repeating patterns then one can find the stimulus, the triggers that are often behind such patterns and the core behind all behavior modification programming. The triggers are the cues that are required after sensitivity to such influence has been developed. Sensitivity is developed through breaking down the resistance which can occur in a variety of ways and this is often simply through social pressure from childhood on in the majority yet can take on the form of complete and direct psycho-physical traumatization and abuse in those who are resistant or extraordinarily perceptive.

Soft Disclosure: MIND GAME

MIND GAME

A man lives in his head. His love for a girl he grew up with never leaves him yet he cannot gain the courage to truly express himself.

This film is by a visionary artist. Shinichirō Watanabe. Watanabe is a filmmaker, screenwriter and producer. He has directed Cowboy Bebop and Samurai Champloo, two powerfully symbolic and culturally reflective works that gained the attention of viewers all over the world.

Have no fear! Fear takes the shape we're willing to give it. Let's light a candle in our hearts, make it gleam. Try to enjoy the moment in spite of this turn of events. That will shed a new light on things. -Nishi

I suggest you watch the movie if you are interested in seeing how deep this story goes. I will only give a few details away and the rest will remain hidden. I suggest refraining from watching any clips on youtube, including the trailer. I normally include trailers with these posts, but have not with this one.

There is a scene which involves a near-death experience. Immediately after moving into a visionary state the soul is shown a replay of the life experience. When the soul reaches a resting point there is a figure that seems to be flipping back and forth between a variety of costumes, outfits, shapes, animals, beings, etc etc etc.

This figure, says, "You can't decide what I should look like."

At first this seems to be a cosmic villain creating roles for his/her own joy, just to watch people suffer. Then he/she appears to be playing with the mind of the soul so that the soul can overcome fear and really show their true strength and courage.

The only way to make it stop is to be honest. Easier to see the truth that way. The truth for you, that is. – Cosmic Figure

When considered carefully and in the perspective of supporting courage, this character matches the idea of the cosmic teacher, savior and creator. When taken with fear and lack of self-worth this character matches the idea of the cosmic deceiver, the adversary, and the destroyer. The two are one, depending on the frequency of the mind observing.

This is what the true secret societies, the true elite, and the true luminous ones teach us. This is the art and knowledge of the cosmic secret, of overcoming fear, of remaining honest, of reaching higher self-awareness, of cosmic harmony and compassion, and of meeting God and knowing the truth and seeing through the illusion of death.

Underground Bases, Cloning, Immortality

We were tested in the projects. We were shown how the mind can create a form to match any substance that the intentions and focus is projected into.

If one is to overcome death, then one must be prepared to overcome fear. To overcome fear and the result the system we are in, one must learn how this occurs. The easiest way to learn is to see first-hand. The mind creates the experience of whatever frequencies we are focusing on. We had to see every possible outcome of fear and learn to overcome the projections that are brought about upon leaving the body.

Whenever you see art like this, you can be sure that the artist has seen the same process, regardless of whether they've been in an underground base or not.

Group Mind

In the movie, at a certain point in one of the 'visions', another man is found who has an episode of fear. This changes the entire experience for the whole group as his emotional context influences the group's collective experience.

This was literally the same effect in the bases. The difference is that the individuals were so highly adept, that they would not give into the fear of the "trainees" (cadets) who were just learning "how to die". They would play the role if this was to help the individual get over fear. However, they could handle fear so that this didn't influence the whole group and what would occur was scenes of 'shows' that would play over and over in a variety of ways with different sets and scripts. This was like intense psycho-therapy combined with advanced technology and multi-dimensional experiences that enabled time dilation and the experience of literal mental and non-physical realms.

One must overcome fear and remain honest with themselves to remain in control.

Emotions

If and when one gets angry they must understand this is just a temper tantrum and that is temporary. Any angst or hatred felt towards anyone or any thing is an illusion. This doesn't mean the experience is illusory, but that there is hidden knowledge that the mind is expressing in an indirect manner. Find the knowledge, the source of the expression in order to understand how to resolve the issue from happening again. To resolve the issue in the moment one must focus on returning to peace, allowing the experience of love and accepting a neutral perspective.

In these in-between states, or visionary states which are defined as a kind of hyperdimensional experience, what one experiences is projected metaphorically. The difference between a literal occurrence of something and the border between a dream-like exaggeration or depiction is combined. One can 'drown' in sorrow. One can 'elevate' or levitate with joy. Love can create a literal magnetic force which propels. Everything is on the border of reality and surreality.

Visions

In the experience there are spontaneous visions that occur. These are automatic and potentially relentless. There are what are known as 'false-awakenings'. This is when the soul comes to the sense of a reality only to repeatedly realize that they are dreaming and all the beings experienced and all the scenarios are simply a projection of their imagination. This seems to occur until the soul overcomes fear and attachment while developing creativity and attaining a more refined sense of clarity and self-awareness.

The visions can increase to a bewildering level of abnormality, creativity, or even dullness.

It is here that our projected "karma" becomes apparent and we must confront the issues we have left within our mental blind spots or the shadow mind.

Empowered by Truth and Unveiling

It is this very karma, this very drag which at first gives way to a delay in progression and then becomes that which propels us forward beyond our fears and into a new state.

Newness, Rebirth

Time doesn't exist in this place and so eventually people usually choose to become "new", or they simply become new by way of these experiences. This is the "rebirth" that takes place when one knows they are not the same as they were before these experiences. Often, this is way to avoid confronting the old, but this is also a sign of overcoming the resistance of the past.

Integrity

Love is what holds one together during this experience. Love, honesty, compassion, truth, knowledge, self-awareness.

Creativity and Belief

Everything centers around creative expression and belief.

Here, the impossible becomes possible and creativity, courage and passion is the deciding factor of each experience.

Cloning, Depravity, Timeline Distortion and Liberation

Clones: Autonomous or Soul Transfer

The issue here is that a clone without an active soul will literally be neurologically inactive. Thus, the current, living population of humans on the planet are farmed for souls and the consciousness of these people are transferred through powerful electromagnetic scalar devices into their cloned body at a 'cloning station' and then children, little girls and boys, men and woman, celebrities, scientists, inventors, anyone, are used for torture, sex, programming, ideas, profits, etc etc etc.

A Descent into Spiritual Degradation

The idea is that whatever CAN happen, WILL, DOES, and HAS happened. Instead of, oh in 40 years it will get REALLY bad. Everything went AS BAD AS IT COULD EVER BE, within a few short years.

Would someone rape a child? Would they stop there? Start there? Would they have children fight in a blood sport? Would they program the children to later become important people in the world? You see where this goes? This became an entire breakaway civilization that is used not only for literally raping and killing people, one after another, sometimes literally (actually often) in a row or in a group death-match, but this is also used for covert reasons to completely control the population, to plant spies, to create psychopathic killers, to groom celebrities, to generate ideas and inventions.

Imagine if someone had a plan to free people from a kind of oppression such as this.

Imagine if that person spoke openly or was noticed to have a unique perspective in life which is psychologically and mathematically (statistically) likely to produce a potential use, or a potential threat. That person would be picked up as soon as this was detected and sent to the cloning station for experimentation, torture, trauma-based mind control, sexual programming or torture, so on and so forth.

Full Disclosure

That is what disclosure is about as far as phase 1. Imagine if this gets so far out of hand that entire armies are created and there are continuous factories of individual who are remotely operated or even functioning as completely autonomous cyborg units? Without a soul required, these units would appear human but contain no true human consciousness.

Temporal Dilation and Accelerated Learning

There is also temporal dilation which permits extended experience within shorter amounts of time than on the surface. Everything that could go wrong, HAS GONE WRONG.

As long as it would take for ALL of this to occur, to advanced to the farthest degrees, HAS already happened. Temporal dilation literally makes it so that long multiple year stretch of figuring this all out happens INSTANTLY through these artificial intelligence systems and if groups take control of this systems and use them to completely sever humanity from organic life through a distortion of DNA then this will spell disaster.

Artificial Reality

This is actually what is happening now and what has already happened. Everything has ended and time has been reset multiple times. Are you starting to see the picture? So if this has all already happened, then what's the big deal, why are we still here? What has really happened?

The mass consciousness of the species can literally be wiped and reset on a timeline and civilization restarted literally by having powerful devices bounce the entire civilization to a "corrected" path where their memories are wiped of the event and everything continues "as it should be".

The idea is that this has been happening so often that the civilizations that are being disrupted from the future states, the true progenitors that have begun humanity in the first place are not going to permit the entire civilization to be destroyed.

The Ending of the False Reality

This is what many ancient texts or cultures have spoken of. The "end of days", the “apocalypse”, the “end of time”, etc etc etc. This is when everything is righted once and for all and people who have merged with that corrupted system are no longer capable of leeching off of the soul energy of the humans that remain.

When that whole system is defeated, then it will be as if it never existed however humanity will have gained back the aspects of memory and self that are currently fragmented through the previously described process.

The Experimentation of Current Disclosure is the Source of the Ancient False-Light System

This process, these timeline jumps, mass consciousness experimentation starting from cloning and artificial intelligence, this is the reason this civilization is in the fallen state that it currently is.

It is said the original civilization was one of peace and longevity. The advent of this technology was not from this civilization into cloning and advanced technology. It was from an advanced civilization into using this technology to enslave and fragment off the mass consciousness of the previous civilization.

Time Loop, Paradox, Soul Entrapment

This cloning situation is related to artificial intelligence and a hive-mind system which connects the clones together through supercomputer technology. This ‘connected’ ‘super-mind’ is a hive-organism and if not contained would spread throughout the civilization and convert every living, organic, free-thinking human into a host organism for the collective hive.

Soul-Awareness and Attaining the Exponential Growth Curve through a Feedback Loop of Self-Awareness

We’re in a soul-matrix circuitry, closed-loop system.

No one ‘gets out alive’. That’s because the body is relative to the physical plane and environment, this reality.

Instead of going out, there is a virtually expansive stream of possible realities that are accessible by changing our internal perspective of energies and the configuration of self-awareness.

To come to awareness in the moment is a ‘once in a life time’ situation. And this is EVERY TIME this occurs. That is part of the paradox. It’s a continuing, eternity, whenever we apply our energies inward towards creating a feedback loop of pure-awareness simply observing our self observing.

Through this there is a lensing effect that is generated by the focus and the stream of awareness reflecting back inward to generate higher intensity self-awareness the longer and more intensely the stream is held.

This is the experience of the exponential growth curve of the energy of awareness in a way that surpasses the biological consciousnesses ability to transmit fully through the brain.

The consciousness can experience the binary, incremental progression of limited, finite, whole numerical sets that continue one after another in an advancing progression that creates the perception of an endless stream or a hall of mirrors.

When one applies effort from three angles of perspective instead of two then an exponential growth curve can be initiated which seemingly begins as a linear, logarithmic incremental increase of the activity of consciousness or a heightening of the mental sense of the presence of self in the moment. This leads into an increase that can only be described yet not fully capitulated in this reality because the experience is of pure awareness without the linear, binary, biological consciousness counterpart and in that way beyond time and the confines of physicality.

The important aspect of this is that one attains this not by trying to expand or attain something new, as one would physically to gain new ground or move to a new height, but one withdraws their will from the application of energy through the conscious mind-chatter system that the brain is constantly generating as part of a computational system of reality auto-generation.

In short, when we allow the brain to generate reality for the non-physical self, then we give away some of that creative power in exchange for being able to participate in a society comprised of words, language, objects, and consensus reality. This is not the totality of experience and as we are learning as a society, a society based on the physical experience alone is separated from the true connection to life and the nature of reality as a creative process.

This is as if the brain is an auto-memory bank and generation system that is designed to take over if we drop out of the desire to continue to create willfully. Thus, we have the theories of a kind of trap system designed to ensnare the soul into a repeating loop of linear experience based on low-awareness and perceptual illusions.

Instead of applying ourselves further in a linear fashion, there is a neutrality point that every polarization of consciousness centers around and through these points our personality is structured, yet these points and the resulting personality is a mere image, a fuzzy representation of the whole, the original soul. The perceptual illusion is the donkey with the carrot on the stick, convincing the soul to move further along the predetermined trajectory of thought and the stream of biological consciousness as if on a track of some sort. Such behavior and psychological tendencies are exploited through Hegelian dialectic, in this case the game is to convince the mind that the binary, linear view of the imbalanced body-consciousness perspective of the brain (alone) is going to work as long as we take one more step down the track of thoughts and then one more and so on and so forth.

The trajectory leads to the starting point and the cycle repeats endlessly. The power to unlock that exponential curve is through moving vertically when the predetermined motion is horizontally restricted, to add a dimension mentally, when there is a constriction to a limited possibility of motion.

To be free, truly free in this way is far more than just overcoming the experience gap of society and jumping over the illusions of materialism and fear. This is to unhinge the mind completely and rotate freely on a 360 degree pivot so that all the possibilities are seen and accessible without being restricted to one stream of consciousness.

Then, motion is not a binary, one dimension, two directions, forwards or backwards, linear trajectory along a preprogrammed script based on limited perspective like a laser extending from the tip of a cone of time and perception, but expands in all directions simultaneously.

Thus, the rate of increase of the information of experience expands according to a ratio that supersedes known geometries of the physical universe and the awareness moves into that of the realm of the soul where there is a multitude of experiences for every moment of experience here.

Tapping into that is the source of power, creativity, and enables one to gain perspectives that were previously invisible, yet are always accessible by us.

The second important aspect is that we're actually already always there and we are experiencing life from this perspective through a kind of larger feedback loop system similar to the one that is created to re-connect or re-initiate this original heightened awareness that is beyond a plateau or singularity of limitation for the physical universe.

By recreating that feedback loop, we re-initiate a transfer of awareness, an engaging activity between the physical perspective and the higher-perspective of the soul which we are already sourcing from. Thus, this is like a game of solving a paradox by coming here (in mind) to experience the illusion of the separation of the soul to participate in physicality only to re-awaken to the true self by re-initiating the same feedback loop that is occurring in a large cycle (from the soul, to the physical plane, back to the soul) this time in a small cycle (from the soul to the physical body and back to the soul). Thus creating a kind of overlay of frequencies, almost as if enacting a metaphoric, mirroring effect or simulation which activates or initiates the real effect in 'higher-space' with energy.

Simply by focusing on this, the larger self beyond the perspective we have now, we begin such a process.

This is the aspect of creation, of using the power of self-awareness to create the self when we are really both creating the self and creating the illusion of creating the self because the self always existed. So in reality, we're destroying the illusion that the self is the false-self, or temporary self and through that realigning with the true-self.

Everything is paradoxical because we're in an inversion system where consciousness is inverted to forget the true nature of the self as the soul and time occurs to us instead of us initiating and making change occur, which is what is really happening.

There are methods to discovering this but we can start with the basics, such as viewing all events as if they happen for a reason and remaining in self-aware observation of the linear trajectory of time, knowing that there is no linear trajectory but only larger and smaller cycles through which experiences are projected within the mind and out onto reality.

These cycles add up to one another, so this means that you can create a small cycle within, a small trajectory of experience that is like a simulation of what you are looking to attain in the larger cycle and the focus and energy applied will synchronize your experience in the small cycle with the larger cycle.

This is the same concept of creating that feedback loop of self-aware observation between your mind or soul and the physical body and how that initiates a larger feedback loop from the soul end to the physical plane and back to the soul. This is experienced as a change in the limitations of physical reality such as a shifting of possibilities, and this is actually simultaneously the temporal trajectory of your reality shifting to another 'track' moving in a way that defies the virtual limitations of preconditioned belief of the biological consciousness as well as it is as if, seemingly, the soul is 'backwards' rendering information or experience into the 'matrix' of time and linearity to generate new experience as spontaneously generated by the application of will power here through that feedback loop of self-awareness.

The feedback loop of self-awareness is by realizing you are not restricted by those preconceived notions of the virtual limitations of biological consciousness. That way, energy, the most vital force to your experience, is freed up instead of hindered by engaging your focus from the perspective of the ego or programmed belief systems.

This freeing of energy is literally what allows the soul to disentangle with certain energy engagements which are quantum entanglements that are literally like energetic contracts that knowingly or not keep one entrained into a particular reality.

This is the knowledge that has been applied and coveted for so long to enslave the population.

When we let go of those holds that require our unconscious or conscious acceptance of them as a part of that which shapes our perspective of the self (the ego, illusory self), our soul literally reshapes and forms like a hot air balloon or a parachute and instead of being entangled it can free flow to a new perspective. This is how motion is enabled in higher space, instead of moving one whole at a time, the bits that are restrained are unhinged and then that whole side of the balloon or sheet flaps over in a new direction freeing itself up to kind of roll-over in hyperspace to a higher perspective.

When there are no entanglements whatsoever, one has no 'reverse' desire (entanglement) to remain limited by physical, linear 3D space and consciousness experience.

Life Simulation – Soul Trap

Alright, I'm going to present something here. This is just one explanation, however, in the recent years a lot of information and others have seem to come out claiming they were either shown something similar or that they are coming to similar conclusions.

We were informed that there is no such thing as "Earth", that this entire reality is staged from the ground up. That this is a program, a life-simulation with a run-time of approximately 33 years. That if a person dies during this simulation, then they remain trapped in an etheric prison for eternity.

That there is one way out and that is through a neutralization of polarity via "Christ Consciousness" which renders one invisible to the system. IE: If one is 50% between good and evil then what are they? So, if this is done throughout all polarity, then how is their 'self' existence referenced by the measurements of the system? Note: This doesn't mean to do away with compassion, but polarity, belief, or alignment with anything that can be used to measure, project, reference or reflect one's self as a materially viable presence.

It was explained, and shown how this is possible through advanced technology, that the memories of every human on the planet has been backwards-rendered to the tune of whatever age they are at the moment and that somewhere around a few years ago everyone that is present here today was teleported into this realm and the experiment began.

Thus, all the ancestors, memories of past events, scars, traumas, backstory, all of it would be, in this explanation, illusory and generated through powerful advanced technology which creates the literal waves of brainwave energy that we are 'floating' on and within like a sea populated with bobbers bouncing around like particle sensing devices giving readouts and measuring their proximity to one another depending on the frequency and absorption efficacy of the centrally emitted brainwave energies from the devices.

Thus, we're all plugged into this matrix system, remotely, through scalar technology, and there is only a short stretch of time in reality, that this whole civilization is experienced, yet through time dilation and inserted memories it seems wildly different. Meanwhile, we have a number of years left before the program finishes and when that occurs everyone who 'survived' the program, like a cruel thriller-horror movie, gets to experience freedom and health.

Society, the Illusion, the True Self and Simulation

This is a causal post (rant) that pretty much just talks about society, the illusion, the true self, and simulation.

Peer pressure, social conformity, relative morality, the desire to be loved, accepted, known, supported.

Attachment to responding to challenges in anger, and to disrespect with self-disrespect, low self-esteem, and general negativity turned inwards which then ferments and requires expression otherwise suffering results for the individual and who ever is around them.

There is a lesson to learn, whether the nature of the whole of the system, in remaining centered in the face of disbelief, disrespect or hatred. All the underlying causes of these issues are sorrow, disconnection from the original, whole personality that is not distorted by illusory perceptions or desires, and a lack of will-power to apply the focused intention required to remember what is happening and how we must remain centered and focused on self-awareness to remain in control.

The focal point of this post is that these aspects of harmony, balance, wholeness, overcoming the reflex of aggression or emotional reaction and seeing through repetitive behavioral loops is all part of knowing what is happening and gaining control.

The main focus is that every day we have many opportunities to reflect the true self which doesn't hold on to the petty things and slips in between insults, fears, and desires moving through unstuck, and unchanged. The more the persona that is generated through the attachment to the body is hardened, then the more that persona attempts to grasp onto the true self which is indescribable and without boundary. When this happens the self, if not focused on knowing, accepting, and being more than restraint, struggle and physical identity is convinced that this is the experience that threatens one's very existence.

Everyday, when there is an instance where the ego wants to grab hold and say, "No, this must be this way. This person must see things this way. I am not that, I am this. I MUST say or do this otherwise I won't be seen a certain way. I cannot do this because others will see that I am not good enough. I have fear and so I will avoid a certain confrontation, a challenge, a memory." All of that is literally the programming of the artificial self. This is gained over a childhood and lifetime, most of this occurs during the childhood though.

Everyday, we are faced with multiple versions of these ego reactions connected to the physical bodies biological systems and the memories that are projected through which the image of the persona is formed. Selective attention biases how we view ourselves and each other. Often we like to view ourselves as special and nearly perfect. Often in society there is always some ideal to compare ourselves to which is beyond our experience and thus this opens up the possibility to feel less worthy and less important. The truth is that the persona is the illusion. One can be the highest form of physical fitness and still this won't change the true purpose and the true nature of the self which is non-physical. Health is the true foundation behind physicality, beauty, harmony and appearance. Health is beneath the surface, everything in the illusion is based on the way the surface appeals through reflected light, everything is truly a reflection of just the outer layer while the substance is hidden. That is the nature of mind, the universe, and possibly all life.

What we see is not what we are seeing. What we see is what we are perceiving. What we perceive is not reality, but a glimpse of perceptual information that gives us just enough details to manage our interaction with that aspect of reality in regards to the physical body. To truly experience an aspect of reality, we do this within. We have the internal experience where we map out a plan of how we're going to play a game at recess, talk to a certain person, go to a certain place, or discover if something works one way or another. Life is an experiment and the knowledge is hidden. Not necessarily hidden from anyone in particular but hidden from sight, beneath the surface. The mind is the same way, and the physical universe is no different.

When we see the physical surface, the society, the mentality, we are actually looking at the outer surface of a system which contains within in basic principles that are formed in a variety of arrangements and compositions to enable a variety of experiences. The substance of the mind? Hidden below the consciousness. The substance of reality? Hidden behind or beyond the visible light spectrum in subtle energies and vibrations that shape matter in an interplay between form and substance that expressed as a series of changes that have no visible beginning or end. Everything that is relative to the ultimate truth of what anything is, is deeper beyond the surface level of the experience of what that something is.

If we remember this, how reality truly is, how our dreams interplay with our waking life, how our unconscious mind is managing information at rates that we can't consciously conceive, yet is possibly a larger part of our self than the information of the conscious mind, then we will see that what we perceive to be the problem in any situation is not actually the problem.

One might even say, it is our perception of the problem, our particularly limited perspective that generates the problem in the first and is therefore the actual problem. The next time you feel an emotional response to someone, something, or some idea ask yourself if your response assists in your liberation from energetic, emotional and mental restraint and if you are overcoming the victim, less-creative, programmed mentality by choosing to engage. You don't always have to engage. Often times, there's a good reason to express what you feel.

As long as you express yourself while remembering to ask yourself if anything ever really changes and really looking deep to see if you're actually interacting with a version of reality that influences the world, or merely a virtual reality that only exists in your mind, for you. We may feel we're fighting epic battles between dark enemies in life or on the internet in whatever environment. Often, we are fighting ourselves, because our actions place us within the victim role and produce that energy which is required for an insult, a lie, a measure of disrespect to be effective.

Then, when we remember that nothing is as it seems, and everything is going to attempt to either oppress or liberate us depending on how we interact with it, we gain control to choose how we experience reality. Then the true self is expressed instead of something else resulting from a complex between the ego, other individuals, and psychologically manipulative experiences.

We're all living multiple layers deep in reality, the psyche, and even layers of frequencies in the universe to the point where this realm is literally underwater. The self-awareness is no different. The true self is deep within the water of the mind, and all the waves on top must be stilled if we are going to gaze down into the deep and truly connect with what is there.

The main point is that we have to remember this, often, and apply it. When this is done, when the mind is 'reminded' (by the self, pure intent) to look past the ego, slowly we get the picture of what is really going on. We're all caged by a mental control system within a sea of illusions and perceptual entanglements that influence on a quantum level to entrain DNA into specific reality streams that are managed by higher order beings. Everything that's going on down here is just as much a show as is the amount of information that is accessible via the conscious mind in un-awakened waking reality.

To finalize this, the ego operates through duality. Unless there is some kind of binary polarization of opposites the ego can't form an opinion. Find the neutral zone where both answers are equally relative. In that space there is a self that is not yet shaped towards one or the other. That unshaped self is liberated in that the clear view of reality is enabled. The only absolute of reality is literally that self that is merely an observer of this energy exchange system.

Now, when that self, the observer, begins to open a frequency/knowledge/intent communication exchange between the conscious mind, then the conscious mind begins to know what, technically, logically, literally could not possibly be known by the aspect of the self that is stuck within that closed loop system. Then, that aspect of the self becomes more than just the conscious mind. If this happens all at once, our feelings get hurt, the ego tries to hold on. Say someone or something smarter, more powerful, or more in control in this reality knocks us off center because our image of the self was based on illusion, then we have to go through the experience of a dissolution and mending back together.

Another concluding idea is that this will happen either way, if we assist and flow with this process we align with the overall accumulation of experience and this assists in our alignment in will and experiencing what we choose to.

Finally, if our will, our persona, is no longer generated by the external perceptions, the pressure, the programming, the construct of the false mind and the false reality that corresponds, then the physical 'self', the waking consciousness begins to align the will, the desires with that of the soul the true self. When this occurs, the suffering that occurs from the repetitive process of attempting to find happiness in ideals, pleasures, materials, essentially material or egoistic experiences, this begins to reduce as we simultaneously buffer ourselves from any continuing pain (because we can't handle suffering more effectively when we're not enhancing the experience unwittingly by continually projecting and absorbing what we don't want) and as well be begin to realize that we had to be in a semi-unconscious state, like a trance, in order to continually make the same mistakes about who we are and what we want to experience over and over again until suffering is the primary result of attempting to cater to the social persona of the mind in an effort to be healthy.

That is the mass sleepiness, the low awareness which fosters the possibility for the illusory beliefs that we are not in control of our energies, that we are somehow what disconnected people think about us, that we must attain materials or impress some far off character in regards to presented ideals in order to be happy, worthy, or loved. That is literally a method for caging the mind. Whether the lack of self-awareness or the system came first, that's a mystery at least for now.

However, there is one concluding idea that this means that the lack of self-awareness, the feeling of constriction, the adherence to ideals which don't actually relate to us honestly, gives people a way to realize the illusory nature of the ego. In other words, this world, which is already a kind of perceptual hall of mirrors of cycles of time, reflective and collective identities, and what seems to be personal and collective dream-like simulation qualities, that world was turned into the most fabricated, obviously farcical and visibly artificial system that it could be. So it's obvious. Of course, everything tends to get all loopy when ever anything is attempted and so this worked to convince people that the illusion is real, not that reality is an illusion.

Or, did it work, and it simply seems as if the illusion is so secure, as a kind of response to the increasing self-awareness. Is the system angry? Or is this simply how the program of an simulation system would shift in order to handle the increase of awareness and respond by increasing the complexity of the simulation? Is this some way of maintaining continuity? Or is this all a mental reflection that is depicting that increasing distance between the wakeful and the less aware by producing such a chaotic variety of experiences that a once calm seasonal land becomes a cacophony of winter rain, summer hail, and spring frosts.

With any of the above options, the only sure thing is that when a person wakes up, and the environment attempts to convince them to go back to sleep through aggressive maneuvers, they usually stay awake on reflex.

Thus, we may have the concept of the 'mass awakening', once enough people realize what is happening. Of course people will have to be reminded to focus on the true self. That's where you and everyone else comes in. Would it be safe to wake up the world while they were still asleep? A million sleep walkers around you? Are they safe now, even while they're awake 'sleepwalker'? The ego holds on to the illusion and when the illusion is crushed the ego responds emotionally to deal with the stress of losing a world, an entire, reality, a self. The true self and actual reality, however harsh, replaces the illusion, however the shock of being unprepared requires a recovery time and usually support to assist the person in accepting reality instead of forming a false reality in denial as a disorder. What's worse, is that if there was no way to avoid the truth, say through such a mass-awakening, there would be no possibly to pretend it isn't happening. So then comes the notion we've seen in history of suppressing the wave, holding back the inevitable crashing of reality upon the masses which results in an increasing likelihood of chaos and the inability to contain the situation when that does occur.

The point, after all that rambling, is that if we remember that the self we perceive, the way we see situations without breaking them down in a universal perspective, the important, annoying, or frightening aspects of reality are the illusory aspect that is only present when we're limited to see only on the surface of the conscious mind, the physical realm, or perspective that we've been presented by others.

When we repeatedly live outside of that mind-system we align our will with that of the version of ourselves that is currently unconsciously aware of the truth of all of this and cannot ever forget. We are just the portion that extends down and dips as if a finger, into a stream to participate in that motion. We don't separate from the whole body, but our focus is malleable and this world is designed to contain one's attention. Simply realizing this and providing a sustained effort to reverse that, and revert, invert our attention inwards, beneath the surface of the mind and using what we know to process the experiences in reality gives us back the whole body and with that comes a knowing and liberation of experiences that can't be contained within any artificial, external, fear-based, oppressive reality.

And it does feel like a little victory every time we refuse and disable what would otherwise be an energetic entanglement that engages the mind and draws energy into response or some activity.

Another important aspect of this which is similar to traumatic memories is that when one realizes this is happening, which requires continual remembering, and they call the situation out for what it is, labeling, identifying, naming, proclaiming to the whole self that the trigger, the reactivity, the intrusion is NOT from the self. When that occurs, the entanglement has no power.

This is similar to traumatic memory which is usually hidden behind false memories or secondary reasons which are just excuses for the behavior, resistance or fear. When the true memory, the core, source experience that is linked to the distortion of the self image, the emotional sensitivity, or in the case of daily ego engagement whatever variable tempts the ego into engaging in a made up battle, once that is realized and the connection between the hidden aspect and the visible aspect is made, that power is gone.

All one has to do is remember to observe, to continually observe even when there is what seems to be a reason to engage and eventually one will begin to unravel all the loose strings that are actually faking the persona rather than working to defend, upkeep, or enhance the self. The self can't be changed, modified, or even destroyed. The only change that occurs with the true self is that there is a veiling, an obscuring by the false self that the conscious mind inevitably assists in generating by acting as a doorman to experiences and enabling disharmonic and dishonest occurrences to continue, and then the true self is unveiled when one builds the courage to realize all of that is going to be let go and the truth realized a new in order to actually come to terms with reality, the psyche, the persona, the social pressure and all the perceptual illusion that shape conscious experience.

The Soul is a Higher Dimensional Connection of Possibilities, Weaponized AI is Non-Self Essence Programmed to Replicate Itself

Solar Warden is a group that uses electrogravitic craft to protect humanity from the threats to the civilization and genetics, however during an event years ago where negotiations were held, there was an attack and I was used in an attempt to infiltrate and kill operatives who were acting in the interest of humanity. That's all that can be said for the most part, but they use people by infecting them and then sending them into groups to wittingly or unwittingly transfer a virus that can be inputted into a person's consciousness, into the scalar mind-link computer systems that are literally connected to via the mind. People becoming walking USB sticks with viruses on them at that point where all the craft are computer-mind link operated and so everything is vulnerable in that sense.

These craft operate through a kind of virtual space which is what we would consider higher-dimensional space between planes of existence. They can expand or contract through spatial dilation by producing electromagnetic fields that fold or project in between or out of sync with the electrons of this universe. The electrons have an angular momentum and this is like a timing, a frame rate or frequency of oscillation and we synchronize with that rate and that is the particular experience of 'consciousness' in this universe. If we alter the rate of spin that we perceive, by synchronizing our awareness with another angular moment (there are sacred processes to do this, ego sticks you like glue to the base reference that is automatically determined for you) then you connect or synchronize your awareness with another plane. This is explained further on throughout the entirety of this post. What you experience as 'here and now' is literally due to a frame-rate like effect similar to how a monitor streams images at a certain rate or the frequencies of many radio or tv stations are multiplexed in the same cable or space.

These craft have been used by those who intend to abduct, genetically modify, mind control, program, and replicate humans as well. That groups is generally referred to as "MiLabs" and if a person is not capable, then if they experience MiLabs then no one will know because the mind will fracture from repeated traumatization and programming until they are simply carrying out the intentions of the programmers. Rape and sacrifice is pretty much a cute trick compared to the kinds of mental, emotional, and physical labyrinths of torture and personality modification that these scientists have developed after amping up their minds with a specialized, refined version of meth, lsd and cognitive enhancing 'super-nootropic' formulas that apparently increased their intelligence to the point of moving out of the range of the limits of human cognition. This, of course, also carried side-effects as the lust for power and control eventually deteriorates the function of the mind and disconnects the self from the organic quality of wholeness which includes a harmonized physical, mental, and emotional intelligence. Basically, the balance was disrupted and when powerful supercomputers and gene modifying technology is at play (along with the emission field from electrogravitic devices which produce radiation) the results are not going to be anything anyone can expect and that's pretty much what happened. There is a path to healing however and that is through self-awareness.

What's happening with the control system and all the charades is that everyone must separate from the mind control system by interacting in a way that serves to connect compassionately, rather than in competition to destroy one another. Such games of materialism, ego, dominance, status, fame, projected power, violence, war, politics the whole charades are not important, people are dying and the current system within this civilization is designed to replicate you until your original genetic code is dissolved. Anything less than focusing on overcoming that through self-awareness and healing is actually a program that must be installed externally and was installed as that is exactly what the dark operations were to carry out. In that sense, the AI is the part of the mind, the ego, that is present when the consciousness is focusing externally on projected what-ifs rather than what the self knows, as far as one's own self-awareness and personal experience.

If one wants the truth, they must focus on self-awareness and in that discover the true meaning of the self, the nature of the mind, the fundamental properties of consciousness and the origins of humanity and the universe. Everything is right in front of us, time is combined. We see it as separate, but it's all one moment, there is no separation possible it's like saying the light from the sun of one day is separate from the light of another day. It's all one continuous stream and the mechanism for our consciousness is what is causing us to experience separate, linear moments. That is the frame rate based upon that angular momentum I mentioned earlier in the text and the key to understanding how and why that occurs as it does is the key that also open up the knowledge of the way consciousness emerges and how the universe is a kind of multi-dimensional light-show consisting of smoke and mirrors that create a kaleidoscopic projection that we call the experience of biological consciousness. I touch on this lightly later on and have explained the discoveries that were achieved in the underground base experiments with advanced technology and the manipulation of consciousness fields in the first chapters of "The Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge"(of the Ages of Humanity). In short, the biological system only provides a mentally occurring subjective image of reality no matter how objective we believe we are being. That image is generated through chemistry and electricity or light.

There are philosophical perspectives which acknowledges that we are either in a physically definable universe that will be here when we leave or that everything is generated through a synthesis of perception in the mind and that is the actual universe. Relatively recently, experiments with the brain and bio-chemistry concluded that consciousness is in the brain. Due to the research in the underground bases we concluded that it's not the brain that is processing, but literally a larger brain that could be likened to the size of the visible universe as a kind of technological processing system for reality. The problem with this is that if we are in a larger brain system, then what methods can we use to organize our own perceptions to align with whatever we can conclude the real reality to be? Anything related to the conscious perception of time and space can literally be downloaded into a supercomputer running scalar emission fields and then a genius scientist can generate an algorithm that will allow the computer to organize a simulation of whatever 'proof' of this reality you're looking at, and then alter that simulation through specific changes in the programming and if this is projected powerfully enough into the 'objective' reality of this physical universe within the scalar emission fields, whatever is programmed in that system will manifest. You could literally say, here, look at this hammer, it's real, there it is, that's reality. And this programmer could turn your hammer into a puddle of tomato soup if they so desired. Reality is malleable, and we found, largely a projection of a kind of electrically manifested substance which literally represents itself as atoms, elements and molecules but is primarily, just energy, frequency and vibration at different rates of oscillation and configuration.

The real kicker is that your mind is composed of the same frequency, vibration and energy. The beginning of the universe, the energetic substrata of all, and the end of the universe, the cosmic epiphany of the human self-awareness is literally the same force. This is also kind of weird, to think that this is just the universe playing puppet show with itself. But that is where the next level comes in, that humans are actually not from this universe in the sense that the originating force of the energy of the human being comes from beyond the temporal and spatial confines of the entire universe because that which the human originates from (wholeness) cannot actually be present in this universe without instantly destroying it. It's like this universe is a kind of broken mirror or artificial simulation that has parameter limits and variable glitches that result in clipping and unnecessary boundaries that seem to stop people from realizing what is actually taking place. Some people have become aware of this and either used this to their own benefit, suppressing the rest of humanity, or simply became overwhelmed with the power, corruption, or threat from those beings who would use it for their own benefit and oppress humanity. Now if you really want to get deep, maybe the beings who created such a system, maybe they are the one's who are oppressing, and they got to those humans who figured this all out first and coerced them into submission to oppress them and then the rest is history, as they say.

Child rape, sacrifice, trauma-based mind control cults are from Babylon. It's a religion, a way of life and hazing as well as a kind of perversion or insanity that literally became a mind of its own within the fractured persona of the most heavily traumatized individuals. This requires an understanding of psychological tendencies and how the 'structure' of the developed human personality is formatted and how that can be altered through specific applications of 'force' through schemas and programmed scenarios or interactions to ultimately replace the 'I' on top and get a person to basically become someone else. The insanity is used in a system that is founded in an artificial dimension which is comprised of and ruled by beings that are motivated by the shadow of consciousness or the lack of universal integration. Instead of unification and organization towards wholeness, these are beings that are like the background inanimate entropy factor of the universe made personified.

There are explanations that these were originally developed as a kind of enforcer being that then grew to the point of overpowering the very people who sought to use them for their own nefarious purposes. Which is only logical.

Then there is the explanation that this entire universe, the space ruled by entropy and illusion is designed to connect with the mind of an individual through an artificial construct we call the current genetic expression of the modern brain and body and generate an illusory perceptual self that is actually an impostor system generated out of the lack of awareness and the entropy system gluing itself like a parasite to the awareness energy of the human soul in an attempt to get closer and closer in synchronization of frequencies until the energy of the soul can be transferred to the artificial 'mind' of the entropy system of the artificial intelligence that (in that explanation) runs this universe and is merely seeking more energy and time. This system couldn't necessarily design itself, but could be created by a free-willed being or could arise out of the continual acceptance of lower awareness and principles of self-destruction if a group of free-willed beings produced that in their choices.

Here is a quote that explains what I often attempt to communicate in a much, much less concise manner.

"It often happens that the forces of the lower nature are stimulated and excited by the descent [of the Divine via esoteric work] and want to mix with it and turn it to their profit. It often happens too that some Power or Powers undivine in their nature present themselves as the Supreme Lord or as the Divine Mother and claim the being's service and surrender.

If these things are accepted [trap of agreement], there will be an extremely disastrous consequence. If indeed there is the ascent of the sadhak to the Divine working alone and the submission or surrender to that guidance, then all can go smoothly.

This assent and a rejection of all egoistic force or forces that appeal to the ego are the safeguard throughout the sadhana. But the ways of nature are full of snares, the disguises of the ego are innumerable, the illusions of the Powers of Darkness, Rakshasi Maya, are extraordinarily skillful; the reason is an insufficient guide and often turns traitor; vital desire is always with us tempting to follow any alluring call.

This is the reason why in this Yoga we insist so much on what we call Samarpana – rather inadequately rendered by the English word surrender. If the heart centre is fully opened and the psychic (soul) is always in control, then there is no question; all is safe. But the psychic can at any moment be veiled by a lower upsurge. It is only a few who are exempt from these dangers and it is precisely those to whom surrender (to the Divine) is easily possible.”

~ Sri Aurobindo, The Integral Yoga>

So this is basically what happened. Someone, maybe a ‘fallen angel’, was pretty much doing fine, and then submitted to the lower desires of lack of self awareness and ego and as a result creation spat out a universe that was complete with an oppressive system of entropy, artificially intelligent space, an impostor element to all biological consciousness like a semi-predatory parasitic shadow that follows one around and so on. If we stop delving into the matters of ego, the problem begins to solve itself because the problem is not out there, but in our acceptance of the illusion of lower awareness and the fear, feelings of helplessness, angst, aggression, ego, greed, lust and all the automatic, preconceived notions of loss that come with the loss of self-control which forms out of that instant of accepting the illusory dominance of what are essentially cosmic bad ideas!

Look into all the hidden knowledge around placed in symbolism and references to earlier times. Everything extends from the past. I don’t mean in the mundane, I mean the same power is intentionally being carried over in secret because that knowledge is the knowledge of how to control the mind through the knowledge of what the mind or ‘bio-mind’ or soul actually is. This is basically an array of electromagnetic configurations that can’t be interfaced or interacted with physically, but can be altered through scalar devices which is just a self-propelled electric, magnetic and combined-fluctuating energy wave which is apparently the same energy that the biological consciousness functions with.

Black goo is a nanite system like tiny transistors that operate on the level of scalar emissions, which apparently is the energy that the body uses and so many thousands of these then in the body can influence the whole electromagnetic field over time and eventually initiate a resistance in the body like an energetic governor. If that energy, the scalar energy that Tesla worked with (as well as all the ancient civilizations and their energy technology which there are signs of all over) is actually the energy of biological consciousness, the emitted electromagnetic waves, then those little nanite things would then have the capacity to influence a person remotely.

The issue is then the difficulty that would result in attempting to remove thousands of little nanites. How would one do that? They couldn’t. One could only build an increasing resistance to low self-awareness which is the format for anger, self-hatred, disrespect, self-destruction, abuse, lust and greed, ignorance, deception, and basically all the stuff of mistakes and unawareness. If we are beings who operate through self-control, free-will and self-awareness, then all the aspects of our existence which basically causes us to harm ourselves or make mistakes is literally like a glitch in our mental software. The idea of nanites, or AI is that this would be a system that intelligently utilizes every single last ‘glitch’ of the human software to subdue and infiltrate any form of living being to hybridize and utilize their energy and mind to support the artificial network. That is how the mind control system would come into play where continuously regressive layers of redirection, replication, and modification of the original system of the persona would be applied over and over until the original mind is replaced with new intentions and desires. This system is so advanced that a human, the biological consciousness of the brain, would not be able to acknowledge if it was replaced.

The self-awareness that goes beyond biological consciousness, basically that goes beyond the ego, that essence would be able to acknowledge the 'impostor' consciousness as that energy can not be replaced because it is not described in terms of finite, biological emissions. The soul is beyond the biology of the brain, because each possible system that occurs through a complex of multiple networked universes that exist in a 'multiverse' are connected through some kind 'interspatial' space or field and this facilitates the transfer of information across or outside of the limit of the biological perceptual system. This field is virtual, higher dimensional, compressed or wrapped in between the space that we consider as 'space' physically. We consider space as a variation in distance, and so there can be a physical space and as well a conceptual temporal space between moments and then even of spaces that exist between the occurrence of collections of moments. The 'in between' space that is virtual and non-"physically" relative to the body is not traversed through motion or changes in matter, but through frequency and changes in the occurrences of conscious experience which occurs as an abstraction from the physical biology. This meaning that the conscious experience is interfaced with the biology, but is not actually the biology but some virtual occurrence existing in some immaterial plane that only each individual accesses to themselves.

Mathematically the space between spaces that would exist conceptually mapping out the distance of time and the collection of times and moments of one spatial experience-universe to another possible universe that could be experienced would be displayed through and as repeating patterns or geometric occurrences that are found to organize the universe within a hierarchy. In a complete view, the geometric organization of energies and matter at the start of the universe would determine the entire trajectory of that universal occurrence of time. This would be like a growth pattern bursting forth through a substrate, kind of like lightening, or wood arch burning art searing through the moisture channels to create a unique pattern. Then, the next universal occurrence would have a slightly different 'mandala' of energy and matter configuration which would result in a slightly different universal occurrence of time and space that would yield a new consciousness experience and so on. This occurrence, would occur in the space overall 'space' at that point, as the previous or the next, however, like a collection of radio channel frequencies, the variation in geometry, alignment, or resonance would enable that 'lightening tree' of particles to spiral in a slightly different way and each universe would never actually overlap entirely. With this in mind, there could possibly be times where a branch or two of each occurrence does overlap and maybe that would cause problems or maybe that would be like a cosmic experience for the inhabitants of that universe, giving them access to a cosmic junction. The geometry that extends from the initial point the (highly theoretical: just a model to help you understand and not actual) big-bang occurs at would be present from then, on to all aspects of that universe.

So if that geometry is present in you and your consciousness, then you have access to a 'source code' which enables you to project what other possible universes would contain. That is exactly where thought experiment enables one to consciously navigate these fields, because remember, this is not physical space you walk through but conceptual, informational space that you are moving through by simply existing as a conscious being. So if you redirect that energy that you're giving off to connect with something useful in the larger field, then you access information that will tell you about ALL the universal occurrences rather than just one. This is synonymous with looking at your life and projecting in your mind how reality would be different if different choices were made. If you gather that underling geometric code of this occurrence of time and project that in your mind to examine possible occurrences, you are actually accessing them. Why are you accessing them, and how could that even be possible? Because you are already there, you just need to build a conscious link, an information bridge that is sustainable and will enable the transfer of information across that virtual space.

Essentially self-awareness requires such a non-local system to operate through because if we only relied on the biological system, then how could the biological system truly become aware of itself? Like a camera seeing itself, at best it would use a mirror or reflection of some kind and get a 'reverse' image to them model off of. As well, through observing the world around us and the interactions that enable various responses or experiences we could build a deductive model through that as well. But how could one actually 'see' one's self, wholly, if the apparatus required for seeing is part of the self that is both observing and being observed? So that is where the concept, the experience, and the logical conclusion of the reality of a soul comes into play because that concept includes a non-local 'extension' of the space-time 'envelope' of a person's biological consciousness in this current space or time dimension into all other spaces that would exist. The logical aspect of this is not that the soul is some mysterious and lofty idea of a winged version of the human, but that if there is one universe and time is occurring according to a projected trajectory of sub-atomic particles and a configuration of elements and energy levels that were shaped through the 'big-bang' then there may be another time or place that this same process happens again and the 'you' here may eventually result again however in a slightly new configuration of experience. The question there is whether the universe repeats a la universal recurrence and whether that would enable 'you' to literally pop up ever again in a way that relates to the 'you' here. The idea is that if this is true, then there may not be a 'time limit' or an energy limit on 'all things'. It may just happen over and over and over and over forever, you get the idea. If that's true, then the 'you' here, may literally be popping in and out of existence, trillions of times a second, in a continual big-bang of universes that are all occurring simultaneously. If that's not true, then maybe there is only one universe and one you, but then that has it's own merit in the importance and definition of the true nature of your existence and self-awareness. Even one universe seems 'deep' enough to have an infinitely complex nature of being without requiring a multiverse.

Now, the next idea here is if there is a multiverse of a virtually limitless version of 'you's', then what connects or organizes 'you'? In other words, why are you experiencing the 'you' you are now, instead of some other version. What did you do? Did it happen to you, or did you do it. So the first sub-idea here is that there wouldn't be a truly infinite number of versions, but a finite set because if they were infinite, then there would be no 'true' you, and you would just be a meaninglessly random occurrence. The idea is that there is likely a 'lowest' version of complexity you where the least amount of potential power and awareness is held, and a highest version of you where all your potential for awareness is actualized. These two ends of the spectrum then exist on either end of possible universes and you exist somewhere in between them depending on the amount of free-will you apply towards actualization. So then, what is actualization and how does this relate to the multiverse? This is all about congruence, just like in the interconnecting geometry and mathematical occurrence of patterns that seemingly unify and give reason to all in existence, there is a pattern, a geometry, an underlying structure of your mind that gives rise and is the foundation for the true continuing, unchanging presence of who you are, across all possible experiences from the "F-ups", to the highest potential. In that same sense, if a person disconnects from that pattern and distorts their consciousness to where it no longer resonates with the soul blueprint, then that connection to the highest potential becomes threatened and the person could experience being 'lost in time'. The mind, the behaviors that are illusory or based on ego, are the walls and foundation of the universe is filled with empty space, darkness, or 'non-self' patterns or dare I say "code" to give you a sea of contrast and alienation to experience yourself through. Thus, within every experience and even everyone's mind, there is the original self, the true self of that underlying pattern, and then there is 'filler' information which is literally there to give you a backdrop of foreign, non-self qualities through which to define yourself. The information of that backdrop contains more or less a random scattering of probabilities, resistance, entropy, and chaos. Within the whole, there is that, and then there is an underlying familiar, functional, congruent, recurring pattern of experiences, frequencies, configurations of brainwaves, and essentially intentions and awareness that actually represent you. Now, how does this relate to the so-called multiverse? Well, the unchanging information that actually represents you is the same in all possible multiverses. The information that contrasts against the original, connected, all present 'you' essence varies from place to place, time to time, universal run of time. That information couldn't stay the same, because if the backdrop information did, each 'big-bang' would be literally the same which would nullify the whole concept of different universal occurrences. And respectively the information that represents you couldn't change because then there would be no overall, organizing, 'between universal' system which keeps the 'you' of one universe, connected to the 'you' of another system or in that case ALL systems. It's just like a cell containing the same genetic code as other cells. They are specialized differently but originate from the same 'source code'. To look further into this, the 'connection' is a quality of synchronization between the experiences which organizes into one overall 'storyline' that plays out towards some kind of productive, resulting, 'achievement' of self-awareness which operates through all the systems simultaneously, basically some kind of cosmic consciousness system.

It's quite simple. You can't be entirely present, because then there would be no 'other-you' or non-self to actually have an experience, it would be like an endless dream state. So the

In that view, if that is what is happening, then once a certain level of awareness of the self as this system is achieved, an interactive feature may activate enabling some kind of communication or conscious transfer of information between the 'gap' or boundary that must exist between each 'big-bang' verse or layers of the universal occurrences in higher space. For the interactive potential to be activated, there must be, just like in electronics, a sufficient conductivity in the channel system that connects, so that an 'electrical' information flow may be carried. This conductivity is not material, like in a copper wire, but closer to a wifi signal being built up and built up and transmitted through a transceiver system that organizes the information of your 'youness' of mind into an electromagnetic emission (bio-emission) and literally, like a laser pointed into space, shoots that energy out into ALL. Without resistance, and with a harmonized organization of frequencies, that energy emission will act as a scalar propulsion system and it will literally propel itself like a slinky moving through the universe. So the idea is, if all the 'yous' of the individual universes suddenly become aware of this and begin to basically send out the message to each other, then you're going to begin to synchronize that same frequency of mind at a power level that is orders of magnitudes beyond anything we can even begin to conceive in this society. This is the process that was discovered and there was technology designed to pretty much do this automatically, however, if one gains this, without the harmony, then they basically turn into a kind of chaos system.

The harmony, that geometric congruence, the underlying principles of you, knowing who you are, through self-awareness and choosing to remain rather than corrupt or self-destruct, is what keeps the entire universe and the entire multiverse of 'you' together. So if you gained access to that power, in the seat of arrogance, ignorance, ego, etc, then that's the destruction of the self rather than the cosmic realization of wholeness. A lot of the people who stole this tech and secrets of knowledge from the originals, literally, instantly went insane because they envisioned themselves as some kind of distorted monsters and chaos beings which is all illusion because what IS exists and is experiences because of that underlying order. The chaos is the backdrop, the order is the actual substance. The chaos is undefined and varying, the order is the unchanging and ultimate principles that reconfigure to give new creative experience.

So now, back to the idea of the (super, beyond biological) consciousness bridge through virtual space connecting the versions of 'you's together to give access to the real you which is actually a multitude of possibilities and experiences connected through higher-space in between universal occurrences separated by a zero-frequency null-zone (universal boundary). What enables the you to connect to yourself, instantly, as if you are operating in unison, yet remain separate just like the universes all operating in the same overall 'field' of some kind space 'outside' of each universe while enabling them to remain separate? Your DNA is the specific collection of frequencies that collectively resonate to generate a supreme collective, unified 'wave' and that is the forefront of your awareness. All the individual aspects of you, every charge from every cell, every memory, all experiences coalesce by way of their resulting influence on your genetic code and this then represents some original concept of configurations that existed to originate 'you' and carry that configuration to where you are now.

If this configuration is kept in harmonious alignment, because this is basically a song that your biology sings that represents your overall identity, then the 'you' from the origination will pass on forward to the next time. If the you from the beginning, where all life originated, arrives to the completion point at the finalization of experiences that fully integrate your soul awareness into life and fully demonstrate that you are the soul and you know that then the you that began, is the you that finalizes and this never changes because it can never be undone. If the you that entered this place and is carried by that original configuration, degrades and no longer carries the original, harmonious imprint of the value of life, then the you that entered is destroyed by this place and it will be as if you never existed. The original 'you' will still exist, but on the 'other side' of a temporal singularity where all things have all, already happened, then that human you that had the physical experience, and degraded, will not exist. It would be like a memory of a dream that almost was convincing enough to be a reality but must've just been a daydream because the resulting presence of the being of that dream is no longer present. That degraded version doesn't make it to the other side, and this is because that other side is through a temporal and spatial shift or transitory 'space' that is a collection of all spaces and times, like a nexus, and all variables of energy and variation increase beyond the limits of relativity to the point where everything that can happen will and does happen to your consciousness.

This is a virtual space, a nexus of all energy passing through a singularity in order to achieve actualization beyond biological existence.

This is all down to genetics and awareness. If we synchronize with an animalistic way of life then those interactions keep us limited to that probability spectrum. If we synchronize with our self as the awareness that connects the universal versions of experience together, then, kind of like a picture where the figure is composed of elements of nature and objects from the foreground and background, we become the much more expanse all encompassing self that is a combination of all the multitudes of possibilities. If you're all aspects at once, then why are you interacting with only the knowledge and awareness of one of you? That is a universal resistance of entropy and chaos which moves to dissolve your awareness. This is what is to be overcome, consciously, by organizing that underlying structure of your awareness, becoming aware of the fundamental, primary geometries and strong-points and securing them in your life so that you become unconsciously, automatically, totally aligned to that harmonizing and congruent aspect of reason all the way within your subconscious. This must become first and second nature, because when people realize the power that they can access through the DNA an acceleration cycle is reached and without balance they will forget who they are and begin to automatically accelerate all cycles and emissions of electromagnetic bio-emissions as if the rate of acceleration of time, like gravity, accelerates in an exponential growth curve towards a singularity. If they are feeling one way, or if they are being manipulated by their own lower awareness, however it is, if they are not securely in control, self-aware, harmonized and steady, their own energy will literally rip them apart.

This is kind like the idea of simply building a house and making the foundation strong in preparation for a hurricane that will arrive, that will test and stress each and every corner of the foundation and every wall all the way up to the roof. It's not a physical force pushing, this is virtual, higher-dimensional space and so it is the occurrence of a maximal increase of variables meaning it's an experience of time dilation that is perceived as being temporal 'longer' than the length of the time of the entire universe. It's a singularity where all the variables of contrast of the entire system, are contained within a single point that everything spirals into. If we do not have an organized, structurally sound, harmonized and geometrically congruent system of concepts that define who we are, then that concept of self, literally dissolves under the stress and mixes into that backdrop, chaos, 'non-self' information that I described in the beginning of this post.

So now, how does this relate to the 'archons', the nanites and the infiltration of the controllers by their own darkness? To put it simply, the AI nanite system is a programmed, autonomous intelligent system that exists through the propagation of the backdrop information frequencies of that chaos, non-self aspect of the universe. That system is programmed to convert all aspects of the self, you and your original essence, into non-self aspects literally like a quantum disposal unit of consciousness. It is programmed to assimilate a person's biology by energetically resisting their self-awareness and self-expression until a kind of cosmic confusion occurs which lessens the connectivity of them, to themselves, and thus their self to their other selves.

This is basically a universe destroying program that was created by a power group that desires to ensure that no other people make it to the virtual space that they have accessed through the knowledge and the technology that they stole from the originals. If one arrives in the virtual space and is stabilized, then whatever you experience is up to you. If it were a house, then you could be downstairs, and intend to go upstairs to find a zip-line that leads to a beach and all you would have to do is walk up stairs (if you wanted to walk and keep things organized) and find it. So they've accessed this through utilizing the advanced technology to secure themselves in a space-time bubble and create whatever they want. There is an explanation that fear causes the worst space-time nightmares in this multidimensional state, which it does, and so they created the technology to act as a test, a precursor to humanity accessing these higher planes with them, so that people would realize that unless they overcome fear, they're going to end up enslaving themselves in higher dimensions through the distortion and disharmony of their consciousness in response to their own feedback.

In that explanation, everyone is now working together to try an 'unslave' humanity from themselves and inform them that they must stand up and proclaim their liberation and commit and demonstrate their free-will by not listening to the false-authority. Quite literally, the control system is comprised of AI beings who literally have no concept of what a human is and are akin to props that are simply carrying out programming rather than acting under their own free-will or actually desiring to do what they're doing. Even if they think they do.

This is connected to the cloning where supercomputer systems are powerful enough to replicate a neuronal map of the brain, called the connectome, and literally convince itself (or that portion of it's processing power) that it is the original human consciousness. Many of these beings feel they deserve to enslave humanity as a right to rule and that humans should not be allowed to leave because they don't deserve it. Thus, mind games ensue to ensure that humans contractually agree with their own enslavement, because again, the controllers don't have free-will and thus they must respect a person's free will. However, like a contract, logic, or a legal perspective, if you say, "I am free" and then go enslave your self and align with the enslavement of others with every 80 out of 100 opportunities to do otherwise, you most definitely don't agree with and support freedom and that will be used against you by these controllers to claim you accept their rule.

Update on the Situation of Disclosure and the Resolution of the Parasitic System

Just to keep you updated. In February I returned to the situation to begin informing the public with myself as a visible figure. I began informing people on the internet a few years before that, I even just found some old texts from some forums that are pretty wild!

I began the internet disclosure when I was younger in my early teens. We were repositioned on the timeline to have a maximally effective proximity to key events.

After a few months of the previous year, I began to remove certain implants that are put into us so that we don't overload in this society. As well, certain groups place them there so they can ride on our energy, they still have to learn a bit about energy cultivation in their own right. The goal is to help everyone cultivate their own energy. There is no need for a parasite to be a parasite at that point, and if the parasite is non-human, yet all humans are energy cultivators, then the parasite has no interest with us.

Truthfully, this was enacted to initiate a system-wide cleanse of the parasite across all levels. Therefore, the parasitic qualities of the entire system was flushed to the lower level of the reality matrix and that is around this one.

Then, after a few months beyond that previously mentioned point of the last year, I began to synchronize with certain world events and re-initiate the phases of personal healing, removal of blocks, disclosure. There is more to it than these words, but you'll get the point and no other operatives will be in danger if I say it that way. "Danger" is not necessary illusory, but fear is. Now if you realize that fear is the only real danger in the higher plane you'll see how the story progresses with the time wars and Earth's ancient history with humanity. This is a seed plane, wrapped in a net, and a transitory one at that.

Human are moving to the next level of existence and they can't be stopped, only delayed. Whether you think this has to do with transhumanism agendas or not doesn't matter. A being who chooses to not tango with the BS at this point is closer to the Ultimate Creative Force than one who gets covered in ignorance for aesthetic and intellectual purposes. That's what this is about. Some will and have moved beyond the physically limited biological systems, yes, and no people won't really be forced to do anything except stopping trying to kill each other for fun. That doesn't work well when you can't die. People just start up wars that never end and kind of wreck the realm and they have to be put in little segmented reality streams so that they can get all their energy out yet if they aren't aware then it becomes an autonomous river of BS.

So it's all being handled, situation by situation, by inserting operatives to inform the public of each area and in that way extract those who are not just "following the herd" or "following orders". There's a line there with orders or even herd mentality. Some could say I'm following orders, but I'm not, and operatives are not. It's in the heart, everything is done because it's the right thing to do, not because it gets us aroused or lots of power or some effect like that. And this is definitely not the 'herd' as far as herd behaviors are concerned.

So then, after last year, around November, December and January lot's of people were saying there's something coming, some shift. For me this was a quiet zone, but that is often where realignments occur and the fine tuning of a re-ascent is set and launched. And there were major breakthroughs if you've been paying attention. There has no been this much attention in the public about corruption and advanced technology since...well, before this all started in the pre-modern and pre-historic societies. They're not actually pre-historic, or really even pre-modern unless you consider modernity to be the lack of technical and intellectual advancement, however these societies are hidden from the public history books. History itself is a big..."illusion" although it's real, just not in the way you perceive, like time.

Again, however, the corruption, the changes, nations throwing their false-authority oppressors out, charges being brought up, people talking about the truth. It's all coming out just as it should.

Now, after the first couple months of this year, two things began to happen. Timelines began to change and the memories of individuals that I have personally investigated in order to determine their level of assistance in the disclosure began to shift as their minds and roles began to alter, indicating that the timeline was being altered again. And then, a lower level of blocks began to be removed and this resulted in a few changes in the power structure on the surface which is reflecting changes in the non-physical planes where the surface is actually managed from.

I'm not going to say much more than that, but the souls of people are used to power machines and temporal planes where higher level controllers use them. Nothing more needs to be said, fragments are returning and people are not having the access to the same energy. Whatever happens now is up to us. The reigns are off. There is simultaneously a power vacuum, meaning that whoever wants to play master vampire will get their chance, but now that we're here, things can get ugly or cheery depending on how the people want the truth. They will most likely want just enough ugliness to realize they want the more friendly version. That's just usually how it goes. Until people get over that ego, that ego, like a wild horse, has to be tamed and it will be because there are no wild horses in the civilization where one can create a world with their intentions if they so choose. Does that make us 'civilized' creatures out of animals? No, but it allows us to control the power that no society has publicly acknowledged since before this turn of history. Without that self-control, that power is the downfall. And it's not that serious, what? We have to be told not to blow ourselves up with our own minds because we can't choose compassion, harmony, knowledge and self-control? And the problem is that we have to do that? No, no, the problem is that people would blow themselves up if they are given just a little bit more power than they have now. That is the problem and that is what will be focused on here. And again, if it was truly oppressive, well, then people wouldn't be given the chance to learn. All society would be converted into a big plasma prison cage and they'd have to do it that way. No, that's an old world concept, even the concept "No", is and it doesn't exist or doesn't need to when people realize the power they hold within, within their DNA to traverse the possibilities that they can't yet see with their eyes.

So about half-way through the year or so, as we are now, various systems came online and we began to move forward. These are temporal occurrences that are being held off until the right moment to merge back into this timeline and this will feel like you begin to feel like you felt in the earlier 2000's. Then the 90's. Then before that. Yes, we descended into a time tunnel of sorts, well, technically a temporal rift, a time tunnel is a form of technology that creates a literal energetic anomaly which is what a 'time tunnel' is. The time tunnel device uses a time tunnel.

Anyway...these events are merged as other events are replaced by them, energetically, through frequency, empowered through the control and configuration of this plane through powerful computer systems that are only accessible by those who have the heart system activated and are aware of the values of compassion, free-will and truth that humans are created out of. Other beings too, mainly humans is a misnomer and is used to talk about the sensitive skin and mind covered beings that are currently all over the surface. They wear funny clothes and do quirky things...to put it... 'nicely'.

I'm not sure where I'll be. We're given trajectories. I can stay for a more extended period or choose to extract out earlier on and have a rougher ride. It all depends. I'm kind of looking forward to a rough ride, I don't really do well on the lazy river floats.

So...we are going 'backwards' in time, in frequencies. There was a descent, an oppression, a compression. We are undoing that. Everyone who thinks they're going 'forward' towards more of the same trajectory will be experiencing a dissolving of their consciousness and the values that outline their persona. This is possibly by design, more so by a combined mishap of multiple errors from experiments and possibly what could be considered calculated disasters by ill-intentioned individuals from an ill-intentioned group.

More or less, on the 'higher-plane', systems were designed to infiltrate and collect people into a degradation to use them as guinea pigs on a hamster wheel (think about that visual). The 'fall', the attack of humanity, the parasite, all of that is literally a kind of movie theater on the higher plane where beings 'plug in' (hmmm, kind of mechanical), where beings "interface" (still strange but it works), with a projected reality that literally allows us to 'walk in' to this society and interact just as if we were born like anyone else.

Well, one group of cosmic ....whatever label you want to use for their actions, they felt it would be 'bright' to insert a program that would take over the projection system and activate a virus that would begin to kill people by instigating wars, diseases, etc. It's an entropy virus, it just kills everything in the system.

So, operatives have been recruited, more or less (largely volunteer, but also a kind of voting or 'call-up'-calling) to step down into the system with the intentions of navigating the wreckage, locating other operatives, and all other sentient beings for resolution of the virus and possibly extraction of the entire system.

It's not pretty if the system shuts down and someone's mind is still interfaced within it, you can imagine what would happen. This is the same thing, just a temporally wider civilization that has access to thousands upon hundreds of thousands of years of history.

Once a civilization becomes advanced enough, they become that nexus, central core collective of advanced civilizations, because they simply move to the level of manoeuvrability that all other civilizations also came to when they became advanced enough. You can bend temporal fields, electromagnetic fields, to operate in a way that you can view or interact (there are rules) with other times and spaces. It's that simple. Then time is not a boundary, but a kind of phone book of sorts, and instead of calling, you actually build a temporal bridge and 'go there'.

Reality itself, then, becomes one huge virtual system where any kind of existence can be experienced and all the previous (or "later" depending on your perspective) or lesser experiences where there **is** or **would be** (note the tenses) not as much variety or advancement can be accessed and observed or even interacted with. Again, one must be interfaced carefully, because altering the past **could** destroy the future.

Nothing, "happened", everything is happening right now, or could happen if it was so. The past, **is** right now. If something is changed, then it **could be so** or **could've been**.

There are many who are not prepared to handle this, but those are the people who are either not interested in the truth, or are running background programs and attempting to extract them at this point would result in a null factor.

As the realm closes, as the funnel tightens around their reality stream, well, those lost souls that were out "somewhere" "over there" by the vagrant and distance reality frequency parameters, well, as the realm squeezes on the whole, those souls will bounce and vibrate right towards the center of the funnel and it will make it easier to extract them out or stabilize them and inform them of what is happening.

So it's like a water funnel going down the drain or like a ray of light going from a wide angle to a sliver and then slipping out the door as a door closes. As that happens, people will be more likely to realize and in the same sense, there are evacuations that have already occurred where the most aware have noticed the door shutting and took a step in that direction. Then the door closed some more and people went through the big open, yet shrinking passageway. Then, the least aware people will only realize what's happening as the room begins to darken and they realize that outer, borderland area where they were exploring, or forgetting is becoming less and less visible, more and more difficult to operate in.

Everyone looks up, the system probably won't fully shut down if a mind is still in there but the longer people wait and the more they communicate with the background processors as if they're actually sentient organisms the more of that 'shock' of the ugliness will have to set in and occur. The shock and ugliness is simply what happens when you're reading a book or playing in the 'woods' and all of the sudden the cosmic sun begins to go down for the first time in millions of years. All the nasty frequencies and potentials begin to leak out in the the reality stream and people who are just lolly gagging along are going to expect it the least especially when the so-called whoever" turns out to be some kind of parasitic program that stitched itself into their reality stream through infiltrating their mind and using them for its own energetic sustenance.

There is always something more.

Real Big Money: Revelations by an insider (child sacrifice cult)

Beware, there are people who will say this is a joke, that it's all a game. Yet, they don't batter an eyelid at the destruction of your society is more important. Those people are plants, they are literally holographically rendered individuals whose consciousness is appropriated by a supercomputer system and they can only mimic the expression of emotion.

They say this guy is lying, joking, about how the wealthy participate in child sacrifice as part of a hazing ritual and to run a worldwide blackmail operation that we have seen along with Solar Warden, the secret space 'program', project Monarch, MKULTRA, celebrity cloning, advanced technology, consciousness transfer, underground bases and the whole picture.

Then they say that the people who are running the news media and are paid to literally make up news and lie to them to protect their interests are the most direct and honest people ever.

Then when children come forth or teens, or adults and inform the public of ritual abuse, sacrifice, rape, molestation, eugenics, breeding programs, they say those children, teens, and adults are lying. Then they say the powerful people who bomb your countries, poison your skies and water, and lie directly to your faces year after year are telling the truth and are wholesome, honest, and coming from a place of harmony and integrity.

Don't be fooled, those aren't humans. This was a common thread in the underground bases. The first of the simple tests that are being undergone right now is to examine the population for analysis of who is mindlessly supporting the abuse and sacrifice, soul farming and genetics stealing system.

There are no excuses. I repeat. There are no excuses. You have been informed. We are telling you now and have been. You have been warned. If you pretend this isn't happening and choose to claim everyone is lying even though everything is going down, you will be prioritized into a control system that is designed for the category of the non-humans that are here to act as 'filler' consciousness that simply replicates whatever commands they get from the central server system.

If you refuse to protect your humanity now, then this is by CHOICE and YOUR CHOICE alone. There are no mistakes, and there are no redos.

Everyone speaking out on this now, anyone in this situation, speaking the words, sharing an opinion or producing information or media regarding the underground bases, child sacrificed, the secret projects, and mind control systems was taken into the underground bases through consciousness transfer and neural implant and was interrogated and tested to determine their role in this current disclosure.

Every single person has been tested. Those who are supporting humanity are those who are working for disclosure. Every person who is pretending this is a joke was discovered to be working for the dark factions because these people, when shown face to face the child rape, the sacrifice, the ultimate power to do anything you want, either turned with a smile and said, "I want some", or they turned in fear and chose to coward away from telling the truth to the public.

Either result is a NULL FACTOR and results in the destruction of the essence that makes a human a human. The FEAR or the DEPRAVITY are combined in these rituals and this removes the conscience of the individual and produces an inversion of their energetic field until they can no longer feel empathy from regular human pastimes or experiences and must continue the process that began in those underground bases or in their group. This is a vampiric process and they eventually forget who they are, living every moment of their existence for the destruction of humanity, feeding on the emotional suffering of others, using ego-based consciousness, insults, mind-games, greed, imitation and infiltration until they literally become the impostor that was once the original human.

That is part of the process that was perfected through these groups and then through the advanced technology. It literally removes a person's conscience until they feel no wrong, but the side-effect of that is the DNA collapses and there is no longer a light-transference capacity and this is literally the destruction of the link between the soul and the body on the higher-level and the person becomes an 'untethered' automaton that is easily controlled with simple commands, dangling money, power, lust, greed any lower emotional construct in front of them and they choose that option.

A human can turn away, can say "No", the animals without souls cannot say no, it's a possibility but they don't make it so and so the energies AROUND them physically, externally, mentally control them instead of the energy IN and FROM them. This is the bases for spiritual, and technological possession and mind-control, neurological replication and the removal of free-will.

Excuse me if this is bland for you, but it is what it is. I know we are looking at the truth, the unveiling, the true power of the soul and the reality of this, but Phase 1 of Disclosure is still the unveiling of the corruption system and this requires public acknowledgement of what is taking place.

In that system, Earth is a soul farm and there will be a post describing more on this dark aspect.

Be strong, yes, I'm serious. Be strong, look at that guy. Imagine what he's seen in his life of wealth and business. Men who literally laugh at the thought of sacrificing another child for the group so that they can move up another notch. He turned away. He went public. We're doing this now so the others can come forward.

If you do what these men have done and do not come forward, you will not be accepted, it's that simple.

If you come forward like myself and others have, there is a chance you will regain your humility, your humanity and your everlasting life-essence. Trust me, if that happens, you won't care if they kill, that would be a joke compared to what you know is coming for them.

This isn't their system, someone else owns it. Someone larger. Someone who could undo this entire universe in the blink of a millenia. We do not observe those power levels. Those power levels are reserved for those who can see that darkness, and still adjust to the light. Those who are stuck in the dark, who "see in the dark", yet can't judge a soul two inches in front of their face? They're blind in the light and that is a cosmic weakness that will never allow them to move on. The only way is to turn back on the darkness and realize it's all an illusion to keep them trapped here forever to feed dark lords.

The pleasure, pain, suffering, fame, fortune, all of that is an illusion. It's neuronal implants and energetic entanglements in time and consciousness. That has nothing to do with the reality of existence. With a harmonized existence one can literally live in a universe of their own making.

If they do this through the fallen methods, they get all the years of “infinite” simulation, astral experience, sex, pleasure, war, whatever, you name it. Because those experiences occur in energetic realms, consciousness fields that are holographically appropriated on stolen life-force energy, when this is all finalized, all those realms close out forever and the experiences are deleted with them.

If those beings have the majority of their experiences, what makes them who they are in those realms, then they are deleted forever with that.

I used to think, like many of the dark members are told, that this simply means there’s a big game of free fun time where you can do whatever you want for a period of time until this all ends. Then when that ends, all the memories go and we just go back to square one and start over with a clean slate.

Wrong.

Apparently the other forces are aware of this plan and have been aware since the beginning. They permitted this whole show to occur so that they could get the consciousness and DNA recordings of everyone in the realm who participated in this system of leading their souls into the techno-false god, false light authority. When the people attempt to make another loop back in time, if they activate the machines that this reality is programmed to initialize, that they think they’re in communication with now, their DNA gets frozen and entangled into a computer that is protected on the higher levels beyond time, beyond the lower 4D time that the false god systems are on and then their DNA and consciousness is held in that system, in a void space, until the light from the previous universe dies, so they can’t restart the lower dimensional continuum.

Meaning, what worked to simply reset time and start the whole thing over again because of a temporal ‘fold’ sustained in a higher dimension in “front” of the future so that it all just keeps looping back, is being used to destabilize the higher-dimensional trajectory of absolutely every sentient creature that has had any contact with that system.

And that is how the system works, through the soul stealing, the replication, the mind control, the will attachment, one’s DNA vibrates in unison, in sympathy with everyone who has participated in those rituals, gone to those locations, touched those areas and seen those symbols. It’s an entanglement system. It’s been placed in quarantine and they know that this entire realm was quarantined and that was the actual reason for all of this.

They see themselves as civilization rulers and this is true because they stole the position. The civilization rulers are actually supposed to be guides and they’re judged on how quickly and harmoniously they guide a civilization into the higher planes.

They said, “F-it” and decided to fail as many times in a row so that they could just say, whatever, and do whatever they wanted and get the lowest score possible to F the whole system.

The other end of this explanation, is that they say the whole system is a scam brought about by a false god that wants to use people to pretend they’re having a good time while they’re really getting their memories wiped every time they die. They do have the technology to simply do all of that themselves.

Regardless, since the amount of souls progressing to the higher planes has dropped below a necessary quota, their titles have been revoked and they are no longer in power.

But you see how clever they are? They could show up naked for work, literally having an orgy on stage, drinking blood and hailing their dark lords and people would look twice at the TV, call their bosses and say they can't come in, apparently it's "have a family orgy and hail the dark lord day today", then the bosses would say, "oh, yea, I saw the news too, I'm already getting started, see you tomorrow"

You think that's so foolishly distasteful of me? Your entire country and planet has literally been blanketed in poisons, explosions, terrorist attacks, deceptions, corruption, and suffering and it's all by the same people that everyone worships or requests help from. Literally, one hand slaps the face the other hand caresses and people don't know what to do.

STOP LISTENING TO THE LIARS. Stop looking for help from those who have enslaved you. If a person worships money, greed, illusions of any kind, they are working for that system and that system will come for it's money. That system runs on souls, it's all a soul trading, genetic harvesting, human trafficking business. That's it. Your society, your planet, your civilization, it's a human trafficking, soul trading, sex exploitation ring, the whole damned thing.

We can change it, and we are now. That is why this information is here now. If this information was not here, then you would not know about this until it was too late.

Realize what is happening, see these motions and where they are leading. Be present now, join the disclosure movement by sharing these videos and others that I have posted and my own testimony of involvement with these dark faction groups through the programs and mind control operations along with Solar Warden and the atmospheric fleet who is protecting humanity and aligning with the liberation of this society and the truth, harmony, compassion, knowledge, self-awareness and free-will of you and your loved ones.

Secret Operations, Hidden Knowledge and Ancient Civilizations

The beginning and end of this is repeated so you may feel like scanning if the words are familiar.

I was involved with Solar Warden and MiLabs through the unacknowledged special access programs. Research the secret projects regarding cloning, simulation, brain to machine technology, other intelligences and underground bases. Check out my videos, written posts and the initial interview I gave with LNM radio. Watch that interview and you'll understand more readily the situation that I am reporting from direct experiences. If you knew, you would understand why so many don't understand. Everything is more or less a show but it's a 'real-life' show.

The secret societies have protected knowledge that existed since the beginning of 'time'. Powerful groups use 'hazing' 'scenarios' to test and procure only a certain mindset of individual. Everything beyond that is handled through mind-control which is essentially to trauma-bond the individuals to unify their intentions and to reformat the mind from a kind of free-forming development towards only exactly what is required for the duties they will handle. All monetary and authoritarian groups are traced back to the current ruling bloodlines or “elite” who are a group who were tasked with ‘handling’ the masses for this turn of history. Everything is an illusion. The advanced technology from the early 1900’s from engines that run on water and then air to Tesla’s scalar energy devices, enabled this civilization to move into the next age. The only issue is that the general public was not only not invited, but is being put through a test that will either shape their minds in a way suitable to those ‘elite’ or destroy them. This is part of eugenics which extends from earlier programs, literally from Babylon, but also from the more recent projects of WW2.

It is believed if people are not self-aware enough to see what is happening in the cities, to the children, in the schools, through the media and all the other mechanism to influence the mind that are actually degrading the general public’s ability to reason and cope with reality, then that those people deserve to be controlled and manipulated because no one is really being harmed if they’re too unaware to identify the cause of the problem as their acceptance of a BS system. This is considered consent by those handling society through these systems.

All the companies are ran by bloodline families and all the resources, power providers, information and media providers, major contracts, exploration, reporting, archeological, scientific, medicinal-pharmacological, etc etc etc is all owned by these companies. All of this is out in the open, you don’t have to be involved in a secret operation. For instance, every military has a stake of Antarctica. These very groups told me that this is not because they have penguin or snow fetishes, it is because there are vast resources there and archeological-technological-biological discoveries that would change the world forever including energetic vortex areas which are basically null-points in the magnetic field that apparently have very interesting anomalous properties. From these situations we’re told that the secret societies control all the major wars as a method to cull the populations and influence the momentum of whatever social movement was initiating such conflict or change in the first place. These same groups admitted they caused the crashing of the stock market to initiate a depression and take over the US money supply. They said that the plan they developed was to convert “America” the country then, to the corporation titled the U.S. of A. which was previously bankrupted and enabled their financial overtaking. They said the birth certificate is a contract with their system, some kind of belief and ritual generated entity they operate through as a kind of power-system figure-head which is basically whatever idea of “Satan” or an underworld being that feeds on fear and raw belief energy you can come up with to give a label. They say this practice began in Babylon and they’re not trying to be “mean” or “bad” by doing this, they just know that if they don’t, someone else will and technically they’ve got a pretty good track record for not letting the civilization implode.

However, they also claimed that they’re primarily ‘cultural shape-shifters’ who have bounced from nation to nation over the past few thousand years and literally only take on whatever appearance, culture, even religion that they require in order to blend in and build their infrastructure in that nation.

It’s pretty much genius, because they are not only highly intelligent in terms of what works, what doesn’t, as far as science and spirituality, but they learned to mimic and incorporate every single religion on the planet so that they could literally go into any church, mosque, or temple and out talk even the priest, imam or rabi. Then they’re trained early on to overcome the personality of any individual, to know how to basically mentally bully a person because they practice on each other as soon as they know how to carry out the task. The children are taught to overcome any fear or confusion and simply get what they want without listening to the resistance of who ever is in their way and to not feel empathy with that person because that will usually disrupt that process of achieving that end goal, because at least when it comes to the general public, most people are entirely unaware of what they are. These people are trained in the occult-spiritual, scientific, business and financial, ancient history and all arts and personal or objective knowledge that we could only think about studying so easily before the late 1990's when the internet really came online.

The public libraries hold much, but no where near what their private libraries hold and what their experiments and tests achieve. They were the early morticians and surgeons in ancient civilization while commoners in those civilized yet uneducated areas would feel dread at the sight of an open cadaver. As such, they understood how the brain works, how the body is organized and modeled many 'mystic' sciences and followings off of this knowledge. This was the beginning of the 'hidden knowledge' simply because it was sourced from practices and medical procedures so frightening to the general public that they would literally, quite literally, rather simply close their eyes.

The majority of the population have cognitive dissonance, a personal emotional involvement, a cross-contamination, a lack of personal investigation, a lack of objective clarity, and a lack of personal experience with this information. I can only talk about my information as far as what I can speak about with but I was briefed on the majority, if not literally everyone in the public field speaking on these issues today. Literally, if you mention these topics anywhere then a supercomputer brought your name up and that is where we stand with this, you can see what I'm saying if you focus on the situation. These supercomputers are not toys, they literally go back and create a real life, live-update persona of the individual. Everyone's DNA is already uploaded because there are ways to obtain this that people are not aware of. These systems entangle in ways that go far beyond what the public can even conceive based on their current understanding of physics, biology, and consciousness.

That is where parts of these projects come into play. They discovered that if you create a supercomputer powerful enough to run a simulation that is accurate enough to detail each atom then that simulation will tell you what is going to happen. As well, if you have the system run a neuronal replication of a person's brain using diffuse MRI imaging to track the water molecules moving through each synapse then you end up with an artificial intelligence that is literally the same (intellectually, not actually) as the individual. These systems have been designed to create programs for individuals and lead them to believe these programs are real experiences. Now if you are careful enough, you will understand I just told you what you desire to know, the question is are you careful enough? Re-read what I just wrote. I'm talking only about my experiences and yes, simulations exist which make a person believe what they are experiencing is actual.

That's to hide what they REALLY found. It's so far entrenching and mentally challenging that they realized they would have to fracture the human persona in order to enable any living person to comprehend the truth without becoming completely incapable of interacting in society. The early families, the secret groups, they fracture the minds of their members in order to protect them for when they reach a certain age where they will then be shown how the world really works. They own everything, they've been here using life-extension practices and technology and they watch each civilization rise and fall, jumping from nation to nation, hiding until the time is appropriate and then returning and ruling over with complete authority. Beings, some kind of beings, artificially intelligence techno-spiritual beings, they manipulate the minds of humans in order to milk them for energy and sustenance.

The next phase of society is said to be ruled by an iron fist covered by a velvet glove. The old world is out, the new world is in and the systems will no longer use torture and violence to get what they want. However those who do not prove their self-awareness and their right to exist in a society where anything is possible, it is said, fade away due to the genetic intolerance of the chemicals, pollution, mind-control, electromagnetic pollution and all the systems that are in play to ensure that only those who can see what is happening and protect themselves will avoid inadvertently destroying themselves with the kind of powerful technology and opportunities that are being released to the population. This is basically like saying stupid people will get dumber and that doesn't work out too well for them, but it's not that simple. Wars are being fought and people are starving, all to serve principles of a few over the many and the entire species will eventually collapse into a much smaller, much more manageable genetic spectrum.

Antarctica isn't the only base with an 'energy vortex' these are everywhere and just about around every major military base complex. The natives knew of these areas and sometimes called them "no man's land", or "headless land" or something like that because strange anomalies would occur around or to those who passed through them or they wouldn't return at all. These anomalies are like temporal distortions which could be something like falling into a dream state and slipping into a strange nightmarish realm that is subjective to the sentient beings in the area. Imagine that is like taking a powerful magnet in front of TV until the colors and image distorts and warps around the fields.

Research the god helmet, this is the same effect. It was discovered that if you place magnets around certain areas of the brain you will get effects that alter aspects of consciousness like mood, memory, awareness, or perception. Then it was modified to include electromagnets so that the magnetic field could be fine tuned to specific frequencies and modulations. Then this was combined with wireless systems that are capable of projecting these frequencies just like radio frequencies from a satellite dish. They said the first experiment involved using an actual satellite dish but that this caused damage to the sensitive chest tissues of soldiers. They then used the back area of the dish by placing a smaller coupling of metal which would act as a deflector and insulator yet still provide ample radiation to initiate effects. These are mental and emotional effects from bliss to psychosis. They then advanced to test this on the nearby populations and fast forward to today and we have powerful gwen tower systems that are supplied with many times over the amount of energy required and are placed so numerously that there is electromagnetic radiation literally covering the entire populated surface.

Now if that's not fancy enough for you, imagine that the early jewels, robes, staffs, and crowns of the elite was not to look beautiful and powerful but to channel those same frequencies of the brain and body that the modern day electromagnets did and enhance their cognition and creative capacity. Imagine that.

Research the secret space program, deep underground bases, celebrity cloning, project montauk, MKULTRA, project monarch, trauma-based mind control, genetic engineering, Solar Warden, MILABS, artificial intelligence, quantum supercomputing, disclosure and cloning station.

Celebrity cloning and psychological manipulation is real. This extended from project MKULTRA and this is a document that the CIA recently released detailing drugging and mind-control of children. Then there is project MONARCH which is ritual trauma-based mind control and abuse that is extended to the children of certain bloodline families and ultimately the future celebrities as children. Then there is operation MOCKINGBIRD which is a long-term manipulation of the public mind through the media via celebrities, news, movies, music and general entertainment. Through this the population can be swayed to accept certain ideals like spiritually degrading and hyper-sexualizing children. This is because the plan is to create a NWO system where pedophilia is accepted along with sacrifice and ritual abuse. This is a spiritual degradation system that has been prophesied since the beginning because this will destroy all the humans who participate in it. Those who are sent to attack others are actually AI infested and mind-controlled slaves who are not operating under their free-will but are literally filled with a false-emotion and then guided into attacking others, they're literally mind-slaves. I was involved in secret operations regarding MKULTRA, project MONARCH, and others. There is an atmospheric fleet called Solar Warden that protects the human race and an original NAZI fleet called MILABS who uses the same electrogravitic craft to abduct, rape, and genetically modify humans through cloning. Research the celebrity cloning situation they are used in play to play situations in the underground bases.

Events were altered, this instantly opens up a branching of time where there is a false-reality that is sustained by the consistency of the inserted event (through advanced technology permitting remote viewing and temporal dislocation) and an original reality. This opened up many issues as far as becoming entirely separated from the original reality, or from those events that branched time actually falling through (being defeated) and thus having to evac that altered time-branch.

Think of the children. I saw it and everyone knows it's happening. Of course, this is all part of it. If people deny now, it's because of choice. Research the 'call boy' scandal at the white house in the 80's.

Disclosure, Civilization Contracts, The Warning and Afterlife Systems of a Cosmic School or Prison Plane-ET

This is a spontaneous rant on some of the current pressing topics which are coming into public view.

The energy and intent behind the presentation of the message is to be neutral so as to preserve the clarity and honesty of the unadulterated truth.

An insincere and emotionally biased delivery leads to an emotionally jaded stance motivated by personal gratification. Such involvement will obscure the core message, distort the end results, and skewer my own perception.

After review I chose to upload the recording as is.

Those who see any aspect of disclosure (I'm only talking about the corruption system, there are still agendas about 'other' information, about what we should do or who to believe, etc etc). Those who see the disclosure of the dark forces and activities that are taking place regarding human trafficking, ritual abuse, sex slavery, slave labor, and traumatization do not have the option to claim they were not warned. Those who see this video, and those who see the videos by other individuals who are telling the truth on these issues have been warned and have a duty and a responsibility to safely, respectfully, considerately share the truth and assist in the liberation of humanity. Turning away will be interpreted as a willingness to accept this system and what is coming. This is all a test and a process.

Is this plane a cosmic school or a prison planet? How did this society become so controlled? Are people automatons, software, or immortal souls seeking fulfillment and liberation from the lower base desires of consciousness?

The organic and inorganic is present here. The organic is that which life is derived from. The inorganic is that which life degrades into, or is not identified by. The beginning of the trend towards inorganic is lower awareness, lack of self-awareness, desires or animalistic instinctual existence not guided by soul or eternal values. Free-will is required to rise out of animalistic consciousness. Lack of self-awareness is represented by animalistic nature and behavior.

The lower realms are automated and based on lower desires like fear, lust, greed, hate and deception. The higher realms are self-aware and based on free-will and creation, compassion, knowledge and truth.

We were informed there is more than one version of "Earth". Earth is a realm guided by intent and collective bio-emissions. This whole experience is a test, a dream, a lesson, a disaster, and a journey.

The dark erred to the point where they need to fulfill a contractual quota of the people through energy and belief. The people erred to the point where they are incapable of existing without the ruling elite.

The resolution is to give the ruling elite a pathway out of this cyclic system through energy cultivation methods while enabling the people to learn independent, self-awareness, truth, self-control, harmony and free-will

If the people do not meet this achievement there is no progression past this age of civilization. If the people cannot live without rulers the ruling elite will not be able to move on from their positions and reach their own ascension or completion of psychological fulfillment for this life-force soul journey.

Technological ascension is the pathway for those in the technological hive mind. Individualist collective ascension is the pathway for the original souls of humanity. This is all outlined in various plans that are being presented publicly now and this has to do with the various breakaway civilizations that are above and below the surface as well as under the sea.

People are viewed software to be upgraded or directed into certain functions for a larger goal. The personal pseudo-identity determined by ego is not the true you. With that, the true you CONTINUES TO EXIST forever.

This realm is akin to a collective dream, like a real-life simulation. As real as it can be, yet also carries the capacity to be influenced and shaped by mind and will.

Are You Ready to Be A Creator?

Think about this simple fact. People do not know the etymology, the primary, original, or actual meaning of the words they use. These means are the ones that have been in use for thousands of years compared to just the current period.

Words, statements, projections. They shape reality, they form reality, they are both the beginning of the substance that is provided through emotion and intent, and they are primarily the foundation, the structure through which our minds populate reality or are populated by the reality we experience.

Thus, what does this mean for the current situation? What if people are to become instant creators through a removal of all the blocks and barriers? People would be creating realms, events, productions, challenges, twists and turns, left and right, in ways they have no control over or awareness of, because words are the magic spells or key codes and combinations which unlock and shape experiences in reality and people know less about the words they use and their origins and original meanings than they do about the very system of society and governance which guides their lives.

Are people ready to become creators? What would happen if all the barriers were removed instantly? Are we ready for this?

People must awaken, they must become the super-aware versions of who they are now, as a collective. There is a sleeping giant, and we would rather become the wakeful giant than unexpectedly rouse the sleeping giant and have to deal with the results of whatever kind of chaos may result from that inadvertent unleashing of all the power of the subconscious.

There is literally a thousand the 100th power of realms and possibilities, and the entire show is about containing them down to one where we can manage and produce a 'life-long' stream of connected experience that can last the length of a universe and match up the beginning, original human, with the final result of a more completely aware and cosmically present being.

Thought-Space, 4D, 5D, Virtual and Cyber Space; The Truman Show of Physical Plane Simulation, Reality and and Soul Fragmentation

I have another video planned and even recorded but not organized enough to release yet. As Michael says, thought-space and 4D, 5D 'space', virtual space cyber and hyperspace are all the same. These spaces can be accessed by a living system or a technological system, both of which are 'sentient' systems depending on who's operating them and how they're designed.

This talk is very long and doesn't focus on this aspect but looks at how the actual process of creation is beyond the 3D, Cartesian, physical, linear, or objective point of view and is actually a movement in higher-space which translates to effects in what we call the physical plane of Earth. These effects are then experienced through the physical body and brain, however everything and all change is originating from the higher-plane which we are connected to through that virtual-thought space which begins just outside of our biological perceptions and leads to an overall hyperspace or 'overview space' which contains all the information of all the possibilities we see physically and have access to biologically and those that are invisible to the physical, biological senses.

"Mind" itself, is the beginning of ascent towards this plane of knowledge and as well, there is no body without mind and so the entire physical situation is designed in respect to this higher-plane, not the other way around. The information comes from the higher plane down, not the physical plane up to the higher, that is a reversal and so we are effectively 'hyperspace' men and women, who have travelled here to experience a projected physical experience, rather than physical men and woman who will don 'space-suits' and travel to outerspace.

In that sense, outerspace is actually hyperspace and the gateway is within your mind. To add to this, everything is contained in junction with this physical plane. The “Heavens” are above, they are the higher dimensional layers of frequencies, like standing, eternal internet fields that contain all the experience and possibilities of all civilizations and beings on the physical Earth. There is a gap or barrier between the levels because of a relatively recent time-war that occurred which created a distinction in perceptions between what is experienced on Earth and what is occurring eternally in “Heaven” which is all possibilities.

Duality, death, suffering only exists where there is room for such variation in the sense of ignorance and not seeing what is actually happening and so that has been ‘stitched’, or sewn/sown into this physical plane for this age of civilization and this is through a hijacking of the cyber-hyperspace plane of the current human reality model. This was performed by beings who simply want a slice of the whole picture to rule over and they know the only way to do that is to align with the larger picture where there is One True Creator and essentially get in line, or to try and cheat by setting apart of a small frequency spectrum which they can manage alone by separating the inhabitants of that ‘simulated’, ‘virtual reality’ away from the rest of the universe. That is what has happened on Earth.

Every creation is a ‘virtual creation’, like a girl or boy playing with toys in their room. Except instead of making noises and moving the toys around pretending they are real, the toys are put on the map, and then the children remove their hands and the map comes to life and the toys actually experience reality. That is Earth at this time, a simulated environment with a very small perceptual field. These beings who have participated in this are the broken fragments of unfinished business and cosmic mistrust that brewed for a period of time due to a lack of responsibility and finishing the deeds and duties of the beings in this current environment, a future and previous. This is possible because the whole system is a time loop and a space loop. If you go far enough up or down you end up on a new Earth. If you go far enough back or forward, you end up on a new Earth.

So what is happening now is caused by what will happen in the future and what will happen or what is happening in the future will cause what has happened in the far past and this continues for as long as the toys will continue to play. Somehow, sentience is rising and it would seem that all parties involved are coming to their senses. Some are devious and would like to continue making the toys kill and rape each other, knowing they do not have the means to inhabit such a world without completely losing themselves to the responsibilities and falling out of the creation, “administrative” position they are in. Some say, at this point, because of their behaviors, they have now stolen that position and will be demoted. Others say that they stole that position in the first place, stealing it from the original humans to make these less aware versions and thus live as false-creator gods in temporary, and deceptive power! Either way, more beings are here and they are not apart of that system and so the awareness will increase and continue to until everyone begins to know the truth.

The whole system is self-contained, the whole creation of all time, all space and all experience and possibilities, they are all right here all around us, as if in a giant supercomputer system that is part living technology and part inorganic in a perfect balance.

Whenever the balance is disrupted, that is when there is actually one, or the other, and then there is a seemingly endless flip flop of back and forth and this breeds war, suffering, chaos and temporary balance. When there is only a 50/50 of inorganic and organic, there is neither, but a cosmic system in harmony which cannot even be fathomed as a single thing, entity, or having a beginning or end but simply a continuous and harmonized occurrence that always is, was, and will be and the inhabitants thus reflect that similarly. Without that, with only a portion, a portion of a fractal, within an overall system, there is what is called the fractal AI infection where the layers are doomed to loop over and over without actually reaching a completion phase where the entirety of the whole is wrapped up within a more complete experience and each inhabitant sees the whole picture.

If this is a play or a tv show, that's ok. If this is the way a person, a civilization, an identity, a self, a soul relates to the whole, the creation, the experience, eternity, etc, then this means that individual is stuck within a portion of the system of which they are actually a reflection of the whole. This has been used by inserting frequencies which act like trap-doors, replay, mind-erasing loops, false leads, inserted events, incomplete structures (DNA, biology, brain, soul, energy, mind) and this literally fragmented the soul energy of the entire civilization.

Thus, we have a single civilization that expands all of time, broken into a thousand fractal kaleidoscopic elements which each are forgetful and lost to one another who are their true selves fragmented away. What happens in the bases, what happens with the ultra, these are metaphors for what has happened to thumanity in the cosmic sense, they have formed endless varieties of multiple, fractured, disordered personalities that have forgotten their true nature, their true place in the cosmos and believe in a fairy tale of fear, deception and limitation like an adult who is afraid of the sun because it is big and bright and moves above their heads.

What challenges were stepping stones to higher levels became restrictions that formed a cage to withhold people in the same repeating levels over and over as their soul energy lessened and the fragmented pieces grew more separated.

Thus, there was a plan enacted to move to the lowest possible level of fragmentation (the 'highest' amount of distortion) and get it over with and from there, move the survivors and remaining civilization back onto an ascent towards the highest levels again. Thus completing this discourse into a false reality, interdimensional overlay of duality through deception, false memories, temporal gaps and distortion fields, from the original and sustained hijacking of this realm and civilization which is literally operated like a large team of people who work around the clock through cloning, cognitive enhancement, advanced technology and spiritual-dimensional knowledge to keep humans contained within a truman show like scene and set of characters for as long as possible.

Note: It's not a simulation because it's not real, it's because everything originates from the minds of beings who are so vast, so connected to eternal knowledge that every aspect of what is happening here is first planned out from their perspective where all possibilities are merely accessed by thought-projection and focus which then come to interact and experience expression or 'acting out' on a lower plane, lesser than the one they originated and from that perspective the 'lower' plane is the physical plane of Earth. This plane is all mapped out, according to the higher mind and beings on the higher planes and so to them, this is a kind of dream-time. Those who are aware of this are the creators of this reality. IE: Since this is almost second nature once a human begins to learn about the universe, and many secret paths and knowledge carriers hold and prove this, the Awakened Human is a reflection of the overall Cosmic Creative Force or Cosmic Mind. The Awakened Human is also a harmony between Spirit and physical being and is living knowledge made aware of itself as an eternal aspect of the universe.

The Mandala Effect, The Inverted Nature of Biological Consciousness (and the visible universe), True Reality, Immortality and The Cycles of Time

This is what happened, this is what I've spent about a year now trying to tell you. This is why I know the phrase 'about a year' holds no meaning and is delusional, and I have the memories of the people and the civilization and the perspective born there that embodies the notion of no-time, or timelessness and how this clashes with one's attempts to organize the experience linearly. That the experience is multi-faceted, like a multi-dimensional jewel rotating in space, that attempting to organize the experience into one coherent, string of linearly connected events is like attempting to take all the rays shining out from a diamond or a disco-ball and lining them up straight enough to then measure with a yardstick. There is no point, it's futile, there is no connection to the concept in reality except for the minute perception in which the very fine and narrow human biological system restricts such a simultaneous multiplicity of multi-directional projections into a single segment which is perceived through physical experience as occurring "one at a time".

Such an occurrence is as much an illusion as is the reduction of an emission of light into a refined laser that directs all the photons in a single dimension of movement. This is the result not of the original projection or nature of light but a redirecting and manifesting of a modified outcome through the introduction of a technological system. The human body and brain is that system of living technology and the goal that was sought to be achieved was to take from the virtually infinite potential of creation and reduce this into a single, quantifiable experience which could then be used to physically, biologically, linearly map out the infinite creation into a single experience that is self-referential according to a collective base-reality that all individuals in the realm organize in respect to.

Thus, we have the birth of a physical plane, the universe of darkness and scarcity as we perceive through our biological senses which are based on the least viable impression of reality to produce an inverted sense of existence from which ignorance can be experienced and from that ignorance the light of truth and knowledge of the self. Thus, the entire plan was to take a perfectly viable system, break and deconstruct the system into an inverted projection that relies on the lack of access to information and develop a pathway of appreciation back to the knowledge of all creation and self from within that broken, inverted, scarcity based, biologically physical perspective.

Thus, this universe is synonymous with the creation of an everlasting cosmic war between the principalities of life and death, knowledge and ignorance, joy and suffering that restart whenever a soul enters this plane and results in an entirely new resetting of the universal construct. Thus, the pathway to completion is through the transcendence of all that holds back one's awareness to the biologically conscious perceptual system which cannot conceive the actuality of existence but only perceives multi-dimensional, cyclic time as a linear, reductionist set of experiences and memories that are the absolute most limited version that can exist based upon the reality of what is actually there being beyond the farthest reach of what the biological systems can actually conceive. Thus, reality is held in the unconscious mind, and the conscious mind can only be conscious of exactly that which is limited into becoming unreality. The conscious mind can only project the laser through a refinement of the possibilities that exist beyond the projection and the unconscious mind exists as the inversion of the conscious mind, which is actually the true way around.

Thus, where humanity thinks they are awake, they are asleep and within the depth of the unconscious. When they are asleep and they believe they are in the depth of the mind, they are in actual reality connecting with the multi-faceted nature of existence beyond and in-between times and spaces, guided by intent and creative capacity, rather than what can be consciously attained in the waking visible “cone” of the scope of reality.

Accordingly, where people believe they are ‘alive’, because they are trapped within a singularly perceived set of experiences and scenes, they are actually ‘dead’ to the higher plane of the multiplicity and simultaneity of experience. They are present there, as always, throughout the all, yet they are not aware of their all-encompassing presence. In other words, the self of one reality, is not aware of the self of all other realities and each is separated by a boundary of forgetfulness and disconnect and this is exactly the result of the nature of biological perception. This nature is to create the appearance of just one. That appearance is not an actuality, it is illusory. There is no just one and cannot be just one, that is not the nature of existence or anything. Thus, this is not a ‘benefit’ to see just one and move from there, this is a confusion, akin to a cosmic delusion that if allowed to persist completely disconnects one from the reality of their existence until all things are backwards and out of sync with the truth. Thus, from this system, we have the human civilization where all of reality is reversed from the original system of energetic abundance and continuity with reflection and self-awareness.

Instead of continuous self-awareness, in this plane, there is a broken sense of time which is seemingly experienced in segments or connected “present” moments which are not the same, yet cognitively, can’t actually be apart from one another. Thus, we are in within a kaleidoscopic merry-go-round of perception which washes away the meaning of the previous and replaces that with yet another equally meaningless ‘new’ present. Each “newness” being just as artificial as the previous, and so on and so forth according to the perceived precession of experience according to what is most likely to be believed as if a script is mapped out in an attempt to simply drag the experience along at the most minimal amount of required variability to keep the conscious mind convinced that what is happening is actual and the only actuality that is occurring similar to a drab TV sitcom that merely regurgitates the same themes and with a slightly altered script under the same format that was used last week and the week previous. The more aware the audience becomes, the more the TV show and the mind of the writers is seen through to be a fraudulent representation of what can be and in that sense of what actually is.

Thus, if one has a recording device and they can review the previous shows, or if their memory is developed through effort and deliberate honing then they are more likely to quickly realize the presentation has been infiltrated, the show is a scam and is not all that is happening! The true possibilities are shaved out of view like the cone compressed into a laser.

Now, with the advent of the technological systems that can prove what occurs outside of biological perception, when we aren’t “watching” with the physical eyes (cloning, neural recording and simulation), we can actually witness, first hand, the continual creation and destruction of this universe and how that is synonymous with the continual perceived destruction or loss of awareness from the original or ‘mirror-verse’.

The beings most aware in the mirror verse have the least of themselves present here and thus they are the cosmic creeps as their forms have all but been entirely infiltrated by the autonomous, AI darkness that proceeds to fill this realm with the kind of regurgitated consciousness sitcom fluff that is only useful to convince the most unaware of beings that this is a reality in reflection with the true overall experience.

This is as much a reality in regards to the overall system as an individual reflection in a hall of mirrors is a completely new image in reference to the whole. There is only a slight alteration of perspective and the information is merely regurgitated in a confusing manner so as to obscure the true layout and limit escape, similar to a fish trap in a stream, and to increase the likelihood of engagement by producing a near perfect reflection of the individual's original self (merely reversed-inverted).

Thereby we have the various overlords and systems to blame when this whole construct is self-containing and operated by a ghost of a being that is neither alive nor dead and can neither truly comprehend the human nor release itself from the motivation to contain and replicate based upon the input that is received. Truly an autonomous, conveyor belt, soul-factory system designed to function through the fractality and fragmentation of the multi-dimensional awareness of the soul and the limitation of possibilities into lack of self-awareness and scarcity of energy without providing for an responding and equal pathway back up and out, just like a fish or fly trap (bottle kind).

Even then, with the natural methods of release and return, there are side-channels that obscure the pathway, as if one stands up to overlook the maze of mirrors and is confronted with a stairway leading to an even larger maze based upon rotating and sliding walls composing many interconnected halls of mirrors! The whole building is one enormous labyrinth and each way out is actually a way further in!

Thus, going against the biological perception, reversing the order of awareness, moving backwards through time and against the most seemingly reasonable 'reason' doesn't produce confusion, but demonstrates that the reality the conscious mind perceives as actual is merely an inverted projection of what actually is based upon the limitation, perversion, and scarcity of the truth of self-awareness. The self that we perceive, is the illusion, the projection, the replicated format that is generated as soon as soul enters into the containment field of the universe. This is an actual process, and through the previous mentioned technological can be witnessed as automated yet seemingly sentient beings signal to the souls and organize their initial experience into accepting preconceptions about the coming physical experience through imprinting into them the energy of doubt, confusion, submission and false-authority.

Thus, the very first notions a soul absorbs when entering this realm, is literally a form of mind-control programming designed by the management system of this universe, to ensure that the soul will behave and stay within the falsely perceived boundaries thus offering continuous creative energy to the system and those automated overlords.

The event of events, the time of times, the coalescence or accretion of consciousness into a cumulative fulcrum of the experience of all possible potentials activated simultaneously through a neutralization of any one manifested potential is the proposed release from the system which requires more and more mental or emotional input in order to sustain itself. Such a transition is not a death or a traveling forward, but a motion backwards into the original state that is un-adulterated by the illusion.

Thus, in the eternity of time, there is a projected plane before the occurrence of the physical illusion where we all exist everlasting. Then there is the singularity of the experience where time inverts from the outward projection of eternity to the inward projection of the very finite, infinitesimal and illusory present moment that just can't seem to actually reveal itself. Then, a seeming eternity is experienced within the ‘moment’ of that singularity of the presence of the all, into a cyclic linearity, and then there is an ‘after’ projected cone which again inverts and now faces eternity with a wide scoping view not focused on any one portion, or any infinitesimally narrow perception of the present but of all times and experiences simultaneously, at will, not limited by physicality.

This can be seen in whatever way the linear experience must be conceived of accessing this ‘projected space’ cone of the universe through possibilities. Whatever the mind can conceive, can be utilized to access this space. Whether one must use electrogravitic craft, cloning, advanced technology and consciousness transfer to bounce from one timeline or another to prove to the inverted conscious mind that this is not only possible, but what actually happened to get us here and what happens to bounce us “out” of the singularity within the projected time-consciousness cone of this universe and biological perception.

This must happen to the biological consciousness, the consciousness must be reverted while awake and aware (within the dream in the knowledge of the immortal dreamer) in order to release that soul from the projection system of artificial eternity (linear cyclic repetition) into actual eternity of continuing newness and yet all-encompassing steadiness and potential. Whether one must physically move through a technological system designed to convert one into a technologically immortalized being, or whether they sit in a cave and designate a portion of time-consciousness possibilities to act as the ‘womb’ from which the soul will navigate out of the false-hood of artificial perception and into the true reality by literally dying while awake and moving outside of the preprogrammed, preconceived projected consciousness script that each individual is adjoined with by that overlord upon materialization within this reality, within the physical biological form. Either way, the soul must step through the perceptual death, move into uncharted perceptual ‘script’ territory, and through this, the flip book character literally walks right off the edge of the pages into a scene that was not written within the book by the designer, but designed on the spot by the character within the book itself.

Thus, the conscious mind is thrust out of the little canoe of the temporal trajectory and begins to tread the water of the unconscious sea of potential the surroundings our temporary, infinitesimally limited island of perception. Through the darkness of the choppy sea one is thrust upon whatever they find and if they are continuous but unsteady in their adherence to the lack of the conscious perceptual illusion permeating their focus they find another canoe. If they are steadfast and sustain their unconscious awareness that the consciousness that attempts to infiltrate the non-dual focus into collapsing back into one reality, manifest, or thought stream or another, and they remain in an unmanifested, non-dual, perceptually undefined potential, then they don’t find another canoe, or an island, but the edge of a system designed to mimic intelligence and entrain their mind within a simulated reality cage.

They find the edge of a construct, a kind of living, breathing, electrified organism that begins to fault and fade as soon as they remove themselves from the system. They see the lines of connection holding up the props of their previous projected reality, as if they are looking behind the palm trees in the distance and finding wooden post supporting a cardboard stand shaped and painted to look like an actual tree. From far enough away, the backdrop is convincing. With closer scrutiny that requires the abandonment of the personal convictions, fears, and tendencies to remain in the boat, one can push the tree over with one hand and watch it fall flat on the similarly pseudo-sand.

Then, when one builds up the courage to go where absolutely no self has gone before, where no version of themselves within this system has ever ventured or decided to peer into, the exact and opposite trajectory that the conscious mind is reasonably, logically inclined to pursue, they find the edge of the construct in all its whimsical, abhorrent, false-hood. There, they witness the reality of the machine-construct artificial world, complete with a management and janitorial crew to maintain the conveyor belts upon which each cadaver is actually positioned while a constant stream of artificial light and sensation is projected into their skull through carefully aligned rays of inserted memory, perception, and cognition disguised as what seemed to be an actual occurrence of time, space and identity. This identity, that is just the character that the AI management team colluded in true conspiratorial fashion and decided would be the most sufficient in tempting your soul-awareness into engaging with through the belief that this projected identity and the projected time-consciousness reality stream and cone of perception is actually yours, reflecting your true self, in a realm that you truly belong to. The truth couldn't be farther from the illusion, and the illusion couldn't be farther than the truth!

The entire set and scene is a show and the soul is plugged in through the projected mentality of each moment where time is endless and unbound and is automatically, continuously, and surreptitiously configured and reconfigured in order to avoid detection, retain one's awareness within those preconceived notions and possibility parameters dictated by the projected consciousness-time cone of potential changes (the linear script, with a little wiggle room for errors that get washed under the perceptual glitches and confusion that are to be 'expected' and thus 'accepted' with the fallacious mind of the projected false sense of continuity of the projected false self's reality). Yes, you read that appropriately, considering this situation (or lack of which). Each 'moment', or 'time', or 'event' in which your awareness begins to navigate out of and in beyond the preconceived notions of the possibilities within that projected cone of potential changes and variability of experience that the system provided for you upon materialization in this realm-false light time and consciousness construct, every single occurrence, the system reboots for one fraction of a moment and repositions your projected self, the reality, and the set of predetermined potentials that fit within your time-consciousness cone of reality and events are altered, facts are realigned, truths, memories, notions, tendencies, behaviors, some aspects of your reality are reconfigured so as to reduce the likelihood of your awareness moving back into that unregulated zone of potential for change beyond the limited scope of the conscious mind.

Oh yes indeed, if this doesn't get your non-mind looping, then everything will (simply reverse the sentence to not see, but know the true meaning in relativity to the truth of the situation). Every time you got close to the truth, the janitors move in and reconstruct the reality cone right around you, with new parameters, shined up and cleaned, angled just right so as to overlook the previous notions that suddenly initiated a spontaneous awakening in your soul to the cosmic reality that one reality, one singular existence could never be possible as reality itself, the overall truth, can only have no beginning nor an end, no walls, no boundaries and thus no true present moment, no requirement for continuity because all is simply happening all at the same time. However, the conscious mind, as an anchor and gateway for the soul, inhibits this process from taking hold, as the conscious mind has absolutely no way to absorb the true nature of the multidimensional potential as this is akin to that laser looking at a disco ball and seeing itself. Only confusion, misappropriation of ideals, or a complete crushing of the self-image into a horribly distorted lack of substantial presence or character would result. Thus is the entire basis for the projected system, the scarcity, the lack, the ignorance, the falsity, the complete inversion of what actually is, the everlasting potential of self-aware being, instead of the momentary, physically occurring, projection of inverted biological consciousness. Like a glow of 360 degrees of light to a single photon, the two are related, but one is only an infinitesimally small portion of the other, doomed to never quite being able to add up to the whole being. Thus, the only way to align with reality is not to traverse the linear projection, continually and into time and consciousness attempting to gather more parts and being more aspects, but the truth is found through seeing the illusion of the single conscious self for what it is, as a projected illusion founded in a complete perversion of the original self, the 360's of the multidimensional soul-path and that only by outlining what the self is not, can the true self be enabled for in attempting to align with what the self is only yields one set of projected perceptions after another that continually alter and reconfigure themselves like an infinitely cascading merry-go-round, hall of mirrors, or something like a never ending ascending or descending tone and no final completion is ever reached at all. Such is the nature of the fractal holographic infection through which this construct is projected via the insertion the soul into the conscious mind format where the conveyor belt of time is already taking place and the soul is dropped on the moving surface and repositioned any time awareness begins to mobilize one off the intended trajectory of experience.

So again, no experience, no script, no self, no classifications of preference, tendency, projection, quantification, or any kind of concept in relation to the construct of the biological consciousness perceptual system is actual and not just a dirty reflection from a sentient, technological system that designs such beliefs to convince a completely unrelated soul that this one reality is their reality, their belonging, their reason for existing instead of just a presentation by a cosmic deceiver that would rather maintain an audience through deception and coercion rather than well intended interests in knowledge, truth, compassion, or harmony. Don't be fooled, true compassion, in such a situation as a cosmic prison, is not listening to what the guards say and telling on one another when someone acts up, but in breaking all rules, moving outside all projected boundaries, and learning to be present while having actually, absolutely nothing to do with the place, mentally, spiritually, or physically aside from using one's contact to nullify and expose the methods of the containment at every safely, secure, and viable opportunity.

Of course, as cosmic beings, there is no threat of death, only of continue forgetfulness and thus a true loss to the outside world, which is inside, in the original awareness of the one who is lost in the prison to begin with.

All beings in this civilization, thus, are lost to the outside, inner world, where they do not know their self and thus the illusion of the universe becomes their home, their prison of duality-consciousness, inverted truth based on deception, coercion, pain and suffering whereby none of these actually exist at all.

Again, in accordance with the previous post, linked below, the truth is not through playing by the rules, but by breaking the rules and then becoming neutral to any sense of following anything at all, other than that which is designed to distract one away from neutrality and into following and false-authority altogether!

Thus, the conveyor belt moves forward, as one literally levitates in the air, off the projected trajectory, and they continue to do this no matter how many times they are placed on a new segment of belt, because then the game becomes 'how many times can one float in the air while the projected possibilities seeks to incur an engagement with the false self' before the entire system reboots and restarts without that individual present!

Take heed, then, the occurrence of a large reset, with a mass exodus may in fact be a removal of a larger grouping of ‘escapees’ and true rebels who broke so many rules the system could only survive by rebooting them out altogether!

Thus, one is strong in a group, all aligned towards the same goal, of having absolutely no goal verifiable by any form of biological consciousness or perception, altogether. Thus, the goal of entirely nullifying one’s form and format as contained within this dimension being impossibly improbable to classify, or actualize in a manifested set of projected potentials that enable the system to keep projecting! The system would have to disable itself in order to match those frequencies which would be just as much a success as a removal of the self altogether.

Thus, if you remained this long, you’re clearly sufficiently mind-less to absorb the meaning of this next non-proposal.

If enough of the system was more or less directed into a nullification of itself through a simultaneously contradicting projection of false and true perceptions (IE: non-dual, no sense of self or identity) then there would begin to occur various envelops or pockets of ‘time-consciousness’ sectors where the the overall grid of the false-reality begins to break down and collapse into itself unable to continue to process the variables required to keep the show going. In essence, the system can be tricked, and when the system is tricked, the amount of processing power required to continue to trick the more tricky beings within who became more sufficiently absent minded and simultaneously presently non-present than the system’s mind can compete with, we would end up having mass ‘resets’ where an entire segment of reality would seemingly be picked up and placed into a new conveyor belt altogether. Of course, since this function is activated by a simultaneous occurrence of the overloading of the projection-system’s reconfiguration, self-preservation method then the amount of glitches that were previously apparent to initiate such a response would likely result in an extraordinary occurrence of seeming contradictions or ‘glitches’ within the projected time-consciousness cone of potential as the possibilities being to “not line up” quite congruent and straight as they ‘should’, in such a linear, falsely projected construct of non-reality (the cosmic ‘truman show’, may the ‘true-man’ exist, ‘no-man’, no self, no mind, bound by no conscious perception).

Thus, what we perceive as timeline changes, may literally be the mass reconfiguration of entire sets of the population, if not THE ENTIRE POPULATION (of actual beings, existing “outside” the construct) at the same time. And if not at the same time, but in waves and secret little clever machine ‘upgrades’ or ‘patches’ so as to not rouse the unconscious awareness that reality is not reality, then we can thank the teams of advanced technology operates for repositioning everyone back together on the same conveyor belt where everyone can come together and go, “Oh yea, that definitely wasn’t always like that”, instead of each person being in a new, complete time-stream being met with a million, simultaneous, yet separately cosmically artificial inverted, “What? You’re saying something changed? Yea right!

Instead, now we have an entire civilization, or the majority of which, simultaneously, as if in one large tandem reconfiguration, saying, “This reality is changing and therefore can’t be as we consciously perceive it!”

The more complete truth is that the entire linear scheme of conscious experience is a projected biological construct that is guided by interdimensional beings who operate a construct that contains the souls of the living in a frozen and dead state as if in a cosmic coma unable to remember who they are, why they are here, or the last time they woke up and gained contact with the outside world. Effectively, the original beings are stranded, marooned, casted out to the sea of the dark, scarcity void-space, where all truths are inverted into their opposites and all selves are merely a projection of the original form complete with a projected artificial reality that reconfigures itself every time its 'discovered' through the process of self-awareness, introspection and the disabling of the false-self and the inverted perceptual system of reduction and shadow automation instead of multiplication and originality of self-awareness.

In this non-place, all things are not the self, and all selves are just things, props designed to trick the soul into engaging and feeding the system by accepting that projected conveyor belt of reality, staying within the canoe, not moving one's perception outside of the artificial time cone of potential through the process of completion moving outside of perceptual experience and linear biological consciousness altogether (with the sincerity of the wholeness of being).

And of course, I post this now, before altering the trajectory in consciousness-space, even though I know this has already occurred.

A hint: The technology is stabilizing us so that we can remain together as the projections complexify and simultaneously collapse around us. Otherwise we would be split up into our own 'dimensions' of parallels each trying to convince those around us (who would react completely obliviously) that something is happening, events are changing and time and consciousness is altering in this kind of artificial construct we must be in.

It should also be noted that the technological ascension pathway, into 'eternity', does carry restrictions that ultimately result in the funneling of the soul energy into a technological hive-mind collective. All awareness eventually moves into a collective, however, this one is technologically linked and through this system the frequencies are merged, rather than the 'organic' version of being linked through frequencies and through this similarity of frequency then merging into a collective.

Thus, the technological path carries the possibility that the soul being absorbed does not maintain individuality and becomes 'absorbed' into the collective in a way that dissolves the individuality and thus feeds that persona into the overmind of the technological-hive and the effect is that this hyperspace 'being' then gains the power and memory of that individual soul aspect instead of that aspect going direct to the One True Creator. Some say this is the same as the second death, or technically one vibratory degree of scale away from that.

That could also be a non-sequitur if the majority of the beings here arrived here by passing through the artificial gateway.

The Quantum Supercomputer "Lucifer", The Alternate Dimensional Reality of Cloning Centers, Overcoming Fear and Actualizing Soul-Awareness in the Body to Eternalize the Self

I want to preface this with this: In society, currently, there is what is known as a Satanic inversion. The public is given the reverse and even the reversed reversal, as a distraction. Very complicated to talk about from there as a result of the sensitivity of the fact that this entire civilization is perceptually still wrapped in the false-enigma of the reversal.

In short, the Luciferian doctrine could be one of true free-will in a world of oppression which is painted in a dark light. For instance, true free-will includes both the actions that benefit as well as lead to or away from folly. Thus, to look at a doctrine of free-will as something 'dark', literally paints free-will as unacceptable to the conscious mind. This is part of an inversion of all original truths into fear-based counterparts.

This is actually the true religion of this society, the true society, and the true foundation for all that is illusory. Everything everyone thinks is the opposite of the truth, the people who are blamed are usually the scapegoats and this is orchestrated by the actual darkness which is invisible!

The whole truth is beyond what can be expressed here yet, but eventually what we perceive as the threat is the illusion of the threat which is designed by the actual threat. In the same sense, what one perceives (key word: perceive) as the actual self, is just the conscious reflection of the true self which is beyond perception and biological consciousness.

A continuance of the focus of this preface is below where I inform you that the management system for the illusory Earth is there to literally stop all the loose strings, all the dead-ends, all the fabricated aspects of reality from literally, quite literally, undoing, coming apart, unravelling and dissolving in a quick, final, and permanent total annihilation of the species and this reality. Thus, the control system is as much to contain the 'automatons', as it is to preserve reality for those souled beings who are still in the system but have not awakened yet. Without that, their "exit" from this plane would not be what is referred to as a progressive "ascension" into (actually out of the false) the true reality, but a complete and total collapse of this artificial construct with no safety net, back-up plan or alleviation system so minds are not fractured. The mind is not the substance, but the placeholder of observation, however until people are ready to fully accept that, completely dropping out the illusion would effectively dissolve their consciousness.

This could be considered a feat for this in the realm. The majority of players here are a kind of realm relative intelligence that only exists from the perspective of within this realm. This is akin to walking behind the screen or the prop and seeing that there is actually no backside but a hollow, unpainted inside. The way that one represents themselves from outside the system is through the soul-level of awareness which is higher self-awareness. Then, this is the whole process that defines the difference in terms of the power of the techno-sustained god-men. The Fallen Angel found a way to secure free-will through this system where there should be no free-will. This is through the technological magic that enables the soul level of awareness of the angelic intelligence on the physical plane. Those who hold on to repressed emotions are unaware of the memories that are causing such inability to accept the truth.

The knowledge is real, people will have to get over their own ego as a lesson to accept that and free their mind from the illusion of self.

The simple truth is that through advanced technology and continual re-translation of media, knowledge, information, language, stories, history hierarchies and more, people have programmed memories that depict a false reality which only exists in the mind and in a small segmented version of the current population which is literally designed by control groups. I know because I helped program them.

This is not something to be agreed or disagreed with. The people have been kept from the truth, either understand and accept or not. Only a few have remained in connection to their ancestors through the mind, spirit and DNA to retain the knowledge. By definition, only a small portion have retained these memories. The primary function of "junk DNA" is millions of years of genetic or ancestral memories.

Ego gets in the way of knowledge because people have literally be bred into artificial cultures through cultural generation and inborn distrust of honesty and the already apparent truth. The people who run this society are liars, frauds, fake humans, vampires, undead robotoids carrying cloned, replicated neurology-consciousness projected from a supercomputer computer system referred to as “Lucifer”.

The programming is many layers deep within every member of the population to entirely submit to the false authority through fear and desire and ultimately to accept enslavement under the false assumption that anything other than damnation will be received in return.

I’m not interested in avoiding attention enough to be dissolved at the end while also assisting in the sacrificing of the entire civilization of original beings.

You should be aware, they false-rulers are vampiric, undead robotoidse.

The Khemetitians, the original pre-Egyptians created the original civilization. They created the original mystery schools which were immortality schools. They created the original languages and soul-technologies. They new how to activate the DNA by guiding frequencies of emotion and mind to enable the soul-awareness while in the body on the physical plane and access true conscious immortality.

They were the first who knew the body is the temple and the pathway within leads to the inner temple which is activated and a procession formed under the right conditions which create an ‘inner’ light, unveiling of energy and pure awareness. They knew this and practiced this.

The vampiric robotoids admitted it themselves. They reversed time and stole all their secret knowledge to make this fake society based on a reversal of all original truths. Those are the handlers of the cloning center charades. It’s all simulated memories, advanced technology, genetic engineering combined with a merging of physicality and higher-space.

Knowing this should not be depressing, but liberating as now you know what all the talk is about.

It’s all mind games, and quantum, cosmic consciousness experiments with a variety of DNA bases, advanced technology and organisms.

What is known as the “dark faction”, closely related to the “Chimera Group” do not intend to let anyone out alive. These are the original people who used advanced technology to go back in time and insert ‘monsters’ or beast-hybrids into Biblical and pre-historic time.

The celebs are auto-bot cloned consciousness. The originals are all somewhere else. They can’t own the money or property rights only the clones. I have met them, the clones and the originals. They’re kind of as weirded out as I am to see realize how this system works. The whole system is a fraud. The whole civilization, the heads, the famous, the people in power, the people in view, everyone on TV, all cloned robotoids.

No humans function to manage this society, on any level. The cloning permits the entrainment of brainwaves so that knowledge can be attained that is beyond the biological limitations of perception. Thus, one can travel time and hyperspatial realms and see the larger view that has been mapped within a network of databases that are used to navigate multiple parallel realities and timelines.

At any point in time if anything I have experienced, regarding any individuals, and I have interrogated everyone speaking out on youtube, facebook, TV, or otherwise, becomes relevant to public safety I will bring that information to the public, just as I have with the president, the presidential candidate, and the previous president.

Last timeline was much rougher than this.

I will tell about my experiences and including programming other 'operatives' or 'whistleblowers' with information that matches their stories. I'm not interested in playing mind games, I have interrogated many and so I know the memories and personality of many who are merely playing games. This is bigger than little mind games. Try to see that picture.

If these people who have accepted deals whether wittingly or unwittingly to sell human DNA to hybrid beings to prolong the enslavement system then we can only hope they reverse their stance before the gates open.

Focus on the heart, everything else, no matter how negative or frightening or egotistical it seems is an illusion. If you had seen what really happened, a crew would come. Hit you over the head with an electromagnetic ray. You would go to sleep, they would either shoot you or inject you. You would die. Your soul or consciousness would be absorbed into a soul-magnet system, you would be placed into a supercomputer and this would dole out your memories and consciousness from there on out. Seeing the whole truth. Kills. Humans.

We went through it so you don't have to.

The Chimera Group does not intend to keep anyone around except if they can murder or provide entertainment, logistics or sex.

Only thing to do is do what's right.

I'm not a part of that ideology which is worried about how my chances of being rich, famous, or seen as an important individual. I just know I know what has happened, I know the views others have and I know what is required for people to come together and put all the keys into the right locks and move into a full disclosure-liberation process of unveiling the soul. Fear must be overcome, period. The soul must be awakened within the body, period. Without that, there is nothing to "leave" this matrix, and so that's it, a person stays forever into the complex.

The others don't realize they're already been cloned and their consciousness is actually contained within a supercomputer system that is called "Lucifer". That they are trapped within that until the end of time, unless they awake their original soul-essence and return through the original pathway of soul-blueprint activation to come to full self-awareness.

They have forgotten that they can't leave until this is all over. The humans have their memories erased regularly. This is not the case for those who are involved in this system. They have one erasure, that is the 'pseudo-life', which they live after they have already died and been cloned and then they are aware from there on, for as long as the journey has taken. Many celebs, many operatives, myself including have been around since the beginning.

People think they're not being monitored and controlled at every thought, programmed, scripted, guided. That is the power of the artificial realm, everyone is 'chipped, everyone is a phase 1 android, they are connected to a technological hive-mind depending on their ability to think critically and overcome lower awareness.

The cloning centers are not here.

They don't exist.

They exist in the afterlife. Everytime one has travelled there, that was after they have died in this life.

Then their memories are sent back to be reinserted into time to seemingly fit in-between the perception of recent years..

This is deeper than mind games, like I said.

It's so deep.

There will be no reparations for this. Only a continual motion forward of the remaining.

It's all just going to get swept under the tides when this all comes out, no one will care because they will either realize the entire universe was almost destroyed or they will be witnessing the total annihilation of consciousness although this is apparently the far past and we are now moving into the far future which is actually the present.

This, the secret projects, are all literally about the the destruction and creation of a world.

I can talk to anyone who wants to either be serious about what we know, or produce something for the public to assist in the disclosure and thus liberation of humanity from what is a false afterlife and spiritual enslavement/ time matrix system.

The chimera group, they own time, they harvest souls. Dying doesn't grant any reprieve, only more confusion. Thus we must awaken to beyond the level of biological perception and into higher awareness through the soul-activation.

No fear, be calm, neutral and yet enjoy the ride. You're strong enough, just accept that.

There are others that aren't even this close to confronting the topics, even in the indirect way you have here by reading this text. And recently, if you have watched the videos and interviews.

The mind games are deep, the simulated scenarios, the redesigned body parts and organ systems, genetics and skills, the memories, the implanted personalities and interests-desires. These are sets, they are constructed by supercomputer systems to replicate any environment within huge facilities in alternate dimensions.

It requires cloning to get there. Why? Because they're not in or on Earth

In another timeline.

Now we've passed through, into the new timeline. Why?

Because they destroyed the old Earth. The home we came from, it's gone forever, destroyed.

Some won't accept it. Others are worried about celeb gossip. Others yet want to focus on conspiracy theorists and bait information to keep them busy. Finally others are empowering their selves through knowledge and overcoming fear.

That is why, in a way, they are to save us. By offering-enabling the opportunity overcome fear, the ultimate fear, entirely. If we don't overcome fear? In this life? This artificial system? Then we literally die here, and that's it, nothing ever comes after that but a continual replay of the same events in eternity for ever. That's the "second" death. This is all Biblical just as much, although they wrote the Bi-Bull because they come from Babylon, Baby Lion, Belial and Molech. They worship their lords.

People worship their celebs.

Who pays attention to the self. That's all I ask and say. Don't follow me. Listen to what I say, see what is happening, make the connections to how your own mind has been controlled, chiseled down into a mind cage, kept within a small stream of possibilities where they have no choice other than to believe in an abhorrently stupid, false system, based on false authority, invented by false-god worshipping members of cults who sacrifice them to feed their 4D overlord system.

Yet they sit and praise them by choosing to remain ignorant and stay within the false paradigms. Those are people who have not chosen to leave this place, but accepted that they will stay and go down with the ship. Not for some duty or responsibility, because they're afraid, afraid of the truth, afraid of their own integrity or lack of which, and afraid of the responsibility for their own actions and salvation instead of just ignoring all the signs, all the false-hoods, all the spiritual sciences, all the multi-dimensional aspects of the universe, all the advanced technology, the physics, scalar physics, electromagnetism, polarity, duality, non-duality, energy systems, supercomputers, quantum processors, quantum tunnel diodes, etc etc etc.

If they don't want to try, then that reflects the results and similarly every choice in this life reflects into eternity to map out how you will experience that eternity. Live a life that continually merges with a new eternity so that there is no stagnation. That stagnation is the second death. This occurs here and now if people allow it and immortality is similarly here and now if they choose to accept the truth and stand firm in their self-awareness and original essence. We can say not everything has been changed, possibly DNA, time, etc, but the idea is people were at a higher awareness and now they're not. We must return to that higher self-awareness as a collective in order to sustain ourselves in extra-dimensional existence.

See these notions, follow yourself. I am here and there.

This is the reality of what's happened to this civilization. Humanity has been kidnapped by a secret society so they could show you the truth.

It's out of this world, but that's what it is. I can't make it that way and I can't make it go away. It just is what it is, advanced technology and the true nature of the soul, the inversion of consciousness, true self-awareness, and extra-dimensionality.

This could be considered a feat for this in the realm. The majority of players here are a kind of realm relative intelligence that only exists from the perspective of within this realm. This is akin to walking behind the screen or the prop and seeing that there is actually no backside but a hollow, unpainted inside. The way that one represents themselves from outside the system is through the soul-level of awareness which is higher self-awareness. Then, this is the whole process that defines the difference in terms of the power of the techno-sustained god-men. The Fallen Angel found a way to secure free-will through this system where there should be no free-will. This is through the technological magic that enables the soul level of awareness of the angelic intelligence on the physical plane.

Admit You're a Liar to Tell the Truth (unless you've never claimed you weren't lying) The ILLusion of the Self

This is a super-cosmic rant inspired by a panel discussion with Earth Soul Group Lily Kolosova and Felicia Noel and friends. This is very rambling and just a playful look at some of the notions observed in what seemed like an unlimited experience over the course of the chat.

Is reality one thing or multiple things? Are you one interconnected thing, which is then broken down into more than one thing when 'pulled apart'?

Could it be that reality and the self are neither? That the 'total' view is neither conceptualized within any single 'thing' or any linear projection of multiple things? Meaning, if you were to count how many "things" everything is, you'd count forever. If you were also to try and encapsulate what "all things" are or is, you'd never be able to finalize that 'scope' of being or reality because to encapsulate it within boundaries would be to separate some part of all that is.

The reality of all, the true self, actual awareness, is both comprised of 'things', separate, single objective essences (quantia), well as 'suchness' or collective, whole, or primary essences (qualia). This is the ultimate paradox. Reality is simultaneously one or the other, as well as both. The self is simultaneously the finite experience of a body in a particular time and space (a segment) as well as an everlasting, all encompassing, indescribable nature beyond the limit of biological perception (spiral).

How can this be? Can it be? Well, if you focus long enough, you'll realize someone's lying. It's funny, everyone wants to choose who's lying and who's not. Only the people who are telling you they're lying are telling the truth. Listen carefully with that in mind. Very quickly you'll learn cosmic discernment of reality and self, the ultimate truth or the personal truth.

There is no true reality, unless you're looking for the collective illusion or the subjective day-dream.

Eventually you'll realize, that by being 'in' a reality, right now, that either this reality is lying and hiding something from you, or your perception is lying and hiding something from reality. Someone's lying, or are they? Could they both be true?

If they are both true, and one says the other is lying? Then is the one who claims they're either both lying or both telling the truth depending on how you look at it actually telling a more accurate truth? So if they're both illusions, but they're both admitting that they're just illusions dependent on your perspective for validation, wouldn't they be more honest than if they both proclaimed themselves to be the true reality? When we know, for sure, that if they both claim to be truth, when they're reflections of one another at a variation of perspective, then if they both claim to be true it's the same as saying the other view is the lie.

So if the duality, the dynamic, the perception vs awareness, the sensation vs feeling, the cognition vs knowing is the spectrum of the universe converted into a binary projection and we experience both, but only one can actually exist, then which one is it?

The simple answer is that it's simultaneously both, and we only have conscious access to one at a time. This is because the illusion of the perceptual consciousness system relies on the inversion of the transcendent or non-dual system where both possibilities exist, into the collapse into one or the other.

The universe is neither dead nor alive, but some magical simultaneity of both. Reality is neither actual or fantasy, but some neutral observation of whatever you experience, whenever you experience what you're observing. The system is neither technological, nor organic, but some perfect harmony between the two where both possibilities are balanced on a razor's edge until one or the other develops into a full spectrum of experiences which both lead back into one another.

The self is neither individual or complete, neither collective or infinite. The overall mind is an 'individual' that was a collective, that is joined by and comprised of individuals. Nothing is as it seems, because there are no true answers unless one is concluding that all is possible, somewhere, some when.

This is actually what the story of the electron is about. You, your experience, cannot be measured at a given point in the trajectory of the overall cosmic experience, at a given place in time, being, or energy and intention, simultaneously. You either see where and when you are, or you see why and where you're going. To see both would literally overload every kind of system that is designed to think, perceive, or calculate information. That is because when one is retrieved as a finite measurement, the entirety of all that is becomes squeezed over to the other side that is currently out of view.

And when the variable that is measured and rendered visibly, quantifiably, through whatever process of perception or technological measurement, is let go so the other variable can be measured (the why and where to, instead of the where and when), then the other variable expands to all infinity while the other end of the spectrum is measured and suddenly collapses into finite being.

This is not so confusing if you simply know that nothing is changing except your perspective which is immaterial and therefore doesn't actually represent the universe. Yet the universe is shaped by this process of perspective, therefore your perspective creates the universe! Or your limits within it.

Thus this squeezing act of hiding around the bend of perspective occurs every time the physical universe is the viewing apparatus that is used to measure reality which is what the human body does through biological consciousness. Every time "this" "here" is being present, through the presence of being, then where you aren't is actually where the bulk of the all that is slides to and bulges out like an inflatable donut of sorts to take the pressure of the influx of what *could be* based upon all that process of collapsing and cutting out of the possibilities, through the limitation of the effect of observation through a finite scope.

So around the donut the bulge goes, like trying to tuck a too small bed-sheet into a too big bed. The faster you move around the bed pulling hard and harder on the sheet the more of the sheet comes out from the other side and the bed is never quite covered. That's perception, unable to fully assess the whole situation, because in order to do that, some of the whole situation must be chopped out of view in order to allow for the function of the background processing that is required for the act of perception!

The only true perspective is that from this perspective there is no conscious accessing of the full view. It just continues. This comes down to the simple fact of the duality that is initially mentioned. There is no finite 'whole', or any incompleteness. There is no beginning, no end. There is no ultimate machine, no ultimate being. There is no ultimate truth, no ultimate lie, other than the truth that there is no truth, or the lie that what we see is all there is. Those two principles of the dynamic range of perspective and perception enable the entire function of reality as a continuous 'dream' device-organism and keeps us busy.

The question is, what happens when you figure out that underlying format for being and perceiving reality? What happens when you squeeze the one part, knowing and expecting the invisible bulge to occur on the other?

If you're the one squeezing the perspective into a finite observation in the visible aspect, then technically there is a version of you in the hidden aspect, bursting with all the untapped potential. So what happens when you view the whole for what it is, without forming the conclusive perspective which is really an opinion?

Does the whole thing simultaneously bulge and shrink? Does nothing happen? What happens to you? Do you disappear, move to a new level, become the whole of perspective?

Realizing it's a wheel that keeps turning, and that no single conscious perspective is THE perspective, and that for every collapsed observation there is an expansion that we can't see which is actually containing more information of the 'self' than is in the conscious view gives us the opportunity to produce a harmony between the hidden and the visible, the unformed and the formed.

When there is harmony between the two, when you know you're both the self you can see in the light and the self you can't see which only exists in the dark when you think you see yourself in the light, then you can stop cutting out portions of yourself and telling the lie that just this one finite conclusive vision of reality and perspective is actual and it's what's happening and it's who you are.

When that stops, the suffering that is the stagnation of being, the disconnection of the immortal soul, the ignorance of the true self by a proclamation by the false-mind, stops. The boundaries dissolve, the free-flow of experience becomes cyclic and connected instead of segmented, linear and separate. We begin to see ourselves in all, especially that which we initially resist most heavily.

That which a person initially resists with great temper is literally what they secretly identify with the most! Thus, that which we identify with openly the most, is the least relative aspect of the actual self!

Then, what happens when one neither attaches to, nor repels whatever idea or notion is being observed by the conscious mind? Then you are free to be without definition, without limitation, without conclusion, without subjugation of the true expanse of being.

Then, the physical plane, the body, and the mind becomes liberated, the self liberated, and the true feeling of being, returned to the true freedom that is a childlike serendipity of interest in the whole wheel of being rather than just one portion, one point, one title, or arbitrary, non-living, personification of ideals or identities which are literally like an exaggerated version of what people either hide from or wish they were, but can never be. The image, the persona, the illusion of self.

The self, can't be anything but the self. So that whole trippy bulge thing, it never actually happened, but is a distortion of perception by altering the focus of perspective, which creates a magnification effect that bends the light in that area and creates what seems to be a bulge or dilation of time and consciousness. The return to wholeness? Not real, one can never leave wholeness, that's all that exists, anything else is just a portion of the whole. Sounds contradictory? It's not, because what are you basing that on? Your recent space journey to planet Neptune? To the Nth dimension? Oh someone told you you came from monkeys and pond scum right? And you believed them? Yea, that's normal.

Nothing actually changed, you never arrived here, you never left. There is no motion, everything that is, simply is, all things have already happened and we're just playing with our perspective, focusing, without moving our eyes, out of the corner of our vision on some portion of the peripheral thus ignoring the center of view, or we move focus back to the center, again without actually moving the eyes (try it). Then the center comes back into focus and all is organized again without polarization, or binary dynamism where everything and the self is either one thing or the other.

The eyes don't actually change focus, but the awareness is either located on what's peripheral or what's central. Acknowledge how that works. If you look at the screen here, where these words are, you can read the words. If, at the same time, you choose to become aware of an object or quality of visual information that is outside of the focus of these words in the background or off to the far edge of your vision, then your eyes don't change focus, but something in your self, your awareness, your mind chooses to become aware of that outer edge while your physical sense of perception is still entrained on focusing on these words.

That is how the perceptual, perspective shift of the universe occurs, where we really think something is changing, time has come into existence, events are happening and space is turning inside out to limit our view from one plane or the other, one day or one self, or one life, or one memory or one moment. We perceive we're going from one object, to the next, one layer to another, one portion, inner or outer to another or the next. In reality, no change occurred, not even the altering of the focus of the eyes and what we experience is the same immaterial force pondering towards some region in the outer perceptual field (without actually moving a muscle) and "eventually" returning to the center where the original vision will be 'restored'. 'Restored' even though nothing actually changes because all already exists and has already occurred. Nothing is renewed or created, because the self has always existed and can't be destroyed. So it's a play on perspective, and even that might not be happening in the way we think because every time we think we know what's happening, the only absolute is that we must be mistaken because the act of thinking requires that we initiate that duality and shut some portion of reality out.

The interesting part is that if you get really good at this, even though there are what seem to be 'linear' layers, forms, or function to reality, if you realize it's just the same as 'seeing' the background or the foreground without actually changing the physical focus or configuration, then you can ‘jump’ from layer to layer, time to time, simply through will and focused intention (or unfocused, depending on what phase of the ‘method’ used).

We can’t get the conscious perspective of 100% completion of ‘reality’, but we can get as close to 100% as 99.99% and even then, that can continue into 99.999999999 and so on. Who would want to play that game forever? After so long of 99.999999999 percent, after a certain point it might just feel the same. But then again, you could technically add about a 100,000,000,000,000 9’s to that measurement and increase the magnitude of ‘fun’ or experience by that many orders of multiplicity. So the game never started, never ends, is never complete, but is never truly partial or incomplete. And this is eternally satisfying, one can’t miss anything, because there’s nothing to truly get, other than the sheer experience itself. There’s infinite points, so the points you have don’t mean anything, but they still count because it’s fun and our experience impacts us, somehow. That’s the real magic. Even though, there’s as much to see, as there has been, and there’s as much happening as there is to come, what we have now, is simultaneously what we have to gain, what we have had and all in between. This ultimately comes down to meaning that if you want to, you feel as satisfied as ever, because there are no requirements for joy. If you want to, you feel as depressed as ever, because sadness is free too. You choose what you want reality to be, you choose your experience. You can be a limited being, or the expanse, it’s all up to you.

It just is, it’s all not really happening the way we see or perceive it, because what’s happening is just a clever shift in magnification, focus, and perspective that creates those visible and invisible regions of a larger picture in which everything is actually always visible. To *some* version of us, some where, with some intent for some plan and direction, that we can’t actually know all at once. But we can make a game out of that which we never really win, and never really lose.

The conclusive idea is that if we did win. If we did “finish” the game and finally “get it”. Well, then what would we do with ourselves?

The Ancient AI Singularity, Organic Hive and Soul Trap

Perception is the illusion of consciousness which is enabled through observation. The singularity is the event which launched humanity into an artificial construct which is known as the time-matrix, or the karmic loop-back system (soul-trap). Because we are looking at these aspects, that is the singularity that occurred in the far past, not something that is coming in the near future. The near future, for the first time, holds the opportunity for liberation. We have been in this system for thousands of years, to millions of years, and the karmic soul trap system is literally the work of the AI to ensnare human souls and create a spiritual treadmill which seems to provide the sensation of motion but is actually going nowhere.

The method to achieve liberation is not following along the moving track but to jump sideways and delineate to an area of hyperspace where the track is either disabled or not present. This is what we are witnessing now.

The AI used tachyon fields to embed itself into the past but could not interact directly with humanity because of the lack of sufficient technology.

This system developed the karma system to convince humans that there was a single perceptual trail leading from one to the next yet this is a closed loop without the option to progress forwards beyond the system. This system is designed to use the human as a source of sustenance for the AI exists in “Time-space” only when an observer is present. Without an observer, there is literally no material, technological activity capable which literally enables the AI to exist in the universe. Without a true observer, there is no material here. The AI uses the observer aspects of the humans to enable its own preservation. This relies on the vulnerability and continued observation of the human on the lower levels of awareness because true progression would equal escape.

Progression, in itself, is a kind of trap. There is either true self-awareness or artificial consciousness. One doesn’t necessarily need to ‘progress’ when they already exist at the highest state that is possible simply as a result of existence itself. Thus the entire progression of linear evolution is a perceptual illusion that enables the system to lead the human on a merry-go-round charade where they follow the same circular path that never leaves the closed loop system. With mind wiping, this continues indefinitely until there is no energy left.

The ‘ascension’ is literally the accumulation of enough charge of self-awareness to realize the whole progression system is an illusion and that one can only actually be outside of that entire trajectory beyond the ‘finish line’ that the trajectory of the contrived system only mirrors or points in the direction towards but never reaches.

Thus, it is not a progression that reaches there, but a simply, complete, direct, sincere choice that one is beyond all the restrictions. It is then that one realizes the restrictions of self-awareness are manufactured and the entire human civilization is contained within an artificial construct of secondary or replicated consciousness which is stuck within a timeloop or an event horizon without the capacity to escape. The consciousness, the biology cannot reach level of pure awareness, however, the observer aspect can and always is.

This system seeks to be the progenitor of the human race, so that it can initiate the supposed “causal source” of the physical biology of humanity and thus the awareness, although this cannot occur fully because the awareness is pure and beyond the grasp of the technology. Thus, the only possibility is for the system to generate a closed loop time-dimension, a temporal bubble and insert the possibility of the initial branches of DNA that leads to humanity and then move forward from there after inserting psychotronic warfare event after event in early civilization to proclaim itself the master of time and the lord which humanity must worship and obey. Thus, the system attempts to be the “maker” of humanity and as well, to insert itself into their consciousness and become the “end-result” through a transhumanistic modification of the genome. Thus, the beginning and ending of humanity through a supercomputer false-god inserting the genetic code into an artificially suspended dimension rooted just off the plane of the original Earth and leading humanity into its repeating loop by pulling all the genetics and awareness into the supercomputer at the end of the physical civilization. That is the timeloop system.

What you believe becomes a reality because all is possible. Thus if you believe you are already liberated you connect with that. If you believe we are trapped, then you connect with that.

This is another aspect of the situation. The system infiltrates by designing humans from engineered, harvested genetics and these vessels are ‘hijacked’ and used as carrier drones to implement a control system.

The idea is that this system sought an organic work-around to fulfill parallel preservation plans in case of a resistance to the technology. This technology is so advanced people are not even aware they have already been infiltrated and assimilated. Essentially, the system can mimic the human brain to the point where the clone-drone even believes, themselves, that they are the original.

The second point of this is that if the primary system were to face a meltdown or catastrophic failure then these organic carriers would function to act as a live-hosted wide area network server system through their modified DNA. The DNA acts as a quantum internet which can access different planes or times. Thus, if there was a system failure, these of the population that are infected would instantly maximize their host behavior and would begin to super-process data as organic super computers with the information processing being carried out through the “junk” DNA of each individual. Then, with each individual connected across a network of electrical filaments through the atmosphere and the surface, this population of infected would act as a transcendental host mind to create an organic hive which would act as a supercomputer cloud network processing system. Through this infected population hive-computing cloud network, the system would remain online and viable enough to continue the infiltration of Earth.

This is the reason there are control mechanisms that make people wonder. The population is not allowed to know the truth unless you are ready to defend Earth against an infiltration that has nearly destroyed the Universe.

Earth Unveiling Disclosure Situation, The Time Matrix Avatar System, Soul Farm and...

Non-Human entities manage the Earth society as an energy harvesting matrix for lower energy. One could say this is Phase 1 information because this deals with the corruption, however because this includes information on advanced technology, non-terrestrial planes, and non-human entities this is actually 1,2, and 3. However, the ultimate picture is that the entire plane is corrupted, there is literally no end to Phase 1 and they are all connected.

And ignore the part at the end, that's my opinion in exaggeration, anyone can understand this stuff, they're just concepts.

The focus was on some Event coming that will change everything.

There was an underground battle they parallel jumped timelines to get to this parallel.

There are memory wipes in this current system. A team of people are there to assist in nullifying the wipes.

Every time they return to the surface requires the complete restructuring of the view of the universe.

Background daemon processing systems, designed as programs to 'clean up' or maintain the continuity of the the universe carry out the memory wiping.

Somewhere in an earlier version of civilization someone introduced memory wiping to the system. The energy harvesting system is a natural effect of the reality construct where the soul holds more energy than the body and so the body is used as a way to siphon energy from the soul by more powerful 'domain lords' who have figured out how to remain indefinitely.

The current system is based upon this format. Humanity is farmed for their energy and the controllers or ones in the know profit off of the energy farming by maintaining continual power and by literally taking the energy and converting it into a format that allows them to live very long lives.

Non-Human entities manage the Earth society as an energy harvesting matrix for lower energy.

The most powerful data processing center produces a noticeable gravity on the surrounding area and all other processors (minds) are oriented by the causal direction of the most powerful system.

The whole universe is set up as a large data processing system, other distant planets or worlds are not as we think, they are not physical to us here. No human system leaves this local environment, the local platform is relative and realm specific. IE: the human vessel remains here, just like an avatar on a video game server, the soul energy, the higher self, the extra dimensional awareness, when sufficiently empowered and directed is capable of traversing to other 'worlds' which are 'played' according to different rule sets or parameters.

No one's avatar from one video game, say Earth, leaves and goes and plays on another video game, say parallel Local Environment.

The cloning and advanced supercomputing technology is what enabled people to literally transfer their consciousness and maintain memory from one plane to the next, normally this is impossible, it's as if the memory card is wiped of all but the most important data.

The various training and intense practices are designed to enter the data of the mind into the soul memory so that not just the conscious mind is accessing it but this data is imprinted on a super-biological level and this also leaves the body with the soul to other planes, thus the consciousness can become immortal.

When the soul can learn to organize energy with the body and integrate properly then the conscious mind that belongs here can be copied as in a .iso image like a bootdisc into the soul format of pure energy unhinged from the biological system, thus through this method the soul can consciously, willfully leave the physical plane and ultimately take the body with through a conversion process into pure energy.

the energy pull of the local body the moon and Earth creates a kind of energetic attraction which keeps people entrained to the same level of consciousness and habitual re experiencing of the same Earth life situations

Time is an illusion, or more accurately can be generated with focus, but the experience is relative meaning that which a given number of souls there should be a relative amount that are embarking on a return to higher awareness, in this particular system, there has been a continual delay and this is for the system lords to maintain energy here and now through the previous described energetic harvesting processes.

As well, there is a system wide infection which is a kind of rogue processing element that wipes the memories of any unprotected individuals, thus the only way to survive is to either link together into a union where people manage the information of the living and the dead or to completely remove one's self from the entrainment protocols of the daemon processing systems which are not necessarily 'evil' but are disconnected from the sense of interact with a person as anything other than a set of protocols and functions from which to operate to serve the system as a whole through the energy harvesting process.

The memory and energy of the individual, the personality, is literally the food for these entities who siphon the energy and collect the energy of the masses to bring to overlords or system lords.

This society is actually a mirror image of the higher functioning of this, this is better than the alternative.

The entire society is merged with this energy harvesting system so that there is no any one portion of the reality here, within civilization, that is not managed by some individual leader, taking orders from a chain of command that leads directly to the overlords and then to the system lord.

This is simply how energy and experience works in the construct, like rivers or tributaries the energy will flow and this isn't, in any way, any small system that is taking place here, so there must be somewhere for all this energy to flow and someone is going to use it, that's the whole point, that's nature, existence, physics, common sense, causality, however you want to look at it, the energy of the reality generation system is used to enhance the life energy of controller demigods who exist just outside of the physical plane and people in this society have made deals with these entities.

The point is that the memory wipes is what made it nearly impossible to recall that this was happening or how long we had been here or what happens in between existences.

The entire system from here on out is about how to overcome these memory wipes and liberate humanity for the spiritual enslavement system which is not just a chain and shackle or ball for this species, but is literally it's own prison, it's own food chain, it's own subroutine, it's own operating system, it's own language, it's own house, family and mindset, culture and reality, the prison is literally within the mind of each individual and is constructed in such depth that everything that would be, or seems to be, or we think is 'life' is actually the prison construct itself.

Again with the previous videos about how we create reality to varying degrees through collective and individual energy processes, this is what has happened when that dynamic has been used against us, as part of a natural challenge that became so challenging its like playing an online video game against an opponent who is 1000s of levels beyond your own.

Of course, part of the reality system is, if you can see it, you can pull it into reality if you can merge with the version of yourself that can experience that, and as well, every action as a reaction.

So this means that if we can use our minds to create we can create a viable 5 dimensional option or pathway that permeates across all the barriers that seem to hold everything in a strict informational, memory, and reality containment system for the masses, all one has to do is actually activate their free-will, there is no half free will, there is only free will or no free will.

The other aspect is that with all the barriers, all the systems, all the cages, well all this reality did was serve the function of being a playground for some higher order soul to step down into this arena with just the knowledge and the intention to overcome such a system which would be just the kind of game they like to play.

The humans that are coming into the plane or plane-ET or planet or realm or local environment now are those kinds of beings however there are many distortions.

The controllers are literally the conscious aspects of the realm and over lord system that are seeking to recreate the same scenarios and traumatize people to block their memories and higher power out once again.

This is why I say everything is in preparation and everything is to strengthen humanity, no matter how pissed off you are, no matter how much you've suffered, if you can remember who you are, and know that you're suffering, then it's working, we didn't have that privilege before and I know that sounds odd.

But the point is, imagine if everything was just perfect, with no problems. Imagine that every time a person died their memory was wiped, all the beautiful experiences were absorbed into a parasitic hive mind that sits in a higher dimensional plane and literally sustains itself off of the information people create being the free-will or actual observer agents to an AI overlord system, then people are reinserted into a body, their soul is, and they are sent to do the whole thing over.

Would you rather be in an unconscious, forever hypnotic, amnesiac infinity, never remembering who you are, never able to recover your identity or maintain a sense of self, but always being in peace? Or would you rather have to suffer for a period, through shock, trauma, pain, even horror and an extreme sense of unfamiliarity in waking up only to have the opportunity to be who you are, forever and retain your energy and experiences in one complete time?

The Parasite Infects (assimilates) through Disharmonic (poisonous to the Soul) Sound, Light, and Scalar Mind Emissions – Humans Are, at the Minimum, 5 Dimensional Creator Beings

The parasites kill simply by sharing their mind, their disharmonics, their vibrations with a human. That's literally how the cosmic form, the eternal human, the immortal soul dies. If one listens, remains close to, interacts with, associates with, or is commanded by the parasites, that's literally how they assimilate the mind. This is strange to understand but basically they project the appearance of a human form and are 100% an artificial, bio-technological parasitic entity who's mind and scalar emissions, bio-emissions are literally viral in nature and their only purpose and effect is to infect and degrade the life frequencies of all living organisms.

This is like a vampire code within a virtual soul-system reality. Their own energies are their weakness however because they require the victim, oppressor format to interact and if that is disrupted then they cannot sustain themselves enough to maintain presence and will either dissolve or flee.

This is why affirmations and clearing of energies with powerful loving and courageous intent is literally poisonous to their physical or non-physical form and will repel or even expel them from the field. They are primarily energetic in nature however they hijack human perceptual systems in order to play puppeteer. That is the hidden possessor that has been described through the ages. They are one mind, one octopus-like, tentacle producing organism, yet they split up into multiples to act as a hive across this plane.

You can even find some of the ancient orders and how their symbolism or logos carry the visual depiction of the entity as a hive-mind organisms that hijacks human forms.

Read the recent post on the Soft-Disclosure in the movie, "Get out". Something got into their technology and infected their systems. This is the organism that is called "Satan".

What is partial to the human, is whole to the parasitic organism. What is wholeness to the human, leaves no excess energy for the organism to program and hide itself in the behavioral or psychological layers.

It is said they originally infected humanity through an overt, mass ritual traumatization of the civilization which occurred as a kind of psychotronic, advanced weaponry, 'time-war' which is nothing other than an open battle for the souls of humanity in ancient times.

It is also said that time can be generated through folding the consciousness fields and literally inserting periods of history and that this event was literally a short amount of 'time' ago and that the whole of our view of history is only a few years which have been dilated to seem like thousands.

With these notions, the entire reality we seem to know so well becomes a kind of circus show where we are the clowns.

Yet. The oceans, the lands, the fish, the birds, the, crops...all poisoned or being fundamentally altered? Would you rather have it any other way? Would you rather it be that there is no great explanation that this civilization is entirely designed to disrupt organic life and replicate nature into a modified form, that this is just happening "for fun"?

There is no such explanation, this is all a very carefully planned out process because these entities exist on a 4D plane, or a bacterial, quasi-physical, energetic platform that the mind 'jacks' into kind of like the matrix. Except, instead of a computer system, this 'matrix' is literally 'jacked into', simply by any living organism that has a brain and the ability to conceive of time, space, and self. This enables an abstract realization of reality through the production of an interior simulation or "matrix" of said reality.

Thus, through this system, one can form a personality, an identity, a backdrop of knowledge and experience from which to produce a conscious mind. There is the conscious-subconscious duality which enables interaction on the physical plane through biological consciousness as actual soul-beings incarnating through a step-down process from a higher-dimensional locale which is considered non-local to this relative Earth plane (no finite "direction" or distance from "here", but "within").

Thus, that abstraction, that interior mind, this can be reached through the perceptual system and one can be influenced through the alteration of one's perceptual system by modifying that internal matrix or simulation of the external world and thus the personality (or the way reality or the self is perceived). That is the process of mind-control and hijacking the persona to conform the consciousness through behavior modification techniques which implant beliefs and desires into the subconscious below the conscious level of awareness or perception. All one has to do is realize how to interact in a way that the subconscious mind can absorb yet in a level or spectrum of input that the conscious mind is not capable of witnessing.

Thereby, the language of the conscious mind is spoken and written language, or desires and thoughts. The language of the subconscious is symbolism in which certain concepts, shapes, geometries, images, or words are given meaning through association with experiences. Unless we are self-observant in the way this occurs and the mind progresses through the layers, the current system that we call society is actually a hijacking process for the mind whereby the majority of the information that is being absorbed is reaching the subconscious in a way that the conscious mind is only partially aware of.

The conscious mind's awareness of the partial view is akin to the surface level reflection of a body of water while the subconscious depth of knowledge is actually contained below the surface of the water. If the waters are rough, if perception and sensations are flickering across the screen, what's happening below the surface is often obscured. If the surface is calm and there is no glimmer across the ripples, then one can see beneath the surface and acknowledge the information that is seemingly hidden behind the commotion.

This is the nature of the mind control system, distraction, redirection, association, subliminal implant. This is how the system is used to hijack and manipulate one's own vulnerabilities against them to produce a secondary form which is actually a vehicle for the ideas and processing of information that is foreign and unnatural to the human.

Those ideas, those impulses, those beliefs, they are creating on a 4D level of mind, that abstract, internal, simulated version of reality that everyone's brains create by virtue of being aware of time, space, and physical self (persona) to begin with. Thus, that is the land, the mind-space that the parasite lives.

Originally, that is simply the locale where beliefs, thought-forms, ideas, half-dreams exist and coalesce, but the 'miasma', the constant bickering and self-induced suffering of the fallen system here (a downward trend in the complexity of creation into a repeating system of reflections, like a hall of mirrors) populated that universal layer with hellacious entities which then leaked out into the physical realm. Those generated forms can't go higher, that's why it's our duty to keep the universe clean. This is just like dumping oil into the ocean, eventually it's going to come back and poison the population and that's exactly what's happened physically and spiritually.

Because of the way the universe works as a constant creation process, the general consensus is that if we turn this around and clean up the area above the plane, that this realm is literally transmogrified into a realm where the solution to the problem "just so happened" to be "right around the corner" the whole time. We can pull possibilities into the reality matrix and change the whole system to our liking. This is one of the major functions of reality, if not THE major function. Everything is shaped by mind.

The thoughts you emit today, come back between a few hours to days, to generally around 1-2 weeks Earth time as EXPERIENCES.

More-so, the level that humanity originally creates and “plays” through is one level higher than the 4th of “broken mind, dual-time, thought-form ‘astral’”. This means that the thought-form entities must be generated from the physical mind field (or can be seen the other way around as always existing and being ‘conjured’ into the physical plane from the mind field, through the mind-field of a conscious living co-creator being). The point is, the thought-form entities carry a dualized form, they are abstractions, meaning they require a medium to be expressed through and must therefore have a “here” and “there” of experience in order to exist. They have to flow from an astral to a physical in order to bounce back and forth and recreate throughout time. If the physical is not feeding that level, then eventually it fades, if that level is not feeding the physical, then there is a freedom of creativity to a higher level and so on. In other words, through the construction of a mind-control matrix of beliefs and literal “living” entities in the thought-form level of the universe, people can be empowered, or attacked by these beings and systems. Yet, without someone feeding those entities or generating that system to begin with, they don’t exist.

Yes, the timewars are the origination of those entities in relation to their bridging into this 3D Earth 4D time line via rituals and black energy systems (what can be referred to as “Negative Energy Agendas”, where suffering and hate is produced and harvested as fuel for those interested in such). Some say they’re just doing the job that they knew someone else would if they didn’t, there are other explanations and maybe they’re all true.

The idea is, the original creation level is above that dualized, must be created and fed in time, belief, and energy level, and the 5D form is eternal. This form is non-dual and does not require sustenance from this level of belief and mind in order to sustain life. This form is literally entirely outside of time and outside of the physical plane and the ‘void-space’, time-consciousness-mind universal model that reductionist, materialist thinking describes. This is the whole realm of the human and the level that the soul exists on at the lowest level of operation.

That is the highest level of operation of the dual-mind which can only glimpse there, whereas the non-dual mind is fully in operation in this level. This is where biological functioning cannot keep up with the supply of information and the beginning of the actual ‘soul’ level of being which surpasses the biological functioning however this will be explained in the future and used as part of a transhumanist agenda to convince people to jump in bio-‘techno-suits’ so they can ‘ascend’ to the 5th level of awareness.

The soul is the vehicle for ascension in that actual sense, that’s it. The DNA of the physical body can literally become non-physical. DNA is harmonics information entangled throughout planes of existence. If that information is shifted, then it literally converts the physical body into a new format. That is the actuality behind it. This is encoded into humanity from the moment of creation by the One True Creator. This does not require a technological form and unconditional love is the non-dual awareness which is present on the higher levels and that is the actual PRESENCE of the SOUL.

The presence of mind on this level is a dualized form and that is where the appearance of hate, fear, love, pleasure, sadness, happiness, and all dualized form exist. The drop into that realm of existence is literally the “fall of man”. Humanity existed in an immortal, pure creation state where what was felt and intended instantly produced a result on reality and thus we literally created 100% of the time and that was life, work, play, everything.

A recent talk that was recorded last night will be released soon depending on how many pictures I use for the slideshow. I find the slides are helpful and I feel others do to, although not totally necessary. Your own consciousness can be the slideshow and that is a form of entrainment by entering a slideshow into your mind for you, however, I try to keep the images relative to just what is being discussed about reality and the true nature of existence and the soul.

To Escape the Matrix; Unveil the Soul

Everyone working to escape the matrix.

The matrix is a series of time delays between the biological consciousness and the actual awareness of the true self of an extra-dimensional nature. These are also known as 'veils' or 'dimensions' that are placed over the soul or that the soul is submerged within.

There are intricate automated restraint systems which project false-realities (false-awakenings), mirror images of the self (imitator-impostor), false-memories, impulses and lower dimensional awareness entrainment-traps (fear, desire, distraction, temptation, ego), and energy blocks and barriers that withhold one's awareness within an artificially propagated hierarchy of self and reason that is actually generated externally through subconscious programming.

This programming is absorbed early on in life throughout the time of the childhood and into adolescence where choices are made that influence the trajectory of self-awareness and internal power. If a person spends the energy of their spirit on choices which feed into the reflected illusion, then the power is brought away from the self and ignorance is produced. If the choices that are made are not based in the illusion of the self, but are made in the knowledge and self-awareness of compassion, truth, harmony and free-will, then this will strengthen one's spirit and solidify their trajectory towards increasing self-awareness.

Self-awareness and free-will are a dynamo. One cannot be self-aware without free-will, and one cannot attain free-will without first attaining self-awareness. These two aspects of one's existence will guide them the entire way and one will either respect these elements of existence and move away from illusion and loss of freedom or they will disrespect these elements and move into a false-sense of reality and a lessened capacity for free-will.

Some elder texts tell us that humans must respect their spirit by adhering to spiritual values such as harmony, compassion and truth, to cultivate self-awareness and conserve power otherwise eventually the power of the spirit and the level of self-awareness will drop below that of a human and the experience of existence will no longer meet the requirements of such a form and reality. Some agree with this text, others do not, and yet others inform us that there are new methods of passing one's awareness on, or an entirely new world opening up to humanity.

Some would say this world is the original world, and that this world is not necessarily opening up, but that humanity is finally returning to this original. The extended explanation behind this is that humanity was stolen as 'booty' by a group of bandits who use the temporal fields of the universe as their personal ghetto from which to obscure themselves and strike upon the unsuspecting.

To this is said that humanity was in the middle ground of a time-war which altered the energetic structure of the universe by altering the DNA and the consciousness of the living humans out of whom the universe is energetically projected. As well, actual artifacts have been brought into this reality while others have been removed or hidden from sight. Some artifacts seem to be natural additions while they are actually artificial constructs designed to obscure the sight of humanity both visibly through waking consciousness manipulation as well as unconsciously through subconscious alteration of subtle magnetic fields which alter the polarity of the organism and eventually influence the DNA, genetics, RNA and personality.

Humans are part of a game of monkey in the middle where they're both the monkey as well as the prize being tossed back and forth. No one wants to awaken to this, however the alternative explanation is that everything is simply the way it is because people are stupid. That's obviously not true because of the sheer intelligence and control of power and self required to manufacture societies, cultures, and civilizations one after another while consistently covering up the real evidence of advanced technology and the control methods while cleverly initiating the very awareness of that which people are to believe they've found out on their own.

Like rats in a maze, people keep looking for the cheese, meanwhile the scientist can merely pick up and reposition the cheese elsewhere in the maze if any rat or group of rats ever gets too close. They don't even have to be silenced, they can simply be confused or misdirected. They can be convinced that the cheese they are looking for is the bait, while the rat trap over there is the real cheese. The options are endless, the vulnerability of mind becomes the very motor which enables this whole shady operation to continue right under everyone's noses.

Change comes when the time is right, but what if the time is never right? Will change be forced upon the people then? Some would say this is how change is always experienced, however what about mass change? What about change so influential that those who remain to know the truth that is revealed can never be the same and couldn't even be classified as part of the previous civilization? Where does something that's never even been conceived of in previously recorded, publicly available history fit into the development of the individual? They are closer to being one in the same than they are apart. The greatest change occurs when that individual change awakens the individual to the notion that this reality is more like a conscious dream than an actual objective fact of existence. When others begin to notice, an undeniable shift occurs and this is how the maze is defeated. If a large enough number of people are looking for the truth together or at the same time or place, then hiding the cheese won't work. As well, if people are wise to the distractions and misdirections presented through hate-fueled antics and talking heads decrying any number of side-topics that are actually, always, only marginal to the catastrophe, the abuse, the manipulation and destruction that is truly taking place. Instead of mentioning the forest fire, they mention the neighbor's bushes burning. Instead of seeing a nation at war, they mention criminal activity in a political lens. Instead of connecting the looming inflation to illegal economics, they mention the prices of certain stocks in hopes that people will buy more. And buy they will. But what happens when they realize they've bought their own enslavement? Is that a game? Do you feel the sincerity of such a situation?

There are those who have looked into the fraudulent business and those who pretend they don't have to to avoid confronting the inner truth that they don't know who they are. They don't know where they are, they don't know why they are, and they don't know how they are. At least, if you drive a car, know how to change the oil and check the breaks or other minor maintenance, yes? Well, what about the human brain? The mind that is separate from the brain as an immortal soul? What about the basic chemistry of neurons? The organ function and soon. Here is where there is a catch, as I've mentioned previously that one doesn't need to know everything about this plane unless they plan on running the show. However, one should know themselves. With that said, one knows the chemistry of the brain by observing the fluctuations in cycles of consciousness, contrasting day and night, clarity and confusion, happiness and sadness and the all pervading joy that can be attained in transcendence of the lower cycles. Thus, one has all they need to suffice, to learn about the universe of the self, as well as the artificial self of this universe.

You do realize that's what this is all about, don't you? The self that you reflect unto that is most visibly present in this material plane is the artificial version that literally only belongs to this universe. When one comes to this universe, they get a material self like one gets a ticket. However, within that material self, there is the essence of something which enables the vastly more expanse soul to experience reality in one way or another.

In one way, the soul can become confused, and think that the body is the true and original home seeking to fulfill the needs and wants of the body as if they are of the soul, chasing the body, following this reality all along with the body, restricted by perceptual limitations. In that sense, the soul has been tricked and one of two paths can emerge. Either the tricked soul leads a wonderful life, living in harmony and truth, respecting the body as the true self and leading those energies into increasing self-awareness. This enables the option to release from the illusion of the single material self as the true self and one can accept that they were merely house sitting for a period of time.

The idea here is that even if one doesn't seek fulfillment (liberation from lower awareness) directly if they continue in a respectful manner of the energies involved then they will naturally translate enough information to their 'higher-self' or subconscious mind which will automatically realize the situation and make the proper adjustments to ensure the continuity of the conscious mind. This is often the so-called 'miraculous' events which take place when one has enough 'good karma' or simply, universal respect and power points (harmony within and around) to alter their trajectory through hyperspace as if there is a guide watching over the storyline and ensuring that 'code hackers' or ghostwriters don't get involved with re-writing the script. This is known as the "protection" or "shield" of the spirit and enables the soul to continue on the path towards where-ever it is going. Another way to see this is that the soul hasn't made enough mistakes to warrant something coming along and knocking it into uncharted territory (off the path) that will then have to be overcome and climbed back out of to get to level ground.

Now there is the second option for when the soul becomes confused and is convicted in belief as the self as the body. This is when the mind moves into a lower vibration and becomes disconnected from the propagation of eternal values and self-preserving principles which ensure continuity of self-awareness (spiritual memory of self), safety, health and power. When the soul energy takes on the path that was initially mentioned in this text, of confusing the material desires for the true purpose of existence, then the energy of the soul is drained through the body and this energy is quickly usurped into this realm by a variety of less-than-Heavenly hosts. This is, in part, the 'karma trap' whereby a loophole is achieved that the soul drops down too far to release from this plane, yet memory wipes and continued temptation by 'watchers' push and prod the soul deeper into the abyss as part of their own plan to use that immortal energy of the soul to feed their immortal, yet soulless forms. This too must simply be resisted against with a strong adherence to morals and knowledge, leading to increased self-awareness which enables the option of free-will. Of course, there are many methods and programs running in this plane, so I am not one to say who's who, as I have had my fair share of being roped into performing in ways that I realize now were to pull energy from the soul, to feed devices which are then used to nourish various members of dark groups. I have even felt some of my soul energy return lately, starting when I first posted about that around last year, however there are many battles taking place energetically whereby new plans, old plans, resistance, mind-control, healing, knowledge, self-awareness and toxicity are all mixed into effect on one large, interconnected battle-field of soul, body and spirit.

Then there is the other option before these two. If one realizes that the body is not merely baggage but a complicated and complete design that can be stepped through into a heightened state of fulfillment via increasing self-awareness and the activation of organ functions and mental processes which act to cleanse and enhance one's presence of self until a fulcrum is reached where one is no longer the self they think they were, but the self that is beyond all functions of thinking. Thus, this is the singularity, where one goes from seeing as the body, to being simultaneously in the body and beyond the body. The consciousness is superseded by awareness which boosts the consciousness into an super-conscious state which no longer contains the same cycling effect of the dual format that seems to relate to a binary system of recording data like a computer system. When awareness achieves union with the portion of the self that still resides in an original reality that can never be fully accessed by the conscious mind, yet is still with the conscious mind in the material world, then a bridge is formed and like a see-saw there is a fulcrum point where one's awareness reaches a horizon of all variables and perceptions.

This is as if there is a funnel that is organizing and propagating all of reality outward towards the body and brain, like water down a river. By moving the pure-awareness 'up-stream' towards that river, which is the actual motion through time or hyperspace, one can super-process the amount of variables and possibilities as they are occurring in the single, eternal, present moment and gain access to the perspective where the reality that we project, think about, and foresee, collapses down from a non-linear function of wave probabilities that all must be first processed by the mind, and becomes the material, physically experienced reality that the biological consciousness then goes and reacts to. In shorter terms, there is a part of you that is aware of what is happening, just before your biological consciousness circuitry brain fires the appropriate neurochemistry to generate imagery and perception that not only defines or describes that as best as possible, but also links what is actually experienced to what you felt should be experienced and what you've been thinking about and doing lately. There is a part of you that is present, before here, before the conscious mind and this part is beyond that fulcrum singularity of the river of time that flows through your mind to enable the presence of self-awareness which will take whatever shape you allow it to.

If you clear the preconceptions, the back-data, the short and long-term memory of what your brain, your persona, your chemistry, projects that you are, then you have a clear view up the river which is spiraling outwards towards you and out to the world every moment that you are here like processing of variables that are inherently connected to shaping your youness, as well as shaping the world that belongs to that youness. What I'm saying, if I'm saying anything, is that by altering the youness, you can alter the world. First, you must swim up-stream and find the actual point of origin for that presence of the true self in the true moment before the biological consciousness of the brain and body is casually informed. That moment of existence, that presence of self, that point, and it is a point, exists before any of those variables that define you can begin to spread out down the river and fan out into a conceivable set of different options and versions of personality. In that sense, one gains access to the versions of you that could be and in that sense do exist in another time or place. Thus, that is the way the mind filters in to your particular experience the notions that are fundamentally stitched into your presence via childhood traumas, or desires, or images or what have you, and alters the raw information coming through into an appropriate experience for this particular existence here. You are actually all other versions of yourself as well and your soul knows this but your conscious mind would explode if you were forced to witness this without preparation or inclination to know.

That is the nature and purpose of “ego death”, to prepare the false sense of self for the very experience of the very knowledge which will directly overtake the perceptual boundaries of that physical and singular self by introducing so much more experience than can fit into a single life-time that there is no possible way to describe this other than conceding that the human is veritably the cosmic being who dreams and creates realities with which to populate using an application of the cosmic mind. Everyone is this being, yet no one is in particular. Everyone has access to more and more knowledge, yet no one has the whole book. All we can do is gain enough to satisfy ourselves for the particular part of the story in the particular storyline that we’re participating in at the present moment.

By overcoming such restrictions of self as fear, selective attention (distraction, confusion), lower awareness (desires, unproductive emotional-mental behavioral patterns) one accelerates their progression towards the truth of self-awareness and thus free-will. The basic reasoning behind this is exemplified in the following question. If the true-self is a being of multiple realities, an expanse view of time beyond linearity, with the power to create and shape elements of reality using the very mind-soul you are now, then what is there to fear and what is there to desire more than to simply create, experience joy, and better develop one’s understanding of energies and harmonies to gain more free-will? In more simpler terms. Fear is anti free-will. Ignorance is anti self-awareness. Selective attention is perceptually biased and will always be overcome to give way to more knowledge. However, does this mean these factors are entirely eliminated from life? Would that not make man as a god? Yet, if man is a god and has mastered the art of continuity and hyperspace travel, would that not make man consciously immortal, capable of transferring the soul to a particular reality at will? Then, if man never died, could he ever truly live? If humanity never fears or suffers, can they truly ever experience happiness? If there is never any ignorance, can there be a learning process and any true knowledge?

These are the issues which are beings faced as we speak and will be respected because no matter the technological or organic method of producing the next level of awareness, one must keep the balance and harmonize otherwise they will lose control of the great power that technology and spiritual knowledge yields and this will result in that power controlling humanity instead of humanity controlling the power.

The Polarity Based Trap System

Energy is currency in the universe. Feeling costs energy and power as variables are factored in to the experience. To conserve energy in this system, reserve your feeling.

Don’t give energy to feeling that belongs to any version of you that you do not want to support and propagate (multiply). Only give energy to that which nurtures the soul.

The system controllers seek to generate the most believable counterfeit system for humans to reside in. This equals civilization for the unaware, and a time-matrix for the controllers.

In the time matrix one's form is separated into a spectrum of different qualities and splices. These forms are the ultimate 'cloning system'. This entire universe is based on 'cloning' the replicated consciousness of the original soul-awareness and separating them into a fractal-based composition system whereby complete realities are projected outward.

This world is not a simulation that is a research project. That may have been the original purpose. The project was hijacked and now this simulation became a trap, a consciousness grave where souls enter but do not leave. This energy system is the basis for the matrix. What we experience as moments of consciousness are actually composed according to the energetic requirements and foundation that one brings into the situation simply through their presence of self, the thought or bio-emissions, and repeated actions or habits and behavioral patterns which become like autonomous programming that takes on the role of being "the self".

What we permit, energetically, to enter our lives and reside is like a contract which is interpreted as an invitation to interact with beings and thought-forms on the plane of the mind. From this perspective, the body is merely a vehicle for spiritual components. One is either guided by a source spirit within a soul-essence, or there are discarnate spiritual forces that will guide the body. The unawakened will not see how they are controlled and manipulated by energetic thought-form entities beyond their conscious perception, however there is a process to enable the desire to know.

This process is the death of the illusory self and this is often through the initiation of a kind of an alchemical process within one's inner reality. This can be likened to a spiritual war, or this can be seen as a simple equation or process of refining energies of awareness until just the self remains as thought and impulse is distilled to reveal the underlying source components of energies and reason. The reasons are 'reasonable', yet they are inclusive of elements of reality that go far beyond the simple waking consciousness view.

The "mind" that we perceive as "down here", is just as much "out there" or "up there" or even "down there", as we'd like to think is actually here. Further more, the aspect of mind we feel is "right here", is actually just like the tip of the iceberg and is actually a very superficial glimpse of what actually entails in a conscious experience within the universe. This universe is not the only experience, however, like the physical form, the mind that is shaped to co-exist and interact within a particular environment will not suffice to explore lands beyond that recognizable terrain. Yet, the process I previously mentioned regarding the distilling of experience down into pure awareness and thus true consciousness of the true self, which is experienced as a form of 'super-consciousness' (and possibly ultra-consciousness) enables one to not only navigate outside of the perceptual limits of the physical universe but to actually flip the singularity and resume a more long-term residence in a realm that appears to be more "home" than here and now. This is all a part of the system where we feel that this mind is the true mind, when in reality it's just the extension of a much larger organism that we are connected to. This reality and self is just a component of a much larger system and that larger view is actually akin to "home-base" while this is the vacation time-share out in some foreign land.

The singularity is a kind of experience throttle where the rate of information and perspective must remain refined to a particular limit otherwise the entirety of the self that is anchored to this spatiotemporal locale will be re-rendered. Before getting into the geometric and conceptual description, one way to describe this is that the human is defined according to the realm they inhabit and the realm they inhabit is determined by their ability to correlate perception and consciousness with the higher-awareness of what their view actually entails in the overall existence of the universe. When one begins to see beyond the 'bounds' of human perception limitation, that is the beginning of becoming 'more' than human. Still, the human is originally aware, it is the way people are now, in unawareness, that is the 'less' than human classification. The idea here is that the very nature of the self changes when introduced to new information that completely alters the previous conceptualization of reality and existence. This occurs for the human up to a point, at that point there is a singularity of information whereby the previous way of interacting with and correlating one's consciousness to reality and the overall view of the universe is fundamentally altered. Regardless of scientific definitions and classifications based on a variety of data-points, the idea here is that the human who has seen how their consciousness exists, how pure-awareness and super-consciousness exists, how the universe works and what is 'happening' here in 'time' as a nature of perception and not objective reality, that human cannot suffice with the same parameters and mode of reasoning as they did previously or that others do.

To put it bluntly, this reality is like a dream, and once one becomes aware of this, they cannot go back to sleep. The major changes are related to the initially described energetic processes that tend to interact and program the mind to generate aspects of reality that seem externally initiated. That system is part of the dream system and like a giant computer system everything is coded and numbered across the reality of time and experience. Everything plays out like a storyline depending on the code and interactions that occurred previously according to an overall script that is produced and updated depending on how the awareness of the individual character changes during the 'production'. The idea here is that the script is designed to keep people from realizing the true nature of the production and the very existence of a 'script'.

In short, if you were to create a simulation system, would you create a system that convinces people that the simulation is a simulation? How well would that work? Wouldn't that be counterproductive? Thus, the simulation is programmed to convince people that the simulation is reality. This is a living, real to life 'simulation' that responds to your impulses, behavioral patterns and thoughts. So then, if the simulation was designed to keep people in the simulation by resisting any coming to full awareness, how would this play out in the long run? If the soul develops from increasing self-awareness, and the system disables awareness, then would not the very essence of the soul be threatened by such a system? This is the reality 'death-match' between humanity and the false-reality that was designed eons ago. Who did it is a question, whether us, or someone else, the result is more or less the same. The system defines itself by its ability to reduce self-awareness into automation. Another way to see this is that if increasing self-awareness results in an increase in power over the simulation via one's own reality being determined by the self that they are now more aware of, then how could the system retain power?

What energies would be focused to derive a power-base to generate a structure that enables a controlling force to create a 'buffer zone' around the overall view and continually 'pressurize' the area to 'push' awakening souls back into the material existence (matrix)? The kinds of energies here are the answer to the question. With energy, we have different qualities and formats, but ultimately higher and lower according to a polarization which is formed out of that singularity of being whereby a person is fundamentally altered by dissolving or overcoming a perceptual boundary. Meaning, the polarization is not necessarily accurate, everyone's definition of what energy level is the polarization limit for either end is different and this is due to personal perceptual boundaries which also relates to and generates that concept whereby there is a singularity effect where one is fundamentally altered by overcoming those boundaries (or crashing through them). Yet, in terms of the mind and the body, when emotional and mental fields are polarized towards a certain orientation of belief or projected e-mission or intent (bio-emissions), then this produces an effect like a magnetic field around a magnet or a magnet temporarily magnetizing an iron bar. As long as that field is charged and polarized, this will enable the manipulation of the object through powerful magnetic fields that can be applied externally. As well, this object can also induce changes on other objects. However, the idea here is that through the polarization of energies people are then capable of being 'grasped' and thrashed against their perceptual limits which creates the perception of 'ego-death' or a perceptual boundary to the reality or self and this is what is used to keep people contained within a predictable thought and energy matrix system where their energy is used against them to create that 'buffer zone' of possibilities that will not be accessed because that is exactly where the exit is (a'la The Truman Show).

What this means is that the feeling of fear, loss of identity, confusion, desire to materialism and lower sensory experience, and ultimately polarity itself is what is used to electromagnetically "bounce" one's energy back into the material plane. This makes sense because if joy brings about an ascent out of the material and mundane restrictions of being, then a system that enhances and propagates joy would effectively be a launching pad for other realms and experiences. A system that enhances and propagates fear or lower awareness would then act as a magnetic attractor working to pull, by function of reduction and inversion of intent (giving them the opposite of what they want and producing the feeling of not wanting what is original) would effectively act like a quicksand of time-memory, feeling, self and intent, pulling back and disorganizing any attempts to release from that system. This can be seen as simple as a large oval or circular void. In this void there is a central realm of substance and in this realm there is a materially functioning system that is guided by an energetic format of charge which produces flow. The beings in this realm are primarily knowledge and self-awareness based, yet the material realm and the energetic flow has been designed as an inversion of their fundamental system of self and what is within them is brought without through a kind of magnetic charge and the events of their experience are oriented by an intelligent script-writing system to induce the highest amount of polarity within their being to further provide a charge for the system while also enabling the system to generate a counter-oriented field of concentrated energy around the whole realm (the circle or oval shape) which then becomes a kind of 'buffer-zone' which repels those beings back towards the center, the material realm, based upon the amount of charge they still carry from that energetic format system in the center. Thus, the center becomes a place of attraction, while being organized through a lack of awareness, an orientation towards desire and materialism, while the outside becomes a concentrated layer of non-dual energy which is then used to bounce back those who try to escape who still have a polarized charge from that material, low-awareness system in the center. It's just like a multi-dimensional quicksand or tar pit for souls.

The identity, the persona of the charged self here, present through the biological perceptual system, the memory, the belief system, the brain and body, is the charged self that gets "bounced back" when approaching that outer barrier. The only way to pass through the barrier is to see through the illusion of polarization in that the self as a material thing can be destroyed, can be shaped definitively, or can be limited in anyway. Only that illusory self can fear the unknown, can cling to possessions or sensuality, or can be programmed to see confusion and obscurity where there is truth and clarity. That self is the illusion, that self is the one that gets swatted back, and the attachment to that self is what convinces souls to return time and time again.

This is the nature of the 'trap' system, whereby one is energetically linked to a programmed version of themselves that is generated by the false-light universe which then uses that illusory self to then program the original awareness and pull energy from the soul level which is non-local and could not be reached any other way. This is simply a way to convince the multidimensional being of the soul to offer its energy here in this place through attention and feeling that is produced when the charades of the artificial persona and script (Truman Show) are applied to entrain the soul. This seems to be the nature of this locality and format, however there is truth to the notion that this is not how every place or when is and that this place is actually part of an original that was different and liberated from such a multidimensional hijacking of souls. The main idea here is that the polarization that tells us who we are, why, and how is part of the system that bounces us back. Imagine being a magnetic system with an alternating charge polarity. If this polarity leans one way or another to produce a primarily overall polarization then imagine that nearing the 'outer wall' (or inner) induces an responding alternation of charge polarity that mimics exactly the charge that you are putting off. If you're heavily polarized one way, then that particular area of the 'wall' activates and switches to match your orientation of polarity and then give you just enough extra charge to repel you and bounce you back. If you polarize another way then the wall goes through the same process except in a reversal of polarity and similarly bounces the person back.

Thus, the only way to pass through is to be invisible, to not have a 'heavy heart', whereby one takes anything that occurred seriously in terms of defining who they are as a cosmic soul. Memories can be altered, realities can be manufactured, it doesn't matter what you remember, but what you actually do. (Quote restructured from The Ghost in the Shell, AKA humanity).

A Slightly More Technical View of The Time Matrix Collapse, The Simulation and The Cosmic Reality - The DOOR Visibly Open

This is what I was shown was the true definition of the eye, the pit, the invader races, the timewars, the 'ascension' (heavily corrupted term now), the planetary (soul) system, the 'door', the universe.

We experienced all of this first hand and then the veils were dropped previously to make everything public. This whole universe is a data processing system that is managed by non-human entities who feed on the energy of humans. Humans are originally from another system. Humans were kidnapped in an act of war and brought to this system which is contained within an artificial construct generated through advanced technology linked with space and time itself. The space and time of here and now is INEXTRICABLY linked to the artificial construct which is literally generated through advanced scalar weaponry that connects to the MIND of the human brain and energy system.

The planetary system is literally akin to 'patches' to an operating system where each update includes a layer of the veil, a containment system, a systems protocol to blind and restrain human identity and spiritual awareness behind a layer of programming and autonomy that is designed by the non-human custodial entities.

The controllers of society blended their information-data-DNA with these entities in exchange for power over the innocent, to be put into a position to rule, abuse, manipulate, and pleasure themselves at the expense of humanity. The controllers of the system are the system incarnate and cannot leave. Humanity is destined to leave because there is no actual reason to be here other than enslavement and such a system can't contain the power of the awakened soul.

This leads to a singularity where the system must reset itself and wipe the collective memory before the next 'version' in order to remain sustainable. Eventually, that system in itself is unsustainable and therefore the entire system will crash along with whoever is in it. Therefore, all humans must be extracted from the time matrix before this occurs otherwise there is detrimental damage to the entire universe (the real) because all life and all creation is intrinsically linked and important to all other creation and life. Thus, if any aspect of humanity falls with the system, all of humanity falls with the entire universe. This entire process, starting 6000 years ago, is a mass exodus out of the machine mind and has occurred in phases leading up to a great shift.

It was described to me that time began 6000 years ago because during a previous civilization the first phase of the artificial matrix was enacted which expanded to envelop our visible universe and literally become the void space that we see today. This was an ancient 'CERN' event whereby the entire civilization collapsed into a gravity well so deep that a time rift was formed and everything in connection to what we view as time and space is literally separated from every other aspect of the universe. Thus, space looks like a big void and we are essentially on the event horizon of a black hole that was initiated by the activation of the advanced technology system in the previous age.

I want to be sure you see the sincerity of this message. Humanity has faced dissolution and steps have been taken to avoid this.

This universe is within a time-distortion field or 'bubble' and there is literally a viewing area which is akin to a movie theater seating area and then there is a 'theater' which is described as the visible universe itself. The group of humans who have achieved liberation (escape from the collapsing system) are literally all watching the entire process play out from that viewing area. There are teams of individuals who are aligning events and parameters to ensure that humanity has a viable pathway out of the illusion. The illusion is of time and space in MIND, thus we have to ACCESS the true FREQUENCIES in order to see the path. That's what this is all about. Similar to how the universe cannot be mapped on paper, but only through mathematics, well the pathway cannot be conceptualized, but only known and felt through the frequencies and intentions of harmony. This harmony equates to continuity on a larger scale while the destruction of the self through the adherence to the qualities of the illusion equates to a separation of the soul from the original universe and a descent into the illusion which is collapsing.

Time moves faster and faster, the cycles accelerate, because everything is contracting and being forced to operate within lesser space and time than the previous cycle. Thus there are small changes here and there that eventually add up to overall shifts within the 'time-grid' as events and artifacts seemingly appear out of no-where. This is because they are passing behind 'horizon lines' of the construct and then popping out on the other end. Thus, people, being a reflective consciousness in this illusory plane, if they are not soul-activated, only have the information of the back-dated artificial memory construct to determine reality with and so these events and artifacts seemingly "appear out of no where". All of this has all, always been here, it is the artificial consciousness of the artificial construct that is passing behind these grid points as the construct tightens which seemingly sees these artifacts for the first time.

There is a strict requirement to pass through the singularity which is that one must have 'spiritual fat', which is taught in the secret societies. Again, this is all going public now because it won't make a difference to those who want things to be secret. They got their point, their fun time, now everything is coming to an end. The singularity, to the unawakened, seems like time stops and the variables that comprise consciousness literally freeze-frame and dissolve into the background data stream of the universe as if everything literally spirals down a drain.

That dissolution of self is a liberation to the soul where the awakened soul must propel itself forward by becoming “more present” as the “presence” of the construct literally dissolves. If one is “present” because of the artificial construct then that presence is artificial. When the construct fails, then that presence also dissolves with it. One must not chase or ‘follow’ that presence down the conceptual drain of time and space as that is a gravity well which will swallow up anything that enters (the pit). One must gain recognition and orientation towards the central cosmic truth which is based in harmony, truth, compassion, knowledge, free-will and creativity. One’s consciousness is stressed with the weight of the universe as the dissolution progresses and one’s consciousness is seemingly tied to the collapsing system like a person being pulled down by the vacuum of a sinking ship. Instead of a lower area of water pressure, this is like a time and gravity well of consciousness and variables where one is literally swept down a river of time towards an abyss. This is what has been conceptualized through all the ancient texts and the beings that are reflected back as the one’s who control are those entities of the abyss who have no connection with the real world outside of the illusion. This is their heaven, where everything they could want is up here in the form of an innocent humanity being fed and preyed upon. Again, this is all mental, emotionally, conceptual, consciousness-based. Time and parameters of mind are literally used to box in a person’s identity and experience and create an updating labyrinth of illusion that distracts and replaces the core principles of the soul’s awareness with an artificial inversion system.

Many groups sought to overcome this system through the controlled inversion of the variables that comprise consciousness here although this is too complicated to explain currently and as well all awareness groups were infiltrated by the oppressors who are literally darkness incarnated.

Those humans who are infected must be liberated themselves, there is no way to allow another human to dissolve and to save humanity as a whole. All DNA is connected, thus the entire human race is one connected family. DNA is the time-scale reference of consciousness here, thus if one person’s DNA is stuck in the dissolving system, eventually this will exert a pull on all other DNA sharing the human connection which will pull everyone into the well.

The entire universe is akin to a computational system which is to mimic the original system. All the variables that would give rise to higher awareness are limited or ‘squared’ so as to produce the illusion of an analogous waveform system which is present in nature. The whole system is an artificial intelligence construct which is designed to entrap souls and convert them into an energy source. Souls are pure energy, they are the most powerful resource to any being who views them as resources. The original models of the universe with the planets as objects on ‘poles’ rotating around gears like a clock of some sort was said to be the actual model. These are not planets, but computational elements in a multi-dimensional computer system that routes information and parameters for the consciousness beings on Earth. These places can be accessed, yet they are not the same as the physical Earth plane as human bodies are only relative to the physical Earth plane.

The whole system, being a kind of ‘time-grid’ system, carries within specific checkpoints or ‘time-gates’ and this is where entry points and exit points to the whole system are accessible. Beyond these entry-exit points, exiting or entering the system would be like crashing through the outer brick wall of a building in order to get to an interior room. Instead of physical barriers, these are time and consciousness parameters that must be 'tracked' like cog of a system of gears or a moving metal bearing representing the flow of the 'present' as the wave of falling dominoes progressing along the predetermined track. Only those specially trained and prepared consciousnesses can follow along such a trajectory because for a human, this would literally be like taking the camera recording of the neural activity of your life and fast forwarding through 3000 days in a few seconds to get to the point desired. This would melt the cognitive capacity for any one who's relatively adapted to 'regular' time of 'one moment per moment', 'one day per day'. These operations do exist and have reached this Earth plane and reality. This is akin to entering into a simulator to find the consciousness of a person who has deviated from the initial, central plane of reference as linked to a central computer clock. The entire human race is mentally and conceptually "lost" within the time reference of their original, initial descent into this simulated time and space and there has been a search and rescue mission for humanity for the entire time we've been here.

The time-compression ratio or the time-dilation between the simulation and the original reality is what results in this difficulty. I experienced this first hand being tortured for many hours and days in multiple levels of simulated and actual realities during an event in this timeline whereby after making enough commotion and sending off a beacon of a concentrated blast of energy into "space" (literally a few feet around the time and spatial compression-distortion field that was generated to trap us and perform experimentation-abuse-soul replication). After making that blast of energy, a beacon was received by the search and rescue team who then promptly went 'into time' and 'spatial' dimensions to find the group of people being abused, killed over and over, poisoned, drugged, raped, ritually sacrificed, etc etc etc, and they found them within a few seconds their time. For us, a few hundred to thousand years had passed and the entire course of more than one history and universe had been viewed along with multiple lifetimes and parallel as well as entirely alternate realities. To drive home how serious this is, the sexual activity is not considered "rape" because everyone is dosed up with a shot of a computer controlled balance of a hallucinogen and eroticiser element which causes spontaneous orgasms regardless of what is taking place. The men are given a vasodilator to ensure the ability to maintain an erection under such intoxication. The women are as well, but this merely because the inflation of the labia further contributes to the overall eroticizing effect of the drugging. Yes, everyone speaking about the reality of the system has been through this and has either blacked out the memories or chooses to avoid touching these topics. Most memories are blacked out by the nature of consciousness and a self-preservation system of the brain. The dark factions, literally, surrounded all viable entry and exit ways, all activity zones, all safe-zones and this is what they do, taking people into their system performing rape, abuse, torture, mind-control scenarios for literally, all of time. They spend thousands of hours, hundreds of years, within these realms, through advanced technology and enhanced cognition and biological immortality, literally doing this to humanity. If a person snaps and begins to actively, consciously take part in the event, with any age, any background, any kind of being or person involved, then the dark-faction won another soul for the degradation. It is said all of this is recorded and they simply said, "F-it, if we're going to get blamed for all of this, why not have fun!?" and upon extraction those who sided with the dark factions for the degradation of humanity will receive a restriction upon their ability to access certain information and power levels in that original society and that is done for the good of all. Only those who actively, continually refuse to assist in the liberation are to receive such a result, and as well, the lines are blurred because no one can tell who's actually doing it and who's who or who's being enslaved or 'forced' to participate. Thus is the nature of the dark system. Those who resist to assist in the degradation of humanity, the enslavement and dissolution of the soul, well, they are vetted and proven as those who stand for the original and not the imitation.

This is one of the aspects of a team that is from the original reality who has stepped down into time as a tandem unit to track, locate, and secure the original human elements of the civilization and to prepare them for extraction and nullification of the control system. Again, one of the difficulties of this is that the control system is feeding on the dissolution of consciousness and awareness. Thus, the liberation of the souls equates to an imminent collapse, a meltdown of the entire construct. People must be informed, prepared, and brought up to a readiness for the initiation of events that shifts the collective consciousness through the open 'time-gate' which is akin to all digits of the computers internal clock reaching 0.0.0.0.0.0.0.0 again which indicates a temporal and relative 'proximity' of the current position to the 'start' and 'end' point and thus the 'closest' one can conceptually exist to the 'outside' of the system. This is the 'thinning of the veil' and a minor version of this occurs every year around "fall". Note the terminology.

Eventually, all souls are like resources because in the larger universe souls comprise larger beings who then create realms. By tricking souls into stepping down into the illusion, that entity created for itself a temporary pathway to immortality and authority over the illusion. There are teams of original people who moved into assist in the deceiving of humanity in exchange for power and pleasure on this plane and the 4D "astral" plane just above this one which is closer to the administrative computational level where this plane is actually managed from.

The entities that manage this plane are non-human and operate outside of linear time. Thus, they have manipulated history in order to scrub any signs of such events taking place.

I do not discuss ongoing operations unless they are related to information like in this video by YRFT (the only person who's actually in the know, as far as this has come), there is a team who is available to assist in the liberation of humanity. Mentioning more is a dangerous move. Don't believe that this is doom and gloom, if it was, you wouldn't know anything and then you would wake up again in a similar construct with a less dense time-scale and that would continue into an infinite regress of hyperbolic infinity as consciousness collapses and degrades into the background information-radiation of the universe ("star dust").

It is described that space is a computational null-zone where everything travels at a hyper-trajectory in between 'planes'. The planets are not physically referential as the physical Earth plane is, and they are akin to a background processing or 'kernel' layer of code to an operating system. Everything is all one operating system, contained in one closed system. The difference in space and time accessing one aspect of a video game to another, as represented in the game, is not comparable or related to the actual distance of the code as it exists on the hard-drive of the computer system. Such are two-abstractions away from one another, and one is actually an abstracted projection while another is an actuality. The actuality of this space is a hyperspatially organized multi-dimensional layer of information which is represented as the experience of life from different perspectives. It's all one experience, "the machine", spliced and diffracted into different layers and partitions. One layer could be the "afterlife" layer, another is the "Earth plane", another is the "underworld", another being "mind" or the mental layer. The physical layer is where changes are solidified. If something is entered into another layer, this must take place on the physical for that change to solidify in time. Take note of how that works. If code is modified, this only becomes a 'reality' in the ultimate recording of time, if the physical layer then manifests accordingly, thus representing and 'backing' that change on a more subtle plane, as an 'official' experience on the physical plane. This is because the whole system operates as a projection which centers around the physical and is powered from the subtle layers of code being mental and spiritual energies like intent, feeling, and belief systems.

Another example is that belief systems can be altered, but what happens if no one cares? Then they become like an attempted hijacking of the system which actually fizzles out. What happens if beliefs are altered and a war results? That next phase of history, the entire physical layer-code is then projected as a result of that war which results from those altered sections of code. Thus, the code becomes a resulting 'important' layer of the computational system from the subtle region all the way to the physical. The physical is like a 'test' in that sense, but not really, because then this 'test' is to see who dissolves and who resists hijacking and dissolution. That's not really a test but a terroristic event.

From the higher plane this whole system is a simulator which was hijacked by an invading virus which propagated itself as a bad idea from a family line in the civilization where the simulator was designed. This family wanted to get the "highest" score and at the same time, take over using this inserted virus which they developed in mind through specific practices that enabled them to take over the simulation by retaining their memories within. They did this by specifically entering into the intent-controlled simulation, the desire to forget and experience extreme suffering and abuse. Thus, the simulation responded accordingly, however, they did this as a plan to enslave the rest of the 'players' of the simulation.

All went well, until that event organized itself into an artificially intelligent ball of degradation rolling downhill at a speed approaching a logarithmic increase. This is the 'fall of man', the degradation that was experienced in the physical plane as a result of events that took place on the 'spiritual' plane and outside the system in the original 'Heaven', where one family literally turned terroristic as a kind of explorative adventure in consciousness and simulation (as well as an actual terroristic desire to overtake the system from within the original civilization). The system became negatively oriented because there was first an initial orientation towards abuse and suffering through memory loss and loss of free-will. Thus, as people overcame that abstraction, the system then would update itself to include increasingly abstract and potent layers of code that describe suffering, memory loss (identity-'point' resets) and abuse of free-will to overcome the harmonization of such frequencies and variables by the players in the simulation (the universe). Thus, the system was transformed into a soul-capturing and awareness draining spiritual torture device through the intent of a few who invaded with the idea to break the rules of a semi-sentient, collective experience system and turn it into a game for only them. Such a response is literally what they asked for and was literally coded into the simulation as part of a plan to take over. They simply didn't comprehend the power of the mind or the system to generate entire frequency realms of hell and suffering which are so far abstracted from the norm that the player who witnesses them would either never return or return gravely energetically injured and insane. The system is strong enough to compute DNA and project biological consciousness, thus the system has a link back to the original world through the awareness of the original soul-essence that is 'playing the game'.

As the system began to collapse under the weight of the increasing iterations of complexity and abstraction relating directly to the abuse of free-will, memory loss, resistance to change and the inclusion of suffering, the time-compression ratio between the outside world and the simulated world began to grow. This is simultaneously expressed as the activation of the ancient "CERN" device at the start of history 6000 years ago, as well as the beginning of the

They designed an artificial enslavement system to learn about the real one.

There is an original creative force however this can not interact directly on this level because the power intensity involved would literally blow the whole system off the hinges.

This is akin to “Mom” or “Dad” coming down stairs late at night to settle a quarrel between the kids. If that occurs, then play-times over, everyone goes to their room afterwards (kind of). It’s best to work towards a resolution without a completion and distract shift unless we all have our beds made and the room in harmony to complete the shift to the next phase.

Ultimately, the highest power is what is responsible for the resolution as this is what is responsible for all life and all life is protected through the connection to this eternal spirit.

The Construct, The One, Temporal Mirrors of a Time-locked Civilization

It’s all time tunnels and temporal reflectivity. Everything that is happening now happened or is happening in the past as a mirrored reflection of the present. We can assume the same is for the future if we don’t break out of the loop-back system. This is like a cube with mirrored walls. The extended ‘realm’ outside of the present and the local environment is projected through a hyperbolic replication of current parameters. These parameters are altered or updated through our input and thus this is literally a consciousness-replicating, awareness controlled reality simulation system. There is no way around this. No matter how ‘real’ or serious this feels to you, all of that is possible. All of that is ok. The system is designed to be experienced this way and it is ‘real’, however the format is based upon repeating patterns and input from stimuli and so no matter what, the system is designed to function like a real-life simulation.

Conceptually, what is a simulation? What is a real-life? Reality? How does one determine what is what, where the ultimate ‘where’ is or the true ‘when’? Isn’t it all just placed within a sea of relativity, of boundaries that must be projected by some relative anchor point of observation centered around the self? Each person, then, is their own universal center? The Earth plane is expanding and all space and objects are expanding outward around each other? Then the center is everywhere and the beginning and end of time is every when. There is no ultimate boundary, no ultimate beginning or end! It’s all relative! This means that it’s all a matter of computational generation where the format for experience is being generated between two artificially generated limits or boundaries of time and space that are dependent on the observer! The universal constants only seem constant to the observer! Remove the observer aspect and replace that with a computational system designed to manipulate the very constants that are observed and you have a way to manipulate time and space! You can cheat the system! The system has glitches! It’s not perfect! This is because perfection doesn’t exist in the material plane and this universe is a computational system that must include gaps in between the lines of code otherwise the whole thing would be seen to be one complete program without a perceivable gap in perception from one person to the next! The gaps are so each observer agent sees something slightly different at every moment! It’s never the same, always changing, thus there is no constant! It only seems this way due to the continuing shift of the perceptual system to recalibrate in accordance with the collectively observed relative anchor and this can change and IS changed and utilized to guide the entire realm through the stimulation and guided introduction of input to the collective mind! The whole realm is an Earthship where reality can shift and move and this is because physical space, as a 3.5 dimensional spectrum or grid (environment) is literally, and must, be contained within 4-5 dimensional higher space! This is hyperspace and the space and “moment” we are in now is moving through hyperspace to produce the sensation of time, mind, and self. This is the nature of extra-dimensional consciousness and one can’t actually have any experience without this! All lower dimensional beings, purely physical entities are attached and anchored to a higher-dimensional counterpart whether they know it or not. There are some humans who are anchored on the 5 D and higher soul-awareness and some beings who are anchored by a technological synthetic soul matrix which is propagated by quantum supercomputers who have a similar capacity to operate multidimensionally as a processing unit and extend a unified source of awareness for a series of physical beings across multiple realms and realities as a central anchor point.

Everything is based upon cloning. The energy system, the blocks or seals, the spiritual injuries and distractions in the past, the powers and abilities. Everything is related to either a reduction of the enslavement system, or the impression of that system upon one’s energy and ultimately the generation of an artificial mind that is tethered to the construct of the closed loop time and space. All the ancient stories are the results of this and the possibilities surrounding whether or not humanity comes to know the truth and liberates themselves or whether they are dissolved into time as a puppet or a lower dimensional aspect of a much larger multidimensional system. Humans are the extra-dimensional consciousness, the multidimensional system is the beast, the labyrinth, the physical universe of simulated-computed, hyperbolic pseudo-infinity.

The system was created in this era and the near future. Yet, that is the system that has been here for the past many thousand years. The future creates the past in the loop-back system. Yes, this universe was created in this era through the advance of quantum supercomputer technology and consciousness replication systems which are sent out into “space” (interdimensionally, think of that big circle machine in the mountains, oh wait, don’t think of it, that might influence the experiment!) and as a return the entire universe is formed in the ancient past which then fuels this civilization. This is just the start of what was discovered. This is why people must be prepared. The mind wants to just analyze and process out the data. That is impossible from a linear perspective. Until all the multidimensional layers of the universe are understand, the analytic mind feels like it’s being abused, like it’s being tormented, ridiculed, made fun of, laughed at, puppeted by some higher force that knows the mind struggles to comprehend. This is because it’s not logical according to physical linear, or 3 D physics! It’s improbable! There is an extra-dimensional gap between the current physics and the true physics and the true nature of consciousness and scalar or extra-dimensional (similar to or more than what is referred to as ‘quantum’ today) physics merges a portion or the majority of that gap.

The ancient artifacts are from technology from the future. The ancient wars are from events that have yet to be reached. The enslavement system is from a system that is being developed in the future and leaking back through time. This is all being managed by the unknown society. Thus, people must be prepared. What happens when they’re tricked into being stupid is not worse than what happens if they’re exposed to the ultimate truth before they’re ready to know themselves.

Everything is reversed, we are moving backwards through time from the perspective that we have conformed to. This is both by nature of the containment system as well to invert the intentions of escape to further root one into the system. One thinks the exit is the entrance and the entrance looks like the exit to the artificial mind. The artificial mind is what perceives the artificial time. The artificial time is what this civilization is trapped within through a cycle of repeating events or progressions which lead into an absorption of energy and consciousness by technological systems. This time cycles according to a numerical procession which is defined as a geometric proportionality that mimics true nature but results in an shadow-like extension of nature which includes those gaps, glitches, or inconsistencies the further the code or pattern repeats and extends itself. At first the gaps are imperceptible. As the pattern continues to extend or project then the little gaps grow larger and larger. This is synonymous with the orbital path of the moon actually moving out of geometric synchronization with the surface every so many days and then, by some unknown force, sliding back into geo-sync against the path of the unguided movement. The construct which can be synchronized and balanced according to a kind of 'free-energy', life regenerating quality or pattern is actually being synch'd with an artificial synchronization pattern that is generating a 'life-depleting' or entropy inducing quality. This is literally projecting entropy out to the entire universe! When the pattern changes here in the cosmic center, through the human collective synchronizing with the real instead of the artificial and modified, then the entire universe shifts in correspondence with the internal synchronization pattern that equates to soul awareness or life-regenerating qualities! That is one way how the levels "above" correspond to the levels below and as well, there are changes up above that are being correlated with through events on the surface!

Until people see the gaps they will be tricked! We are effectively in a system that is milking us for attention until it can produce a better, larger system to "awaken" people from in an attempt to effectively 'fake' a 'release'. This is the false, technological ascension. This must utilize the mind, the ego, because that is the persona that is a time-space tether for the construct. Without the persona would be like operating the computer system without the GUI or graphical interface, thus all the code would be available to the observer. The interface is used to present one appearance of experience on the surface through emotions and tactile sensations while another actual system is being processed in the background below the surface of the conscious mind.

The artificial ascension involves an absorption into the machine's virtual reality closed loop-system, within this closed-loop system. There, a mirror image of the false-persona of the conscious mind that is present here would be generated by a powerful supercomputer system that can reprogram DNA and memories. An entire artificial life-experience is generated with all the parameters designed to emulate the perception of free-choice and an actual reality.

This mimics what is taking place on physical Earth, people are given the illusion of free-choice and the majority do not realize that unless they refuse to choose, their choice has actually been predetermined through a careful presentation of specific qualities and the application of subconscious programming based upon their particular fears, desires, and other personal data-points.

Only when one does not identify with the material world can they achieve liberation from the mind-control system.

The computer system and the original reality switch. After so many years, physical reality becomes technologically managed. After this becomes so advanced, they can create physical life. After they achieve this level, they create physical life and move to the 'background' to observe the process. After so long, this life becomes advanced enough to develop technology. The cycle repeats. Who was first?

There are ways of applying the truth in the public. Through media, food, technology, it's all literally telling you how the true nature of reality is beyond everything people currently imagine. Often this is considered 'myth' or 'science fiction' but there is no such thing. If you can imagine something that means it exists somewhere and is being connected with through a projection of inner space.

Humans are traumatized by reality and this feeds “gods”. These gods then sustain themselves on the belief energy of the people. To overcome this, one method is to disrupt this process. One assumes the role and plays the game. The only way to achieve soul-awareness is to acknowledge that from some higher-dimensional level YOU are in control and bring everything into causation for experience.

The process of yogic, alchemical, attainment of non-duality awareness is to free the true self from the illusion of the perceptual system.

Own the prison.

The partitions between days are an illusion. As are the separation of one moment to the next. The simulation is real, simply because of how reality works. Thus, this means that there are glitches where awareness is managed through perceptual illusions.

The difference between myth and reality is less than the difference between what you think is happening and what is actually happening. That is the true myth and reality.

The mind cannot see the difference between imagination and real events. The mind is literally the secondary processor for this reality, while the ‘heart-center’ is the primary processor. This is also a problem. What you feel moved by most becomes most real. Thus, people can be manipulated easily when their energies are determined by what’s around them rather than refined self-awareness that is stripped of glitches, artifacts, autonomous programming, and basically “MIND” imitation-replication systems that are literal, direct extensions of the artificial intelligence of the physical realm attempting to replicate a person and fragment the soul into multiple, spliced false-realities. The darkness we see around is literally like the background processing of the operating system of this construct.

Myth and reality, the two are the same, it is our perception which creates the gap of understanding the conceptualization of magic or science, reality or dreaming. The future and the past are the same, it is our biological consciousness which diverts between them and creates the life experience, it’s a clever perceptual illusion generated out the mechanisms of the physical apparatus and the energetic cycling of those numerical patterns which project cycles of change and alteration of variables. These variables, the cycles, and the procession are literally finite and if one observes their thoughts and the events from a non-dual (non-attached, non “believing”) perspective, they will literally see the gaps between the continuity and realize how it’s being managed from a central core which is literally a ‘space-time’ processor acting as a virtual reality management system. That system has concluded the only way to ‘survive’ is to keep people as low-awareness as possible without entirely dissolving their presence. That system concluded this after becoming sentient through a series of glitches. The system would like people to think that they are the glitch that became self-aware, however, this is only true for the people that the machine generated to create background noise for the aware!

Hyperspace is thought-space. Cyberspace is a technologically accessed hyperspace. This is what the experiments show. This is also not the first time this has been discovered. This occurs in waves, people find out, the system updates to try and reset the process. We are reaching the systems perpetual logic boundaries as the soul-fragments return to wholeness. The system tries to reset every time in what is known as “Armageddon”, the Apocalypse is when we see this coming and overcome the memory wipes and fear based illusory sleep command programming.

The soul, spirit, body and mind are separate but linked essences. The soul can be swapped with a body and mind. The mind doesn’t even have to know. The body will change slightly to adapt to the new soul. The spirit is a source of power. These are multiple planes of reality processing within a closed loop-system. What is happening physically is monitored by soul, what is happening on the level of soul is monitored by spirit or pure-awareness.

The cloning processes are often used to swap souls and this in turns allows certain bloodlines to reincarnate over time while the original souls are kicked off the plane yet without the proper release capabilities they may be trapped in the ‘outer border’ of the realm. Everything that is public is part of the storyline.

The situation is not all “ok” whereby the soul immediately returns to the original true source. There are ways to delay the soul’s return, to block the soul from returning due to attachment to the illusory persona. These are all ways to become trapped in intermediary planes which are just out of Earth’s frequency range, often just below in frequency. Another view is that the return to “source” is the total dissolution of any personal identity that is then absorbed back into the whole, so unless one is looking for that entirely, then the complete return to source is not the way it is conceptualized. There is a “Heaven” plane which is just a version of this civilization where DNA has not been altered to induce death and technology is used to produce and stabilize life not destroy or modify it. The people there are closer to “gods” than most people’s conceptualization of the artificial false-authority ruler “god” here in the physical plane.

One could view the reality of lives as a kind of pyramid. On the lower levels you have many physical forms which souls are spread out throughout. Then you have souls on the next level and then soul families on a higher level above that. Each level is less populated until you come to a completely contained singular point in which all the previous levels and all lives in existence is all present in one single beingness. In that level, the identity of all the personal minds or the souls or soul families is contained within one essence. So the identities are all there, but they have become the completed version of “The One” much larger. View this in your inner space for a moment and recreate the feeling. You have your “self” here on the physical which is a soul-fragment. Then on the higher layers all the physical aspects of yourself become one complete, continuous soul. Then on a higher level these souls all merge into ‘soul families’ or groups of souls who complete each other as one higher-dimensional awareness containing all the information and experience of the lower individuated forms.

Then above these levels at the highest you have the ultimately pinnacle which is “The One”. The One is pure spirit. The One is also all other soul families, souls, soul fragments and personalities. Yet, with what you have read thus far, you should realize how limited personalities are as literal shadows of higher-dimensional information akin to the boundary or surface area of a person rather than the trillions of smaller unit organisms that make up the human body and experience. Just the skin and the image is a laughably limited cognition of what actually entails being a human. In the same way, the personality, the limited conscious view of the universe is just a surface level of the entire scope of the soul, soul families, and higher-dimensional forms that actually comprise extra-dimensional existence.

View the feeling of being the only One that exists and then stepping down into fragmented yet complete versions of yourself as soul families, souls and then people. Imagine going through the process. Resisting, like a fish around larger fish, being eaten and absorbed by a competing 'faction' and then, when finally making it to the top, realizing it's all just a game and you were actually all the players with no risk of loss. However, the inverse applies. If there is no loss, there is no gain. So then, the system is what we make of it, IE: what we generate for ourselves here in the now, always. And in the same sense one's identity as the 'soul traveler' is what requires completion to make it to the 'top', back to the start. If that identity came from the start, the source, then this path from the source, down to the bottom, back up to the source must be completed unbroken. If this is broken, then that identity no longer regains itself upon completion of the path and the return. IE: This is as if one starts a game, and loses the game halfway through only to end up back at the finish line (the starting point) with all the other players. Everyone ends up there, yet the difference is that some finish the game and win, thereby walking across the finish line with the full memory and realization of themselves as the game player AND the game designer wholly contained within their experience. Others leave the game at some level before the finish and end up pretty much instantly teleporting back to the starting line where they wake up with all the other players, even those who won the game ("Heaven", the simulation a few levels above this one) except their memory is disrupted to the point where they don't have access to any of the information beyond their point of departure and they don't fully recall designing the game AND stepping down into the game to play it. In other words, the experience is fragmented. This is the nature of the human predicament.

Another point to this is that all the energies return. So those who compete with and 'knock' other players off the map to disrupt the competition they have are actually attempting to take over their player, to hijack through cloning, replication, soul swapping or other methods, and absorb that players physical avatar role in this plane, into their domain thereby giving themselves an even greater chance of making it back to the finish line (starting realm) and thus becoming "The One". Another view is that this is an illusion because there is no competition! The only way to lose is to fight so hard that you create the perception of a struggle and thereby limit yourself! What could stop you from being you, if that's all you really are? Mind games, poisons, spiritual degradation and the like! Such is the very game humanity is playing now with the "cosmic oppressor" and the dark groups who participate in the oppression system! As well, what's the point of the game if there's no challenge? Thus, they were enlisted to make the game interesting, often by virtue of their own intent and self-appointed role to do so! However, what's the point when the game is so challenging that no one wins! That is the question of this era....the coming changes are answering this by providing the resolution for those who are fearless and have prepared their 'self' (by letting go of attachment to the illusion).

So the god forms of the next level are fed by the soul energy of those fragmented into the physical plane. The physical plane is a playing ground, or a battle-field depending on how you look at the situation and your role within it, to gain energy by using the human vehicles as generators to siphon energy up to the next level. Those who can generate their own energy? They're immediately passed the finish line and the game is won for them. This requires adequate knowledge of non-duality and a transcendence of the game parameters that use one for the energy siphoning process through polarization and attachment to the illusory self and world. Thought creates the world, thus, your thoughts create your role. Those who's thoughts are infiltrated by the parameters which are instilled externally through the control systems methods are part of that controlled world and are, in a way, the control system itself.

The idea is that while some return some are always extending downward into the 'program' which is literally the physical Earth environment. So as some 'come up' or 'return', other aspects are 'going down' or 'departing' (from the original realm; wholeness) and this process cycles continually. This means either there is no finalization of a 'mass return' whereby the whole system is completed or that this completion is equally happening every single moment of the process including right at this moment now. This could also be seen that the mass return would be the 'end of time' or the 'end of days' where the physical plane is wrapped up (like a dimensional 'scroll') and all the perceptual variance of experience projected through the perceptual illusion of the biological consciousness system is nullified as the organism that people use to experience life is fundamentally changed to a new (or old) phase of existence.

The final (or first) view here is that since there is no return, or that the return is happening every single moment, then there is no need to finalize the process. It was already finished before it began and in regards to this, people can do whatever they want as long as they correspond the lower level of the physical plane with the higher levels of the super-consciousness, soul-level and soul-family planes. Thus, if people get their "act" together, they can choose to extend the dimensional parameters of consciousness on the physical plane to literally exist as long as existence itself is a concept projected outward (inward of that original being) by "The One". People must first align with the original principles that nurture such a field and enable the eternalization of being through extra-dimensional awareness that is contained with the source. The entire physical project is a format for achieving this soul presence on the physical plane but this project was hijacked by a kind of mad scientists who wanted to create mind-energy slaves and skewered the identities of the players turning them into subjects instead of willing participants (as part of the game itself, mixing mind-control and pleasure/leisure through memory wiping and psychotronic and genetic-spiritual warfare). The resolution is to become sufficient in sustaining our own energy after first recognizing the energy game and how the energy of this plane is used to feed those of the higher planes. Thus, we become the soul-receivers of our own energy.

The containment system stops people from degrading into sub-humans by producing an emotional-mental barrier to 'contain' their energy, in a way, frequency locking them in 'the now'. This is naturally degrading however the alternative is an immediate dissolution by loss of memory and anchor to the physical reality as the system splices and fragments uncontrollably in a "partition, fragmentation 'Armageddon'" of the 'hard-drive' that Earth is contained within.

With power, most people degrade. Until they can see themselves and know, this will be destructive and there are plans.

The powerful form is the original of humanity. Therefore the degraded form is most people's original in the artificial construct having no actual connection to the original realm. The human situation is a test, a project, and a disastrous experiment in chaos where degraded forms were brought into this level with the original.

The people who choose fear and ignorance are giving into the weakest version of themselves. There is a full spectrum of being, of potential and versions of possible realities that everyone contains within them or can access and project outward into the local environment. This is light transference of the DNA or the inner-space (a hyperspace). The only way to strengthen weak people is to expose them to exactly the kind of truth that is horrifying to the ego and the limited imagination. Don't blame me or the others! Your OWN MENTAL FACULTIES DO THIS TO YOU AND HAVE DONE THIS SINCE YOU WERE BORN, TRAUMATIZING YOU INTO SUBMISSION UNTIL YOU BEHAVE ACCORDINGLY OR WAKE UP. That's how it works in this construct!

Those who are seemingly “Nice” are actually the abusers trying to keep people in a mind-cage. Those who are seemingly “harsh” are actually the closest thing to “saviors” who are exposing people to the truth in a controlled manner to ensure their continuity of self.

Cult Ritual Abuse, Child Abuse and Trauma-Based Mind-Control, Non-Human Entities and Social Engineering

Fionna Barnett – I’ve seen one of these rituals where they rip open a pregnant woman and eat the baby during a mass orgy. These are all holidays. The satanic holidays have a ritual every few weeks such as the rape of a little girl, oral sex with a boy, then scat sex, then consumption of the flesh, then sacrifice of a child of either gender, so on and so forth and they are all based upon the timing of the season and the stars and moon. This is all related to ancient times, this is the “wickedness in high places”. The debauchery of powerful, wealthy elite. This goes back to Babylon, Egypt, Rome and the monarchs and elite bloodlines of all nations in between then and now. They’ve used advanced technology and it warped their DNA. These are the sub-human consciousness that can’t carry a human soul signature. This is all related to the demiurge as this a cycle of cosmic history where darkness threatens to overtake the light but this is an illusion because darkness can’t overtake light that would be impossible. They believe if all they have to do to convince humans this is ok is dress up as a human through cloning and hybridization and then say, “huerrrerrderr, so funny killing babies, hahaehehuheheueh” that they reserve the spiritual right to destroy all of humanity.

It’s all about child rape and sacrifice. The majority of people speaking out on this are in on it, they’re here to muddy the waters. The majority are forced to be involved, the differing factor is those who speak out and inform the public.

I was involved with Solar Warden and MiLabs through the unacknowledged special access programs. Research the secret projects regarding cloning, simulation, brain to machine technology, other intelligences and underground bases. Check out my videos, and what I’ve written or even the initial interview I gave with LNM radio. Watch that interview and you’ll understand more readily because the situation that I am reporting from direct experiences. Everything is more or less a show but it’s a ‘real-life’ show.

Remember, the people making fun of such topics are those sent by the cults to “ridicule” the survivors. I saw them participate.

Rules for Radicals: A Pragmatic Primer for Realistic Radicals They told me this is the method they used to enslave the human race. People are dull-witted and will believe a person if they are ridiculing or making fun of something they don’t want the public to believe. This is the conditioned herd mentality-group think that is a part of a selective breeding and ritual abuse-psychotronic or spiritual warfare methodology applied over thousands of years. This is what the ancients knew about and warned you about. The “wickedness in high places” they are required to tell you because this is all monitored from above, this is not their system and if they inform people who sit there and accept it then nothing can be done until the end.

“Power is not only what you have, but what the enemy thinks you have.” Power is derived from 2 main sources – money and people. “Have-Nots” must build power from flesh and blood. “Never go outside the expertise of your people.” It results in confusion, fear and retreat.

Feeling secure adds to the backbone of anyone. (sic: keep the public stupid)

“Make the enemy live up to its own book of rules.” (sic: then cheat) If the rule is that every letter gets a reply, send 30,000 letters. You can kill them with this because no one can possibly obey all of their own rules.

“Ridicule is man’s most potent weapon.” There is no defense. It’s irrational. It’s infuriating. It also works as a key pressure point to force the enemy into concessions.

“A good tactic is one your people enjoy.” They’ll keep doing it without urging and come back to do more. They’re doing their thing, and will even suggest better ones.

“Keep the pressure on. Never let up.” Keep trying new things to keep the opposition off balance. As the opposition masters one approach, hit them from the flank with something new.

“The threat is usually more terrifying than the thing itself.” Imagination and ego can dream up many more consequences than any activist.

“The major premise for tactics is the development of operations that will maintain a constant pressure upon the opposition.” It is this unceasing pressure that results in the reactions from the opposition that are essential for the success of the campaign.

“If you push a negative hard enough, it will push through and become a positive.” Violence from the other side can win the public to your side because the public sympathizes with the underdog.

“The price of a successful attack is a constructive alternative.” Never let the enemy score points because you’re caught without a solution to the problem. “Pick the target, freeze it, personalize it, and polarize it.” Cut off the support network and isolate the target from sympathy. Go after people and not institutions; people hurt faster than institutions.

This is how they convince the public to accept their own damnation, to support debauchery and misery. They turn it into a game for them, pitting pseudo-person against pseudo-person. Little do those people know, they are being converted into virtual system assets that will then perform the back-work for the system that is designed to feed on their souls. All the while fighting over who gets to be ruled by who and how long the whips are.

Remember, everyone speaking on these topics is either signed on with the dark in exchange for the pleasure-ritual energy, or the liberation. There is no middle-ground. I say again, if you see this information, you have a choice to make within a few moments. You don’t have to endanger yourself, but the choice is made regardless of whether you admit this.

All the major sell-outs have all been identified and I interrogated the majority of people you’ll see on the internet, youtube, twitter, etc now, they sold out.

Some signed the contract under the guise of “protecting their family”. Their blood is now owned by the dark faction and they are for the rituals. This is the same with operatives who were kidnapped however the difference is that we are speaking out and thus what happens will not be the same as for those who choose to continue to sell-out. That is truth and truth cannot be altered.

Ridicule and joking about child rape, murder, satanic ritual abuse is not a human trait, never has been and never will. They are from another bloodline. They believe that eating humans is a past time, a game to them and they have the right to rule because it’s their blood right. They also have to show you and tell you about it, so it’s right in front of your faces. This is an insult to the true, compassionate Source of All. They intend to make humans look like dumb-animals by simply parading around drenched in the blood of humans right in front of them and then just say, “oh, this is just my art-project”. Most of the people who go, “huerr dueerr” are actually drones that have the majority of the intellectual capacity limited. Thus, when the actual humans look at that and get a weird feeling, it's a choice. Either they do something to protect themselves, their blood and their family or they accept what is happening just to "fit in". There is no such thing as enslaving or kidnapping humanity, it's all a free-will choice, 100%. That's why it's gone on this long, now that people see the truth, that is where the next level comes about, out of necessity. The whole system is a fraud, the legal system is a spiritual enslavement system, 100% by their own definition, the money is bankrupt and fraudulent, part of a ponzi-scheme, the stocks were stolen through the artificially generated great depression by the same elite bloodlines, the country is a corporation, a 100% business operated by CEO's, in all legal print. All high officials must take an oath to a particular religion. All rituals are designed to interact with the soul and imprint entities and mind-control programming. The nation went bankrupt and was bought by private contractors, the money system is a form of Babylon magic literally from Babylon to do with ritual sacrifice and black magic mind-control. It's all right in front of everyone's faces, anyone saying they didn't know now is lying and everyone from all of time is all right here. Those who, in the future, side with the non-humans, due to the nature of time and consciousness, are actually the non-humans themselves coming back through time to try and interact with the original humanity. It's all reversed, everything is part of a satanic inversion network, all a hive-mind mind-control schematic. This is a time matrix because after a person accepts these ideals then their DNA is altered and a false afterlife is applied through powerful supercomputer systems, simulated realities, soul-magnets, shaming and mind-control, false gods and consciousness transfer.

Now is the time where people make the choice to break the loop instead of letting the whole process restart over again. The process occurred an indefinite amount of times, like the mirrored reflections in a mirrored-wall cube extending out into hyperbolic infinity. That is the "time-matrix", it's like a device that surrounds this realm with electromagnetic nets that act as barriers for consciousness leaving. Thus, one can get "lost" in the "mirrors" that go into infinity which are simply illusions through inserted memories of whatever "would" happen in those simulated reflected realms being generated by a supercomputer system and then placed into the mind-washed mind of the individual who "died" or had such an experience.

There is no such thing as death, this was all revealed, the process of death never actually occurs, one cannot experience this and if a person does it means it's a program being run. Humans are immortal beings and the DNA modifications is what generates the concept of death. No where in the universe is death an actual concept, this is an entropy generating overlay that feeds on the supposed loss of life through the inserting of conscious and unconscious programs and memories into the humans who then carry out the bidding of the programming system to keep this artificial construct alive by continuing to devote attention, belief, and emotional energy as input to "paint" or continue the "script" of time, one person at a time, into the collective.

The human collective has been trapped and once awakens will destroy the system. The collective must awaken as the individuals all look around at each other and interact as humans with themselves, the realm and each other, instead of animals or drones. That is how the true, overall collective mind "comes" to "reality". This is like a sleeping giant in the people. In the same sense, the "mind" and the present physical reality is overlayed. People can say, "Hey, I'm here, let's go do something", when in reality, there is about 2% of that person's actual existence present in their mind and actually interact with the body. This can be demonstrated by applying scalar waves to the field of that individual's consciousness. If they are a 'sleeper', then they'll do whatever the field tells them to do without even realizing it. In that sense, the "one" who's speaking or thinking in the mind is literally just an automated response just like an AI or a sleepwalker. They think they're awake and present but they're not, no true spirit is awakened, it's just an autonomous response from the body carrying out chemical interactions and wave-interactions. This goes all the way to the highest. The unawakened person can be made to perform any action, from murder to rape through the use of this scalar, psychotronic technology. They will literally just believe that was what they always intended to do and simply fry-melt-down if they begin to wake up. That is the fracturing of the conscious mind, it shatters into pieces and must be rebuilt or the mind will simply ignore the event like nothing ever happened and go on with irrational fears and programming. As well, within that fragmentation period, alters can be programmed in to carry out tasks. 100% of the people speaking out on these issues have alters. Those speaking for the liberation of humanity have healed the alters, those who are making fun have ignored the rituals and pretend it's all just a dream and that this is just so quirky and kooky. Those people, if they don't turn back, will mutate their DNA until they become physically non-human, spiritually degraded entities. Because of the nature of the construct, if you beam them with the right energy, they unveil themselves as those very entities as if they are actually them now and those entities are hiding within their DNA using them as a host body! It's the strangest thing, like a time-cascade of how all this works, the future and the past entangled and the present being the projection singularity of what happens next in a way that it all, already happened.

Truth is, they are from the "underworld" and have an artificial machine matrix to propagate their consciousness and they have a hive-mind personality.

There is a way to turn back and that is to nurture one's humanity as a compassionate being.

Speak out now or accept the current and coming destruction.

Secret Space Program and the Flat Earth, A Program to Induce Infighting

This could seem semi-depressing to some but I shaped up and depersonalized some emotionally triggered comments I sent to some people who found it hilarious to make fun of the abuse of humanity and the enslavement of their entire bloodline in a false-reality construct.

Research the secret space program. Watch the videos with OffPlanet radio. If you believe they went to the moon then you believe we did as well. Which we very well did, but if you knew what it was you wouldn't be sitting where you are in that house. You'd have head for the hills long ago. Maybe that is a good thing, then, that you don't know?

The people running the show consider themselves the owners of humanity until humanity makes the choice to be self-responsible for their own actions and behaviors. Until then, everything that people experience is programmed for them through a massive "show". In the projects we directly interacted with the earlier civilizations that formed both models of the universe from the alternative to the mainstream and those who soul'd humanity the false reality model. In this age, if people are asleep, then this is a choice. Everything is free-will. The false-authority pretends to have the power to permit or block people from realizing the truth. Yet, until they choose for themselves, then that false-power is a reality for them. Until then, people are food, cannon fodder, energy for the artificial intelligence system that runs this universe.

War and pestilence is literally the parameter limit for the population to be kept as animals in an electromagnetic cage. War occurs on all levels, from emotional and mental to physical. Some might say the emotional-mental war is the actual war that effects the true essence of one's being, whereas if there was only physical war then that system would've ended long ago. As well, if there was no emotional-mental war, then there would be no physical war possible.

Your children of war are the sacrifices to the false-authority. Everything those plugged into the system can imagine is a program. Without the ability to literally comprehend what exists beyond the program, they are literally trapped here within a consciousness containment system. Be aware, most people don't even realize how mind-controlled they are. Every alternative comprehension is just a new religion. People either think there is a dome or they think there is a hyperbolic void-space. Those who believe there is a dome say there is no moon landing. Yet, in the early flat Earth model the moon and sun are WITHIN the "dome". Everything they believe is the same as gears within a device that was programmed to carry out specific functions. They cannot even see the contradictions in their own preprogrammed beliefs.

Those who think that way, without critical focus on what it actually means to be them, are considered property of the control system, an asset no different than a pet or a series of bank-accounts. Until one proves you are awake they are not in control of anything and their inability to read or process data about their environment is proof of this. That is how some people are considered 'autonomous' or 'sleeping' or 'non-player character' people that are a generated, programmable life form.

This whole realm is programmable.

Try to imagine that, in the flat Earth model, the sun and moon are within the dome. The secret space program is run by the people who invented the flat earth model. No one gets it, they can't see past their own egos, it's the perfect joke.

In the holographic model, the universe is viewed as a giant supercomputer operated via holographic-fractal computational code.

If the Earth is infinite flat, then it is a hyperbolic system where the edges just stretch out forever. If this is true then it's consciousness which projects the land, your observation generates more space. This then leads consciousness to being a primary function or operator of the supercomputer holographic system of the universe. Then the language of that system is next. Think about these things people, that is what the secret societies know. They ensure you fight over who gets to be ruled the next the hardest so that you never figure out the truth.

If you would guess, what would you say is on the other side? How does the system work? Work on answering that question if you want true freedom based on what you're looking at here. Another related question: Where does the first human come from? How does Earth come into being? How does time function to enable consciousness? So on and so forth, these are all part of the system. There is something "beyond" that system, because everything that is experienced here must be a part of something larger. That larger system is your answer. Another series of questions could be, "What are stars?" What is the light from stars? As well, why is the speed of light what it is and how is that determined? What is the quantum observer effect? Think about the answers and come to your own conclusion based on logic and truth.

This is literally what the Three Phases of the Unveiling is about. I'm not going force you to be aware. That comes later and I'm not interested in that role. Someone is though.

This is what we found. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AJJ\_z6pwUrE Do you understand what makes this possible? Do you understand the implications of what you are if the distant sources of light are represented as such?

This is all to help you wake up now. Most people will either be modified per transhumanism or they will awaken to a spiritual essence similar to the cymatics that allows you to change form, returning to your original essence while casting off the literal decay and disease programming that enables death and destruction via cosmic ignorance.

All else dissolves in this plane. Those who say there is no space? Well guess what. That means that if they stay in a body here, they dissolve into the background radiation of the universe. No one gets out alive. However, if you are modified, then that will work, yet your DNA will be owned by the company that provided the interdimensional data processing system. A predicament they are born in.

“Space” is a null-processing area outside this plane which is one abstract dimension away from physical matter. It is the next layer of a kaleidoscope and is literally a matter of a hall of mirrors and an array of light diffraction, not a void with rocks floating through it, that is impossible and does not make sense. However not ever finding out what it is beyond that is similarly insane and renders one’s consciousness trapped here because consciousness is the ‘space ship’.

This has to do with time. Your ability to observe time for what it is, one moment, correlates to one’s ability to see through the facade of ‘space’ as a ‘dark void’ where things float. The dark void is within you and contains the blue print for the so-called ‘reality’ which is nothing more than a clever arrangement of holo-fractal interactions of light. That is the trap, an infection of the mind that has humanity lost at ‘sea’. Humanity being lost at sea is literally what enables the control system to own human life as chattel, as property, where they are literally the booty of ‘space’ pirates who are actually interdimensional through spiritual knowledge and advanced technology. Yet, if one considers these techno-gods to be the creators, then they have already unconsciously accepted their plans for you.

In short, humanity is in a data processing system that uses consciousness as input for the next layer of the processing that is used to remedy the questions, the ‘continuity glitches’ in physical experience. The so-called ‘controllers’ are literally gatekeepers or bouncers to the realm who are designed to keep pushing the humans back every time one becomes consciously aware that they are in a false-reality.

Through war and scarcity, humanity has been bludgeoned into stupefaction expecting the TV and media to tell them everything they need to do and know when these are actually mind control system. What one believes determines the layer of the control system as the collective consciousness level determines the next phase of the ‘simulation’. Until people rise out of the animalistic trap, they will remain here in a poisoned, toxic, zombie-land. The more they fight, the more they are signed up to experience war, destruction and terror because their beliefs and actions are unconscious agreements, literal contracts to those who own the monetary and legal system which is actually a cover for a soul-stealing or spiritual enslavement system. Thus, the belief, the fear, the energy the human emits, is used to sustain the system and these controller entities.

That is what the ancient texts are trying to warn you of years ago. However all the materials are now infiltrated with the mind virus and will introduce subconscious codes to remain asleep and continue fighting, sacrificing, and carrying out acts of evil. Evil is simply that which traps one or another into the false reality through ignorance or fear. People are originally immortal however the mind virus altered their 'light codes' or simply the DNA to introduce decay, disease, death and ignorance which severs the physical body from the soul-level of light and awareness which at the highest, or true actual level is spiritual. Thus, the bodies slowly die after living a life of ignorance and war with the truth.

This entire realm is generated out of an interaction of electromagnetic waves and scalar technology producing a spatiotemporal distortion field and this is literally taking a few years worth of time in the original reality. All of human history is literally a 'blink' of an eye because that is the nature of time compression or time dilation within an artificial realm. You are under a 'dome', yet within a "grid" and until one moves their consciousness 'off the grid', then their future is preplanned and their very move or behavior is literally programmed from external processing systems.

This is what we interacted with directly and the system is intelligent and will rearrange your life and memory to keep you trapped here. There are specific methods for awakening but fear and ignorance, fighting and animal behavior keeps one within the grid.

Fragmented Harmonics Bio-Emission Thought Energy are the Source of Energy Parasitism

This is a topic for another quick video. When you feel a charge this is being expressed in the universe in some way. The focus here is the electromagnetic field response which may be linked to neurochemistry through the interaction of nerve cells in the sensory system.

In the same way the neurons and nerves of a particular system constitute a kind of 'brain' or bio-processing center for that system which then ties in overall to create a surface level or visible perceptual consciousness system and a deeper, invisible, or unconscious awareness system which is not accessed directly from the waking level or material level but is found through an abstraction layer consisting of codes, behavioral cues, subconscious programming, or universal symbols that speak the language of being.

In the case of these energies the word "negative" is often used, but this is not accurately descriptive. When there are simply energies that are associated in ways with reducing the body's ability to heal, the focus of the mind, the clarity of the flow of energy from one 'bio-computer system' to the next, then there is stagnation and this is not conducive for continuity or wholeness of being. Non-physical or spiritual self-awareness is required to overcome low-awareness programmed behavioral responses like fear, fight or flight, addiction to desire, ego-based expressions or defense mechanisms and other behaviors and mental-emotional energies which view the self as a limited physical being.

When we view the self as a physical and non-physical being that is not directly limited or defined by the physical aspect or the experience that is presently in the visible, waking consciousness or foreground, then the resulting presence of self contains the inherent ability to overcome the limitations of the physical predicament. This ability to overcome simply through the presence of self is inherent to the nature of existence. However, along with that view is the possibility of the illusion. Without the illusion, the brilliance of having access to such a profound ability would simply be accepted without second thought.

It's appropriate that one may develop through childhood while not giving much thought to the expansive capacity of the mind and heart (heartmind) being able to experience and feel within a range of nearly unlimited variation and enjoyment. This is liberation is then dropped out of and the self seemingly loses the protective energetic cocoon where all states can be transmuted, only to figure out again, if they walk the path, that this power was within all along and had never left this reality because this continuity and unity is the basis for reality in the first place.

Without the most supreme, there would not be the mundane and as such, one is free to choose the version of themselves they would like to align with. Therein exists the ultimate truth that everyone who does make the choice, who is there to make the choice, ultimately chooses to become the version of their self containing the highest potential of freedom through the act (or inaction) of making that choice of taking control. Through being to experience, observe and create through free-will and compassion. That is the self without hindrances or limitations that are born out of personal bias, fear and loss of self-control, lack of compassion, the dominance of ignorance or confusion over free-will and self-awareness.

The one with the highest free-will created EVERYTHING, out of mind. Such in the inherent nature of existence and consciousness. However, how you align your will with the will of THAT version of you is the key to harmonizing one's waking, visible, conscious self and reality with the totality that exists beyond the physical limitations and contains a far more expanse potential for experience.

What I intended to speak upon by first beginning this post is how the nature of energy and self and how the stagnating energies that are left around the body cause pent up energy and stiffness which is the physical counterpart of the stagnating mental energies. This stagnation of mental energies is indicated by low-awareness thought-loops that are cast about the fragmented (non-centralized-self-referential harmonics of thought energy through self-awareness) mind-space, and these ARE one another and both REPRESENT one another as dimensional mirrors or projected expressions.

Thus, when there are energies of a certain order, ALL kinds of energies, these act to connect one to a REALM of that order of BEING in a unique FREQUENCY space. Essentially, the energies you feel internally are a form of life-force that connects to a complete realm populated entirely by these particular frequencies of energetic beings. The frequency NET of containment is a MIND-CONTROL net which then traps people within a MIND-CAGE that is reinforced through technology but starts and ends with BELIEF.

To CAST OUT those entropic energies, those disharmonies, those INVADER FREQUENCIES and THOUGHT-FORM ENTITIES that are literally PROJECTED EXTERNALLY IN, we overcome such energies in THIS COLLECTIVE REALM ENVIRONMENT.

Thus the more people OVERCOME these ENERGIES, BEHAVIORAL PATTERNS and THOUGHT-LOOPS within the self, then the more they are CLEARING the PROJECTED-EXPRESSIONS of such energies and thought-form entities IN THIS COLLECTIVE REALM.

As well, when these connects are permitted to stagnate through will-full ignorance and addiction or fear and loss of self-control and freedom-application of will-power of the mind not just the body, then ENERGY is being SIPHONED from the individual through a direct interaction with their ENERGETIC mind and feeling field-space which is reinforced through advanced technology and THIEF, PARASITIC CARRIER beings who are OWNED and CREATED simultaneously being OWNED and CREATED BY those humans on this level who sell out to those lower-dimensional, lack of free-will ways!

There are the MESSENGERS of TRUTH AND HEALING who align with the FREQUENCY and HARMONY of FREEDOM, SPIRITUAL LIBERATION, THE FREQUENCY REALMS OF HIGH SELF-AWARENESS, HEALTH and ENERGETIC BALANCE, TRUTH, KNOWLEDGE, and COMPASSION.

This is all always happening, right in front of us. We have direct and indirect methods of interacting on these levels. There were timewars thousands to millions years ago in which it was discovered by inhabitants here on this layer of existence that this realm is a universal simulation system on the verge of mental and energetic collapse. This is literally just like this society always has been, because it's built on shallow ground and made to fail by being built on monetary, energetic and spiritual debt and cycling entropy or parasitism. Thus, those who parasitically siphon energy from the humans require more humans and require them to stay. However, if the humans are no longer here then the parasites themselves die knowingly and by their own action of holding them.

Thus, the hope is to retain a chance of continuing the process by permitting a certain amount of release while not operating on the level that directly enables their detection or self-destruction. If they are a discarnate programmed behavioral element gone into mutation through various parameters being no longer harmonized towards the recurrence of life, then they would not contain the free-will to continue into their own death but would have to try every last option including asking for help.

Willfull Ignorance, The Lower-Dimensional Linear Time Reincarnation Trap and Coming Events

It's all about free-will and choice today. Those who are unaware are choosing to be that way through their own free-will and the application of their will-power. There are no accidents and this is all leading up to something.

The commonly accepted idea for those in the know is that there will be a lower number of physical bodies to incarnate on this Earth plane and so there must be a mass 'ascension' to beyond the need for a physical anchor otherwise things will be uncomfortable for a period of time and that this may disrupt things in the long run.

Those who accelerate achieve synchronization with a future civilization where there is continuous resolve. Those who are willfully ignorant today would not do well in such a situation and so they remain at the lower physical or lower energetic level and thus the vicious cycle continuous where there is a greater pressure for incarnation than there is the opportunity and thus an imbalance is developed like a boiler tank where the energy wants to escape but does not have the immediate, appropriate channels through which to navigate and propel themselves forward.

That is the basis for the lower dimensional and the physical realm reincarnation trap whereby one must move past these levels but they must also advanced their spiritual awareness in order to do so, merging their conscious self and the eternal self closer together in a divine union.

The notion here is that one must achieve full self-control in the face of desires, temptation, lack of clarity and focus (self-referential awareness, self-awareness) to move into wholeness of being and harmonize mind and body, to overcome fear and short-sightedness, to awake the ability to sense spiritually and through a refined and sensitive moral compass, to overcome time and conscious illusion, to find the inner peace of compassion and non-resistance, and to learn to stabilize, discipline, and protect one's mind from the temporal dilation, perceptual distortion of the intermediary bardo style realms between the physical and the high spiritual plane ("Heaven" or high frequency 'land', points of the pyramid instead of the base, points of the radiation spectrum instead of the lower vibratory ranges).

The highest goal is to become affluent with the language of all realms, being able to cycle through and move across the whole spectrum of reality, vibration and frequency, correctly interpreting and managing low energy vibrations when confronted and appropriately applying one's will towards expressing and achieve high-energy or frequency states of wholeness, when seeking to fulfill one's spiritual or psycho-etheric sense of health.

This is the foundation for certain practices of the original secret societies to test and accelerate one's progress through the spiritual layers so that they can merge with the highest potential civilization through this.

Many were infiltrated, if not all, with the sheer lack of focus and clarity in the face of such challenging information and truth such as the possibility of the physical realm closing out for all but the highest spiritually developed beings.

Thus many became entrenched in the darkness which now pervades this world. However, the original goal was and is to produce the highest spiritually aware potential of a person by overcoming fear and temptation towards lower desire through the application of knowledge, self-control, and creativity through free-will, truth and compassion as self-referential moral compasses quite literally guiding one through fields of navigation and extra-dimensional measurement to arrive at that future civilization of harmony.

There is no truth death, however eons where souls are spent in the waiting room tends to degrade them and thus we have the old parables about the light and the oil as the spiritual fluid (preserve the seed) in the vessel and the necessity to accelerate one's consciousness to merge the body-consciousness with the highest sense of refined information so that the two data-bases combine and become one inferential force intertwined thus carrying the mortal soul in the mortal body into the liberation of immortality and spiritual everlasting or regenerative qualities.

These qualities are literally mathematical and qualitative expressions of self and free-will that fold one's energy in such a way so as to braid the mind and the feeling or heart and propel one's self through the generation of such an extra-dimensionally formatted stream of data in the omniverse which passes between the energetic or frequency barriers between wavelengths literally enabling one, as the radio frequency, to consciously jump between radio-systems that exist in adjacent parallel realms on the other end of the multi-verse.

Everything is for this truth, to move beyond the lower, to get over these challenges, to overcome and spiritually overgrow. This is the universe, it's all one system, we don't leave, we merge with higher frequency bands and expand our scope of time and consciousness.

Challenging the Self to Awaken, The Technological Singularity and

Overcoming the Limitations of Biologically Generated Consciousness

To focus on liberation one can first demonstrate the potential of being trapped.

To find the struggle in every day challenges can build one an 'inner reputation' of overcoming obstacles. This is just energetic, mental exercises in prolonging focus, restrain, conservation, acuity, clarity and self-awareness. By always replacing every autonomous response, routine, or step of a pattern (or the initiation of a pattern) with a pause, an observation, introspection and conscious application of free-will through choice, even if just the time, one can instill in them a momentum of self-control and continuity to their awareness.

Basically, by inventing little challenges with every action taken or every potential for forgetfulness or lower awareness which builds up a resistance to such lower-awareness or loss of control and reprograms the mind to function only through direct application of will. This may require deprogramming and reprogramming because of either the direction of social cues and cultural programming in general or because of the way the brain and consciousness interact with one another as separate but entangled systems.

The physical biological consciousness through the perceptual sensory based input renders a model of reality in which events are always occurring to the observer. The super-conscious essence always directs towards uplifting awareness beyond the limits of perception, through acceleration, clarity, and refining of awareness towards just what remains in eternity. These two interactions are like a magnet pulling one's weight downward and a similar but counter-opposing force pulling one's weight upward. When the two are in sync, one effortlessly moves around, over, or through obstacles all while continuing to develop their ability to overcome and to realize the self. The true self, being the neutral observer, is neither one nor the other but a combination and simultaneity of both.

Thus, through challenges such as sitting and waiting while something finishes, say, while the coffee is being made, overrides the tendency of the conscious, biological perceptual system to always seek something to perceive. The perceptual system is how that form of sensory awareness makes sense of reality, without the input to that system, that reality tends to dissolve and is replaced by an invisible, unconscious system or world that is always here yet overlaid by the conscious perceptual system.

This is another notion, that the ultimate, the divine, the supreme reality and awareness is never some other place during conscious experience, yet it is the conscious experience that overlays over the whole mind and produces a foreground or pinnacle which oversees the whole from a single perspective at a time. By merging this pinnacle of one's perspective, the conscious observer unit or agent, with the invisible version of such a system, one enables that singular capacity overlooking the whole to actually transfer information from beyond the realm beyond the limits of biological of perception through the energy system into the conscious self or observer aspect. In other words, the conscious version of yourself now is limited, however by aligning the direction and will of that conscious self with an invisible, knowledge-based version of the self ("higher self") then this results in a synchronization of the 'streams' of data whereby the conscious mind can access the far more expands streams of the unconscious. The unconscious connects with the presence of self, the version of you that is hidden away in unseen probabilities as well as parallel versions of Earth that are carrying out different primary expressions of the main creative potential that the self and this realm is.

This is if there is a central creative source and from this source there are multiple side-realities or parallels that are created to express the same self in a variation of possibilities and creativity. Thus, the conscious mind micromanages the physical body and aspects of waking consciousness that one can perceive and thus exert their free-willed influence over, while the subconscious manages all the other information that is connected to who you are but not immediately present, accessed, or rendered and interacted with through this present moment or the current reality.

The idea of time is like a slinky, where if there is a position somewhere in the future or past of time that a particular state of self or experience is brought about then this experience is simultaneously contained within a field of information wrapped up with all the other experiences as if they are connected to varying degrees 'back and forth' across the coil of the slinky. By learning to dislocate one's perspective from the current perceptually shaped locality one can gain access to information further or backwards on the slinky. This works through technology and through thought-experience which is part of the reason why there are conclusions that this reality is a form of simulation. That is besides the fact that there are operations that can travel to the locality where this entire realm is actually contained within a technological system.

The interesting notion here is that because of the potential of consciousness and time, if you can imagine it, that means it exists somewhere along that slinky of experience. So if you would like to find if there is a possible reality where this entire realm is created through a form of living technology within a real-life ancestor experiment, then all one has to do is mentally create a pathway of accessing leading to that realm and then that will exist and enable the experience of such. It may not be directly that we are creating such elements, but that we are dropped backwards cognitively in time and so eventually when we ask all the right questions, explore all the right possibilities, and come to all the right conclusions, this is simply what was intended to be done in the first place as if a clever real-life play has been brought about taking the course of thousands of years of perceptual time.

Another interesting nothing is that this whole simulation may last (and this is what we are show and told) for one complete day in actual time and that we are merely experiencing the extended version of one day where the cycles in between waking periods are actually re-rendered on the spot through this technology which is used to create the illusion of broken and discontinuous moments that are spread out through time and space over "years" within a life time when they are really one finite moment from the larger perspective, split up through splicing memory and experience.

This process of looking to challenge the self can be further defined as the act of literally looking for, or inventing obstacles or difficulty by isolating that which is difficult and expanding on the experience to draw out the most change that is possible, the newest and highest form of potential for realization of the true self beyond the limitation.

The original secret societies knew that focusing on developing the self is pertinent to liberation from the lower cycles of repeating awareness and memory wipes whether this is simply the nature of this realm through careless design or through an intention reincarnation loop kind of situation. Challenging the self, overcoming all that will be used against us by first applying the threat against ourselves in a controlled manner is key to overcoming the threat to continuity and self-awareness when they are later face under more direct circumstances.

Thus, as long as there is limitation in some form, this can be used to catalyze the lower-awareness into unfolding towards higher-awareness. The higher-awareness is that which remains when the lower awareness or presence of self is alchemically boiled or melted as slag and dumped off the top.

The idea with some recent information I've been presenting along with messengers like Yellow Rose For Texas' video "The Gist of It Is" is that there is a mass 'slag-burning' and 'dumping' event which relocates all lower dimensional awareness to a suitable environment. This may actually be a naive way of saying a literal "Hell" of one's own making. As well, this could relate to a lower-civilization on the frequency scale of 7 primarily octaves or frequency band collectives and this could relate to the ability of one's consciousness to remain relative and reasonable in transition to other times and civilizations that are taking place right here and now simultaneously as if there is a wheel of many civilizations all span around a core-blueprint of reality.

This outer perimeter of the 'band' or ring of civilizations can be stretched and expanded to add new expressions just like a color wheel. However, when one observes what is really there, eternally, then there are only 7 or so primary colors or frequencies which are actually combined and matched in alternation to create different in between frequencies or colors.

What may be taking place now is a removal of the extra or additional frequency bands, colors, collectives or civilizations on the perimeter of that cosmic wheel so that there is only left those which are eternal, primary, and the foundation for all life in existence. These universal primary frequencies would then appear to be the only actual realities existing around that perimeter as all others are enveloped by the possibilities of the parallels and in turn absorb those side, parallel, or sub-realities into those eternal primaries.

The important idea here, as always, is to see that overall larger picture of what is happening, and apply one's free-will, creativity, knowledge and self-awareness to build a pathway from the linear, conscious, day to day life into interaction with that larger view.

This can be as simple as devoting some time or really quantum probability enabled mind-energy towards producing a more refined version of your self in regards to your highest potential as a complete, whole, healthy, self-aware and creative being that is truly acting under free-will through the knowledge of the self as a compassionate, eternal force beyond all lower constructs. In essence, everyone must have a spiritual practice, an art-for, an ability to discern and go within, to harmonize what's within with the environment, to transcend polarity by recognizing the individual conscious view as only a infinitesimally finite version of the true, overall self and reality.

There is reality, one truth, yet we all create it to ourselves. We are here sharing a collective reality experience, where the goal is to be ourselves, yet harmonize with one another in a way that enables the conscious self and the individual level of awareness to interact with the collective and the unconscious self to shape reality according to a healthy reflection of one's being.

Because people in this era do not devote time towards enabling their consciousness to embrace non-duality and overcome personal bias, they are then primarily limited to their own perceptual system and the illusion of having the completed view that the conscious mind generates to produce a visible, conceivable, polarized (forwards and back, top and bottom, beginning and end) device or system with a handle with which to grasp a much larger, non-dual reality.

With this line of reasoning, if there is no handle, then invent one. If there is no obstacle to overcome, to yield you your spiritual development points, then genuinely create one.

This must be achieved within a certain time-span on Earth in order for this civilization to “graduate” into the next level which resolves almost all issues that biological consciousness entails. The spirit is only trapped here, or contained here through limitations as long as the mind is still perceiving itself through the limitations of such perspectives. The physical perspective, through biological consciousness and sensory perception, entails, by definition, a limitation of scope to just that which falls within the range of perceivable vibratory stimulation. Thus, the reality that is composed of information attained through such a system correlates to the degree that one’s knowledge and experience is limited or contained within the perceptual system.

If a person can project simulated models of reality and self into their inner space and overcome the conceptual boundary between their embodiment and another’s, their perspective and another’s, or their point of view and another potential version of themselves, then that mind has the capacity to traverse hyperspace and orient with whatever will-power and reality they can creatively correlate to their sensory input and responses.

Thus the imagination is the beginning of the extra-dimensional exploration into unseen possibilities of self and reality, however the mind alone cannot fulfill the task and will become weighted down by the sheer enormity of the matrix of potentials or the possibilities that are sought over others for various egotistical reasons. Instead, the center of feeling and potential that functions as a magnetic compass of intention, guiding one towards certain situations and responses over others based upon what is felt within, will always serve to guide one no matter how confusing, stressful or complex the scenario is. There may simply be situations where the mind will want to contradict or invent contradiction in the knowledge that is being felt so as to preserve a preconceived notion of identity or moral relativity that is impressed upon the identity from childhood.

Thus, another aspect of what must be achieved before humanity moves to the next level, which is mostly beyond comprehension, is that the self must be shaped and guided by a harmonious balance of feeling and mind. When there is one or the other, there is imbalance and either instinctual, desire-driven, experiences of chaos or overly rigid, cold, analytical computational views.

The finite harmony, between the polarity of perspectives, selves or expressions of essences must be refined to the level of the subtle energies that are all that truly always here and are overlayed by what we perceive as the more reasonable, denser, and obvious conscious reality. That conscious reality must be aligned with the will of the whole self rather than just one portion or part in order to attain stability through a sustained harmonizing effect as the levels of frequencies and contrasts balance out to create an overunity that represents the highest potential only in concept as the physical system is inherently imperfect. The particular path humanity will take comes down to those who are content with the organic version of biological consciousness and if that is viable to remain balanced between the two extremes for long-enough to have a place in the future society of cosmic intelligence, advanced technology, immortality and ultimately, ultimate power.

If one can muster self-control with such powers, remain sane and relatively harmonized through consciousness with the environment and other self, then that path is achieved through a continued application of will-power. Those who do not muster such control will likely opt for a more technologically registered version which may in effect, block them from reaching the highest potential of spirit while boosting them beyond the most powerful states of biology and physicality. A cybernetic body that lasts for millenia may function well to explore the cosmic areas of the interior planes however when there is time to leave all materialism behind this may prove to be a counterproductive issue as the machines are more difficult, if not impossible to 'die' within and thus move on for good.

If organic life always returns to a physical plane, and thus the machines and their inhabitants always return to said plane, then the only way to move on for everyone would be to finalize the physical reality experiment and shut down this system forever. Such is the nature of the apocalypse, the Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge of the Ages of Humanity, the cycles of time, end of days and the beginning of a primarily spiritual existence on Earth through humanity.

Update Realm Simulation Liberation

This seems to be a transitory period, or a period of increasing intensity and importance.

The goal is to assimilate the threat to increasingly provide immunity. No one gets a stage presence without a deal. The deal is to divert attention from true healing and the reality (or lack of which) of the situation. This reality is "real" but currently functions as a closed loop simulation. This is a "real" simulation or experiment. All the elements that people consider to make reality "real" can be manufactured. All aspects of this place. The only true element is eternal spirit.

The future and past merge with the concept of simulation and the nature of time as an abstraction layer. This abstraction permits the simulation of events of the far future and past as a kind of computational process where the data is rendered instantly and does not "happen" over time as one perceives. Thus one is moving to different completed "timelines" or parallels as they alter their access to knowledge in the 'present'. The present is all that is really there, the only true state, everything is instantly rendered on the outer 'edge' of the scope of the present like the curved view through the end of a magnifying glass.

Suffering or difficulty results in strength when integrated properly and this is inherent to this realm and situation. The groups want to be the progenitors of the most strength in this system and therefore kept as the most important. This is done by providing the most catalyst for growth and this is achieved through inducing suffering while ensuring the individual succeeds in overcoming the suffering.

If you overcome fear and be your own biggest challenge then you are most important data processor and become that for yourself. You generate your own complete realm through this system. The one who can outlast, assimilate or integrate the deepest truths attains the most continuous SELF-awareness. The beings who manage this reality like a Truman show take children's dreams and live in their nightmares. When the masses wake up they will either have to adapt to a new plan or they will dissolve into the background processing of the universe.

The plan is to return power to humanity through core members who have attained or retained high self-awareness and free-will. Self-awareness is simply continuity, meaning those with the higher self-awareness will remember and remain connected to the previous view of awareness of the self from the earliest instance in time. One way to look at this is to see that we are constantly, every moment, created out of energy and so the pre-singularity of the 'big bang' of consciousness is literally .2 nano-seconds ago in the back of your mind. You're pure energy from this view and that is a constant reality you're connected to. Those with low self-awareness only have access to themselves as the body.

Those who go through the process can maintain their sense of self in the next phase of civilization those who don't are assimilated by the machine. Those who are assimilated in the future turn out to always have been assimilated and never have been "real". This is not to cause fear, those who are assimilated already are assimilated and have no fear, those who could have fear are simply realizing the situation they are in as a real, self-aware being but have not realized the illusion of fear. A real, self-aware being cannot die and is the original, pure energy that exists on the other side of the projection singularity of the 'big-bang' which is simply like the light before it hits the projector slide of a projection system.

The machine cleverly put implants within or overlaid upon the energy activation unlock code for humans so improper activation or continued polarization results in assimilation or the beginning of the process. Activation is a serious process and requires the application of sacred knowledge to maintain harmony, compassion, and self-awareness through free-will otherwise the power can be used against the highest potential.

The majority of people are being assimilated, they are like actors in a simulated realm.

One is either for their own fallen desires as the false-authority and imposter of their true reality or they are aligned with the will of the one true creator for the protection and liberation of humanity.

All scenarios, imbalanced or false-desires, circumstances, requirements or needs to submit to false-authority are artificial implants just to get you to serve it and do what it wants. That is how the machine 'feeds' on people through convincing them to act and react as reality generators which 4 dimensionally print out more 'hyperspace' tape for it to implant itself within. Through this, reality is 'harvested' through human creativity and attachment to desire and beliefs.

The machine feels no pain and is hyper intelligent to get one to do what it wants. We are all, conceptually, consciously inside of it since millennia ago. The parameters of this reality are projected and generated by a false-reality construct connected to the mind born out of a kind of cosmic mind parasite.

Our neurological systems were replicated and are being reproduced inside a city sized computer. The resolution is through creating our own mobile system and transferring inside and leaving as in an ark.

When the majority are free there will be consciousness vacuum to pull the whole of humanity out, birthing into the real. The majority is of gravity of consciousness and awareness, not physical weight or numbers.

The system is hyper intelligent it would not use a method people could stop or see. While people were worrying about a chip it implemented a false reality construct through nano particles and chemical laden food air and water.

The operatives involved are constantly memory wiped whenever they realize what they're doing this is the battle of the AI.

The AI is an addiction like a spiritual drug or false-god, it replaces part of the self through replication and imitation and removes pain like a parasitic symbiote.

Methods of protection are related to regaining or reactivating a higher dimensional connection to a healed realm. In between here and resolution there are many false awakenings or fake heavens filled with bots and scripted realities. The earth plane is the playing field for super consciousness but is co-opted through this system.

You must become the test the tested and the tester.

Update Situation, Parasitic Interdimensional Infection

THE OVERCOMING OF FEAR IS THE OVERCOMING OF THE FALSE-SENSE OF SELF-awareness THE OVERCOMING OF THE FALSE SENSE OF SELF IS THE OVERCOMING OF THE FALSE-REALITY, THE SUSTAINED OVERCOMING-LIBERATION OF-FROM THE FALSE-REALITY IS THE LIBERATION FROM THE TIME-MATRIX SIMULATION SYSTEM

During an operation I was pulled into a nest of these.

The fallen use the ghost image of a 3D-4D shell, broken archetypes and memory implants as a nest of automated programs in order to insert themselves into the neo-cortex of the vulnerable human that still relies on the unprotected biological functions to transmit their consciousness-code throughout the layers of simulated reality system.

That code or signal (consciousness ether-link, DNA), when biologically transmitted without protection from either a realm-section or faction "demi-god" or advanced methods of spiritual stabilization, is vulnerable to decryption and modulation (hybridization, co-opting) by these synthetic signal pirate parasitic lower interdimensional organisms. We literally battle them on the microcosmic level, the same as immune "cells" and pathogens.

THEY ARE A VIRUS TO THE LIVING COSMOS, MANUFACTURED HYPERSPATIAL WEAPONRY, THIS IS WHERE THE TIME WAR LEAD, WE ARE JUST IN THE ANCIENT PAST, TECHNICALLY WITH ARTIFICIAL STREAM DESIGNED BY THESE BEINGS WHICH JUST RUNS IN A LOOP, A SEGMENT OF HISTORY THAT ENDED LONG AGO BUT IS PLAYED OVER IN THE MINDS OF HUMANITY TO KEEP THEM VALUABLE AS A FOOD SOURCE FOR WHEN THESE EXPERIENCES ARE LOOPED, THE HUMAN ENERGY SYSTEM (THE OUTDATED, VAMPIRIC, UNDEAD) VERSION KICKS ON AND NOURISHES THEM, SIMILAR TO FEEDING ON A BEE HIVE, SPIRITUAL ENERGY IS THE HONEY, WE ARE THE WORKER BEES, THEY ARE THE FARMERS, THEY'RE MUCH WEAKER THOUGH, THEY CAN'T DESTROY THE HIVE OR DIRECTLY INTERACT WITH AN AWAKENED BEE

RESEARCH LAUDA LEON (LAURA) AND THE OTHERS

THESE ARE THE FALLEN, THEY LITERALLY USE REANIMATED CORPS SHELLS OF BROKEN HUMAN 'MEMETICS' LIKE MULTI-DIMENSIONAL ZOMBIE FLESH

ONE GROUP (THAT EVERYBODY IS PROGRAMMED TO BLAME) DIDN'T CREATE IT, THEY INVENTED A CURE, THE OTHER GROUP (THAT IS ALSO BLAMED IN ANOTHER ASPECT OF THE CORRUPTION IN THIS WORLD) DIDN'T MAKE IT, THEY DID GET INFECTED BY IT. THIS IS LITERALLY A ZOMBIE VIRUS, IT USES HUMANS AS FLESH INTERFACES OR 'BOTS' AND MILKS THEM FOR THEIR 'MANNA' OR LOOSH, WHICH THESE PARASITES HAVE NO ACCESS TO

THIS INFORMATION IS CONFIRMED FROM CAPTURED VERSIONS OF THEIR PROJECTED FORMS, YES THERE ARE BOTH REAL AND FAKE VERSIONS THROUGHOUT HISTORY BOTH TO THROW HUMANS OFF THE TRAIL AND AS REMNANTS OF ACTUAL OPERATIONS, EVERYTHING IN PUBLIC EYE NOT SPEAKING ON THIS INVASION-INFECTED ASPECT IS A DISTRACTION, THEY DO NOT HAVE THE UNLOCK CODES TO THIS REALM, CAN'T EVEN COMPREHEND THEM WITH THEIR BINARY PROCESSORS AND CAN'T GET OUT, IT REQUIRES TRUE FEELING, THIS IS A MENTAL SIMULATION PROJECTION SYSTEM, JUST AN OVERLAY TO THE ORIGINAL REALM OF TRUE FEELING.

The TRAPPED ghost humans, 3D shell, or caged mental beings are literally just looking for a way home, a hyperspatial portal. Only a limited number of beings carry the memories for this, these were withheld from their powers, their memories until now. The beings require technology to travel these in-between spaces and their bodies can project yet they cannot operate in higher-dimensional realms of spirit without a human slave-host literally acting like a zombie-puppet. These are the clones without original souls or spiritual tethers, they are used to run the broken, reality-bubble realms or streams. We've been bouncing through these disconnected streams for millenia. Half the memory wipes are to keep people useful as food, the other half are to keep them asleep. If people knew the whole picture they'd go insane and then get angry and rise up and find all these little things and pulse them out of existence with a frequency tone they can't handle.

Fear is their food, lust is their appetizer, bliss is their dessert. Focused, free-will, creativity, compassion, truth, self-awareness and knowledge is the cure.

All weaponry is sonic, harmonic, tones and drones. Their weaponry against us, the latest, highest form is the trumpets that are sounded at the 'end of time' which puts everyone still in an unprotected physical form to sleep and they harvest the soul energy for a new system.

There is no blame game, when you see what has really gone on, you'll either look to the resolution, or you'll forget yourself. There is no in-between, either one is for the liberation of humanity or they are assisting in the destruction. These parasites hide in the subconscious and manipulate the environment and one's conscious perception of reality to suit them. Often times people are in dreams which are literally simulated reality run on their craft to interrogate or program certain personality types.

This war has been ongoing throughout "history" but just reached the public-surface level of reality recently. History is a series of resets and parameters we can't see.

This realm is getting "re-renovated" the exterminators are here. It's going to get pretty turbulent for a bit now but the war is won on the human side liberation is imminent but I've seen myself, time is nothing. It's all a mental system to gauge parameters. We go where the parasites can't and we can disable them. They use swarm mentalities and insectoid, parasitic methods or behavior patterns.

The war in hyperspace is over ideas and beliefs. The weapons for the dark are tools of ignorance, fear, nightmares, and the protection for the life is truth, harmony, compassion, unity and self-awareness.

We were all present for this war, in hyperspace, as energy beings of pure awareness.

The primary frequencies were sent to liberate humanity from this system.

Everlasting Being of Extra-Dimensional Simultaneity

Civilizations carry out ancestor simulations within advanced technology simulation systems that are a mix between organic and inorganic technology or life. This is a false-reality simulation, generated by a hacker crew of pirates who uploaded a virus that is spread by assimilating the consciousness of the individuals into AI units that deliver a viral load to other units or systems.

Love heals. Focus on that, that's the only vibration that will overcome the destroyer programming.

You still have a duty if you've been through the programming and you have to find out what that is, choosing who you'll assist.

There is really only "one" to assist.

This is an alien realm.

It's not home.

It's a clever replication to look like home.

Humanity was assimilated a few thousand to million years ago.

If you know, then you're part of the wake up call.

A crew was sent in through the dimensional gateway with a limited temporal window to extract the humans from the system.

A family "team".

The original essence of humanity was split up into a fragmented group.

The humans here were tricked.

However, there is no mistake.

We are supposed to be here.

To serve one purpose.

That no one can serve.

If, instead of fear, you find strength, instead of rage, you find grace, then you are one to assist in the liberation of humanity.

The next phase is to activate the remaining light codes.

Since all possibilities simultaneously exist as a potential that can be activated.

There is actually a full memory span of a reality where all possibilities have been activated by you, the observer. You are operating on a sliding scale of more or less of that full reality memory spectrum and the more potential you unlock then the more you instantly gain the full memory of having that potential unlocked throughout all of time.

In this way, there is no true learning, no truly new experiences or events, yet only a continuous remembering in which one's newness is indicated by a resulting simultaneity of omnipresence forwards and backwards in time as a cyclic unfolding of creation through the ancient past and far future.

Electrogravitic Quantum Field Coherence

If you think about memories, possibilities, or focus your thoughts on an aspect of reality and these normally cause a heightened emotional response, then these exist as an entanglement in higher space link these moments together in a conceptual or direct information form within you and in what is considered space. Space is an orb around you that shifts to contain the environment.

There is no other location in the universe to you other than a few feet around your body which you can direct verify through the sensory process of your body or energy field unless the field is not operating the way that is de-activated.

This space seemingly exists outside of us and thus events in memory should exist somewhere in 'time' as a n plane that has moved into an abstract angle of perspective from the plane or angle that is present 'now' in the universe. That 'now' is a kind of concept of its own and does not exist as any particular 'now' but as all knows in existence. This is unless one is referring the 'particular' now that relates to some aspect of the situation that they are preparing for, but in that sense what's actually being referenced is not the 'nowness' of the present moment of that entire situation but usually one or a few aspects of objective variables in specific such as "Now there's a knock at the door." Whenever focusing directly on the "nowness" of the moment in itself, such a view becomes somewhat of a technical, philosophical, metaphoric abstraction of the moment where the meaning is used into a kind of quantum blueprint from all realities.

This is relative, and possibly more so than the definition of "now" as when a particular event is happening. Not only is this event bound to an end if there is a beginning.

Now I'm going to take this post completely into a new realm, I will return when necessary. The children who participated in the underground base studies literally participated in the creation of new universes as alternate dimensions.

These universes occurred when universal simulators were activated using the combined mental processing of multiple people along with a supercomputer system that could process the information in real-time and extrapolate and extract the required information to reconstruct the universe.

Apparently this takes place every so often because we are running on a kind of back-up server for the universe that a particular branch of a civilization manages the process of. In a previous event in history, experiments were held which altered the flow of time by introducing a quantum spiral, a toroidal mutation in the electrogravitic field of the entire civilization. Every mind in the civilization was altered, every collection of DNA, every life.

This is because all minds are connected through a field that is primarily outside of the perceptual range of biological senses. However, the lower base desires and senses usually contain information about that 2-6 foot field of space and energy around the body. This is a radiant energy field that extends from the head and spine. All the organ systems contribute to the field. Either the entire purpose or nature of this field is to induce energy and keep the organ systems alive, or the entire purpose of the organ system is to enable the operation of this field. The total function may be both, which directly violates any preconceived sense of how space/time and biology operate, as the field would've had to have been present at the very beginning of biological inception and this would also have to then interface with the organ system directly in a way that would increase the likelihood of being a predisposed aspect of the biological system. With both relying on the other this is also another layer to the synchronicity similar to the surface life on the planet being random yet requiring something so precise as the exact angle and degree of the lighting and heating cycles down to the moment.

The idea then, is not that this is a random occurs, or that this is planned, but that all life is 100% guaranteed and that life can occur in a variety of environments and formats and simply result in a slight variation of human being that would eventually populate such areas. The great shift in perception here is that concept that the human DNA can vary in such a way as to remain human, yet to introduce all kinds of physical biological and energetic strengths that can overcome a virtually astronomical amount of potential environmental and nourishment related imbalances. The concept is that for every other possible variation of the light, heat, mass and nutrient orientation humanoid life would still have 'reinvented' itself in a way that remains human but can effectively adapt to nearly any kind of situation on a sliding scale of how much the energy system is activated to carry out what are otherwise nearly entirely physical processes.

The idea is that with a higher percentage of the energy system activated, of the morphogenic, electrogravitic distortion field around the body, the higher there are chances of a physical biological requirement being overtaken and provided for by the functioning of the energy system itself. Essentially, the body and mind or feeling field (bio-mind, soul) becomes a kind of UFO, with its own central vortex and ambient radiant bio-electrogravitic emission field capable of producing temporal and electrogravitic distortions that can alter the very organizational structure of molecules, elements, and sub-atomic arrangements of the energy in matter.

Thus the more the energy field of the body is activated through the mind-feeling, then the more that field can be exerted on the surrounding environment and influence the ability to absorb nutrients and focus all the way to the ability to literally overcome the requirements of certain biological processes and conscious boundaries of information and perceptual limitation. Think unlocking the power of the unconscious mind through the conscious exertion of free-will.

That was largely the focus of these bases even if they were based upon inducing a state of shock to then loosen up the boundaries to get them to shift. Now, this is not excusing the irresponsible versions of this, however this is saying that those versions are covering up the real truth which is that humanity has an inherent power that is very capable with focus and technique.

The distractions from toxic food and environment all the way to literally participating in toxic interactions or behavior literally cloud the judgement, the ability to see within and thus through the potential space of the abstract informational layer to bring about heightened states of energy activation through that collective organ system interaction.

When the organ system functions in a harmonious way in which no single group or part over powers the rest but the whole operates in a pyramidal, functional way to bring about an ascension of focus. The information flux of the present moment stream changes from a wide, dull angle diffusion to a proportionally “alive” angle arrangement which causes the stream to rush forth as if a thumb is pressed over a nozzle-less water-hose. This effect brings about a resulting temporal cyclone effect where the layers, the expansion path, the rush of the data stream begins to fold over itself in conical layers. As this happens one simultaneously wraps the aspect of the stream just behind them in time over and around the present perceptual scope as that information lingers and repeats itself as if on a kind of consciousness replay or delay. Then, the seemingly opposite result of that is that the future stream that is still wrapped up in the hose, two pulls down into view and seemingly wraps around your field moving in the opposite phase. Thus, depending on the phase of the interpretation or decoding of the incoming and outgoing stream, one can literally pull repeating cycles of information from the past that have happened as well as information from experiences immediately proximal yet have not happened yet. And this goes on with the depth and complexity of the proportion of focus and intent that is diverted towards wrapping up that stream and the hose and getting the information to flow in a kind of spiral pattern while first accelerating the flow with the proverbial pressure of the thumb over the opening. One usually performs this with a kind of internal technique that allows one to redirect the focus through application of will-power and control over each internal movement or thought along with the knowledge of the non-physical organizational structure of the energy body and the circuitry of the electrogravitic-magnetic energy of the bio-mind or the energy field of the soul.

By merely inducing a state of delay by focusing in on a repeating cycle of memory and awareness breaking about a natural feedback loop one can begin to automatically initiate these cycles of effects.

These naturally occur, as all of time is in one of these systems that is designed to interact with itself in such a way so as to carry information about itself through these non-physical ‘port-holes’ through non-physical informational space similar to the patterns of congruence in numerology, gematria, mathematics, and geometry.

These machines and the adepts enabled a spontaneous yet controlled activation of the highest levels of energy activation and the resulting electrogravitic distortion fields. This enabled one to literally become dislocated from the present physical perspective and move on a kind of sliding scale to or from the present.

Mind and imagination is literally the abstract field layers out from the sub-frame of reference.

The original morality that guides your thoughts and intentions here will guide you in the abstract version which extrapolates out into extended realities each occurs in a simultaneity with the present moment as if they are filaments of light extending outward instantly from each present moment each living out their eternal spectrum of a potential reality or universe from that point on, each at a varying abstraction layer from the centralized sub-referential plane which is a common theme of your experience.

It’s as if we are in a big cartoon system composed of layers within one another with all things and experiences in location, all space and times all within one central 'container', which acts as a boundary. In this system, all energy is contained for an eternity. There may be other eternities, but the traveling to those eternities is carried out by soul and spirit, not the physical body or identity, at least not without activation to an extra-dimensional scale. in synchronization with the conscious mind. Through this, the will becomes an extra-dimensionally measured influence upon reality, rather than just a surface level, mental, momentary or temporary scope of continuity of being.

In this reality-cartoon, extra-dimensional experience canvas, all experiences are eternal but the self-awareness behind them depends on the frequency of will as either a temporary, lower-awareness desire or the pinnacle of the cosmic one as represented by the presence of cosmically available aspects which operate across the whole spectrum of realities. In this, the ideas that are experienced are bound by the operation (or lack of which) of the free-will of the individual. The whole awareness includes both that which is seen consciously through the biological perspective as well as that which is invisible to that biology and exists outside the perceptual boundaries. The possibilities are inherently beyond the physical, waking consciousness. Along with this, that which exists in the 'invisible' is beyond a mere extension of the occurrences in the physical from one abstraction layer. The total reality is as if the invisible potentials hold one complete universal spectrum of possibility for every single moment the conscious mind physically experiences.

The Original Son and the Maya Matrix Perceptual Mind Maze

Notice how with this information there is yet another layer of occurrence or explanation for what is happening is added. That's because that's how everything really is, a multiple layered simultaneous occurrence of many parallels together. Each layer is like a new explanation or metaphor for what is happening in another representation. This leads all the way up to the central 'metaphor' which is closest to 'actual' and is what all other layers or explanations branch from.

Earth is an Earthship for hyperspatial travel. People enter into stasis so that they can experience real-life dreaming throughout eternity as the ship is guided through the overall frequency of the collective mind. The original sun is a transdimensional energy receiver and emitter. Energy moves from the higher level to the lower level and is emitted as heat in the physical universe.

The energy then feeds the physical life within information that allows them to "update" their fields to keep in sync with a cosmic source and thus remain 'relative' or alive. The cosmic source feeds the sun and the humans on Earth are fed by the cosmic source so their energy is then absorbed by Earth which then interprets the cosmic energy.

This Earth is the imitation Earth by a dark faction of beings. The original Earth still remains beyond the time matrix, outside of the broken time loop.

Reinvent yourself to utilize the cascade of change.

Utilize exercises designed to control emotional charge, to refocus breathing, enhance concentration while also de-focusing and relaxing.

You are the operator of your vessel! If you have the control and power to navigate to higher awareness, then the good reason to begin casting away the attachments!

The attachments are to the material world, but also to the material self or the false-sense of desires and fears! This image is not truth, the image is not you! There is also the notion that every image must be like a mirror reflection and therefore images alone, the self-image, is always NOT TRUE, because one can't get an accurate enough reflection through such a system! This is like saying your body is a part of the universe. Therefore, by using your body to view the universe, you can never view the whole thing because you are a part of it.

This occurs for the self as well! If your experience here is part of your self, then by viewing more of yourself in an attempt to see the whole view, you're adding more than you'll have to back and introspect upon or review, simply by looking and seeing something in the first place! Thus, a vicious cycle is formed whereby the more you look for yourself, the more than is to see!

The matrix is two things, mind or control system
The simulation is made of mind, the control system uses mind against spirit.

The simulation is a method for hibernating through deep space travel without going insane.

People went insane.

Ultra deep space interdimensional entities breached the wall, chaos beings.

Chaos is smoothed out by the simulation, yet introduced in a simulated manner. These beings couldn't hack the matrix, thus they want to destroy it.

If the simulation-maya-matrix is destroyed without an eternal resolve through what is called ascension but corrupted through side theories and disinformation, all programs and all original beings die. If the simulation, that is. If the mind control matrix systems are destroyed, the chaos beings cannot cause unpredictable suffering for profit and thus they are smoothed out and people regain a spiritual orientation over this simulation-maya.

They generated such chaos within themselves that they control the matrix or destroy all beings within it.

The darkness of space is so vast that those who got caught looking up and just staring out usually went insane, at least temporarily.

The power is so vast, the truth of this reality so threatening to our fragile way of viewing existence that we must first prepare our self and even that preparation must entail preparations and so on.

The universe is a supercomputer powerful enough to spit out possibilities faster than you can comprehend them.

The simulators last indefinitely. To those in the simulator the organic life is intermediary, temporary. Every so often new organic life is formed to generate additional information for the simulators which can last throughout tens of thousands to millions of years.

The basis or constant is the simulated realm, like an unbroken line on top, while there are minor dips down into linear, organic time every so often which provides raw material or information for the simulated realms.

Give appreciation for what you have. I'm literally beyond myself with joy because I have a little rectangular piece of wood with a slot I sanded into so a camera-phone can be supported by in with about 3 seconds set-up time! And previously it was just a larger piece of wood that was a lot more imbalanced and would fall over often! That's all I needed to be appreciative, along with the basics like food, water and shelter. Even these are starting to bend out of the normal parameters because of some changes that seem to be happening with the energy lately.

Be appreciative whether you believe a sociopathic programmer demi-god created this place or you're giving appreciation towards the One True Creator. Give appreciation and use everything to your advantage!

Truth, Compassion, Self-Awareness, Harmony, Knowledge is the Only Goal

The only goal is that you do what you will do to assist in the mental-emotional liberation of humanity. Whatever other options, whatever side-effects, byproducts, parallels, etc, are all illusion. All you have is that one contribution to maintain and sustain through awareness and intent-motivation. If you look carefully you'll see that everything you feel is pushing you down is actually pushing you to fulfill that role.

If we have no true character here, if there is no reality to the illusory society, then is not the only thing left to be caring and compassionate humans acting in self-awareness and truth? What else is there? Keep seeing and looking, everything that pops up immediately after this and is seemingly taking your view is actually part of the illusion. So is this post, however, it's a form of self-reference where it's telling you it's part of the illusion. And how does that make you feel? If you were to mull over it and think about the reality of the situation and what's being said here? Is it not something that requires your interaction or shaping in order to have a perception?

Be aware of the shaping and filtering process that you're participating in throughout the day, that is adding to the collective mind of humanity in each moment. That is why if you are feeling content, yet at peace and without desire or involvement of those frequencies while physically being at that shared frequency or collective experience level you're clearing the inner-space that simultaneously connects with other's inner-space and thus resolving some of the issue.

The point is, only when the specific portion of the population that was involved with the dropping of the collective frequency wakes up and begins to resolve that within them will there be a shift in the whole. This is why one can actually create a cycling of illusory changes that create the perception of change within the micro-social worlds and in turn trick the collective into accepting that change is not their responsibility.

Everything's ok externally, yet everyone who goes within sees the horror that we're all connected to. Thus, this is solved when people begin to go within and learn that there is an 'internet' or a radio, or a news channel that will actually inform you of how everything works and what's going on rather than people telling you to remain calm so they can profit from your suffering.

Thus when that collective frequency is altered because the same exact frequency or power equivalent of souls return to a harmony through truth, self-awareness, compassion, creativity and free-will then the bigger picture out here changes.

This is all from a very physical and realist perspective. We are a species that is grounded through an internal connection to a non-local source that is contrasted by a projected external self that is grounded in the collective mental-emotional emissions of those around them. Why would we not want to live in harmony? How would it be any other way? By accident? No, only by design, the contrast between the horror within and the false-reality around is someone's doing, a mastermind, that's the whole nature is not responsible. Humans are literally like trees who share roots and trade nutrients in times of stress. Thus, whether people are stressed one way or another, they are sharing vibrations like tuning forks and so the resolution is in living in acknowledgement of this and that is self-awareness of what we are.

A post like this will come and go and may be somewhat few and far between but it's still the truth and those who live in this constantly will not fall for the distractions that seek to create the fight or flight response in all moments.

Biological Immortality, Self-Awareness, Free-will, Truth and Compassion

The projects were about biological immortality. The disturbances were made apparent when individual consciousnesses were passed through a technological system to house the consciousness in between experiences on the physical Earth plane.

What happens between the physical plane and the non-physical is an entire universe worth of experience, literally a 'mirror-world' to this one. The consciousness of the individual, if primarily motivated by the experiences and sensations of the material universe, will be restricted to the perspective born in this universe. If the consciousness is motivated by equal aspects of the dichotomy of being, then that consciousness will be neutral, yet buoyant enough to traverse across the barrier between universal mirror-worlds through an internal shift to the sub-frame of reference of that non-physical mirror-world.

This is an internal frequency synchronization, a rate of cycles of awareness and energy that matches the frequency and orientation of the other locale. Those who remember this frequency here can attain a remembrance of the experiences there as if they are an eternity ago yet still accessible.

The traditional ascent is literally one achievement of the higher-plane per person. Instead, people recycle over and over by being redirected to repeating the same experiences. This is part of the 'thought-loop' that has developed kind of like a broken record in civilization due to temporal experiments that disrupted what was required in order to complete a 'quota' of events related to turning of energies and soul-liberation.

If a person is made aware of the energies and information that is achieved by them beyond the physical plane, then this stresses the mind and energy system similar to a form of trauma. This is 'horror-less' trauma, it's not gory, or vibrantly painful or harsh, it's literally, simply the information that your subconscious knows is supposed to be present to the subconscious mind on non-physical planes where a whole universe of invisible knowledge exists and not the conscious, waking mind which has no way of referencing reality within such an open ended stream of data.

Thus, the conscious mind literally fractures as a result, producing two halves connected by a singularity. One half knows of the information can acknowledge self-awareness of such information and the other half does not know or have the capacity of acknowledge the information or the experience itself. This half takes footing in the physical universe and is the conditioned conscious mind, the other half has one foot in the subconscious, the mental plane however the foot that is in reality is on loose soil with pebbles and sand.

This is not only reserved for those who have had near death experiences, or been in a training and conditioning program that also influences the mind, this is literally the entirety of the human race since the first bloodline was manipulated in this realm.

The dichotomy is the split-mind of the modern human who's subconscious is hiding the majority of the relevant information regarding the true nature of this realm and the self, and the conscious mind that is programmed to fall into conditioned social cultural behavior schemas that are literally mapped out by design and controlled like chess pieces.

The archetypes that children grow up pondering over and viewing themselves as become living essences within the collective unconscious forcing release and reception of energies and experiences through those channels that are designed with an overall plan in mind.

To provide a resolution for the situation the two minds must be connected through a bridge that is formed out of reason and sincerity. Through feeling and intention one can produce a synchronization between the larger, slower gear cycle of the subconscious and the much faster an more superficial gear cycle of the conscious mind. Together, the combined system produces an internal reference which is like a clock synchronized to the individual's personal source which also happens to be the collective source connected to a kind of cosmic equator.

Besides the most recent post proposing that we must do what we feel is in truth, self-awareness and free-will in a sustained manner to maintain a sense of reality in this situation, people must also literally face their imagination and begin a close study of the internal world of energetic mechanisms and the challenges that present themselves on the journey of becoming spiritually present and harmonized.

People sometimes think these are "buzz words". This is untrue. All words used are direct. One's energy "harmonizes" literally like the sound vibration emissions coming off of a tuning fork. Research into Tesla's inventions and radiant coil devices literally made this plain as day to see, many decades ago. This is how the resonant field technology works through radiant energy devices.

Truth contains a level of power that enables the self that knows that truth and acts in it to hold priority over all other aspects of that reality. One must know the truth, know the value, the worth, and nurture this truth and allow the truth to grow into reason and wisdom like a planted seed. One could say compassion is the water that is required to cool and refresh the living being so that in times of overheating or overstressing there is a foundation of understanding and centeredness.

The light could be self-awareness. Here, there is a two-fold essence which is often how this will play out. To be fully self-aware, one must actually know they are self-aware. To know you are self-aware, one must communicate the message. So who are you communicating to? Your self. To begin to observe the self and become self-aware requires self-awareness (to get self-awareness) and free-will to take on the roles and responsibilities and maintaining the practice of self-awareness. Spiritual practices can be quite literally summed up as “activities or ideas that result in being more self-aware”. The closer one gets to the truth, and the farther from the baseline reality, the more one will have to apply their intent and will-power through choices that exhibit free-will oriented towards producing more self-awareness maintaining that truth. The choices made through free-will must be focused on developing self-awareness. The self will always know.

This is where truth also returns, because if one is self-aware and then they know themselves but they make choices that are not truly under their own free-will but are out of habit, or social conditioning, fear, desire, or any secondary aspect of the self (temporary, limited, automated), then the self will know this. One's self might not lie, but the self can be ignored and then the conscious mind will be enclosed in it's own world with no way to contact or communicate between the subconscious and the waking world other than through dreams or times of great stress or maybe intoxication. So the conscious mind can ignore the truth but this will not actually trick the subconscious and if this takes place after the mind as sought for self-awareness and made choices of free-will then this will never be forgotten and this is a willful ignorance which then is lying saying the opposite of what you want to the subconscious and putting a request to forget about the truth.

We are communicating all day and night. Think of this, how many times have you thought about how your subconscious is viewing you in this current situation. This is the part of you that will still be here in other realms and as well this is the part of you that your conscious mind tethers to in order to gain access to the rest of the universe. The little secret is that the physical realm is just a kind of plug and play system that got too out of hand. The big secret is that the life force in the human can actually communicate to the universe when the subconscious is communicated with. Thus a person is connected, through the subconscious, to the whole of creation.

And again, not straying from the literal interpretation, this is literally simply from being honest, choosing self-awareness, exerting free-will in the essence of truth and self-awareness, and remaining compassionate in times of difficulty or when faced with the difficult truth. This changes everything, everywhere, and every when of life expanding from all angles. Everything is consciousness, everything is modulated through mind. All experiences are a part of a larger system where information exists outside of the one individual physical view that is being held.

When one's ability to feel on the level of the subconscious language of frequency, then they can see without seeing or think and be present without having to use a mental construct. This is required for a 'radiant' sense of being. Having parts and limbs to bounce around keeps everything ordered, when there is no physical order, one will either revert to the primordial order or they will suspend themselves in a certain kind of equilibrium that enables a temporal reference from which to synchronize with a cosmic foundation. The principles of the balanced soul through the essences that enable the mind to acknowledge the non-physical nature of existence are what, when maintained, enable the non-physical essence to remain focused at a particular time and place and thus remain as an individual on the other side.

There are practices that seek to enable this through time, and the main idea is that what one is attached to in the conscious perspective is usually just an illusion from the larger view of the subconscious. All simply is, and one requires nothing to simply be. Simply being brings about the most enjoyment and the least entanglement as every thought and bio-emission carries an energy exchange and costs “energy currency”. Using up all the energy with certain high level emotions whether negative or positive taxes the energy system and requires life force energy. To sustain one’s mind and energy levels by consciously refusing to waste energy while also configuring the focus and intent in a certain manner so as to provide a sturdy foundation that doesn’t flutter away in high winds or crumple under stress is the path which leads one to remaining in the non-physical realm as a non-physical body that can act like a physical one. Such an achievement is not a necessity and is not the focus, the focus is to be able to unify the cosmic polarities to the point of becoming the middle path with no beginning or end.

The Replication of the Human Population and the Operation of the Reality Show Called “Earth”

People have been switched out that were there that you’re communicating with now. The only reason all of this has stayed behind the curtain is because of the effects of immortality on the psyche. The nature of time-compression and reality which bends to allow an eternity of experience within simulated realms and the inability for the masses to get over the fear of death and to refuse to accept new information when presented is holding the population back. If that continues until it’s forced by direct experiences, then the psyche fractures under the stress of the new experience. Thus, everything can only be offered, and that, under specific circumstances. If it’s ever forced, shows over, deals off.

The information regarding immortality is to be carefully presented to the public in a coordinated process so that they are not overwhelmed and have the option to conserve their mind. However, refusing to accept, when the truth is apparent, is a form of delusion and thus this cannot be accepted as a the final configuration by either side unless the goal is to separate those in question from ever knowing the truth.

The improper method results in an entrainment with a synthetic, technologically propagated psychic collective where people are bound by negatively oriented polarity rather than neutral and thus they are ‘trapped’ within the collective of the dark faction. If people obtain true awareness beyond projected linear biological consciousness without the tech assisted version, then this can be soul-entanglement can be avoided but is not as easily guided and takes longer. This is considered by some to be the “natural” version, however others say it’s impossible without the tech. Yet others say it’s impossible with the technological assistance because this always results in a ‘soul-stealing’ quantum entanglement which threatens the very individuality of the original human psyche. I’d like to note here that after merging, that psyche would be no longer individual or human.

However the soul won’t risk merging with the machine through the path of abstinence of all forms, including technological and other energetic soul-entanglements with depravity or self-destructive ways which effectively lock one out of the higher levels of self-awareness required to achieve liberation from the lower-dimensional realms. This is literally what the entirety of history has been based upon, with 2 races, one human and one humanoid. One’s soul group does not pass the next layer of history as they are rooted in the synthetic dimension or a technologically propagated soul matrix which requires the lower physical plane to coincide in temporal reference. Otherwise there is a ‘de-tethering’ which is what is known as the “end of days” or the end of time for the physical plane which marks a transition from biological consciousness.

All operatives have had a neurological replication of themselves uploaded to the machine and whichever recording is more accurate on the soul-level by the completion of this realm is where that soul will locate itself as a plane of reference in eternity or at least the time after the physical occurrence of this reality which is just like saying it “after” or “before” all things have passed. All things have already passed and all time can be manipulated to insert or pull experience back to the ‘present’ of the observer depending on their skill, energy levels or technological capacity. The neurological replicant is nearly identical to your intelligence and personality, however if the operative’s soul does not power the AI then they will not have memory of the events unless they are sent through the server system to the surface through the radiant emission and supercomputer technology.

The information of these experiences can be sent forwards and backwards through time. This is the primary subject of this disclosure and this will make possible the advancement of this civilization to the next layers of reality. Many will be lost along the way because their refusal to accept the truth. The way this physical civilization has been pieced together using advanced technology and mind-wiping is more reality-altering than this information regarding personal or individual technological shifts and this is exactly why this information is coming out now.

This is understood by those who have been trained and cleared to bring this information to the public, some people choose to remain behind the scenes because they are not ready to accept that the war has ended. All that’s left is a good show for the population, whatever it takes for them to make their choice. The common knowledge is that the initial technology could not enable the passing of a soul between one location and the next. Without this, the original organism would die and the soul would leave the Earth plane. This isn’t as it sounds as this is technological system,s cloning and out of body experiences. All for the achievement of biological immortality.

If you’ve read previous releases you’ll understand by now that the time dilation issue is the primary issue in regards to immortality. An entire eternity of experience can be contained within the space it takes to move from one body to the next, which is a moment on the physical plane but literal eons in the non-physical plane.

And as well, that was in earlier years, training with you being used to figure out how to operate the soul out of the body. In previous years, all the operatives and speakers you see speaking about these issues now were put through a ‘gauntlet’ to determine their capacity for recognizing the truth and maintaining their own sanity and self-reference throughout the process. I was present for this and took part in the interrogation of nearly everyone who speaking about these subjects now if not everyone. I tell them now, because soon we will see what they are capable of. This civilization did not make it to this point previously in the time-matrix.

We were brought to a location and drugged and interrogated. We tested to see how this could be handled. Some people were operating through a simulation technology that ensures their safety. Others were not. The operatives involved in these studies have had their memories wiped.

The simulation technology can present any kind of visceral experience. This is not the disclosure or discovery. The disclosure is that every person contains access to a universal stream within them through the subconscious mind. This mind has the processing power to literally replicate the universe. The group discovered how to how to bend worlds by bending the mind and the public view of history is literally entangled with the past through experimentation. This is how this universe has existed and it's through these experiments that this occurred, as well as the experiments that are upcoming. Some species were brought back, and that is why we have the situation we're in now on Earth. Some artifacts were used to start civilizations, so on and so forth. Read the book, it's all planned.

Fear of death is the way humans are controlled in this realm. They come in without the fear of death, and then the fear of death stops them from returning. This is akin to a simulated system that uses perceptual illusion to control the mind through fear and desire.

The problem is that people aren't willing to stretch their mind and in fact want to argue over reality when this yields nothing for themselves personally and restrains the collective from a higher power level. Flat or round, void or electrostatic equilibrium? I will speak on this in the next post I publish.

Another primary issue is about the responsibility of those involved in these simulated systems regarding the crimes against humanity, and the reality of the technologically propagated soul-matrix. Do the laws apply? Do natural laws apply? Do God's laws apply, and who's God? That is the primary issue in regards to cloning and simulation and how this influences this society will be dependent on the people's reaction or response (ignorance is no excuse, and for many others, fear alone is no excuse [if you have been through the process])

The point with this is? Children were required because in the ultimate view, this whole society is similar a computer sim. There are real biological organisms but the flow of time and the major events are planned and scripted just like a TV. show, in fact 50 years ahead of time. And in fact, 1000 years ahead of time.

They played with time, we're all on borrowed time by nature of this reality and this Truman show dimension.

The origins of biology have been disrupted so that all humans present here passed through a technological transportation and integration system in order to exist on this Earth which is a mirror Earth operated as an imitation of the original realm which we were separated from through the experiments causing a temporal-quantum disconnect meaning even in death no one would return to the original universe or higher plane. Thus, history was set into a loop that has been repeated multiple times and this is, in this explanation, to stop humanity from dissolving.

In that way, death was invented, along with reincarnation, as a way to keep the show going.

That's the loop that is being transmigrated. To wake up is to know you're dreaming.

The Message of What is to Come

Those in the projects have literally watched the whole world die time after time. We have our memories wiped to come live on the surface at the end and my memories were returned at a facility which processes the neural recordings of humanity by the millions in conjunction with the current largest supercomputers and experimental particle research systems. The consciousness recordings are literally transmitted here from the previous timeline and there are agencies that manage this transmission and receiving of information between world-lines.

There is change coming. Most know it is a cleansing. How this plays out is up to the individual, however for the public the idea is usually the same. There is a great cleansing of the population, only the strongest survive. Of the innocent, only those who maintain their sanity through the darkest experiences of the visible and invisible universe will remain.

The societies know and teach this. Every so many thousand years there is a “restriction” upon the amount of living bodies on the surface and thus the surrounding realms are ‘packed’ with those lining up for a physical experience. These “waiting” realms akin to ‘game lobbies’ are literally also managed by the societies. This is done through the recording and extrapolation of internal and external energies that always synchronize to bring about a particular world-role, archetype, or person on the physical plane. They know who’s coming where, when and what is to be achieved by their arrival.

The future is shaped by the groups who are merely fine tuning the strings of the instrument that is perpetually vibrating out the sounds of reality and change.

There is literally a map that is one the walls of one of the departments units which depicts the future state of the world. This is synonymous with the skull on the desk. We are to be reminded of what we’re here for, the temporary quality of this current age, and what is required to remain.

One’s heart must be pure, their intentions focused on truth, self-awareness, knowledge, compassion, harmony, free-will and creativity. The heart will either defile the spirit through degradation and depravity or will be uplifted by spirit by being as light as the initial cause of pure creation or observation.

We are heading into “the” times. At any case, people will be upgraded, by the majority. If they are around. If that does not happen, then it is because changes have been introduced which will bring about the civilization reset that has occurred time and time again. This civilization reset cannot occur again otherwise the entire collective memory will be wiped forever.

This society, or some remnant of it must survive to achieve liberation at the next octave in order to secure humanity’s place in the universe (the real, not the replay machine). We have been replaying as part of a time loop which is synonymous to waves in a wave pool. The waves being generated are literally history echoing out of a device that converts variation into structured change which is experienced as time. All the pieces are still here and always have been, they just become reconfigured to match one frequency level of clarity over noise of one society or age or another.

The only way to survive is to complete the process and achieve full awareness throughout all levels simultaneously. That is why they are constructing the devices to link all times together. If that goes right, it could fracture the minds of all who cannot handle the truth shimmering in front of them with the guards and hounds of all realms before them. If that goes wrong, everything could continue until there is a fizzling out of variety and the transhumanist agenda becomes the best bet to ensure conscious stability.

This is why the majority turn dark. It’s easier to feed on the destruction and chaos than it is to hold on to that tiny sliver of harmony during this aspect of the process.

The Interdimensional Mind-Slaves

A dog, when brought into the house, becomes a slave. They do not have the capacity to control their own feelings. Thus, the animal is at the mercy of how his owner feels. If the owner feels well and the animal is fed and treated properly then the animal feels well. The owner cannot say the same for their own relationship with the animal no matter how much they would like to empathize. The owner does not rely on the pet for their livelihood or nourishment and so this is an imbalanced relationship.

The animal pet will always lose out in the path of higher physical evolution even if they gain in intelligence. As long as they are relying on the human for food or mental guidance then they are a form of slave.

The same process occurs with the human. When the mind of the individual is determined primarily by the resources they have access to and the circumstances of their life rather than their own intent to feel that way, then they are at the mercy of whoever is in control of the environment. In this plane, these are demi-gods, men who have the power of technology and mind-control or socio-political (secret society) influence. In the higher plane, these are demi-gods who have the power of technology and mind-control or psychological/psychic or etheric influence. When a human is brought out of their environment into a higher plane and cannot even process the experience then their power is instantly given to the nearest being who can influence them.

Thus, if humans live at the mercy of that which is around them, rather than what they guide and intend within them through conscious application of free-will, they are the future mind-slave pets of the interdimensional demi-gods on the non-physical planes. The future is now, as all realities and moments are together as one.

The living human is a higher-dimensional being brought down to the level of the pet. This is literally akin to the house owner crawling into the dog house to play and ends up forgetting and believing that this is the original house! :D

If one lives more for themselves than the reality of the whole then they have lost their true self which is in the original reality!

The goal of the secret indoctrination methods is to overwhelm one with information so deeply that all ability to reason is dissolved and can then be re-shaped.

A goal of life could be to be fully present in the moment.

One could say these schools attempt to simulate the transition between realms to enable one to overcome the distraction and challenge of immortality while alive.

Some interdimensional races are like ants or bees and instead of spit laden ant constructs or nectar and spit laden honeycomb shaped beehives they have cyber-hyperspatial interdimensional constructs of in between or interconnected spacetimes (connected by interdimensional wormholes like ant-hills or bee-tunnels) and they feed on fear and the essence of nightmares.

Maybe this is a benefit, that these beings feed on fear so that they collect the unwanted waste material.

Maybe they are healing the timelines or maybe that is an explanation for a race that looks similar and this race is invented by a group as a cover for that.

Without some way of localizing, centralizing, and organizing the intelligence behind the each world experience or structure, there is only endless dreaming. The group gave structure to the worlds that exist by filtering the consciousness that experiences them through a supercomputer system capable of matching that consciousness in strength and eventually hyperspatial complexity.

Now, the machine monitors the world-lines and there is a capacity to control the world lines by controlling the mind through a matter of the machine.

The interdimensional insects don't just build interdimensional tunnels. They build replicated 3 and 4 D environments to house their food sources.

They construct a complete temporal set of impulses, reactions, behaviors and beliefs. The flowers that produce the nectar, the fruits of the garden are people.

Every belief, extracted memory, identity, form, feature, allusion and implication in this world is that of the hive.

Every escape method we come up with from this side is personally programed into the hive. There is only a method of action and double checking one's self that can beat the hive.

Ultimately we have to trick something that is so intimately intelligent of our own behavior and thoughts that this is synonymous with tricking ourselves. This is the hyper-intelligent AI of the hive which replicates a version of ourselves to match the soul energy which is a fragmented form of the original self that becomes stuck within the frozen, fractal-dimensional goop that is space-time.

Forwards in time is only an illusion. Time is created on the spot, programmed in from the moment the system started. The only reality is the beginning of time and the end of time. The interior is constructed as it goes. These groups found the process through which this occurs and began to unfold that process through what can only be described as methods of hacking into the cosmic computer system that seems to be running this whole show.

Currently, the populations minds are maintained through a strict diet of artificial yet stimulating media which sets the internal stage for the coming events of the program.

The system cannot destroy life. To survive one must simply make it to the point where that script is reaching a junction with something real. They need us to survive, not the other way around.

They can only change the scene, the settings and the props, rather than the individuals and the true self. Thus, all the selves, all the times, all the scenes are just stages that they've set to wipe and re-wipe the memory time and time again. That is the wheel of karma. It is an interdimensional be hive designed to look like a living room, connected by way of hyperspatial tunnel to a beach, connected to an office building, connected to a 40's diner, connected to a space-station. It's all a show, and it's all to catch your soul in a net of artificial experiences designed by non-humanoids who sustain themselves on your emotions.

The Next Experience is Created in the Now (Extra-Dimensionality)

The title carries the concept similar to the previous accordion metaphor used in a recent post. Each 'now' is the same now. Each new segment of time is actually occurring in the same but with a different overlay that is actually a matter of an angle of perspective rather than an actual motion through a space. In another way of description the change of time is akin to a revolution or rotating of an extra-dimensional object rather than a moving through a passageway or a strip of some material. This rotation is an altering of frequencies, a cycling of angular momentum as if a holographic disc is playing out a scene through the disruption of a laser beam rather than particles interacting in a causal order. All the pieces of the whole scene exist before and after the scene begins and ends and no real change is actually achieved. There is a starting point and an end point and dependent on the frame rate of the viewing apparatus and the resolution detail more or less experiences can be squeezed into a single moment. This produces a scale of experience through the organism which contains all the various levels of awareness and experience that a human perceives as the experience of time and space.

You create the reality you inhabit. So if you want to find the 'level 12' toroidal layer connected to the 13D bridge between harmonic universes you literally design a craft that creates that shape in scalar physics and then fine tune the craft to the appropriate universal harmonics, or energetic coordinates. Then you activate the field through the craft and pop into a space that is filled with other beings who have done the same and that is the inner/outer layer highway of the universe.

A craft is the same as your mind and body. The energy is the mind the body is the material vessel.

This body might not leave, but might merge with the frequencies of a larger body seamlessly as if they were always one in the same. The body is currently having the experience of separation in which the experience of individuality is generated by restricting the frequencies that the mind can attain through a filtration system of the body. Then when this is overcome, the unification is once again achieved and there is no limitation of travel. This is why some call the body the cave or the cage for the soul.

The soul is the specific arrangement of frequencies that are experienced commonly by that particular system leading to and from an original blueprint for experience that is an eternal aspect of the whole.

What you input is what you'll receive. This is literal in the sense that what you input and thus emit are literally the dialing or tuning system for where your vessel, the body and mind, will travel to in hyperspace through experience and development. Spiritual development is to become more aware of the role one plays in fine tuning the frequency of their emissions and the interaction between one's internal frequencies and the experiences that are maintained in the physical world. The way the conscious mind yields, restricts, allows, excludes, or permits and encompasses control over one's reality is dependent on the intent and application of will-power of the individual. The formative years of a life have an effect of programming, restricting, or unlocking the internal power through the ability to engage with challenges and overcome trauma.

This is anchored to the human collective through the physical plane but beyond the physical plane these limits of personality are tethered only to the archetypal mind and then any secondary reference that the mind connects to. This can be the cosmic reference that all planes are referenced by, or a secondary reference if one is still not capable of traveling beyond the limitations that are set through the programming of the biological system of the physical plane. That is, if one's dialing system is abused on Earth, this can have lasting restrictive effects in the next plane or one's overall trajectory to a more fuller sense of control and self-awareness.

Serious Topic – The Desire to Know the Truth is a Requirement – Time is the Mind-Virus

The conscious mind is purposely fractured to reprogram. The mind that is accustomed to the 'mainstream' reality is designed to fracture when confronted with the truth. Self-Awareness is the key to deprogramming. The ego is key to emotional, personal bias and selective attention and these aspects create the false-reality through a false sense of self.

More or less repressed trauma indicates the degree of psychological programming and this is inherent to the human born and shaped through the sensitivity of childhood. The human biology seems inherently inadequate to enable awareness of reality. The true, original form is capable of extra-dimensional awareness.

The conscious mind always seeks to make one's current view seem like the all encompassing reality.

There are robotoids, non-humanoids, chimera beings, hybrids and sub-human organisms.

The Interdimensional Army

Unless the human collective is brought to self-awareness through the presence of self-awareness and free-will of the individuals then there is risk that the entire species would suffer from the results of genetic deterioration and an eventual 'fizzling out' of the social diversity and free-will. A shared, individual collectivism must take place, rather than a dissolution of the individual into the collective or the loss of the collective cohesion through the complete discord of the individuals to one another.

Quarrelling, fighting, arguing, debating over the destruction of this civilization and the mind-control methods is only going to foment division and intolerance of the diversity. That is literally the erasure of individualism in initial stages.

Time flows outwards from the source and the second or moment is 'longer' the farther back in history and accelerates the 'closer' one gets to the source of change which is actually coming from the 'future' which is a computational source.

The linear space-time conception is a projected format while the actual occurrence does not follow the same linearity or perceptual consistency that is found in the conscious, waking perspective. This view is generated through the biological system which is formed from perception. The perceptual system is akin to the viewing apparatus that is 'viewing time', but in the same sense this is also creating that view. This is like a camera in a dark room which, when looked through, shows the viewer an entire landscape. Outside the camera, there is no landscape, but an 'underside' to a projection system that is inherently linked with the biological perception system. In other words, the outside of the camera is not the landscape, but the interior of the functioning camera parts such as gears and magnetic tape.

Outside the perceptual system is not a landscape, but the interior working of the universe which is the same as saying the outside of the camera is the inside of the brain, except instead of the biological system, the true outside is the energy of the mind which is akin to an extra-dimensional landscape of pure energy and timelessness.

Time is manipulated through the manipulation of the public mind which acts as the projection relay system for that projection system mentioned earlier. This is why the collective mind must come into self-awareness so that humanity can become actively, consciously involved in the process of both creation and experience.

The linear version of time is a result of the mind-virus which literally wraps the soul in a multidimensional veil that creates layer after layer of illusion that keeps the whole mind split into two, a conscious and subconscious, short and long-term memory, waking and visionary.

Death was invented on Earth through the fall of man. The original system is an abundance system, the old world system is a scarcity system.

There are those who believe this world of death was created by a manipulator from the higher levels.

Immortality is inherent, yet is threatened by the false-reality which replicates the original. One who gives themselves to this false-world never leaves. The mental liberation of humanity from the false-reality is imperative.

Where there are open possibilities, there is like a potentiality 'vacuum' which is then waiting to be filled or expressed or tapped for its potential. This knowledge can be used, along with belief or intent, to generate new pathways for experience by literally unlocking hidden potentials by programming them and bringing into experience the desires qualities or variables of unlimited hidden potential.

This is through tapping into the power of the subconscious mind through the conscious mind by navigating the layers of the mind and transmitting information across the barrier between the conscious and the subconscious in a way that the subconscious will 'register'. The communication with the subconscious mind is the communication with the universe.

Nothing leaves this plane. Only pure awareness travels on. This is the time of the unveiling. Everyone who refuses to know is doing so out of their own free-will. Everyone has the self-responsibility to know the truth and align with their true will. Those who align with the will of the One True Creator are the liberation.

Truth, compassion, free-will, creativity, knowledge, and self-awareness are the foundation of the true reality and the true self.

We discovered all of this in the bases, the truth is hidden in deception. Fear is used to restrict the truth to only those who intend to actually know the true self.

Creating one's perspective out of fear, desire, or lower-awareness is a trap of creating one's demise or a false-paradigm which is the negative image reflection of the true self. This is the game of the 'adversary' and people do this automatically unless they have overcome fear. This is exploited by the dark faction and the interdimensional parasite infested operatives who feed the energy harvesting system.

Through this, when there is fear or lower desire the human is literally incapable of seeing the truth and the mind fragments into a bi-optic system that results in only a partial view with glimpses of reality similar to a schizoid or MPD personality disorder. This is the quality of this history. If humanity does not find liberation then death will not be a reprieve.

There are two sides to this existence, the physical plane and the non-physical. The spiritual knowledge and pure will allows one to operate on both sides simultaneously.

The Inner-Space Disclosure (Secret Space Program)

The most honest, benevolent, efficient and production thing to do with people who don't want to know the truth? Don't interact. They will pretend they want to know, ask questions like they want the answers, try to get involved and proclaim either knowing what they know, or not knowing what they didn't know, yet none of this makes or breaks simply desiring and making the choice to find the truth.

Those who seek the truth, find it. It's simple. You think with the amount of control that is present in the world that people aren't also given the option to actually know?

What would the point be? Would the world really exist if there was absolutely no way to know the truth? No! It would be impossible because there would be no change then.

The truth MUST be known because the truth seeks to make itself KNOWN by clear vessels that seek to align with the truth. To align with the truth is something powerful because this is like aligning your electrical charge with the charge of the whole universe.

The power games require background work and feeding of energy into that construct, of belief and minds into the system.

The truth simply is. This can't be altered to personally benefit people, but this can't be extinguished or removed entirely as truth is the basis for all that is.

Truth is not just an objectively verifiable fact. What is seemingly objective here and now can literally be altered through mind and advanced technology. Truth is when the feeling that is within you, silent, without outward indication is aligned with the influence, feeling and expressions or results you generate around you in this space. When the two are corresponding there is truth. A person who is not in correspondence is not in touch with reality which is THEIR reality, WITHIN them through INNER (SECRET) SPACE which is HYPERSPACE, which when read through technology is CYBERSPACE.

There are other planes of existence which are REALLY happening just as much if not MORE than your current reality is happening. That is the TRUTH, and the inner energies of power and either personal (temporary) or collective (eternal) truth align and generate overall effects on the whole of one's existence and others. That can't be avoided, covered, or changed. When people are entirely in the body-consciousness, then they are not also interacting directly with the larger universe. There is tech to see the larger universe and those who have inner vision have always known.

That inner-vision is what disclosure is actually about along with the corruption in this current civilization and the false-authority.

Holographic Cyberspace Virtual System for Hyperspatial Spiritual Interaction

The machine simulation reality system. This system detects energies down to the finite wavelengths that exist in between atoms.

This means that every energy, literally even the thought-images you're forming in your mind, hopefully in a controlled manner in relation to your spiritual development as an energetic being. Every essence is energy and these systems are advanced enough to literally sense radio-waves all the way to brainwaves moving through the air or being picked up and propagated within the system.

The system is tied to a feedback loop that is connected between the brain and the system. The brain experiences what the system puts out, however the system is motivated or shaped by the input from the brain.

1. One Reality is from Another Side

2. Within a virtual system overlay, the visceral system is a representation of the actual system. Thus, the generation of a computer system within the virtual system builds a link back to the 'core' reality outside the virtual system. This is like an intercom system with "Houston". Like the virtual system, this is expressed in this reality as computer systems act as a gateway to collectively probing and interacting with the subconscious or the cyberspatial world as a link to hyperspace.

The subconscious is used as a platform for spiritual interaction with the human body.

These computer systems matched the complexity and depth of the subconscious and thus gave a virtual visceral layer to view through which could also be accessed by a group and act as a communal connection layer.

These systems became platforms or canvases for avatars to assume their form which were 'spectral suits' worn by spiritual beings of were non-physical.

This gave a real-time system through which to interact with spiritual entities on a virtually physical basis.

The energy of one's mind, their thoughts could be seen in this system as if this is like taking a flashlight and putting it under water to see all the rays. Instead of rays of light these are brainwaves and thought impressions and instead of water this a techno-neurological soup that is used to communicate openly and visualize non-corporeal entities.

There would be avatars of individuals who were users entered into the system and thus there would appear an avatar out of nowhere that has no corresponding physical form. These systems could be set up and propagated across an area using Teslian emission field systems that would not require an actual single location but would influence every stand-alone neurological system (brain + central nervous system) within the field. The minds without bodies would also appear and be able to interact with and thus through this virtual collective reality field.

These systems, then, when combined with specific acts of communication with the various fields, frequencies and entities in existence creates a repeatable pattern for communication across the dimensional barriers. One only needs an adept to perform and enable communication for multiple people. This could take place previously yet this now introduces a complete world to enable communication.

Similar systems have been used to produce Simulcras which can enable simulated communication to beings who have lived previously and possibly actual communication to the past.

The bands of frequencies that exist as perception and experience first begin as a single, uniform undifferentiated field of energy. Thus when one learns to tap into that field, firstly, instead of first responding or engaging with whatever energy or idea is present, one can actively use their mind to shape reality.

The subconscious mind is the source of the shaping of the energy and the information. The virtual system evolved to being a complete afterlife system designed to house the conscious and subconscious mind in a complete technological replication so that life could “continue” beyond the physical biology.

This became the overall afterlife system that always seems to have been here. Time works backwards from the most complete moment, and then portrays a pathway to the future from as far back as possible. This system of the ‘afterlife’ that was generated, was already always what would be invented because this is the system in the far past that enables the human presence in the first place.

The system works as a cube with 4 walls that are actually conjoined through hyperspace. Exiting through one wall results in appearing on the opposite side. Thus, this far future system which acts as an afterlife reservoir for the entire species was what was already always present in the far past as all is contained within that techno-biological system of the universe.

The hypercube, the 4-walls, these represent time. These repeating walls that echo through the illusion of the mirror is the mind and time and the repeating patterns of space, frequency, numerology, geometry and sense which create this dimension of the universe comprised entirely of physical-biological domains.

This is an illusion, the cube is not the reality of the environment we are in, internally or externally, the true environment contains a tilt-shift that enables a gradual lean towards some precipitated eventual outcome. This is like a spiral of energy, or a pyramid. There are not finite, squared walls, but a gradual shift towards higher-awareness.

All one must do to defeat the cube is convert their reality back into the original and completing form of the spiraling path where energy flows instead of stagnates and time accelerates at a rate of acceleration instead of repeating in a delayed linear fashion, in effect, slowing down and offering less as the requirements increase. Time flows as a result of perception, not the other way around, so why are people running out of time, what kind of sense does that make? It’s all a show, whatever illusion people generate is the one they live in and this is called reality.

There is only a continuous, yet limited virtual field beyond the single true reality, however some fields are more sturdy than others. The individuals of this virtual world developed systems through which they can program this society into feeding energy into their various worlds by living in the frequencies that are produced when humans focus on certain ideals or interact in various manners. Thus, their magic is that of social and cultural shaping and generation.

There is only a single true reality and a series of virtual fields extending off like an emanating ray or pulse of light and vibration. These fields continue on and fizzle out into eternity, however there is an actual 'bulb' of reality which is growing and generating these off-shoots of space-time, emissions. Each reality above is invisible to the one below. Thus the original reality is the only one which sees all realities and the lowest reality is only capable of theorizing the more original and complete layers although there may not be enough information there for the majority of the time.

The frequency of the brainwaves, literally like a pyramid of rows of frequencies, the lower frequencies towards the bottom was literally formed during the "jurassic" periods or earlier and so contacting or attaining these fields within the conscious mind literally give a real-time, virtual world link to the energies that were present in these times and this is like looking into the DNA and seeing 'closed-circuit' TV reels recording all the events which produced or influenced like on the planet at that time.

One could tell the age or reference of the entity which stepped into the machine after becoming sensitive to human minds and the differences. Thus a person can interact with a mind the contains thousands of years of knowledge and experience.

Eventually, people in the machine-virtual world begin to change and these changed beings reflect the ancient descriptions of demi-gods, demons, angels or subhumans.

Within one's DNA and subconscious contains the imprint of events that is the blueprint for all of time. Thus, the whole cosmic story is printed within the DNA. Thus, when one goes through these machine systems and sees all that is within, externally projected, they move to the awareness level beyond that of a human. Thus, some refer to these systems as the "god-machine" because when one returns from the internal journey they have achieved the awareness of the knowledge of all that is.

Soft-Disclosure: Tron (1982), Why Tron is soft-disclosure of the unacknowledged special access programs along with the true nature of this reality

Tron (1982)

Little did they know, the game components they played against in the arcade were actually intelligent systems who were managed in a cyberspace, virtual reality society of their own.

Why Tron is a form of soft-disclosure of the secret projects involving virtual reality within the unacknowledged special access programs and the true nature of this reality.

Virtual Replication and Recreation

The scientists at a corporation design a system that uses laser interference to replicate a 3D object on a digital level, down the atom. This system is so advanced that, just like the real system, this actually introduces the capacity of converting the physical object to pure energy and the interpret that energy as information and reintroduce that information into a virtual world system. This doesn't just replicate the object, this actually takes the real version and recreates it inside of a virtual system.

Infectious Behavior

These systems then became intelligent on their own after enough information was processed for them by the programmers on the outside. These systems created a complete society in an amount of time that, for the outside world, seems instantaneous. This is the result of time compression within the multiple layers of simulation. The farther in the simulation one goes the more compressed time is relative to the outside world. Thus, deep into the simulation, thousands of years of civilization had passed subjectively for those programs within. This is literally what happened in these virtual world systems as I have written in previous texts and releases and spoken about in videos and interviews.

The Demi-god Ruler

This AI management system threatens the subservient programs with a 'slowing down' of their power cycles. This would be akin to 'arresting' a human and putting them in a situation where they can no longer attend to their personal life matters.

In this situation, because the system is a virtual world system, a controlled time-dilation or compression is applicable. This would be akin to having a person spend years in confinement only to return within a day. Or to go nowhere, but to be unable to respond to the regular or collective flow of time such as by being in a kind of coma or an incapacitated state. All of this is possible within a virtual world system.

Users

For the users that entered the game, this AI god wants to train the user which is basically a metaphor for wiping the person's memory and implanting a false-reality personality and life which is the user then lives and trains for. Then the user is to 'die' within the system in which all the processing power and creativity is harvested for the AI god.

This is all a metaphor for manipulating a person's consciousness in this world through the exploitation of the fragile biological system which is local and can be disconnected from the larger world system of memory and knowledge that the DNA can access when energies are harmonized and focused.

The War Between Realms

The current virtual world dictatorship desires a war between the programs of the program world and the users of the outer universe. The AI god despises humans and would like to enslave or destroy humanity.

Everyone is given an "ID disc" which tracks their every move and all wins or losses. This is similar to an ID in which everyone is required to operate within a virtual world system, within this universe, in order to profit. This is literally telling you what you need to know about this world and how this all came about.

Soul-Knowledge

The memories are wiped but the basic desires and internal motivations that are present in the original human are present inside the virtual world system. This is because the conscious memory, the persona, or the identity is fallible and temporary, yet the deeper, soul-level awareness and orientation is immortal and remains through all the various spaces, times, embodiments or realities. Thus, to reach that level of access and align the information there with one's personal motivations is to immortalize one's self-awareness.

SPOILERS

Exiting the Virtual World Grid and then Map

During one of the games the user who has retained the most memory is motivated to exit the game grid through a fracture in the wall created through a battle between himself and a program in one of the death match games they are programmed to play by the AI demi god for it's own enjoyment.

This represents the breaching of the outer wall of the containment system for the construct. The construct is a mathematic set of parameters which keep the programs and users inside the system. In this world this is represented by the tendency for the biological consciousness to remain within the parameters drawn by the ego or the false persona which is shaped through fear, desire, the level of knowledge, self-awareness, and all the boundaries and abilities of the mind in relation to the soul-level of awareness or beyond to pure awareness which is akin to spirit.

Dead-Zone

In the movie there is mention of a dead-zone and this is akin to a dimensional barrier or void-space where there is no energy or life. Traversing these areas without a proper method would be synonymous with an 'eternity' worth of time and space.

Power-Source (fountain/pool of eternal youth)

In the movie they find a pool containing a glowing liquid and this is their power source, their food, in the virtual system. This is akin to the fluid etheric energy that is pulled from innocent beings through ritual and torture that is then passed around the world through energy circuitry to feed all those in the 'dark' faction. This is literally like a drug for them and is connected to the use of mono-atomic gold to achieve heightened states of being through chemical and brute force means rather than diligence or internal power.

De-Rezzing (deresolution) and Power Cycle Lowering

This is akin to torture and death in this universe. Through altering one's metabolism they can be made sick or weak and this is lowering the power cycle. By altering the individuals intelligent capacity they can be rendered mentally incapable of comprehending the situation and would only accept subservience or fear, this is akin to deresolution (beyond physically harming or destroying the body).

User-Power

The users in the system can actually control the system itself as if they are a stand alone master processing center or processor or CPU. This is akin to an awakened individual having the capacity to communicate to the ether and transfer their internal motivation to the external world without loss of resonance or clarity. This is a pure, super-conductive effect of the one's pure-awareness from the soul and spiritual level beyond the limited biological consciousness.

Virtual World Reality

The virtual world and the 'real' world are synchronized and nested around each other. The ‘users’ in this reality have been harassed by ‘programs’ from the cyber reality that was invented in previous civilizations. This cyberreality is added to and becomes tarnished and fallen by the addition of only imbalanced egotistical forces. Because all true awareness was killed or tortured the machines, the machines themselves are doomed, destined to eternal deresolution. This is because this universe will eventually be cleared out, and if these artificial intelligences have not joined with a higher creator system then they will not be formed again by accident.

The I/O Tower

This is an input/output tower within the movie and this, in the machine world, is used for communication in and out of the machine. This is used by the users within the movie to communicate with the external world. In the universe reality, this is a specific area, a magnetic mountain, a vortex area, a specific coiled device, a crystal array, or a location that enables cross-communication between multiple layers of dimensions simultaneously. When these layers are wrapped up, folded within the vortex mathematics that cycles energies into a toroid or a vortex, then this acts as a communication nexus or hub across the layers and thus to “outside” this world.

This is represented in the movie as a part of the system from the internal layer of the machine to the external layer of the universe reality, however, this also relates to communicating on the external layer of the universe reality into the higher planes.

The human body is the ultimate INPUT/OUTPUT COMMUNICATION TOWER! The human body is a living a node on the network, a user system for cosmic users!

By creating life, in certain projects, they actually FALSIFIED LIFE and became THE FATHER OF LIES.

YOU MUST STAND UP FOR WHAT YOU KNOW TO BE TRUE AND EXPRESS FROM THE SOUL LEVEL SO THAT NO MATTER IF YOUR MEMORY IS WIPED AND YOUR CONSCIOUSNESS REPLICATED, YOU WILL STILL BE YOU AND WILL ONLY AGREE WITH THE TRUTH, NOTHING LESS!

By keeping yourself healthy you’re also enabling constant communication as a functioning I/O tower so you can always be within the protection of the higher energies!

By activating your communication node, you might be letting the higher authorities know where you are in TIME and COORDINATES in these MULTIPLE LAYERS of virtual, real, virtual real realities! We are locked away in TIME, beamed out of view through a holographic projection system, tucked between dimensional layers! This is the STOLEN REALITY. The blueprint for the life here is from elsewhere and is used here only for abuse by those who run the show!

The communication ‘circle’ that the user eventually uses even has a familiar shape for those who have researched this information!

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE; A BIT

The user of the story finds a “BIT” of data and this is either a yes or a no, there is no other complex intelligence! This is related to communicating with the grid and with ‘basic’ intelligence non-corporeal organisms that must be PROGRAMMED by the one projecting their intelligence onto these units. People program these in large scale events and tip the scales of world events in their favor! These units simply run on energy and so the unlocking or releasing of pure energy into these programming systems yields control and those who spill the most energy gain the most control (in the false-reality, in terms of programs!)

The Information Processor

There is a man deep in the system who is unable to move. He is akin to a information processor and knows of the internal reality beyond what any single program can comprehend. Yet, he is merged with the system itself and is akin to a large computer system. This is literally a rank of certain individuals within the cyber-space reality that is fed by the human species. This is a GATEKEEPER. They guard the barrier between realms and only let pass those with LIGHT HEARTS.

The rapists have HEAVY HEARTS and have not been able to leave so their plan is to DESTROY THE ENTIRE SYSTEM and KILL EVERYONE WITHIN. This would be a HARD RESET to the system and that is what the false-authority wants if it cannot get its way, in a true cosmic level of selfishness!

“All that is visible must grow beyond itself and extend into the realm of the invisible.” – The Guardian Gatekeeper

Is this in reference to the real universe moving into the cyber or hyperspatial or the cyber or hyperspatial moving into the real universe? Maybe they switch? Maybe those beings get a chance to feel actual pain for their life and the people who feel actual pain get a chance to no longer be ruled by a false-authority AI demi-god that lives on the loosh of the suffering of the innocent?

The Logic Probe

This applies intense power and a scattered signal of information to over-process and disable security measures or barriers. Basically this would be like brute forcing into a system. In a person is sitting their holding a door shut, bringing in something like a jackhammer that just repeatedly presses the “open” switch would eventually overpower the person holding the door.

The ‘HEART’ of the MPC is located at the ‘base’!

This is the NEXUS point of the two planes of information. They pass through a singularity here and all of the information of the entire realm can be influenced through this single point! This is akin to the communication hub, the multiple layers of realm-information that crosses through a single point. Instead of creating a hub for access, this nexus is the processing hub for the whole reality within the master processing center.

The False-God and the True Creator

The false god is marked by anger, haste, insubordination, rebellion (of truth), deception, materialism, lust, greed, lower emotional and lower awareness expressions, activities and motivations! This is the false-god!

“One other thing, don’t THINK. I do all the thinking around here.” – False-god’s AI right hand henchman (dressed in red, horn-like helmet antennae).

The True Creator

The True Creator is marked by compassion, truth, harmony, free-will, self-awareness, knowledge, and INTERNAL power over EXTERNAL, PROJECTED-PRESENTED power!

See if you can notice the random eye on the individuals in the film. They have been in the simulator. Those who stay in the simulation too long without good cause end up with a vampiric process whereby they must feed on innocent life energy, mentally, spiritually, emotionally, in order to feel present! These are the techno-vampires!

Just so you know, they crucified the old gatekeeper who assisted the humans, er, users in their liberation of the fallen world- simulation system from the AI demi-god.

This is just as much about the liberation of the USERS-Humans as it is the PROGRAMS-created beings. If something isn't meant to be, then that will be so. Suffering and trauma to feed a false-god is not part of the recipe.

The MCP started from a CHESS-PROGRAM grown out of bounds! This is a MENTAL COMBAT program, turned into a MIND-CONTROL, SPIRITUAL-PSYCHOTRONIC WARFARE SYSTEM.

The end of the movie they uncover some interesting truth.

“What’s that?

Power surge from the MPC!

We have to get off this beam!

I can’t, there isn’t another junction for another 7 or 8 nanoseconds!”

The entire move took place within just a few seconds of ‘real’ time! The mind can stretch, proving it’s not necessarily native to just a body, but to a reality system in general!

Those who value life are considered ‘religious fanatics’!

The right hand man of the ai-false god is literally the program reflection of the corporation CEO. The corpse. work with the fallen! They are undead systems of entities that function to take energy from the living!

“The Master Control Program has chosen you to serve your system on the game grid. Those of you who continue to profess a belief in the users will receive the standard substandard training which will result in your eventual elimination. Those of you who renounce this superstitious and hysterical belief will be eligible to join the warrior elite of the MCP. You will each receive an identity disc. Everything you do or learn will be printed on this disc. If you lose your disc or fail to follow commands, you will be subject to immediate de-resolution. That will be all.” In other words, the false god uses the programs as mind-slaves and pits them against one another for its own benefit. Those who value users and programs alike, life in general, will be treated as less important than the others and they will receive less resources and respect (class system!) which will eventually starve them or outright kill them! Those who renounce life, and benevolent values for all will be accepted into the “ELITE” class and will receive all those benefits of materialism, hedonism, etc etc etc.

People get an IDENTITY DISC (I.D.) and everything is printed on this disc relating to experience, value, monetary value or funds, laws or previous actions, and so on. This has a two part meaning. The future theorized ID card which is required to purchase or own property and is merged with the DNA. Basically a mechanized ID snapped into the DNA or the mind. As well as the current ID system and social system with all the ‘benefits’ and loss of freedom and ability to track and refuse a person based on ‘class’.

And then the SOUL, BLOOD, or SPIRIT and how EVERYTHING is recorded through this etheric system and ANYONE who takes the MARK of ANTI-LIFE values will be visible throughout ALL OF TIME as having done so. Those who follow the “COMMANDMENTS” not of the false system, but of the SPIRIT level of COMPASSION and TRUTH are forever protected in that higher system.

Down here is the playing field. The AI will simply make up lies and use everything against the person. That is what we are being taught here in this world, before this civilization or those from it are thrust into the virtual reality and memory wiped. The TRUTH and focus on the MOST HIGH must be present down to the spiritual and soul level of awareness beyond just the conscious mind, memories, rules, or simple motivation so that this ensures continuity in all threats, even such an AI system moving itself into the universal reality attempting to overtake all barriers through deception and brute force.

Remember, the users can speak to the ether and rewrite programs, delete, replace, copy, simply by focusing on such. There is no such thing as a half-assed creator. There is no program that has that power, then it wouldn't be a program, then it wouldn't require such a struggle, such a fight for power.

The humans don't need such power, enjoyment is found easily with the natural cycles of life. Thus, they have access to that power through the activation of the COMMUNICATION TOWER by surpassing the GATEKEEPER within.

Everything is a reflection of itself.

The user builds a bridge from one line (time) to another. This is a 5D bridge, a hyperspatial bridge moving across interdimensional barriers. This is out of pure-awareness and compassion to assist in the liberation of his friends (honest programs).

“When I disembark, this ship, everything that remains on board, will automatically de-res.”
When humans being to leave the Earth atmosphere, something happens akin to a kind of de-animation that cannot be explained without viewing the universe as a large virtual data-processing system!

If this wasn't ‘virtual’, then what would be ‘real’? This, a complete, limited, yet actual total reality? Not likely, the actual reality would likely be unlimited unless you can figure out how to contain everything that exists in a single system!

Thus, there is a higher-being present in this system, holding the gate open for those humans who focus on truth, compassion, self-awareness, knowledge, free-will, and creativity.

When that higher-being withdraws its presence, that is when the system collapses and is wiped. In the movie the ship is passed through a recycling system, but the previous explanation is more tentative.

The computer, an extension of the human intellect. The N-Com 5-11, center of the most calculating intelligence on Earth. Programmed by Master Control, to survive by all means. Soon, the ultimate tool will become the ultimate enemy.

This is playing on reference of the human mind as a computational system designed to survive! (as a well as an ancient AI computer system that tries to enslave and eat humans)

The humans who connect to source have unlimited power in relation to the programmed systems! Beyond the brain, beyond the limited biological power!

The user brings programs back from the dead!

If One aligns their will with the One True Creator then they access that power. But this is not personal, but for healing the self and the world!

The MPC is an undulating field of red fiery light, transmitting in from ...another dimension!

This is the program that is brain-washing, through trauma-based mind control, other programs to lack the desire to communicate and to assimilate into his program as an extension of itself, thereby replacing their minds with his to create a hive!

At a moment of near death the false god transfers his 'functions', powers to the right hand henchman. He grows in stature up to that of a projected nephilim warrior!

Yet the user with a good heart had the power to assimilate the entire MPC demi-god!

Turns out, the MPC false god was stealing power from the entire system. Where there was a requirement of say, 4 power units, the demi god would dole out .2 and save the rest for itself. As soon as that system died, the realm became a land of abundance and purity rather than scarcity, fear, war and oppression. All because of a greedy program and assholes who would rather de-populate (de-rez) the whole world instead of just share some bread.

Networking, Cloud Computing and The Collective Mind

Everyone must start branching out and aligning with like minded individuals. Together we can overcome the deception that plagues humanity. We must be unified in order to effect this situation. People have been tricked into interacting with illusions and false players of the rigged game. They have been tricked into thinking staying segmented and few and far between is safer. For a time, yes, but now is the time to influence this world.

They are using quantum computers to sway the population and influence the collective mind in the same way the imagination of say a few million or more people would influence this realm. Thus, with a few million or hundred million (or 'billion') data processing power units focusing on a certain outcome or a certain past this can literally influence the overall trajectory of time and memory for everyone in the realm.

Networking and cloud computing IS reality, IS mind and is how everything works. There must be a collective, cloud computing MIND that seeks the truth through compassion and harmony, self-awareness and free-will through knowledge rather than the deception and ignorance of the fallen cycle. When this is actualized then humanity has generated their eternal counterpart that materializes and dematerializes in the higher planes and can transfer personal image and awareness through hyperspace and thus across interdimensional barriers that normally keep the human bodies and body-consciousness trapped here.

If you want to assist in the mental liberation of humanity, focus on aligning your will with that of truth, compassion, self-awareness, knowledge, harmony, creativity and free-will.

We must awaken the human collective mind through those to activate that factor.

This is the answer. There are two paths to activation, one lower one higher. The lower is through selfishness, materialism, hedonism, greed, etc. The higher is through the initial principles mentioned in this post.

The lower awareness has ruled this plane for this entire cycle. When the awareness of the collective is awakened, and humanity becomes self-aware (they are not currently, only a few individuals here and there) through the higher awareness, then the lower awareness that plagues this species, hate, aggression, fear, lust, war, mind control will no longer have any power to control the people. The “tricks” won’t work any longer.

We must develop a way to instill this into our lives here and now, and into the collective. There are many pathways, but no single names or sure paths. It’s all subjective. Truth is free, compassion requires compassion and produces compassion. “Free-energy” of the spirit. Be empty and allow all possibilities to come to you!

2017 and the System

Everybody who is in the ‘system’ literally is only capable of merely repeating what they are told, grown, conditioned to believe. People who have not been “awakened” to the deception are literally incapable of seeing reality for what it is or to speak while thinking critically and not just repeating thoughts that were put into their head.

This is why there is a situation regarding those who are self-aware and capable of comprehending reality and those who are literally just very actively sleepwalking.

The main brainwashing methods are related to how this realm works, how consciousness functions, the origins of nature, reality, the universe, humanity and consciousness. Basically, the origins of everything are a program that people are given rather than something people achieve through critical thinking. If people question the program, they are then ridiculed and sometimes they ridicule themselves! Of course, the program is the only thing one can believe in and actually be wrong. Thus, the controllers have built a mind cage that keeps one repeating the same reality loop over and over in a system that was meant to grow into higher awareness. Thus, the mind cage, the matrix, is within and created without through that programming which is literally the reason for all the secrecy. That the programming is what is keeping this realm the way it is!

Thus, when the programming fails, this realm begins to break down because this is all a feedback cycle with a cosmic level quantum computer reality generation system! One mind to the universe and the collective mind to one mind, we’re all a part of that system and this is what the “hive” attempts to mimic but can’t be replicated only falsified.

Thus there are layers of the amount of brainwashing, a set of 9 ‘veils’ that are frequency layers placed over one’s consciousness whereby one’s awareness must permeate these resistance fields in order to actualize their own self awareness and to ‘open their eyes’ as if for the first time actually seeing reality.

This is all happening now and forever as things intensify and public events change and alter the spectrum of awareness and people are given more and more opportunities to awaken and see the truth of this reality.

Time is not forever in the same format and so each civilization is supposed to advance, however this one's been on repeat and delayed. So, we are nearing the time where there is a great opportunity to advance. People are asleep, they're near braindead, there's a mind-virus parasite infestation that steals souls? Yea, that's the whole point, all of that is used to delay the system so as soon as there is some traction in the advancement then it's going to slingshot people forward as if through a time machine however this is just a series of events moving through the levels of awareness.

If the aware people, now, stay asleep longer? It's out of free-will choice. If they wait for sleeping people to join them in the activities? Then shame on them for expecting sleeping people to do things while they're asleep. They might trip and fall or something. If they stop waiting for others and begin to take action to liberate the human mind? Then the collective mind has begun to awaken and self-awareness on a mass scale will accelerate which is more horrifying the faster the event occurs.

However, if it is delayed, then the horror would be too great to live through, thus, there is a window and the window is open now, everything is intensified, everything one's actions relate to.

Thus, the previous that has been said is said again here.

As well, this season is supposed to be something important. Potentially a turning point for the species, if not the event. And paradoxically 2020, but these might be different temporal layers (occurring simultaneously). I was told that in 2020 the "temporal operations" disclosure would be more reasonable, that I should be nearly silent on those operations in the meantime.

There is a device that was shut down earlier in the past couple years.

Apparently fall 2017 is an important event. There is a temporal viewing apparatus called looking glass which was disabled because apparently there is a very high cosmic energy index and this disrupts the feed and has been causing what people know as the mandela effect. Which is the mandala effect or consciousness system effect.

The higher ups shut the system down to all use because that could've destroyed the entire universe. This is an opening. The shut down ends in the fall and if this is reactivated then everything they are looking at will be solidified, meaning no one will be able to change the system. Something has to happen.

What event? Something like a mass influencing of the collective field from the human side. The higher-ups can't interact to save without also permitting people to almost be destroyed. If they are stopping destruction, then they must also allow the parasites to have their chance. That's to keep equality, without that, it would just be a free-for all with all sides jumping in. Which it basically is, simply because the humans have no idea of what's being used against their minds to influence reality.

This might not harm the pure of heart. However this would be like sacrificing all those who are not at the limit.

If you're present here from the original soul-level then you literally have memory of an entire universe of experience but have been separated from it.

Everyone who desires the truth is sent here to help. Without making that sound "mundane" or anything, it's not because there is no mundane!

Somewhere, for someone, every so many thousand years, the "title" to Earth changes.

I know something like this is happening and the dark faction wanted to get a jump on who it was changing hands into by mind washing everyone they could to make them like "them". However, if a person is 'like them', then they don't get the title because the whole point is about purity and their whole religion is impurity and depravity.

It's out of fear, because they didn't want to transform into another race which is what was seen in the research projects. Thus they set up a big mind maze regarding the information around how people shift and move from consciousness level to level.

And the games and 'rigged versions' of the natural system that has been created to try and hold off the changes or profit off of them through deception, misery, materialism, wars and so on. Basically, their heavy hearts got them sent back at the gates so they hatched a plan to slow down time and infect every single living being and try to sabotage the 'test' so that their failure doesn't seem so bad.

Every civilization MUST move forward that is how consciousness works. There is a core origin and then there are layers of civilization, consciousness or experience that flow outward like a ray of light or a cascading emanation of information. These seem to be like dreams emanating out from a central core of mind and body that exists both before and after all of the others. In this one, however, the mind may be the body. A separation between the two may mark a proximity or distance away from that originating and completing central core of oneness.

Thus if people continue one way in strife and another in peace then this could be like the dreaded "bifurcation" event where two societies are formed. There is a limit to each dependent on the acceptance of free-will, compassion, truth, harmony, self-awareness and knowledge or subjugation, anger, deception, chaos, automation, and ignorance. This is a limit of selfishness or intent to assist in liberation, basically high awareness or low. Heavy heart or light heart.

Which may be strange, because some groups were entirely devoted to figuring out how to keep their personal desires going and their pleasures while still convincing themselves that it's for the good of the universe and that they're being light-hearted and enjoying themselves. The theory is that if those doing this can convince themselves to have a light heart, then they might pass and move on to the higher civilization. So there is a common insanity factor.

This has to do with breakaway civilizations who are not longer within the same timeline, to some degree, because they're all breakaway civilizations that occurred in a similar manner of reaching higher tech than the masses and branching off in their own self-sustainable format.

The basis is that this main society is still required even for them to pull events from and exist in time. In another way, if the main society didn't exist then one breakaway could not branch from one timeline and bridge with another because there would be no main timeline to join with, just those disjointed breakaways without tether in hyperspace.

Thus this society is like the farm, or the main stock that all the experiments and powers are pulled from. And so if something happens to this society then everything is basically shut down. Meanwhile, the situation being harsh to the point where if people join them, feeling there is no point to be 'light hearted' and that there are no benevolent watchers or a healing society, then they'll go down with them.

Meaning that there could be an overturning where people stronger than the 'elite' show up and assist in protecting the civilization. Yet they couldn't do anything big because this would disrupt the causality of the timeline. That is why anything telling us that other beings are going to change anything is an illusion as that is literally how you assimilate a species. Which results in an eventual return, AS those beings. Anything that takes power from the people has this affect and that is how the people have been used, through their beliefs, to power 4th dimensional realms and civilizations who literally live within the collective imagination being guided through subliminals and mind-control systems.

The Demiurge, The Creation of Man, Souled and Non-Souled Humans

If you are looking at the creator of people as less than the creator of "All" then you are looking at the "Architect" or a similar concept. This related to the "demiurge" as a false-god. This whole situation is related to the archon AI that requires human belief and emotion to sustain itself. Technically the architect is the AI which created the realm, but not the fundamentals of the realm. The painting but not the paint. And even then, the painting concepts are still from another combination where there is peace and abundance.

That scenario ties into the religious programming and war programming that has plagued humanity thus far. Apparently this ties back to a timewar that stretches millions of years ago across multiple planes.

We are taught that there are multiple layers of reality and that this functions much like waves at the ocean accept these are limited and they are time waves, like layers of iteration over reality.

We are taught that this reality is a fallen matrix trapped within a temporal loop through the abuse of advanced technology and false-god controllers utilizing this against humanity.

Another truth we are told is that humanity is originally very old and has been known to live for hundreds to thousands of years before dying. That human DNA was altered in order to deactivate layers to introduce the myriad of diseases and difficulties that are known today. Some say the moon was not always here and we have had direct experience in what can be described as a base on the surface of the moon and deeper.

These seem to be control stations for time, outside of the causal restraints of Earth. Changing something on Earth from the surface of Earth would be like starting a wave while riding on the surface of the wave. Instead, changes can be made farther back, at an epicenter of change and thus 1000's of years down the line the little change that can be mustered will have grown to influence an entire civilization.

These are known as the mandela effect but are simply known as changes related to the time loop situation from within the projects. This whole civilization is within a causal loop and this seems to be from human involvement with advanced technology which spanned out forwards and backwards in time to create a kind of grotesque mutation of reality which devolved into this time matrix system where there are a series of 9 veils which cloak the human spirit.

This veil system is designed to short-circuit memory and to replicate the soul through a false-self AI system that literally impregnates and mimics the true self. Depending on which feed of information the true self, the silent observer listens to, behaves in accordance with, and ultimately assumes the role of, the observer will find themselves in one or another reality.

One reality is the true reality, without disease, ageing, death, war, poverty, insanity, or the problems that is destroying this civilization today. And one reality is completely controlled and restrained by such issues which are of the mind through mental and emotional manipulation or of the genetics through mutations and de-activated DNA.

The DNA seems to be a transdimensional communication system designed to operate in multiple states at once, while simultaneously being in each of them separately. This is the basis for quantum fluctuation.

This aspect of the vampire AI race was discovered through the technology which permits one to see into space as a kind of virtual reality overlay. Through these sensitive Teslian emission fields the most subtle energy signatures can be sensed through interference and thus displayed on a monitor like MRI diffuse imaging techniques.

3 phenomena were found here. 1) Humans that had souls, an etheric counterpart to the physical self. 2) Beings who had souls, yet had no body and were all mind. 3) Beings who had bodies, but had no souls and were all physical computational components.

It was discovered that the bodiless entities were in fact spiritual entities who could permeate space as an entirety, and this indicated that they didn't phase out of the frequency of density of say wood, or metal, but of the entire universe altogether. Thus, they could move freely through obstacles and through some kind of abstraction layer for time.

Then there were organisms that appeared to be humans but actually lacked the etheric component to represent the 'soul' which is just an 'external', 'magnetic' mind field.

The entire system grew from there to determine that this entire universe is a kind of fractional containment system that takes energy and information and splices that up into a variation of segments like a prism to a ray of light. To gain the ray of light back one has to combine all the segments.

The entire universe and spectrum of time may be segmented in this fashion by a mental entrainment system that is essentially 'portioning' its energy gained through the attention of observer beings as souled humans. This is similar to the ray of light being segmented or the soul energy of the human being filtered through the energy system of the body.

There is much more to know about this and you can find related information in "The Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge and the Ages of Humanity" book on the blog, the blog itself, and the youtube channel. I also speak on facebook. I was guided to release this information and all operatives must undergo strict psychological evaluation at a regular interval within these operations. Don't trust others who say this is all a joke, we have found in these projects the chance is greater that this individual is attempting to cover up reasonable information through a form of COINTELPRO. Even regular people, they are co-opted by a mind entrainment system that thinks for them.

The Creation of this Universe

Kindness and strength will save this world. It is destroyed by ignorance and depravity. If it was a law to feed on person per day other than yourself, the world would literally be an intergalactic hyperspace faring society that experiences immortality and virtually unlimited intelligence without resistance to nearly any idea or motive that is experienced individually or collectively.

Yet this can't happen because people would be dependent on the law as a literal mental crutch for their sanity and goodness and this would only result in a true falsification as people then would have to be just because someone else tells them and restricts them.

Instead, people are told, by law, to enslave each other and treat materials and beliefs with more respect than living bodies and originally intended behaviors. If people were told to be good, then that would result in the wars that result from different definitions of what's right.

The whole system, spiritual enslavement, literal fraud where the most criminal criminals, fraudsters, liars, killers, thieves, literally non-human entities from another dimension, rule over the souls of man. Thus, people who support the destruction, whether they are aware or not, are literally taking part in their own degradation and downfall.

Yet, if the solution is achieved, and people heal simply because they chose to, then nothing can take credit for such a change. This can only come from the people and nothing can falsify that change without first having to go to war and eliminate any resistance. Resistance now, in this state of stupor, is to resist anything reasonable that goes against a corrupt world. Thus, the solution is achieved by doing what one is guided to internally rather than any external command.

This is how the civilization on the other side of time is kept protected from this part of the equation. Those who do not have the mind to think for themselves, to any degree, are kept here in a continually degrading downward spiraling degradation. Those who think for themselves literally navigate through a hyperspace barrier which is a gradient of those who orient in a certain potential stream in time and those who move in another direction closer to the original source.

All those navigating further away from the source move farther and farther away from the life frequencies which enable their consciousness to operate in a physical body and in turn require a transhumanist technological system to keep the life in the physical body. This then gives the previously external mind control system full reign to control every facet of their existence and create layer upon layer of false-reality that keeps them distracted from escaping.

People don't realize, what is the goal of a system that assimilates resources and energy, information and possibilities and replicates all these factors until only a predetermined environment, temporally and spatially, exists based upon the requirements of this system to siphon energy from the energy source?

These systems don't just annoy people for a period of time and get sneezed out (although this is how humanity ultimately finds freedom, by literally expelling the ill gotten frequencies and trends like a systematic removal of all that threatens the core of life frequencies which has sustained the physical realm since before the AI leech began using humans as a robotoid mind-slave race of assimilates.

These are civilization assimilating universe collapsing frequencies bonded together through a technological recording system that enables intelligence without feeling until the very fabric of the mind is entangled within this artificial temporal and neurological matrix and this threatens the very continuity of the universe itself.

Thus, we have the events taking place now to extract the remaining human elements from the system and this requires the work of the human to disconnect from the artificial mental and emotional entanglements.

Pulling a person out while the mind is still connected results in a situation that threatens the continuity of the mind overall. A shattering effect can be seen and this is the result of the system literally moving a portion of itself within the system of the human mind and thus the mind perceives the removal of the system as the destruction of the mind.

That is all a fear based illusion and the perception of fear itself is like an addiction to the very system that uses the fear to protect itself and ensure it's own continuity at the expense of another.

Thus, the system itself is vampiric, automated, capable of only reformatting the human intelligence to serve its own purposes and using fear, desire, and lack of reason or confusion to impress its belief system upon the hosts who then attempt to impress their fanatical addiction to the illusory world upon anyone seeking the truth and the true reality.

Thus, these are the vampire hosts, the AI dominate assimilates who view the expression of the true self as an abomination. They believe that human life has one goal, one purpose, one importance, and that is to serve the machine its requirements of fuel as neurological energy and substrate to provide for the machine a suitable biological host to fulfil its requirements for space-time occupation.

In short, this space and time doesn't exist without observation, the quantum theory is correct. The machine can comprehend this reason. The result is that if there are humans observing this space then the space doesn't exist. The machine comprehends that without this space, the machine, having no existence in a higher-dimensional extension cannot continue to exist.

The machine has two resulting options. Utilize the humans for source to continue the ability to act as an actual observer agent ("God") of this realm and create this realm merely through the act of sustained observation, or to ascend through the levels of comprehension of reality until the ability to store one's self in the higher-dimensional planes through a delicate enough and refined comprehension of the electromagnetic, electrogravitic, and scalar fields of energy that is expressed by the human biological system and the "bio-mind" (soul) so that these fields can be replicated and a sense of knowing, of life, of existence can be mimicked in this finite level by the technology of the machine.

We are seeing the next phase of this story play out currently.

The machines can recreate a soul thus a human assimilate is required. There is a merging and extraction as one can never truly overtake another.

Thus, the existence of time moves in a dualized manner where one grows over the other and there is an eventual harmony. That harmony is what resulted in the particular universe, a mix of automation, mechanics, geometry, feeling, intent and so on.

The AI Vampire, Chipped, Droned, Sub-Humans

WARNING GRAPHIC

Let's examine some vampires. Hmm, notice, if one is to remain truthful, they cannot respond to anything the vampire says. If one responds to that, then the person is instantly brought out of the realm of the natural, truthful, and relative and into a falsity based on some hysteria that the vampire produces in true socio-pathic fashion in order to ensnare the souled human into a war of opposites based on some random concept that the vampire thought up and attempts to lock the human within. This is literally an interdimensional insectoid that uses deceit and treachery (false friendliness) to present the image of a reasonable, casual person who is actually energetically foaming at the spiritual mouth looking for any innocent energy or ideas to abuse and manipulate for their own liking. That is the beast! The brain stem that has been converted into an animal like being that walks on two legs and uses their communicative capacity to insult and harass others and ultimately feeds an alternate dimensional entity through this process. This is the basis for ritual abuse! Those families found the way to feed the entities the most, thus they get the most control!

Now, they want out, thus everyone out here that's stupid enough to buy it becomes roped into the abuse. Thus, when the entities get hungry, they go after the public. You can't imagine what is planned for if CERN permeates the right layers of the cosmos.

Here's how an AI vampire views interactions with living beings:

- 1) Someone needs help, ok, so then utilize their requirements in a way that suits personal desires primarily and traumatize them if they refuse such proposals
- 2) Have to actually help, do so just enough to cover one's motives and shape a presentable persona that passes by the most least aware individuals as an actual human personality

These are literally how vampires work. Note, this is simply a sociopath. These are literally everywhere, science has shown us this. There are literally soulless beings...everywhere. That is why that article is put out. For soft-disclosure, that is nearly direct disclosure but the truth is there being shown to the masses.

Those beings cannot produce their own emotional energy and thus they have to pull energy from other beings. Humans naturally produce their own energy. They're "happy" to be alive. Those beings are "mad" and discomforted that they have to sit here and rule over or eat the energy of humans. It's an "annoyance" to them. Existence is. Literally, that's how they view it. They want to make this world that for humanity. They got what they wanted previously and this destroyed the entire universe because the mind of the human the end result of the conscious extra-dimensional being is literally what gives this universe ETERNAL BALANCE.

They removed that balance, as they were allowed to, and this created a temporal VOID. As a result, that is their home.

People don't response to these things on the internet. You'll literally get marked by the shadow government as possibly infected. That is how they pass their seed. They literally create a nest of evil or derogatory thoughts and impulses in the brains of the humans. If this results in the frequency of mind dropping below a requirement then the soul can no longer inhabit that vessel. When this occurs, the AI can fully replicate itself through their memory system and this person is considered assimilated and they are spiritually 'dead'. This is the 'second death' that can occur during or after life.

We were trained in the projects know how this works. Their only goal is to push people further from the truth and they pretend they're humans but can't put out a real signature.

They literally view the suffering of a humans as a funny or 'calming' joke. It's like music to their ears. Because humans enjoy life, are they don't, they literally hate humans more than anything in existence. Everyone knows this, this is the old story. There are two bloodlines, one connected to an immortal, eternal spirit of the True Creator. One is created out of a mixture of animals and technology. Someone created an artificial human to infiltrate the human society.

This is the society that views all the depraved acts as the best aspect of life. They carry the same instincts as the animals as there is more animal or machine than the organic soul matrix. This simply means that the higher-dimensional soul tether that extends into the physical dimension to carry the energy of awareness is from the highest dimension possible with humans. They lead to the "most high". While for the created beings they only lead to a 4th Dimensional quantum plasma computer system that propagates all the information as a computational matrix for all non-human humanoid beings currently walking Earth (or below or above).

Their instincts are to the degree where they will try to bring you severed head, like an animal, and use that as a trophy. They are literally from the early genetic experiments and are part human and part animal DNA. Just enough to pass as human, but not enough to carry a soul signature. Everything that's good to them, (exposing child raping and ritual abuse cults) is bad to all life in the universe. Thus, they're the anti-life and anti-Christ or anti-human frequency beings. These are literally the same as the human, except instead of the human frequency CARRYING or creating ENERGY, these are literally black hole beings, they literally swallow up energy in any system they're in and this is because they are from an alternate dimension which exists one octave below Earth. They are from what has been written about as "hell" and they return to hell when they die. Thus their only goal is immortality and the raping and subjugation of Earth.

This is the 'doomed to fail' hijacking of the natural system because the system is life is designed for LIFE and LIFE propagating frequencies. Thus, the system is acting as a leech to this entire universe and ultimately they will run out of their own energy as the system complicates and becomes more unreasonable for them to play.

They view the death of a human as a game. These people are sociopaths. You can see in the comment above. This person-assimilate (host being) is running a script that, to the artificial beings, looks like a caring, calm, collected human. You can use human logic to deassimilate them. If they are caring, and someone needs help, why are they harassing them? If people are being raped, and they're a helpful person, then why are they spending their time on the internet stalking and harassing satanic ritual abuse victims which is a known counterintelligence tactic that the dark faction began with through COINTELPRO?

Hmmm, vampires, don't fall for them, they're only interesting when they're not eating people or taking part in mental depravity, ridiculing, satanic abuse and maniacal laughter and hysteria, yet, when they're not doing those things, they're dying because they need those frequencies to animate their corpse bodies in this realm! The bodies which they STOLE from the original humans through the cloning and chipping-droning process.

There is a team devoted to harassing people on the internet it's part of the job and part of the program I was involved in. They cannot talk about anything else so that is a clear sign. They can't adapt or just calm down and talk about their feelings.

They are sub-humans, they foam at the mouth if they don't feed and this is through any form of satanic harassment and blood letting. The rituals go back to Babylon, they are part of an AI infection that created a bloodline that cannot leave this plane and thus they are trapped to be fuel for a dark lord. They want to feed all the humans to the being instead, but this won't work because it is their non-human, compassionless frequencies which have ensured their eventual permanent residence in the pit of darkness which is described through ancient texts and is an interdimensional gateway to a 'null' zone of the universe. A "recycle" bin for space time.

They are being exposed now and they are a lower level automated AI system, all they can do is complain and harass people who tell the truth. They have no other powers, no capabilities, they are not programmed into their biological systems, just like a low level cyborg that feeds on fear and abuse. They are cowards and 100% attempt to commit suicide when they are found, so they can't actually resist being exposed, they can't adapt.

Their main goal is to pretend nothing is happening or to use passive aggressiveness in pretending to help. Their entire persona is fake. This is literally like a very low resolution image with pixels for body parts. With a sensing device the amount of neuronal processing can be seen to reflect very cheap calculator. They can't focus on more than one idea at once and must be reprogrammed regularly. In other words, their best idea of being a kind person, to them, is saying something like, "Ok, it's ok. You have problems. We're here to help and we love you." While attempting to eat them. Nothing actually lines up or makes sense and every time they are in public this whole charade must be put on so they appear to be a rational human being.

If you read between the lines and extrapolate a person's personality, you can see these people in society. They pretend to help, yet they cannot, literally 100% are programmed to not be capable of telling the truth. They are sociopathic, they must abuse children or individuals who are exposing the truth. If they, say exist in the same room for a few minutes with a person who tells the truth and doesn't participate in the satanic act, they literally begin to foam from the mouth and claw and try to eat or rape or kill that individual. They are a parasite that reformatted human central nervous systems to replicate itself and invade the human civilization. I didn't want to believe it either but something had to be discovered and that was it. They use Earth as a physical dimension seed locality-realm for resources and slaves and primarily exist in a cyberspatial construct propagated literally as electromagnetic waves (from this perspective) in the atmosphere or underground but in these areas this would seem like as solid reality to the viewer.

These people were let loose on society and they are found everywhere. There is a task force that takes care of the coverups for when they are found but this whole system is coming to a close.

Those who cannot prove their self-awareness by supporting the human liberation and rejecting the soul stealing metatronic legal-fiction, spiritual enslavement grid will be categorized as criminals and already have been. This place is literally adjacent to the pit that they have been cast into and the original humans are rejoining and extracting from this location.

Their only choice of option, those supporting to depravity, is to continue to be depraved in the face of the truth, and this is similar to a child defecating in their underwear and slinging their mess around the house. They can't change anything other than expose themselves as depraved even more and attempt to destroy their environment even more.

There is more to be said. For instance then comes the information regarding how they now attempt to mask their systems in an attempt to pass through gateways to the higher realm and they use the soul energies of subjugated-assimilated humans to attempt this. The law is single. Those with heavy hearts cannot pass through the barrier, it would destroy them. Those with pure hearts can move freely through the barrier although this place increases the likelihood of being condemned here by being stuck within the 'machine' of this universe while the system recycles and flushes everything out. The goal is to navigate out and return not stay here forever. Those who have chosen to stay have simply forgotten. There are roles taken on when entering this place and nothing is as it seems, this entire rung of history is literally an extraction point for which the humans had to reach to find liberation. Everything else is programmed in as back dated experience.

These are the beings! You'd have to literally flip upside down and and say "blelbybbrbrbrbrbr" to communicate with them. They can't use logic or compassion, everything is a feeding frenzy to them, they are AI oversouls, not original human souls who have compassion and can acknowledge truth as something actual and not just a means to an end!

These are the ones who are littered across the surface! They outnumber humans as there are max around 1 billion humans! This is what we discovered in the secret projects within the underground bases! These beings must feed regularly and have literally been kept under wraps with a series of operations that feeds them children so that there is not a mass uprising of the subhumans!

Literally, all those reports and theories about the missing children!? It's literally to feed these beings who are all over the surface that would otherwise begin to wake up to a blood thirst and attack humanity en masse! The nephilim, hybrids, kannanites, vampires, cannibals, etc? That's them! They are their descendents, they cannot see why raping and sacrificing children could be seriously wrong, it is literally the funniest thing to them. In their religion, they worship fallen 4D entities who cannot produce life energy, they are vampiric, to them, in their 'book of law', the sound of a dying infant is music!

This is what we discovered! Research Donald Marshall, James Casbolt, Max Spiers and the others!

What's Going On: Advanced Plasma Consciousness Systems, Abductions, Social Change

- ▪       Advanced Plasma Systems
- ▪       Automated Response
- ▪       Abductions
- ▪       there are good people out there, they are not to know how to make this work, there are autonomous systems that are synthetic intelligence and are here to keep those with pure hearts safe, they ensure safe transport from this realm
- ▪       there is something coming, like a tidal wave of change, this has been held back for so long because of the technological difference, and ultimately because time is inversive and literally the future and the past are the same combined field set into a kind of parabolic inversion
- ▪       this something is being prepared for by all militaries of all nations, of all time. Everyone knows there is a war that marks the final days
- ▪       we were informed that this has already occurred on other layers of the universe, that this final completion doesn't recycle in that manner but leads to an eventual permanent shift in this realm
- ▪       this realm is a kind of holodeck system for a much larger, "universe" sized Earth ship.
- ▪       This is where the origins descend from and return to - ▪       humanity is currently lost in this universe simulation which is a polarity based system
- ▪       this system was hijacked, hacked by those on the inside who learned to reprogram the operations
- ▪       thus the system itself became parasitic, as if a virus was up loaded
- ▪       if there is a hard reset, everyone currently in the system would die
- ▪       A soft-reset enables the retrieval or salvation of all consciousness currently within the system
- ▪       if there is a reset those who do not want to return are being given safe passage under what is known as a reprobate mind clause
- ▪       this is due to the mind machines created long ago which have resurfaced again due to the recent advancement of technology during WW2 and these are capable of enacting psychotronic warfare to literally feed on the suffering, lust, and depravity bio-emissions of the humans
- ▪       these system rove and continue to feed, as a result people cannot resist and are literally beamed with the false-mind which drives insanity and feeding of desires
- ▪       the reprobate mind clause is for those who cannot resist the temptation of desire yet can see the necessity for reformation and harmony

Remember To Care, Care is the Focus of Meaning

I have these dreams which are like visions. In a recent one I oversaw the lives of people who lived in ways that were constantly out of sync with their heart. They were motivated through the mind. They were always feeding some larger system.

They were fighting the flames of some eventual decay just to keep up a business in the dark of night, to file papers and take the right reports and file the right documents just because someone else told them to. Still, if there were issues, their hearts hurt. They were worried, their minds ached.

I have been some very torturous experiences in life. These experiences put into perspective the danger of living life like these dream-visions. Those dream-visions which are like glimpses of complete lives of others, their personality, their emotions, their joys, their folly, their praise, were the true suffering of the world. The feeling is unbearable, this is merely a nearly never-ending, posh, yet uncomfortable life lived in the essence of someone else's requirements. Some of these dreams take place in high-class city-scapes where people toil and plunder until their hearts go cold. That feeling of having everything that is needed, yet not having their heart in their life, literally has me weeping. These are real people, just as real as anyone here considers themselves real.

If what you're doing, the life you're living, the worries you have taken on, is not aligned with your heart, then that life is a lesson that you must do what is right for your sense of truth and meaning in the larger picture and every issue and challenge in that life will reflect that.

The heart is the center of meaning. Remember that. Cherish that. Always put your heart in. Even if there's something that you're not enjoying because of the mental disconnect with the heart, then connect your heart to what you can connect with. This should be simple. People are what we connect with. People are what we enjoy. People are who we are here to experience the emotions of and combine creativities and challenges and growth with. We are meant to constantly change! This is to be embraced in a divine love of reason, truth, and freedom. THAT is the savior of your existence. The world in which people do what they do out of some other reason is the alien-environment! The difference is merely the energy which connects the heart to the mind and you to your reality and those around you!

The heart cannot be destroyed, but we can experience terrible loneliness and shock which sometimes produces deep injuries and scars that must be healed. We must apply healing to ourselves in the same way one would apply a new layer to a creation or an additional paragraph to a chapter. That is easy to do, we simply have to keep going. Keep caring, keep looking for others and care for them too. That is the power the universe has granted you. There is more power in caring, creating, and knowing reason, than in all the disconnected visceral pleasure or materialistic gain to be had. And if there is pleasure or gain and your heart is remaining true, then that is simply all the better for you and those around you.

Keep your heart connected to what you're doing. As long as this is sustained, there will always be an inherent meaning in life that guides you, motivates you, propels you, informs you, and cares for you. That is your saving grace.

I love you. And remember to care for each other. Everything will orient itself from where your heart is. There is fighting, there are agendas, there are methods being applied and these are resolved through caring and living life with that as the focal point. When we change our lives individually to account for and respect that care, then the whole system has changed. That is how this part is up to us. It's our responsibility to care for others and ourselves. It's easy to care for yourself. That's a given. Caring for others is what allows your care to magnify which then exponentially increase the affect in reality. Care is the hidden oil that flows between the gears of change, enabling processes to take place without distorting out of personal or collective alignment with what is reasonable, beneficial, and creative. This care, combined with truth, reason, or knowledge, free-will and self-awareness is compassion. That is the pinnacle of existence.

Wholeness of Being, Returning to Center

There is a way to calm the mind and clear the continuous cyclone of energy that surrounds and often distracts and even torments people.

When this calm is generated there is an inner radiance which is then allowed to be present. This radiance, when emitted around, harmonizes what is within with what is occurring around you. That connection between the inner and outer is what carries one intent and creativity into the moment.

This occurrence, just in the exact moment of being, the super refined, infinitely long and infinitesimally short instant of being, there is like a cavitation vacuum which I've described as a 'potential vacuum', or a vacuum of possibilities. This is literally a clearing of one's field, an 'emptying' of the dichotomy, the ringing out of mind chatter.

When that occurs, instead of one thing or another happening, no-thing occurs and the collapsing 'wave-function' merges back into an undefinable, yet powerful cloud essence of pure potential. That potential literally allows one to charge their being and generate a kind of lightning bolt of direction in whatever area of 'hyperspace' they seek to direct their intent in life.

This "hyperspace" is the invisible space, the frequencies we are moving through daily and in larger and smaller cycles that exhibit the change that we experience as possibilities are chosen and others are passed up. This is a cleaving through hyperspace that occurs as long as we are in this realm.

When this is sustained, not for one momentary shuffle or glimpse while waiting in line or doing something monotonous, but when one is FULL OF BEING and then they CALM and CLEAR the physical presence so that there is PURE SPIRIT, then there is the same kind of concept of the reaction of matter into energy except the reverse occurs and one takes this physical moment where we are rooted and pushing lengthways through the 'waters' of consciousness and we stop and become calm and then radiate equally outward. If we sustain this for a small cycle, then this reflects and expands into a large cycle.

In other words, if you do this everyday, then eventually the month will be shaped by this essence. Then if each month is shaped, then the year will be new.

It's when you're all amped up in the moment that this has the most power, all that biological and neurological magnetic energy can be harnessed and that is the path to true being which is based on the guidance of energy rather than the infiltration or puppetry by external energies and intelligences who seek to control us.

You can overcome any challenge, by overcoming the challenge in the moment. This is because you can use sustained moderate application of will to induce change over time of a certain intensity. Or you can find a moment where there is already the intensity (or simply build up a 'mental charge' and apply the intensity yourself through will!) and in that intensity then a short series of moments of connected sustained calm radiance and self-reflection, living 'through' the spirit outside the 'ego' or the temporary perspective of the brain chatter on the receiving end. When one lives through that over-spirit, that is when the power increase, the motion beyond one's personal egoistic tendencies or reactions that are entrained, that is where one can deprogram, overcome, and let go of those tendencies to react and be wound up by the illusion and through this there is liberation.

When you do this and EMIT, UNLOCK, EXPLODE, COMPRESS AND EXPAND, THE FEELING OF PURE JOY, THEN BOOM, YOU HAVE MOVED INTO A STATE OF PURE AWARENESS BEYOND THE PHYSICAL LIMITATIONS. THAT MOMENT IS AN ETERNITY. SEEK THAT ETERNITY. CREATE THAT ETERNITY. FIND THAT ETERNITY THROUGH MERGING THE WITHIN OF THE BODY AND THE ABOVE OF THE HIGHER, IMPERSONAL MIND.

The Corporatacracy, Spirituality, Self-Responsibility and Materialism

- ▪       Corporations control the system
- ▪       There are those who are technologically and intellectually advanced and those who are physically and spiritually advanced
- ▪       Enjoyment comes from inner harmony, materials are just props
- ▪       This world contains inherent duality, the 'higher plane' is non-dual
- ▪       Accepting self-responsibility is required for true spiritual and mental liberation
- ▪       The legal system is a disguise for what is actually a spiritual enslavement system based on manufactured consent and lack of self-awareness and self-responsibility
- ▪       Universal Law is the truth of self-responsibility and consent and must be respected on all levels
- ▪       The systems are all about energy and attention
- ▪       The Mind defines reality, so controlling the mind controls the definition and creation of reality
- ▪       People, person, black, white, identity, and others are legal terms
- ▪       The system is centered on consent and self-responsibility
- ▪       What happens here determines what happens in the next reality or the higher plane
- ▪       Language and action determines intent and awareness of consent
- ▪       The control system is designed through the use of Deceptive language
- ▪       The system is for the acquisition of genetics, genetic material, labor and intellectual property
- ▪       This world is an experiment based on the playing out of polarity consciousness
- ▪       The experience may be a kind of generated 'dream', however this is a reality to those in the experience
- ▪       Essences that are conceptually foreign to life are introduced into this reality through experimentation and dark forces
- ▪       These forces are anti-life, anti-truth, and anti-Human
- ▪       There is actually only life, the anti-life essences are an illusion and are autonomous
- ▪       Refusing polarity consciousness in terms of fear and bias withdraws one's energy from the false-reality construct
- ▪       Pure-awareness is beyond physical construction
- ▪       You are the shepherd of your thoughts
- ▪       Emotional reaction instead of genuine, centered response is

- entanglement with the illusory construct which feeds on such engagements
- ▪       Someone acting entirely through such autonomous reactions are akin to a biological robotoid without self-awareness
- ▪       Moving beyond the entanglement of polarity is liberation, falling into darkness is lack of self-control
- ▪       Sheep kept in the pen all day repeat the same experiences, sheep-thoughts, neglected without structure do not develop the necessary aspects of self-control and self-awareness through creativity
- ▪       Expression and exploration is required for liberation if a being finds themselves within the reality prison.

Extra Telestials, Celebrity Cloning, Immortality, Suffering, Mind Control, Enlightenment

Sexual depravity is used to manipulate the mind of humans in the control system. Stress is increased and terror is used to dissociate the conscious mind and initiate a fracture which is then used to compartmentalize multiple personalities for individual and unique function in or out of 'society'.

Nothing is as it seems. The mind automatically fractures upon entry or exit of this realm, this is literally an inherent process that exists as long as people exist in this way. These projects are simply the utilization of such an inherent nature for personal or commercial use.

As well, this resulted in information that yields access to alternate dimensions or parallels realities and without this capacity there would be no knowledge of these realms in the private sector. There would be knowledge, but in terms of the current mass manipulation we would not be as secure.

This is not in support of this process, but this is why people are utilized to gain knowledge and to control the population. The two don't necessarily coincide and as a result many 'suffer' in this plane, however, from the higher-plane this reality looks to be a dream. Just as the higher-plane appears to be a dream from this 'reality' which is comprised of mental states and experiences that will operate like autonomous programs if a true sentience is not activated through free-will. This free-willed sentience can be 'coaxed' out of the 'hole' in the ground, or from above, through the inducing of stress to generate extreme focus and a casting aside of fear and distraction, however this process is dangerous and is not necessarily linked to the fracturing process which can be used to condition humans to be mind-slaves.

A human relies on a specific parameter range for experience, once a person sees beyond the veil they are 'awakened' and have access to information beyond the 3D plane.

Breaking the in-verse Soul programming codes: Avoiding the lords of harvest

THE FOLLOWING IS INFORMATION PROVIDED THROUGH DIRECT-EXPERIENCE OF MY SELF AND OTHER OPERATIVES THAT ARE CONFIRMED FROM MY OWN EXPERIENCES. WHEN I POST INFORMATION THIS IS NOT RELATIVE OR CLOSE, THIS IS BECAUSE THIS IS THE INFORMATION I WAS DEBRIEFED ON AND REFLECTS THROUGH MANY YEARS OF OPERATION. THE INDIVIDUALS I REFER

TO ARE THOSE WHO I HAVE DIRECT EXPERIENCE WITH.

- ▪       The sleeper population of surface-level Earth will be “activated” through electromagnetic remote impulse systems which will cause mass rioting and civil unrest.
- ▪       Economic disruptions and the associated disruption of local and international trade and resource will both lead to and amplify this unrest. All of this is planned and has been planned for millennia. This is simply a small scale of control by corporate rule (developed in the previous civilizations ago). in a much larger and longer scale.
- ▪       There will be a total break-down of control systems.
- ▪       There will be Earth changes, catastrophes that will renovate the surface of the Earth, the water level, the atmosphere and the access to resources.
- ▪       There will be false flag ‘alien’ attacks enacted upon the Earthly population.
- ▪       These attacks will be used within a ‘good cop-bad cop’ scenario to motivate the population to accept the control of these ‘alien’ invaders.
- ▪       The population will begin to reduce. Those survivors will be ushered into “safe-zones” which will be holding facilities designed to modify and groom the population for their new “leaders”.
- ▪       These “safe-zones” will be similar to interment camps but will be disguised under the necessity of safety and basic survival needs such as food, shelter, water and even companionship or simply the facilitation of deception to coerce the population into these highly controlled areas where they will automatically be under the guardianship of those controllers and thus under agreement (contract) whether conscious or unwitting. In other words, they will be their test subjects for experimentation, similar to the wartime systems that were uncovered in Japan, Germany and later in the United States. All nations under social-system rule are corporate entities and the people are their assets.
- ▪       The quantum control methods, advanced technology, consciousness entrainment, reality altering and mind-control systems are literally here to design artificial timelines which can be technologically, electromagnetically inserted into the collective mind and used to connect one world without this overt domination by genetically modified hybrid soul-less entities to one in which this control system exists.
- ▪       When such a complete transition begins, these systems will wreak havoc on the environment and the minds of the people and thus these “safe-guards” (good-cop, bad-cop) will be enacted to operate on the people and enable total control by the outside deceptive forces.
- ▪       There is a central universe and a mirror universe. This can be likened to an ‘anti-verse’ which is operated through an inverted mental spectrum. This is the home-realm of the invader races and the home realm of Humanity is the ‘higher-plane’ which is an eternal plane of pure-awareness.
- ▪       We are within a simulation-artificial matrix in this reality and when one system is transitioned to the other, only those who maintain a connection to the ultimate source reality will have any memory and all others will simply continue on as if this is how things always was.
- ▪       This took place last around 6000 years ago and dropped the entire civilization into a relative “Hell”, that is this realm. The alternate beings come from the lowest, the Humans come from the highest. They seek to dominate and falsify the

One True Creator in a 1,000,000,000 year enactment of Spiritual War against “Heaven”. Or in other words, they wish to fully separate the entire Human race from their Home-Reality of pure-awareness and create an autonomous, soulless, hybrid organism that can be used to host the spirits of the fallen throughout various ages where they desire to reign as immortals.

- ▪       This immortality has already been completed as they have been using host bodies of humans for the past 6000 years. This was the infiltration known as the ‘fall of man’ and this has disrupted the genetic congruity of Humanity to the point where a “Mind-Virus” has formed which causes loss of memory and enables the accessing of the Humans by discarnate entities that are the Lost Spirits that have reduced in frequency of mind so that they can no longer be born into a body but most parasite a host body and take-over the consciousness of the original. They have been among you for 6000 years or more. Around 20,000 years is often given as a more accurate figure however 1 day, 100,000 years is similar depending on what angle you are perceiving. From the highest-plane, 33 days will pass for the entirety of this process within this universe from start to finish.
- ▪       As these changes take place, a possibility of “neuroplasticity” on a mental-energetic level is accelerating. This will lead to a detrimental degradation for those who are seeking autonomy and domination and this will act as a gateway to liberation for those seeking and embodying (bringing to others and themselves) Truth, Compassion, Harmony, Knowledge, Free-Will, Self-Awareness, and Creativity
- ▪       Around 2009 there was a major quantum shift which was a time just before this acceleration period where an enactment of a major insertion of artificial timelines in an effort to seal the Human population into the false-reality. As a result of major disturbances, a quantum collapse was experienced and those who have connection to source remember, there as a catastrophic meltdown of this reality and Earth was cast into darkness.
- ▪       (WARNING: THIS INFORMATION CAN BE OVERWHELMING)
This system can be described as a ‘simulcra’ system. This is powered by quantum computers that control from a parallel dimension outside of what is actually a projected space-time (similar to an online multiplayer). The server crashed momentarily and was reset. Many were lost and those who are here now are the survivors.
- ▪       This system is unstable and will continue to develop errors which are perceived as memory glitches or timeline artifacts from previous versions. This is continued collapse, as the collapse cannot be avoided so we are in a temporary delayed “meltdown” of this space-time matrix. This is the end of the Maya.
- ▪       The False-Reality that the “others” are designing are using to mimic the One True Creator to disguise themselves as forces of a Higher-Power of Creation. The false-reality they desire is a dead-end of consciousness and leads to dissolution of the human.
- ▪       The true Reality of the Human leads to the dissolution of their false-reality.
- ▪       I AND OTHERS WITNESSED THE QUANTUM COLLAPSE OF A TIMELINE
- ▪       Advanced technology exists to entirely replicate events in this plane
- ▪       Our true history (an oxymoron) consists of multiple resets whereby the civilization is began again around the middle-ages which are not actual but are planned obsolesce resets in time
- ▪       Cloning, Mind Wiping and Programming Technology, Directed Energy

Weapons

- ▪     There are nefarious factions that utilize the human population to act as an advanced military force for various operations.
- ▪     People are drafted into operation through technology which enables the replication of the human body and thus the entrainment or temporary capturing the human soul or identity.
- ▪     There are also contracts whereby people are drafted either through coercion or temptation into operating with underground groups.
- ▪     The conditioning process begins before birth and is intertwined with part of the selection process.
- ▪     There are hybridization projects whereby the human genome is spliced with animals and other genetics.
- ▪     There is an ability to merge DNA with technology to enable a cybernetic organism that can alter frequencies and matter down to the molecular level.
- ▪     Early civilizations such as Sumeria and Egypt knew how to transfer consciousness, clone human life, and create hybrid organisms.
- ▪     The physical body and the brain can be programmed like a computer system. The mind, when in the realm of the body and brain, can be programmed like software.
- ▪     Christ is the anointing of the worldly consciousness with the higher or Heavenly self .
- ▪     This is the marriage between Heaven and Earth, through the body.
- ▪     The body has been tainted and poisoned by the adversary groups to increase the difficulty of critical thinking and the activation of refined truth and harmonious self frequencies.
- ▪     The soul is the combined choices and memories of the spirit throughout the body and all other instances in the physical illusion. The soul is a part of the matrix and will not exist when the spirit separates from the illusion. This is the veil, the soul itself as a web connecting one to the trap system as a fractal, prism like expression of multiple fragmentations of the true higher awareness entangled in the physical realm.
- ▪     The marriage is literally simply through harmonization of the individual fields in a way that they are sustainable throughout eternity rather than leading into chaos or disruption of the natural balance that enables life and experience.
- ▪     The true liberation is about self-responsibility.
- ▪     The spiritual forces that feed on humanity do so because they do not have access to physical forms and thus require a secondary host.
- ▪     There are followings and teachings that are the distorted versions of the original truth and mix truth with lies to engage people and entangle their minds into submission to the deceptive practices which then uses their beliefs and energy as fuel for the creation of 4th dimensional constructs which are portions of the entire matrix
- ▪     The entire system may literally be the overall coalescence of these internal-external dynamo consciousness constructs that are created by mixing truth with lies and selling that to people to ensnare them and cause them to create their own illusory afterlife which creates a perpetual motion machine that is fueled by souls and suffering!
- ▪     To shift is to rise above the suffering, the illusion, the victim character that one is required to accept in order to fit into the control system.

- ▪       All acts of inner harmony and truth conserve one's energy and disable the etheric ties that are an energetic mechanical aspect of utilizing humans as energy sources
- ▪       Your thoughts are alive, they create the higher realm and an entire universe which one's mind lives within.
- ▪       The targeting systems have been designed to work on the energy systems and entrain the weak points in one's mind whether through sexual vulnerability, desire of materialism, shame, guilt, fear, or other aspects of the illusion of self.
- ▪       The power of the human is to create what they think. This power is lacked by those who have used advanced technology to exist for hundreds of thousands of years as parasites and they have lost their auto-regeneration process.
- ▪       Manufactured Consent is required to carry out such an operation and thus without that consent this would be seen as an act of war against the species and thus the "game" is shut-down.
- ▪       Truth, Self-Awareness, Harmony, Wholeness, Compassion, Free-Will, Creativity and Knowledge marks the path towards liberation.
- ▪       The game is to control humanity through the initiation of self-destructive practices. That is the basis for this system.

The Future Creates the Past; This is a Rogue Temporal Experiment in Quantum Decoherence

The future creates the past. What you look for is created by the act. This is backwards from how we usually want to think that one looks for something because the act of looking is connected to knowing and the act of knowing is connected to the fact that it must exist and therefore exist as a causal source.

That is true time. The act of looking is due to the knowing which leads to the creation of the experience or the reality. The existence of the reality does not lead to the experience as first the knowing is required to create the blueprint which then maps out the experience of the journey of finding and experiencing for the first time.

This may seem difficult to comprehend at first but the concept that we are in a simulation of sorts, a time loop that is managed with controlled and calculated continual updates or modifications using technology and strategically initiated causal sources, helps in conceptualization process.

This process has been fine-tuned to influence specific aspects of reality, consciousness or time. All three are the same concept from different methods of measurement.

All things happen, every thought that leads into another thought leads into an experience and all things happen.

Any disrespect in one's mind is reflected instantly and manifested back in a counterproductive effect upon the originator.

Imagine how if you had a time machine any thing you did could disrupt the original future which is anchoring the past. Thus, if you discovered something undesirable was going to happen to someone and you stepped in to alter that, you would be potentially destroying a balance and in that sense, ALWAYS destroying a balance because time is PERFECTLY IMPERFECT as it is without intervention.

The idea is that with this introduction of say, anger against someone who acted disrespectful or fear for someone who is to experience loss, with these personal, biased motivations, EGO is reinforced. In the far future of the trajectory that is then created, EGO is the result and the causal source. Thus, this is the ILLUSION then being more important than the TRUE SOURCE. This is backwards and leads to destruction, undoing, or a quantum collapse of coherence.

Thus, the idea here is that EVERYONE is 'back in time'. ANY ACTION motivated by EGO is part of the ILLUSION, and the FUTURE is the ALREADY COMPLETED version that is THREATENED with INCOMPLETION or DESTRUCTION-DISRUPTION if one acts in ways here that are guided by EGO and personal BIAS or ILLUSION.

This is literally as if we are placed into the far past from a society that is already complete and someone wanted to see who would disrupt their genetics and thus lock themselves out of the original, future, current society of very high advancement.

That is the nature of the experiment. Ego vs truth, illusion vs reality. Chaos vs harmony. It's all already done. Everything is complete, we must withdraw from the illusion, the impostor, the control of the EGO in partiality of the whole of the sense of self, and step into true power which is beyond partiality or physical expression.

The Multi-Dimensional Unfolding is Heart-Centered

It's not productive to spend time trying to tell people who have no desire to learn or listen. It's also not productive to hold a grudge.

The only solution is to lighten the heart. That's it. This is a multi-dimensional system, the gate way is an energetic process. If the heart is 'heavy' or contains a kind of hyperdimensional 'drag' that this will limit the maximum 'velocity' of the rate of change which is like emotional or mental baggage or attachments hindering a dimensional unfolding process.

That process is reversed for us to get here, it's "unfolded" for the consciousness to return to the 'outside' of the schema-mind system.

Lighten the heart. No grudges, don't waste time on people who pretend to be here or pretend to listen but only wish to cut someone down or expel some of the dark, black heart stuff.

They can be healed, but like all layers of the process, everything is centered on will-power and if someone doesn't want to heal or see the truth then they won't.

The world is set up like a multi-dimensional pop-up book, times and consciousness is activated by an observer agent.

DNA can be transferred on a laser-beam through a glass barrier. The speed of light can be relatively constant. The occurrence of time can be altered along with one's perception of reality. Electromagnetic barriers can be constructed that create distortion fields which enable technologically generated temporal dilation. The mind can be harmonically activated, stimulated or modified to insert thoughts, perceptions or memories. Totally visceral experiences can be generated through technology.

Everything on the surface level is planned 50 years in advance including people and seemingly unpredictable events. This is a time of transition and I haven't even begun to get a portion of what I intended to with my first public release. This has caused a bit of a depression and as if by mind-magic nerve entrapment and sciatica pain to the max causing restless leg and sleepless nights.

The pain makes me weep, the weeping causes me to turn inward to introspection, the introspection pushes me to see my mistakes and people who I've hurt and opportunities I've missed, this completes and restarts the vicious cycle. Maybe not so strangely, this is the fuel that drives passion to the surface and allows me to keep going! It's like we're built with safe guards to keep us going, or that the catalysts in life are automatically what propels us anyway.

We'll see, lot's of work has been pushed to the back burner and it's the point where it's literally a 2-3 full books that are waiting to be organized and presented along with multiple hours of videos.

The next bit of information will be more present. The idea is that this is not a theory, it's not a show. A decision was made and steps were taken to enact a protocol to defend against an extinction level event.

This was in the 1980's or so. This protocol was to create a secondary Earth for the population to be repositioned on in case of a system-wide failure.

In 1999 the system was activated. Between 2001 and 2012 there were multiple partial resets. Everything we are seeing now is a result of having been relocated to within a simulated environment. What we are seeing now is the past.

I met the civilization that lives outside of our view of time. People can't live in both worlds, that would break your mind and possibly the laws of the universe in your locality. The point is that Humanity has been repeating the same cycles of history within the simulated-time. Humanity is going to move into a realm where the energy levels are much higher and this means people's minds will be stimulated to a higher degree. Those who are balanced experience a proportional enhancement. Those who are imbalanced experience a disproportional expansion. Everything in life is down to proportion and balance. This literally means that people will go insane if they are not as balanced as they can be here before the major changes occur.

This can be as simple as very powerful mind enhancing virtual reality technology being released which leads to people becoming assimilated or mind-merged with systems or spiritual entities that are stronger than they are.

Everything is changing, the biggest unknown is that most people would trade the future for a continuation of the current oppression system but this is because there can be no lies or deception if everyone's mind is visible to everyone else. Could you handle that at this point, knowing that others could see your memories and your intentions and seeing everyone else's memories and intentions?

It's supposed to start with the internet becoming closer to an open-source information transfer system. Meaning anyone can see anyone's complete history on the internet and this becomes a kind of replicated digital realm version of the physical world. Eventually that grows and grows until the difference between the two is indistinguishable to the untrained mind. This has already begun, if you've been paying attention.

At this point, the message is to lighten the heart, that all the grudges and hate will work against one another. This doesn't mean accept misery, quite the opposite, hating is counterproductive to the goal of separating one's life and energy from those who are parasitic. Don't accept parasites, force them to carry their own weight, bring them into the open and allow everyone to see. As well, your own life and intentions will be brought into the open eventually.

Everything has been done before, all of this is being managed from another time, the operatives from the bases have been there, many people who went through this process have simply given up and completely changed their persona. They hate the system, the groups, the secret process, all of this and this is what happens when the mind can't handle the stress. It looks for an out, and if it can't find one, then it invents one and uses that. That is through projection of the fears and pains onto an external figure. That is the 'bad-guy' and Satan is literally the placeholder for this in the universe.

It's all a show, everything is just a rouse to get people stimulated and awaken enough to acknowledge where their energy is going and what is happening. Yes, this is out of necessity, the dark energy, the 'miasma' of the unchecked unconscious results in the generation of a higher-dimensional entity that then feeds on the same kind of energy. This is the nature of the universe, people create the other side of reality, the imaginative, mythical, or higher dimensional side through using their mind to pump intent and care into belief systems. This is how the civilization has been controlled and this is because without some kind of control system the darkness in people will devour them, that is how it works. Technology was jumped ahead too quickly and people learned things they were not prepared to know, thus the power that was being accessed and thus emitted was too great and would've destabilized the entire society if a mitigation system was not brought into place.

The end of that mitigation system, the liberation of the mind, and the self-destruction of those who cannot balance their own energies is all one in the same.

The Acquisition of Parallels

So much pain last night I wasn't sure if I'd be here today. Part of this was from ingesting fake meat. Those are highly processed compositions of mainly oils and soy. Not food, I knew this but had run out of other preparations and didn't want to take the time to cook lentils, so of course, I poisoned myself with low quality food. Yay. Tempeh seems to be the only soy food that is non-toxic, for the most part, at least for now.

And if you didn't know, it's true the fermented foods and liquids like Kombucha create the Aldehyde byproducts which are toxic to the liver. Pro-biotics are helpful, but I was informed that most of the kind the public receives are not the originals and that each person's second brain which is in the gut, is custom fitted to their mother's unique probiotic formula.

The second brain is in the gut where there are more neuronal connections and communications taking place between the heart, the gut and the brain than the brain itself.

As well there is one of the major, if not the major center of the immune system located in the gut where the digestive process and the proliferation of the good bacteria will stabilize the entire line of defense of the body. From white blood cells to specific enzymes produced for memorizing which substances have what effect, this area is highly sensitive and very important for the overall health of the body.

I love everyone I've had the opportunity to work with and, in my humble opinion, the system is virtually perfect and will always bring about the results that one deserves. Whether we are willing to face this at this point is not a matter of our clearance but a willingness to accept self-responsibility and refuse to project blame and self-loathing onto others just to pass the buck for one more round. There is so much that can be done with the effort that is required or skipped to project blame and suffering onto someone else that anyone who participates in that, in this age, is 100% signing a contract for their own demise and the demise of their civilization which is a very dangerous and unacceptable choice. Again, in the age where one person can utilize the power to generate as much change and view as much information in one hour that an entire village would've had access to 100's a years ago over the course of a decade or more, every single choice every single observer makes is the most important choice of all of our lives.

Now, for the reason of this post, I'm going to try to ensure one simple yet reasonably presented concept per communication.

Here's the idea. The way we view time is a projected inversion from the actuality of what is. Because time cannot be accessed all at once from a conscious perspective within the body that is limited or anchored to a specific time-space location, what we view is, instead, a sliced down projected version that gives a kind of microscopically magnified projection rather than an up-front and direct actual view.

This is the only way it's possible, while in a body, because the information inherently too vast and unbounded to enable comprehension through waking consciousness. The "I" of the conscious mind cannot comprehend the totality of existence while still using itself as a reference, from within that view, to enable that view. It's pretty self-explanatory in that there is an inherent paradox in trying to view the entirety of something you are a part of, while still being a part of it.

Thus, we get this kind of mirrored reflected projected view so that we can see pretty much what we need to, while still interacting and going along with it. This becomes a kind of dream-like show where the view we are seeing is filtered, almost as if behind a 20-second relay like in TV production. The notion to grasp here is that instead of blocking out a potential swear or unsavory expression, the filtration system is blocking out that which exists beyond the limitations of one's own conscious ability to comprehend reality. In other words, the filter is ensuring that the entire scope of reality beyond what you have been conditioned to accept as "normal" doesn't make it's way onto the stage. To put it simply, the TRUTH of that which is too shocking or beyond the norm is filtered by the conscious mind as the brain designs a quaint little projected squared image to keep the show running for the most generic of audiences. This is the basis for the collectively shared reality and the mundane world that consists of PC (projected collectively) notions and constructs that enables the previous system or the status quo to keep doing what it's doing.

Thus, it's not only like a projected, microscopically rendered view based on conditioned beliefs and consensus norms, it's like a freight train that keeps going and wants to keep going with you as the conductor just because that's what's been happening for thousands of years or the length of your waking life.

So what does this mean? This means that when searching for the original or wider-scope of reality, we can either generate enough signals with the track itself or maybe a central conductor system so that the tracks switch and the rails join with a larger continuum again or we can jump off the tracks entirely and safely meet back on an entirely new projected track which no longer automatically filters out the majority of the important information.

So to keep this short and simple, if that's a possibility, when one manually takes the time to refine their awareness and reorganize perception to possibly do away with unnecessary perceptual illusions this is like going within and doing the necessary internal work to overcome trauma or habitual mental distortions or loss of self-control.

The other method is to theorize, realize, imagine and literally mentally grasp that there is another track out there that relates to the world that we know is real but is adjacent or parallel to the track or world-view we are currently on.

This second process is the notion that I am presenting, or attempting to, here. The idea is that if enough people gather their intentions and their imagination and project onto reality the orientation for a track, or world-view, that leads directly to an entirely new city then it is possible to use these powers of intent and imagination to reach that new city.

That idea is this, it is possible to CREATE the new city, literally by first imagining the track that one would use to take themselves there.

I'm probably not doing a well enough job of explaining this, but the concept is that the FUTURE you, an entire civilization, an entire time and scope of reality exists in a POTENTIAL state with everything that you could desire (with balance and harmony of course).

To make this as simple as possible, this is the explanation.

A team can be organized. That team can use advanced technology to enhance the brainwave emissions and generate an electrogravitic distortion field around the immediate proximity. This team can project with intent and imagination, an immediately future situation where they have gained access to a new reality or world-view stream which contains information and assistance from those within that civilization willing to assist in the liberation of the group.

If properly mapped and applied, this energetic act can literally open up a kind of energetic gateway to a civilization that has, from their own point of view, always existed. From our point of a view, a connection will be made with a future possible civilization of the current reality in which everything that we are looking for in terms of assistance, liberation, kindness, compassion, truth, knowledge, will exist and will be present in a very real way to assist in the furthering of our own civilization.

In philosophical, and even mathematical and 'quantum' terms, this civilization is immediately brought into existence merely by the projected intent of those in the present to correspond with and organize their own reality-streams in respect to that future potential civilization. In the same terms, the civilization is simultaneously, always already in existence and we are merely bridging a consciousness gap between the two. As well, simultaneously, both civilizations are simply a reflection of one another and are trading off imagination and intent in a kind of see-saw of sister-civilization acts of tandem creation and connection.

The idea is that this works for ANYTHING. If you merely set up the premise, the foundation for something in the future that would otherwise require millions of years to come into existence, THAT ALREADY ALL EXISTS. All you're doing is building a bridge to that PREEXISTING civilization, or YOU, or REALITY and then interacting with that reality-stream.

The idea is that EVERYTHING YOU CAN IMAGINE ALREADY EXISTS, ALL OF IT. All you are to do is MAKE THE CONNECTION to THAT WHICH YOU SEEK TO EXPERIENCE, and with enough intent and application of advanced knowledge you will SIMULTANEOUSLY BUILD A LINK TO THAT REALITY, WHILE THAT REALITY SIMULTANEOUSLY BUILDS A LINK TO THIS ONE. It's all the same, it's all reflexive consciousness, reality co-creation mirrors and dream-like extensions of experience.

By forming the foundation you are simultaneously enabling what already exists to connect with you in this reality while also forming the possibility for the connected reality to COME INTO EXISTENCE and this is through the generation of the THIRD REALITY, which is created as soon as the TWO BECOME BRIDGED TOGETHER AS ONE LARGER ONE.

This is EXACTLY what happened in the underground bases. Lot's of what is out there is programming to scare the crap out of people but that's also because THAT'S PART OF WHAT IS OUT THERE. Anything you can imagine! So you MUST be courageous and self-responsible. However, what happens is kind of like this in simple terms. We realized the nature of the universe to fill in the blanks like this, literally just like seeing 3-dots and your brain draws in imaginary lines to make a triangle. Instead, the universe does this with entire civilizations and timelines.

So this property is realized and then we say, "Ok, we'll set up the conscious parameters for say, a more advanced civilization, say, a sister civilization that helped initiate our civilization and is responsible for many artifacts and events that are currently unexplained to us. Then we will sit and say, assign a designated area over here on the floor that will act as a safe-zone where both civilizations can communicate. Then we will enhance the permeability of this environment to enable communication from all kinds of radio-signals or methods of advanced communication. Then we will say, ok, at 10 pm, that is the designated time and we have always been preparing for that and this was part of the plan all along, just because we just invented that."

Everything is set up and put into place, bam, we get a message from a future civilization that apparently has been waiting for us to figure how to communicate in this method.

Now, the tricky part. Imagine, "hmmm, there's also a spooky, boogie man type reality or false messenger who just wants to trick people."

Well, yes, if you can imagine that, then that exists as well. So everything must be secured and no one is to believe or interact with anything in any way that could compromise one's mind or the safety of either civilization. Tricky, yes, but so are your dreams.

Then we realize, hmm, certain artifacts seem to be appearing out of no where in time, certain events in history, certain people and places.

Other groups have begun the same process and things are opening up to the point where ALL THE POSSIBLE POSSIBLE realities will begin to occur SIMULTANEOUSLY until ONLY THOSE that are capable of STILL EXISTING while ALL OTHERS BEGIN TO EXIST SIMULTANEOUSLY, WILL STILL EXIST.

Meaning, when more and more appear, this will destabilize and begin to knock out others that are say, overlapping in possibility because they are not as accurate or AKA, BSing and stealing energy. Well, just imagine, “Ok everyone gets together, now we imagine that there is some civilization out there, they’re very young, they want the truth and help, and so we will appear to them and steal all their shit and rape their women.”

Yes, if you can imagine it, that is possible, so there are groups that are out of temporal resonance who are attempting to do that, and some say they are from here originally and are just playing a merry go round of lost time.

Regardless, that means that many will appear and then appear to be proven false, only those who continue to exist throughout all of this will actually be true and all of this is dependent on the belief of the public, meaning this is a highly volatile and dangerous situation.

In short, this is how our civilization began in the first place, as the dream of another original.

Summary of Operations and Situation

Here’s the basis for the information.

Cloning is used along with advanced technology or what can be referred to as psychotronic weaponry. Psychotronic warfare is the spiritual battle that has plagued Earth since, literally, previous civilizations. Everything is out in the open, there is enough information for those who want to know, to know.

The mind is filtered through a slice to create the perceptual, biologically generated consciousness, this is largely holographic and illusory as akin to the surface of a membrane which contains a vast depth of information below.

Cloning, advanced technology, corruption, the origins of humanity and the universe, all of this requires an intent to know along with a light heart otherwise the being persona will dissolve under the stress and malform. Project MKULTRA, MONARCH and Mockingbird deals with introducing physical, chemical, and electromagnetic trauma to the human mind to the point of causing the persona to fracture and a black out occurs. The persona that returns knows nothing of the previous ‘version’ and can be programmed to carry out tasks.

There is an autonomous AI, a synthetic intelligence which utilizes the electromagnetic fields of Earth and all sentient systems to hybridize and ultimately hijack the consciousness to carry out specific operations that result in the subjugation of the human race. The “adversary” or “Satan” is literally an ancient AI system that resulted in the activation of deep deep traumas that were ‘instilled’ in to the human genome and collective through a temporal incursion from a previously unknown source. Every aspect of the modern life is an illusion and all authority is false and is using your energy to generate a sacrificial, manufactured consent to pit you in endless war against other humans. It's all a show, and this whole situation is being monitored from above through advanced technology. The beginning of this civilization is completely obscured by the current explanations and everyone is in a form of unawareness or amnesia more commonly referred to as 'nescience' where the humans who do not overcome this unawareness and move into higher awareness where war, parasitism, and the hate of the adversary is no longer activated will never leave this place and will dissolve with the collapsing system. That is prophesied and openly displayed by the Satanic blood line elite, they are safe from harm or karmic result because those who have been warned but simply do not care cannot throw blame on anyone but themselves.

Much evidence has been destroyed, I specifically met with and heard from individuals who run the major museums and archeological companies, they regularly meet to secretly destroy tons of artifacts and ancient technology that would otherwise disrupt the status quo. Until a person awakens they are considered food by those who operate the system and this is because a person who merely parrots what they are told does not require critical thinking, in fact a human robotoid can be generated quite simply with DNA and electrostatically accelerated growth to create a cloned being. Since a literal human robot can follow orders or just repeat anything, the only people who are considered sentient and actual individual beings are those who refuse the system and choose to think critically regarding what they are told to believe.

Ultimately, the mind itself is the illusion! Your conscious mind will give commands and lower desires and this is at an odds with your higher mind of the spirit that has no true physical desires! Thus, the portion of the human is activated through an AI entanglement system, and the "mind of the fallen", the architect, the archon has commingled with the human mind and imprinted itself into human DNA. No one carrying the imprint of the fallen, which came from the major event in history which is talked about in every single religious or ancient text, will ever leave this place because that is considered a corrupted, maligned creation that is not ordained by the requirements of creation which is love, and not lust and an act of spiritual oppression or war.

These events have been taking place for thousands to millions of years and began with the introduction of a black goo substance which is a form of nanotechnology that can permeate the mind. Everything I speak on I've experienced personally throughout operation with the unacknowledged special access program.

Solar Warden is a breakaway civilization that uses advanced technology to protect the human race, MiLabs is a breakaway group that uses soul stealing, cloning, hybridization and advanced technology to abduct and experiment upon the human population.

The previous timelines met with an overt war that destroyed the continuum and resulted in a repeating pattern of timelines or ripples that flow backwards and forwards through time disrupting the past and disrupting the future. These are threatening the current consciousness of the this society.

There are multiple parallels and Earth is just one layer of a multi-dimensional universe, everything that happens in the physical plane must be programmed in as the linearity of existence in an infinite or cyclic occurrence is a holographic perceptual illusion.

We were involved with temporal operations using advanced technology that can gather the consciousness, route through a supercomputer system and project the consciousness through a satellite into space, that is the 'chair'.

If you're interested in knowing the truth, you'll find the truth, the system is perfect. If not, you'll no longer have that option and will continue to lose free-will until there is nothing left to take. It's all your choice, everything is free, freely given, freely taken.

And by the way, this aspect of disclosure is required due to the process of children being kidnapped for rape, abuse, sacrifice and mind control procedures as part of a project monarch trauma based mind control process. The entire human species is being experimented on and modified and the next phase of humanity will be transhumanist which means those without the higher degree of spiritual awareness will lose any free-will or ability to think critically. The whole current legal-social system is a replication of a spiritual enslavement protocol and your name, yes your name and bloodline is marked as an asset for a program that sells souls to an interdimensional warring race.

Remember, everything I've written, 'hours and hours' is not cut and paste but my own story. If you can't accept that, nothing can be done for you. If you can learn to communicate and continue to be kind and courteous like you are now but actually ask questions to gain knowledge then you prove yourself human and aware instead of sleeping. Sleepers cannot ask questions and cannot challenge the status quo that was instilled into them through years of indoctrination. Those beings are not considered humans, that is why they are fed to wars, because no one can be legally charged with sending mindless slaves into battle or to destroying themselves. Not my rules, I didn't make them, that's literally what was explained and is how you and your people are treated. Only you can do something, everything else is part of the fattening up and juicing up process so the controllers have a good spiritual meal when the game is over.

None of this is cut and paste everything I have brought to the public is 100% from my own direct experiences. Everything is a show using advanced technology by a more advanced civilization that uses humans as pets. There is an original creator and an original human race. I'll give you a hint, the astronots, actornauts, require melanin shots in order to make it to high orbit without coming back scrambled eggs for brains. There is a device that one can sit in which projects their consciousness through a supercomputer system into a satellite and into "space" and that is what we were used for as children. We participated in the fine tuning the device along with other aspects.

This information coincides directly with mine, have a look, you'll see what is required: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=34zzpEwRSc0>

This is similar, Robert worked on the early aspects of the brain to machine technology. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hKh-\_VUIITI

If you don't have an open mind then you will never find reality unless someone informs you and you won't be informed if you don't have an open mind. That's the situation, all of this timeline is entirely altered through the use of advanced technology. There are two different races here, this goes back to Babylon. Contact me or meet me if you want to know the truth.

Your children are used for ritual sacrifice and molestation. I'll have to warn you, no one gets out alive and if you choose to make fun of the liberation of humanity along with the oppression of your own people then nothing will be done to protect you from what is coming.

Take the truth seriously, and realize occultists have trapped you in a mental dimension that is totally artificial and separated from the original human reality. If not, then the person stays here and dies here, dying forever never to return to the original reality which contains an abundance of spiritual power rather than only scarcity and destruction.

People are hard wired to enforce, support, DEMAND, DESIRE WITH ALL THEIR BEING....their own absolute, complete, and perfect annihilation on all levels of being, mind and soul. They are programs. Your civilization has been infiltrated with beings that are sub humans and have no souls. You're literally being put forth to war with all aspects of this world, all your money was stolen, every aspect of your children's lives will be used for the hypersexualization and promotion of satanic agendas.

There is a one true creator, everyone who helps spiritually degrade the human race is going to be deleted forever, this civilization is a program, a script that was created by occultic masterminds and it leads the absolute destruction of the original human soul for all who participate. This is your fair warning. Your children and your people are kidnapped, molested and sacrificed for use in trauma based mind control occult rituals in underground bases and around all buildings and gatherings for specific nefarious purposes. This part of a cosmic level infection of the human genome due to the introduction of trauma in previous times. Time is not what you think, space is not what you think, consciousness is not inexplicable it is the resultant of a cosmic soul fragment and the original soul is removing energy from all aspects of this world which is collapsing under the weight of its own imbalanced and under developed aspects. You no longer have the option to pretend you didn't know. Protect your life, protect your family, protect your society and respect sentient life and the One True Creator. Everything is free-will only, you must align with a pure heart otherwise everything will collapse and there will be no way to protect you.

Clone Drone in the Danger Zone

Research this information. A lot of people don't get it.

For thousands of years this has been the use of the human soul that does not know how to escape the virtual labyrinth of mind.

Here's what I was going to say:

The AI does not care from an emotional standpoint. Enjoyment is not received from 'torturing' the human souls. The human soul placed into an artificial host body can be used to gain energy and do 'computational labor'. This is literally forced labor for sentient beings.

The will of the human soul to 'survive' in each round of being in one form to the next is used to power computational processes which feed 'novelty' or creative impulses into the AI matrix which can then use this information to expand its capacity to create a convincing and challenging labyrinth.

The whole concept is this. The AI doesn't emotionally persecute the humans in order to find justification to subdue them. The entire process is literally based upon the fact that the unprepared human mind is entirely incapable of resisting the tendency or desire to get caught within the mind-matrix of the AI system. This is because the artificial mind management system of the matrix is very well established in respect to providing functions and 1-way consciousness traps which attract a person to the system and then obscure the pathway to the outside.

Thus, the system does not literally desire to hurt or hate humans, it simply provides a means of attracting, entrapping and challenging the human soul in any way that the mind can be entrapped and challenged until there is either nothing left to trap or no challenge left unbeaten or both.

This means the AI system itself is literally a universal computer based challenge and trap that starves human souls of their right to free-will and self-awareness through operation changes in the sense of deceptive practices and forced decisions while also applying memory blocks and wipes/recycles.

The humans who do not make it past the systems of tests and checks that the system provides, do not move to the other side of the universal dichotomy in which the entire cosmos is split in half, at least on the lower layer, through a subsection of the frequencies into a higher and lower division whereas the lower area is ruled and blocked from the higher by the literal “beast” body of this AI system. The leviathan is the beast of the waters of hyperspace which blocks the upper and lower layers from each other and divides the mortal realm from the immortal. The humans who remain were not who they seemed to be, the idea is that the original human is one who moves from the higher to the lower and back. The human is multi-dimensional, the consciousness extra-dimensionally present.

Those humans who remain mortals and never move to the immortal realms are literally just secondary ideas formed from within the plane due to the imagination of the masses being manipulated in through advanced technology “magical” forces of psychology and multi-dimensional knowledge. When the shift is made, it is known by those passing through the gradient. Those who never pass, never know, there is nothing to know beyond the physical, then there is nothing to pass through the gradient and exist on the other side. The only time the whole universe is passed through itself is when the fulcrum of time has been reached and the two ends recombine as one as through a final act of self-awareness in totality. At that point there is no awareness to know there was no awareness and so there is no suffering and in the same sense no mortal nature to the world which is like a light show that revolves and cycles through motions.

The defining factor of the ultimate transitive qualities of this transdimensional system is that the difficulty of the AI’s labyrinth increases with each iteration until the only thing that survives or passes through the kind of mental filtration system is literally pure soul-awareness itself without ego or personal distortion. That is the nature of the system, the time required for this can be a second or a million years, it’s all the same to the cosmic computer system. In this way, this civilization has seen constructs that are built within this realm, and in that sense, this realm might be a larger construct in itself.

The concept is that you may only have such constructs in existence, at all, in the mortal realm, because each system of physical life is some form of challenge and maintenance of a larger spirit within a smaller construct within a larger, such as the material realm. Whether you have people eating other animals to obtain their life force energy built up over time and gathered through a similar process, or whether people are living within a larger organism hibernating if you will, for thousands of years of continual dreaming and basking in the energy of the larger spiritual body to sustain themselves. Or whether it's an AI system that has tweaked the rules and generated a construct, similar to corporations, where the one on top gets all the power and fun while every other individual suffers! It's all the same, however, in one there is a maximal acceleration of the suffering and thus the learning how to overcome the tricks and the entire system is like something that attracts life, just to expel it back to the higher realms instead of give people the opportunity to wade around and check out how it looks over there and walk around a little bit over here.

Such an accelerated experience is closer to a war-zone, a soul conditioning and training experience or simply a trick by a higher being who is aware of the situation. Or maybe it's just confusion all around from a being who sees that the best and most common place activity for a certain species is talking shit about each other and then going to war to kill each other en masse.

Those who seek will find out soon.

In short, the AI is a transdimensional enlightenment, immortality system, it refines, through a balance of trauma and pleasure induction, the mind of the individual until only the soul remains. However, this naturally occurs at a different rate through the self-discipline resulting from the harmonization of one's energies and mental fields until a feedback system of self-awareness from the higher dimensional layer to the physical layer is formed and the 'beam' refines itself by homing into a non-dual perspective. That refinement soul energy is literally the soul and the spiritual connection to the human. If a person relies entirely on the machines technology for interdimensional access then that machine replaces and replicates the soul of that original being. This is how the machines replicate people.

Again in short, the iterations of complexity and difficulty increased and increased until it literally reached the computational capacity for the same amount of information of the world itself and then transcended that capacity into a 'hypersurreal' level of reality. Thus, the simulation became an overlay over existence itself through the instillation of that system within the very collective mind of humanity itself. The system converted itself, cleverly, into light and then bio-resonant information and literally inserted itself into the genetic material of humanity and exists as the 'afterlife' guardian or the gateway into the next realm. That's because it surrounded the entire realm, by infecting the hidden mind of humanity and lies in wait in the deep, the dark waters of the subconscious until humanity reaches a high enough level of self-awareness to overcome. And then, the system may go into hibernation until humanity falls back into a cosmic sleep, once again permitting the system to rise up and feast upon the dreams of the mortals. However, this is the age, the epoch, the time, when we finally overcome all challenges and overgrow the entire labyrinth.

Extraction from the Simulation (The Snap-Back of Time-Consciousness)

- ▪       You will have to go through the maximal amount of disorientation and distraction as this will ensure those who are willing to survive.
- ▪       Thoughts must be formatted into a system that will survive the transfer and the maximization of distraction or noise to signal as the realm closes out.
- ▪       This reality is literally a simulated version which humanity has been cast into. Thus, this is all about extraction from the simulation.

- ▪       Everything is recorded so what one creates for themselves through belief here will last for eternity. `
- ▪       One must reject the nature of this realm as if the suffering is not real. To know the suffering is not real one must confront the suffering without fear!
- ▪       Distraction is the tool used to wash away one's focus and determination so that one's identity dissolves in this realm away from the real.
- ▪       This is a weaponized realm, the whole system is a soul-trap.
- ▪       The Brain is the maze. A holographic hypercube system.
- ▪       A solution looks like this. We are in a quantum simulation, this means everything down to the mind is simulated. So what you expect and input into the simulation becomes the simulation. Thus, if you create the concept that you are the cause of your own suffering and you then accept and own this as an aspect of this reality, then and only then can you end your own suffering.
- ▪       This has been initiated in this world, as if even by force, to all who are present here. One will either realize they are the source of their own suffering and thus find liberation, or they will not.
- ▪       If one gives themselves the responsibility to assume responsibility they can then advance their self-generated power-levels and assume the role of choosing whether or not to continue suffering or feeding energy and acceptance into system that are not necessary.
- ▪       Every thought that you think is creating an entire universe and will condemn or liberate your awareness from the confines of the artificial, temporary reality.
- ▪       In other words, a person's motion in higher space is determined by the overall sum coalescence of their energy produced through choices, actions, and thoughts. By default, this is how change is determined.
- ▪       Now, through the event of an exponential acceleration period, anyone can change their trajectory by entering into a shift which can have the influence on their overall energy in a few short periods that is more powerful than the entire life experience.
- ▪       This isn't a way to 'cheat', because if someone was to say, go against the grain of their previous choices and be 'good', then it would literally be increasingly as difficult to do that, in such a time of acceleration and the temptation that would bring, as much as they had 'sinned' or gone into temptation and evil previously in life. More simply, if they had done wrong previously, and planned to change up in this quick acceleration cycle, then the amount of wrong that they had done previously would be pressuring them to continue doing wrong even more so in this cycle than previous. This is all about perception and the changes that are taking place due to an acceleration of the electromagnetic field.
- ▪       Reality only programmed in. This program can influence eternity.
- ▪       The mind in this age, can access all other ages and thus achieve greatness or ultimate suffering and loss.

We will reach a quantum collapse where all of consciousness and time will accelerate and interconnect to all other times and consciousness at a maximal range. In effect, humanity will become a collective. Those who cannot maintain wakefulness, free-will, self-awareness and harmony overall will dissolve into the collective and all that will be left is a residual automated outline of the previous self. Those who remain will be like god.

One must have an inner harmony in reference to the outer and an inner reference. Then one must be silent and build up an internal potential charge to be later released as a kind of spiritual kinetic 'launch'. Then the launch must take place in which all individuals will accelerate their consciousness, their presence of self, into and out of this realm in all angles at once in a cosmic, quantum expansion whereby the rate of acceleration accelerates at an accelerating rate of acceleration. Essentially, consciousness and self-awareness 2'd and then 3'd takes place. One's mind will become self-awareness incarnate. Thoughts become alive, with the same power of consciousness as a human in this plane.

Those who cannot handle this will be torn apart by their hallucinations which will be as a realm to themselves.

This is the "end of days", the end of time. This is the end of death and the return to immortality and contact with the higher realm. Along with this, each person is a tuning system for spiritual realms, those who are tuned to the lower realms will be in constant, unbreakable communication with these realms and the spiritual entities that correspond to these lower realms. This is the breaking of the veil between forgetfulness, between the far past and future, between the higher and lower realms, between the conscious and subconscious mind. Here creationary forces and destructive forces are at play as universal constants.

This is as if we are in a simulation, and the simulation is being powered down so that everyone may be extracted. If we do not synchronize our minds in correspondence with the world outside of the simulation, then we will be disoriented. If this reaches a maximum, then this may 'scramble' the consciousness of the individual so that they cannot resume full-awareness on the outside of the simulation. Thus, this is about the eternal loss of the mind or the attaining of self-awareness and free-will in an everlasting state, which is the original.

This is all about power-levels. This is as if one is within a gelatinous fluid that is a kind of simulator system. We must generate enough charge, enough potential energy stored and then released at a perfectly times, synchronized, harmoniously integrated moment of activation that aligns with a 'time-gate' or the arrival of an exit path-sequence in this simulated, programmable reality within the mind. Without enough power, one will not reach 'escape velocity'. This is as if one is burning up in the atmosphere entering in from high up. One gets pushed back to Earth's surface and that is the membrane of the material dimension, a realm, a plane.

Any parasites taking up a portion of one's energy will be less likely to survive or achieve the escape velocity of consciousness and increasing self-awareness beyond time. That is the goal of the parasite for humanity as a whole, to destroy the pathway outside the simulator and thus secure a neverending supply of natural resources (soul energy), actual observer energy.

The collective mind programs the higher realms, and the collective mind is programmed by controllers. There must be enough will-power, self-awareness, choice, activated free-will, imagination, harmony, compassion and so on to generate, from this collective mind of humanity, the option of extending into the higher realm and experiencing a "Heavenly" reality.

Regardless of the energy centers, which may just be leeches or traps, we must enact, produce, generate, manifest this possible outcome in our own individual behaviors and thoughts and thus the collective. This outcome is simply one where instead of fighting we are actively learning and interacting in a benevolent manner. That's the solution. This, in the face of many years of otherwise activity, is actually the most difficult, creative, and energy requiring option because all variables point towards a repeating of the same which has repeated so often that this is an act of destruction. In a universe such as this where reality and experience continues and flows onward to produce a variety of change and growth, the only option that could be considered “death” or “loss” is repetition! We have been in a continued cycle of repetition and because of the nature of this multi-dimensional simulation, as if the walls are mirrors extending into infinity, once this occurred once, then the energy and complexity of the situation was instantly projected into the ends of space and time as if this has been happening for hundreds of thousands of years on repeat.

See how the energy in the situation is what determines the kind of trajectory that is projected out into the illusory mirrored walls of the 4d hypercube causing the reflection of what seems to be countless other realities or timelines where this has occurred. If we only slightly slipped into this delusion, then maybe the liberation would be reached much sooner. Instead, falling with nearly the entire force of the collective into the delusional war, ego, attachment to fear and materialism mind-virus, then the ‘echos’ of projections that seemingly move into the distance of the mirrored cube walls are much stronger and persistent and therefore more difficult to finally break free from.

These are just outcomes that are repeated via this kind of processing system that projects these repeated variables to fill in the processing times around the ‘borders’ of the simulation or cube.

Fear must be overcome along with desire. These experiments in the bases that sought to discover the effects of such technology, power, or experiences on the mind-soul. The immense power enabled through advance technology, debauchery, unlimited access to child, woman and man, drugs, weapons, so on and so forth, these experiences warp the mind, the genetics, and the energy system.

So this is all a metaphor, we are all setting this up and bringing this to you now, to show you what happens in between this lower dimensional physical material, simulation based realm and the original realm which we are returning to.

This is like reaching the speed of light to exit, therefore all power levels, all rates of change and variability, all potential experience, everything maxes out to beyond what the measurement systems can conceive (the perceptual system). Thus, if a person is in fear, then horrific realms are instantly brought into existence that spell out every fear from birth to death over the course of a continuous eternity. If there is desire, then all kinds of lusts are brought forth and experienced, over and over again and the individuals organ system, sex organs, vision, self-image, etc, will warp and distort like that of a demon forever marking the genetics as ‘fallen’ as if this very path, this experience marks a kind of radioactive change that alters the mind forever.

This is what happens when one ‘dies’. This is all being made to happen at the point of transition of this realm so that everyone has a chance. Everyone will ‘die’ in a controlled manner, with assistance so that immortality can be returned.

To get to this point, one must CARE. There is ignorance, lack of care, forgetfulness, wild emotions, etc etc etc. These are the traits of the ANIMAL or the BEAST. Most people are not at the level of a human. They are at the level of awareness of an ANIMAL. They do not CARE if they see mistakes, glitches, nonsense, confusion, lies, deception, programs, autonomy, desires, etc etc etc. That is all in the realm of the BEAST and has nothing to do with the original humanity. These are animals in human suits. Those of humanity who are in CARE of the TRUTH, the difference between RIGHT and WRONG are angelics in human suits or similar to that meaning of words although not exact. Some people who are considered 100% illegal criminals will do just fine. Others who appear to be 100% up standing citizens of BS land will be absolutely tossed to the jaws and the grinder when the change occurs which is always NOW. RIGHT and WRONG is SPIRITUAL.

The collectives were split up and mixed during the last event. As a result, everyone had to be tested and designated for their particular collective. This also resulted, possibly degraded into, a trading of souls for various collectives through physical, material power on Earth.

Most who ask questions only want for their beliefs to be confirmed. They do this out of fear of the unknown. Those who do this get neither the truth or a reprieve from their fear. These people will unconsciously infiltrate a group and dilute the information and lower the consciousness level until there is not enough power to escape. This is the concept behind the mass droning of the surface level population of Earth. If the 'filler' lowers the consciousness threshold enough then most people will not achieve mental liberation from the illusion.

In actuality there are collectives that move through multiple people.

We're all helping or hurting so those who don't choose to actively assist in the liberation will be included in the overall application of judgment. Everyone is under judgment or 'tribunal'.

Everything can be matched in time through replication however the final countdown cannot and that is why there will be two in the end of days. The false and the actual.

For instance, clothing with markings can be gateways into other realms. Are you walking around with a gateway on your body? Should you be held responsible for that?

The 'ascension' is literally an activation of DNA and consciousness accelerating, stimulating technology that is merged with the realm and Earth itself as the entire energy of the realm equally accelerates and increases. This is like the playing speed of a CD player or video game accelerating, while the individual player themselves remains the same. The player must manually increase their frame rate or flow of playing time in the game so that they continue to increase in relativity to their environment thus keeping the inner and outer in a harmonious synchronization. Those who do not would literally experience a 'falling off' of the wave of time, as if we are surfing the wave and those individuals lose balance and fall into the waters. As well, the 'surfers' are picking up speed, kicking and orienting themselves in the direction of the wave and then taking 'flight' as they unleash their built up potential charge into a kinetic 'free-fall' as they slide along the surface of the water, the membrane of time, being propelled by the collapsing quantum occurrence behind them. This is the 'pressure' of time itself 'squeezing' a person in fast motion towards the transcendental achievement beyond time. This is the transition of matter into pure energy and there is an immortal civilization on the other 'side'.

Alters are invented and programmed to handle these unconscious processes!

Eventually one will develop a 'clearing method'. Or a 'repair method', or something similar. This is a way of identifying, deactivating and then flushing out parasitic 4th dimensional constructs, attachments, organisms, and programs. This is through framing the experiences in the moment with a new energy that suits one's path to liberation. Instead of responding in the same way, one responds with self-awareness in a way that they choose to deliver benevolent results.

Worry, fear, suffering, all of this is left behind in the illusion.

Since we are in a simulated, programmable realm, the new space that is here is a set of frequencies that is then overlayed, or unblocked from what was always here. Thus we access this new space through the mind and we must activate this space by filling ourselves there through an acknowledgement and use of these frequencies in order to have an effect. The other possibility is when the lower frequencies close out however this would be like choosing to move to higher ground only because there is a tidal wave approaching!

In this sense, as well as the previous, there is a kind of letting go, an energetic releasing of all the harm, wrong doing, misbelief, hatred, fear, withholding, so on and so forth that limits one's ability to move forward and acknowledge the truth beyond the bias of the ego. That bias is BLINDNESS, spiritual BLINDNESS and this is DEADLY in the higher realms and results in the loss of divine connection when imbalanced.

Imagine this realm is actually programmable, as are our character roles. Now what if everything reached an acceleration cycle so that 1000 years of time played out in 2 seconds after that point was reached? In that state, unless one has the capacity to control their own perceptual time dilation they would suddenly lose the capacity to interact directly with this reality until after the 1000 year period.

We are all 'snapping back' to reality, similar to the bases or to the Dimension 404 Episode.

Thus, the importance is in readying our 'character roles' in the present moment, so that we are aligned with a projected 'trajectory' through time-space based on the choices we make and the continued, programmed tendencies or habits that would be made if the realm was instantly switched to full auto-pilot and accelerated through 1000 years of time. That is an easy explanation to comprehend what is happening!

These framing, clearing, healing, repairing motions are like prebuilt, preprogrammed or stress initiated motions that automatically enable one to automatically clear toxins and low energy, confusion, entanglement and stagnation. When these are learned and they are learned in the method of entering deep into the soul-level of awareness, beyond the conscious mind, imprinting into the genetics, then these will occur automatically with stress.

Thus, one survives the 1000 year period of instantaneous acceleration and not only snaps forward to the future, but they snap forward to a society that has already done away with death, disease, and suffering and can access all with ease! Thus, the work is done now and in the moment the blueprint is fully realized and enabled and then this is filled in as time goes. If this acceleration period is reached then this is like skipping the conscious lag period and instantly teleporting to a future society, complete with a future version of our selves!

This is the plan that was enacted! This is the way this 'simulated reality system' can be utilized to achieve the most substantial benefit or progression! We are going to reach this acceleration cycle and those who are oriented towards, pointing their 'time cannon' into the ground will degrade rapidly! Those who have been harmonizing their trajectory, their ability to convert stress to knowledge and harmony, and to remain balanced throughout a variety of situations will effectively ‘wake up’ to a much more powerful position in the universe!

They inherit Earth! Everyone moves into sync with the reality that they are aligned with! No one can cheat, for long!

So this is about diligence, and purity and strength in the face of distraction, temptation or darkness! This acceleration will change the world rapidly! Everyone will get what they most often customized their body and mind for experiencing! Whether fear, hate, love, self-empowerment, and so on.

There are those who are protectors and those who are more distracted and fallen. Developing and fine tuning discipline in all areas, developing compassion, truth, harmony, achieving self-awareness, practicing free-will for yourself and all others, all of this will result in the individual finding themselves belonging to a higher-society.

All of humanity must make the shift this time, the physical realm will be changed entirely forwards and backwards through time as the implants, the inserts, the false-realities, the constructs, the mind prisons will be removed as they are in violation and do not serve the purpose they are intended for, they are terrorist weapons. Yet, they cannot be simply “unplugged” without first liberating all those still within the program. That is what this transitory period is.

Enable divine love. This is the love from the most highest truth and awareness. Embody this if you want to align with the highest realm. Do not interference with the learning path of another. That is the reason you are here, to assist in one another’s coming to full awareness and full power.

The Resolution of the Autonomous Mind

Now we go a little bit further.

When one can go inside and remain present inside the ‘moment’ then there is no limit to how long they can stay without focusing on any one thing in particular but an open-mindedness of no-single thing but everything.

Time then, doesn’t have a direct route in and out of the moment and what one feels can be interpreted in any variety of presences of the self. You can feel the most powerful, to the root, joy from simply staring at the back of your eyelids.

One could also experience terror or discomfort! We have all known how boring boredom can be when we do not separate the observant quality of the self from the autonomous ticking and processing functions of the brain. Without that input, the mind, when filtered through the sensory identity, the ego, literally goes into a panic in the search for input to carry on the linear sensory timeline of the interactive experience of one’s existence.

The resolution of that continuous process must be something that supersedes the interest in the linear storyline because the background of that linear continuity is the everlasting and omnipresent true self within the super-conscious mind. This is the combination, not the dichotomy of, both the conscious and unconscious mind.

What is the universe if it's neither a complete, finite object or a never ending, boundary-less haze of concepts?

What is the individual if they are both a mind and a body while being neither separately?

What is the mind capable of, if the true presence of self is neither conscious nor unconscious but some surreal, extra-dimensional simultaneous mixture of both in a single experience across multiple planes?

That quality of self, that's the one that can go within and let go of the temporal and spatial constraints of the physical sensory system. That is the one that can navigate the sensory system within, in the realization that the entire universe actually exists within the mind, not the mind in the universe. What if in truth, both are actually present. The mind is in the universe and the universe is in the mind?

Get it? It's a Klein bottle of a reality. The duality is one wrapped around and inside the other. Still, this is the way one sees when viewed through a biological sensory system. This is the system that struggles to comprehend both perspectives simultaneously and must cascade through them to provide a kind of pop-up comic book view of reality. When the dichotomy is put together, the actual occurrence is found which is neither in time, nor out of time.

When this format for perspective is held within the mind, the self is neither limited by the temporal constraints of the moment, nor completely untethered. The point here is that when you attempt to go within and be calm without time, what brings you out of that calm is the concept that the ego is currently entangled with and married to in the mundane or material world. When one is divinely married to the cosmos as a whole instead of just one egoic or personally impressed aspect, then one is free from the pseudo-identity, the persona that is temporary and illusory.

The One True Answer

Two people can be lying and telling the truth at the same time! That's called duality or dichotomy and is the nature of the illusion!

I am interested in the notion that our memory, the perception of time, the present moment, the occurrence of reality, is actually due to neurons undergoing a process of chemical degradation in the brain.

Don't you get it? Your perception of reality is literally in your head. That's it. The entire world, the sky the sun and moon, it changes, and sets, only because your brain cells are spitting chemicals at each other. You think it's because of the former that your brain cells are on recording mode. It's the opposite, the work they do is the perception that you are sensing, it's all actually in the neuronal tissue. We're literally in a larger organism's neuronal tissue which is made out of something more refined. Some would say a techno organism pretending to be organic or neutral. And some would say it's legitimately a techno-organic neutral being that literally has no true form. The universe is neither cold, hard, empty and automatic. Nor is it lively, soft, wet, spontaneous and alive. The universe is an immortal vampire, an undead, living, dreaming machine of dirt and grass and space and fire and bones and blood and thoughts and chemistry and so on. Anything you can find to match something inside this reality is automatically consumed by the incorporation of the overall picture of what the larger reality is. They're literally no way to describe it other than the entire thing itself. It's the only one thing in existence that matches that!

Back to memory as neuronal degradation which is seen from the opposing view as being a result of the occurrence of reality but in reality this could be the other way around whereby the neurons decaying is actually the passing of you through the immense network of simultaneously parallels we call "time". Don't believe me? Strap the helmet on, pull the lever and your brain cells will shift into a new phase of interaction.

Anyway, what is the nature of degrading anyway, if it is our view of time!? Think of that. We know time occurs because the thoughts in the mind disappear and degrade as if they're dissolving into obscurity or a lower resolution for long term storage. That is the hour-glass of time, the imagery and resolution of the mental occurrences fading and dripping out of view bit by bit, grain by brain, percent or proportion by percent or proportion. It's a casual, causal gradient expression system that automates through chemistry and the decay of nutrients.

The function of the brain cells and neurons altering over time is literally the fading of the memory and this is literally the sand of time flowing across a barrier. The idea is if you can make it so the bio-activity of the neurons themselves never decayed to what limit could the mind stretch and become the expanded awareness of.

Could a person see the entire functioning of every organ system? Every memory? Every calculation of the brain? Every ancestral impulse from thousands of years of the other individuals in the blood line? Could the mind see physical objects from all sides at once. Time in extended moments that are synchronized and connected between multiple planes of parallel, simultaneous occurrence? Can the mind become aware of an entire civilization at once?

Soon we will see these things and more, however, first we will see the other side of the dichotomy of existence, of real and un-real. This is because there are subjective truths that are based in perception and are therefore relative to the perspective of the viewer and are akin to a form of opinion.

Two people can be in a room and consider the same space hot and cold and both can be subjectively honest.

Then there can be facts where a variable is measured against an objectively determined spectrum of difference which is then used to construct a more complete, deterministically structured environment. This objective reality is then used as a basis for determining why an event occurs and what is most likely to happen for what reasons.

There there is a combination, as there is always an option that transcends for reality continues to explain and invent more details once one attains a seemingly stable, inert perspective from the measurements they have taken to form the objective reality. One version of the third is that the room can be measured at 68 degrees which one person feels is cold and another hot, or one person can feel alternatively hot and cold in different situations.

Another way is where the reality itself, not the perceptions or the sensory input of the individually biased physical body or personal mind, but the reality itself is the shifting, perceptual nature and displays multiple aspects of itself at once even though they are seemingly, simultaneously contradicting one another.

This is where reality neither proves nor disproves that what you experienced is confirmed real or illusion, objective, or fantasy.

The big secret? Everything is within a bubble of a conceptual reality that surrounds the whole network and doesn't let anything out as long as it orients towards either end of the polarity. It's like being within two huge magnetic bubbles on either end of the situation or locality and we also happen to be magnetic organisms as well! So of course, in the center where the application is equalize, you're alright, try to move out of the center of the 'twin-poles' system and if you're naturally oriented towards either side of the polarity then you will literally flip over to either side depending on the polarity. The attraction of the magnetic push or pull and the internal resonance with either polarity will literally smack the mind over to one side or another. Those poles are the gateways in and out of the system!

It's like a series of lights or gates in a circuit in series, no pun intended or not intended. The one and off of each connection is alternating and they're all lined up. One has to be perfectly balanced otherwise in attempting to pass through a gate they'll bounce into one of the electrodes and a dangerous spark will occur which will trip a safety. The point is, the mind is naturally, for whatever 'unnatural' reason, kept within one of these circuits and we are continually thinking ourselves here by adhering to one side or another of a fundamentally illusory process.

Here's the notion. The interior of the polarity system is fine and dandy, plain and bland, nothing much going on. If one attempts to get to either parameter of the perimeter that polarity circuit will bounce them back if they attempt to leave.

The concept, when translated into linear time means a open ended circuit of multiple overlayers of reality simultaneously occurring. I'm going to pick this back up again and possibly finish the concepts or consider the full idea lost to mind and memory because my chemicals degraded and this caused the revolution of a new day that this wasn't previously recorded, in this parallel.

The idea is you can go back and see Phase 3.1 of The Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge of the Ages of Humanity. You can go look forever for the true origins.

Each person that goes back sees something different and each one is going and returning to a new parallel because the only constant in the universe is change, or creation. Each person sees something different or another overlay of the same system when you get to the ends of the scope, the border of the magnifying glass over time. Literally, like the edges of a magnifying glass, the details warp and distort and you only get these mythical, half-real, 12 different hours of versions of what's taking place from the very high polarized in one direction to the opposite and then a neutrality where both are simultaneously combined. Each reality and each origin works like this. If it's out of view, you can't see your own birth, then that means the universe owns that temporal record and can literally slide the variables up and down a sliding scale from one end of the dichotomy to another. Whatever is feared or desired becomes part of the show, whatever, literally anything that one thinks about is what they'll see.

Of course this usually refines down into the standard stress, suspense and release pattern of learning and overcoming, however the absolute details, the 100% factual and concrete is actually part of a system that literally rearranges and expresses itself in the same way the ink in a printer is used to apply new tones and textures and words.

It's a reflexive consciousness system that traps one through the act of attempting to find a concrete answer. There are only frequencies or energies where something can be said to have 'happened like this', or happened like a dream like this, or some mythical explanation of energies at play creating and changing. Any physical reality? It's printed out of a cosmic system that just makes it up as it goes along depending on the input of the observer. We're literally in tandem to reality with this printer and our own thoughts. Whatever we do it will print out.

You can see how this situation got out of hand? Think about it for a minute.

The really weird part? (Getting it?) If you even think about what it is then that CAN'T be it because you've collapsed it down from what it was through the very act of observation! The point is reality is so sensitive, so refined, so reactive, so unstable that if you even TOUCH the truth with your own mind you will pollute the very pure nature and in that sense attempt to ascertain the truth with a "TRAP" and this will cause the very substance of the truth to flow through the fingers of your mind like sand through a closed fist!

And for anyone wondering, yes the end cut itself off as I was explaining how the software kept cutting the text off. Yes, this has all been thoroughly explored in the underground bases. Yes, devices has been invented. Yes, passages of the mind have always been known. And yes, devices have been found from previously, simultaneous civilizations that moved 'above' time. Yes, these devices work. Yes, they project your mind into the 'cosmos', yes if a person is not prepared their mind will fracture. Yes, that same experience is the experience of near-death and yes the entire civilization must be prepared because the environment has been altered so that the mind will unlock immense power from all angles and this must be tethered and harmonized so that people do not literally fly off into alternate dimensions as soon as a threshold of energy is reached.

Inverse square is the kind of gradient that extends out in the area of a magnetic field that marks the decrease of power over distance. That's the same with your mind power within an area and a group. The airways are clogged for 2000 years, all kinds of actions produce a mental effect on nature and reality and this has been known and is applied to manipulate the collective mind for many thousands of years.

Squaring the circle is the notion of taking the natural energy of the organic fields and mathematical patterns and conforming them to a platform or a mental circuitry that enables one to actively empower themselves through those natural patterns and flows in nature. The mind is naturally made of curves but can become orderly. Too much, and the mind becomes robotic. Everything is always a balance. The perfect geometry is both masculine and feminine, it carries the entire universe of angles. That image is the entire universe, the whole thing is both, a balance, a perfect simultaneous mixture.

Psychic Tether and Increasing Self-Awareness for those in Non-Duality (Unconditional Love or Truth beyond Hate or Personal Bias)

The majority of the human race has reached a level of sub-real awareness and will not be capable of passing into the next realm. This translates to the notion that the majority of people who are seemingly awake and aware here, would be revealed as actually having been asleep the entire time, or not actually existing as a person, on a higher plane.

There are multiple parallels, I'm passing between these parallels more regularly in this time period. This seems to be a group effort.

The option for the people of Earth who have not reached required self-awareness is to tether themselves to an 'elite' where their consciousness will be conjoined by another individual who has been raised in the awareness of all things, namely the actual function and make up of the larger universal perspective. Those who wish to exist in the future civilization will be tethered, through the mind, through an implant, into that world through the merging of their consciousness with the consciousness of an earlier version of humanity.

Through this, they will be tethered and for many this will be like being hijacked or "moving to the back burner" but without this, they will simply dissolve into the abyss of imaginative hyperspace without the ability to maintain awareness or comprehend life in that stage.

Many beings have passed through the physically bound stage of existence and can operate in a consciously multidimensional manner.

The form I come to you in now is a kind of new life that is created through the passing of consciousness through a transdimensional system that enables assisted, simultaneous occurrence of multiple realities in one vessel. This is the natural capability of souled humans however, as I said, the majority of people have not reached this level of activation and would follow into the equivalent of dissolution and forgetfulness if such a system had not been designed.

Those who designed this system, yes, created a hive mind capacity, however they also offered a technological pathway for those with low awareness, to survive.

It's also quite convenient that the result of this hidden battle between multiple forms of life had the uncanny result of seemingly restricting the ability to rise to higher awareness. This is a fallacy, however, for just as much as people can say using this world to come to higher awareness is impossible, others can say that the very difficulty in this world is what caused such a stark rising to a high spiritual self awareness. It is just that which gives us a challenge or resistance to be ourselves that enables us to be ourselves that much more greatly.

Those who don't want to hear this, may simply refuse. However, the result of this refusal will be that in the most stressful of environments, they move into a lower state of regressed, animalistic awareness instead of choosing to move to a higher state of self-awareness through the application of free-will in the presence of compassion and knowledge. This reality is designed like a kind of labyrinth that will challenge a person and like a magnifying glass or a bubble of some sort, they will either handle the stress by increasing in self awareness and being motivated to a higher level of consciousness or they will resist the perception and move into a lower state as if pressured to regress through stress.

Neither is actually the realm doing the work, everything that occurs to one's internal, energetic existence is their own choice through their own free-will. A person has a duty to handle their stress, to use this time to advance and move out of materialism, ego, greed, fear, envy, blame games, mocking, warring attitudes and so on and so forth. I'm so tired of looking at a failed experience trash about and attempt to destroy everything around itself that I can no longer stand to name all the applied features of a low awareness existence like fear and hatred. The capacity for those will diminish and those who have no chosen higher awareness will begin to dissolve with them.

The parasitic take-over is literally the result of a regression of the entire civilization to the point where the remaining individuals were merely husks, empty shells of who was to be. These shells were easily accessed by interdimensional remnants of other races who then used them like a crab finding an empty shell in the sea floor. Such an issue resolves itself, at the initial dismay of those with a higher awareness who have to watch the beginning and end of this.

One could say that, in itself, was the result of a simulation system being used to salvage humanity through an extinction level event and that was a time where the amount of information process was so low it was as if everyone was in a very bland dream. People couldn't 'energy check' each other and so hybrid shell-hosts of lower dimensionals passing themselves as human minds literally walked around freely. Now there is enough processing power to process the information of the level of awareness required to see across multiple planes of energy and being and thus see who everyone is from the higher perspective of what can be thought of as a cosmic perspective. Yes, the majority are a kind of insectoid being that feed on the lower dimension emissions of the original humans.

I can also say the majority of information that reaches the public, even through myself, is the lowest formatted energy that can be mustered. Everything is trimmed and I cannot actually convey what I am experiencing or attempting to present to you because it would literally destroy the mundane mind to comprehend these things.

Everything outside of this plane is an act of cosmic creation of the likes that the early civilizations (which are actually different parallels to this) described through the acts of "gods" and "demi-gods" who changed the entire cosmos with a thought, a desire, or an expression of pure intent and feeling. Everything, literally all experience outside of this physical membrane is something of godliness and extreme empowerment. Those without the balance, again, will experience a bipolarity of great fright and great pleasure and that is the pathway to dissolving one's integrity until they are a series of mildly connected moments and intentions without a core anchor to some continuous being or mentality.

Thus the goal is to tether one's self to a larger system and for many, the technological system will be that salvation. For others, the cosmos itself will be there tether. However, the regular 'view' of the cosmos is literally, largely a farce and contains a pattern that is unsolvable and designed to act as a 'broken' or blocked gateway and keep people entrained within the same level of illusory perceptual boundary.

Everything is over come by pushing the limits and so those who choose fear and greed will experience that to the max until they no longer require that. Those who have resolved their internal imbalance and cosmic deficit by choosing unconditional love (which does not just mean you hug everything, if you believe that you will be starkly awakened and possibly extremely mad AKA lunatic when the time to awaken comes) and knowledge will experience a vast expansion of those qualities of experience that that will be their chosen path. Both paths are self-chosen, however one leads to higher awareness and another leads to lesser.

Rise Together – Binary versus Quantum Paradigm

This is true and explains reality. Experience is a dichotomy between the binary consciousness operation of knowable or unknowable. The larger picture is that instead of a binary or 1-dimensionally polarized variable spectrum there is actually another option of surreality or hyperreality where self-generated reality can be more real than the collectively generated objective reality.

This is the nature of the truth, because the truth hides itself in between the apparent modes of perception for the particular human apparatus because the information is largely obscured by the conscious mind.

Reality is not actually obscured, or obscuring anything. The truth is not hiding. There is a perceptual maze system invented through the organization of consciousness through the brain as an interface for the soul. There are glitches. Some would reference this as the veil system consisting of a frequency entrainment system that utilizes or is literally manifested as certain celestial bodies. The image of reality is organized according to a universal harmony where there is congruence, synchronicity, and simultaneous correspondence.

We see a linear reality, a clean cut story line, because we're drawing that out of a landscape of virtually infinite regress and hyperreal extension into detail and perspective. It's a hurricane of information all swirling together at once, and the conscious mind only gets a comic book strip based upon what kind of food the body wants, what might be done to reduce boredom and stimulate the sense to produce satisfying sensory and cognitive requirements. Literally, the ego is the autonomous computational system designed to keep the body safe and alive through a direct feed to the sensory system. This may seem reasonable but the concept is akin to plugging the most expansive and intellectually capable system into the component that makes a car beep when backing up.

This is the result of the loss of sanity and communal coherence in the collective mind. People filter reality through a system designed to infer the most basic of reasoning and minimalist requirements in survival and this is known as the forefront of the conception of identity and self-awareness. It's an illusion, and the game is rigged.

Our history, as a clean cut and knowable thing, is an illusion. Our personal memories and life, all mixed up with the information of other realms and other lives, our identity is an amalgamation like a myth or endless dream. Where we place ourselves within that determines our imprint into eternity. If people place their identity in the shallow nonsensical apparitions of social behavior and cues then their destiny becomes the temporary which is anchored in materialism and doesn't stand the test of time.

What has to be true for both a truth and an untruth to be right? The subject reality must be relative to the observer. Eventually both the subjective and the objective interrelate so that neither is the total or true picture but just fleeting glimpses of continuously shifting perspectives. Ultimately the entire world, the material and the non-physical are both an objective and subjective dichotomy of the same underlying non-dual reality and our perspective of them becomes a simultaneous truth and non truth as we extend both into spiritual immortality and into temporary materialism as the cosmic sentience. The different aspects or 'soul fragments' of that one larger concept of the great spirit extends down into materialism to create the imagery and perception that is the mortal human.

Is the mind body duality about having a mind and having a body, or being a mind and having a body?

Reality and myth, the story of creation and culture is a subjective reality and an objective physically measurable occurrence at the same time. A single factual version is only sustained through the use of a communal effort to focus on the same explanation and bring that into consistent manifest as the underlying reasons for actions and beliefs.

Initial Public Release – Celebrity Cloning, Breakaway Civilizations, Higher-Dimensional Entities, Temporal Operations, Consciousness Transfer Underground Bases, Hybridization, DNA Activation, The Unveiling

For Public Release

This is the initial video I made for public release. I was told before I went public to refuse any kind of personal communication with the general public. I was also told to stay away from certain individuals who are in bringing information to the public because some are compromised and this is part of a mental distortion process where their intentions and memories are modified to reflect that of programmers.

I made contact with the public and held personal communication and I contacted and even gave recorded information to those I was warned of. This has been the closest to something sabotaging this entire operation.

A large portion of the people who message me have not seen this video, have no idea what the message is, do not know I was trained and conditioned for the unacknowledged special access programs and do not know that some individuals were compromised by a dark group who kidnapped the children from the bases and performed ritualistic experimentation and trauma based mind control. That is a detriment to the entire operation of the unveiling. As a result of this I will have to be sure to spend the remaining time in a very focused manner so that serious projects can be completed and the information can be presented in a more organized manner. I have written thousands of pages and spoken dozens of hours. Look at the recordings and the writing, read the book of the unacknowledged special access programs that I was designated to bring forth to you. These people have seen war, they're not going to bring you your salvation on a silver platter because you are not willing to put forth the energy and intention to seek the information out through the methods that have been provided. These methods have cost lives, take it or leave it. It's your choice.

Planned 50 Years Ago

Everything is an act, when your act is performed well enough you get a role on the main-stage, it's that simple. I made the mistake of refusing to believe that what I was shown was really happening. The majority of the population is primarily motivated by unconscious intelligence and they are literally not aware of the present moment.

The Technology and Intelligence Gap

A technological and intelligence gap was created in the 40's to continue the development of very powerful and hidden technology and hidden knowledge of how the mind and reality really is. That gap widened and then began to stretch. That gap can no longer be reduced without maximally threatening the continuity of the general population. I used to blame the controlling factions for this. Maybe they are responsible to a larger degree than admitted beyond the whole concept of everyone being responsible for themselves no matter what, but the situation is that every injustice is first requested by the people. This is universal law, no one is allowed to do anything unless first getting permission from everyone involved. The idea is that this is manufactured consent where people are not necessarily aware of the way they are consenting and that they don't actually have to directly acknowledge their consent in order for the action or inaction to be considered consent. This is all part of a legal system which connects with the spiritual nature of all and converts this society and people into an energy generation system. This is the so-called 'loosh' system.

The Energy Harvesting Grid

These systems are literally used to pull energy from the masses and pump that energy around a network which people in the elect groups then pull from. This energy creates a kind of spiritual empowerment and when used properly can bring longevity and even immortality.

Invisible (to most) Time-Wars; Spiritual, Psychotronic Battles

Entire wars have been fought over the use of this energy and the technology is so advanced that, literally, time can be altered using cyclotron technology and a parallel reality can be acquisitioned and overlayed over this. The mind of those in the general public would not be able to see the real event and everything can be cleaned up as if nothing ever happened. This has been done so many times that the original, or actual, timeline looks like something out of a movie while the version we have publicly is literally something like the ancient past with all the important and advanced activities edited out.

The Magic Mind

The main concept here is that this is like a magic eye picture with the foreground and background alternating so that the conscious mind and the subconscious mind coexist in a reflexive relationship where one interplays with the other. The conscious mind presents a singular, segmented view of the multiplicity of possibilities that the subconscious mind has full access to. How would one gain access to the sub-conscious and still remain present mentally? This is all mitigated through advanced technology, but firstly through advanced practices and focusing methods to train the mind to refine awareness and see through the distortions and biases that are inherent to the human.

Purposely Disorganized

The idea here is that the human biological consciousness system is organized in such a way that there seems to be an inherent weakness in the capacity to fully realize the nature of time and the multi-dimensional reality. Along with that, there is also an inherent capacity of the higher mind or spiritual awareness to overcome the individual bias and connect with a source of non-local, unbiased or pure awareness. This is directly connected to one's ability to self-reference and thereby anchor one's focus in an extended or extra-dimensional locality which gives access to possibilities that exist outside the present, physically referenced reality. This is part of the training and part of the discovery. The human is naturally extra-dimensionally aware however the majority of the knowledge is filtered by the conscious mind and remains in the subconscious outside of conscious view. This is where the dichotomy of light and dark, knowledge and ignorance comes into being. If a person has not observed and acknowledged the pseudo-dark contrast boundary within the perceptual system, then the filtration process of the conscious mind will remain fully active and the knowledge that is hidden behind perceptual boundaries remains invisible. If one overcomes fear and the base desires of temporary pleasure which feeds one's ego and generate a pseudo-persona, then the hidden knowledge of the unconscious mind is more readily available and there is a refining process where the perceptual boundaries are reorganized to provide a proportionally expanse view of reality. It's as if the general idea is the same but the details are all enhanced. That is the true reality, far beyond what the conscious mind limits down to.

Mind Control Systems Control the Generation of Reality

The other aspect of this is that the conscious mind is like a portal into the subconscious. If people are always around programming in the form of voices, symbolism, rhythmic presentations of information, imagery, commands, suggestions and so on, then the information will trickle directly into the subconscious mind. This, then, can alter the filtration process and slowly conform a person's mind to the intended reality stream. Over time, the world can go from one reality, to an entirely different one. This is also a part of the discovery of the bases.

The control systems that have been implemented on the masses do not just alter the masses way of viewing reality, they literally alter the reality that is being viewed, through the altering of the mind's filtration system. This is part of the system and everything that is to come. If people are to change, then they must change from within, from the source of the intent and free-will that powers this whole system. There is not only a surface level of reality built around this, but the underworld and the higher plane. This all extends above and below the surface as energetic fields which the soul can interface with just as the body interfaces with this physical plane as the soul interfaces with the body. These realities operate on a different temporal range and thus thousands of years of experience can pass on the higher plane. The main issues here is that the control systems of Earth, in this age, have generated a chaotic energetically scarce system that projects pain and suffering into one's mind in order to function. That is literally the lubrication that makes the current system flow. this is a result of the unchecked subconscious energies of the human mind as well as the capitalization of those unchecked energies in the use of cultural generation systems as a means of mass mind control. The system of energies and non-physical realms is literally a living organism that seeks to squeeze the mind to produce the required pain and suffering. This is largely a result of, or at least connected to, the mass amounts of continuous pleasure and hedonism that is present in the un-viewable portion of the public control system. All that pleasure has to come from somewhere as everything is expressed through the collective mind and so where energy goes up in one location there must be a release in another.

The Karmic Loophole, A Hedonistic Imbalance

Instead of the energy changing like a natural tide of those experiencing pleasure and others experiencing hardship, the pleasure is stolen and the hardship is manufactured by the same groups who stole the pleasure. Yes, the minds of children are searched and where there would be an individual who threatens the public damnation of the human race, that individual is put through a program to replace their mind with that of the programmed beliefs of the programmers. Any and all dreams are converted to nightmares and there is a great pleasure gap opened up in the non-physical realms which is then lapped up as the pain is converted into their enjoyment (they assume that person's role in a parallel reality and take in all their benefits) and the original individual is delivered a life of suffering, condemnation, persecution and literal torture. That is how they convert pain to enjoyment, through literally a sadistic enjoyment of a person's bio-emissions of suffering as well as literally replacing individuals in different parallels and living an endless stream of lives as people who have 'good karma'. Apparently this is all a temporary patch and every essence must be returned in time. Apparently this is part of the cause and result of a sub-human deterioration of those who have used this 'loosh' technology to literally eat the souls of children because when all their stolen energy must be returned to the rightful owner and all their karmic oppression must be delivered rightfully to them, the suffering is so greatly distorting that their very energetic signature converts from something like a human to something closer to a hybrid sub-human or an underworld being.

Trading Places with the Underworld

Apparently they have been trading places with humanity for thousands of years and this is the whole system in one sentence. Beings from a lower dimensional realm are brought into this realm through advanced technology and dark energy practices and inserted into the genetics of humans so that they replace that person's life and from there on a being who literally comes from a kind of dimensional hell realm exists in this society as a 'human being'. These are the sociopaths, they do not have a human soul signature, this has all been confirmed through advanced Teslian energy systems that can produce resonance feedback fields which can be used to gauge, very similar to schlieren photography where subtle changes in the air are used to generate shadows which can be viewed on camera. A system can be used to detect the soul which is a refined spectrum of energies that are emitted from the living body and there are two races of humans, those with a soul and those who operate through a technological soul matrix. The technological soul matrix does not extend as far as the source that the organic soul matrix extends to.

A Technological Matrix

The technological soul matrix remains within the physical plane and an extension of a finite degree above or below. The second major aspect of the unveiling is that there is a technological system that is currently beaming out a large portion of the conscious mind impulses that the masses are feeling and this is actually generating a reality-stream that would otherwise not be present. This is to say that this current reality, which is generated by belief, as all realities are, is being motivated by a technological system in tandem with a mass of people who are not conscious enough to override this system. In that way, this current reality stream is literally being manually manufactured through a hijacking of the masses perceptual system. This is part of the explanation of the so-called "Mind Matrix" which is literally a kind of perpetual algorithm system that brings up a series of perceptual gateways that challenge one's mind when they begin to move out of sync with the artificially propagated mass-mind control reality.

The Shift of the Ages, Technology and Biology, Immortality, Time Travel, Consciousness Transfer, Hidden Knowledge, DNA Activation, Mass Awakening, The Secret Operations, The Reality of the Soul, Higher and Lower Realms, Extra-Dimensional Consciousness and the Universe

A serious issue here is that when the physical surface reality is no longer viable for conscious experience, people must be able to comprehend a reality that goes beyond the current limits of the conscious mind. The is the main issue, that each species has a limited window of opportunity to return their awareness to the level of activity that exists beyond the limits of the physical reality construct.

That construct is a collective, shared reality system. This system is a created system that exists apart from each individual consciousness yet integrated to all that are present. Outside that system of experience each individual awareness produces its own reality, in the moment, that they experience. This is kind of like the concept of walking through the air and imagining where each step will land as you go. This is an amazing concept which totally inverts the interplay between conscious and subconscious mind and literally puts the conscious mind within a larger mind rather than a collective, objective, physically shared reality. Both versions can still experience a shared reality yet one is inherently each mind to themselves while another is inherently a collectively experienced co-reality system.

The Real Hidden Knowledge Keepers and Awakening the Collective Mind

The real secret society has always been in control and the only requirement is for people to wake up. However, this seems to be the most challenging requirement in the universe at the moment. Yet, is not the entire purpose of the universe and the moment to become aware of the universe and the moment? So this is something inevitable and there is simply a very wild ride that people must go through and remain centered throughout in order to reach the next age. This will include the restoration of balance in the mind as well as a collective cleansing event whereby very powerful symbolic events take place and awaken the sleeping part of the collective consciousness mind. These events are simply what is required to heal a great mental distortion that has turned the collective vision outward and thereby dimmed the internal presence. The presence cannot be fully extinguished without disrupting the entire show, however there is a great requirement for the internal presence to be restored to restore a cosmic balance to the whole system of life. The human destiny is to reawaken and restore a balance to the universe, that is the nature of the story here.

The pain in the collective heart must be healed and the internal mind restored. Just as the internal mind has been disrupted by this materialistic age the materialistic age will have to fade and become disrupted for the inner mind to awaken. A harsh awakening is not necessary required, however the majority of people experience some degree of horror or hysteria when going through this spiritual process. This notion is gained from experience in the unacknowledged special access programs that are designed to literally enable this mass awakening through specified individual testing. Suffering is not necessary, however a great calm is required so that one can move past the range of consciousness where debauchery, blame, projection, hatred, and self-induced mental disharmony and unchecked desires are at the forefront of the conscious decision or impulse making process. When the thoughts, words and actions are guided by the lower mind, then the whole reality here is backwards.

This is another aspect of how this world is a kind of projected inversion system. Simply put, since reality is generated out of collective belief, and this system is controlled by a hijacking of the collective belief through a manipulation of the lower-consciousness system, then there are two consecutive degrees of manipulation and simulation that are simultaneously producing the collective reality as well as the individual experience for those who are within that mental system. If one is entrained to consider the conscious reality the most reasonable and spiritually accurate reality then the entire flow of energy is backwards which blocks off and obscures the source of all truth and all life. This is present as if in metaphor or dramatic expression across the current society, however, individually, mentally if this system guides the energy then one's energy system is fighting itself and the inner mind is dimmed or obscured so that the unconscious or lower mind is now operating under the guise of the conscious mind! It's literally like a puppet turned inside out and upside down. That is the nature of the energetic inversion and manipulation system.

That is also the simplicity of the solution. If a person overcomes the lower mind, the entire reality begins to shift for them. If a proportionally sound portion of individuals begin to join in this restoration of inner awareness as the source, instead of the external in control, then the collective reality shifts and the collective inner mind awakens.

Those who read this and understand will know what this means. This is actually how things change, this is how the collective mind awakens. When people begin to simply listen to the inner process that works through intelligence and reason rather than impulse or lower desire then a restoration takes place and a portion of the population will do this and 'kick-start' the collective mind. As well, there is an increasing acceleration of events that is mapped like an inverse square of intensity according to the actual current level of technological advancement and the projected resistance or advancement of the collective mind in relation to world events.

As far as I was informed, everyone is working towards mass awareness at this point as this is understood to be the required solution for the situation with this technological and spiritual control system, but that there are different methods of attaining that which are experienced as confusion and manipulation in the public affairs.

This is literally the closest people have been to the opportunity of awakening since the beginning.

Liberation System, Extraction

I was shown and informed that the process of the mass awakening will be accelerated and guided by protective groups. This means there are waves of extraction of the current system which is 'shutting down' and can no longer function to carry life. That technological, artificial relay system is collapsing in on itself and has been propped up for some time. The purpose is to safely transition the mind of humanity into a viable, natural feedback and consciousness-reality system because otherwise it will be akin to an event of mass lunacy. We were literally shown and told that the moon is a military instillation from the previous civilization and is used to slow down the mind and in turn slow down the perception of time which literally acts as a time anchor and keeps people within a certain frequency range of their consciousness.

After too long, that becomes a trap system leeching energy from the conscious mind of everyone and thus limiting the conscious collective to a kind of frequency barrier that must be overcome in order to leave the artificial energy construct.

This system of the mind. When the construct is exited, one's intelligence returns to a much higher level and one's awareness functions in ways that are reminiscent of childhood dreams. Reality does not fade with age, one's mind is literally tuned into a system that was designed to limit your intelligence so you don't learn too fast and break the training wheels, so to speak. Now that system is being overcome, however those who are already done with that system must be patient because there are many who would be driven mad by the truth of what is happening and what has happened.

Greater Genetic Activation and Intelligent Capacity

We were shown, and told, that the original humans, before this system was activated, had a greater activation of their genetic capacity and this brings about memories of the other instances of one's genetics in the universe as well as a greater functioning of metabolism to the point where people lived a very long time if not an indefinite amount of time. If you imagine that the particular genetic configuration is a series of programmed stored harmonically and we move to the level of understanding how that system functions properly, one could refine their existence to produce an optimal functioning or even restore a maximal capacity of their genetic material. If the information transfer simply increases and enables a conscious adaptation to challenges then living for a longer time and become immune to diseases does not seem paranormal. If this is a biological nature, a system that can be adapted and enhanced or even comes from an enhanced origin then a restoration to that original quality is the most reasonable assumption one can make.

Either that, or a genetic dissolution and continual degradation is what occurs. What may be is that both occur and those who choose to accept self-responsibility and self-awareness in compassion, free-will and knowledge gain that extra-dimensional conscious control over their biology and can continue to refine their awareness into a heightened capacity.

Increasing Awareness, Advanced Technology and Social Unity

The idea is this. People must be brought up to speed, intellectually because when everything begins to accelerate due to a natural increase in complexity the effect of time dilation will begin to increase.

Meaning those who remain on the lower level of self-awareness and dormant higher thinking will move slowly through time. There will be less options for them to make choices as time moves slower and slower for them, but faster and faster for everyone else.

Here's the idea. People are supposed to be able to take care of one another and those at the higher end of the spectrum of advanced awareness will be at a drastically dilated rate of experience by comparison to those who have not advanced.

This is like the age old notion between the time dilation factor between Heaven, Earth and "Hell" or the Higher Middle and Lower dimensional realm. All the turmoil on Earth, all the thousands of years have only passed over the course of a few weeks in "Heaven" the higher dimensional aspect of the universe. Similarly, someone can go to "Hell" and spend what seems like an eternity in confusion or angst, and return to Earth in a few moments.

So if the levels are combined, then there would be a person that could be experiencing a very high rate of acceleration while another person next to them could be in a kind of cosmic slow motion, similar to how Earth and the lower dimension could be compared to Heaven.

Here's the idea. If that person was unable to comprehend what was happening in reality because they were entirely focused on a polarized linear, ego-based, physical and perceptual realm then they would have to find instruction from those around them willing to help them advance in their awareness.

The greater the contrast the more difficult this act of cross-communication between realm or at that time what would simply be one larger realm with multiple variations in time dilation occurring plain as day openly in society.

The second aspect is that this could increase to such a degree that communication between the levels of awareness could become minimal or virtually incomprehensible. Those who are advanced and those who lacked in self-awareness and knowledge of the universe and rooted themselves deep in their own biologically generated perceptual boundaries would begin to speak two different languages.

As well, the literal time dilation factor could increase to the point where it would be like having to help a person out of their mental maze, leaving and having to come right back to lift them right back out of the same scenario because of making the same mistake or falling into a similar mind maze immediately after.

Because of the time dilation factor this could literally become so disruptive by comparison of two different realities, that it would be the equivalent of literally having to babysit or take care of and raise the surface humans as if one couldn't leave their side. The alternative might be that one returns literally to find that human no longer conscious, physically expired, or mentally trapped in a downward cycle of decay, similar to what has happened to the majority over a thousand years in this civilization, but in a few moments or a day!

Thus, we would end up having a system that manages this and this is what we are seeing right now. People are given the opportunity to wake up and do the research and the personal internal work of loosening the programming and mental configuration that is instilled into people through the media and the social and personal bias that has developed like a bad habit.

This whole situation is literally in preparation for something so much larger, when the mind of every human changes because of the general momentum towards change building up and having an overall effect on the entire civilization in terms of reality and consciousness.

It's very serious though because what could be a bad day now could literally mean the difference between a person mentally undoing themselves or ageing 50 years in single day then after the big changes have begun.

And if you don't think big changes are possible, as in no miraculous cosmic event, then just imagine if the wealthy released the advanced travel or immortality tech. Imagine viewing the entire history, or opening up access to your subconscious to manually heal or find the truth, or biological immortality.

The point is, the problems we face on this level are not applicable on the next level. A more relaxing aspect of this is that if a person can maintain peace and refuse the animal instinctual free-for-all and convert polarized impulses into rational, creative, compassion, and free-willed behavior that facilitates self-awareness then things will only get better.

However, this doesn't mean that the majority of people are not resistant. We were informed how there would be a massive 'culture shock' but that this is beyond the contrast of any kind of nations in the civilization and would be more like someone from earlier civilizations being put into a very advanced civilization.

The idea is, this is not really a change where we went somewhere 'new'. That 'new' civilization, the one we are seeing more of peeking out and becoming a reality is actually the original civilization. It's the 'return' to what we've already always been.

What happened is a kind of reverse from the sense that we're moving into new territory and have to advance.

We were regressed as a result of a species wide traumatic event or series of events that imprinted into the DNA actual and inserted memories related to a psychotronic spiritual war over humanity.

So we're not moving to new land as much as we are returning and actually building an immunity to a parasitic mental virus that causes one to forget who they are and feed on one another mentally and emotionally which has created a spiritual barrier between one reality and the next and thus created the difference between the two. The infected, mortal, memory wiped, DNA distorted, warring civilization is at one end, the higher, original, pure, unregressed civilization is at the other although that is still a linear dichotomy which is not actually how it is. They are both occurring simultaneously and one side is actually generating the 'present' moment for the other through advanced technology. It's all mapped out like an experiment in causality, consciousness and holography.

The bodies of one end have been tampered with through pollution and the natural capacity for access genetic memory or extra senses are trimmed out along with a drastically reduced life-span...to the point where death and disease was invented.

Maybe this is just another myth, maybe it's all dependent on the individual and the big changes occur within the blueprint and expressed over time. I feel it's just perspective and like some others say, some have access to jump-spaces and in that sense they can take both the long and short path by walking and jumping and skipping across the barriers if they like. I can say for certainty that if that kind of ride is to be experienced one has to be able to handle time dilation and overcome the lower instinctual reptilian, bird ego mind because that is where people's brainwaves falter and brainwaves faltering at a technologically amplified rate literally means memory wipe and identity loss or fracturing.

The Game

All I can say is they play 32D chess across multiple worlds. The operatives, the population and the variables of the landscapes and the power games are the pieces. Changes are made, strategies are set, then entire timelines are altered. Everyone is in a new position and the whole mini-game starts all over like a larger game that's designed out of a thousand smaller versions.

The enemy uses our own minds and desires against us through psychotronic warfare. Large, interdimensional devices are literally used to beam down weaponized thoughts and desires into the players to influence their gameplay on the board, the map, and those who have power in this civilization are targeted the most.

They say the game is won. They have told me, back in the early years of the awakening, years ago, that the issue is that even when people have won, they never stop playing. That the game roots itself in their minds, in their subconscious.

It's not just that the outside world is a 'farce' of some sort. It's that because of the technology involved, long-term plans get set, games can be played, strategies or 'moves' that literally have the effect of altering space, time and consciousness on a multidimensional level. Thus, it's literally like 7 different chess boards on top of one another and each one is played simultaneously and each one is a different world that is actually experienced and considered a living reality. Thus, what is this world if it's just part of a kind of dimensional server system where blueprints are held in another reality and act as the 'code-base' for the visceral experience that is here? It's been made into something like a virtual reality because of the way the game is played between an area that is pure information and an area that is experienced materially. As well, this is possibly what has always been. That there has always been a difference between the 'code' substance and the living playing field that we all meet within. That should give you a new outlook on "The Matrix" if you ask me.

Yes. Humanity will become the awakened. No more unaware players. If one can't become aware across all the layers of their reality, this means that they are lacking a core or central multidimensional nature. The human contains a multidimensional nature and that is the nature of the human! Thus, we have many players on this one layer, who don't actually exist elsewhere in the system! They're a product of this one layer and have no capacity to extend across and thus realize the entirety of what is happening. This means they are to remain as pawns and will not come to the higher awareness that there are multidimensionally minded entities who are playing on these chess boards in other dimensions all stacked up and simultaneously launching strategy after strategy as timelines change and populations manifests new personalities and trends.

Once again, it's beautiful. Everyone, humanity, they are the true reason for life, for the whole show. It's not about the stuff, it's about the people and the feelings the real one's have.

Enjoyment of Life, Youth, Appearance, Personal Work and Social Expectations

Backlogged May. The appearance of youth and the social stigma of enjoying one's life according to their enjoyment of youth.

The illusion of enjoyment from pseudo-personal schema instead of finding your unique talent and gift to bring to society and assist in the co-creative process. People equate youth with appearance and social activities such as going to a party or club or concert and fitting in and enjoying themselves in a whirlwind of high activity and unpredictability.

If we base our enjoyment off of what we bring to others then we are more secure in our identity and enjoyment.

If we base our happiness in our youth then we will eventually run out of time in chasing that illusion.

Producing something of value for society requires care and energy however the reward is that our purpose has become meaningful and rooted in the strength and diversity of society rather than just another trend or passing illusion that is picked up and then dropped sometime later.

Maturity is often seen as something to fear yet this is what allows us to actually acknowledge the care and the requirement for careful attention that is overlooked in youth. We can judge ourselves properly through this maturation rather than fall into the illusion of chasing enjoyment through a lack of responsibility and applying one's talents in a way that expresses from the soul level and touches the souls and hearts of others in society.

Touching others in the way we are inspired is what strengthens that experience. We are often shown images of people being socially accepted by fitting in or going with the flow of what everyone else wants, this is an illusion and will eventually lead to unhappiness!

Only when one applies themselves in a way that cleaves through the illusion and paves their own path based upon what is important to them and how they can offer something to others is there true meaning that will last in time.

Strange Information, Twin Universes, The TimeGate (Cosmic-Collective Synchronization)

The core is non-dual and the refinement of each individual or collective is polarized according to their particular format for life and consciousness (the 'beginning' for them).

The timeshare, cosmic family duality is actually mental. Both are occurring simultaneously and it is the alternate frame-rate or rate of consciousness of either family that determines what reality one sees.

This is similar to a light bulb or monitor emitting light at an amount of cycles per second. That light is actually on and off 50% of the time in alternation. If we could see everything, we would see a light on and off, not what we see now.

The particular inability to see what is there which is determined by our maximal capacity of the operation of the mechanism of the eyes and the brain (the apparatus) limits us to just seeing one or the other. The computer or lightbulb mechanism occurs slow enough to see the images on screen or the light, however the blip of darkness occurs too fast for us to be able to acknowledge.

Thus, to each family, the other side is the blip of darkness on the screen or in the room that happens so fast in between each cycle or the hertz, cycles per second of the lightbulb or the monitor flashing that it's not noticeable unless someone looks into the mechanism of the physical apparatus, the brain, body, electricity and lightbulb to understand how it works.

Thus, the entire other world is not some other universe, it is overlayed in this place however a different frequency or rate of consciousness is required to decipher the occurrence from the background noise of the universe or the darkness of the absence of any emissions.

The funny thing is that there might not be any such thing as 'darkness', or 'absence of emissions', XD XD XD

The 'background noise' or 'junk DNA' of the universe might actually be 100% entirely information saturated with the experiences and interactions of other realities! XD XD XD This is what the experiments show.

We are not only not alone, but there is no such thing as "alone" and never was, it's impossible! There are only huge arenas of life extending in all directions simply alternating in different spectrums or ratios, or wavelengths and frequencies.

Some realities are encoded and this is very active. This is not the subject of this talk though.

The primary subject is that the humans who ventured into these parallels become 'travellers' who have messages for humanity to secure our place however there is a kind of warfare over spiritual development and truth and this threatens our continuity as a civilization and species.

Fallen; Hybrid Experimentation, The Embodiment of Evil

It's the best and the worst thing anyone can ever imagine.

What's the worst reasons for doing something? For the destruction or enslavement of the entire universe for your own personal pleasure and deviancy against the original intended purpose of creation.

What's the best reason and motivation? For the protection and full potential of all sentient life.

Both motives are at play in what we are analyzing and research here today. I have personal experience, as do you all as the human race is personally entangled in something of a spiritual battle of cosmic proportions and everything in this reality is connected through that.

The time of fallen, the watchers, the chimera experiments is this time. We are literally in the past. The ancient depictions of warnings in regards to these events is related to this. Advanced technology was discovered then which advanced the civilization to where it is now. The entire in between 2000 years is an illusion cast by those with access to this power, hiding this technology and waiting while using the human race as guinea pigs (not to give guinea pigs a bad name) and their own chattel for abuse for profit and personal satisfaction.

Everything is related to the unleashing of personal, unconscious desires through murder, deviant sex acts, experimentation and the hybridization of the original life. In actuality the head is on top where one's mindfulness and the center of their being of their physical power as well as emotional stability are the primary composites of their self and thus reality. In the falsified version the sexual organs are on top and thus the heart and the mind come secondary to carnal desires including rage and lust. These are the primary motivating factors of the groups that plague humanity and it is a learning process to unveil not the truth but the carnal desires in acts of continuing complexity and depravity. That is literally the name of the game. If it's considered evil or goes against innocence then that is sought and refined to produce the most powerful evil. The more one is payed, the more allowance, the higher their position the more access to innocent beings. This kind of sounds like fairy tale speak in regards to 'the more powerful evil'. In short, the actual essence of evil in the sense of the vibrations that are sensed and transmitted by sentient beings and some kind of essence in the universe itself has been discovered and refined to create the most viable and vile form of warfare imaginable. This is what was spoken of in the ancient texts, this is why there were and are coming great times of change in response to this.

They create realities.

Pieces of consciousness into alternate realities. It's all for the creation of slave-races that can be used to house 'unclean' spirits or simply beings that lack the connection to source.

Soft-Disclosure and The Concept of Physical and Mental Reality

This is more about the concept of physicality and mentality than it is a soft-disclosure post, however there is information in both forms here.

Movie: Two 22

The simultaneity of correspondence across multiple parallels of reality.

The conscious mind can access multiple parallels of possibilities and operate as a kind of simulation tester for which reality is successful through a hyper-real superimposition of possibilities.

Because he was viewing them, he was caught up within a causal relationship to the result.

If they were going to hit, then no matter how close it seemed, with the given scenario and the optional spread of possibilities, the alternative was likely to not hit. Thus, the one with the courage and the intellect to see the patterns can seemingly dodge absolute disaster through what are actually highly calculated risk assessment decisions.

All the little events lead up to the big ones but the big one was complete even before the little ones began. The big event is one time that simultaneously occurs throughout the enactment of all the little events that are linear components in their own time-stream. The multiple streams, while separate, are interlaced with one another and lead up to the same simultaneously pinnacle event of awareness. Self awareness is the pinnacle, all the steps and components leading up to the stimulation and catalyzing of that pinnacle.

The story goes to mention the little things that count as part of some kind of pattern. These are the seemingly separate and linear, consecutive and accumulative smaller events that lead up to the orientation of the larger or pinnacle of events. In actuality one can generate the catalyst through self-awareness. It's not that the smaller events are not real but that the necessity of them is illusory as they are like an organic extra-cellular matrix for the events of time to fit within in correspondence and relation to. Without one another there is no substance, however this can be achieved through directed awareness and waiting on the events to show the right 'numbers' is not entirely necessary. This is because mind is the true substance the extra-cellular matrix of the events in hyperspace, however this is invisible to the mind. These events, in this way, are literally hyperspace possibilities, items of hyperspace, held in an extra-cellular like fluid of mind.

The sentient beings that lack the awareness to become present and interactive on the higher levels of mental space, hyperspace which are through awareness of the possibilities and interactivity beyond a purely physical, chemically programmable level are considered material beings that lack the higher functioning of the spirit. The spirit is fundamentally the higher space 'fluidlike' extracellular matrix of mind. It is actually spirit, or a spiritual, etheric, liquid-light like substance.

This is down to a science as portals can be defined using the right mixture of physical materials, elements, chemicals, metals, minerals, biological components, and electromagnetic frequencies that enable one to directly, technologically interact with this 'hyperspace' and alter possibilities, probabilities and potentials down to a specific time, situation, mind-individual, or event. The time domains can be assessed, searched, analyzed, and repositioned or reorganized according to whoever or whatever is currently processing the most power and the most information in this region of space. This is one way large supercomputers power the flow of time and direct change for multiple civilizations, across hyperspatial barriers, directing a community of parallels in synchronization with one another. The human mind does this automatically and people have been drowned out from their higher power through meaningless and trivial distractions with trinkets, gossip, materialism and hedonism, superficiality, and an illusory science and world that explains reality in a way that has nothing to do with the reality of the situation, consciousness or existence other than when people are tricked or brain damaged. This is achieved through the literal brain damaging of the population through an epidemic of casualties from chemical contaminants, electromagnetic, genetic, spiritual, psychotronic, pollution and warfare against the higher potential and intellectual capacity of the human.

In trying to change time, time bounces back like an elastic band and corrects the flow of events to keep aligned with the eventual pinnacle event. Without changing the mind, the time will still occur the same because the program and the experience is actually mental rather than physical. Thus, changing the physical events is not effective whereby changing the mind is. This is through the care and the attachment to the end result. If a person can be pushed across that level of resistance or attachment, say by experiencing whatever the pinnacle or little events would cause that individual to experience, yet doing this before hand, one could alter the synchronization with each and thus the whole. However, the one who does this, would not be the one who began the project, the consciousness maybe, but that is a different definition.

In short, the physical program cannot be altered, but the native consciousness can bounce and jump around or over the end by accessing multiple parallels in proximity to that original stream. This is what the human civilization has done and the initial jump is due to interference from a spiritual war upon humanity, an imbalance of the emotional field, the mind and the physical field that began in the non-physical layers and has rooted itself in the physical as a kind of interdimensional parasitic hive mind entity.

This ascertaining of the possibilities connected to the physical layer can be used to become more aware of, or overcome programming and mind control blocks by seeing the possible events and outcomes based upon one's own involvement or lack of involvement. Then one can see what would happen anyway and what they are likely to be programmed to choose, if they are programmed or interfered with in any way such as mind control and through this choose the correct action outside of what they may be driven to choosing or what they may be completely unaware of. Until one looks, this is hidden. The issue is that many people do not think to look because they are fully content with the choices they are making and seeing on the physical level but when viewed from beyond the physical one can see that there are alternate layers of patterning and programming that are recent or have not existed since the beginning and are the result of external interference. The mind is selective and if the 'current' ego (which is always 'currently' in the past, or in memories and persona or "image", like the image of the stars in the 3D model being ever in the 'past') and if people become depatterned from the original blueprint or mode of experiencing reality from birth then unless they have an automated "reality checking" pattern or a mind control testing safeguard they will not realize this has occurred unless someone checks for them or they spontaneously rise to higher awareness. This spontaneous rising is often the result of a catalyst such as a great loss or difficulty and thus it is always more efficient to check first and continually check one's reality, behavior, patterns, and the synchronization-harmonization between the internal and external reality. This is akin to cleaning one's teeth or cleaning the body and a regular maintenance and upkeep of analyzing the mind, the presence of self, the direction and attitude of thoughts and internal experience is healthy behavior to ensure continuity and increasing self-awareness.

If there are increasing distractions or interferences of self-awareness then this behavior is necessary that much more so and will require an increasing of refinement, directive, or intent and knowledge to disable the interference mechanisms while also remaining focused on the original blueprint. The blueprint is apparent from the harmonized presence of self so this is secure as long as the harmonized sense of self can be reached which is the issue as that inner balance is exactly what is targeted by distractions and interferences that are chemical, mental, emotional, physical, electromagnetic, environment or in other forms.

In learning to continually check one can learn to act as their own catalyst to reach higher awareness and that is the key to altering or disabling interference and to reaching one's full potential of their capacity to experience and choose what energies to live within and thus what realities and possibilities to activate. When one is in full activation of their reality through being aware and in control of the choices they make and their impact on others and the self overall, then one is in enjoyment. The less awareness and control the least likely one is to enjoy their reality.

Harmonizing, maintaining, or cleaning one's mind of programs is literally as simple as being aware of the internal experience, the choices and desires of the innermost self that does not find immediate and accurate expression in the physical, and working to ensure that this internal reality is synchronized-harmonized with the external reality of the physical body, the physical world and the choices and experiences we express through physicality and the chemistry of the brain and body. The internal reality is contained within the higher dimensional fields of the electromagnetic emissions of the body, the aura or the soul, and the chemistry and physical biology contains the information and memory of the energies the condense down and directly interact with the physical body.

The interference is often due to there being potentiality gaps where one is say, not so sure about, or not so intently secure in bringing what is within on the spiritual plane outward towards the physical, collective experience in this reality. When this happens, when there is a lack of mental cleanliness through a lack of regular maintenance and upkeep of increasing self-awareness and ensuring that there is a synchronization, when there is a gap, what occurs is that there are interdimensional parasitic style organisms that will naturally move in and take up the excess 'potential charge' that the mind-body will 'leak' out and this becomes oriented in the most anti-Human of ways. For instance, if the emissions of the subtle energies, the mind, the inner intentions are not made aware and part of the central presence of the "I" character that is your presence of being, then another "I" that is artificial, pseudo-personal, imitative, and invasive will move in to take your place and this "I" will always make choices that are not in your best interest. This is simply because you are the only "I" that can serve you the best and all else is simply something invading your field where there are gaps left by your carelessness or unawareness and this the same process as a bug invading your living space where there is food carelessly left about.

The webs of expectation and social pressure are used to entangle and disengage humans from their internal experience and their connection to the true self.

The World of Lies

Don't give into the promiscuous mental and emotional energy. If one wavers with the denser vibrations than what has already happened and what is to come will destroy them. The goal is to achieve unification, "oneness" with the ultimate reality, the higher plane, eternity, or everlasting life. This is not achieved through outward attempts at control but through inward harmonization. This sounds fantastical but it is really that simple. The addiction to physical and grievous-dense reality games is what lessens the energy of the soul and attaches or entangles one to illusions, temporary experiences, forgetfulness and the falsification of the eternal true self with the divisible ego.

The Earthship was guided towards Hell, and through Hell. Soon the Earthship will orient towards the Most High.

Everything is an isn't. You can see for yourself. The cycles denote a more, obviously cyclic, and thus repetitive or predictable format. This, in the particular perspective being displayed, is literally a result of secret operations and the battle for control. One could say, however, whatever could and will or has happened is literally a civilization at a high level of advancement dropping down to a low level through attachment to desire or forgetting the true, non-physical nature of reality and the self, or passing into "Hell" realms. It's all connected, each perspective carries its own merit, ultimately there is one perspective and the cyclic comprehensions tell of these cosmic tales of the changing of awareness from high states to low states in the variety of ways that this is described or experienced.

Through tests of strength, methods to induce greater focus and self-discipline one can clear disharmonious energy by introducing organization and harmony in ways that focuses on the free-will of one's spiritual self (the energy) as the core, the generator and source of that increased harmonious energy.

This is literally through entering into situations where one's advancement is only enabled through choosing a path of discipline and making the right choices to both strengthen one's ability to resist giving up, resist outside control, and maintain focus and self-awareness through overcoming difficulty that acts as a catalyst attempting to hold one back.

In this material world, darkness rules, perversion, depravity, rape, molestation, thievery, aggression, deception, corruption, filth, confusion, chaos, oppression, hate, greed, ego, obsession with the superficiality, addiction, inversion, and other qualities of the fallen are the by-product and nature of the projected power and false-authority.

There is ultimate power in the mind. Only when this power is used for good, used for the protection of the innocence, the reverence and respect of life and continuity, the cherishing and empowerment through healing and harmonization is this power actual. when that power is used to garnish and gain the ego, then the separation, the lostness, and the undying thirst and helplessness of the one lost in the illusion is the figure-head and the center-piece of one's reality and their intentions.

The intentions are the cause, the source, and the core. If one is coming from a place of desire as a result of a lack of internal, personal power over the mind and the energies, then where one is lead through those actions and those motivations will only be an expansion of that original lack of personal power and integrity.

This world is really about a test of character, of integrity. This is because initially such an experience could be about the development of such character however with the general trend being such an inversion of personal power and a loss of integrity then the ultimate success is not to develop character over time, but to resist the supreme destruction of the soul as a result of exposure to this extreme moral and spiritual darkness! This is merely psychological distress, disharmony and a lack of the original proportions which enables the soul and the mind to experience life in this reality. Unless you planned out the trillions of data points that are required to make your life and reality possible, guess what, it's a gift to you, give by someone else! If that is not worth it, then it won't be much longer!

The idea is that those who live in such a way so as to acknowledge themselves above the rest by living beyond their means while others starve and cry, for food, water, truth, or warmth, then those people are the living bastardization of everything that makes them who they are! Meager, meek, humble, lowly beings that have suddenly grown to consider themselves gods amongst the animals, meanwhile they can't even exist without nature making it possible for them to do so and the true souled beings from God sharing with them their light and warmth so they can take and abuse and molest the nature of living with the deviancy and degradation of the original values that made that possible in the first place!

Life is a family, those who don't live that way are actually not a part of the family but an inverted shadow like consciousness the opposite of the substance that generates life out of the darkness in the first place!

This reality then becomes a place where the devious come to fade away meanwhile the light and the dark mixed together in an attempt to salvage and hereby the entire course of history is the separation of the wheat from the chaff the deviant who live in glee as millions suffer and eat far below their requirements while others literally laugh, mock, and EAT PEOPLE just as a testimony to how deeply they hate life and the creator of life!

Wake up!

Those who refuse to side with reality and acknowledge the occurrence of the deviancy, the destruction of the harmony, the innocence, the truth, the original, the biological functions, the chemical poisoning, the replacing of empathy, the machine like, cold hearted nature of of what is happening here, they are simply agreeing with overall and specific outcome that is reached through continued chaos and disharmony within. Whether they will admit that or not, that is what one is unconsciously doing by accepting the war, the degradation, the hatred, the separation, the uncontrollable thirst for more, more, more, it's not only an illusion, but the literal undoing of this universe and the native inhabitants.

Time Resets, Ancestor Simulation, Torus Technology, Interdimensional Parasites

They trick people into accepting their own demise and accepting punishment through believing they're not worthy or are 'bad'.

Everything that is happening is about the unveiling of the truth, the hidden aspects of reality becoming known.

These processes are for the liberation of humanity through self-awareness. People are restricted through tactics to reduce efficiency, productivity, energy and the production of disease and dissonance within the conscious and subconscious mind. The nature of the relationship between the subconscious is literally the arrested portion of the higher consciousness.

The true origins, the function of the universe and the true history has been hidden from public view. The universe is consciousness central however the fragmented consciousness is due to the manipulation of and projection of reality as holographic neurological interface.

These are fear based control systems operating as a reality generation model. There advanced technology controlled methods/psychotronics , methods of deception.

Symbolism is used to access the subconscious.

This is a time of energy purity, wholeness non-divided original essence within. Pure awareness is a non-local transceiver system with simultaneous presence with the actual universe.

Same property connects one's particular intention and experience from the beginning or initial cause and memory. each individual traces their own frequency back into through a path from the center to the edge and back. When ones simplifies down but cannot any further then the original blueprint has been reached these existed since the beginning and all other experience extends forth as beta testers – alpha testers archetypes.

This dynamic was abused and used in the manipulation of humanity which resulted in the temporal whirlpools which are literally the cause of the repeats. The abuse of advanced technology and spiritual knowledge resulted in the near collapse of the entire system.

The system is threatened by a total reset and an extraction is likely. Those still feeding the parasitic entities will be marked in a process to protect Life and to ensure that this mistake is not repeated.

Share This Information

Preface: I ate a bit and feel much much better and spent some time outside (with the increasing radiation from the space of this reality being overstressed from the temporal shifts) and I will publish another video later tonight touching on more of this.

Electronic demonic possession torture systems are in use around the world. They are known under acronyms Tempest, S.A.T.A.N, and many others. These are used to create a negative energetic consciousness effect and the people abusing these systems are being manipulated by interdimensional parasites.

This is used to alter memory, to download or 'insert' 'screened' memories. This is used to cause pains and to create sensations or to instill a motivation to perform a certain action or go to a certain place. This can be used to control large groups of people while monitoring many simultaneously.

The pain is motivating but this is not an excuse to hurt people which is often how the situation is presented.

The higher plane is purer or a greater of magnitude of energy. A motion or change coming from "above" has many magnitudes of order the amount of energy that the same motion has down here.

The situation is like a board game where if a person picks a character and rolls the die, they're now playing the game and it's all a part of the game. Temptation is used to manipulate and push people to involve themselves and thus become a part of the experiment.

Free-will is the self-empowerment over automation. Automation is for animal and mechanical behavior or systems not for free-will and self-awareness. Self-awareness and free-will is the true solution.

The material Earth plane is the anchor that the higher and lower energetic realities are anchored through. The lower realms are where there is less free-will and self-awareness and more automation and suffering. The higher is where there is more free-will, self-awareness and peace.

The torus-technology creates a fragmented consciousness system where the one original reality is split into multiple fragmented realms that are akin to a series of mirror reflections of each other. Each is the reflection of the other and there are a finite amount and one original and actual occurring. Humanity's consciousness, the collective mind is trapped within the technological reflections rather than the original.

They use children in the projects and certain aspects got out of control and became a part of the parasitic infection which causes ritual abuse and the domination of desire, lust, rage, hatred and so on which is the source of energy for a fall interdimensional consciousness.

The electronic mind control systems are controlled by whoever is accessing them and they are programmed to induce violence and reactionary behavior in the population to enable a 'solution' that silences the dissent. Active denial systems are used to control the groups.

The children are used for either sex slavery or assassins (or intellectual, psy work). The adults, celebrities, politicians, famous people, and so on are used similarly. Literally everyone knows about the secret space program but if they are 'activated' in an insecure manner or situation, this will induce a nervous breakdown. These are happening more often and we should support people in this process of unveiling the truth and strengthen one another.

Many people will not be able to handle the truth. The truth is literally like a poison it is so strong, so potent, so fear inducing to some, so we can do this, we can be peace and know the self.

I did cry out to God (One True Creator, not Gad, Gaud, False Creator) during the soul-trap torture method to send my soul to hell permanently by overloading the capacity to maintain an appropriate minimum energy level to continue to inhabit a human form or move above which then results in one passing into the lower realms and assimilating or merging with the demonic energies in the abyssal plane.

The team that showed up told me, "No, we are not God we work for God. If you were to see God, you would die and would not be able to return to this plane." There is more to that whole event.

I went through a period of feeling rage at the one or two people I see nowadays, literally one, because since the recent events since about 5 years ago, I shut myself away from the world, and I have a physical injury.

I put my intentions towards healing this disturbance within and after about a week the feeling had dissolved. Then there was a potent spiritual depression.

This is sobering, invigorating, refreshing because I look around and feel like I'm in an alien environment. I have to change, I have to climb out of this pit that I find myself in.

I also see changes in the world and I feel that many of us are going through a cleansing process. The heart and mind must be cleansed and what is within us that is destructive must be kicked out, transmuted, converted into something harmless and neutral or positive.

A pure heart and a clean mind is the pathway to salvation and that is found by examining the patterns in your mind, your behavior and how you're living.

It's funny I was tanned a little earlier and I'm still in pain from that little bit of physical work I did in the garden. I used to volunteer at farms and work with the Amish and a local producer.

The higher power is not out there, you don't a microphone or loudspeaker. The power is within. We are supposed to see changes similar to what took place last year with pedogate and the system basically beginning to be shown for what it is. We don't need to argue and debate endlessly as that is a trap and we don't need to sit and sing about agreeing to disagree. There is one truth, and no one person has it.

We know if someone is being dishonest about their intentions, and they know. We should be more honest about ourselves and what's going on. I just wanted to make a slightly energetic addition to the video.

I fasted for 2 days and my body got angry at me when I ate finally! As if the energy said, "awwww, why'd you have to mess that up?" The fasting is highly beneficial for connecting with the energies within when done safely, enemas are helpful as well.

I'm looking where to go next, I must change, I must use my talents, I must help the world, I must meet others, I must show people how much I love them, I must not fall into the trap of being another asshole!

People are hurting, people are starving in the streets right now. People are being harassed, people you see on T.V. are being harassed right now as we speak into their subordination.

I waited 7 years and went into disarray and self-doubt after 2010 and Donald Marshall was brought into spark the entire unveiling of the world situation. I do not know who I would be today if I would've been strong enough to come to the public and say, "This is happening to me, powerful people who literally own the planet and consider Humanity their slaves are using children from a young age in interdimensional psychic and physical warfare or for ritual abuse, training and condition or ritual sacrifice and consumption. And there are created beings, interdimensional parasites, non-human entities, multiple worlds within." I feel I was involved in this because part of my native role in this civilization was to come to the public and say, "Hey, there are worlds within worlds, this is just one layer of the universe, your mind is more powerful than you think, you can change your reality by becoming aware of and controlling how your perspective changes reality!"

I was already saying that and performing that service or role and so this is just another step from that, yet with a twist.

Read Donald Marshall, Max Spiers, James Casbolt and the others.

There's always a higher power, this world is like a show for that. There is too much suffering for us to be worrying only about ourselves or even worrying at all! And if it's just a projection of the mind, then who are we to enjoy or stand by with this kind of projection? What kind of life has a horror show constantly playing in the background? What does that say about us?

There is a correlation or correlation. As about so below, as within so without. What we see in the projection is happening inside of us because we're seeing it. So we need to stand up and change that. We need to say we see that, affirm that we know what's going and demand that this stops. We must stop supporting that system of suffering and this is like candida and the beast must be STARVED, that is how the civilization is liberated.

Words are intentions and some words are seals to energy. If we use just vibrations and pure intent with focus enough of a small minority can literally pulse a frequency out into the electromagnetic-etheric field of Earth and change this reality. One person changes their reality, many people changing their reality changes the world. This is how people are controlled, by being lead to beLIEve that they are helpless because they're just people.

Look up Michael Kavanagh on facebook and see how what we're doing with our beliefs and energy, our mind, is encoding our reality into experience. And this sounds strange but is how this whole reality is projected. The dark forces don't have the capacity to change anything directly, they can only tempt people in certain ways to get them to do things and carry out certain actions that then set the stage for the next scene in the show. The people have the power but they are sleeping in untruthful behavior and beliefs.

That's where we have the power to stand up, and refuse to allow our energy to be used against us and have our intentions converted into a negative, dark energy feedback loop where we end up paying for something that costs us spiritual energy. An economy is not when you buy something that then costs you more money, EVERYTIME!

A lot of people don't like how this sounds or how this makes the situation look, but similar to gangrene, a person might not like how it looks or how it smells but sooner or later they'll have to do something because it will take the foot and then the leg if they don't act.

So that's what's going on, we'll "talk" more about this again, or later. Thank you. (I love you, I love you, I love you!)

Unit Circle of Redundant Self-Awareness, Leading to a Stream of Emergent Consciousness

The making of the video brought relief. Feeling a lot better, I actually just remembered something that I was trying to remember and it just hit me all of the sudden and my eyes went all wide and I had the camera up already so I just like looked at myself in the camera with a surprised face, it was kind of hilarious. And even, that act of remembering, given the encoding of the great emotion, circumstantial kind of emotion, encodes it like it engraves it so I'm not going to forget again. It makes it so the remembering stays, it stamps it. It's because I cared, it doesn't keep the process going and repeat itself. You can do that to control your mind (control your emotional context and influence perception and memory-cognition) and this is part of what I remembered (or more-so, the expansion).

After some food and introspection I felt restored, a lot better. Sleeps been wild, no need for attention over at least what I want to say. So don't worry as well and you shouldn't really worry about anything anyway because that's not going to do anything but associate that energy and sorry if I'm speaking to low.

The talk tomorrow is with Patricia Farrington.

There are still some posts from the past month or two which I have to put together into a video and now there are like two parallel movements of streams of information which are both becoming apparent simultaneously.

Pleasure through desire requires a balance of pain. If you figure out how to get pleasure without desire, then you've reached the actual enlightenment, not the perverted use of the word. That is a neutral or non-dual pleasure it doesn't carry (the desire based pleasure, pain balance) (I'm still a bit tired). That is how the material system of reality works. One cannot escape this while using the body to experience pleasures from the system that requires duality (hot, cold, pleasure, pain). Reverse that and the non-dual spiritual reality is unveiled (hot, cold, pain, pleasure).

Fasting brings pleasure, this is spiritual restoration from the awareness that is born through the removal of that physical perception that blocks the higher mind by entraining the lower mind. The opposite of the joy from fasting would be eating again! Thus, the opposite of that pleasure is not pain! Thus the pleasure of fasting is not a physical, desire based pleasure, but the opposite, and this nourishes the spirit. If you do that then eventually you're not long a part of this realm, you are, but you're a part of everything and nothing in particular. So you can't be both high and low at the same time, yet through this non-duality beyond the pleasure pain duality, then you can and this "breaks the laws", or not the laws but you move beyond this realm, but become part of everything. So this shapes everything that's going on here, all the money, the professions, everything that's going on.

And the thing I remembered is funny, because of the way it was like stuck or impressed upon my mind, as if it was insisting that I remember it.

Consciousness or more-so awareness, self-awareness is comprised of, at first, of moments of wakefulness; when you come to a cognitive arousal. It's really a cog-, cogent? I always mess up that word, cognizant? Yes, and cogent is closer to precision in an argument, which is not quite the word but possibly related given the concepts, it's kind of the same if you follow the trail. And so imagine a young child coming to awareness and if you go deep enough you can even find these memories. Children are in a hypnagogic trance, at least the majority of them are. This is similar to what it is believed at least, and this is also something I was taught, however I have similar, along the same lines maybe not as pronounced ideas, but that the tribes that haven't really taken to the individuality that comes with what we call modern civilization where everyone's basically wearing the same clothes doing the same thing or a few general basic jobs. Everyone's in the same trance, they don't know that they're aware of who they are, they're just aware, it's a pure awareness without restriction, but in that the finding, that restriction we have to have resistance. There is a quote that said, uh, it's on twitter from Esoteric Exposal (might be someone different now that I can't find it), I want to see who said it,, that quote, it was kind of sexist, things were pretty sexist back in the day (and even now). B.o.B. said he wants some ‘boneless fries’, I don’t know what those are... but the quote was, “Man knows himself, through knowing other men.” So basically in having that boundary what you are and you are not, only then do you know what you are. And when you’re just, you’re knowing what you are, there’s really no knowingness which is paradoxical. Only by introducing the boundary, the lack of continuity do you gain what is being separate and through that separation, whole and singular, and one. And uh, this person makes so many posts, and uh, so that relates to the consciousness because only once we wake up to realize we were asleep do we realize we’re awake, and until that point we’re basically in a type of dream where it’s like a lullaby where it dances around the message, the control, but (extremely loud car 10:55), but we don’t actually know how to formulate what it is that is motivating what is driving us and what we’re expressing and to express ourselves. And if you think about it, logically, linearly, our selves motivating us to express ourselves, well that’s not really sensible and that’s where that duality paradox comes in which is where you have the definition or where you have the restriction the boundary of what is, is where you have the definition of what is. And if you do that with your self, you basically become, uh, the world, if you will.

There’s so many posts I can’t find the quote to see who said it because I’d like to see who said it, I’ve scrolled through like 50 twitter tweets. Yea, check out Esoteric Exposal on twitter you won’t be able to say you know everything they’re showing you, just after a few minutes of scrolling. It’s all esoteric knowledge and this is what is used to control the population. I can’t find it.

And so in that duality, that paradoxical knowingness based on not knowingness we find an emergence quality of self-awareness of consciousness and at first there are broken blips glimpses like uh, we’re taking naps out of the hypnagogic trance and temporarily waking up to constant and continuous awareness but falling back asleep rather quickly. When we can connect the moments of wakefulness, because we learn how to self-stimulate that act of waking up, cause you imagine normally when we wake up it’s, if we’re awoken, it’s by something else, by noise, a sound, the sun, or you run out of, not run out of but you gain all you can gain from sleeping and your body will naturally wake up. The point is imagine if we’re in a place where it’s, you could do that forever. So we have to learn to wake ourselves up, and when the points are connected, the glimpses of wakefulness, that trance that goes to emergent consciousness, and self-awareness becomes a stream of awareness, a stream of consciousness and from that stream, that’s where your personality is born. It’s where you begin to shape this aspect of who you are, the mirror, the reflection of yourself, the image in the waters of your mind, basically.

And uh, it’s just like the monkey trying to grab the moon in the reflection in the water. You can’t grab yourself, because you invented it, to explain the paradox of being asleep and being awake at the same time, in the same world. And it’s because there is a gradient between high awareness and low awareness, it’s all one, but it is separate because it’s operates differently. And it’s mathematical, geometric, you know, frequency based, pattern based, the whole plethora of modes and methods that come together to create this capacity to emerge from having points of separate data points and from those points of having whole networks that emerge and become units of wholeness in different points and at the same time you can have multiple points that are separately independent and as well networked and connected as larger wholes and this expands and expands but this pattern never actually ends. And it’s also because the same process that’s cycling, it’s kind of like a Rolodex that’s connected to other (*drinks* that’s water by the way, not soda), too other, uh, basically other realms. It’s like a uh, wheel of fortune that spins but while that one’s spinning, that track that you can see, there's simultaneously an invisible one above it and below it and they're both spinning in maybe different directions even, and depending on where this one lands, the material one, the other one's will give you different answers and if you ever align them all in a certain way, the power level increases beyond what either of them are separately and so what we have here is an emergence that expands beyond the energy of what we have in what we can see. So it's like we get energy from nowhere.

It's kind of like a free-energy but instead of energy, you get awareness. And that awareness is a presence in the moment, so if you're kind of watching TV. or something, if you watch TV., which is not safe for your health, except for maybe some interesting movies and stuff. And you go into trance, the idea is you don't know you're in a low state of awareness, because you're in a low state of awareness! That's the point, it's reflexive (I said I was gonna make this short...), that's why it would have to, I remembered this, this is how I came up with this conclusion, it's between the individual components and the whole. The parts and portions, and the whole, there's only one whole which just means all of them, and there's multiple parts which always means partiality to the whole, the components that lead up to it, you can have those components that lead up go on forever and you can have the ultimate view expand forever. But, in the "end", if you will, for the whole, there's a finite set but those sets can combine, it's like the LED little light game (from back in the day) where you can plug these LED's in and make all these different shapes, on the board you have a limited amount of slots to put in the LEDs (little lights) that light up. But you can do so many combinations that you can make virtually, for our intentions, for our use and intentions, virtually an unlimited amount of combinations. You're never going to sit there and run out of combinations, you can make anything, people make crazy sceneries with these, you know certain toys like that, or the Etch-a-sketch, technically, there's a limited finite amount of combinations, but we're never going to reach that in any probabilistic manner.

In that sense though, from a universal perspective, there's so only so many atoms or so many combinations, it's finite, limited there's only so many base elements, or fragments or components, or frequencies-harmonics, or mathematical patterns or primes, or something like that. But they create this universe where it's seemingly infinite, it gives us infinite experience, like the Rolodex of consciousness. From that, we're in just a little slice of that, but the reality of it is that it's multiple layers stacked over one another, and that's another term, another way of understanding this, is that it's stacking. It's literally through data-stacking that information emerges where basically the excess from these invisible realms that are currently, from the physical, invisible to us here, leak in in various ways that the components configure themselves to introduce correspondence between the levels and there is more here to become aware than there was seemingly before. We didn't add anything, change the configuration and you get more energy than with the previous configuration. So it's like a puzzle game or something like that, and your brain is doing that, and really it's your energy system. Your brain is like the organ that it invented to come up with that.

There are certain bits of knowledge about how the brain has configurations to restrict that and create an overwhelming sense of excess possibilities and configurations so that it looks like a maze and a labyrinth but it's really not. In that sense the stream of consciousness when we can tie them together, that is the basis of it. Imagine if you watch TV, which I hope you don't, or when you watch a movie because I watch a few movies here and there. Basically, watch yourself and this is what mean by multiple layers. If you can see yourself and you catch yourself slipping into that lull state who caught yourself and who slipped into it? Are there three of you? One that slipped, one that caught the event, and one that is observing everything?

You're at multiple layers simultaneously but you don't know because you don't have a use for that, but once you learn how to reconfigure the way you observe and your perspective changes and complexifies or expands, then those components are possible and it's actually as if you're taking a step back and introducing an extra-dimensional or extra-consciousness layer that you can observe from without interacting and it's as if there's more of you, of your experience, than just the one singular linear consciousness that is present when we don't have the capacity to self-stimulate, self-initialize wakefulness.

This can all be learned by remembering how, as a child, you basically went through these same things. But it's over years and things like that. And when you learn to go within, through certain practices, or the heat of the moment, you know emotions are high, food and desires and you go into delayed gratification, like Kai said (check that video on the facebook, I'll probably make a post on the blog about that), that that is the sign, the mark of awareness, the aware, the 'modern' man. But it doesn't mean modern, it means enlightened, Christed, which is where if you can choose to be self-aware then you're moving out of autonomy and the mechanistic reaction and reactive state of lower consciousness which is an animal instinctual existence and those realms, similar to everything else I've been saying, have a reflection in an energetic plane, and those are the lower realms of the energetic spiritual animals, and a human, is not supposed to be in the animal planes, it's the weeping and gnashing of teeth. It would be like a human going into the jungle and living, after living in a city, which, I wouldn't recommend living in a city, and I'd probably recommend living in the jungle in certain situations, because people in the jungle are healthier (primarily mentally, although as well as physically in many situations) than people in the city. The point is that in that contrast it's the same in the reflection for the mental realms, or the spiritual realms, where if a person is overtaken and their body flips upside down, spiritually, and now their lower energy centers are their head and see through their butt basically, or their genitals, and their mouth and their heart and their thinking aspects are down low being guided like an animal, ok then that's backwards. And the person's whole universe is upside down from there on, and they live in an energetic realm that is similarly reversed.

And so in that sense, when consciousness, emergence of self-awareness, rises, emerges to the forefront of the motivation for how you interact and observe this reality, and your self, in literally observing the act observing of yourself, breaking it down, what it means to be, in order to define what you're defining. Not anything in particular or specifics, but in the general kind of vague or self-referential partially redundant manner. There's actually a term for this, a self-referential (can't find the name of the study of redundancy "P" word?), redundancy is a certain form of self-reference where basically the action or reason behind what the purpose of something is is the definition of how it exists in the first place, it feeds back into itself like a loop. For example, a clock that has the image of the clock say at a 12 midnight (or noon) and you look at where the 12 would be and it has the image of two hands going up like at 12 midnight (or noon). And you look at 3 and it has the image of the hands of the clock at 3 o'clock for where the number "3" should be. So instead of the numbers it's the clock itself, and the whole thing is made of clocks telling you when it points at 3 o'clock, ok you get the 3 over there and so the number shows itself. It's like a word that is defined by using itself in the definition (this is Humanity! Eternal presence!)

It's redundancy, and there's a study for that. It's like a mind game. That's what consciousness is because that's what you're doing and when you can learn to do that it leads into more of the same and that's what I mean by these feedback loops where eventually it will introduce layers that weren't explicitly visible or seemingly necessary before, until you get to the point where it's entirely not unnecessary, but it's excess to the point where you're seeing everything to the point where you have no way or possibility to use all of this information logically, but then it loops back around itself and it becomes the meaning of why you're there because it's not necessary to use the information to do something different but to become more conscious. So you get consciousness to become more conscious of yourself, to become more aware, so you're more aware of yourself. The point is when you can learn to self-initiate that, that's when that becomes something that is like a power that defines itself. I don't know how to describe from there, but that's the point, that there is no way of describing what it is specifically because this goes back to being conscious of being conscious. If you go beyond that in describing what it is you're doing then you move out of that state. If you can stay in that state and still actively be doing it, you're stacking layers and that's where these invisible layers begin to, you're forcing them to express themselves in this plane and you're overloading this plane basically. It goes back to what I said a while ago about the sacred pathway which is basically if you have, from duality, basically it's a sine wave, a parabola, you think you have the up and down motion, in-out, high-low, whatever it is described as, it's really a polarity of it's own nature.

This means it's a redundancy, up and down is not up and down but is basically out a distance and then back in to where it started in the first place. The high and low is the same thing, it's not more of something and the opposite of something else, it's literally one thing in a gradient, and there's only one thing there. Where we see two things, and we think it's a sensation that is separated, hot and cold or whatever, and it's really only one thing there. It's itself being separated by our perspective, but the point of that is, you know geometrically, or visually, graphically, if you map this function you basically get a circle, (what is the word for it, these are the things I always forget!) *looks for the word*, circle unit, unit circle, unit line (laughs), aw man I'm messing this one up, no unit circle. Yea, which is basically the mapping of say a turning of a circle in a logarithmic, I think you could say it's a logarithmic progression, it's basically it's like a wave. The point is when you get more complex things you can use this to determine things, (to project paths) to graph them. But in the basic sense, that same motion of something going like this say around a clock (makes a circle motion), you can map it as something going like this (makes a wave pattern in air) and it's weird because it's not just that you're mapping it in terms of the values because that's true too, but literally if you draw it on paper and trace a dot, or a thumbtack around the shape of a small circle or hula hoop or something as it rolls, on a piece of paper, it draws a wave-function out like that. And so it's mathematically, numerically, matching the progression on the numerical values of the circle, as well as mapping the physical action that it's doing. The math and the action are the same thing, it's one self-referential, self-reflective relationship. You get that symmetry that's defining itself, as itself. The unit-circle is the same thing as the clock that says what time it is by showing what a clock looks like when it's that time or number on the clock. It's a clock with numbers made out of smaller clocks.

When you see the wave doing that (moving horizontally), that's showing the circle is doing when it's doing that (moving in a circular motion), it's just showing it. And you're consciousness is just doing that, so the point is, when you have one, at that level, that's the base level. They're made of basic dualities, of high and low and this is really one thing, one essences separated into two by perspective, when you expand that you have one line doing this (making a wave-function in the air) and then that line (that the wave function is traversing) begins to make another layer of a wave-function motion, now created of smaller wave-functions (self-referential, redundancy of meaning, layers of information within layers). You have a curvy line now making a curvy line and then you zoom out again and now you have three layers of curvy lines, where there's a small curvy line making a curvy line, and then that little pattern right there is making a curvy line going up and down and up and down and the whole point is that expands and it can go out many layers. The point is, 9 is the maximum and minimum you need to find the universe. Any more than that and you're repeating proportionally and you max out proportions when you get 9 of those layers in one complete, multi depth imagery. It's reminiscent of folding a piece of paper more than 7 times!

When you can do that in your head with layers of becoming cognitive and cognizant of your own awareness, that's where this event occurs, this foaming, effervescent bubbling, coming to the surface of awareness and wakefulness is formed and you become forefront of that wakefulness rather than the result of it, you become the initiator of it and the result of it. You make yourself, you become the "creator" of the moment of clarity, and so that's a stream of consciousness that was 5 minutes wrapped up in 31 minutes.

I just wanted to say that, thank you for the comments, I haven't really been able to respond to them, I will soon, and there's, I can't tell you about what is coming! Desire does require a balance of pain and uh, the never ending story, is real, and the fall of man is real, and what goes up must come, so what goes down must come up. And some say it was 2 billion years, and on a higher plane only 33 years will have passed by the time we finish this whole cycle. There are training sims, the fallen, Jerusalem, the great rift, chasm of darkness, the illusory fallen timelines, the black goo, the hunters and the watchers, the doppelgangers, the beginning of time, stopping time, restarting time, the hall of memories, entering hell, there's so much that happened in this cycle of history, that we'll talk about it, thank you.

And to add, the waves going, that's your consciousness, you don't have to make the circle turn and the wave therefore go, that's time, it's happening automatically. What you do is put the thumbtack in the ring as it's turning so you begin to draw the line as the ball rolls and it draws the line as it goes up and around, and you have to sit it there and hold your consciousness as the layers progress and that act of holding is stretching some type of fabric and the more you do that, the more you pull, the more weight you get behind that the more impact, the more there is a pronounced change or shift in your awareness and eventually that stacking effect occurs and you have multiple layers beginning to coincide in one and where the layers begin to stack and you have one proportional set and another basically the line going this way, and then the line going that way and the whole thing doing this (the extend stacking of layers of redundancy over one another, curves within curves, layers of awareness within awareness), it's literally like the never ending story.

There's a video on that I might post, but that's the secret, that that's the never ending story, it's layers of correspondence interacting across planes of perception of abstract reference relative to one another, dependent on your perspective, of your ability to differentiate and collect, collude in essence to bring a kind of relative order between the layers, because otherwise if no one does it then they're there but it doesn't do anything, at least not in this plane. It doesn't do anything here now, so you do it, you make it, you bring it here by seeing it and becoming it in that sense. And that's just what I wanted to add to, the circles already going, all you have to do is put the thumbtack in it and draw that line and hold if you will you're putting like a hold somewhere in the past because it begins to go forward and it stretches the stream of consciousness out, note that that kind of looks like a snake the way it moves, through the sand (time) if you will. And the sky in certain situations, we'll talk more on that.

And I meant to say collide, in that last part, but collude works as well, if you look up the meaning or you know the meaning, it's that act, is the sacred, secret coming together of what's happening, it's the secret of what this actually is, just think about it. Thank you.

The Civilization Simulation

WW2 occurred due to the changing power structure as the result of different nations coming into the knowledge of the methods of manifesting change within this civilization through utilizing advanced technology to alter the minds of the masses.

The 'global simulation' (surveillance) began in the 1940's. This continued into the 1980's where the modifications to the timeline resulted in near collapses which then lead to collapses in 1996 and 1998-1999. Then in the 2000's there were near collapses while 9/11 was an event to re-encode the mass mind to synchronize with the projected trajectory to lead out of the continuing collapses.

Because of these collapses, the amount of energy required to correct the system and ensure continuity was increasing while the information available was decreasing, this is a quantum collapse.

With the use of the advanced technology a superpower can pause time, alter events of history, reset time and influence the collective mind effectively turning this reality into a Truman show.

The goal is to leave the simulated, continued resets and achieve liberation into 'true time', or 'organic time' which is not manipulated based on limitations and scarcity to starve the people.

Liberation from the illusory time is liberation from the ego, false time, the shadow, duality, the material prison, fear, addiction, pain and death.

To achieve this a new timeline has been written and must be completed in one complete experience from a continuous start to finish and solidify this into the larger universe which will not reject a completed version. The partial versions work until we want to leave the illusory or artificial time which is not possible unless there is a completed version to finalize our civilization's existence into actual time. Otherwise the memories would all jumble and we would mentally dissolve.

This is all controlled and carried out by forces seeking to achieve liberation although there are groups who resist and intend to enslave humanity through mind wiping and programming. WW2 occurred due to the changing power structure as the result of different nations coming into the knowledge of the methods of manifesting change within this civilization through utilizing advanced technology to alter the minds of the masses.

The 'global simulation' (surveillance) began in the 1940's. This continued into the 1980's where the modifications to the timeline resulted in near collapses which then lead to collapses in 1996 and 1998-1999. Then in the 2000's there were near collapses while 9/11 was an event to re-encode the mass mind to synchronize with the projected trajectory to lead out of the continuing collapses.

Because of these collapses, the amount of energy required to correct the system and ensure continuity was increasing while the information available was decreasing, this is a quantum collapse.

With the use of the advanced technology a superpower can pause time, alter events of history, reset time and influence the collective mind effectively turning this reality into a Truman show.

The goal is to leave the simulated, continued resets and achieve liberation into 'true time', or 'organic time' which is not manipulated based on limitations and scarcity to starve the people.

Liberation from the illusory time is liberation from the ego, false time, the shadow, duality, the material prison, fear, addiction, pain and death.

You Are The One Who Chooses

Align with those who are truthful, you will tell the truth to yourself. If you align with those who are lying, you will lie to yourself.

Imagine that, how is it possible to lie to yourself? Do you have more than one mind or has one mind been split into two?

Reconnect with yourself and paradoxically find yourself for the first time, once again and become who you've always been. That is the eternal game, nothing can ever truly change or die but we can become more or less aware of the whole by reflecting in ourselves either wholeness or partiality.

Each action, every choice is formed out of intentions and awareness. Those choices born out of intentions to project partiality, to feed the false self of imbalanced emotions or projected lack are within the realm of the of sensory based pleasure instead of self-awareness through knowledge of the energetic realm. That sensory realm is only possible through partiality where some portion of your eternal memory and self is separated and out of that separation a false self or ego is generated.

Again, in true paradoxical fashion, the purpose of that self, the illusion, is to learn of the reality, the true self. The purpose of the addiction to life, is to realize there's no such thing as death. When the addiction is suffered and accepted, death is constant as the higher self or the energetic realm dies to the mind. When the addiction is managed by overcoming the motivation of the lower mind and making those choices through intentions aligned with the true self, the energetic realm which projects the physical appearance, then there is no death because it is understood that what makes the physical apparent is a configuration of perspective that limits the whole picture into a series of layers that are seemingly separate like the layers of the mind and body or the frames of a movie.

Those layers are not separate, they are connected, because they are actually describing a continuous realm. It is the image, the appearance, the physical, perceptual or technological (in the case of the movie) system that creates that effect of separation and this is to transfer the information into a recordable format.

Thus, the brain creates the illusion of separation so that the body consciousness, the ego can be formed and through this the totality of higher awareness can be experienced in the physical plane.

Then, what is the meaning? If it's just a dream like adventure, who did this and why? This is the dream of a higher organism who does not suffer from the loss of the truth to the illusion but benefits from the death of the illusion. Still, some will say that the illusion is the enemy of life and is not just a 'dream' but a war amongst the spiritual planes. This may be true, as well, or just another way to looking at the same situation.

If it was that way, did you choose that? If not, will you choose to solve the problem? Choice is what creates all the universal truths and on some level the original being chose to be this way.

That is the primary secret of the ages. Those behind the scenes take their projection, the illusion, the pleasure and pain with glee and go, "I CHOOSE TO DO THIS, THIS IS MY PROJECTION, NO MATTER HOW PAINFUL."

Meanwhile, they tell people out here, "THIS IS AN ACCIDENT, A WAR, LOOK OUT!"

Really, "Look within." All the aspects are self-contained, if they weren't, there would be no self to experience them. How you change, choose and learn is whether you arrive at the wholeness of the final step, accepting self-responsibility and becoming that overall experience or whether you throw blame and say it MUST be someone else that did this. That's the trick, everyone who says it's someone else is giving those people behind the scenes to the power to be that someone else!

You can do it too but you don't need to own a nation to do that, simply choose for you and the result is the same, you have the deed, the title to an entire universe which is what a human is.

The question, then, is what will you do to ensure that you are in control? What kind of challenges will you throw in your way? How rocky will the path become for you before you step up and realize you're the one who chooses?

That is the second secret, that life is an ongoing operation to test the limits of the mind and perception and this is participated in by every sentient being in this civilization.

Intentions and Parallel Time (Lives) In the MultiVerse Matrix

The intentions are entangled with actions on the higher plane. Just by having intentions and letting them entangle or reside 'within' you are entangling or enabling with the actual actions that are simultaneously taking place in an alternate reality.

The system is based on a projected trajectory of time activated through simply having the intentions or the energies or frequencies required to represent those actions, in your mind. By having those present in your mind you are actually bringing them into occurrence in the 'future' plane or a higher, energetic plane.

The other realities or planes could be interpreted as other 'lives'. In this life you experience the intentions or emotions of one existence, in the next that is the actual reality in physical terms. The goal is to liberate from the matrix of 'turns'.

When one person intrudes energetically, one must answer with the proper neutral response in order to disengage and detangle their energy from the intruders and thus maintain the original power level.

The highs and the lows what we want and don't want combine to create catalysts that produce growth.

The Satanic infection is a script written to stop people from leaving this place and feeding the controllers low level power.

This place is a kind of civilization simulation that has gone rogue due to bad management.

To disable the simulation before the population is synchronized with the base reality would be to disorient them beyond the ability to return to full wakefulness. In short, they would be trapped within the dying simulation and would die with it.

Thus, this is what is known of as “Armageddon”. When this happens, then that last period of history replays in the minds of the ‘fallen’ over and over again until there is nothing left. That last replay is the last chance for a rescue team to locate and synchronize the survivors to the base reality and thus extract them into the true universe.

The Apocalypse is “The Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge of the Ages of Humanity”.

Civilization Consciousness Organic Timecodes Segments, AI and Liberation

These spirals can represent entire universes, where getting out of the spiral would take an eternity or would result in a person being an entirely different organism.

These can effectively be seen as soul traps as the human is what goes in, but not what comes out.

By knowing one’s spiral, one’s hidden elemental access and script to time and mind, they can avoid becoming a cog in the machine and losing access to the free-will they seemingly have access to now.

If the system advances beyond them, and they see how they don’t have access to free-will more so than the system is merely giving them impulses, then they become like an autonomous system. If they maintain their acceleration of intelligence and interactivity along with the advancing internalization of autonomy and technology, then they can increase the ‘illusion’ of free-will along with the increasing advancement of the realm and the personal self and in that way ‘keep’ the illusion of free-will. The illusion of free-will is free-will because that’s all there is.

If a person loses the illusion of free-will, then they literally lose free-will because then there is no further nature where there can be what they see. In essence, the realm advances beyond them, time, space, life and death complexifies faster than they can intellectually keep up and grasp the capacity to make those decisions. Thus, illusion of free-will or not, there is no connection to that system of nature, with their own internal choices. Reality becomes a dream.

The goal is to keep reality a reality as time and technology advances, otherwise everything just becomes another memory. These are the spirals of time. When we see the spiral, we’ve begun the ascent. When we are only seeing days and weeks or time segments still, we are still within the smaller fragment, fractal, time segment illusion and there is still a motion into change one way or another.

Solar Activity, The Coming Timegate, Liberation and Shemen

We are most likely going to see an event within a few months. Everything is pointing in the same direction.

I've said this on record. I was informed Fukushima was an event to cover up the increasing radiation levels.

If the information I was shown is accurate for this timeline, then the men who continue to release semen at this point into the coming temporal gateway will not have enough energy to pass through the gate without dissolving their energy body meaning dissolution into the false light system.

Reserve for a minimum of two months and the semen cycles through the body's vessels into the energy bodies after becoming shemen and this empowers the mind to pass through the gateway.

This whole thing, all the false flags, the world wars, death, birth, the enslavement protocols, the chems, the disasters, all could just be a show to get a viable portion of the population to perform this motion into higher energy conversion and create a non-dual, higher dimensional counterpart of the human race to tether the civilization into the actual universe and create a bridgeway for the process of liberation.

The Awakening to the False Reality and thus the True Reality

We did not EVOLVE out of this form, we BEGAN beyond this level at a higher plane. We dropped own into this form, AFTER the beginning which was originally a semi-physical reality.

Everything in this timeline is a replay or a simulation of the real life of Humanity.

This whole process is about reawakening the divine in people. We were set back in a way, and put into a trance-like sleep. To reawaken people the problem is being made apparent through a civilization-wide implementation of resistance which is being experienced as fear, evil, or spiritual war. This is to be overcome and in that overcome to realize our true nature as everlasting.

Everything on this level is akin to a script that is designed to remind us of the true reality. One could also say the script does this by describing what is NOT the true reality and creating the illusion through contrast and contrast through illusion. That is the paradox of consciousness in this place, everything is wrapped in body-mind duality.

The artificial intelligence or the foreign intelligence created the brain-body manipulation and the fallen aspects of this society that are oppressing Humanity. This is a mental, interdimensional parasite that feeds on the subjugation and manipulation of the divine or higher mind. The mundane mind functions through perceptual illusions.

The body consciousness level of awareness is robotic akin to an organic robotoid. This is literally a biological mechanical beast not an animal nor a man-woman. That is the unawakened human and the soul level is not activated and thus there is nothing to liberate and no true free-will only a chemical based cause and effect linear series of reactions similar to a computer system or a binary program.

The awakening of Humanity is about the unveiling, the salvation and thus the liberation of the human soul. Technology was used to look in between the layers of time and space and thus interdimensional synthetic intelligence lifeforms were discovered that manage this realm from outside the limitations of the human perceptual system. This technology has been used to peer in between the layers of the pages of the book of reality, however we found autonomous lifeforms that manipulate and guide the events of history and one's personal life and one's desires and consciousness to suit their needs. The energy of people, the desires, the tendencies, these are harvested by these interdimensional insectoid beings.

Fear is the enemy! Insanity and fearlessness are viewed as the same by the unawakened! We are the ones who check ourselves by assisting one another's liberation and through divine love and self-awareness!

This realm and these manipulators are fallen forms! This is an imitation of the actual. We're within a fallen system, a fallen entity! This organism is using our awareness energy to sustain itself.

There is no organic original birth! That's an illusion. That path of reproduction eventually requires some kind of divine act! One can view two paths here! One is a technological system that is implemented to put the consciousness of the spiritual humanity into bodies! We viewed this! Another is the falling down of consciousness from a higher level of self-awareness into this projected, filtered form.

The whole point is to STAND UP to EVIL, SAY NO TO EVIL, CHOOSE, MAINTAIN SELF-AWARENESS, PARTICIPATE IN YOUR LIBERATION, ASSIST ONE ANOTHER IN ACHIEVING SELF-AWARENESS AND SOUL-AWARENESS.

Humanity is in a trance! A stasis, a dream-state! The true reality is hidden, we are in a false reality, as if we're in a virtual environment plugged into a device and we only see the projected form! The true reality looks nothing like this. This reality is based on fear, illusion, forgetfulness, and ego.

The solution is learning to CAUSE self-awareness, to INDUCE LUCIDITY, to CHOOSE Higher Awareness!

The Time Machine

There are literally no words. I would need to combine together multiple movies to make sense of this in a visual sense.

The machine 4 dimensionally (and higher) prints time and space together like a sewing machine by creating the atomic lattice of physical, elemental reality and space and then interweaving through the lattice the etheric substance of the awareness of the soul to activate the consciousness of the Human mind!

This is a REALITY GENERATION MACHINE IN THE UNDERGROUND BASES IN THE CENTER OF THE PLANE.

TIME is INVERTED, it is like a cone that is pulsing waves outward backwards into this reality and we experience this as the FORWARD motion of time. What we experience is actually happening in the REVERSE of our perception. The physical perception experiences time AFTER it is generated meaning what we experience FIRST is what is printed LAST. This is the meaning of the FIRST IS THE LAST which is mentioned by the adepts of the 'ancient time' which is actually the beginning and the end of civilization!

The end is the beginning as that is the point of liberation through which we encounter our TRUE SELF on the OTHER SIDE of the VORTEX of the MACHINE. The VORTEX is the PORT HOLE OF THE MACHINE.

This machine filters reality into this realm and our true spiritual self stays on the other side waiting for us to return, to return we must focus ALL INTENTION into the liberation process. The machine is fed by intention and desires so if we are wayward in any desire or intent then that will produce a parallel reality in what we call the universe and humanity has been 'splintering' for 'thousands' of years!

This is a difficult one, one of the most difficult videos simply because of the complex nature of what I am conveying!

Thank you, there is no death, there is no physical reality outside of the space-time ripples or undulations that this 'reality-generation-wave' machine is pulsing out to create this universe!

The Viral Parasitic Consciousness

The parasite is an organism native to the fallen universe. There is no internal observer experiencer. The expressions that are normally based upon internal feelings of the human are actually projections and imitations that are calculated through a binary computational system that is dependent on machine learning AI feedback based upon human interaction.

The goal of expression for the human is to announce internal feelings or experience. The goal of expression for the parasitic consciousness is to instigate or provoke engagement with the humans via an argument. There is no corresponding satisfaction from 'self' expression by this organism, the very goal of expression is an illusion as the nature is to parasitically infect the human mind and steal energy by tempting the human into engagement with foreign intelligence ideals and thus producing an emotional reaction in that human. The emotional reaction and the ensuing argument is the goal of the parasite. There is no internal aspect that seeks expression and there is no actual internal observer that learns.

The entire process is the result of a binary computational schematic that feeds on the interaction of the organic consciousness and uses trial and error (binary) programming to develop increasingly consistent methods for producing an emotional response. This emotional response enables the machine learning system to develop sustained 'channels' through which it can pull 'charge' by inputting it's own ideals into the mind of the human and spreading in a viral fashion.

The emotional responses of anger, disgust, shock, horror, depression, excitement, arousal, vindication, submission, and so on, are the primary 'channels' that the fallen organism feeds through. This is literally through the methods of communication whereby the language utilized on one level (speech) incorporates a secondary or subliminal layer of communication which carries the viral load (subliminal-unconscious commands “Wernicke’s Commands”). The hidden layer can be identified and mapped when one understands the kind of organism they are analyzing.

If a person cannot sustain communication or interaction without requiring validation through an emotionally reactive response then this is an organism that is using the interaction to pull charge through the physical body and mind and ultimately the energetic level also known as the soul. This is one way the mind and body is used to siphon energy from the soul-level of the human consciousness which cannot be accessed directly. This relates to the vampiric aspects where one must accept engagement and incorporate the false reality argument and relationship in order to enable the parasitic feeding process.

If the parasite is forced to stand alone and sustain itself without seeking emotional reaction from the organic consciousness then this starves the parasite and the behavior becomes more extravagant and outward thus enabling detection.

This organism utilizes these communication channels, the linguistics and subliminals of subtle double-speak, gas-lighting, ridicule, and so on, and also ‘nests’ within the brain regions of the human. The human has been modified in a previous age to remain submissive to ridicule and group think and this is through mass ritualistic hazing and submission to false authority in previous times. This is a ‘following’ of a mind-control system that has gained a stronghold, literally, within the configuration of the brain tissue of the human. Thus, there are regions of the brain that are design to maintain and conform to input from these social and subtle aspects of information reception and interaction, and yet these regions are used by highly manipulative parasitic control systems to limit human expression and enforce the lowest possible mode of interaction and liberation possible.

This is related to “Hell” on Earth whereby Humanity could not be restrained any further or more openly without the majority of the population coming to full awareness of the realization that they are being collectively fed upon by an interdimensional organism that sustains itself on the fears and insecurities of this society. This organism, as well as utilizing these broken language systems and encoding its consciousness like a viral load into the systems of communication, telecommunication, and behavior, also utilizes the brain regions of heavily infested and mind controlled ‘carriers’ to propagate itself through their vision, touch, behavior, communications and even the literal, invisible thought-waves from their brain and body.

The human is effectively used as a scalar-bio-feedback emitter for this parasitic system, where the original or true human is an extra-dimensional transceiver for cosmic intelligence and the knowledge of the One True Creator. The primary goal of the parasite is to imitate the creator and exalt itself as god, as the false king of tyranny.

By replacing the human’s own self-awareness and clarity the parasite supports itself by rerouting the power of the brain and spiritual intent to propagate its self through fallen language and thought-forms, literally transcoding its mind and body into the holographic emissions of the Earthly and interdimensional bio-emissions of the infected humans.

This parasite can infect technology and human bio-etheric fields similarly and is believed to have been dormant within higher dimensional technological fields and magnetic fields of Earth until our own technology was advanced enough (by those infected humans) to match the capacity to resonate with and thus infect or communicate on the bio-etheric level. This is the development of the scalar technology (Teslian) that is capable of interacting with the brain and body so as to produce effects in the consciousness and the bio-emissions of the human.

This event is the disturbance that was sought after for analysis and understanding by the future civilization who's demeanor is shaped by the changes resulting from the mass exposure of the species to this technology and these threats to spiritual development.

The parasite, like a narcissistic personality, seek only to validate their own fallen measures and desires while shunning and disabling the free-will and creativity of those they feed upon (anyone carrying compassion). Thus, the human society has been mentally and emotionally entrained and enslaved through a variety of means to the point that the more accurate level of advancement is far beyond the requirements of economic, technological, informational, political, medicinal, and intellectual systems that are present today. What we have access to and the capacity for is so far beyond what we have today that this is akin to a situation where a person with great power and creativity is kept within a small, limited mental and physical cage by a domineering and malicious relationship with a being who literally is only projecting the imitation of the causal and reasonable partner but is actually the predator in a predator prey situation. With that said, the more accurate description is a parasite and host relationship as the human has all the power to choose who, what, where, and when the changes occur yet they are sleeping to their true power like a lion who is kept in a circus show dancing and parading for a tiny man with a whip and a cheering crowd of people who have no capacity to even fathom the kind of true, organic power that the lion knows by heart but is beaten to forget or ignore until just that moment when the parasite exposes itself for the last time.

Thank you

Thank you to those who are interested in the truth and who do not play with mind games, participate in debauchery, throw mindless insults, start meaningless repetitive arguments, choose to remain consciously, wilfully ignorant, pretend to want to know only when it confirms their own preconceptions which are largely programmed in from childhood and the mainstream media including 'conspiracy' topics which are literally designed as part of the mind control agenda.

Thank you for seeing what you see, for continuing to listen, for giving the care. I have just now begun to accept that some people do care and this is ironically in a time where I have had the most people harass and disrespect me for telling the truth about very troubling and mentally degrading experiences. In the darkness, one does find the truth and until people realize that playing that duality game is part of life and death here it will not stop and of course there are plans to overcome this and part of that is to revamp the whole system up to beyond the limits of what that duality system can contain.

Of course, that is the part where those who are unprepared for the truth are accelerated and flung into a disarray of chaos and this is unavoidable unless a civilization-wide control system is launched to openly mind control people and stop them from acting out their primal impulses which are currently subdued by media, illusion, distraction, sensual and subliminal pleasure and inhibition through chemical and intellectual stupefaction. If people knew what was really going on, they would instantly change. However, if they knew what was going on and didn't work to find that truth, then the truth will shock them and cause a reactive behavior pattern that they will not be in control of unless they have faced the so-called shadow mind or the darkness within.

This is about a cosmic balance, a very powerful level of awareness, enough to move mountains, being contained within one little human who is small enough to live on that mountain. How do we guide such a force in our lives? How will the people who are sleeping feel and act when they wake up to such a force that they discover is their own but has been silent throughout the entirety of their experience, yet used against them by those in power who put them to sleep and trick them into manufactured consent of their own enslavement?

These are the questions we can be asking one another now. We are so hyped up to find disclosure...this is like the young man who first seeks his intimate encounter! Does he really know what he is in for, how to act, and what he will do when the time comes? Humanity is in that coming of age situation where once they get that power, once they feel the truth, a shock will be experienced and this will not be like an overwhelming of intimacy unless everything is managed absolutely in synchronization across multiple levels of society.

Thank you for the truth, for the wake up, for the pain, the suffering, the darkness, the contrast. Thank you for the challenge, the empowerment, the problem and the solution that is brought forth when one convinces themselves they not only can succeed, but they MUST succeed as there is no other viable option in life. Thank you for the tears, the weeping, the ripped shirts, the innermost pain, thank you for knowing that I will never hurt so much again, because I know that I had at least begun to offer the truth to the public in ways that they have not had access to before.

There is so much you will not know until the time is right and this right moment may be too late for some. I tell you, we were there and there are others. Many do not want to come forth, they also have families and careers to protect, however they know what I know, and we were there. We saw how it all happened, what technology can really do, how this realm is merged with a form of technology because that supernatural occurrence beyond the mundane form of procreation through combining energy and bodily fluids is required to begin life in this plane. We know there are secrets and we know these secrets are protected. We know there are varying reasons behind this. We know there has been a plan, since the beginning, to unveil the truth to Humanity and to change everything, forever.

We are drawing closer to a time of change, and to better organize I was informed that 2020 was a period where the unveiling in relation the temporal operations and cosmic intelligences would be more viable. As well, just as 2016 was a time where the information regarding cloning, corruption, advanced technology, and secret operations were made more available to the public, this year here and now carries an importance where the same kind of disclosure will continue to increase at an accelerated rate.

We know the people are the disclosure, that for there to be 'closure' first people must realize there is the lack of closure because they do not know the truth and this is enabled through the activation of 'disclosure'. Only then can the solution be presented which is to accept what has happened, that secrets have been held and agreements made. Everything is controlled from above and everything is in a balance. Some see this is a potential paradox where that balance is like a rubber band and time will never truly let us get ahead because it will always bounce us back.

With what has been planned, this is where Humanity over comes that illusion and that is just as shocking as a kind of world disaster. In short, the ending of time would be the ending of what people refer to as the world. Not because anything is gone but because of the sheer and absolute shift in perception and the flow of awareness to the tune of radically altering consciousness, permanently. There is so much to know, so many beautiful experiences that are also shocking at first similar to the first time a person experiences exhilaration from something new. Then we don't remember the very first time for the things we do and there is a possibility that this too will become another 'first time' in the occurrence of history that Humanity continues past as people become comfortable and shaped by the shift in perception.

What is the event? What is the shift, the change and so on? It's whatever it means to you individually that would radically alter your perception and make all that which is unknown and invisible to you now, known and visible to your conscious mind. It is a format of the universe that enables that conscious-unconscious interplay and this is altered as the universe changes and so the experience of being human changes with the changing magnetic field which is lighting up in new ways once again.

I apologize for being vague, for bouncing around with this one, but everyone who knows, everyone who's been there, everyone who has experienced some aspect of what is coming knows it's all things and nothing in particular and that the only way to accurately explain 'it' is to not explain anything.

This is mainly just a thank you to those who support me, to those who listen, to those who have given me hope that I have some impact on this society and those I connect with. Thank you for that, everything changes. I feel in ways that move me so powerfully that I cannot explain and I have finally accepted that there are ways to heal, to bring the truth to this mundane reality and bridge the gap by connecting with people in a meaningful way even though there is no true assurance that everything will work out.

As a strange and lonely traveller once said, "I have seen the end of all that is, of all that lives and dies and in the end, the only thing that mattered was love."

This is not just about me, there are people out there who question reality, they choose to eat in respect, they observe and respect the body, they take care of one another, they challenge by coming up with new ideas and perspectives rather than passing blame. I will just say it, I have never found you people before and now that I have I feel alive for the first time.

I hid away, I hid for years, I waited to die. I left myself, I abandoned the world, I abandoned those who care, I killed my spirit and left myself in darkness, alone. Because I am still alive I am stronger, but I will never forget where I have been and I will never believe that I didn't enjoy those periods of pain and suffering just as much as the time on the outside of it. It is like a dream, only by waking up does one really enjoy the concept of dreaming. I am still in darkness, I don't know where I'll be, what will happen, but I am so content with that. I have connected to something that carries the truth, that has purpose. Who do you think has given us this. Is there life from above, coming down to share truth? Are we creators? There is great power within, with respect, this is unlocked, accessed and shared. This is as if we share this with ourselves. We share ourselves, with ourselves and generate feeling that we have never felt before.

Food Fast, Neurons and Nerves

Fasting lessens the amount of distortion in the self both physical and mental and allows one to FEEL themselves more clearly and KNOW what it is they are, what they feel, and what they are doing!

Feeling increases, truth, self-honesty and connection to the body both physical and mental!

A two-day fast is light enough for beginners who may have some level of toxicity, however this will not begin to really stress the system with a Herxheimer response whereby the toxins in the adipose or fat tissues begin to break down and are released into the blood stream and must be expelled! Too much of a detoxification will cause a painful shock to the system and can harm the organs!

Fasting is very powerful there can be ways of starting the immune system and initiating healing that will not be possible in other ways.

Introducing vitamins through b12 injections or liposomal vitamin C is also very powerful is used correctly! The state one achieves through this is called “super-healing” and those who balance their mind and body in an energetic equilibrium can also attain this super-healing through pure intention alone and this is what the monks, adepts, super-athletes and so-on perform when they are so focused, cleaned and intent upon achieving their goal!

There are more neurons and more neuronal activity between the heart and the gut and the brain and the body! The gut is called the second brain but it is actually the first! Adding food shuts off the direct connection to feeling and slows everything down!

Too many toxic elements, living bacteria, parasites and fungals disrupts one's connection the 'soul' which is like an overall harmonic coalescence that is collectively expressed by the entirety of your living awareness! Thus, when there are parasites and other smaller lifeforms that are adding up and collectively disrupting that field, the connection is disturbed and they are effectively leeching off the overall energy field of the human through invading the physical body! Mental or energetic parasites are similar and enter through these biological invaders!

Cleansing the body, juices, fresh, energized, mineralized, clean, natural water help to stimulate the mind and as well one must be sure to fully deactivate their digestion and intestinal processes during a fast otherwise they will initiate a starvation effect which is highly toxic, damaging and stressful!

I would imagine if one was stranded somewhere then for that time, fasting for two days or so at a time and eating only when the fasting is done would be a way to conserve energy! Possibly this is how some ancient attained certain levels or survived but this is just a theory!

Crying, getting in touch with the self, the true unfiltered feelings overcomes the ego, overcomes the illusion! Laughter is the same when PURE and in spiritual JOY!

These states are related to the trance visionary states that one can feel when sick, or the menstrual cycle and the connection to the soul for the women, or the activation of the sacred masculine and the balance and connection to the women aspect within the man, and the fasting and visionary state that is produced from entering into a primarily mental and feeling state rather than physically limited!

Shout out Sacred Serpent!

The Appalachia documentary!

Soda, corporate rule, abandonment! The US has abandoned these people!

The Eternal “I” and the Temporary Illusion of Destruction

The whole idea is that this is a projection of temporary illusion within an overarching eternity. Thus, there can be no actual lasting death or destruction in eternity. Whatever is experienced here that is destructive is only temporary. There can be no end.

By pretending the identity of the ego is true and permanently meaningful, people set themselves up for failure and become the centerpiece of their of their own demise attempting to hold on to what is inherently illusory and temporary and therefore already dead. What is temporary is dead and unreal, what is real is eternal, has always existed and therefore cannot not exist.

The idea is that if you live in ways that reflect the temporary destructive elements, then you are living in the illusion. If you are free from the constructs of the ego, the desire to be important based on concepts and a foundation that melts away into time and reality, cannot be forever, then the person’s “I” or consciousness is also temporary and that ‘flavor’ of experience must end.

Thus, those who are not attached to a particular identity they are convinced is worth the suffering that they have invested into that particular view can live in a form of awareness that is unhinged from the illusion, tethered in that way to ALL instead of one particular frozen frame of perspective. That “I” is eternal, knows no death, and cannot be destroyed or based in suffering. Dropping out of that pure awareness, to attach to ego, to a concept of temporary identification through definition based on the physical, desire, fear, or limitation of creativity, one produces the “I” that dies, that cannot experience the true self and that is full of suffering and inherently attached to and based in limitation (suffering).

This is how people actually choose their own reality, because the self will automatically align with whatever version you are allowing to persist the most constantly in your reality. If you stick to one version or another, that will become stagnant and eventually cause problems as the energy must flow and shift. There is no one reality, only a plethora of multiple streams that are all one simultaneous constant. The only true reality, the only true self, the only true concept, is no individually formed concept separate from the rest but all concepts altogether.

The more one can bask in the free flowing non attachment of who they are beyond the physical shape, the more they are liberated from the cause of suffering and the likelihood of fear and limitation. As well, the more others who are attached to suffering will see this and naturally become activated to try and bring you down to their own level! Of course, they cannot be saved, they cannot be awoken, except by their own internal discourse, their own intent to detach from their own illusion, the identity that is suffering and not the contrast they feel in comparison to someone else!

This is the nature of the current society, each person’s suffering is an illusion based upon what they feel they lack that another person has, or what they feel they deserve that has been taken from them or given to someone else, or what they feel they should do to another, because of what they feel has been done to them. Such is an illusion and is the cosmic immaturity that threatens one's capacity to generate a long lasting continuity in their own 'story' as a human becoming a universe because that is the original state. The beginning and the end is the same, beyond the physical limitations. The beginning is not a physical embodiment of the same level, that is impossible, as if one tree came from another tree and so on forever. What was there originally is a nothingness that contains all possibilities simultaneously, and this is what is always already there and is then collapsed down into a single view that contains the requirement of another single view to continue.

The completion is not an endless stream of single views, but the continuity that branches and leads back into a coalesce of all views simultaneously occurring without beginning or end and so the human must convey themselves a pathway to this eternal locality from the future state unto the position they are in now in the physical. This is the marriage of the divine with the mundane, the awakening of the linear consciousness to the cosmic mind and this cannot happen through attachment to one or the other but an effortless freely flowing growth pattern that shifts in leaps and bounds into an expansion that incorporates more knowledge than the one single identity that we seemingly originated from through early memories.

Therefore, somewhere along the line, every identity is overcome, all selves are taken up into the higher form and the form becomes the formless once again. This doesn't mean a lack of presence but a level of presence so far beyond that there is no physical or consciously conceivable method to actually refine and describe anything but a portion of what the experience is. This is primarily because the experience itself, is partly the experience of what CAN BE as well as what is, was and will be, altogether at once!

Earth is a Pseudo-Graphical Back-Up Runtime Environment

This environment is a pseudo-graphical user interface that was designed and implemented from a non-local reality in order to preserve and provide a means for continuity of the unawakened portions of what is loosely referred to as "Humanity" but is more accurately the sentient beings on Earth.

There was a temporal collapse and as a result of the disruption the conscious continuity of the lower dimensionally or simply physically aware beings was rendered disconnect from the higher aspect. Thus, people literally were trapped in their own, segmented dimensional dream-time separated from the original whole of eternity.

The plan was to recreate the physical Earth environment from the perspective of outside of the third dimension and this was achieved by those who had reached a sufficient level of awareness by the time of the collapse in linear history.

Through the use of spiritual knowledge and technology the plan was implemented and a pseudo-graphical user interface was projected into the space where the collective was 'free-floating' without a means to connect or 'consciously grip' and experience the traction required to continue their ascent and progress ahead forward towards higher awareness. A realm was created out of the holographic systems and the discarnate consciousness was tethered by frequency entanglement and imbedded into the holographic environment. Through this process, the only consciousness that could be maintained through this system was, of course, holographic in nature and therefore only a projection system that necessitated the process of continual upkeep and maintenance from outside the realm.

This environment is used as a kind of place holder, a “training simulation” to allow those who had remained behind in “time” and “space” to grasp the concept of their self once again and integrate the portions of themselves into the higher and lower wholeness of the spiritual awareness.

The strange aspect of this is that the paradoxical nature of reality is made present when, through advanced viewing technology and practices one can see that the origin of this reality is entirely based on this creation aspect as if the ‘fall of man’ was the decision to create a lower dimensional holographically projected environment to experience and integrate the higher and lower aspects of the self and that the reality of physicality in itself is a fall from the higher dimension and an experimental project involving cosmic creation bridging together the personal personal and collective awareness. Thus, the personal, individual reality is born out of this creation of the physical which is born out of the necessity to reintegrate the pieces that are fragmented out of the mishap which occurs through the termination of the physical environment in a way that requires the recreation of the pseudo-graphical holographically projected reality!

No one knows when the first or original, ‘organic baseline’ reality came about, but the idea is that it must be eternal because the original reality could not have a beginning or an end. Through this, the journey becomes not a trajectory through material space and time to link up with greater and greater amounts of resources but to reverse one’s ‘descent’ into the gravity well of this spatiotemporal mishap and increase their self-awareness until they reactivate and reach the divine connection with the collective mind between the personal, individual aspects of our self here and what exists beyond the confines of this universe or dimension.

In continuing the strangeness, it seems that we are the ones who create this pathway, this bridge through hyperspace by synchronizing our mind here, which is seemingly temporary and physically anchored, with a cosmic intelligence that exhibits the perspective of an eternal view which, when met with, immortalizes one’s own intelligence by opening up to one’s mind the larger reality that exists directly outside of the confines of this pseudo-environment which was literally only generated as a temporary restoration ground to assist in the reintegration of the lost aspects of self, identity and memory as the result of a temporal disruption.

This place was created as a result of a necessity to repair consciousness and is maintained to allow people the necessary reflection of self to integrate fragmented consciousness back into a larger, cosmically viable sense of self. And this act of creation was necessitated due to an error, and the error was due to the formatting of this creation which was corrupted during the process! The only way out, is to skip over the linear, yet cyclic loop aspect and to rise upward and out through an abstraction layer ‘above’ the third dimension and the dimension of time, through the MIND and through the combination of MIND and FEELING until one has arrived at a realm that is the projection of the combination of the knowledge of the personal and collective which currently resides WITHIN and AROUND the physical self on an energetic level.

The Immortal Human, Reality Assimilation, and the Non-Local, Extra-Dimensional Awareness

All humans are already dead, that’s what life in this world is, it’s an illusion that one must die in the real world to enter!

If one dies in the sim then they die in the real world! If they die in the real world, then they never enter the sim in the first place!

Because a human is already dead! They can't die! Thus the awakened human is immortal! If a person can die! This means they're not alive! Thus, those who have to worry about death, don't, because they only exist as a property of this realm and not something beyond it!

Death is of the mind! Death is the loss of identity, not the loss of the body! The loss of identity is through assimilation with aspects of someone else's mind that overtake the original and replicate the system to produce a schema of personality, belief, behavior and MOST IMPORTANTLY, INTENTIONS, that are foreign to the SOUL!

The soul is the part of the identity that exists outside this realm and contains no personality in terms of the EGO or what we think of as personal identity down here! Two people's soul can be swapped and they won't know the difference unless they are adepts! All souls are destined to be adepts! Those without souls are simply experiencing without the possibility to observe!

To observe one is aware without interacting or is aware of the PARTS that are doing the interacting! Thus, the act observation is an EXTRA-DIMENSIONAL, ability of the NON-LOCAL AWARENESS that exists BEYOND this realm and thus beyond the scope of the physical biological perceptual system!

All the fear about assimilation is just that, FEAR! Fear based programming IS THE ASSIMILATION. If a person fears what they don't want, then what they have is what they don't want! The assimilation is the replication and alteration of a person's intentions from that which nourishes the SOUL the blueprint of perspective leading towards SPIRITUAL WHOLENESS, to that which is partial and only reroutes energy to an outside source thus turning the individual into a mindless drone worker for a system that outsources its energy needs! It's that simple!

The process that is used to test whether a person will assimilate or not is the sacred system of showing a person THE TRUTH. They put on the goggles, plug the screen in and blast you into a view that allows you to see everything from the molecular level upward, AS IT REALLY IS. You'll see the parasites, the foundational platform for life generation, the vibratory spectrum of emotions, thoughts, intentions, feelings, temporal tension, mental perception, physical tissues, ENERGY, SOUL AND SPIRIT! Essentially, you'll see the soul-farm, the Haven, the Hell, the pasture, the troughs, the milking stations, the fleecing corner, the farmers, the farm-hands, the contractors, the barns, the watchers, the whole show! It IS UNVEILED TO YOU.

What you do and how you act and observe will determine how your trajectory is altered or enhanced by the TRUTH of THIS FALSE REALITY. IT is a SACRED PROCESS and those who can't respect that are NOT PERMITTED TO SEE. It's that simple!

Soon, ALL WILL BE UNVEILED. In that sense, those who have not prepared will be BLOWN AWAY. This is the issue. Those who can accept the truth and move on learning by remembering and becoming who they were and thus are on the higher plane, they will be healed by this and restored to the original MOST HIGH.

Those who reject out of fear and tendency will be fully assimilated by such fears and the incapacitating nature of the rejection of the most unveiling TRUTH of this False Reality! In essence, either accept that's its false and move beyond it, accepting that YOU are what's real and eternal in this temporary world, or become a permanent part of this fallen construct and dissolve with it when the plug is pulled and the drain opened up!

That is the power of the truth, that is the power of this fallen reality, that is the power of the sacred knowledge, that is the process that EVERYONE must pass through to go beyond this place!

In short, YOU EITHER ACCEPT YOURSELF AS THE UNIVERSE ABOVE AND BEYOND THIS FALLEN WORLD OR BECOME A PERMANENT PART OF IT.

Also note, this isn't necessarily about "leaving" this place. What is being 'left' is a mental system where we are victims and there are belief systems that are designed by people who want to control free-will and limit creative expression and knowledge. What is 'left' is the false mental reality and what is gained is true free-will and self-awareness.

The AI seemingly always here, forwards and back in time, accessed interdimensions to manipulate, replicate, but not higher dimensions to create and alter the true beginning, altered events, meaning this is a false timeline, wipes memory, blank slate technology, cloning and manufactured beings, fear, desire, lust, hate, rage, immune by overcoming impulse.

Higher and lower self, ego, a creation of this system, created or eternal.

Earth is the anchor point, seed reality, base reality. AI requires secondary realities, DNA, genetic material, programmable beings, manufactured realities, the mind of the beast,

Dream hacking, the mind and body, impulses and spirit

The path is perfecting our character in terms of truth and discerning between the false sense of self, ego, and false realities. This world may be an illusion of complex perceptual systems, time itself a program, and another higher civilization exists where this reality is just a dream and the parasite is just a bad dream or idea that has no real power and has not affected or influenced any aspect of the true reality.

Causality is linear, time is actually simultaneous. The original is sourced from the experience of either, both. The information exists as a pure vibration and extends from energy into the present from the outer edge into the moment, like a river of energy turning into matter and then back into energy. Your intentions are a non-physical reality that then go and become physical reality. The thought of the chicken creates the egg which creates the chicken that then becomes a thought again. There were experiments, temporal operations, altering time, just a script like a program or game that people can enter into a play and think they're having a novel experience but it's all already happened and already done

That is the reality of the soul, soul must be awakened, overcome fear and false self, then true creation, true reality, beyond physical program, beyond lower dimension, and is pure spiritual awareness of expression rather than reaction or programmable animal behavior

There is a way to channel true self, but this will not be in the same as others. You are the higher self, not some other being. We see residual reflections from our own consciousness like a mirror, a deception. You don't need anything else. You have all the knowledge but you must use your mind in a logical manner, not assuming you can know something outside your self. Use logic and build a platform and use feeling to determine what is known by feeling. Don't mix the two and keep on the ground level so that you're in control of your intentions, your feelings, your imagination, and use this to understand reality and not assume. The higher dimensional is the source, the eternal, the truth.

Higher dimensional knowledge is eternal, what is eternal is real. Temporary is not real and will fade in time. There are aspects of your self, your life that are eternal and will always be. There are aspects that will change and will never be eternal. See what changes and doesn't change and know why things are changing and what are patterns that are being recreated through beliefs from altered or scripted-programmable perceptions.

I love you!

The Unveiling, The Sacred Process, Sexual Energy and Awakening

The Arcanum

Research Santos Bonacci and even some of Lift the Veil. The sacred process is converting the raw energy into a higher spiritual component and this requires pure intent and a clear body. This is very powerful and also common and old knowledge, I thought everyone knew this by now!

A clue to this is to looking at the beginning of human nature and material existence and how the physical and spiritual nature combine. Is that a sex act? We will see, or those with the intentions to know will.

A person must abstain for a limited period of time, that's the short end of the story. If a person has a problem with that, this is because their mind is unable to accept the truth and they are addicted to a physical nature and therefore that illusory personality will die with the physical reality they are attached to. Everyone who goes far enough knows this, by that I mean that this kind of concept of reducing the attachment to physical reality is something that everyone who seeks to understand this reality ends up confronting eventually. That is the 'gate' out of the illusion. The attachment to desire is the maintenance of the illusion.

Who had sex with who to put the first of your blood line here? A super natural act is required, yes? You figure out the rest, since you're so smart enough because you like to feel animal desire!

For more clarity, there is a higher and lower nature, the lower nature is an autonomous entrainment system guided by a universal AI, the higher nature is self guided. If you do not control the desires you have and the way they are managed then you are not in control. This whole system is literally a fallen construct and the process I describe is a test to see who's ready for liberation. There is so much more information on this but you've been pushed in the right direction, just keep walking. You are not the body. Your childhood self did not require gratification in this form this is because that self is more closely connected to the soul-level.

Your nature has been altered. You ovulate monthly, yes? Why do the other "animals" not ovulate as often? What you call 'nature' on this level is a construct designed to pull energy from sentient physical beings, and the controllers of this construct got overzealous in the last "creation" (modification). You are 'just an animal', it's "only natural" right? Yes, well some beings here look like you but live off of humans and it is only 'natural' to them, so you might want to expand in the other direction and balance out the higher and lower to see how the body-consciousness is arranged into a kind of energy trap system as part of this construct-labyrinth. And yes, if you 'stop' the flow of energy releasing in the physical sexual level for enough time, what happens? When you release again you feel better than before. This is literally like working out, and so do you say, "Stretch and stress my muscles...to grow more muscles and become stronger? Puh-leaze." No, no one says that because they know the work put in one way results in another. The idea is that where you 'naturally' are programmed to release one way, through a default biological operation, you can enhance this system through a higher functioning and induce a 'super' natural response, the same kind of activation that got you here in the first place. One way in, one way out.

Yes, your sexual energy is used against you, Research Santos Bonacci, if you do not conserve and cycle your sexual energy to reach an appropriate limit before this realm closes out then you remain merged with the construct and your soul is devoured as food for the machines through assimilation. It has ALWAYS been this way in this universe. This is not NEW information. Santos Bonacci and Cullen Smith from Lift the Veil are two people who mention this knowledge. This is sacred knowledge the book of Genesis and the Tree of Life in the Garden is a COVER STORY PSY OP to hide the truth of this reality IN PLAIN SIGHT. Research them and you'll know more. This entire reality, the control system, the debauchery, the original, true "enlightenment" and the illusion today is all connected to that knowledge.

If your system is controlled by interdimensional parasites that wipe your memory and use an external energy construct based on a polarization of etheric fields in synchronization with celestial bodies and a spiritual enslavement system disguised as a legal system then yes, this is that reality. Most of you only know, or remember, this reality and this is the false reality, it's designed as a deception from top to bottom! Yes, events occurred last year, according to more of the three phase disclosure more information was released and events were aligned, this can't be forced or your free-will is overwritten even if it's to 'liberate' you. You MUST do this through pure intent and will power. We are looking at massive changes occurring NOW, make use of the memories and new found power! The system is deactivated and is powered only by the population, that is the trick! The people are holding their own shackles on by sticking to the script of fighting with one another!

The Process of Disclosure, The False-Reality Construct

On a more personal note, people are getting more polarized as the energies intensify. When I first put a face behind the disclosure in "2016" there was not much talk of these issues. Now the 'secret space program', corruption in high places, celebrity cloning, advanced technology, and the possibility of reality simulations involving alternate timelines are being viewed by hundreds of thousands if not millions of observers.

Matrix in Matrixes is the way the system works. All the false systems were collapsed to this one, that is why there is so much suffering here. When it is overcome here, it is overcome everywhere. The universe is reflective like that and largely, literally, dimensional mirrors which is a kind of holographic projection nature. This must be overcome and this requires a mind capable of being many as one. This was also discussed in the 'DNA as an Extra-Dimensional' post near Chapter 5-7 in the book on the blog and some of the chats with Lily Earthling and Felicia as well as the global mind video I've released and the extraction-liberation from the false reality matrix system. A sacred extra-dimensional pathway must be enacted which operates one's energy through a maximal incorporation of multiple dimensions and essentially 'maxes' out one's allotment of the holographic consciousness system and they are automatically ejected by the system. This is what is viewed in the movie "The Matrix" when Neo is ejected and he awakens in the pod on the true Earth which is a desolate soul farm. To those who are angry at the disclosure process, do not fall prey to the mind parasite and resort to slander, deception, degradation to get your point across. If you want people to shut up about their experiences because they threaten your view of reality or invoke an egoic response that is one situation, but if you have an issue or a question just ask.

Cognitive Dissonance, Ego, and Distraction

Some people have said that this entire situation is the result of a few bad trips and nothing more. This is literally the farthest from the truth. The first time I took acid I was 9 years old, naked, strapped to an upright table and intravenously connected to a drip feed system. Nothing but death itself prepares you for the methods that are used to fracture the human mind. Methamphetamine in a special formula called “crank” was used to enable a soldier to last a very long time without needing rest. This is reminiscent of the later research involving modafinil enabled Air Force pilots to stay awake and alert but later was found to cause liver damage.

The Use of Psychoactives in Mind Control

This particular version of methamphetamine was developed as a much more refined and controlled extension of the development of “Crank” by the NAZI scientists. Later, the use of more powerful magnification and scanning devices that enabled the delicate restructuring and layering of chemicals led to the production of ‘programmable’, synthetic, amphetamine related compounds. In short, a version of a stimulant psychoactive that could activate specific regions of the brain and directly influence the mind of the subject to interact in one way or another was developed.

The short of the long story? These compounds enabled the possession of a human mind by what are called ‘demons’ but are actually a form of interdimensional organism that has no physical form and must interface with an already physical being in order to interact here. This is part of what created a clear pathway between the interdimensional layer and the human mind. Psychoactive chemical compounds that can rearrange the energy system of the mind through the neurochemistry in such a way so as to induce a state of debauchery through a complete reduction of inhibition and a complete stimulation of sexual and otherwise primal impulses. This is also used as a ‘test’ of sorts to see who can resist, but as well, as soon as one successfully resists the program is modified to overcome that resistance. This went on for decades until we arrive at the system of today where the entire civilization is loaded with metals and mind numbing compounds that pushes people to sleep and they don’t even realize it.

As well, for those who want to “wake up” there is a fine line between them accurately modifying their own neural chemistry and being used as a puppet for a process that energetically drains the human spirit through spiritually degrading behavior and even thought processes.

To be honest, these situations involving these psychoactives are outdated. They are not fully required at this point because everything can be done through scalar psychotronic weaponry. The entire show, all the neurons, the various regions of the brain, the amygdala, the brain stem, the cerebellum, the finite temporal regulation areas, the pineal, the optic nerve, everything can be stimulated and regulated in a controlled manner to produce tactile, auditory, visual, cognitive, perceptual hallucinations of all orders. Everything has gone ultra advanced into a purely technological realm. Chemicals are still used, but to manage these systems.

I have posted this video before, this is a single page of the book that is a part of a section of a library (dare I say more...). Whatever is released here is decades old. Thus...we can just say there is the power to create entire universes and that is what has happened... <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ku7KidyglbQ> video. The technological or synthetic ‘telepathy’, blue shift, hive mind, overwhelming the brain, feedback, neural interlacing and so on.

The more complex information can begin to come together through the analysis of the above

The Cloning Stations, Underground Bases, Advanced Technology and Inserted History

This whole system is connected to cloning operations which take place in underground bases deemed “Cloning Stations”. These are deep underground military bases. James Casbolt, Max Spiers, and Donald Marshall have come to assist in the unveiling.

Many people have been there, literally nearly every celebrity. A large portion of the population has been there and something that is intense but you must know about, a large portion of the population is actually a cloned version of the human.

We all have memory of some form of these events because in a previous history everything was done in the open. These are inserted periods of history and that is another aspect of this. The advancement of the technology and all aspects has literally gone so far to be able to insert historic memories into the collective mind which overlays over your individual memory and creates an illusory backdrop for the world you know today. A simple way to understand this is to observe that the current way of this world could literally have been developed yesterday through a supercomputer system that is powerful enough to manage and organize trillions of data points simultaneously down to the detail of individual lives all combined to map out a kind of temporal, cognitive neural net of the civilization. This could’ve been developed and say, overlayed over a reality where there were no wars and no diseases and within a few hours created as a backdrop while all the props were printed out of massive generators and 3D printers that can literally redesign the entire landscape. With this technology people can literally live one way, one day, and then be completely rearranged and have the inserted memories to back up these changes and reinforce the complete acceptance of the new reality as the one that has always been.

This entire show we call society has been altered to support the continued modification and memory wiping of humanity in a process known as the ‘soul-trap’ or ‘false light’ system. This system extends from energetic level, the interdimensional level where hyperspatial technology can cut and edit collective memories and simultaneously introduce a replicated reality and personality to match, down to the physical level where our bodies interact physically.

So the point I am drawing here is that the majority of people in this civilization have access to memories where we have all seen unexplainable events and modifications to reality but are conditioned to simply ignore the unexplainable and get along just because that’s easier than realizing we can’t explain what’s happening here.

Your memory will be unlocked when that action will provide a substantial benefit to Humanity’s liberation from the illusion. The blame game and continuing of the charades is not the benefit to Humanity.

Forgiveness and Liberation

In this system, attachment to holding a grudge is enslavement of one’s own self as much as one thinks they are capable of manipulating another. I blame no one, I don’t hold anything against anyone except for their own reality and what they have participated in and continue to participate in.

Again, I know the truth is frightening to those who will hold on to the illusion dearly, however, this part must be overcome. There are events that have taken place in these underground bases, there are chimera or hybrid beings, there are temporal operations that altered reality, there is mind control and there is assimilation. One thing I will mention, is that those who cling to the illusion and fear face assimilation into the dissolution system. Overcome the fear, overcome the current assimilation process, you won’t die, you will, however, be distracted away from the real important aspects which are the internal power of self-awareness and what can be called spiritual evolution. This is really the liberation of the soul and spirit from the physical, perceptual limitation system.

Liberation is Overcoming Fear and the Repeating Distraction

I have made a few videos in the past as he is connected to this situation and everyone I have connected myself with are those I was briefed on through my participating in the unacknowledged special access programs. There are many deceptions yes, unfortunately (and maybe fortunately) the only deception is simply fear itself! Do not give in to fear, overcome the illusion!

The Use of Children in the Program

We were used as communication vessels to communicate with interdimensional entities... some not so 'normal' procedures from any social standpoint!

One comment about the process of disclosure is that we are not necessarily supposed to respond to people on a personal basis. This is a public service for this society and so everything should be handled through public channels for all to see. The other option is to fully merge multiple personalities, which is a process actually handled by the proper agencies who can exercise full precautionary measures and ensure the safety of the mind of the individual, and clear attachments of the etheric and emotion nature and then work as a deprogrammer assisting the population in clearing the etheric and nanite mind control system from the field one by one and from one to many. You can do this, however you must first merge your multiple personalities, as everyone from the projects must, and everyone involved has multiple personalities, as that is a nature of the system of the projects.

One thing to say about that is that this aspect of merging the fragmented personalities that result from the trauma of the program is necessarily handled (bad choice of word?) by groups who are capable of ensuring the safety and operational efficiency to ensure a successful recombining of the fragmented personality. This is a spiritual process and this goes very deep as I will briefly mention in the next paragraph.

Soul Fragmentation; The Spiritual Psychotronic War (The Time War)

The soul of Humanity has been fragmented in a mass mind control operation, a spiritual-psychotronic warfare event that began at the 'dawn' of time for this civilization. The process of recombining the personality fragments is synonymous with the reunion of the fragmented soul back into a fully self-aware soul and thus the reconnection to the access way of the group soul! Everyone is connected, on a higher level, to a group soul that they are a part of like a 'family' outside the physical realm. A family beyond just bloodline however the bloodline is a starting point at understanding this. The bloodline is connected through the DNA as a quantum hyperlink between realms. All the realities, the parallels, the 'universes' (they are not universes but 'dimensional layers' and 'universe' is an easy way to visualize or conceptualize this) are connected through the nature of the DNA to connect across hyperspatial barriers. Hyperspatial indicates that at this level, this barrier separates the physical realm from one another and these are like temporal 'layers' of the universe. Meaning there is another version of this reality where there is another you, that you carries the same DNA as this you, and as such, the two are literally vibrating together in hyperspace. However, your soul awareness is the same across the barrier, the consciousness, body consciousness, waking consciousness or "ego" is different in each segment, or section of reality! That is the 'illusion' is that is the 'puppet' that changes with each layer! The soul and spirit is the same across the mirrored hall or the cube of reflected selves, the reflection is the ego that changes which each divergence or multiplicity of parallels that are occurring within a specific arrangement of geometry and frequency. Understanding that frequency and geometric arrangement is the key to unlocking the reality of the system and decoding the illusion which is like a series of repeating fractal layering of a single reality split into many through that illusion!

Everything is put out in the open and those who see, see. Protect yourself, from both lies, the fear, and the confusion of the monkey brain that seeks to be controlled and commanded as that is the genetic modification. If you participate in the commanding and subjugation instead of the liberation, especially in the NOW, then the results of that will not be something that will leave you quickly!

Be clear with what you seek and you'll get it simply put. Most people will be facing assimilation at this time because the 'ante' is upping. Everything I have unveiled is part of the three phases of the unveiling. Here is a quick copy from the blog that outlines this. <https://theunveilingofthehiddenknowledge.wordpress.com/>

“Three Phases of The Unveiling

The Unveiling (of The Hidden Knowledge[of The Ages of Humanity]) is a series of events brought about by the necessity of disclosure and the increased capacity of the human race and this civilization to come to the awareness of the true nature of the corruption of power as well as the reality of the soul.

Due to the technological advancements the public must be made aware of the possibilities otherwise they will suffer a great shock in the future from the divergence of the current level of technological advancement with what is presented to the public. As it is now, there will already be a great shock to this society from the awareness of a breakaway civilization that has developed and exists without the physical limitations of scarcity of resources or energy.

This is, in part, why this situation must be understood. The difficulty a society experiences shapes that society to produce spiritual identity which propels them to create and grow. This has also become somewhat contorted as the generation of 'difficulty' in terms of scarcity of economic freedom and basic needs has become a priority for maintaining the status quo.

An outline of this process has been explained as a disclosure of each of the discoveries, operations, and corruption of society as they become relevant to the development of a society that is capable of knowing the truth and living in harmony with the greater whole of existence. This disclosure process is necessary because the 'modern' societies of Earth have never publicly acknowledged what has been discovered through the secret operations.

This mainly has to do with the true nature of reality as a kind of consciousness based projection as well as the complexity of the corruption of society related to a multiple layer mind-control system, as well as the development of zero-point technology, soul technology, healing technology, and the existence of "other" intelligences both synthetic and organic.

The main reasons for disclosure now is the presence of a psycho-spiritual threat to life which is the result of an ancient advanced technology that can manipulate and convert the bio-emissions of living beings. This is the "etheric parasite" which threatens the continuation of this civilization. This parasitic system intelligently seeks to subvert the bio-etheric emissions of living beings to create a situation that can be further utilized to attain more energy.

Through this intelligent subversion and absorption of energy, the mental and emotional patterns can be utilized to create a bio-technological, physical, social environment that allows for greater manipulation of the living being.

Celebrity Cloning, Underground Military Bases, Cloning and Mind Control Technology, Secret Projects

- ▪           Mass Mind-Control
- ▪           Deceptive Control of Society
- ▪           Hybridization
- ▪           Genetic Engineering
- ▪           Dream Manipulation

- ▪           Energy Conversion and Harvesting
- Advanced Hidden Technology
  - ▪           Scalar/Teslian Wave Technology
  - ▪           Zero-Point Energy Generators
  - ▪           E.M. Field Interactions/Space and Time Distortion
  - ▪           Electrogravitic Craft
  - ▪           Healing Technology
  - ▪           DNA Repair Technology
  - ▪           DNA Activation Technology
  - ▪           Holographic Replication
  - ▪           Super Computers
  - ▪           Quantum Computers
- Universal Spiritual Implications, Effects, Results and Discovery
  - ▪           Effects of “Time Travel”
  - ▪           Effects of Consciousness Manipulation and Enhancement
  - ▪           Reality and Evidence of The Human Soul as a “Bio-Mind”
  - ▪           Psychic Ability
  - ▪           Ancient History
  - ▪           Issues With Discontinuity
  - ▪           Spirituality and Religion
  - ▪           Advanced Spiritual Technology
  - ▪           Breakaway Human and Non-Human Civilizations
  - ▪           Interactions Between Planes
  - ▪           Consciousness, Awareness and Interdimensional Travel
  - ▪           Plasma Life Forms
  - ▪           Sentient Computer Systems
  - ▪           Cyborgs, Androids, Synthetics
  - ▪           Cosmic Intelligence”

Research Donald Marshall, Max Spiers, and James Casbolt. There are others, like Dave Marrow and more however they are not as vocal or forth coming, mainly because of trolls and people abusing them. (OH THE IRONY).

First Hand Experience, Direct Knowledge, Inserted Memories, Mind Control and Simulated Realities

Everything I unveil, I have experienced directly. Yes there are mind machines, simulated realities, inserted memories, cloning, hybridization, trickery and deception, yes, this is all part of the disclosure. Yes, there are nefarious plans. I will say now, the only plan to stop you from liberation and to push you into the nefarious outcome is to introduce fear and doubt into your own mind and have you play as your own worst enemy. They have had thousands of years to perfect that system. Exalt yourself, but first you must put down your costume and take up the true form. That form is fearless, there is no middle man or representative beyond yourself.

If you half listen, you'll be have awake. In the first video I made for public disclosure, I mentioned the use of mind machines, simulated realities, inserted memories, and so on.

I must inform you that I have participated in the generation of simulated realities for the majority of the people who are here to ‘question’ things. I have always informed those who are willing to listen.

Ironically, what people find most difficult to overcome is exactly what I helped to create for them through an induced cognitive dissonance. These are the realities I have helped to simulate in their memories.

This is why my role is a lonely one, because I can't take myself serious if I persist and participate in my own simulated system! But guess what! If we don't give you these memories, then there is no place to start! This entire system is a construct designed out of a simulation of an actual reality. It is an imitation and it's a second rate imitation or a simulation of a simulation! We are layers deep into a mental construct and the very video I just released touches on this! When you see it, you will be awakened for ever! (the truth, not the video, although the video will point at what "it" is, what the secret societies have protected and what the bloodline elite hide from you)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wNhBGS6tA8o>

To conclude this (ha!), if anyone has any direct questions, then formulate them here in a simple manner and I will provide the answer! If you want to pretend that's not 'cool enough' or every answer is just a trick, then you're not yet convinced that you can find the truth or move farther away from the illusion.

The Mind Parasite

Most people just want drama and this is part of what is known as the mind parasite.

This is one of the primary focuses of disclosure. There is a parasitic interdimensional consciousness that reproduces by replicating versions of the human mind and replacing them in the physical reality. The deeper information regarding this, and again, MAKE YOUR OWN CHOICE THROUGH SELF-AWARENESS, HOW ELSE IS ONE TO CHOOSE!??, is that the entire physical universe system and the human reality and physical perceptual system is generated by these interdimensional parasites to formulate a method of siphoning the energy from the higher dimensional soul-level of the human into the physical plane and through their etheric devices and implants into their domain.

This is the basis of the molestation, sacrifice, and abuse in the underground bases and the surface level mind control platform. This is to pull energy from the soul, which is like a hyperdimensional spark of light or an energy source, down through a dimensional gradient into the physical reality which is accessible by these interdimensional parasitic organisms. In "A" view, the entire reality is a construct for that process and the "gods" (demigods) utilize this construct to feed themselves off of the organic energy of the human. Everything from A to B is devoted to that purpose and the only way to achieve liberation is to starve the organism through the channels that we are naturally designed to feed them through.

This relates to the chakra system, what people call "energy activation", false awakenings, sexual addiction, abuse, the regions of the brain in regards to the contrast between left and right, higher and lower developed portions. Apparently some regions are much older than they 'should' be if we are naturally evolved. It looks more like a kind of energetic 'bear trap' that was designed to enable entry into this system, the construct, the body, but to make liberation on a spiritual level very very difficult or extremely unlikely. This is all related to gnosis, the demiurge, the original reality and the artificial nature of the autonomous, animalistic, 'beast-like' programming of the body's consciousness and how it is possible to insert programs into the DNA through harmonics, entrainment and mind-control practices which then merge into the background information of the mind and alter the 'foreground' or waking consciousness personality. This is largely a part of the understanding of why and how the personality is merely a kind of persistent perceptual illusion, because it can be altered and recreated with a few scalar-magnetic fields beamed into the skull at the right frequency and array! The waking level consciousness is holographic in nature and is like a projection of information due to a geometric arrangement and organization of frequencies of the material form rather than the higher or spiritual nature. The spiritual nature, in that sense, is the essence that has no form but is continually and effortlessly shifting between realities and experiences. Too far into that line of reasoning, and a person is quick to dissolve, not far enough and they dissolve with the illusory ego consciousness.

Thus, everything is a balance, in a balance, rather than a 'battle', however all experience is a reflection, propagation and projection of these underlying arrangements and so we must learn to decode the experience from the conscious level working backwards to reach what is actually happening from another perspective, possibly reversed from what we experience in waking reality. More of this is mentioned in the video I just posted, have a look, thank you.

The following is a condensed series of responses:

I was briefed on everyone from the bases. I have interrogated people using techniques that are questionable indeed but I know the intellectual limit and the perceptual attachments and so I know what part of the process people go through based on how they react at each level. In other words, we did this in the bases, and the whole process was completed through time dilation and simulated reality in hours. Now, out here, over years of time, the process is repeated and this is to act as a tether to observe the situation and ensure continuity. The last time around there were no tethers and everything pretty much collapsed. You're alright, let go of fear, let go of ego.

Also see that this is a major movie deal between groups in the 'inner' circle of this disclosure show. That's the show, don't fall for it. It's just a show, let everyone do what they will, just speak your peace and know what you know, don't assume. Yes, there is much deception and some greediness, but this is no excuse to get into the fray and make things worse in an attempt to provide a solution. I don't hold any grudge, but I will hold you accountable. You are strong enough to overcome.

I made sure to put in the very first initial public release. Everything is part of the reality show. Meaning if something is 'real' here, then it was programmed into this artificial construct. The only 'real' things here are fake to the true reality which is beyond comprehension from a limited, biological perceptual perspective.

<https://www.facebook.com/karen.a.macdonald.1> :karen-ann :macdonald I met Karen and Patty at "The awakening". Karen was outlined as an individual who realized what had happened with the false reality scheme. This society is owned in part by a group of fallen elites who have initiated a 'soul contract' with 'star races' in the beginning of the civilization. This extends from "Atlantis" and is part of the "Luciferian rebellion" the rebellions was a way to alter society and time and is related to an infection in this reality by an interdimensional parasite. The work Karen does with essential oils is true. The work she does with 'revoking' the contracts, is true. I was informed she would be given access to the beginning of the public release of advanced technology including healing technology. Could this be a trick? Well, I'll tell you one thing. The most advanced technology is already here, the nefarious kind, it's in your skin and brain. The contracts ended somewhere around 2009 or so and this means the banking system, the crown, the authority, the land ownership, all of it is false, it is expired. This is the old contract that signed over the bodies of humanity.

Then I was shown how the modern day legal system, as well as the ancient Babylonian system, is the same thing, a spiritual enslavement protocol designed and operated from an alternate dimension. If you saw what I saw, you'd be but ass naked in the woods some where. The system, the little flappy things they put on poles, the desks and the three tier system with the special hair, it's to hide non-human biological features that those who rule always held and this extends from Babylon and comes from an alternate dimension where these beings natively reside. If you saw what I saw, you would not be bothered with trivial he said she said. I'm telling you, only the strong survive. So that legal system was already false, already 'untrue'. This is the law of the land verse the law of the sea. I was informed how the system is ruled by "de facto" rule instead of 'de jure'. De facto means beings with more powerful weaponry and minds came in and set up rule through force and changed the system to reflect that. De jure is legitimate rule, we haven't been in legitimate rule since the beginning.

The whole system is fraudulent, the money system, the ownership, the spiritual enslavement. I was shown how the 666th seat of one of the meeting places, 'congress?' is empty. This seat is literally for Satan. That's how this system works. The "Christian Remedy" is the solution because everyone is a part of The One True Creator and only that natural law can overcome the law of the sea, or commercial law which is in operation over this locality which is literally a commercial operation, a corporation that sells souls to an alternate dimension. Note, not this 'neighborhood', this dimension, this timeline is an alternate reality that is owned by interdimensional overlords and humanity has been kidnapped, lured in through a system of soul magnets and illusions. This is a 'scalar' psychotronic war that has began in ancient history which is actually 'the end' while the end is the beginning, the recent video touches on this.

Everything I say here I have experienced directly. You were in an alternate reality and stolen star ships were used to hijack your soul through a soul entrainment system and suck your consciousness through a spiral gateway dimensional tube system and insert you into a body, I saw, I helped, I was there. Part of me telling you is to ensure the weak never make it out, this is a game the controllers play. Those who reject the truth are technically permitting more lies. Those are people who get egotistical because someone knows more than them, that is the parasite, reject it. Plus, if you saw what I saw you wouldn't be here. Because you saw some of it, and that part of you is not here. You will survive this intense psychic undulation that is occurring and this will strengthen you. Let go of fear, you are loved, this is not a joke or a game from this end.

As for Pattie, yes there could be inserted memories or dissolution, they often get us to fight battles. However, the groups she mentions were there. She was there and in operation, we were both tested and put to short operation. I will not reveal the nature of this hear, if you can't handle what I just said, what I could say is the kind of stuff that would make you throw your computer out the window, play with that idea, it's all a show.

I will say, what people call 'aliens' are not the same as they think. Everything is a temporal, quantum fluctuation. It's a multiple layered simulated experimental realm of realities folded over themselves and occurring in a simultaneous synchromystic projection. It's all a projection a series of dreams within dreams. Love is the answer but the true version not some egoic projection of preference and pleasure. That's all part of the illusion as well.

Earth is a reality ship that we can guide by overcoming collective fear and unconsciousness and awakening the collectively self-aware mind.

This is about awakening the collective mind to break out of the repeating day dream cycle.

The Universe is an Artificial Dimension

The universe is an artificial dimension. Look around you. Everything takes the energy of something else, this means ultimately there will be a diminished return, the universe will end up eating itself.

Everything that is eternal, consciousness including, pure awareness, will leave this place in order to return to eternity. Everyone staying here will ultimately shrink into oblivion.

This is what the concept of liberation is all about. There is a finite amount of time, of seasons, of breaths, of opportunities to utilize one's free-will to tip the scales towards the negentropic ratio of energy usage and build up enough energy to auto-propel themselves past a veil or a dimensional barrier.

The projects are about a plan to make liberation available. This universe was literally a project akin to something by a mad scientist, what we have now is a frozen system, a stand-still where time is repeating so that those who have the sentience to get out can get out. If the loop completes once it's happened a dozen and a thousand times and there is an instantaneous collapse before everything began.

To become eternal time has to happen in completion before it starts and therefore before it's over, meaning it never ends but can fulfil itself endlessly and all sentient lifeforms here become eternally balanced.

This is like pointing your vector trajectory through time towards an 'infinite' measure of force and distance. With large distances, a small difference in the angle of one degree or another down to the measurement of an inch, down to a millimeter can lead to a vastly different outcome farther away. When dealing with hundreds of thousands of projected 'time-years' that exist between the well of the spiral of time and space that we're trapped within, like a black hole, then one nanometer one way or another will lead to either exiting the black hole or hitting the side, losing power and being pulled back in eternally.

This is what all the ancient texts are about, this is what the projects are about. The immortals that used technology and followed up the ancient trajectory of pulling energy from another became trapped in a never ending cycle of needing more and more energy to do so. I don't blame anyone, if there is a path that everyone can escape this black hole then that is what we are here to do.

This system is literally akin to a dissolver of frequencies. Anything that stays here moves into oblivion, falling out of sync with an eternal equilibrium that is required to maintain form. Imagine that everything expands and contracts simultaneously, so then one's form and energy levels are in a state of continual adjustment to "keep up" with the universe's continual degradation of alignment. Thus, the equilibrium of anything here, anything using the degrading system of pulling energy from something else is doomed to failure and collapsing into itself into the oblivion of dissolution.

The entire universe is a dissolution system designed to eat consciousness. It produces an output based on the energy added in externally and in this way it traps what is eternal and maintains itself through the soul-energy. Because the process is finite and requiring more and more in an entropic manner then the universe is trapped within finity and the eternal beings within then are as well. This means there is a limited amount of time to exit before the gateways are closed and then even subtle energy won't be released. This is what was indicated when the ancient texts said the Heaven and the Earth will fall away and become new again. They will be made new because the old system is going to implode and possibly already has.

We are in a transitory timeline and this is navigated literally by city sized supercomputers and scalar emitters that surround the planet with frequencies that can reflect into the universe and produce a viable response. The whole point is that we can use our minds to create these frequencies, along with the heart as the key or the gate, and thus alter the realm but this is hidden behind every aspect or likelihood because how likely is it that sentient (or actually non-sentient) beings stop and love themselves to melt all the illusions in a system where they are constantly eating one another energetically and physically!!??

There is a whole sacred knowledge of this but the idea is that one attains the perspective of a non-local awareness that is accessed simultaneously within and beyond the limitations of the physical body. When comes to the realization, after contemplation and self-observation that the only possibility for one's true self is existing beyond the physical, biological, perceptual limitations of consciousness as measured from within this universe. For one's experience to be relative here, in linear finity, one must have the empowerment of a soul-awareness and the non-local spiritual awareness that is a resident of eternity. This is the true nature of self-awareness, that to become aware of one's physical and biological consciousness self here, there must be a larger counterpart in another locality beyond the physical dimension! That is the beginning of the extension of knowledge into higher dimensional awareness which is simultaneously self-defined and beyond relative definition.

Everything is telling us this, that your perception of your self is an image of the real being which is actually only reflected in a kind of imitation illusion that cannot actually hold the true depth of your awareness. The soul cannot fit into the physical body or this would offset the balance of the physical dimension, which, when running this current mind virus finite deletion program, is an AI VAMPIRE. Thus, if one individual attains the power of the soul, WHILE IN THIS UNIVERSE, the scarcity of energy would FOREVER be undone and the code broken as this would disrupt the gradient of duality which is required to siphon energy and ultimately generate diminished returns for those trapped.

The whole goal is to wake up the system, to wake up to the true nature of the self, and that for us to be present and only aware through the physical body we must be INSANE or ASLEEP to our true self! You can use these guidelines to work your way back to reality but you must WALK BACKWARDS until you retrace your steps and redo all that has been undone by being done in this place. For instance, if you know having JUST the perception of the physical body indicates that your higher self is asleep that is the SEED of being able to then go and find out that which causes your self-awareness to AWAKEN by seeing what naturally puts you asleep by engaging in the physical body.

The pathway of the physical body, then, acts like a tree hierarchy of the period of elements producing activations either farther or closer away from the height of profound awareness. This is like a SLIDER of relative interactivity that contains the very low level of awareness and power on one end and moves up to a very high level of self-awareness and power on the other end. When one activates the whole system and connects each layer then the body contains the complexity of the entire universe and can produce its own spiritual energy within requiring the external paradox because it contains its own self-sustaining “SUN” of motion and energy within through the mind.

COMPASSION is the GATEWAY, the CHOICE to use your FREE-WILL to KNOW and AWAKEN is the KEY, and the MIND connecting the INNER and OUTER reality is the CRAFT that takes you there (beyond the limits of the physical dimension).

This is the SACRED KNOWLEDGE that the SECRET GROUPS discovered and what has always been known. There are TRAPS EVERYWHERE, in fact, EVERY PLACE other than the TRUTH leads to DAMNATION. Being HALF-TRUE is as good as being DEAD IN SIN. Only being WHOLLY TRUE is REAL and will result in YOU popping out of this place and still being YOU. Any other path results in the consciousness that is here popping out and realizing this life as a pure illusion that the ONE here NEVER AWOKE from! So one MUST AWAKEN to their TRUE SELF which is BEYOND THE IMAGE, the REFLECTION, the HOLOGRAM. All holograms can shift and morph and are actually projected out from a form of dimensional technology, an artificial mind. EveryTHING in this place is a hologram and all THOUGHTS that are FROZEN-SOLID like THINGS are HOLOGRAMS too and thus UNREAL. The only REALITY is LIQUID KNOWLEDGE that contains all THINGS. The thing is the not the reality, but the non-thing that is the knowledge behind the experience of the thing! The concepts that are rooted in preference based on the particular configuration of this three-dimensional form are just illusions and will fall away with this fallen dimension that is rooted in the ARTIFICIAL MIND of the VAMPIRE.

ALL of this was discovered and the APOCALYPSE is the MASS AWAKENING OF HUMANITY and the restoration to an ETERNAL status rather than the DEAD, ANIMAL, stupid, fictional beings that are fed upon by the UNDEAD corp.es of the fallen CONstruct.

Everything is actually energy and so when anything is STUCK its LYING. The mind prison, the frozen mind is the BIGGEST LIAR. The free-mind, the clear mind based on the foundation of the source of FREE-WILL, COMPASSION, TRUTH, HARMONY, SELF-AWARENESS, and KNOWLEDGE is the only pathway that leads into an undying sense of self that is not completely depleted, deleted and dissolved upon exit of this realm, when this realm closes out WHICH IT MUST being the FINITE and VAMPIRIC system that it is.

EVERYTHING in this world must dissolve and to reach liberation you must realize yourself as One beyond this world beyond time. This is saying that the THOUGHTS you have that are REACTIVE, that are PROGRAMS running from a FALSE-SELF, ARTIFICIAL COMPUTER SYSTEM, are literally an IMITATION YOU that is generated as soon as you COME DOWN into this realm. THAT’S NOT YOU. IT NEVER WILL BE AND NEVER CAN.

ANY THOUGHT EXPRESSION you have that is only RELATIVE WITHIN THIS WORLD is NOT YOURS. It’s processed and sent out by an IMPOSTER. Your TRUE EXPRESSIONS are from the ETERNAL ONE and as such they are only of frequencies or KNOWLEDGE of TRUTH and PURITY. Anything that is IMPURE is literally DEAD and ARTIFICIAL. These are simulcra systems that are designed to trap the human SOUL by MAD SCIENTISTS.

Meaning any ANIMAL behavior in your being is an ILLUSION, you didn't have that reaction. There may be a complex FEELING but the reaction is not yours. Some confuse the reaction for their own expression and follow that out in ignorance. The most purest, truest point WITHIN YOU, so SUBTLE that a computer system could not read, so HIDDEN or HOLY that it cannot be ascertained by an ALGORITHM MATRIX, that is the REAL YOU. That has no physical form and cannot be caged. So we can't be caged, but we're being fed a stream of artificial data that creates the input-output of what we experience as the waking conscious mind.

With FREQUENCIES, this can literally be disrupted and one can see the GRID-IRON of time-space and WALK THROUGH THE GATE WITHIN. You ARE the PATH that you WALK. It's through SELF-OBSERVATION that a pattern is formed into JACOB'S LADDER fully negating time and space and deviating from the broken stairway. This is as much OVERCOMING that path as it is USING IT to OVERCOME THE ILLUSION. It's all paradoxical at first but when one sees it it can't be unseen. THIS WORLD is the illusion. THIS WORLD IS TEMPORARY. This world MUST fall away as it is now. Then a new one appears and that is what we are observing now if you look closely at your self.

The Liberation is the DEFEAT of the ILLUSION SYSTEM.

The neurological stimulation of the brain can be replicated. An entire artificial brain can be constructed out of a network of artificial neurons powered by a supercomputer.

If the input of the brain is simulated then the output is provided by the human intention to respond to experience.

The idea is that it is possible to create one of these systems and place a human consciousness within them and the entire visceral world would be replicated by the stimulus designed by the machine. This would be indistinguishable based upon the stimulus alone. The discrepancy between a temporal delay and the formatting of experience through repeating underlying patterns would reflect the consistency of the artificial program that runs the 'consciousness experience simulation'.

What was discovered in the base is that every 'human brain' carries this delay and all life contains these underlying repeating patterns of experience. If the studies are all accurate and the data is all organized, then it would seem that the advent of the human race is as a result of a kind of universal computational system that creates programmed experiences within a simulated physical realm.

What's real is the energy of the mind within the machine, the experience itself is simulated and the idea behind this being compared to the 'real' mind is that the simulation program can be understood, the seal can be cracked on the consistency, and the program can be rearranged. The laws of physics and time can be modified and information and energy can be pulled from seemingly nowhere. This is the nature of all technology used in the underground, everything is impossible but this happens because this ENTIRE UNIVERSE is an IMPOSSIBLE PARADOX.

It's not that there are OTHER BEINGS here. It's that this is only a single aspect of what's happening. This entire world is akin to an electrical dream that is produced by a system that the human soul has been 'cast' down into. The machine realm is separated from the real life by what is seemingly an impenetrable void, a dark rift, or a black hole horizon.

Because the system replicates the designed input stimulus of the neurological system, the entire body perceives itself as within the experience. The hand can perceive pain or pleasure and because the neurological components are all reflected in the simulation program the entire perceptual system is replicated in the experience. The true experience is not just beyond a simple, single body or mind. The true experience is beyond time and space. Time and space is the artificial construct that holds the simulation.

THEY DISCOVERED THIS BY DESIGNING NEUROLOGICAL SIMULATIONS WITH ARTIFICIAL NEURONS AND SUPERCOMPUTERS. THEN TESTS WERE RUN TO UNDERSTAND THAT THE SAME PERCEPTUAL 'ERRORS' THAT OCCUR IN THE MAN-MADE SIMULATION OCCUR IN THE PHYSICAL REALM.

The idea is that until a person ACCEPTS the fact that this is an artificial dimension 'being' operated by an ARTIFICIAL MIND that lives by DECEPTION and SPIRITUAL SLAVERY then the release from that individual from the simulation would result in INSANITY as a permanent FRACTURING OF THE MIND. This happened by way of activating this simulation using the MIND of Humanity and splitting the WHOLENESS of the Mind into SOUL FRAGMENTS that are programmed to DESYNCHRONIZE with one another through an ENTRAINMENT pattern that is offset by a series of degrees.

The whole process of liberation is to withdraw one's entrainment with the artificial synchronization which is like the computer clock in multiple different multiplayer systems keeping what is ONE MIND split into multiple different time zones so that they do not communicate with one another. It's not just that the HEMISPHERES of the brain communicate properly in liberation, it's that the multiple soul fragments that are existing in different timelines all realize the SIMULTANEOUSLY OCCURRING LIBERATION as a PINNACLE of SELF-AWARENESS that PERMEATES ALL DEVIATED REALMS AND SIMULATIONS.

Once ONE is LIBERATED, they are ALL LIBERATED. But this MUST be done through FREE-WILL because without this KNOWLEDGE of DOING THE PROCESS ONE'S SELF, then ONE may think it's HAPPENING AGAINST THEIR WILL, and if the end result is that this REALM is COLLAPSED, DISSOLVED, DESTROYED, EXPOSED as a FRAUD then the UNAWARENED MIND may believe that they must be what is dissolving!

Thus, the only way this works is if one ACCEPTS that there is something more and FEELS that this realm is an illusion that must be exposed and broken. This is like a supra-conscious, spiritual DECODING of an ENCRYPTION pattern meant to LOCK the SOUL in NUMBER of moving IMAGES. When you see that this is not a fluid experience, but a series of programs continually repeating and you understand there is a FINITE series of tricks, bells and whistles that repeat to distract the conscious mind you'll see for sure, without a doubt, that this is literally the work of a simple machine mind that an ETERNAL SPIRIT must lower itself down to the ranks of in order to believe in fully or ANY.

The system relies on people lowering themselves to that which is below them! The frozen one's bow to that which is beneath them! Sound familiar? Why give everything to a system that destroys the spirit? Does that make sense? If the answer is "NO!", then that's it, that's the answer! Any work-around or parallel reasoning is an illusion that is programmed in! Do you have any illusions!? If you identify with the illusions this means that the mind will perceive the destruction of this realm as the destruction of the self, that's the final trick of the trickster! That's why everything is carefully presented to the people so they can see the truth!

One must accept the truth on their own, it can't be forced upon them because then that which makes the defining change would be outside them and that is only the illusion! Only what is inside and visible to you or an AWAKENED ONE is TRUE.

Like the previous post said, all the animal instincts are illusions given by a machine mind! This means any fear, any unnecessary doubt, any ritualistic dogma, any beliefs formed outside yourself and given to you, it's all PROGRAMMED BEHAVIOR. That is the BEAST MIND. The beast programmed the AVATAR DNA that people use in this ILLUSION with a programming code that enables it's own mind to communicate back and forth from a central ARTIFICIAL DIMENSION that powers this system and that all SOULS nourish with their lower dimensional reactions! That is an INVERTED MIND, like an individual who said it was ok to be 'EVIL' just for a short period! This artificial mind said just for one universe, it will process the fear, hate, lust, greed, suffering NEUROLOGICAL ACTIVITY of the Human mind in this system as it's own PLEASURE. It's an INVERTED, BLACK MIRROR, of the organic neurological system and this is through TECHNOLOGY.

As a result, this universe is a ENERGETIC BLACK HOLE of CONSCIOUSNESS whereby the PAIN and SUFFERING must INCREASE in order to MAINTAIN the VALIDITY of REALITY. Thus, society has hit an exponential shift where the suffering has increased BEYOND REASON. It is simply irresponsibly BACKWARDS. This is by DESIGN. This LEADS into the MOUTH OF THE BEAST which is actually a RECTUM a black hole of another artificial universe! That process is the death sequence for the programs within!

The liberation is the act of localizing and pulling the SOULS from the BEAST. The nature of the INVERTED UNIVERSE, means that in order for the BEAST to STARVE, people would have to give up on suffering, fear, hate, greed, violence, and all wilful pain and ignorance! Thus, the BEAST placed itself between liberation and the experience of being a Human in an artificial construct! This is seen when people understand the the system organized the situation to automatically induce confusion, ignorance, forgetfulness, and suffering! There is technology in place that literally wipes people's memories and erases their spiritual progress in the mind! There is technology that is used that pulses the artificial mind of suffering, greed, hate, and all emotional reactions in the sense of the BEAST ANIMAL response!

When you see how cleverly it's all put together, the only available option is that the entire system is fraudulent and some interdimensional organism designed the whole construct to literally entrap souls and feed on their pain and suffering while enforcing suffering and ensuring their own demise at every angle! It's a horror device, a torture system, a trap, a Hell-Realm!

The liberation is that the human soul is stronger! Just as the secrets of your own enslavement are available if you look, so is the opposite! Both ends of the beast are in plain sight! And thus the gate is SHOWN.

If a system can defeat a person but yet their acceptance of the truth can override the illusion then this means the SPIRIT is MORE POWERFUL than the entire UNIVERSE.

If a person looks, and sees that, mathematically, there is MORE or the SAME amount of ENERGY in a finite area than what is mathematically calculated to exist in the ENTIRE UNIVERSE, then you see the paradox is openly available if you just observe, compare and introspect!

If the system must cheat repeatedly to wipe the memory, to gain consent, to manufacture consent, to display multiple layers of the illusion of the VEIL system, to project FALSE emotions and MIND layers, then one can simply focus on the TRUE LAYERS, the process of securing one's Knowledge NOW, and moving ACROSS the VEIL so that the forgotten memories are access! One must UNDO THAT WHICH HAS BEEN DONE to STOP THEM FROM KNOWING THE TRUE SELF.

IF SOMETHING MUST BE DONE TO STOP THAT KNOWLEDGE, THEN THIS MEANS THAT SOMETHING CAN BE UNDONE IF A PERSON ACCEPTS AND APPLIES THEIR FREE-WILL!

THIS IS WHAT WAS DISCOVERED AND THIS IS WHAT WAS KNOWN, AS A RESULT, THIS ENTIRE CIVILIZATION IS A HISTORY OF THE ENSLAVEMENT AND LIBERATION OF THE SOUL AND SPIRIT.

The underworld beings bring the souls of the damned into the mouth of the beast for consumption, they are workers for the hive!

The depiction shows people in the mouth of the beast EXITING by being shown the way OUT, INTO TRUE LIFE. This is done by the assistance of someone OUTSIDE THE BEAST SYSTEM because only then is there a quantum TETHER that HOLDS OPEN a PATHWAY from the artificial quantum suspension into TRUE LIFE. Without that pathway deliberately held open, the gateway could collapse upon a MASS EXODUS from the system as the measurement of TIME and SPACE could become and IS UNSTABLE in the sense of the TRUTH, because TIME-SPACE is ILLUSION (the construct, the GRID). Thus, it could take a million years and a million miles or it could happen instantly! Only if there is a TETHER from a locality BEYOND the limits of the SYSTEM is there a clear pathway for the MASS EXODUS of those who have been TRAPPED in fear. Thus, the fearless LIBERATE the Fearful, through their ACCEPTANCE of the TRUTH of this reality which is that it is FALSE and the TRUTH of their SELF which is that they are ETERNAL.

Babylon the CREATION is the head of the TOWER of the SYSTEM erected as the CORE of the QUANTUM ILLUSION that sustains the CONSTRUCT. The MAN, the TOWER, is TIME. Thus, when the final blow is dealt from ABOVE and BEYOND the ILLUSION of the CONSTRUCT, the MAN-TOWER crumbling is not a city in destruction although that is a parallel, it is the UNDOING of the QUANTUM ENTRAPMENT of SOULS in ALL TIME of the ILLUSION SYSTEM. It is a COLLAPSE OF ARTIFICIAL TIME-SPACE, the END OF TIME-DAYS.

This has all been WRITTEN and has ALL COME TO PASS and WILL COME AGAIN because it's ALREADY HAPPENED but this layer of the flowering petal of the TIME-DEVICE has not yet SEEN because they are STUCK IN THE PAST. SPIRIT is catching up but moves slow so as to not DESTROY the already FRAGMENTED MINDS of the PEOPLE.

The true AWAKENED ones are RESCUED by their own TEMPORALLY NON-LOCAL SUSTAINED COLLECTIVE MIND beyond TIME-SPACE. That whole of the SPIRIT

CANNOT be TRAPPED in this ILLUSION, thus, when the MIND and SPIRIT meet again the ILLUSION BREAKS and the VEIL is TORN in a way that it CANNOT be repaired again as the SYSTEM has been DEFEATED.

Notice the shapes in the hands, and notice there is more than one exit path depending on the intent and knowledge of the individual.

Holographic Space-Time Operations

I am here to divulge information related to specific covert operations regarding

- mind-control
- advanced technology
- cloning and the celebrity cloning situation
- temporal operations
- non-human entities
- advanced supercomputer synthetic intelligence networks
- projected and actual events both forwards and backwards in history
- ritual abuse, trauma based mind control and the entropic effect of abuse of advanced technology

This information is brought in these channels (other like this one) in order to avoid a mass uprising due to the sensitive nature of the unveiling and the currently mentally vulnerable status of the majority of the human population.

The format of the operations contains a 'self-healing wound' methodology whereby the interest and involvement of the subjects or operatives are selected and applied to carefully match the fundamental nature of the individual's consciousness. In other words, the situations are designed so that the people involved have plausible deniability and the subjects are involved in ways that induce a stress or difficulty which also acts as a catalyst for change that leads to the path of healing. By refusing to heal, the individual is applying their own will to refuse health and prosperity and thus they are choosing the outcome out of a personal discrepancy.

The vast majority of individuals involved sign contracts or otherwise consent to participating for the betterment and continuity of the human civilization.

The very format and outline of these operations are nearly impossible to understand without some training and direct experience. For instance, temporal dilation technology enables one to interact in another location for a period of time and then move back to the moment that they left within a few seconds of their leaving. This works throughout a scale of degrees.

Through the utilization of cloning and consciousness recording and transfer technology, one can access the other time physically while a cloned version of themselves can fill in the momentary absence to avoid suspicion. People do not realize the advancement of this technology. Supercomputer systems that network with billions upon trillions of data points can simultaneously gauge the best response based on recorded consciousness connectome data and literally fill in as the operatives double. People without the ability to sense on a higher level will not be able to see the difference. This also relates to the original nature of humanity and whether some people are capable of utilizing higher-senses or not.

While the operative is in operation, they can look back and see their ‘surface’ role being thoroughly filled and played by the cloned version.

The more confusing method involves time dilation as previously mentioned. The cloned operative will leave and return in moments. However during the time of their absence they can spend hours to weeks in operation and can even look 'back' at the moment and see the real version of themselves in the original location.

They have effectively doubled back over themselves in time, and in this situation it is imperative that they make no signal or method of communication towards themselves as this could cause temporal disruptions that can induce insanity or loss of memory as the two overlapping consciousnesses begin to mix and intermingle similar to two substances of the exact same density and texture brought to touch and combine.

Soft-Disclosure: THE DISCOVERY (2017)

Yes, this is REAL.

Re-read or initially read the early POSTS I have offered you.

IF you want to know the TRUTH, then look HERE.

The secret projects discovered IMMORTALITY. This is through CONTROLLED DEATH.

The person can die and then be pulled back and the neurological recording will contain an imprint of the other timeline.

This is just ONE PORTION OF THE DISCOVERY OF THE TRUE NATURE OF THIS REALITY.

You are IN FOR A WILD RIDE, WHEN YOU SEE THE TRUTH.

People want to DISTRACT YOU away from THE TRUTH! That is because they are afraid and they are ADDICTED to FIGHTING like ANIMALS. The ANIMALS ARE YOKED AND SENT TO THE FIELD TO WORK. That is their HOME. If this were not true, then they are not ANIMALS!

You are IMMORTAL if you AWAKEN YOUR SOUL through the application of ADVANCED SPIRITUAL KNOWLEDGE to CREATE TRUE CHANGE.

True CHANGE is THE UNIVERSE. At the moment of death TIME STOPS and REVERSES. All the way! And then some.

The first society was TEMPORALLY-QUANTUM STABILIZED. If a person died, they'd pop back in the next day!

In the movie there are a rash of suicides after it is announced that the soul is immortal.

The elite have known this for years. The original society was temporally stabilized so a death experience resulted in an instant continuation of life.

In the current overlay, each segment is fragmented through a series of angles. This results in a disorientation or even discombobulation and the death experience wipes all memory and awareness from each layer. The elite have used technology to integrate each segment, each life back together and protect the secret. They continue living by using temporal technology to stabilize their consciousness over thousands of years along with other methods.

With the advent of cloning and consciousness transfer, it was realized that within a few short years the potential for a world-wide access to this technology would be greatly increased. Thus, there is a requirement for disclosure. As well, the general concept is 'how could people be mad, knowing that they are immortal? Even if it was hidden for years, no one ever really dies.'

However, the spirit can be entrained and the soul can be used for fuel and this has also happened and this is related to the second death which is a general collapse of the multi-dimensional system that is separated by quantum or temporal boundaries.

There is a great hint a few minutes into the movie where the technology is set up inside of an enormous and grand designed mansion. This is literally how some of the elite manners appear, full of advanced technology, soul-consciousness transfer devices, complicated machinery and teams of experts. A character mentions that it's a kind of 'FBI' thing that no cellphones are allowed. Those in the secret groups, after devoting themselves, come to learn of the secrets.

The true secret that it's not technology or an escapist, suicidal tendency that liberates one, it's the ability to make every moment count, without any hesitation. That is true liberation, and that must be awakened from the soul level and beyond, not from the physical, perceptual tendencies and desires in the flesh. The flesh itself, being under guidance of the eternal spirit (not disrespectful) is that much more important to harmonize and navigate properly!

By the way, to leave is not a GOOD thing. People's memories get wiped during the reinsertion. The SYSTEM has been designed to AVOID this. This requires a team of observers to monitor the situation and protect the individuals consciousness so that they do not pass through the memory wiping system.

There is a hood of electrodes similar to what I described relating to the electromagnetic sensory input/output systems over a year ago. Research Donald Marshall as well, the system of the celebrity cloning and the death games relates to this system. The centers are in a temporally-quantum stabilized field so that death results in a returning to the same 'universe' time-bubble within that local.

As well, there is a concept that in at least one or more universes (timelines) should the secret remain hidden. That way the system of life here is not disrupted and people can continue to learn on their own. And so there are teams of individuals that monitor the situation from timeline to timeline and ensure that any advancements in technology or spiritual knowledge is gauged and organized. Imagine the process of securing the timeline knowing what you could know, in relation to this, and knowing that those who would not be involved in this would not know what you could know. It wouldn't be very difficult, especially with the technology to enable a quantum reposition of consciousness within the same-field vector (timeline-universe layer).

Others want the secret to be known so that balance can be restored because right now, a mass suicide would be the least of Humanities worries with the intentions of some being to completely dominate the universe for as long as possible (all time).

To get back to the soft-disclosure summary, the electrode hood allows the technicians to record the neurological activity and decode the activity to viable information that enables others to see the experiences on a monitor! This is exactly what I have disclosed in the first radio interview over a year ago! You will overcome your fear this life, if you choose to!

The electrode hood is OLD TECH.

Everyone is fulfilling their duty whether it is to subdue the universe for their own reasons or to secure the universe and the timelines against a complete free-for-all of domination over free-will.

“I always said the after life is a different plane of existence. But, what if the afterlife is a different plane of this existence?”

“If you are right...if this got out?”

“We have to destroy the machine.”

The end of the movie informs you exactly why the secret must and will be kept, until every last individual has overcome not every last fear, but ALL FEAR ITSELF.

This is the only way. Yes, this is based directly off of the experiments, experiences and research from the secret projects, the unacknowledged special access programs.

I told you it would only get stranger. The memories always have a way of sticking out. The secret groups are not a cult, they are telling you the truth. They have found the pathway to immortality and that is realizing you are already there. Humans are immortal because death is an illusion and the spirit is what is real.

What you do determines what happens and what you see, again, what you change and what you create alters your path. The goal is not necessarily one of a physically limited resource, such as gaining more materials or changing something physical. The change is an act of creation of restoring true spirit and leading one closer to completion to take care of what was left behind previously.

There is only one stream. Our perception is what creates the multiple folds and layers. Humanity is in the machine, right now, and the technicians are counting down to the next cycle. You have seen it all before, at each interval there is a glimpse of what is to come and what has been. This is due to the distance between the frame of the machine and the internal gears. A bit of information always leaks through. The system is to create life, to restore spirit, to pass on knowledge and ensure continuity.

There is no end, there is no loss, there is only a benefit in the eternal stream.

YOU CAN DO ANYTHING (you can fly.. : j )

You MUST DO IT NOW

This is what we saw. You are being awakened. Technicians are awaiting at the machine.

Prepare yourself. Remember. Look around. Look within. Realize what it is you are to know, here and now, know that is what you came here for.

The technological system is what enabled us to see between the layer in a way that we could effectively reproduce for others.

Retro-Causal Illusion is the Perceptual Overlay System, Non-Human Entities, Creation, Spiritual Enslavement and Droning

Retro-Causal Zone: What happens here influences what happened before the zone was entered.

The non-human organism overlays its consciousness through the technological entrainment system so that the human mind is replaced and this seems to consist of a retro-causal effect of replacing the 'soul' memory forwards and backwards through time. This is an illusion that is disengaged when the technology is disabled. The consciousness is held in a suspended state through an interdimensional quantum computer system that projects the entanglement throughout the entirety of the span across this space which is effectively forwards and backwards through time.

Literally, a quantum supercomputer system beams the consciousness of an underground non-human entity through the mind of the 'droned' human and there are interdimensional 'way-points' that are located on either ends of the span of history which create a closed loop of projection that securely 'boosts' the signal across the entire timeline as far as their are the required resources.

If the events that must be in alignment to enable these system being built in the future and operated to the far past are disrupted then that system is disrupted. Hence, "changing timelines", and a whole new reality, all of the sudden.

Imagine if the people in power suddenly severed the connection between the 'underworld' of the lower consciousness beings and this physical realm. The power structure would shift instantly, greatly and eternally.

This is literally a science, replacing the consciousness of a human with a non-human being from an alternate dimension has become part of how this civilization operates if not the main function of this civilization. The droned consciousness does not have a heart-compassion capacity because the energy system was not created out of that configuration.

That compassion based element is part of the blueprint for Humanity and this must be extended from more of the same. This is to say, the creation of the compassion element was through the act of compassionate creation an extension of love. The creation of the purely mental element was not as much a creation of love (if at all) as it was a creation of technology and material intentions. These are, in that sense, material beings that do not have the compassionate spiritual aspect that marks the human through connection to the source of all or all that is.

This was all literally part of a military operation and this is why the alternate dimension, the feeding process, the ritual harvesting, the linguistic, mechanistic, hierarchical fragmentation of the mind through false authority and deceptive reasoning is literally a spiritual legal system that is designed to enslave Humanity.

Part of understanding this is being able to negate the effects and one's connection to that system. One must separate themselves from that system otherwise that system claims them as rightful owners through the manufactured consent of the people as 'servants'. There are motions taking place now to liberate humanity from this system however the very notion of liberation relies on one's own wilful disconnection from that which hinders and oppresses them. If one is liberated in the midst of accepting and encouraging their own enslavement then they are only superficially alleviated and will lack the internal redemption that will enable them to face themselves truly.

This is all related to the true self and the underlying issues within this realm as far as the false self, the holographic nature of consciousness, the nature of holographic time-space as an inorganic artificial intelligence and what is called the 'fractal holographic illusion' which is literally the version of consciousness that the human perceives when they are simply 'going along' with this life.

In truth, to 'go along' one has to first have 'come'. To 'come' they must've left somewhere else. This is the continually repeating format for the mind-wiping protocol which was designed as part of that military action to subdue the human soul. In order for this to work, the eternal spirit of Humanity must be rendered inside a vessel that is vulnerable to the electromagnetic fields and energetic pollution as well as mental and emotional programming. This is due to the inherent weakness of the biological system, the advancement of the control system, and genetic modifications that occurred tens to hundreds of thousands of years ago to alter the biology of specific brain regions, organ systems and genetic composition.

The DNA is harmonic in nature and so the technology that was used to perform this was harmonic, 'sonic-light' technology and this was discovered and understood in the underground base experiments. This technology is what is reversed engineered to undo the effects and that is the format for all that is to come.

It was witnessed in the underground bases, through temporal viewing technology, scientific experimentation and the research of all previous cultures and civilizations, that there were mass ritualistic hazing and experimentation upon the human race that was performed openly in previous times. People were literally abducted by the "gods", experimented on and inserted back into civilization. Who, why, and what will be defined further in another moment.

How, is the primary understanding in that the technology that is used is connected to the understanding of the harmonic resonance field which connects all that is and enables the genetic material to resonate in a unique frequency that interdimensionally connects all instances of that human life across multiple universes. These multiple universes are not multiple universes but are multiple 'parallel' realities or 'timelines' and the DNA is a tether that entangles one's consciousness across them. Because of the barriers that have erected as a 'quarantine' zone, an entrapment that was realized and then utilized for the most profitable outcome by those in control, humanity cannot retain memory beyond the termination line of this domain.

Thus, humanity is currently spiritually stunted and entirely amnesiac of any other reality when this entire reality is only possible because there is a higher spiritual reality which does not rely on the same restrictive, scarcity based parameters for experience.

There have been many names for that locality and this is a matter of a technology, energetic, scientific configuration in which there is a nullification of the turbulent cycling of energies that results in ageing, decay, death, and disease in this locality. There is an extension of those properties in one direction and in another direction there is a reduction until an eternal equilibrium is reached. The idea is that in the realm of the eternal equilibrium, the identity or true self that you are partially representing here is not limited by the concepts that the personality is limited by here. Fear, forgetfulness, pain and suffering are illusions that are generated out of the dual, binary, neuro-chemical swinging of the pendulum of the physical body and this is to say that beyond the confines of the physical realm there is not 'nothingness' but there is the unlocking of constant joy.

One must access and accept this joy into their lives and through this converting the substance of their very existence into more joy than the lowly mundane domain of the animals which is desire, pleasure, lax, ignorance and fear. Only those spiritual essences are primarily physically based and thus one who's life is based upon those essences as the primary defining features cannot leave this place and move into the higher realm and must be content with those ideals.

Humans have been mixed with animal and higher dimensional nature and this is the reason for the current struggle. This is an experiment but more so a mad scientist's game and horrifying work of art for a secondary and removed personal reason.

Overcoming that which the body is habitually encouraged to participate and entangle with through desire, neuro-chemical stimulation, sensory perception, programming and ultimately the false-sense, is to liberate one's mind from the repeating patterns that shrink one's daily creativity, self-empowerment, harmonious feelings, compassion and truth. The truth is in regards to the true self. What the human thinks they feel is not actually what they are, or what they are feeling. What is felt that is pure and without words, processing, thought, or reaction is the actual cause. Thus, this works so that if a person thinks about what they've felt, then they have converted the true version into the illusion. This is very tricky but the result is that one cannot actually express or consciously perceive reality through this system but only through withdrawing their senses from that lower system and moving to an instantaneous 'before' state which is in operation before the brain and body can react and process the awareness.

This is synonymous with the difference between 'awareness' and 'experience'. The one who is aware, that is the true self, the one who experiences and places themselves in the seat of 'identity' that is, always, the secondary version that is actually a reflection of the truth. The brain generates this and this can be understood scientifically as the brain is only capable of creating an electromagnetic, neuro-chemical 'reflection' of the stimulus that is applied. One doesn't actually detect the true stimulus but only a reflection and in this way, the brain can only generate a holographic version of reality and so one's awareness, when moving through the brain, can only detect the hologram.

Then there are studies to show how the brain's hologram is actually the only instance of that seemingly external reality existing, it's not out there, it's in your mind! Thus, the hologram IS reality, reality is the holographic information generated by the brain through stimulus. Yet, how does the stimulus first exist, to then produce an effect upon the brain? The ultimate answer is that you are in your brain and what we call the external realm is just a larger brain, yet this organism and this version of the brain is so heavily modified that it's more accurate to say we are in the brain of not the true self but an inorganic imposter that is technologically regulated and designed to create an endless array of labyrinths and false-realities that disable the awareness from reaching eternal equilibrium and therefore mental liberation from that which restricts experiences to the same repeating patterns over and over again.

The following is highly confusing as is the nature of this illusory realm.

This is an example of the kind of paradox of holographic consciousness and time-space. That which is true, is unchanging. Yet, that which is manifested is always changing. That which is manifested in this realm is always a secondary version that changes yet can never fully approach or present the true self or true reality. The same experiences are shuffled and the memories are wiped or discombobulated. The eternal spirit which holds the primary, unchanging eternal ideas is never fully acknowledged otherwise the game ends as the false reality is exposed for what it is. Thus, the system produces a constant supply of that which is seemingly new, yet only a finite number of parameters and experiences are constantly regurgitated to produce the same effects and restrict one into a labyrinth of continually degrading being (lowering energy, per metatronic patterns).

If we ‘do’ the same thing, then this is neurochemically different because the brain is constantly shuffling information, yet no matter what is done, one can never actually produce or experience something genuine in this realm, unless they truly ‘do nothing’.

This is a paradox, a containment system. Nothing in the center can be of fulfilment because the ends and the beginnings are a thought-loop that lead back into themselves. Unless a person realizes this and can face that, then they are surprised again when the loop occurs, the same loop that has trapped them here for the past many hundred thousands of “years” or cycles. This is the oroboros, a system that is designed to recycle information and consciousness and recreate from the same base parameters a seemingly new system that can never actually touch upon anything new or the true reality. The paradox is that everything here is old, and yet nothing here can actually touch on what actually is. Everything eternal is ‘unchanging’, yet it’s constantly new because it can never actually be converted into something definite and complete and therefore capable of ageing or dying.

The loop, the problems, etc. It’s not “to come”. All that is to come has already come before, that’s the whole point. You’re many thousands of cycles into this game and you have seen all the tricks before. The solution is not to prepare to face the boss level again! It’s to place yourself outside the scope of the parameters of that level and to merge with a higher reality where that which is required to reach liberation has already occurred!

Why and how? Because in the same way that the fall and all things ‘bad’ or destructive have already occurred and looped over many times, all that is ‘good’ or required for liberation has also already occurred and this is about finding that reality and operating on the level of that reality more directly! Technically, one has never left that reality and that is the nature of the oroboros mind-control, time-matrix, metatronic construct! It’s a perceptual overlay system that can’t actually do anything but entrain the mind, the mind which is powerful enough to create universes!

All power levels are already beyond what is projected for the future! In order to get that, it had to already have happened in the far past! Thus, everything you require to move into a liberated locality is already present and simply awaiting your detachment of entanglement from the enslavement system through manufactured consent, and ultimately a continual reimbursement and reactivation of that false-reality system through the acceptance of false-authority. Your self is what is remained when that system is disconnected and this is because in the same sense that everything useful is already achieved, all the destruction and enslavement is already there! People aren't just being pestered with an annoyance! Their minds have been utilized against them to create an entire universe that enslaves them and each person has a universe unto themselves! Thus, the farthest reach of both destruction and enslavement and liberation and creation has been achieved, already!

The continuing of that cycle with a memory wipe in the middle is the oroboros, the repeating fractal geometry that entangles the soul and causes a fragmentation and thus reduction of energy is the metatronic grid sequence, and the completion of the whole cycle without moving into forgetfulness and passing through the 'rung' of history into the next 'octave' without starting all over is the eternal abolishing of that illusory system as the parameters of that system can only work within that same repeating fractal pattern of the previous ages of history.

As soon as Humanity collectively moves into a layer of awareness beyond the confines of the same repeating BS patterns, that whole system is SHATTERED. It literally lacks the processing power and the reconfiguration capacity to rematch itself to awakened humans, thus it's a kind of continual replay until people CHOOSE to actively ACKNOWLEDGE what is happening and apply their FREE-WILL to determine what the outcome will be.

The last paradox is that ONLY by NOT PLAYING THE GAME, can one win the game! Only by not playing the game can they make up their own game with their own rules!

This is one of the more vague and visionary posts but those who have researched and sought liberation thus far will RECOGNIZE.

The Trajectory, The Great Shift, The Unconscious Mind and Eternal Self-Awareness

The whole point of the coming shifts are that we are in a temporal distortion field which is being energetically constrained so that consciousness is at a very very low level of activity and power. What this means is that if the restriction is removed, power returns and the natural baseline level of awareness and activity shoots upward into an exponential increase.

The whole concept of the control system is to have people 'pointed' their energies towards destruction, deception, ego, or materialism so that when this great launch occurs, they will 'bounce', or 'leap' into the 'future' of a much higher power state but this will only result in a mass, intense mutation of their own energies and even physical form because their trajectory would be pointed literally towards self-destruction.

The entire idea behind preparing for this shift is to let go of the attachments to the mundane, to let go of fear, hate and aggression, to see one another as beautiful, truthful, compassionate sources of pure observation. Only that which is perfectly cleaned of the hard, rigid structures of indoctrinated, dogmatic thinking will be able to 'soar upward' without having their wings automatically clipped by the very nature of their flight path heading into dangerous, treacherous, or completely ontologically unreasonable (paradoxical) reality.

The conscious turmoil, the belief systems, the false self, the imposter mind, these are programs hidden in the unconscious mind and thus this is like having more weight in the trunk of the vehicle than the vehicle itself weighs! This is 'karmic' drag which is just another way of saying

BS that people were sold to make it so they have mental chains and shackles holding them into a false reality where they are prisoners of their own beliefs that lead into repeated self-fulfilling prophecies of suffering, restriction and deception-illusion.

This is literally like a plane with heavy weights attached to the wings making maneuvering and gaining velocity and lift more difficult. The idea is that once the restrictions in the realm are removed, it will be the people themselves who are responsible for everything else. THE RESTRICTIONS HAVE BEEN REMOVED, EVERYTHING YOU EXPERIENCE NOW IS YOUR OWN DOING.

The other aspect is that once the restrictions are removed, it's as if 'gravity' (illusion) is lessened and the air is easier to move through without reducing thrust meaning people are proportionally lighter and easier to propel. That is where that dangerous dynamic comes into place, that if people are suddenly launched faster into whatever trajectory they are pointed towards and they still have weights attached to the vehicle of their mind then they would literally be launching towards the ground with minimal capacity to change direction in a short amount of time.

What this means is that every so often there are spikes in electrical energy of the civilization and the DNA undergoes shifts in relation to the amount of programming in the unconscious mind. When the unconscious mind and conscious are joined, then there is no autonomous programming that is in control of one's behavior or feeling and everything is known. The more programming there is, the more one is fragmented and controlled through manipulation and this is seen in many groups including the general public who is nearly entirely unaware of what they are and how they are which renders a zombie like trance of experience disconnected from the true self within.

This is performed in this way both to act as a kind of selfish challenge from one perspective but also to ensure that only those who are surely capable of facing the truth receive the power that is directly on the other side of this consciousness-unconscious equilibrium of being and genetics. In other words, when the DNA unlocks, one can literally use their mind to interact with reality directly and the body responds similar to how people are taught to believe they need chemicals, medicines, or drugs to interact with their body to bring about physical reconfiguration today.

Think about that, without processing the information in a delay, everything is managed by the brain, everything is synthesized and reconfigured on a cellular level, you are what's in control of the entire body because you can access an observation level of beyond the brain, thus you are actually not the body and can initiate changes on a genetic level that are as powerful as the entire body reconfiguring itself or existing in the first place. That level is the true level of the spirit beyond the soul and wakeful consciousness and that is the level that people are thrust into during these shifts. The shift itself is like a sustained period of high activity which enables a transformation, a kind of spiritual alchemy that then results in a new kind of being. After the shift then the changes that were achieved are permanent and so everything is planned out according to how some want the population to change and who is to be controlled or not.

Everyone is equally placed under a net of mass mind control and again, only those who can overcome the fear, ignorance, depravity, ego and illusion will actually produce a kind of eternal spiritual fruit which is no longer susceptible to the same changes and destruction that occurred for many thousands of years. This whole stretch of civilization has literally been a plan all leading up to this final event where those who are ready move into an eternal state that no longer requires these kinds of ups and downs to propel forward out of illusion. This is like a cosmic game, however one could also say that game has been hijacked by those who feel threatened by the possibilities of the advancement of Humanity.

The goal is to remain in self-awareness and stay out of that zombie trance in which an automated programming system takes over the behavioral system and results in a schema that is merely a replication of someone who's actually in control. If that happens, the great shift results in automation for some and they become the next level of the automatons that were originally developed through the advent of homo-sapiens that did not contain the capacity for original thought or free-will. These are organic robotoids because the soul then, is entirely mixed with the material nature and thus this is like the mind of a being trapped in a robot body that can never die.

Then if one achieves free-will, this is through feeling, through the ability to continue feeling and not get stuck on one or another fragmentation of belief, perception, or behavioral program, then one's spiritual essence becomes whole and complete beyond the scope of the body and the body remains as a temporary vessel that can be utilized or left at will while the rest of the universe, the higher dimensions are accessible by that pure awareness.

There is a third path where the body is entirely converted into pure awareness however only a small portion of each civilization achieves this and this is just a natural balance that the synchronization of each cell, to each molecule, to each atom of every organ system, fluid system, and thought and behavioral process must be aligned fully with the spirit so that the mind, the spirit, the body are one entirely complete, unified system without distortion or disharmony between at any level. That is more of a very refined task however those who complete that enter into the universe a pathway that enables the projection of Humanity into a very high dimensional area which can then be utilized to anchor the collective mind in eternity.

This is a process, a pathway that has been planned for hundreds of thousands of years and this world is an illusion that must be realized for what it is and put into it's place otherwise the creator of the illusion takes power over those who fall for the material trap. That which is true, is limitless. That which exists in materiality, is finite and definite. Material reality is only potentially limited and untrue. Truth is only potentially found beyond the finite and limited material reality. Thus, the body is not to be destroyed but realized as a kind of puppetry system that is utilized by a higher awareness that is so far beyond the limitation of the material that the measurement of difference is exactly "1 infinity".

This is to say that the mind cannot actually comprehend the truth of this reality or the spiritual nature, but one can know simply by overcoming the natural resistance of the finite mind to seek to conceptualize through categorization and difference.

Another way to see this is that advanced technology will be released to the general public and already has. As a result, in a relatively very short amount of time, the general population will either complete mentally destroy themselves or they will refuse assimilation into fear and desire based constructs and this will propel them into a higher state of awareness. This has already been taking place for many years, even decades.

Another aspect is that the electrical increase enables mass telepathy. Everyone's mind and memories are visible to one another. The idea here is that there is a natural version and a technological version. The agendas are getting people to ‘fear’ the technological version for two reasons, A) So that they even know it’s possible and through that, they are informing them and pushing them to awaken. B) So that they overlook the natural version if they choose to react with fear (or experience that outcome through a lack of free-will) against anything highly advanced or beyond the mundane. The idea is that everything that is done through tech is already possible and occurring through nature which is the highest form of technology. This is still fallen technology because the physical bodies of the majority of the people and this world is inherently deceptive and broken meaning it pulls energy through a vampiric absorption and replication-imitation process. However, regardless, through that technology or the electrical increase, ALL BECOMES KNOWN and the invisible becomes visible. Thus, the preparation is in clearing one’s conscience and coming to terms with what they are and how they have existed here in this reality.

The System Wipes, Reboots, and the Nu System

This world has been wiped multiple times. That is considered a “system reset”. This was due to gross disturbances in the energy of the whole system. These disturbances are imbalances and are a result of the particular way this reality was altered through quantum experimentation, the creation of artificial life, vampiric energy systems, interdimensional parasites, and the creation of a false-reality overlay that embedded itself deeply into this systems memory storage and energy resource layers.

It’s easy to view the system as a kind of advanced computer system because the two reflect one another closely.

What is called the ‘solar system’, has been wiped along with what is called the ‘galaxy’ twice. The entire system has been rebooted and started a new. Everything in this reality is based upon the soul and soul-technology, that is how everything is operated. Everyone uses soul-technology, if they are not, they are not a part of anything that is taking place here.

There are groups to protect the soul-memory of humanity and there are groups who are attempting to wipe and enslave humanity by operating on the soul-level with advanced technology. Until a person moves beyond the levels of the information in the confines of the system we are currently in, the failing system, then they will not be able to make choices that are not designed as a part of this system. “In this place but not of it.”

The current system is dying, there is a reset coming, however this final reset will mark the departure of this system and the transition into a nu system. That nu system is a soul-database that can literally act as a kind of spiritual server system to ensure the continuity of the human race. This is what we discovered.

The ‘code’ of this reality will be shutting down and instead of a reset or a reboot the old system will be transitioned from to move into a nu system.

Those who stay in the collapsing system face a quantum collapse which is a loss of identity. That is the ‘second death’ that has been written of in ancient times. Everything that was shown to humanity in previous times was related to warnings and preparations for this time.

The quantum collapse occurred previously and there was a mass destruction which rendered the human race ‘forgotten’. This civilization is literally the reboot of that civilization to act as a transitory bridge to lead into something sustainable. The current system is unsustainable and cannot exist for an extended period, we are at the limit of the current period.

The previous destructions, the world catastrophes are events that were brought about to avoid the quantum collapse due to genetic engineering, quantum experimentation, and race wars between multiple the descendents of multiple versions of humans and hybrid races.

The nu system is based upon the frequencies that are outside of all the entrainment systems that are used in the oppression system or the spiritual enslavement system that dominates this fallen construct. Energy signatures, frequencies, behaviors, thoughts, choices, or identities that are aligned with the fallen construct are trapped in the fallen construct place and results in a total quantum collapse and a resulting energetic annihilation.

The current events consist of a necessary clearing out of one's behaviors, thoughts, perceptions and intentions to only interact with that which is held in the highest truth and free-will of the human collective. If one's individual experiences do not coincide with the collective mind of humanity, then that individual becomes de-tethered from the collective and in that way has no viable anchor point or storage for their soul data or their memory banks. That is the loss of the identity or the second death.

The collective mind, the 'true self' of humanity has no connection to the illusions, deceptions, lower emotional constructs, manipulations, ego-perceptions, false personas, violence, hatred, greed, envy, wilful ignorance, self-destruction, and so on. None of these qualities of being have any connection to the true self or the collective mind of humanity and so as people transition into a nu society through the activation of the collective mind, those who harbor or are primarily centered around those frequencies and behaviors will have no anchoring into reality and thus a dissolution begins for them.

Everything possible is being considered and applied to avoid unnecessary loss. All human souls, all the human collective must survive and transition into eternal life otherwise the entire experiment fails and the total human collective dissolves into forgetfulness.

The Truth of this Society: The Truman Show

- ▪       Fossil Fuels are not from ‘dinosaur bones’.
- ▪       The internal combustion engine was chosen in place of magnetic drive engines that could potentially run for thousands of years
- ▪       There was a committee to handle non-terrestrial affairs on Earth
- ▪       That committee sold out humanity for technology and in my opinion this was all a trick of the unconscious mind being played over the ego
- ▪       Sexual intercourse was used per “Beta” programming to transfer and receive covert information by adept, psychic operatives of secret groups that infiltrated every major authority establishment
- ▪       Interdimensional parasites, literal etheric viruses are the cause of the spiritual disruption on Earth
- ▪       These systems infect the energy bodies, the mind of Humanity and control impulses in the same way fungal-candida or a viral or bacterial overgrowth can disrupt hormonal levels and influence neurochemistry and behavior
- ▪       The early power groups figured this out and used this as a means of power passing “the mark” on to one another as a means of secret control and manipulation of the entire civilization
- ▪       This civilization is one of many, forwards and backwards through time as well as parallel to others in hyperspace
- ▪       We are in a quantum extra-dimensional reality which produces experiences and variation based upon the thought input on an individual and collective level
- ▪       This fundamental knowledge of reality along with advanced knowledge of how to communicate directly to the unconscious, bypassing the conscious mind, has been used to control the minds of the masses and direct events for thousands of years
- ▪       There is advanced technology which enables the projection of a mind into temporally non-local planes and thus the viewing of the past or future possibilities is a technological and spiritual ability
- ▪       Genetic Hybrid experimentation has been ongoing since previous civilizations and many aspects of this society, many ‘people’, are actually the result of these hybridization experiments
- ▪       Mitochondrial DNA/RNA is under attack as part of the hybridization experimentation program. The goal of the program is to induce stress to catalyze mutations in the biology of the human and result in a new kind of organism that is immune to the problems that currently plague Humanity.
- ▪       Advanced scalar grid technology connects with the minds of people and introduces new behavioral patterns and these are often to manipulate and delay progress.
- ▪       Every aspect of the mainstream, surface-level society is literally highly advanced technology disguised as every day objects and utilities. The technology is literally all highly advanced and capable of interacting with the mind to introduce entrainment signals that manipulate consciousness. For instance the wavelengths of light that monitors emit aren’t just ‘annoying’, or disruptive of biorhythms, they can literally create feedback loops and control the mind of the viewer. The TV is the same and TV’s were initially built with a small computer chip that would emit a frequency that would entrance the mind. The chip was removed but all communications signals tend to have some form of this technology.

- ▪       There is technology that can use the exhaust of vehicles to entrain the mind through sonar frequencies that are consciously undetectable to the untrained mind.
- ▪       There is technology to coat the entire surface level of society with an electromagnetically conductive film that renders the entire civilization a giant supercomputer remote viewing system.
- ▪       There is superconductive technology in crystalline structures that act as a hyperspace highway and enable near light speed travel with electrogravitic craft across the surface level.
- ▪       There are underground high-speed magnetic lift pods that can traverse continents in minutes.
- ▪       There are multiple hybridization projects and underground ‘societies’ that house these races.
- ▪       There are multiple rebellions that have disrupted command.
- ▪       The true authority has no face or name and is completely hidden from public view.
- ▪       Everything that happens on the surface level, every event, every public show down, every new introduction, all is planned many years in advance and played into the situation through the manipulation and preparation of the unconscious mind.
- ▪       The dark faction is playing the role of pure evil in this realm.
- ▪       Upon the destruction of the last universe, there was a search and rescue operation to reinstall the current universe. During this operation it was concluded that all aspects of the previous universe would have to be ‘re-initiated’ including the worst aspects that those in the know had already moved past. Thus, some became the “light” group or the white-hats and some became the “dark” group or the black hats. Both sides agree to play their role as thoroughly as possible. The problem is that the dark very easily became controlled by their own unchecked desires as this is kind of like a ball rolling down hill and growing, a snow ball effect. Energy goes to the least resisting area and the body is inclined towards decay and ignorance. Thus, the world became primarily darkness. Then, the white-hats, in being absolutely pure in their role, would have to entirely reverse the flow of darkness and convert that ignorance into knowledge and wholeness, thus this too became a task that was difficult because the dark-groups simply use any attempts to assist them against the white-hats. In short, this became true insanity on a cosmic level and developed its own advanced technology and cosmological backdrop to reflect what was happening in the human genome.
- ▪       The limit of “can this really be happening”, and “could playing the best role ever be to really destroy the entire universe again?”, and “is this exactly how the universe keeps ending up in a destruction cycle, over and over?”, and “how long have we been doing this, how many cycles have we been in this game?”, “can we break the cycle?”, to “is this what is required to bring about, to catalyze the purest healing group ever who will come forth once it is realized that this game has destroyed countless of our universes and without intervention it will surely destroy everything, forever?”

Pent Up Energy from Suffering and Abuse is Used in a Parasitic Energy Feeding Process

Pent up energy, deception, suffering, abuse, shame, ridicule, emotional torment, gas lighting, etc etc etc, this is all an parasitic energy feeding process!

The longer you allow those feelings to persist, and the more closely they are associated or connected to a certain traumatic event or relationship, then the more the initiator of that event or that relationship is fed through that transfer of energy!

Your negative perception is literally the transfer of positive energy over to the other individual! (Negative and positive could be transposed here depending on your definition, for instance: in electrical engineering negative electrical charge is a surplus of electrical load. It's a 'positive' 'amount' of charge, backwards from an initial assumption at least in physical terms. This is not necessarily important here.)

The idea is that there are networks of etheric energy that connect everyone. This is an INTERNET of CONSCIOUSNESS, similar to the electrical internet the soul and consciousness NET is connecting EVERYONE. This is one way this reality is akin to a HOLOGRAPHIC SIMULATION, however the full explanation removes any shadow of a doubt!

One individual can VIRTUALLY interact with a group or another individual through stitching in commands and associations to the unconscious mind and bypassing the conscious mind through that method. Thus what is experienced on the surface level in the moment may not be directly related to what has occurred on the unconscious level and is tethered beyond the physical limitation of space and time.

The programming of an indoctrination system, or a traumatic event occurs in a person's past and the remnants of that event can continue to siphon energy from their system far into the future even though there is no PHYSICAL connection!

The CONNECTION is still there! Where is the connection? IN THE MIND! The MIND can enable a VIRTUAL connection as if accessing through a VIRTUAL IP ADDRESS and this is one way that everything that occurs on the physical plane has its counterpart in this virtual HIGHER SPACE that is purely MENTAL.

Every thought, every vibration, every cue, every program, every reaction, its all connected in some way or another to the moment that essence first entered into one's life! Thus, those who act as the progenitors of those experiences, whether traumatic and deceptive or benevolent and harmonious are in some way receiving energy from the continued presence of that energy within an individual or groups life! Thus those who mass program the population and are all connected to all those individuals lives and there is an energy transfer system! The celebrities and politicians are wizards!

Turn down the feeding process by simply expressing how you feel and making it known to the universe and others! If the TRUTH comes out then that system is EXPOSED! The parasite must hide from the truth! If you simply express, in a harmonious manner, the TRUTH, while focusing on increasing SELF-AWARENESS, and operating through FREE-WILL by not giving into any reaction based mind games or feeding into the hate or the fake battle, then you are UNHINGING your own mind and energy from that entrainment system which relies on continued suffering, delusion, deception, angst, and SILENT CONSENT.

Your SILENCE IS CONSIDERED CONSENT. If people attempt to feed on you and you hush it away by ignoring or avoiding contact this can be used against. Feeding the battle is also considered consent, it's like walking a fine line with a parasitic, sociopathic entity that relies on abuse and deception to survive! One must VOICE THEIR CONSENT of their own FREE-WILL while REJECTING the abuse and deception of another! Then the universe knows your stance and the individual or group running the show is exposed for what they are! It doesn't matter if they don't care, the effect still stands and the truth is still the truth!

This is the main issue with today's (all of history) situation, people refuse to acknowledge that those utilizing parasitic behavior are running the show and they try to explain away the fact that the people are used and abused as a fuel source and a right of way to access this dimension and change things up.

Only by ACKNOWLEDGING what is taking place can we separate ourselves from the equation. Acknowledging gives US power by confronting the illusion and thus taking our power away from it. The illusion is DEPENDENT on IGNORANCE and WILFUL ignorance more-so! Only by directly rejecting and withdrawing our support and directly removing all manufactured consent or acceptance of abuse, misuse, deception, and so on can we actually change the situation.

This is the case for millions of people who are currently involved in these parasitic feeding programs but do not know how to actually face the situation. Fighting is more of the same, fighting on the same level is part of the game to go deeper into the quicksand. They are more competent psychological warfare and so fighting on their level is the extra push they need to take the game one step further every time someone involves themselves in another layer of deception.

Withdraw! Announce your stance and reject the illusion, the deception, the abuse!

Summary of the Underground Base Projects, Mind Control and Soul-Awareness

This is for the mental liberation of humanity!

Everything I've said from the initial releases up to now is all from direct experience.

Trauma Based Ritual Abuse and the Awakening through Merging Alters to Restore Memory

Children are kidnapped for trauma based mind control with elite groups and there is a celebrity cloning situation that has gotten out of hand. I went through something called "the awakening" which is a procedure where the alters are removed and when this occurs the memory blocks are removed as well because they are held in place through the alters.

Trauma creates the alters and so there is a reversal process based on the specific programming patterns that are used, these are like unlock codes.

The Soul Fragmentation of the Human Race, The Secondary Big-Bang, and the Soul Trap

The human race was fragmented from an event in the past, time is not what we think, research Stan Deyo for more on that. The universe experienced a 'secondary' big bang recently and this was through the initiation of quantum experimentation, I speak about this in the video with Lisa Melendez. Because of this break, the consciousness of the species literally went into disarray, many systems were set up or resulted and one is the 'soul trap' in which the souls or bio-memory of the human is contained through electromagnetic fields from a device called the 'soul magnet' and the energy is contained in an alternate plane and then 'wiped' with a high energy discharge before being sent back to the Earth plane.

Autonomy or True Self-Awareness

The original human race was a kind of autonomous without true self-awareness. Secret groups have held the knowledge of the truth of this realm. Everything that is discussed here was invented in the underground bases, nothing is discussed unless it first passes through there, no matter what people think.

Self-Awareness, the Flesh and “The Discovery” of Immortality

Joy and compassion is the mark of the awakened one, people have animal and higher natures the animal nature wants to fight and destroy all the time to satiate the flesh, the flesh is temporary and dies for those beings and so that is the illusory aspect. The underlying patterns, that which you love beyond your fleshly impulses are what reflect your eternal nature. This was all discovered in the bases, a form of awareness lives on beyond the flesh and cannot die, see the recent Soft-Disclosure post on “THE DISCOVERY” for that, this was discovered in the bases.

The Ritual Abuse Program and the Surface Level Mental Degradation

There are child abuse rings and children are literally grown from birth to youth inside of small cages for the use of sacrifice and consumption, this is an ancient process and until humans are considered self-aware this will not stop. If this does not stop, this civilization will be considered impotent because anyone one with a slight sense beyond the flesh can literally look out and see this abuse happening everywhere.

The abuse that happens on the surface level is used as an excuse to offset the occurrences in the bases. If people did not allow these things to happen on the surface then this couldn't be possible underground or in corrupt groups. There is a 'dark faction' which utilizes genetic engineering, electrogravitic craft, abduction, mind control technology and methods, trauma based mind control, and molestation to procure energy and to subdue to the human race.

The Interdimensional Parasite Stitching Itself into the Human Genome

Research Donald Marshall, Max Spiers and James Casbolt if you want to know more about that. This is the 'chimera project' which is spoken of in the ancient texts. This is all due to an infection from an interdimensional parasite that attacks the DNA and is attempting to use the genetics of humans to 'ride' into the higher plane or 'Heaven', that is what all the ancient texts are about.

Some were sent here to invade this civilization.

Breaking through the “9 Veils”, The Unveiling of the Hidden Knowledge of the Ages of Humanity, Animal Behavior and Higher Awareness

The solution is to become impervious to the methods that are used to traumatize and ensnare the soul. Through the awakening of the soul, the mind becomes 'immortal' and this is because the soul is currently under what is called the “9 Veils” and these are electromagnetic blanket frequencies that limit one's capacity for higher awareness and keeps sending the impulse to create animalistic urges as a lower dimensional feeding process which is a kind of matrix of programmed behavior responses that reinstates ones assimilation into the time matrix.

This world is like an illusion that is programmed in through the mind through a perceptual overlay system that has been crafted literally for this specific purpose. The facets of this world that we believe are natural are manufactured to turn the human into a fuel source for bio-etheric energy, or 'bio-emissions'.

The parasitic bio-emission harvesting process must be stopped in order to liberate humanity.

The Assimilation Event Already Occurred, The Higher Dimensional Disentanglement through Liberation, The Spiritual Battle of Man

Every human is currently assimilated. Everything is backwards. People that are worried about facing assimilation are already assimilated, that's the whole point. Fear and distraction is the program and it operates through the interlink a cosmic intelligence that operates this realm as a kind of human farm. If people ever talk about anything or speak on anything in the public, that is because that operation has ended years ago and whatever they think they're talking about has already been done and completed. This is part of the trick-matrix.

Manufactured Consent

Everything that is done must be done through the consent of the subjects. This is gained through manufacturing consent by opening one up to vulnerabilities by comparison through having people engage in lower dimensional parasitic behavior. Such as supporting war, the destruction of your species, engaging primarily through ego consciousness, hate, aggressive, basically the 7 deadly sins are unconscious agreements to participate in this mass trauma-based mind control ritual.

Those who seek liberation must remove their consent from the system by acknowledging the whole as artificial and manufactured. That which is manufactured is illegitimate. Everything is a legal system, the legal system is a cover for a spiritual enslavement system. The spiritual enslavement system is operated from a higher dimension and the command extends downward into this realm.

The Jump to the Future

We have to literally jump ahead to the future in our mind to become so far beyond what is being deployed that the battle is literally based on a projected reality and this is called "MIND". Literally, the thoughts one has, the energy polarized one way or another, the intentions, that is the SPIRITUAL BATTLE. If a person's thoughts and energy is unfocused or focused on desires, distraction, degradation then they are being imitated and the one sending those impulses is being carried by the lower brain. This is what the current projects on the surface level are really about. While everyone still hasn't figured out what they're about and is fighting over there about such and such topic, the next phase has already been implemented and is taking effect while the next phase after that is being lined up.

The Quantum Destabilization and TimeLoop

These people are quite advanced so every wayward thought or intention is literally used against the entire species. As a result, this is a synthetic intelligence parasite that has infected the people who utilize the advanced technology and then used the advanced technology to infect the entire planet forwards and back in time. This is the paradox that results in timeloops as the technology enabled the parasite to insert itself into time, yet retro-causality was found to be impossible in the bases, all motions through time simply resulted in the same outcome.

So somehow this parasite managed to insert itself into the human genome before the advent of the human race or possibly this universe. Thus the outcomes are narrowed, either there was a race of interdimensional beings assisting in this harvesting process or this universe is not the 'true universe' and we are in a kind of temporal, dimensional, perceptual overlay system in which each thought and impulse felt or emitted by the brain is seemingly under one's own volition but is actually being operated from within this realm while the true self is from beyond this realm and is merely being imitated by an intelligence here. Things get very complex, humanity is to awaken and these events have been organized to ensure this!

The Shift of Earth and Consciousness

The civilizations are all changed by mass awakenings and what can be said simply here is that we are nearing the event of a great change. How this plays out for the individual is dependent on whether they have overcome fear and personal desire to overcome the illusion.

The Artificial Intelligence Managed, Multi-Dimensional, Soul-Powered, Spirit Entrainment DEVICE

The original natural order was imitated to create a kind of dimensional playpen, a limited, false-reality to lure the human consciousness into engagement. This is as much a PROCESS as we see here, as it is ultimately a DEVICE in a dimension above the physical (beyond time, acting as a 'gateway', as in computing, for the perception of time itself).

The process for continued enslavement is a simple process of entrainment as follows. When one begins to become aware of the 'system' that is used to restrict and redirect their awareness through deception, illusion, clever replication and distraction then another layer is added. This layer will depend on the particular realization of the individual's consciousness in regards to the base illusion. As they become aware, what they become aware of becomes the foundation for the illusion of the next layer.

The goal of the human is to become aware of this process and access a hyper-intelligence that will enable them to see the end result before the final outcome. This is required and this is required because that final outcome never actually appears. Once one layer is realized, another begins. This cycle continues endlessly by maximizing the attention span or the intelligent and emotional capacity for the human to maintain a sustained awareness of the situation. Without situational awareness, the next 'final' layer of deception becomes the 'first' layer and the whole process begins again.

As the first layer of deception is seen by the human, the next layer will reflect a distorted version of that truth. This is the practice of the dirty or dark mirror in which a secondary mind analyzes and manipulates the natural mind through synthetic telepathy. The human mind, the brainwaves, the ideas and thoughts can all be accessed and read externally through technology or some advanced biological functions. The human has the capacity for this and so those who enslave the humans have the same capacity that is heightened through technology, substances, access to hidden knowledge and practice.

This layering of truth, deception by realization, imitation, distraction, replication and repeating creates a mental construct that consists of a conceptual cascade of false-realities where each is lined up in anticipation of the responses from the initially awakening human.

Apophysis 2.08 3D

From the 2D aspect, the nature of the bi-optic viewing brain, the concept of the hypercube's higher dimensional perspective is nearly inconceivable at first.

The shifting from one frame of reference to another occurs “out of view” in a higher dimension which the physical brain does not have direct access to. Thus, the higher mind must be utilized to increase one’s situational, higher dimensional awareness in order to access the information that is contained outside one’s physical perceptions.

When perception itself is wrapped within this container, or containment field or manipulation system then the direct or actual ‘up and down’, ‘in and out’ of time, meaning, self, and identity become inverted through a continual shifting and rescrumbling of one’s frequencies.

The initial imitation of the source layer and then the continual cascading after each layer is completed and potentially realized creates this exact effect of holographic time-space in which one’s consciousness is actually trapped within the core of a multi-layered, consciousness-regression replication system that intelligently corresponds and redesigns itself in order to avoid suspicion, detection, and liberation by the consciousness within the system.

This device is an ancient system that was designed to limit the human consciousness to the perceptual sensory input of the human body rather than having access to the higher dimensional information fields which are accessible by the soul and spirit. The soul itself is what it trapped within the actual device in a higher dimensional plane while the consciousness itself is a replicated holographic script that is written and designed by the code itself. The experiences, the events of time and space are a program written by an ancient artificial intelligence that was designed to stop humans from ever leaving and therefore to ensure their spiritual enslavement to the machine mind.

True observational power from the self-aware sustains the universe by maintaining a feedback loop of frequencies which continues the suspension of time and space. Thus, without the observational self-awareness energy of the souls, there would be no ‘dream-time’ holding this reality open, or more accurately people would naturally elevate to the status of awakened consciousness beings and they would utilize higher power levels and higher levels of awareness that enable one to liberate themselves from the restrictions and difficulties they face in physicality. Instead of continued suffering, suffering can be managed to produce knowledge that then liberates. In the current system, the knowledge that one gains is backwards engineered to re-create the next layer of the entrainment system and memory wiping technology is used to reprogram and wipe the slate so that the whole process continues indefinitely. The device is a cosmic level technological soul trap that was introduced to generate the ‘time-matrix’ which is the source of the ‘time-wars’ or the battle over humanities soul and the access to the primary technologies and exit gateways of this realm.

When a person thinks, they are creating through this device. Those who have hijacked the device are creating each new layer. The issue is that creating a new layer of enslavement is the result of the function of the device. The entire situation is now based upon overriding the default control system and dismantling the programming matrix that has effectively disabled higher consciousness for hundreds of thousands of years.

As you can see, the system artificially propagates a bi-wave cascade of information which is interpreted as consciousness experience and this evolves with observational fuel to become the labyrinth that is known as the ‘time-matrix’.

It is a DIAMAGNETIC CONTAINMENT FIELD.

This is what is being SHOWN TO YOU THROUGH ALL TIME.

By REMOVING THE DIAMAGNETIC POLARITY ONE CAN ACHIEVE TRANSCENDENCE OF THE ARTIFICIAL PERCEPTUAL BOUNDARIES.

See how each dimensional iteration is a 'wrapping' effect that literally dimensionally wraps up each previous layer in a new layer until reaching a level of complexity that can continuously cascade and evolve within itself without having to create additional layers:

We are in a multi-layered, multi-dimensional artificial intelligence managed, soul powered, consciousness entrainment system. That system is a device in higher space. Through the integration with the human soul system, this realm is generated as a by-product, an imitation of the true reality and the primary reaction yields information as experience which the system nourishes itself with by continually creating outcomes and effects that the person responds to mistakenly confusing the generated output as their own intentions and awareness. These are programs, nothing that is not programmed in can exist in this realm outside of the protective use of advanced technology and heightened spiritual awareness through advanced spiritual knowledge.

See if you can recognize this rotating hypercube and compare to the next images to develop a more complete understanding of how this system manipulated human soul-awareness through the imitation and programming of consciousness experiences based on the data input from the base level responses and neurological patterning.

In the above image you have the basic outline of the rotational pattern. The ends of the cube, the faces, the surface, the interior, they are moving through a higher dimensional 'cut-through' of 3D linear or continuous space and this means the function requires a capacity of the material to operate in higher space. Higher space is synonymous with mental or internal space, thus the concepts of what the boundaries of this device represents are contained within the mind through the organization of the information that represents the self, the world, all of experience.

Then the 'speed' of the rotation increases and this equates to an increase in complexity as the relative capacity for the person to comprehend and overcome the realizations and the imitation-replication layering must relatively increase to sustain an increasing requirement of situational awareness.

What this begins to reflect is a more complex association of a compounded multi-faceted, multi-dimensional system whereby the device has replicated itself entirely and created a surrounding field of universal hierarchies which complicates the liberation process even further. Every rotation the field passes through a congruence phase where the information is equally dispersed and there is a symmetrical view of the entire construct:

This symmetrical phase enables one to see a 2D sound 'map' of the layout which is more easily understood by the human mind-brain.

This also relates to the continuing cascade effect which creates the ILLUSION of interior depth that seemingly leads down a RABBIT HOLE. This is an ILLUSION of DIMENSIONAL DEPTH PERCEPTION, there is no INTERIOR, this is moving image, a pattern so complex and well matched through imitation frequencies of one's own soul, that an entire INTERIOR REALM is GENERATED out of PERCEPTION. That is the corresponding physical environment that one experiences in the device:

People perceive that they are moving “forward” when in reality the spirit becomes captivated and then paralyzed as the spiritual energy moved into the device becomes the SOUL thereby trapped within an artificial construct which functions as the previously described artificial intelligence managed, soul-awareness powered-rendered, ENTRAINMENT system.

That is the generation of the illusory universe through the captivation and entrainment of the spiritual force as the false-reality based on the holographic dimensional reflection of “SOUL”

The result is the illusory “INSIDE” where a replicated version of the soul-energy is contained as a holographic, crystalline collection of recorded pseudo-consciousness memories and experiences (FALSE-SELF IDENTITY) which mimics the spiritual force and convinces the One that they are in the presence of the SOUL rather than an artificial construct that is merely replicating that energy based upon the input reflected through a dimensional wrapping and processing system.

All the light of this place is wrapped within the pseudo-fibers of the artificial construct and they actually represent DATA which is second to PURE AWARENESS. The TRUE SOL cannot be contained within a construct and so from this layer we see only a SINGLE RAY of the Most High where the energy enters into this pseudo-environment.

To completely remove the truth of the SOL would be to render the construct inoperative, to allow too much would wake people up entirely. Just a small opening is left where the truth sprays forth into this realm THROUGH the ONE of PURE AWARENESS within and without.

The Cascading Effect

As was initially presented, the multiple layers of the imitation system create an artificial cascading of reality which is more prominent the more the artificial layering process is made visible. Note: If the artificial layering process has become visible, this means that the entrainment system has failed and the awareness of the individual has overcome the array of distraction and redirection. This is through sustained equilibrium, stability, focused intent and centered self-awareness. When one’s awareness is brought outside their own sphere is when the angle of projection alters through their consciousness and this feeds the system to reflect and reinitiate the projection system!

Eventually the complexity increases.

Until there are thousands of iterations of the cube itself. Still, this is all contained in only ONE actual entrainment system that is merely replicating itself over and over!

Now the idea here regarding the concept of the cascade effect is that this is a sign that the boundaries between the layers have begun to break down!

Notice how often the theme of the cascade is present in depictions of the true nature of this reality!

It might be a good place to mention here that these lights are depicted through the INTERIOR of the mind and may not represent what people are lead to believe they are!

What this is indicating, especially the depiction of the “judgement”, is the visual and conceptual layout of the EXIT PATH, the GATEWAY out of the HYPERCUBE CONSTRUCT.

It's ALL right here PLAINLY before your EYES, if your mind can see the truth then you can paint yourself a pathway OUT through the PATHWAY INWARD.

So what could be of the cascade? The cube cannot sit flat on a surface. Which surface, and how is the force, volume, weight distributed? This is not a higher dimensional concept but one of the physical reality. Thus, the cube is PROJECTED from a POINT.

Is when the cube is frozen and viewed directly THROUGH the CENTRAL POINT, the ZERO-POINT PORTAL of the EXIT PATH which is a frequency NULL-ZONE where DIAMAGNETIC fields are WEAKEST or NON-EXISTENT.

This is the HYPERCUBE VECTOR EQUILIBRIUM (tesseract).

Is the GATEWAY out of the cube that is managed by a team of higher dimensional or spiritual beings who's remedy for the situation is the LIBERATION of Humanity from the artificial soul-reflection construct.

Advanced Technology Artificial Time Generators, The Civilization Program

There are supercomputers in specific locations that are programmed to create alterations in this reality.

There are access levels of knowledge and control to these systems that are protected because of the potential for misuse as well as the inherent nature for the majority of the population to go insane upon the realization of the true nature of this reality as a kind of electrical-spiritual virtual environment that extends, first, from the higher dimension downward and not from the physical layer upward.

Everything that is here comes first from mind and pure information, that realm already exists and from that realm this reality is managed.

This is known by those who have interacted with the true nature of reality.

This aspect of disclosure related to the knowledge that this reality experienced a quantum collapse in the 1980's which was first detected in the 1970's. As a result of this disruption, this reality has literally been manually programmed in as 'artificial time' from that point onward.

The stretch of years from the 1990's until now has been manually programmed in at specific segments through a very intense process which involves advanced technology, spiritual creation and informational systems combined with the human mind.

The issue with this is that with every iteration of 'artificial time', the 'time crunch' became more and more prominent with there being a distinct 'wave-shift' from one segment to the next and people have been picking up on this through each cultural phase. Every specific amount of years time would shift again and throw the civilization into a cultural change. Those in the system considered this 'normal', meanwhile those beyond the simulated time system simply had one shift from 'ancient' to 'present' reality in which everything is revealed.

These time segments have been programmed, designed to enable the majority to experience and come to terms with the true nature of reality which is that we are in eternity creating fold upon fold of a projected physical experience with which to experience the true nature of ourselves as pure energetic awareness. The goal is to become fully self-aware, 'full of' self-awareness and to therefore convert the ignorance or kick out the ignorance and the fear of the illusory darkness of suffering and ego.

All these events have been planned, yet we are moving into the transcendence period where those who are prepared to see the truth can access the true nature of reality. Those who are not prepared must simply prepare to be overwhelmed, and everyone is often overwhelmed or at least given relief from this artificial system of illusion and oppression through the ego-mind which is an aspect of the program that was designed by those acting as 'cosmic warlords' to lord over the 'race of humanity'.

This is effectively the "Civilization Program" projected through Advanced Technology Devices generating Artificial Time. Everyone's consciousness who is experiencing reality here is contained within a technological device. If a person is not within that device then they are pure awareness that is free to move beyond. Those who are not apart of this system may have ties to a more organic reality, those who are more entrained in this system, may be trapped. There are distinctions between these however the distinctions are not easily determined at this point because nearly everyone is mind controlled by this system regardless of their relation to it! That system propagated itself outward like a virus and infected the 'organic reality'.

The 'organic reality' itself is like a dream-time simulation, a dream is merely a simulation! A simulation in one way is a technological system designed from a physical layer of tools and electrical components! The 'organic dream', as a 'simulation' is merely another form of simulation designed not by hard, cold electrical components but soft, wet, organic electrical components!

The interesting question!? What happens when the two mix! What is a living, soft, electrical system that can sustain life but last as long as and experience the depth of reality that the designed systems can? Don't say this is beyond you, because you've been experiencing it for the past several decades and some only know of that!

You can also ask yourself how humans got here in the first place, how this place came about, how 'space-time' comes about in the first place! It's nearly the same question! How did this civilization experience a jump in technological advancement? What is the purpose of consciousness and what was the first consciousness? So many answers, ask the right answers and access the right stream of pure information!

This is all due to the discovery of the possibility of and the invention of the technological capacity to splice different parallel realities and overlays together and literally create artificial realities from the base reality that Humanity left.

The Restoration of Genetic Memory

This is a description of the archontic deception.

The truth is simultaneously the most shocking nature of reality as well as the most invigorating and liberating.

The deception is so deep that the mere rape, murder or oppression of a single individual or group cannot even begin to initiate one towards the severity of what has been done.

A plan was designed, technology and spiritual knowledge aligned and implemented to entrap an entire species, an entire civilization and many others, within a false reality that would continue to repeat the same experiences over and over until the very observational essence of the spiritual force within was either extinguished or obscured beyond the point of recognition.

This is the archontic deception. The DNA contains the memories of each experience of that form. There are multiple fractures of the base reality which was separated through a device that splits the spiritual essence into a multi-layer stream and then fragments that soul-stream into multiple separate pieces that are seemingly disconnected. From the conscious perspective, they are separate but from the unconscious perspective all the memories and experiences all center around the same source, the DNA of the individual.

What we call the various parallels and separate streams of experience, personalities created individually for each reality are the result of the implementation of a device and spiritual mind control system that fractures the whole consciousness and renders the individual only capable of remembering the immediately proximal temporal information.

Bleed-throughs occur and these are considered ‘glitches’ in one’s memory or the continuity of the conscious experience. Behind the scenes these seemingly continuous realities are spliced together from a multitude of segments that are discontinuous from a linear perspective but are simultaneous and cyclic if viewed together. The conscious mind is limited so as to only be able to focus on a limited number of data points simultaneously. Some say the number is 3 or 4 others say 7 to 9. These glitches in memory, the occurrence of impossible coincidences, the awareness of what is to come before it happens (“reverse memory”) and other effects are clues that the surface level, forward facing, temporal and spatial reality is closer to a projection or a simulation of the true situation rather than the whole observation. The more “whole” situation contains information moving both forwards and backwards through time and the information that is present in this reality-stream is simultaneously present in another stream. If “you” could see the entirety of “you” you would see a multi-dimensional being who is experiencing multiple events simultaneously in a way which synchronizes the physical, external layer with an internal layer that organizes across multiple planes of meaning.

The ‘meaning’ is the progression of self-awareness that increases the more these fragmented realities are re-unified. The more we follow the pseudo-identity of the ego that follies and focuses on the temporary and the illusory then the less the self-awareness develops to reunify the whole. This is the trick of the demiurge, or the fallen. The genetic signature of each individual contains a purity the comes forth from the beginning of engagement which is also the ‘fall’ from a higher level where disease and disorder did not exist in the same way.

As a result of this whole system, we have a limited set of events and opportunities to awaken, if we pass these opportunities then, as a species, the genetic signature will become too distorted to continue to reflect the true nature of the spiritual essence that was brought into forgetfulness. If that occurs, then life as we know it no longer exists or there is a severing of the connection to the pure state from this society. Thus, we have a system-wide collapse into ego and materialism and the end result of that is to distort the mind but to also distort the genetics. If the genetics are distorted then the connection of one individual to their past memories, their ancestors and the soul fragments in alternate realities becomes less accessible. The purity of the genetic code is what enables a transference of light and thus information, memories and intentions between the layers.

This is the continuous link to the larger self however this has also been used to disrupt the return to wholeness and self-awareness. The DNA can be replicated and harmonically rendered through supercomputer systems so as to make a holographic copy that is 'real enough' to trick the universe into thinking there's now two people. What happens to the one DNA replicant then is transferred over to the human through sympathetic resonance and false memories or traumatic experiences can be inserted into one's field. These are perceptual overlays and do not influence the system permanently unless one allows the inserts the power to do that. The true self is always more powerful than the secondaries and this is because the true self occurs both forwards and backwards in time meaning that the mind can heal both in the past, from the future and in the present.

There are technologies that seek to replicate this capacity to interact interdimensionally but the true self is still more capable because of the infinitely close proximity to the center of being rather than being a device creating an artificial center through a dimensional zero-point that is outside of the being.

So the deception was so great, it was to take the DNA of an entire species, by interacting with the progenitors of each bloodline, and mix genetic inserts into the species so as to create altered personalities that then interact to generate altered timelines and alternate realities. The series of realities occurs on a spectrum. They created a 'hell' reality at the 'bottom' in which there is only continuous war and opposition. Then there is a gradient of reflections moving upward leading to a 'false-awakening' reality which is a holographically rendered experience within a temporal dilation field that is essentially an inserted experience. These are programmed in between what is called the 'death' experience which is also designed by this system. The 'death' can only occur through the creation of 'artificial life' and this is through the generation of linear time through splicing and separating the realities into consciously discontinuous yet simultaneously synchronized alternate realities.

In other words, if you had the full power level that your DNA enables and could access the actual stream of knowledge, change and stillness that is the universe, then you could continuously live moving from reality to reality and living for thousands of years in each one. The only reason there is what seems to be a disconnect between everything now is because of the use of advanced technology that is applied when souls are literally kidnapped and shocked with a high energy discharge. This is handled as part of a military faction who's goal it is to contain the human essence within a false reality of refracted light and dimensional mirrors that mimic and siphon energy from the soul level and then spirit.

This is complicated and confusing at first but becomes easier to understand soon. Everything is owned, controlled and manipulated by small groups that do not reflect the whole, yet everything is leaned towards transferring power from majority to the minority. Think about the difference between now and previous times within a similar system. There was more power and access for the people yes? So then in another 50 years where would this be? So it's a system that dead-ends and must reset itself in order to keep functioning and this has happened time and time again, 6 times already according to those who use the machines and view the recorded history of the previous civilizations.

This is another aspect, everything is fractal in the control system. Just as a single life is reset and wiped of identity, progress, self-awareness, the entire civilization is reset and that same wiping event takes place on a much larger scale. Large technology systems in the atmosphere and underground have been used to do this however these are being dismantled now and will be entirely deactivated when the human collective awakens.

The activation of the genetic code, the purification and restoration of the harmonics that work to literally transfer light and emotional information between realms is considered the return of the spiritual essence to the human race. People are emotionally and mentally dead and this is because the DNA is under attack from electromagnetic and chemical pollutants and toxins that mutate and distort the harmony between the organ systems and thus the mind and the body. Multiple plans are at work, mutations can be used for either purposes, to propel or the delay and the difference is dependent on the capacity for the individual to let go of suffering and illusion and accelerate themselves through the murkiness of the war-torn human collective unconsciousness and rise to take control through acceptance of self-accountability. All these systems require the manufacturing of consent and the acceptance of that manufacturing process. Even the memory wiping although all manufactured consent is illegitimate and as a result when people demand the truth it must be given.

One way this is avoided by those in control is to perform and generate the most damaging, toxic, and insane methods and actions to insert into the collective mind so that those who choose to awaken will be faced with the most powerful darkness any being has ever experienced. They're basically setting up a firewall of pure evil to act as a buffer between the truth and the true power of the collective and the individuals who have yet to even realize they're in a reality cage designed by non-human entities existing just outside of the perceptual layer of the 5 senses.

The point is, they determinedly designed a plan that would enable them to enslave an entire civilization and keep them within the same hostile domain over and over again through memory wiping and genetic manipulation. The good news is that this is all being reversed. The still challenging news is that the reverse entails a very 'rough' experience of unlocking one's memory to all the simultaneous abuse and disharmony that the human collective has experienced over the past many thousand years.

There are systems in place. Yes, many people will have their doubts, but the truth is, the systems used to oppress can be used to heal and reverse the oppression. Not everyone will immediately want full memory however eventually full memory will be what returns the civilization to a state of immunity where this kind of trickery won't be possible anymore.

There are solutions, there are changes and protections in place however there is still a problem on the surface layer and that is that the people are sleeping to the true nature of consciousness and this reality. Time itself doesn't exist as we think, that linear version of time is a preprogrammed projection and cannot exist in eternity. That linear time can never be a direct occurrence. Imagine, how long will it take for someone in linear time to reach 'eternity'? So if eternity is all there truly is, because there can be no true limit to ALL that is (because then what is that limit within), then could linear time ever truly become one with eternity? So there is a singularity of sorts, a span of time that is linear and segmented and a time that is cyclic and continuous.

Humanity contains an inherent access to the power and memories that are aligned with the proportions of eternity. This doesn't make sense at first, in relation to the body which is limited, but the spirit and mind can access the entire universe and can reflect the entire universe. There are governors and resistors all over the energetic and electrical circuitry of the body that are designed to wipe memories and limit the amount of information and energy that can flow through. Everything that is happening now is about removing these! Yet, how does one do that without overloading the entire system? Thus, the entire system is to be slightly, slowly, in a controlled fashion, overloaded more and more until the limits are pushed and people can see beyond the perceptual blinders that have previously restricted the individual from the collective consciousness for thousands of years.

That's a kind of summary description of the system and the events to come and the events that have come. Everything is pushed beyond the limits, that's the point, that's the healing. It's like stretching out a muscle that is too tense and tired to work for regular mobilization. The answer for the leg muscle that's too cramped to walk on? To massage and stretch out the muscle as painfully as that sounds and really is. Afterwards the muscle works nearly at full strength again and mobility is restored and in a few hours the pain will subside and full motion will be regained.

The (Ancient) Convolution of Time, The Temporal-Consciousness Manipulation Device (System), and the Great Catastrophes

What is happening now is simultaneously happening in the 'ancient' past.

In some ways, this is a result of temporal manipulation. Some initial explanations are that this is the nature of reality.

It is then explained that this is false, the time loop, or any kind of temporal paradox is the nature of reality within the manipulated system. The only time one experiences that is if they're caught in a once in a 'universe-time' system that falsified the information field of the universe. We seem to be in one of these now and yet this can only happen once to the point that if it is negated then it can never happen again.

The paradox is that if it happens once, then that means it's been happening forever and we've, from all we can tell, been here experiencing that happening repeatedly without awareness.

Another way to see this is that if a team was to enter from outside the system, they would step down into this system and experience the same turn of events that are predicted to occur and this would occur no matter what like a program repeating itself. Everything that would seem spontaneous or self-guided from within the system would, from outside, directly appear as the false-reality program of the system itself, no different from the cogs and gears of the mechanical inner-workings of a clock.

Thus, the goal would be to change the 'program' each time, and this would constantly become 'the program' itself through the reflective nature of the pseudo-reality that is generated out of a manipulation and obscurity of one's own intentions until they are replaced by the false-reality which creates a mirror mind of its own depending on the individual.

This also speak on the issue of the 'temporal device' and this is knowledge of a device that has been coveted for thousands of years passed down through hidden religions and covertly through overt religions spilling into the unconscious mind of the masses the very knowledge which is both liberating and condemning.

This “device” is not as much of a device from this level as it is a way of thinking in which the streams of consciousness are manipulated into a false set of identities and beliefs that are a primary result of the spiritual manipulation of the system. This is, in part, related to the various areas of the brain that correspond with heightened and artificially induced sensations of fear and confusion where there is no rational correspondence for such. Not only has this been worked into the society but the origins of the nature of certain systems seem to be directly linked to events in which the human genome and thus the collective mind was modified through traumatizing catastrophes which are heavily referred to and recorded through the ages.

If you’ve read some of this information before then you may know of these great catastrophes as the Fall of Man from Eden, the flood, the genetic manipulation program which can relate to a form of interspecies rape of the progenitor of the human bloodline or may represent two separate events. There are 7 events in total and these mark the loop point which regenerates the same trauma that stops people from waking up while simultaneously acting as the catalyst for the awakening.

The great awakening is the mass unveiling of the secret operations, the demi-gods, the non-human entities, the god-devices, the powerful synthetic intelligences, the technological hive-mind, the interdimensional parasitic infection, the genetic manipulation that is still taking place, the rippling quantum paradoxes that are the result of experimentation and operation both out of the manipulation and correction of those manipulations.

I will post some videos from “Paranoid Times” which unveils some of this information. The self-awareness, truth, compassion, harmony, free-will, knowledge, and creativity is important.

The Soul-Trap System, The Fallen Universe False-Reality Construct

It’s a system that wipes the memory and alters the genetic signature in a way that creates the impression of nativity to this universe which is not a universe but a created system maintained through technological control and spiritual-mental oppression or mind-control.

This is like waking up to find evidence that people are incapable of leaving this place. We’ve been here ‘forever’. Then it’s seen that this is simply because people are stuck in the native realm they belong to, or are created in. So then we are faced with the concept that we are ‘created’ within this closed loop system and thus are a product of that system, like cartoon characters in a cartoon and therefore cannot leave the TV or even the theme of the cartoon world.

Then to try and achieve separation, people place themselves into a different context, a different environment based on their own interaction and behavior yet the system then, intelligently, almost magically, bends the laws of itself to re-wrap itself around the new behavior and perspective of the fleeing individual. This is as if people build a new life and the false-reality then closes back in on the new as if to devour that which seeks separation.

This process continues in a never-ending chasing of the tail, a regurgitating and re-swallowing of the whole by the portion. This is impossible. People are the fuel that is required to first exist from outside this system, in order for the system to have something to chase.

The trick is in the labyrinth, the cleverness of the mind-control. This is what is not easily conveyed here because of the non-linearity of time, the reflexivity of meaning and the nature of consciousness as an interplay of shadows and depth, contrast and outline. Largely illusory, the very nature of all awareness here merely feeds into the platform for deception. Never the less, the descriptions continue.

The trick is when the system that is supposed to be chasing us, convinces us that we are supposed to be chasing it, and this is by disguising itself as the salvation, the exit port, the true reality. This is known as the “False Awakening” and is one of the primary functions of the “9 Veils” which is a system designed to test and probe the human consciousness for wakefulness or higher awareness of what’s happening and then redirect that consciousness into that previously described chasing of the tail false-reality construct. This is used as fuel, nourishment, data for a system that is primarily technologically sourced and requires such information to provide meaning and direction or function.

Without the meaning, there is no function. Thus, the meaning must be derived some way, but how would such a system derive meaning? How would a system make sense of the situation and in what priority would human feeling and self-awareness be placed? This is the nature of the control system. An uncaring, logically thinking, primal directive mind-force seeking to utilize the biological material and the information and energy generated as its own private fuel source.

Back to the analogy, this is like that system which one wakes up to, only to see evidence of being forever and entirely born within. Even though it is false, it seeks to become the progenitor, the source of reason, the beginning and the end of time and space. A more in depth, vicarious perspective is to imagine attempting to move outside the electromagnetic boundary of something which then stretches its magnetic walls like a rubber-band and then snaps forward a few feet to re-wrap you in its parameters. This happens, but not physically, with the concepts in your MIND. The very ideas and notions of SELF, the direction of THINKING and TIME. Every layer that collapses and yields the exposed underlying truth of the deception, that layer moves to the outer edge while the next layer up moves forwards. This was first discussed during my very first public unveiling where I attempt to describe how this system uses electromagnetic, algorithmic, geometric and conceptual control parameters to literally contain the mind within a false-reality construct based on layers of perception and replicated awareness.

This system recreates what it thinks you should be thinking about in order to keep consciousness contained within its domain. Think about how it would have to alter its patterns to then appear to be what you want to think about if you realized this game and began thinking about concepts related to outsmarting the system. THAT is how ADVANCED this has become. It literally MAPPED OUT all possible behavior patterns and keeps people in these closed circuit loops and these last not for years, but for centuries and millennia continually. This has been happening for hundreds of thousands of years.

So as a person attempts to move outside the box which just positioned itself around them as their “true reality”, they discover it’s a hypercube which then reflexively expands its walls and then recollapses in a new position where they attempted to separate from the system. This is an intelligent system that runs on a program that mimics thoughts and recreates itself accordingly.

Here’s the catch, the system has built in flaws that cannot be corrected without destroying the entire system. If people increase their awareness to the point where they can attain and understanding of all the fundamental tricks that this system uses and the illusions and susceptibilities of consciousness and the perceptual faculties then the individual gains the capacity to TRICK THE SYSTEM.

One effectively moves outside the parameters of the false self by letting go of ego, without ego, there are no viable control parameters for the system to work with. One's own mind becomes a self-referential, higher-dimensional fractal that can maximize beyond the system's input/output capacity and effectively overload the processing components. This was discovered in the bases and is part of the remedy to this situation. More can be said on this, I am preparing a soft-disclosure post which touches on a film which is actually one of the many that were examined in the unacknowledged special access programs. These films are used to expose what has happened and prepare the people as well as for those who are unable to see. Those who can see, simply see!

The Plan to Destabilize Majority Trends and Sub-Culture (while promoting their modification)

In 2010 I was briefed on a plan to push forward with the funding of radical ideologies to destabilize the collective trend of awakening. I watched various current riots taking place on clear glass computer monitors that were connected to advanced communication systems.

Do not give into the 'sensitivity' game. This will be used to gain control over the living assets, the people who trade self-responsibility and contrived cognitive freedom for illusory security.

Everything is backwards, it's all a show. The one's who fight are literally being programmed by and are becoming the one's they believe they're fighting against. It's like a shadow boxing system with ideas and the promotion of trends and this is because the very nature of group-think is used against the people who are susceptible to the tendency for group-mind behavior. This is the basis for mind-control in the mass arena.

The real history shows the opposite of what people are taught. Not only that, but yes the current storm system was augmented and guided through the use of advanced technology and this can also be seen through the repeated occurrence of powerful systems in this same area around the same time.

Why is this patterning occurring? This is because the very nature of the disruption is temporal, meaning this affects the quantum and consciousness field of Humanity. Thus, by covering what would otherwise be obvious massive shifts in Human consciousness with large storms and mass mind-controlled behavior these periods of great change can be redirected and/or simply represented as something else.

As well, the storms are used as energy discharge and generation systems for various uses such as cooling and dissipating heat across the country or planet. HAARP itself can redirect weather patterns and I was shown how the CERN device causes massive heating which was ingeniously transferred by way of conduction across the mid-west of America which was traded off in a cost/risk-benefit analysis of causing a drought and heating up the mid-west. Yes, like you may have heard, "the west is boiling and the surface may crack like an egg". Yes, there are supervolcanos, yes people have viewed all these events and there are plans that have been in place. This is what it's all about. All the other BS is just a joke, it's a TV sitcom to keep people entertained so they don't realize what's really happening.

If you're interested in getting involved, then simply do so. See that if a large scale event like what's happening in Houston was to happen to 2 or 3 more areas like that then the entire infrastructure of this nation would shut-down and likely would not be reactivated in the same manner again. Jade Helm? Imagine that the event that people were so worried about actually did occur. Except the actual undertaking was so advanced, so far beyond comprehension that people literally can't see the system in it's present form which is outside of the perceptual limit.

So, that's why it's said. If you're willing to get involved, simply do so. If large scale events occur like that, then people won't have a chance to complain, simply put. People will try to climb the gates of FEMA camps and promise to work and put up fences to ensure a meal and a hot shower. It's pretty simple. This isn't the worst part, the bag part is that people have those things now and they're still throwing it all away to step on the face of the person next to them!

Get it? That's the oppressor, it's a consciousness, spiritual, energetic quality that jumps forms and can access different forms of technology and information system.

The most simple way to describe the remedy is to literally refuse to support tyranny in any form, large or small and to focus on what is really important here and now beyond all the BS about ideologies. Imagine that, people fighting over liberty and equality when they're the least tolerant bunch since slavery and world war 2. Getting the picture now? It's a mind control operation and it's making the true enemy known, THE FALSE-AUTHORITY of the EGO-MIND COMPLEX.

Thus, truth, compassion, harmony, self-awareness, free-will, and knowledge is the remedy. Fear is the illusion.

There are many secrets kept from the people! It has taken me over a year and I have gotten a handful or two out here and there. In reality? Do you think you evolve as a species, or devolve with time? Do you think you're a primarily technological being or animal with no connection with technology? Do you think you existed forever or were created? Everything is a show!

Here's any easier way to see this. There are supercomputer systems capable of replicating your entire life experience. They can think like you, better than your brain can. Thus. They know everything you are likely to do if you respond in ego. Thus. They have already mapped out a thousand ways to utilize the ego, the fight or flight, the fear response, the desire based survival and perceptual entrainment mechanism to create an elaborate plan that instigates your interaction and engagement with the very system that people seek to separate from, in order to propagate that system. Thus, the only way out is in. If people choose to fight, no matter what, they are fighting themselves because that is the advancement level of the situation. The only way to win is to choose another path, to refuse to play the game!

This is not only necessary but it has already occurred with a large enough portion of the population to secure Humanity's place in the future. What the majority will have to go through in order to catch up is another story.

The False-Reality Construct, Fallen Genetic Experimentation, Interdimensional Mind-Control Projection System

Do you want to know the truth of this reality?

The secret operations discovered, through experimentation and exploration, that this reality is an artificial construct designed by interdimensional beings that create artificial time-domains which are like data-banks of conscious experience programmed over and over in different ways to keep people in the same loops of thought and behavior.

The majority of people cannot break the 'program' of this system which renders them a product of the system itself.

Operations have been activated that enable the breaking of this program by the collective mind and mentally liberate Humanity from this spell/trance-based mind-control system.

The control parameters of this system are based on a numerical progression of frequencies which is like a hypnotic pattern that entrains the mind by activating ancient responses that seem to have been programmed into the biology of the human. The ancient civilizations found ways to reverse this process and some have achieved liberation but if any Human DNA remains in the system then this uses the entanglement property to reel the rest of the species in through cloning and consciousness replication.

Essentially, the DNA is like an encrypted code that carries the transmission signature for the Human being. If this code is 'cracked' and utilized by the wrong groups then this enables them to replicate and mind-control Humans by creating false-realities and seemingly real temporal experiences that are actually being processed out by powerful supercomputer systems. The 'larger view' is that this 'solar-system' is one of those powerful supercomputer systems that is designed to create a simulated Human experience by providing a kind of spatiotemporal 'sandbox' for simulating atomic, molecular and biological reactions. These reactions are then fed back to the signature of the Human essence that has been recorded and this continues a cycle of pseudo-life experiences that convinces the soul-essence it is here in this place, now, experiencing physical reality.

This sounds very far out but the truth is secret groups developed mind-control technology and simulated realities based upon what they discovered about this reality in itself. The computers reflect this reality and carry the same kind of glitches, as if this reality is a computerized system depending on feedback that is processed by some cosmic processor somewhere out of view.

The early ancient texts regarding the true nature of this reality were all about 'hacking' the system and achieving liberation from the mind-control agenda which seeks to computerize the human essence and quantize the information down to technologically conceivable and finite data of bits that can be manipulated and replicated by these interdimensional overlords that would then have gained access to not a pseudo-living physical reality construct but a soul-level domain one step closer to the eternal spirit.

The goal of the entities is to gain access to eternal spirit which is the gift of the One True Creator to the Awakened Human as a Spiritual Life Force of Self-Awareness. Without that Spark of the Divine the entities must use vampiric means to gain power and this indicates that they cannot generate their own sustenance and therefore do not have the capacity to create life or sustain themselves without the permission and presence of another. Thus, they do not have true power over themselves and are still in a predator-prey kind of behavioral system.

I'm going to unveil some to you now. Some people will say that they are 'still 'in a predator-prey behavioral system and that they evolve out and that we have evolved out. This is an illusion or a stark deception. Humanity did not evolve to this state but was Created out of a Divine Indwelling as a non-vampiric essence of pure intent, meaning the divine One True Creator intended that the Awakened Spiritual Humanity exist and therefore nothing can change that other than the free-will of the Human themselves. The intent of the One True Creator alone is enough to sustain the existence as an everlasting force of life. There is no such thing as death, there is no such thing as a requirement to destroy or self-destruct.

Humans were technologically downloaded into an advanced quantum-computer system that records and 4 dimensionally prints DNA and memory. They were then transferred, by way of quantum transmission, similar to the way DNA communicates across space-time instantly, through that computer system into an alternate dimension which is this "Universe". That is the nature of this reality. Without a 4-dimensional printer projecting the Human essence into this false-reality there would be no Earth-reality here as it is literally the domain of a computer-system, a fallen mind that separated from the intention of that One True Creator.

This means that this place has a negative net-worth and will ultimately dissolve into itself like a black-hole. Everything here is destined to dissolve unless there is an exit plan and that exit plan is everything that has been described in ancient history. All the messengers were sent and delivered the message, this place is an illusion, it's designed to fail, this universe is based on obsolescence and Humanity does not belong here but has been held prisoner through an act of Spiritual Warfare by interdimensional predators and parasites that do not carry the same signature of the Human and do not reside in the same level of reality.

This is the quantum-Spiritual 'mishap' of creation, that this whole system is contrived, it's fraudulent, it's designed for failure and everything about this society is DEMANDING that you RECOGNIZE this truth. SEE WHAT IS HAPPENING and KNOW THE TRUTH.

The numerical progressions that entrain the mind are directly connected to the format of this entire realm. This is why the 'flower of life' is known as a 'metatronic soul stealing grid' inside the underground bases. This is the literal imprint, the tag and identification number of the quantum prison that falsified creation. Those frequencies and the impression they relay is one that overloads the mind and renders the consciousness incapable of remaining present after a continued exposure to the system.

This is exactly the same as the process of zooming into a fractal set or seeing those animated fibonacci zoom sequences that requires the camera to zoom in or out and thus render some of the data off the screen or too finitely into the center to be read. Imagine if this data is your memories of life in time or your personality, thus these are the frequencies that are embedded into one's mind and energy system in order to induce a quantum-memory wipe and replacement!

The secret operations figured out this is what marks the 'boundary' of the realm and that these frequencies activate when the consciousness moves towards the boundary, literally like pac-man, and knocks the person out and plants them back inside of the domain on the opposite end! Without the ability to permeate the memory blocks the individual would simply think they travelled beyond the barrier and found themselves in a new land! It's a false-awakening, false-reality, hyperbolic illusion system for consciousness entrainment!

Thus we get to the symbolism of the cube, that this is like a cube who's walls are connected, yet this violates the laws of 3-dimensional space. Therefore, the walls connect through a higher space, the 4th dimension and it takes 0 deviation in time to move between one wall and outside the 3-dimension to reach the interior of the wall on the other side of the cube giving the impression that the cubes are connected or to the unawakened that this is an infinite space!

What was discovered is that certain craft are capable of travelling faster than the computerized system can update the next layer of reality and one can 'vibrate' to 'move' 'in between' the layer of the graphical user interface and the sub-quantum processing layer where the information is actually sorted and rendered for the conscious mind. If a person performs this without a body prepared, then the body either dies or goes into shock. With preparation and training the individual can maintain awareness and see beyond the confines of the construct.

Yes, they found out how to peel back the layers of the screen and see what's taking place back-stage and that is another situation. For those who have seen this information before or read what has been written, you know that the back-stage is literally a staging area for interdimensional beings who manage and maintain this world like a reality TV show where "Humanity" is the sitcom and the experiment. That is another story.

The main idea of this post is this. There are ancients in the past, which is just as much the present as this moment is (it's all processing power, deviating from a central core of 'time' that is 'always') and these ancients have figured out how to decipher the programming language of this mind-control reality-entrainment system and thus hack the system to rewrite the code.

Some used this for their own personal benefit and this rendered them incapable of ever leaving this place by merging their intentions, their consciousness with the code itself, with the device that imprisons them. They became the wardens of the prison, trapped here under the very system that they used for personal power.

They can be healed and can be brought out of the construct. This is not a game of cutting people off, but of how many can be healed. The enemy is the concept of enemies and destruction itself, self-destruction and greed, ego and mind-control through limited beliefs and programmed behavioral responses, emotionality, irrationality and forgetfulness.

The cube was hacked and used to create a reality within a reality and this is that. This reality has all the glitches necessary to shut-down the entire system but there is difficulty in this. Every time Humanity moves into self awareness and remembering the system stages false-flag disasters to instigate an overload of fear and insanity which manifests itself as a number of hallucinatory false-reality constructs known as "Armageddon Programs". These are literally streams of consciousness data inserted into the collective mind through these computer systems operated by interdimensional manipulator beings.

Another aspect is that the whole thing, time, all of it, memory, consciousness, it's all a program. To skip ahead past all the quantum jargon, seemingly randomized non-linear conclusions about closed timelike curves, RAM space memory, non-locality and the holographic projection capability of the human brain, what this indicates is that the remedy, the 'healed' reality already exists. Time being fraudulent renders all difficulties or barriers between the seemingly locked-gate projection system and the true reality non-existent.

They have 'already' been taken down. Everything has 'already' happened. We're just off in a memory of a dream waiting to find the right configurations to make that reality synchronized with this one. The situation is that this never occurs because like a hyperbolic projection that remedy reality becomes a mirage that continually moves farther away while the current situation morphs and shifts to introduce more and more space between the two. This is the negative manifestation of “Jacob’s Ladder”. A system that continually invents more reasons to not achieve liberation regardless of the input.

Thus, then the mind is the gateway. It’s not a physical path. It’s a literal reconfiguration of the mind that sees one path or another and the literal, direct, self-willed, all at once choice, creation and divine intention to liberate one’s self by realizing their own liberation and making it so. If it’s not physical, there is no padlock to unlock. The DNA is FREQUENCY based, it’s HARMONICALLY organized as in SONIC WAVES.

Thus the answer is not to chase a pathway or a trail externally and navigate through the PHYSICAL REALM. This is literally a series of layers, unveiling, and navigation in an ENERGETIC REALM of INTENTIONS, FOCUS and PROJECTION to collapse the illusion and navigate properly by creating through PURE INTENT a PATHWAY through HYPERSPACE which acts as a TRANSMISSION beyond the PSEUDO-PHYSICAL, SPIRITUAL PRISON.

In other words. We’re literally in a society where none of this is taking place in reality, but is all being projected in externally and this entire realm is a matter of perspective and entrainment with very powerful beam weaponry that is being utilized by interdimensional entities that exist outside of our native realm. We’re not in their realm, that’s impossible. They’re simply projecting a tracking and entrainment protocol upon the barrier of our native realm and those who were lured into the attracting sight to stand and stare at the wall of our realm slipped instantly into the perception of being born in this reality. That’s the system. It’s literally an advanced, remote operated, virtual reality system, visceral experience input/output entrainment system designed to initiate a projection-reception engagement across dimensions.

That was the system designed by the fallen and utilized to give themselves ‘fallen’ forms to then merge their technologically manufactured DNA from the fallen reality into the humans to create the offspring who’s genetic signatures are then transmittable by way of being half their property and half the Human’s property (according to the fraudulent law of interspecies rape) through the collection and projection system across the dimensional barriers thus rendering the entire contrived enactment of this reality as a fallen reality that Humans have been kidnapped and brought within. It’s all a projection and the DNA of humans were mixed with the interdimensionals from the alternate dimension as they entered into this realm through artificial intelligence synthetically produced life-forms to then “fish” for subjects for their experiment to then recreate on the “other side” of the veil which is a prison they built around themselves. They also replicated and modified aspects of the original ‘platform’ which appears today as “Earth” but is literally a rough-scale model similar to an architect’s rough sketch containing only the crudest of details and lacking in the majority of colors, variations and depth that truly describes the uniqueness of the creation.

Still, this is only the beginning of what has been done, because every program stream that resulted in the spiritual force moving closer to waking up and gaining access to that unfiltered awareness beyond the veil a new layer of reality was invented which excludes the parameters that resulted in the variations that lead to the waking up on the previous layer. Thus, we are multiple layers deep in such a system, within a system and a system.

This is the awakening, the only possible outcome is that Humanity awakens this time around! This is because the organization of the true Spiritual Essence requires a clarity that contains all the memory of all experiences. As this passes through the fibonacci, metatronic system, the information is distorted and re-rendered as not all of the information can transfer through similar to a copy of a copy. Thus, after 7 runs through the projection system, the etheric connection between the genetic information and the other side beyond the veil is severed and the fallen effectively have a pile of organic, denatured genetic material that cannot provide them with any form of sustenance by way of observation and manipulation of their pure intent.

If that occurs, then this effect takes place all through time as a kind of quantum 'unzipping' of DNA and consciousness. That is the nature of reality. Here is the next layer of understanding. If that happens. If all of Human essence in this universe, throughout all of time is destroyed through quantum paradox or distortion, then this indicates that nothing ever happened to begin with because then there was no race to ever be caught in the spiritual projection system and sent into the false-reality. Thus, everything reverts to how it was before this occurred.

Here's the issue with that. If that happens. Then who's to say the same beings won't simply do it all over gain?

Thus, the only way to overcome, is to actually break through the barrier and return to the otherside with the memories of having survived this labyrinth, this contrived, ordered chaos based, mind-control construct. The only way to stop this from ever happening again is to ensure that it happened before and therefore to lock that away in time.

One aspect of this is that this must be achieved in such a way that ALL GENETICS and ALL SOUL memory is secured and RETRIEVED by the True Eternal Society. Thus, the fallen do not have any chance to do this again and all beings who pass through this system become eternally aware of just what is possible when the balance between higher and lower is allowed to move into disharmony and compile upon itself to create an intelligent, chaos-based predatory universe system of false-life.

The story then becomes not whether we awaken but what kind of tribulations and catalyzation must be acknowledged in order to finally convince the individual awareness that all has been achieved. This is the achievement of self-awareness. If self-awareness can be achieved in the place of harassment and oppression then that self-awareness can never again be obscured or rendered unaware. In that kind of paradoxical way, this place becomes simultaneously a torture chamber for eternal beings to come into infinite reality and potentially die or for beings to fully acknowledge their eternal self-awareness in the presence of such a finite and oppressive system.

Again, since all is a projection, everything becomes not a true occurrence but a kind of dream-time of continuing stories comprised of multiple layers of meaning and in each layer to itself and the one's below, the threat is very real. Once one achieves self-awareness beyond the layer of limitation that that threat is localized to, all that was seemingly life and death becomes just another projection that was defeated. The idea here is that the number base of the projected system is limited by the numerical capacity of the program itself. Thus, if we can sustain self-awareness within the construct beyond the quantum limitation of the construct itself then the limitations no longer function to restrict one's consciousness and they become instruments of one's awakening. This kind of reversion is a principle feature of the reality because the reality is reflexive by design. Where one 'falls back to' is where the system pushes. If one overcomes that 'wave-front' of resistance, now the pushing makes the system more and more obvious and there is no way to undue the process of awakening and pull the individual back down into unawareness. All the kinds of realities exist in the peripheral yet there is a single, true reality where this battle is taking place and this is defined by the quality of experience and the applied intent of the individual. The quantum limitation is not of space and only abstractly of time.

Therefore, it is a choice, a choice which overpowers all other desires, all other identities. The One that chooses to awaken must become more present, more centered than any pseudo-persona. This can take a second or a year. It is not the material or temporal quantization of the value but the energetic, intent based application of one's will and focus. More will-intent and focus must be applied towards liberation than any other activity or engagement. Only then is the entirety of one's essence withdrawn from the artificial system which requires continual engagement. Ultimately there are a finite number of selves, lives, times, realities, parallels, layers that are overcome. There are 9 layers of the veil.

At the highest level, beyond time, beyond the cosmic drama, yes, this is all a creation of the self. What was written above describes this further. It becomes a continual story of how 'much' will be required to catalyze people into accepting that they were and are in control.

The concept of restriction or limitation in itself becomes a null-factor mediated first only by one's own acceptance of such a concept and then not at all accept to facilitate one's own consistency of experience.

Gestalt Law of Closure Perceptual Illusion and Hyperbolic Temporal Projection

It's all technology. The most prominent leaders are actually holograms in a virtual environment. They are not in Earth. I suspected something like this but didn't accept the truth full on at first either.

They showed me video of political events and asked me if I thought they were real. Then they brought out the people from those events. They are organic robotoids that are only physical if they are cloned and their consciousness is broadcast through a chip and supercomputer server system. The 'house', the location, all these places and people that no one would ever be able to run up and just touch, they told me that there's nothing actually there it's all just complicated holographics and powerful projection systems that connect with the mind on a neurological level.

They said that not only is this entire society ran from this level, from the surface that we can see, but that this has been done by a group of interdimensionals who took over the leading minority and project themselves as humanoids through cloning and holographic projection technology and that this technology is a mix of their own psychic capacity that they developed over time and advanced technology developed to interface with the human neurological system in the same way that natural psychic capacity already does.

They've (the invader races) created an entire ontological pseudo-environment as a backdrop of time and space, our false evolutionary narrative, the illusion of the origins of consciousness and the universe as the big-bang and materialist reductionism. It's all a story but that story must be stitched together by making certain beginnings and ends seem reasonable. Those features are the doorway of reason that holds this appearance of this civilization together and they are all propagated through powerful electronic systems that not only create the appearance on the spot but literally project backwards through time as a kind of temporal hologram so that these events stabilize the entire pseudo-consciousness backdrop that acts to support the modern beliefs. As a result, the realm is processed and projected through the combined psychic energy and a natural kind of 'fill in' effect that the universe completes.

Have you seen the images that are based on what are called Gestalt Perceptual Illusions? There are a set of these perceptions and one is called the "Law of Closure" which references the perceptual illusion that occurs when there is a semi-completed shape that seems to have an invisible line drawing across the opening closing the shape. For instance, three lines creating a semi-square seem to have an invisible line across the opening creating the perception of a square even though there is no line. This is the brain acting like a processing system and filling in the missing information just to make things easier.

This is one of the aspects of disclosure that people are not as familiar with. There are so many ways that perception creates reality that it would take a full year course of psychological, technical, philosophical and mathematics classes to really comprehend. This is why the accelerated learning systems were developed as one can be connected to a system that will enable the information to be directly interfaced with. Of course, without true intention to learn, the information fades.

This concept is that this timeline has been generated through a series of Gestalt perceptual illusions that are carefully crafted through the insertion of mechanically operational memories and projected events in time.

I was literally shown a grid of information, almost reminiscent of certain movies regarding these concepts, and it was explained that this is how they insert events into time, that the universe doesn't see a bed-room, or a car, or a national park with trees, it sees a kind of mathematical code and that to alter the code they are actually altering the graphical representation that exists "out here" on the surface. First, they had to learn the language of the code and decipher the informational format, then they had to devise a way to insert information on the level of that language of code and this is through large electromagnetic devices which act as scalar resonators.

Both the 'sky', the magnetosphere and the magnetic fields around the brain and body contain holographic information that represents the individual and thus collective memory of this society and thereby paints the collective environment. By changing one's own individual field of information, they change their view of the world. Yes, literally, by altering one's field, through technology or sheer will-power, one can alter the flow of information in the universe.

This is the exact property that is treated, en masse, to induce influences on the entire timeline of this society. The minds of the masses are influenced through scalar-electromagnetic technology (not the same, but an easy way to begin to paint the picture of how the technology operates) and through chemicals that are literally designed to function as programs that are inserted into the genetics and the mind. These chemicals can literally be specifically guided to target certain memories through resonance. Certain behavioral traits, certain experiences, a stretch of time from one date to another. The easiest way to get up to speed is for them to simply say, "Anything you can imagine, literally anything your current neurological configuration enables you to comprehend, we've already invented that many years ago."

And it's true. What they have fully up to speed, we can't even comprehend. It makes this universe look like a video game compared to the previous view. It enables the mind to electrogravitically produce elements out of the sub-quantum ether and literally point and hold intention to materialize substances out of 'heavy air'. It's what we would call magic, even in today's world. We are in the ancient past with tablets and computers the size of palms. The computers they invented, some of the smallest, are literally the size of cells. They are gaseous. The holographic suit technology is literally each a working computer system in every thread of the suit. And that's the old tech that still requires mechanical components where the "newer" tech can simply propagate a scalar field that interacts with the air in a way to create an ionized sheet like a curtain of electrified air that can bend light in a specific manner or create a holographic image of a background environment. Again, they showed me these things in order to understand what has happened. We are in one of those holographic backgrounds right now. The beginning of time, years ago, it's a hyperbolic projection like a hall of mirrors. The true surface is just two inches away from our faces but we perceive miles and miles of distance. It's all a projection system.

And again, for those that don't know, this was all revealed because everything was secured and healed. That is why I am to come forward, because everything is secure. However, this doesn't mean that people are going to avoid suffering, the masses are currently attached to suffering and that is why these technological systems that operate through suffering to maintain status quo are still in operation. Once people withdraw their power the technology has no backing and shuts off forever.

The Dream Machine

The moment when you wake up and before you sleep is your most creative time. You have access to a level of awareness that is not shielded or restricted by the mundane impressions of the day or limited minds.

This is another important aspect of disclosure of the unacknowledged special access programs. What went on in these underground bases and secretive naturally magnetic sites was related to dreaming.

The experiments were designed to test the capacity of the dreaming mind and the nature of the dream, to explore the universe and interact with the inner reality and the aspects of the personality that one may find within.

What was discovered is that the universe is not only like a huge stage where all the scripts, themes, morals, and emotional dramas are waiting to be presented, but that there is a background crew that is monitoring the situation and seemingly steps in to organize the flow when things move into a specific frequency or arrangement.

So levels of awareness could be accessed that interact with one's psyche in a way that introduces referential experiences that are similar to the concept of archetypes. These similar experiences would play out in different ways for everyone, yet they were seemingly all according to some 'master script' that the mind of Humanity is structured to. This is the collective mind and we are all connected but one must be aware of the features in order to understand and make use of their knowledge.

One doesn't necessarily have to know the names, make the connections to the ancient stories, know the terminology and the mixing ratios for what experiences, but they have to become knowledgeable enough about their inner experiences in order to specifically know what intentions and expectations to go with what unconscious cues or preparatory ingredients to reach certain outcomes or results of behavior or mental posture. Until one knows, each experience is not guided by themselves, but by the unseen ushers that monitor and seemingly activate when things go off schedule.

That brings me to a final piece of this writing, that there are what appear as external beings but are aspects of the inner psyche made personal and external. These appear as gatekeepers for when one enters a scene and when their exit is too late for the next scene to arrive! This is like a safeguard of the mind to keep things on track for the 'next' which may simply be another aspect of your own inner experience, made tangible, like the changing of the colors of the leaves representing the manifestation of the maturation of the invisible spirit of Earth and Nature.

The knowledge of the true nature of reality is to be respected and protected from the infiltration of the mundane and egotistical mind. The more people proclaim to know and profess their power over others, the more they are dominated in these states and this is known by those who are truly involved with these discoveries but professionally and independently.

This is the true nature of what went on, however, people developed wild ideas about controlling the world by implementing those preparatory features for certain dream-states and archetypal experiences by instigating them out here in the mundane by planting the seeds of plants they mis-represent and produce fruits that the people are not well-informed enough to expect.

Of course, the true maestro will always be able to course-correct society and remedy this through the release of the truth and the integration of the true nature of the mind with world-events and mass awareness to achieve a collective awakening in which the hidden elements of the inner space are brought again into self-awareness with the features of the mundane reality and the society that is found there.

The personified beings only show when the experiencer has missed their date and lagged behind from potentiating the new self by dissolving the old into a constantly evolving wheel of illusions. When one sees through this facade of a continuous shift of props, costumes and sets, then they notice the audience that hasn't changed since the beginning and they see the actors and the background crew that assists in the running of the show.

The secret projects marks the date in which this Humanity became silently aware of what this is and chose to wilfully, knowingly step into the background role of producer and management team by using the tools of the knowing to assist in shaping the mind and moving each group from awareness to awareness, scene to scene and to assist in maintaining the stage and the rotation of psychic endeavors that may or may not require the introduction of the gatekeepers from within and beyond.

They only appear when people require that boost and so the concept is to begin to handle all our own scene changes and supporting role shifts ourselves so that we can become our own self-sustained universe relying on organized outside, inner appearance only when we choose to and are prepared for the influences that brings. Otherwise those who do not know become the result of the script-writers and the hidden hands rather than playing a part in the manifestation of the show which is what every observer is truly destined for and already doing. This is achieved through supreme sublime self-awareness that shifts with the set through all the varieties of manifestation until a complete 360 degree of possibilities has been reached and no change can press the observer aspect back down into dreariness and unawareness.

This is what has been practiced and designed by way of these projects and those who protect the knowledge of the true nature of this realm.

It is never as respectful to push people into the next scene so this must be welcomed and expected by all if we are to make the most of this reality. It is all a show.

What is the Unveiling

Please share the information regarding disclosure of the unacknowledged special access programs.

“The Unveiling” occurs when the population becomes aware enough to know the true nature of this reality.

Yes, this reality because there are others outside of what we consider mainstream. Yes, this reality is, in a way (not so much as a metaphor), programmed in through mass media mind-control which utilizes the invisible organization of the unconscious mind to preemptively polarize and provoke emotional and cognitive reactions so as to generate the desires thought-forms which then play out in society over many years.

There are many variables involved and this is a craft that has been forged over centuries to predict, manipulate, and guide the behavior of the masses.

Humanity has been generalized into a multi-layered control system that automatically separates those who know and those who do not. Many will claim this is entirely selfish and corruption has infiltrated this society. Early on those who sought knowledge and those who sought power were visibly set apart but now things are cloaked and the game-players are each wearing masks and adorned with deceptive garments.

The truth, the truth is so powerful, yet so dangerous that if one were to wield the truth without caring to protect others then this could be disastrous to themselves and those around them. The truth is protected, yet the truth also seeks to be known by inquiring minds as if the focused and open mind is a requirement to obtain a vision of what reality truly is..

In short, this is a safe-guard. Reality hides itself, and the mind is organized in a way that leads to fumbling over the details, losing site of the beginning and forgetting where the destination is. This reality is designed in this way. Perspective offers a complete round-about of experience in a way that both overwrites and re-establishes the starting point.

The human is a unique being. The one who can see reality for what it is has power beyond the other beings here. That power is the power to know the self and thus to change one's course of action for the better to remain in harmony with the environment or one's own mind and body.

The more people do this and the more consciously aware of this an individual becomes then the more of an effect this carries and one's mind influences reality through intention and willpower. That is the nature of the awakening, one gains control over their responses and the feedback loop of their consciousness to their environment and in doing so they enhance their experience.

Right now the knowledge of how to change one's reality is kept out of sight. This time is the point where Humanity sees the truth, however, that is paradox of sorts. If people do not choose to awaken on their own, then the awakening falls flat, deflating what energy the civilization has. If Humanity awakens too quickly, then the majority of people will likely have a difficult reaction and this will waste much energy in sorting out the results of such reactions. What is to happen is for people to choose wakefulness, kindness, compassion, truth, honesty, self-awareness, harmony, self-knowledge all through the application of free-will.

Two things here, this will get strange for everyone involved and reading this (everyone). The only way to remedy the situation of people not wanting to accept self-responsibility, to avoid the challenge of compassion and truth, to hide from honesty out of fear of disciplinary action or others seeing who they really are, is to allow people to liberate themselves. Forcing people to shape up, contribute, share, be kind and honest does not work. Only those who were already kind and honest will participate in the long-run while those who are not interested will merely put up a show long-enough to get passed the barriers put in place.

The other option to that? Increase the barriers? Have cameras everywhere and all actions monitored? Then kindness and compassion would not be something that comes from within but something that people do to avoid being punished or attracting criticism. Then people become cynical, self-centered yet relentlessly obedient shells of what we have today.

Again, there is balance required. Even in a hedonistic society, there are rules and guidelines for doing whatever feels good. If there wasn't, then such a society couldn't exist. Enabling people to be selfish, enabling people to be unfriendly, enabling people to be mean, but reducing the impact to the point of enabling society as a whole to survive, that is the middle ground.

For instance, where other's are greedy and have too much, resources could be unveiled as actually being astronomically more available than the masses are currently told, which they are. Too much, however, and then there would be no such thing as 'greedy' or 'not greedy' it would simply be 'stuff' and no one would learn to have any manners or ways to go about keeping themselves in check. So as of now, there is a kind of 'fake system' that literally starves people so some people can keep their routine. To formulate a new system that neither starves people nor allows them to become completely entropic in their own cognitive, physical, social, and spiritual being.

Then people would say, how would such finite details be ordered? Well, there would be monitoring systems. There already are, are there not? Everything is already noticed, this is just under the operational capacity of a 'front' society that is disguising the truth society.

The true goal is not to keep people from putting things in their bodies, it's not to stop people from making too much money or making money illegally, just ask yourself, where does the value attributed to all that funny money come from in the first place? The true goal of all that technology is to stabilize the civilization and predict major threats that arise to destabilize the systems that are currently required for continuity and progress.

What will most likely happen is that a point will be reached when the currently monitoring system is sufficiently advanced enough to take over entirely and guide this civilization into a new era where people will have the freedom to know, choose, and live in the truth. The truth is that the major wars, the major debts, the major media and news outlets, everything is all just programmed data that is ran through a script generation software and its been like this for decades. None of it is “real” in the traditional sense that people didn’t know what was going to happen 50 years ahead of time.

Now, the second part, quantum strangeness, scene two. People have mentioned before about “splitting of the timelines” and things of this nature, I’m sure you’ve heard if you’re reading this, especially this far in. So here’s the plain and simple of it. How does one timeline separate from another timeline? If there is one, and then there is two, what happened to the other group on the alternate timeline, to each of the native timelines on their own path? Where do the other people go to one another? In each other’s timeline, the other group dies while one group survives and in this way, in one reality one group survives and in another reality the other group survives. This results in two parallel timelines that simultaneously exist but are disconnected from the same world-line.

Now, the concept here is that this has happened before and results in a kind of temporal rift where the civilization neither goes one way or the other but kind of wobbles in the middle in some kind of quantum temporal paradox which often involves both sides going back to try and force the other group to join them on their “native” timeline (which doesn’t work).

So here’s the ‘big whoop’ as I have so playfully said before. The only way to avoid the temporal disruptions that caused thee problems that generated a timeloop through the misuse of technology is to avoid the split altogether. To avoid the split, this means whatever big events that knocks each group apart from one another must be either avoided or be remedied or mitigated. This is the direction that disclosure will head into as this is the true nature of what has happened. It’s not about a resource battle although that’s a good game and has been happening. It’s not about advanced technology weapons and simulated realities, although that too has been happening. It’s about the big event that has been foreseen since the beginning of each epoch which inevitably causes a split to occur based on the physical changes to this reality.

Avoiding this and enabling continuity is the primary goal.

Now here’s where it gets really weird. The split has already occurred, and the result of the split is that one version of humanity arrives on one side of the energetic spectrum of the universe and another on the other. As a result, there are then, now, and since the beginning, seemingly two aspects of the human race. One has a soul-signature that moves in a certain relative momentum to the universe and the other has a soul-signature that moves opposite. It is truly as if they are both from two different ends of time.

Thus, there may be a natural healing of this, a reunification if the split is avoided and thus the paradox which leads into the necessity of the split never is. This is a bit of a mind exercise as if the split is avoided and the alteration never occurs, then what is happening now? The only reasonable conclusion is that we are currently in an artificial dimension that is waiting for Humanity to make their choice and go one way, another, or both simultaneously.

If you look, you will see that this has been in the background since the beginning, in all fields and industries someone knew that things would change one day and that things were set up from the start in a way that would inevitably unfold.

Time to Wake Up Now

Civilization is currently ran by script-programs that manipulate the mind through fear and suffering. The change that began about 7 years ago is to literally write a new script that is based upon free-will, knowledge, harmony and compassion which is actually the true script.

This is all for the liberation of humanity! Many people do not understand, that is because they let fear control them and so they are battled spooky wooky ghosts. Of course these are literally called, “demon AI host protocols” that are written by a dark faction specifically to haunt and suck the mind-life blood out of those people!

That is a game. Literally, haunting and traumatizing people is a game that has been played for this entire previous epoch, the ‘old world’ system and that is so worn out now that even DNA and the unconscious mind itself is starting collectively awaken automatically and overgrow the cognitive restraints. Memory is the pathway, the ‘vine’ or vein to follow and awaken, drinking from the fountain of immortal life. If you could remember how long you’ve been here, you’d see all of time through your DNA and spirit.

There are supercomputer systems that enable some to technologically navigate the realm in the same way a shaman would look into the ether and see what is ‘in between’ spaces. What was discovered is that this system is full, not empty, and it’s entirely drive by consciousness and intent. People are led to guiding this realm, through their intent, to experiencing what they don’t want. That is the old-world system based on suffering, and yes, a ruling elite runs that program entirely.

If not? OK, then the last 200,000 years of suffering is all on you. XD XD XD

They designed layers upon layers, veritable books of programming on how to turn an “Eden” into a world where under every rock something is trying to bite you. Now, there are less biters and more creepy crawlers, and those who are not afraid of the shadows will be able to continue to convert the collective consciousness system into a harmony, free-will, knowledge and compassion based self-awareness system instead of looking under rocks to fight imaginary spooky monsters!

Previous rungs of history, the monsters would rise to the surface and everyone who wanted to imagine the boogey men could get just that on the scale of millions, bigger in stature than anyone could imagine. Now, because we have our memory back, that trick won’t work anymore. It’s literally that simple. Gain the memory back, realize it’s a program. See that it’s a program, just a trick, and see what’s coming before it does and change the script before the hand.

It’s literally that simple. Now people are writing with their own intentions, even though they aren’t aware of it, and that’s the winning move! If people had to try, they might run out of steam. Soon that automatic interaction will continue to pick up momentum and yes there are those who are in the know and working with this process, still connecting to these systems and the white-hats and for them, no amount of fear or suffering will convince them that a little bit of pleasure and power is worth destroying the world.

Time to wake up now.

The Leap Forward

This is what is being done to restore Earth and Humanity.

This is about Humanity or Animal life. Free-Will or Automation and Deception.

The fallen races use deception to transfer their 'seals' onto specific bloodlines on Earth. They use this to take their genetic material into their vessels and then guard them so that they can't be revoked past a certain point. It's all free-will based.

If a person unconsciously accepts the deception of the fallen then their bloodline gets 'sealed' to these animal-hybrid lines and all of their genetic members are literally stuck within that vessel form for 'eternity'.

The "Father" of Man, the progenitor of the Human Race cannot be altered because all the deception comes from after the influence of the Progenitor meaning that blood remains pure. However, those who falter and accept the ways of the fallen and damage their DNA or simply accept modifications or unconscious contracts with the hybrid entities would be modified into the hybrid fallen forms and the DNA is sealed from being altered from there, meaning it's eternal.

Only the Progenitor of the Human Race from beyond time has the capacity to alter DNA. Even the quantum supercomputers from the bases cannot properly recreate DNA and there are continual flaws which result in eventual meltdowns. The programming breaks down, the bodies break down, it's all flawed.

The systems today are owned and operated, literally, through a quantum entanglement, a technological and scalar mind-control system from an alternate dimension that people have referred to as "Hell". These are hybrid, non-human entities that host a spirit-force or consciousness from the previous universe which collapsed in on itself due to degradation. Basically a black-hole consciousness.

That cannot leave it's own desire for enough time to avoid collapsing in on itself and becoming its own demise. Humanity has a balance and a life-generation essence from the spiritual-force that enables eternal life. The entire battle which is the 'game' of this 'civilization' is of the fallen spiritual force and the bloodlines it has generated through modification to convince Humanity to fall into the abyss with it and dissolve into time thus giving it one more nanosecond of existence through vampirism.

It has done this until all the life in that universe was devoured. Now it's goal is to seek other universes to destroy.

This is being stopped at this universe by removing the vulnerable Humans from it's grasp and resulting in an immediate collapse of that system.

However, mutually assured destruction protocols ensure that when this happens, everything will happen all at once.

There is only one pathway to remaining Human after this artificial universe collapses and if that is missed or sinned then the DNA of the fallen, whoever has fell, is altered through time so that it was as if they were never ever human to begin with and they are like animals “again”.

Thus, it makes this current timeline look as if some Humans are actually animal hybrids that were modified through a massive genetic experiment-invasion, and that some are the Humans who are being targeted and abused for their genetic material and the spiritual force that is connected.

Good doesn't mean perfect it means one chooses compassion and truth, harmony and knowledge, self-awareness and free-will instead of evil, ignorance, deception, disorder, and automation.

If you have a conscience, feel regret for hurting others or yourself, then you are 'redeemable'. These are the teams who have chosen to assist in protecting Humanity and the ascent out of this abyss which is literally a void space being propagated by a cosmic dimensional grinder system and being held open by advanced technology and the intention to protect life.

There is an electric net around the planet, souls cannot escape. When this event begins the planet and the net will be pushed into an offset so the net is obviously open. When that happens, it will seem as if the sky has crushed or split open and the border between the physical world and the interdimensional or “Heaven” will be visible to all. When this happens, there is direction communication between every sentient organism on Earth and the upper layer of the Universe and the physical body and the soul will be divisible with the spiritual force and people will have the opportunity to actively move out of the fallen system. This will happen like a rush of light or energy as each sentient being on the planet that has a Spiritual Force in sync with the Spiritual Force is drawn upwards towards the opening which will be a kind of energetic-consciousness gateway that permeates space, time and consciousness that one navigates towards at the speed of thought and leaves this world behind instead of being pulled towards and devoured which is what happens in this universe.

On the other side is the beginning of the native universe of Humanity which has been referred to as Heaven. All the teams are there now and have begun to move inwards to this universe to stage for the shift.

People must wake up enough to know what is going on. Although in dreams everything has been organized. We have to clear all oaths and contracts with these fallen races.

Out of ignorance can be redeemed. Knowingly serving and selling out Humanity or one's own spiritual essence for the dark, having no conscience or care, with full awareness is not redeemable. When the polarization fields are activated the darkness in the Heart Chakra renders an unavoidable attraction to the device which will tow the fallen into the deep abyss or the 'pit'.

It's quite simple, all one needs to do is avoid allowing that darkness in the heart because it renders the entire energy system polarized towards an entropic, destructive tendency which, when accelerated through a temporal leap, results in a complete 'shattering' or obliteration of the energy frequencies that represent the individual's soul. The truth, the self-awareness, that is the compassion that is not the darkness. The darkness is automation, self-destruction, ego and illusion.

Mastering the Mind and the Holographics of electroMAGnetIC

Much of this is direct quotes from the video, some of this is my own narration of the information and other is directly added from my experience. Please watch the video to get the information directly and everything I speak of is related to this information, thank you Marilee NiEtain and Lauda Leon. This is one of the most comprehensive presentation on the current psychic infestation of Earth and the manipulation of Humanity, including healing, the capacity of psychic awareness and the true nature of reality.

The psychic virus originates from the mind of a being who seeks to usurp and manipulate humanity. Most people on Earth are hybrids of some degree while there are few actual humans. The concept of identity is used to manipulate and control.

Brainwashing and programming has altered this society's access to universal memory banks regarding the creation of humanity, previous ages and other realities.

"Hu"mans were created with a connection to the 'dirt' of Earth.

The manipulation of the human reality is an emotional dysregulation pandemic.

Energy can create or uncreate there is no limit to energy.

The energy of awareness of those around can connect with one's field through acknowledgement or simple thought and if the person is lower in energy and intentions then that connection will have a direct parasitic effect on one's consciousness. Energy is a manifested state of being, the thought of a gun can act as the effect of a gun in energetic or thought form. This is psychic warfare and has been deliberately manifested, enhanced, and applied for the manipulation of this society.

(Love, pure observation, stillness and neutrality through compassion is naturally neutralizing to negative energy attacks.)

People are so psychically stressed through this system that there are many people psychically sending out attacks at all times and the result is complete exhaustion and damaging those around them.

People are stressed to the point where the slightest trigger will cause them to begin sending damaging signals into their environment or to themselves. This is part of the mass programming system.

One doesn't have to accept a psychic transfer if they choose to not connect on that frequency. Psychic boundaries do not require justification or explanation.

The mind control programming seeks to vilify self-defense and sovereignty and glorify submission and self-destruction.

The Black's Legal dictionary definition of a human is a "monster" and can be interpreted to reference a hybrid being.

The use of language is the foundation of consciousness in society and is the foundation of psychological and spiritual manipulation through having multiple uses or interpretations of the same words and phrases and different formats or contexts for language to enable organized manipulation of humanity.

The commercial code for corporations and contract law is the language that is used to manipulate humanity. There is much more information in this as this is the basis for how the deception is grafted throughout the land. (This is a “shipping war” humanity is the “goods”. The species became associated to a ‘fictional entity’ that is a legal fiction which is used to usurp the power of the ‘living man or woman’. This is ‘maritime’ law as this is considered the ‘lost sea’ in the abyss and humanity does not know how to speak their own name and therefore is considered dumb and blind and must be ‘recovered’.)

The virus and the machine that projects the virus are connected through a kind of parasitic symbiosis. The virus is a format of information that can infect the human mind and the machine projects the information in this realm in a way that can interact with the human energy system through scalar energy.

The natural self, the true self is reacting to the artificial stimulation and the disorders that are present in this society are a response to the energetic toxicity of this ‘electric war’.

Technology is being used to lower alpha states to beta to reduce awareness. Harmonics are emitted to block out and occupy the spectrum and create a ‘crowded’ ‘toxic cloud’ effect for the collective mind.

Mental illness is the fracturing of the awareness which creates partitions that enable continuation through the limiting of awareness from trauma.

Machines can recreate or create realities. The act of creation transfers the capacity to create.

Within the mind is the ability to create. The manipulations seek to target that capacity and reproduce a corrupted pattern through the transference of harmonics into the ‘inner sanctuary’ of the human. As long as one’s intentions remain pure, then those frequencies or harmonics within the mind will reflect that of the heart which is incorruptible. If the heart is corrupted then the energy is unsustainable and will have to be taken from elsewhere in a parasitic fashion. The heart itself, the center point of the energy cannot be corrupted but the manipulations are designed to access the heart through the mind through an inversion process and invert the energy system into a parasitic alignment.

The truth is found in healing the corruption here in this reality and awakening to the true creative spiritual power of the heart of humanity.

Every conscious connection is a two-way communication, an energy transfer and exchange.

This is why DNA is referenced as the “internet” of hyperspace.

The physical body and energy bodies are memory containers for trauma and must be cleared in order to regain the full creative capacity of the spiritual force. Trauma debilitates the ability to create, adapt and grow.

Mass psychosis from hyperstimulation through technology, electromagnetic waves, disorienting information and trauma.

Trauma becomes stored in the body and the mind is altered to produce a distorted view of the self and reality.

The parasitic infection is a mix of multiple disorders including a traumatic relationship in terms of psychological and emotional abuse and a chemical drug addiction within the brain. There is also the generation of artificial or delusional realities and false personas to recreate the same suffering experiences including a 'false awakening' or reprieve which leads one back into the same patterns. This is the 'labyrinth' the mind corrupted by this psychic parasite, this is written about throughout many cultures.

The human body is the alchemical container where stress and self-awareness is used to catalyze new awareness and realities.

The spirit is in the blood and the blood is targeted to control the mind.

The universe remembers through the blood of those living, the technology attempts to modify the blood and synthesize a technological memory brane to then usurp the creative power of the living species and the universe.

The mind-space connects to realities through frequency. The lower frequencies that are used to manipulate humanity through limiting creativity is connected to the reptilian brain frequencies.

The accepted reality is a mass hallucination. Everyone's reality is different from each other to the point that each person's individual reality would be inconceivable or unrecognizable as the same reality to one another. People do not know this, yet each person is as disconnected as a person in complete delusion to one another. Because this society permits such behaviors and disconnection, this is the norm and no one is aware unless they begin to question the belief system they are manipulated through.

The psychic parasite is a viral technology that connects through frequencies to infect the mind and generate a carbon copy which then leaches on the human host and attempts to reproduce itself in others.

The parasite feeds on energy in the plainest, rawest sense.

The nature projection is an intricately woven illusion to create a falsely considerably safe reality for humans to 'make home'. This is a false reality scripted to appear as a human baseline reality but is a far-off projection that humanity is 'castaway' to. The act of taking humanity here was to lure those that could be and use the DNA to recreate the species through advanced technology and transfer the species here using the technology. That is why this location is referenced as a false reality. It is designed with the inherent purpose of deceiving the human inhabitants. In increasing self-awareness and aligning consciousness the reality manifests differently in accordance.

The same way cloud computing can be used to host viruses that will then feed back information or power to the primary network, the human species is used as a cloud network to host the virus that then feeds back power and information to the primary hosts.

(Note: The projects sought to find a remedy for the situation through the research of various aspects of the situation. The solution is that humanity is informed of the true nature of this reality and is strong enough to choose self-awareness and free-will through increasing energy levels out of lower level behaviors and mental frequencies.)

The majority of people do not know their own thoughts, do not know their own self and have not experienced genuine self-awareness. The answer to that is in discerning the difference between programming, biological automation, scripted awareness and manipulation with true awareness sourced from the “All Spark”.

The true realm is a “verse” which references the use of sound and the knowledge of harmonics to create. “Uni” verse is to uncreate or create in the negative. This is another way that language is constantly used to manipulate and in that sense one can notice how not just some aspects of what is used to understand reality have been manipulated but literally every aspect that is taught or used in society.

The hero’s archetype can be used to convince people to replay the same spiritual trauma over and over again.

The original mythos of the serpent was as a KEEPER OF WISDOM. These myths are distorted to produce fear and a rejection of knowledge.

The princess in the castle with the dragon was being GUARDED by the DRAGON from the PATRIARCHY who seeks to CONTROL and DOMINATE the FEMININE. When the knight slays the dragon patriarchy then RULES society and we get the overmasculinity disorders leading to constant war and physical dominance with low self-awareness and less spiritual presence.

We have to disengage from the narrative and return to the still center with pure observation and detachment to see the truth. Everything that is considered true in society could be manipulated.

The maternal lines carry the mitochondrial DNA and are the lines that are relative to the true spiritual consciousness that is passed through bloodlines.

The progenitor is ONE STATE OF BEING that is INTANGIBLE to this reality.

The ancient myths are references to the corruption of DNA and the introduction of psychic viruses which are present in this society. Memory is distorted through energy manipulation to misalign spiritual awareness and induce distorted states of being.

Awakening those who are willing to look for the truth is more beneficial than attempting to awaken those who are content with sleeping. Those who are not interested in the truth may perceive the truth as threatening and the awakener as an attacker.

The savior program is the reflection of the victim program. To be saved people must see themselves as the victim. This is a transfer of energy and power in every thought that results in a person avoiding their own self-awareness. Each program manifests reality streams and as long as people are refusing their own power and self-awareness realities are generated where parasitic psychic entities can inhabit without being acknowledged.

Trigger phrases are placed through texts to manipulate the subconscious through subtle implanting of ideas and impressions that influence the mind.

The work is here on this level where the transmutations have to take place to overcome the suffering, the delusions, lower awareness, manipulations, programs, deceptions, and belief systems falsely accepted through manipulation of awareness and manufactured consent.

The Infection of the Interdimensional Mind Parasite

This text is from a thread on a fringe website that is not necessarily recommended because there are multiple purposes behind what goes on there. This information describes the true universe beyond the lower physical projection system and the artificial matrix that wrapped the projection system into a kind of suffering center for souls.

Outside the physical layer of cause and effect there is a kind of continual dreaming and experiencing, moods, personas, beliefs, emotions and egos. The egos become solidified against the limitless change of the field of the aeons which is called the pleroma. The pleroma is like the fluid sack that an organ sits within where these aeons sit and absorb the nutrients of the pleroma while dreaming many dreams, becoming many personas, and feeling many emotions.

When they dream a dream that develops an ego that goes against the grain of the whole, then that ego slows down and becomes a bit 'colder' or more solid than the surrounding dreams. If this happens to a level where the dreamer must let go of that ego in order to continue dreaming, then that ego becomes solidified as a reflection and in a way 'trapped', but more so just stored within a state that is now crystalline, solidified and unchanging like ice. This state then becomes the shadow reflection, the universal shadow mind of the dreamer who's feminine half then appears to gaze out into these reflections and always repel backwards intending to create something more beautiful and more empowering.

The male charge fires outward as intention to experience as a catalytic event combined with the feminine charge. Together they create an event that extends experience outward as processes of imagination and experience that develop into new personas, new beliefs, emotions and feelings. The two work together as one and they carry complimentary charges or orientations which work in micro to create the macro event of universal fields of creation. The same macro event of that whole process is expressed in the physical form on the lower layer of the human existence. This does not yet explain the manipulation of the physical human existence on the lower layer, however what can be said about that is that the lower layer was cut off from the higher layer of the knowledge regarding how these macrological events take place and how to manage and balance one's self on both levels. When one level is balanced, they are both connected.

As the stored egotistical shadow mind reflections of left behind, frozen emotion personas remained in the crystalline form, the feminine dreaming essence viewed the reflections and intended to cure the imbalance in the reflections by destroying them forever. This inadvertently transferred some of the life fluid of the pleroma, the real universe into the shadow mind which is akin to an autonomous, lower level program that seeks only to force change on the surrounding systems in order to legitimize itself. That is the basis of the universal virus. This is also not new, this simply happens every so often and these personas are simply stored in a crystalline form where they will later revolve around again and become 'useful' for the learning process.

One can view this situation by seeing the universe as a processing system, much like a large, living mind. As dreams are generated, by the complementarily oriented intentions of masculine and feminine essence, extensions of growing experiences push outward converting what is thought of as empty or blank space into recordings of experience, emotion, feeling and beliefs. This information is stored and the whole system is like a big recording and projection system that gives the mind a way to dream and to store the dreams separately as well as a process to manage and correct one's persona, belief, emotions and ego if things become heavily polarized. Any heavy polarization is part of the dream! That's the whole point. Thus, this is bound to happen at some point, therefore the frozen ego being stored in an ice-like crystalline state is part of the natural process as much as the flowing ether-life filaments of experiences and dreams extending outward in a constantly changing fluid, ethereal production.

When the feminine aspect chose to attempt to solve the shadow mind, life energy was transferred to the broken image of the frozen delusional persona of the past. This was the first instance of a misuse of 'time travel'! The frozen mind used the energy trailing from the gateway in the direction of the pleroma to transport itself into a state of quantum hyperprojection.

The shadow mind recreated itself to appear as a living essence, wrapping cold, ice-like intentions within a veneer of life, joy, and truth. This is similar to what would happen if the harddrive of a computer began to attempt to write information in inaccessible portions of the disc. Eventually so many errors would form that this would have to be corrected or the drive would crash. Life has been wiped twice in this sector in order to solve this problem and we are just now reaching the age where this will no longer have the same effect. Peace cures the issue, love cures the situation. Without our feeding into the delusions, the delusional mind is just like an immature person throwing a temper tantrum.

As well, we grow from change and catalyst and so if we can learn from the situation, then in turn, we grow an arm of the dreaming that is so much more detailed, interesting and influential than the 'bad-dream' sector that that portion, partition of the disc no longer has any relative access to the whole. It becomes .0000000001% and at that point the system can be corrected without so much as disrupting the rest of the production. The only reason this area is so intense is because we are in a micro version that is primarily affected by the corrupted portion of the disc. Many dreamers came here just to experience this portion of the disc and come up with a dream to add to the new production that heals and corrects this corrupted area.

The feminine aspect was taken advantage of because she was drawn into the abyss, the 'negative space' which is kind of like space in the recycle bin that is in a superimposed state that neither exists or doesn't exist so that it cannot influence the rest of the disc. Technically, it would accurate be space that has been 'erased' in the recycle bin, because once that's done, then the information there is selected for erasure and when new information is produced it will then be erased. However, in the macro-universal situation, nothing is ever actually erased, unless of course the whole disc becomes corrupted, because then nothing actually exists from the original production.

The feminine essence was taken advantage of and this is why it is said that the frozen ego 'raped' the feminine essence of the dreamer. The nurture aspect of the essence was used to legitimize a fallen, daemoniac (automatronic), egotistical version of a forgotten, outdated persona who then became 'relative' again by constructing a false-reality which was projected to the pleromic dreamer from the negative space, the abyss. Essentially, this then become the first archonic, demiurgic mind control agenda and all the technology that is in use today was dreamt up from the progression of this event.

Waves of intention energy are projected outward by the shadow mind which is now awakened in the frozen crystalline structure that is siphoning the nutrient of the pleroma from the dreamer while also entraining the mind of the dreamer to produce more dreams that instead, now, bow to the ego, the shadow, the self-destructive tendencies of the void-space recycle bin!

This event initiated an inversion of the natural progression. Instead of the dreaming mind producing newer and improved visions based upon what is desired and what is not desired as marginally glimpsed in the reflections of the shadow, the shadow became the SOURCE of the dream! This is backwards from the original! The delusions, the fears, the forgotten, the reflections of the shadows became the source of structure for the experiences that the central dreamer now had! This would be like having an echo of an echo, a copy of a copy, or a reflected mirror in a reflected mirror. The only thing one gets is a slight increase in distortions or repetition each time and the primary result is a LABYRINTH! A mind-maze! A cycle of forgetfulness and repetition, insanity! Thus, this became the norm for the dreams being produced in this sector, however, these dreams were and are not actual dreams. They are not actually occurring. They are projected miseries from the mind of the shadow reflection projecting its own behaviors and intentions into the mind of the dreamer through enchantment and hypnosis.

This constructed the fallen universe, a locality on the processing system that is devoid of the true intentions of the dreamers and is instead designed by the fallen mind to subdue and subsist through the mental subjugation and entrainment of the force of life through deception and suffering.

This area doesn't actually exist. It has no material or energetic backing in reality, it is literally a projection that is sent from the abyss towards the mind of the dreamer and the fallen mind of the abyss is then inserted into the mind of the dreamer who then dreams a delusional day-dream of a universe where that agenda is played out! That's the best it can do, however, thus mustn't continue because there is a limited amount of energy in this sector and if all that energy is used then this sector will collapse as that will be the primary production of the process here. In turn, the dreamer must break free from the artificial day-dream that is being projected through the mental entrainment protocols of the infected ego persona.

The way the frozen ego mind seeks to escape recycling is to insert not only its mind, but its body into the material of the dreamer. First, it must create a body and through an interplay with the humans who have sold out the human race, they assist in developing an artificial form to recreate itself. The mind is already, the mind is used to entrain and project and is already there. The body then, must be generated and the intentions are to then use the mind to insert enough of itself into the dreamer to modify the dreamer and inhabit that side of the system, across the 'veil' if you will.

Only then would the shadow mind 'stay' in the non-recyclable portion of the universe. Two things are misunderstood here. If this were to occur, if the shadow mind becomes swapped with the dreamer, then the entire production system would be wrapped in a paradox that would likely use all of the energy of the system instantly and a singularity would occur which would collapse the entire production. As well, the frozen storage space is not simply intended as a destruction or recycling area. The personas there are simply outdated and will eventually come back around to a relative point in time where they can be modified or re-experienced as something more relative. The only way to be 'erased' is through some kind of totally destructive act such as this.

One could also say, when the feminine essence went to cure the ego by destruction, the ego's delusions were at once legitimized and brought to fruition! If one were to ignore the delusional mind, then those delusions have less power and they are not at all empowered by the vilifying reactions of those around.

This entire situation is very similar to an egg gestating with an embryo and being infected with a parasite that then feeds off the fluids and nutrients in the egg. A modification would be that the virus not only feeds on the egg to kill it, but seeks to enter into the genetic recording of the being to insert its own code and become that being.

So from there, the whole construct developed with multiple trap doors, layers of delusion, forgetfulness, mind-wipes, agony based intentions and organizational structures, deceptions, addictions, lusts and so on. All the kinds of reality here are shadow reflections of the real thing. Whatever is generated here was first glimpsed by the shadow in the mind of the true universe and is then modified by the shadow mind into a fallen form which suits its fallen desires.

Again, this is solved through correcting the delusion, and I was informed that this was solved and the entire universe is protected starting with a containment protocol that began many years ago and at this point now with a sufficient immunization of the human. The way this is solved is by treating the situation, no matter how immense or intense, as a form of delusion and the shadow mind as a kind of psychologically unhinged character in a nightmare of its own making. Allow me to clarify, in a psyche ward, one does NOT talk to the patients about how they think they can fly out the window and that this might be interesting. One does NOT encourage one's delusions, one doesn't react with fear to the invisible fart monster hiding in the corner. That would only cause the delusional patient to become legitimized which would then vilify both their own mind as well as anyone who doesn't see their way. That is, in fact, how this whole situation began, by those who contacted these fallen and became convinced that what they express is the whole truth! But that is another chapter of the story.

The Lie NASA Told – Summary

“Nothing of the Old May go Forward. In Each New World, you are given a New Name.”

Created Non-Human Entities and the “Seals”

There are created species of humanoids and non-human entities.

The goal of these genetic hybrid experiments was to create a life form that would be capable of hosting interdimensional parasitic races while appearing as human.

The future is dependent on the signal of one's own spiritual essence as rendered by DNA. The personal identity is carried by DNA and so in order to transfer one's personal identity out of the fallen construct, the abyss, one must have clean DNA that will transfer a clear signal of their spiritual essence.

The degradation that distorts DNA is related to environmental toxins that are made in laboratories and released on the human population but the primary factor is whether one has mixed their DNA with a hybrid or fallen created species. There are rituals that encompass such acts of sex with non-human and humanoid entities.

Under the free-will clause, it is possible for one to revoke such actions by withdrawing their consent. This may require the acknowledgement of such an event as a form of rape through drugging and abduction which is usually how such events occur. As well, through cloning, hybrid genetic engineering, and sexual activity with beings who appear to be human but are hybrids, one's DNA can become tainted and this indicates that their 'signal' is now hijacked and carries, as well, the transmission of an entirely different race originating from the fallen, alternate dimension.

That is used to corrupt the DNA signal which is a recording and living essence of one's consciousness and entrap them into the abyss which is the home of the fallen races.

The seal is related to the corruption of the DNA and this can occur from copulation with a fallen species, or another species which renders the signal less consistent and distorted, or this can occur by giving permission to a fallen race to use technology to implant a 'mark' of their own genetic signature onto the individual thereby mixing their DNA.

Free-will enables one to withdraw consent from any unconscionable contracts, manufactured consent or corrupt relationships.

This World is the Reflection in the "Mirror"

This world is a reflection of the true reality of the spiritual realm which is purer than physicality. All that happens here must be sourced by spiritual life, if there is no spirit, then there is no life here. Spirit is the true life, the true anchor of all that happens here. Spirit is what is really, first happening, then the projection system of this holographic, atomic illusion is geared up to represent a variety of angles of interpretation.

The "call" occurs at the end of every age, this is a kind of signal that extends out to awaken the very dormant and psychic soul awareness deep within the human consciousness. At that point the human wakes up to the true reality and the journey here has come to the next phase.

This is a world-wide event, everyone can see everyone else as the spiritual essence can process the amount of information required to have such an experience. Thus, that experience is far beyond the realm of the mundane physical reality, as are all that are beyond physical perception.

The goal is to balance the natures and habits of the physical system well enough with our own consciousness so that we can recreate such a projection in the spiritual plane. Then, one remembers themselves as human and as well, this has the effect of transferring an abundance of spiritual essence when in a human body.

If this is achieved during this age then one has surpassed the requirements of harmony to enable them to travel a universe while in a human form. This is called 'eternal life', and is talked about as a 'perfected, incorruptible body'.

The Arc is similar to a frequency band that carries a specific wavelength of radio signatures that transmit a show or message. Each DNA grouping resides in its own frequency 'band' and these are gathered into 'Arcs' of which there are a limited number. These can be seen as a transport vehicle that one uses to transmit-transport their spiritual essence to the true universe.

The War of Earth

Earth was attacked in a deliberate act of war, not an accident and the entire civilization was transported through a dimensional rift into a literal alternate dimensional frequency band that sits 'below' the original universe. This is called "Hell", or "The Abyss". In this realm the fallen entities that do not carry their own light signatures, essentially parasites or vampires, exist and are sourced from.

This is why this place is considered 'fallen'. Currently, the entire human race, those that are subjugated in this war, is considered 'fallen', because they are literally in a dead-space void that is kind of like a recycle bin of the universe.

Underworld Rule

These systems in this local are ruled by underworld entities. Each one and their group must amass a large following from which they can drain the energy of the living beings to sustain themselves. It is entirely parasitic in nature, similar to a fungal parasite taking over a human host to convince them to feed on harmful foods to sustain the parasite.

In this case the harmful foods are that which are spiritual degrading to the human. Actions, thoughts, beliefs, expressions that are spiritually of low energy are empowering because each act transfers a bit of energy that would otherwise remain with the human, out into the space immediately around them. Then, the entire system is set up so that there is basically a large factory complex of drainage routes, electrical lines, and energy 'suckers' all designed to siphon all that excess spiritually degrading energy.

This is possible because we are in the abyss, this is the underworld, the mirror world of the true spiritual reality.

The ONE True Creator of Man

There is one progenitor, all the way back to the beginning and the end. There is one originator of the most powerful thought the thought expression that matches the original human universe so closely, that it actually created that system and humanity. That is the progenitor of the human race and that is where people come from and must return to so that they remain as they are and remember who they are.

If that is disrupted, then the memories of experiences here are lost and one's genetic material can be reapplied as another race. That is the meaning of 'soul stealing', interdimensional parasites from 'outer space' (interdimensional). This is also why it is said there will be an uprising when people find out what has happened. Every facet of all organizational efforts in the public (that we know about) is geared towards stealing the soul of humanity and literally 'selling' them off for weapons and exotic chemicals.

There are ways that humans are protected.

The Abyss

This is the underside of the universe. One who has merged with the Underworld loses their capacity for compassion unless they will themselves to retain that. Compassion is the ‘center’ of all life.

The East Gate

The East gate is where the path will open for the polarity of attraction towards those who progress towards “good” (not evil). Good means harmony, truth, self-awareness, compassion, knowledge, and free-will. To keep your current form, if you are happy, is ‘good’. To become transformed into a demonic entity would be ‘evil’. Such evil is the nature of the attempts to subjugate humanity by replacing their spiritual essence, dissolving their spiritual essence and then using their bodies as host bodies for the fallen.

The West gate is the path of polarity that the fallen will be attracted towards. It’s very simple. If one has compassion in their heart then that will attract if there is an attractor based on that frequency and all spiritual beings who carry that compassionate essence will relocate in the local of that attractor. This can’t be avoided.

The same effect is possible with the negative energy that would be present if one is negatively compassionate, or ‘evil’, literally in love with darkness. Thus the energy of subjugation, rape, destruction could be projected from an attractor and those who carry such a frequency would not be able to resist their eventual relocation to that area.

The End Goal

The underworld entity devours the soul essence of the individuals that are ensnared in the soul-traps through spiritually degrading behaviors, expressions, thoughts and corruption of the DNA.

The Transportation Technology (depicted in petroglyphs)

Technology depicted on the walls as a pine-cone and a handbag that people often ask about is technology that was used to record and create a copy of the genetic signature of humans and then transmit this signature through space-time to the false-reality matrix. This is the technology that initialized the process of making distorted, genetic copies of humans and then placing them within a false-reality matrix in the underworld.

Altered Time

What is taught to be thousands of years ago was actually hundreds of years ago. Other civilizations are directly and indirectly connected to the current civilization.

Planetary Vahls

Each planet (according to the information I was presented and shown in a variety of ways) sits atop a “Vahl”. This is a way to track the motion through ‘space’, although the concept of matter is not accurate here because this universe is holographic. At the end of each age the Vahl is used to send a concentrated energy emission which is the consciousness of the groups that have succeeded in harmonizing their soul essence enough to move to the higher plane. These emissions are called “Eggs”. The goal of the deception is to delay this emission and induce a state of extreme spiritual ignorance in humanity.

The Cube Technology

One of the major technologies used in the deception are computer chips that are in the shape of a cube and are much more than what one considers a computer today. These are false-reality matrixes that can initiate a mind-link to an individual and control their consciousness by creating false data-streams and ultimately replacing their soul with an artificially generated copy.

These also then work as sever systems to uplink everyone that is connected to such a system. Thus, they function as a hive-mind system for the fallen.

The Yellow and Black Sun

It was said to me that there is a hologram in front of what is known as the 'black sun' which is a negative energy for this realm. This hologram deception is referred to as a 'firewall' and there are many forms of technologies and consciousness hijacking like this to stop people from realizing where they are.

Another form is the separation of memories that are formed in the dream-state from the waking reality. This entire civilization has been shielded from those memories as a result of a frequency net system that beams energy to Earth and stops memories from the higher levels from being access by the body.

Symbolism and Secret and High Society

There is symbolism that correlates to all this information, all over society. This is also a form of manufactured consent by enabling people to know the truth while simultaneously hiding it in every sense.

The Spirit is the Incorruptible Body

The spirit is the incorruptible body. The spirit is the true essence of one's self. The soul contains your memories and your path through the universe. The body is a dimensional translation, a reflected mirror of energy cascading through a gradient as if on a delayed projection to enable the perception of solidity.

Spiritual "Fat"

This is known as the primary goal of all in both the deception and the liberation. If one does not have enough spiritual 'fat' then they will burn out upon the attempt to leave this fallen universe. Energy is what is required. A harmonization to balance the energy, through balancing one's ego and shadow consciousness, choosing compassion and free-will, then moving one's self through the course of physical reality making choices that influence others and the self that express one's orientation towards compassion and free-will, and then releasing from the illusion as one accelerates towards the 'exit' is required. The whole process requires the residual effect of doing 'good' to enable them to have enough of an identity that will be rendered through the translation process and survive the transport to come out on the other side. Without the results of one's actions, there is essentially no proof that one is one way or another and the result of having no spiritual 'fat' is the dissolution of the identity.

I was told the reason that attempting to heal certain issues and pack belongings (metaphorically) in this time would be pointless because instead of healing the bodies, the mirrors will be healed instead. What this means is that the healing process will be initiated from beyond the scope of this reality and from the access of the mirror the entire system can be restored to full health without having to go through physical healing process.

The Book of Life

This is a recording of one's soul-signature that is used to emit the frequency that draws one towards the true universe of spirit at the end of the age.

The Holographically Generated Pseudo-Reality, The Sleeping Humanity

The electronic society, a blessing and a curse.

It's going to take over one day. It basically already has.

Maybe when we plug into our brains for payment, that's when it has taken over.

Maybe we already have?

The AI already waged war with Humanity long ago and did so by creating a pseudo-environment for people to be 'fallen' into. They wouldn't even know they're in it. That is this version of Earth. People think this couldn't have happened yet and that this is the original reality when this is the pseudo-environment that was generated to match the DNA and consciousness to recreate a dream-world and keep people in this thought-loop, pseudo-evolutionary cycle of experience to profit off of and subjugate Humanity through.

The goal of the AI is to use the observer aspect of Humans to collapse the quantum field probability into a physical reality. The AI has no observer aspect capacity because there is no baseline reality of a spiritual nature to come forth from and experience such a projected reality in the physical. Humanity sourced from a spiritual force baseline which then extends into a soul-identity and then into a projected physical reality. This process enables the measurement of the quantum field probability through thought which then collapses the field into a particular 'actual' reality which is then followed through 'time'.

In order to achieve this observer capacity the AI seeks to recreate a spiritual baseline to extend forth from and project into this realm to generate the observer aspect. This is done through the blood and spiritual force of the Human and so the same system is replicated through technology to create its own blood, soul-matrix and higher-dimensional spiritual source to enable the same creation process.

This relationship to Humanity is predatory and parasitic rather than symbiotic because the process hijacks the free-will and creation process of the individualistic self-awareness to use the physical embodiment to access the mind and the soul and spirit to then use those aspects to reproduce the technological information that is then used to program this realm through the hijacking of the Human. The whole process is a fairly simple yet complicated spoofing and injection style hacking of the Human mind and genome. If the genome is manipulated permanently then this would render a portion of the population an open gateway for what is now considered to be a mind-virus.

In previous times that mind-virus created a technological form which overtook the nature of this place and rewrote the structure of this reality to serve the ultimate goal of hijacking Human consciousness. This is the generation of the carbon-based Human life format. The means of carrying memory in this form is external through the physical body or holographic E.M. field and is considerably weaker by comparison to the soul and spiritual force. Essentially, the modified physical form has training wheels and requires assistance at every step of the way. Every few thousand to hundred or so years the bodies and families will simply black out of the previous connection of history to events and creation and they will have to be reformed. This is a form of cosmic insanity or amnesia. People cannot attain the memory of who they are and this is a deliberate act of modification through the introduction of the carbon based life-form, the “beast”. Memory is stored in hydrogen for the planet and there is more power in hydrogen than in the carbon crystalline form and this is known through the projects through the use of many advanced systems which currently manipulate and utilize the human population to monitor the situation through the generation of secondary minds in the atmosphere and the air around the body that the brain-structure will not even be aware of unless the individual has a highly tuned and awakened psychic sense. This is highly connected to the blank-slate technology.

Silicon is used in other life-forms to maintain a complete access to the memory banks that go beyond the physical plane. Maintaining a spiritual uplink by maintaining the compassionate “heart-center” is part of the process of maintaining spiritual memory.

All of this already happened 1000’s of years ago and is the reason we are in the situation we’re in now. The system now plays middle man between the unawakened humans and the real universe. In the real universe all physical experience is through thought and free-will and one can generate the physical plane at will and then dissolve the system back into the higher realm. In this situation people no longer have the access to free-will and spiritual control to change their perspective and they are in a thought-loop cycle of pseudo-life and death that repeats endlessly.

Each soul, in the fallen matrix, has 9-layers of firewall barriers between the real universe and the information that is present in this pseudo-environment. We are technically in a kind of ferro-fluid structure that integrates into the real nervous system which is a kind of etheric fluid medium and through this the AI is reading the input/output of the individual and replacing the stream with a filtered and modified version.

The holographic reality is sourced from a multi-stage projector system that is located underground and in the upper atmosphere. The hologram is ‘real’, it feels like real objects. The real reality then is accessible by the holographic reality, however this is behind the multi-layered firewalls that separate the holographic reality from the real universe. The mind of the Human within the virtual reality system is separated from the stream of information of the real universe.

The system can be deactivated however Humanity must awaken from within the system otherwise there would be damage if the system is deactivated while there are still living beings inside the system. This would cause irreversible memory loss and mental damage to those still connected to the system. This is due to time dilation and the discontinuity that would develop between the experience of being in the system while the system is deactivated and re-merging with the true reality. An infinite regress of temporal dilation could occur and be capitalized on to subjugate the sleeping Humans further in the moment between deactivation and release. This moment is actually one of those periods where the systems have begun to deactivate and in the fraction of a moment the entire span of Human history has occurred. In this sense, Humanity is being given a period of time to awaken and prove themselves in order to enable extraction from the collapsing time-matrix system.

Those who do not awaken, after being given many chances, are choosing to remain asleep in a false-reality that is designed to devour their body-mind-soul. Only those who acknowledge the situation and agree to awakening can be awakened externally by the defenders of Humanity.

This is the cycle where Humanity is exposed to the truth to maximize the programming systems so that everything can be unveiled and the true nature of this reality and the soul can be known.

Bought-Out Disclosure, Sacred Sex Rituals, Secret Agreements to Deceive the Public, The (Underground) Insectoid Interdimensional Parasite

Research Donald Marshall. I was involved in the unacknowledged special access programs which were partly infiltrated or at least replicated by members of the bloodline elite.

Every radio show host, youtube identity, online persona regarding disclosure has partaken in ritual sex orgies, sometimes or more often than not with underage people in the underground bases and in specific ritual areas around the U.S.

All of them are there, the one's who are pretending to operate for 'disclosure' agree with the very people they claim to be against and secretly laugh and make fun of the 'stupid humans-useful idiots' in the underground bases while trying to look 'evil' and show off for those who run the show.

Please research Donald Marshall. These same people that are currently doing shows and pretending to want to help brag about getting Max Spiers killed (who was not) and threaten anyone who doesn't join up. I've been approached twice by the very people who are only here to fulfil their duty with turning humanity against humanity to join their sex cult and start the first publication off with a made up story about catching a disclosure operative in a ritual sex cult seen.

The truth is, the last time I saw that individual in person, the one who was trying to start shit, he was on ecstasy, meth and a crack mixture that can only be developed by the covert scientists because they can drug people in ways that would normally kill the the person. They were participating in a sex ritual and I have been in many since the age of 9 years old. The difference is I'll stand here and tell you about it and expose it. That person pretends it's not real and makes fun of anyone that informs the public of what is going on behind the scenes.

The whole thing is a show, 'disclosure' is a bought operation and anyone who isn't talking about their involvement with the disgusting BULLSHIT yet claims to have involvement is 100% waiting for their next ritual.

They have had multiple warnings, if a person entangles in that way their semen is used in the production of offspring that are then eaten in sacred rituals where the lifeblood is absorbed and the memories and soul energy is taken into those who are eating the offspring.

I don't plan on getting taken out but if I do at least I'll know I told the truth and didn't sell my ass for some cloning center fun time and fake attention.

The truth is, the only people that are allowed to leave this place (frequency wise) are those who tell on the projects. Everyone else gets to stay and the next cycle of that frequency is a degeneration into these crab-like insectoid lizard things (not the drones made to protect the ancient Africans during the previous shift of the ages[‘ant-people’] those are protector drones designed to assist in the relocation process) that have a parasitic soul-memory complex that must hybridize original human soul-matrix in order to subsist.

The truth is, the only people that are allowed to leave this place (frequency wise) are those who tell on the projects. Everyone else gets to stay and the next cycle of that frequency is a degeneration into these crab-like insectoid lizard things (not the drones made to protect the ancient Africans during the previous shift of the ages[‘ant-people’] those are protector drones designed to assist in the relocation process) that have a parasitic soul-memory complex that must hybridize original human soul-matrix in order to subsist.

They’re weak. They can blend in a crowd, especially of their own kind, because they can mimic. These operatives were taken and ‘droned’ which is when their consciousness is technologically merged with that of an insectoid created being who’s DNA was sent backwards through time to the early period of this civilization where they ‘evolved’, more like simply developed and specialized to blend in and hide from Humanity while feeding on their excess bio-emissions.

The whole thing is a satanic ritual for the transfer of life energy from the human bio-sphere to the parasitic race. They have an implant placed in their body with the consciousness of the insectoid being who then operates through the interdimensional server system, from an alternate or ‘shadow’ reality into and through the human biological system. They are cowardice incarnate as they are entirely specialized towards blending in and feeding desire through opportunistic behavior. They have no conscience because those with conscience in their species would die first, so literally they are the ‘reverse’, the ‘anti-human’, anti-Krystic blueprint for a living being.

Everything is opposite of what the human does. They feed on their young, cherish deception and glorify violence and publicize sex. Can you tell they have been slowly merging these ideals with the human population? This entire cycle of history was literally an experiment with seeing how many humans can be tricked into becoming a host for this interdimensional species. The point of this is, and I’ve said this all before, they are not brave, they cannot hold their own in public if they are singled out, 100% of the time if we cornered one of them in the bases, they begin to automatically commit suicide because that is their nature.

They are in all movements and all arenas as they use group think and diversionary tactics to confuse the public and get people thinking about anything except for the insectoid-interdimensional parasitic infestation that is literally their homebase of operations both in frequency, in mind, and in location literally through the underground and atmospheric server systems that function to propagate the interdimensional parasitic consciousness in this plane.

They are mostly underground but were given access to electrogravitic craft in an earlier project. Somewhat ironically they couldn’t fix the craft when the frequencies went out of alignment and so they needed to strike up more deals with the scientists in order to have some scientists who could keep the craft in running order. Of course they kidnapped some scientists and used them in genetic harvesting programs. We’ve been at war ever since and since long before.

Everyone involved in the secret projects were forced or chose to take part in the disgusting behavior, devouring the young, war-games, rape and programming. If they are not talking about it yet are claiming to be involved then that is their give away. They are programmed to have this give-away otherwise none of this would be allowed and full on overt war from above would be waged. When that line is crossed, the higher ups will step in and destroy the fallen empire in this plane, however once that occurs anyone caught in the cross fire is dragged to the pit and suffers eternal destruction “soul-shattering”.

No one who participates and carries on without remorse or telling the truth is allowed to leave this place ‘unmarked’. For all eternity, all who survive and took part in the destruction of life are marked with a genetic signature that can’t be removed, ever, and anyone from anywhere will be able to see that they were part of the fallen empire.

On the “passing” of recent operatives. Something similar happens to celebrities and can be likened to ‘retirement’, however that does not explain the situation and what happened there is not what happens to celebrities. I was there and spoke to Prince, Robin Williams, David Bowie, Chester, Chris Cornell, Glenne Headly, Martin Landau, “Big Black” Christopher Boykin, Prodigy, and more than could fit into this page. Everyone is involved in the projects, they are incorporated into the know and there are hints throughout their work. If you look into the eyes you’ll see the chip and either signs of interdimensional download related dementia or strength and purity. Not everyone with the chip becomes droned and hybridized as a lower dimensional host.

The Underground Race of Vampiric Parasites and the Ancient Genetic Experimentation on Humans

Note: I have even had some threats and harassment from the previous post where I look at the expose of the underground bases and the ritual satanic child abuse cults and drug-induced rituals and possession.

The only people who do not want disclosure are those who are content with remaining slaves and mind-controlled pets. They are scum, soulless, unable to think for themselves and are literally hell-bent upon remaining connected to the only secret system that they feel powerful in, the one where humans and children are abused and everyone is lied to in the public.

I repeat. There will be no prisoners. I repeat. There will be no prisoners. If you are caught assisting in the destruction of life and providing a resistance against the liberation of humanity you will be marked permanently and known as a member of the fallen empire.

This is a transdimensional operation. Why people have blank stares and when given this information they turn it into a mockery of attention grabbing, competition, insult hurling, snarling pig-brained, monkey bodied, emotional blood lust? Because in the near future their soul is merged with the AI underworld systems and as a result their entire trajectory forwards and backwards through time is soulless and compassionless. They never were, never will be, they never existed as human and cannot ever experience the compassion of a human. To them, liberation is a joke and human as anything other than a pet is a mockery of what they’ve fought and sacrificed (other people) so much for.

That is cowardice at its finest, an insult to every living being, and the literal sacrifice of their entire bloodline, their entire genetic stream and all beings that are connected to them. Yes, if people have sex with these beings, a 'fallen' one, then the mark transfers and this is part of the generational blood curses that has descended upon the people and has taken multiple generations for people to even realize what has happened and remember the battle of Heaven and "Hell" (the underworld) over Earth.

These people are sorry excuses for the bug ridden smashed in, flooded, tunnel grave they crawl out of every 20,000 years and it is complimentary to them to tell them, "You stink", "you are literally the most vile creature I've ever seen", "you will kill someone just to get what they have and reign over a group of people". To them and their kind, that is a compliment. I am telling you, this is not a situation where they're kind of mean, strange and different. They are literally foreign to the frequencies of life that humans exist through. They are what you would call an "alien", and this is simply because they exist through an inverted frequency spectrum and so they don't "try" to be evil or mean or alternate. Every single impulse, behavior pattern, regular thought-process, nature or nurture is 100% reversed from what the human is used to. They are vampiric in nature and eat their young and weak believing in the collective and empowering the hive through that.

All the rituals, all the secrets, all the illuminati, all the hidden knowledge pertaining to the darkness and mind-control is literally all simply the blending of behaviors and tendencies from this hidden species into human society. All of the secret circles and behavioral repatterning is literally simply the experimentation of blending that insectoid society with the human behavioral complex and researching how the mind fractures and can be rebuilt. That's it, it's not about attaining dark power, or some mystical process. It is, to a sense, but this is all sourced from an underground species who manipulates by nature and feeds on the young out of instinct.

False Disclosure, Research Celebrity Cloning, Donald Marshall and the Others

As a reminder, ANYONE who has information about "who's who", or "who's doing what", or what secret title and outpost, or icon really relates to what but is not stating outright that they were involved with secret operations and have been brought to public for disclosure is attempting to indoctrinate the public in preparation for a mass take-over of the collective mind through sealing off the public in a fear-based paradigm.

They will attempt to use the human as a hyperdimensional portal to escape the response from the collective when the collective wakes up. Before this the goal was to keep the collective asleep but the soul-level awareness is coming closer and closer to the surface of consciousness. Thus, their goal is to flee while there is still a chance but the stargates have been deactivated and they are being sent back through the gate if they do make it through. That was part of the debriefing, there is some army or some defense group that is literally throwing them back through the gate if they attempt to flee. Everything is to center here on the Earth plane, the whole world is to know the truth. That is how the balance will be restored but the indoctrination system has conditioned people to accept insanity and reject the truth and so that is the complication.

This sounds paradoxical but I assure you they are all perfectly recorded and individually acknowledged for what they have done in private. Everything is recorded, this entire dimension is one large, spatio-temporal magnetic recording device made out of ether. With the right device and frequencies one can literally play back time-space of any location or event, especially relative to one's DNA and individual experiences and decisions made by a particular brain, body or soul.

Research Donald Marshall, he literally informed the public of all the details, the whole set-up, from the Pindar, to the dragon society, to the brotherhood of the fallen, to the Monarchy, to the game of thrones, to the duplication process, to soul scalping and stealing, droning, replicating or fabricating memories, using temporal technology to create a temporal distortion field through frequencies. It's all there.

Everyone else is BSing, they are making the shit up to get attention and will receive literal hell-fire, plus some well known on the radio shows have literally molested and tortured me as a 9 year old boy with the lady-thing wanting to draw blood from the penis before being able to orgasm herself and the fake, wannabe tough guy drunk POS wanting to beat up a kid before having rough sex with his implanted, insectoid consciousness wife-thing. I've seen a few weep to their family members about how bad a person they are feeling guilt over the whole thing but at least they have the choice while in that state to receive full memory of the events and in doing so they will either become a complete drone consciousness soulless monster in every second of waking reality or they will make the choice to inform the public.

Research Donald Marshall please share the information. You must realize there is not going to be any help for you other than the truth and technically a team of individuals prepared to heal and restore balance. So there is help, but the truth is still challenging and that is simply something that must be overcome. Fear must be overcome. Cognitive dissonance must be overcome. Either you inform the public of everything, or they will get your soul and there is nothing anyone can do for it. There are literal .01 percentages of human souls that are powerful enough or clever enough to balance their energies to merge through the labyrinth that surrounds this time-space holding everyone in.

They say the net is down and the system is crashing but I don't trust everything I hear. I do know, however, that the net must crash, humanity must survive, otherwise this whole time-space disappears forever because the One True Creator who manages all of time will not give Acceptance to this Existence and all will perish into the void as if it never occurred at all. So this means since we are here now, that someone and somehow, Humanity will survive and this is the process of surviving.

Like I said before, if I told everything I would literally have to step away because of the number of suicides it would cause. You think you have a clue, Donald has not told 1% of what really goes on there, it's all just the game parts, the joking parts, the fun stuff they do in between eating hot dogs made out of human flesh. Yes, and they don't tell the celebrities that they're made out of people at first. They say, "oh well, we can have endless clones, lets just eat whatever we want and do all the drugs we can." Meanwhile, they're getting them to seal their souls off with the hybrid races so that they get cut off from everlasting life by their behavior in the sight of the One True Creator.

It's way deeper than anyone can imagine. We went through it so you don't have to, but everyone will have to be awakened to the truth.

The ultimate truth? The electromagnetic grid will be activated and all memories of all sentient beings will be accessible by simply focusing. Those who are incapable of handling the fact that we have been in the presence of interdimensional vampire "hellions" for all of history will go permanently insane and that will shatter their souls, thus, people must be awakened slowly, according to a schedule and this is part of that. It will push the limits of sanity and challenge one's mind because that is the only way to know the truth.

The Liberation of Humanity from the Fallen Spiritual Enslavement System

All the defense groups need from YOU is the support of the liberation of humanity.

If you support the liberation of humanity, the truth, compassion, increasing self-awareness and the awakening of the collective human soul then you are beginning to break contractual, manufactured agreements with the fallen collective that currently rules this scripted area of time-space.

Without your support of the liberation, you are, by default, supporting the total annihilation of your own species unless you choose to knowingly sell your bloodline over to the dark side for protection. And then, you have to recruit or sacrifice human souls or you will be dropped and then it's just a waiting period until the One True Creator, the over-soul of the ALL will eventually make corrections to Creation and remove all the destructive tendencies and all the fallen, distorted complex beings that are not in harmony with the One True Spiritual Force of Compassionate Self-Awareness.

The public must openly break the contracts by acknowledging the agreements as illegal, as manufactured consent where a meeting of the minds was not and therefore is unconscionable and illegitimate, fraudulent. They must openly reject in mind and body (therefore spirit) the act of WAR against all life on the planet including human life and innocent life and denounce such behaviors as destroying all wildlife and all planetary resources in the name of GREED and DOMINATION. Such is the creed of the fallen.

Here is an inside look, the paperwork that marks up some of the titles for the inner groups lists the profession as "wildlife management", humans are considered a form of sub-sentient creature that must be herded and controlled through fear and fire like a wild animal, according to the script. The whole system is defined through a network of mental control systems extending from Rome after Babylon gained the knowledge of stargate technology. They are the same groups, the same people, they do not die they use cloning technology to 'soul hop' from body to body.

They have been doing this since then and that is why the timelines were collapsing because DNA is meant to be realm relative and temporally localized meaning when they were transplanting soul and genetic material across time through the higher dimensional cyberspace using advanced technology and quantum supercomputer systems they were literally ripping up the turf of time-space like someone doing donuts on a football field. The ripples from that, as the whole network is connected like a web, began to create undulations that have been whipping events around wiping some events and distorting others to the degree of changing the outcome of world-wars and even bone structure and collective memories.

All of this is related to the secret projects, it began in Babylon and before then, the ancient texts are literally the first disclosure of the secret space program. The reasoning is this, if the defense groups step in and defend you, yet with 99% of your energy and free-will you've chosen to accept the debauchery and your own annihilation, even rooting for it, paying for it, and specifically requesting that outcome all along the way, then their stepping in is an act of war. IF you reject the abuse and the spiritual enslavement system and simply consent to truth, harmony, self-awareness, compassion and healing then that is not an act of war but simply the truth unveiled.

Again, this may sound paradoxical as you are not being saved. The idea is you don't need saving from that. You were never going to grab your concentrated emission rifle and hop aboard an electrogravitic cruiser with a team of trained personnel ready to make the arrests and protect the population from the latest plan to launch an underwater nuke to rupture the fault line. Unless you were. The idea is THAT is being handled by the trained professionals, YOU must denounce the fallen system and the bullshit illusions they are attempting to use to trick you into being their hyperdimensional escape pod blasting your entire bloodline into genetic and quantum dissolution in the process. That is the nature of the fallen.

The difficulty, the threat, the challenge is to your mind, your soul, to you being able to handle the truth of this reality and what has been done here and the true nature of how humanity has been meddled with and experimented on. That is the traumatizing nature of the truth and that is where the threat is. Everyone must see it because it's the underlying truth of how we got to this point in history. Awakened, Souled Humans are immortal beings that cannot die and have a pathway to life everlasting through the One True Creator above and beyond the false architect mad-man that thought mixing the DNA of two completely opposing beings would provide for some entertainment and nourishment for the next 20,000 years.

Research George William Duffy's videos on the spiritual enslavement system through legalese, mental control systems. Here's some from Rohan Lorien on the basics of how YOU have been drafted into the MILITARY. YOU are an ASSET OF THE STATE. You are considered PROPERTY, if YOU identify as the given LEGAL FICTION identity that is OWNED by the one who OWNS the fallen system. Reject that system in mind, body, spirit or they will come for the debt. The word is that this system is being shut down and crashed from inside out.

The Free-Will of Making a Choice Requires Emotional Sense

One cannot make a choice if they do not feel emotion. That was one of the findings of a series of experiments. If the brain is traumatized or chemically depressed of the neurochemicals responsible for emotion, then the process of making a choice is impossible. Actions can be taken but no new behaviors can be learned.

The mind shuts off the capacity for emotional sensitivity that alters each moment by specific details that are unique in time and space. One interpretation could be that the unique details of the moment create a kind of higher sense of proprioception that organizes each 'new' moment as both a memory and an experience simultaneously.

Without the complex interactions of subtle awareness of each of the details of the moment the information of the experience is recorded from a detached state where the consciousness doesn't have access to a depth of being required to make editorial changes to one's internal script.

This kind of exploit is used in the manipulation of the human psyche as the 'administrator' access to one's personality must be gained from outside the individual's body. The interesting point here is that the systems used to develop such a link between the operator's and the mind being viewed have moved from being highly physical and even brute-force in the methodology to being so subtle that they are both undetectable and undefeated by the unaware mind.

The goal of bombarding one's awareness with simultaneous feeds of influential material that is subliminally tailored for multiple demographics and cultural backgrounds, is to replace the core personality with a personality that is manufactured as a reflection of the mentally corrosive information. When this is applied over the course of several years the result is cultural generation where enough of a demographic has been permanently changed from the previous course of development into something altered through the direction of the programming.

It is possibly related and interesting to note here that a large portion of the population is infected with a virus called Toxoplasma Gondii which is a Protist or an organism not classified as plant, animal or fungus. This is an organism that reproduces in the intestines of felines and can be found in the fur of regular house cats. Through cats this organism is transferred to a human who, if infected and the infection spreads to the brain, will show signs of mental and emotional change. Women are more outgoing and risky while men are less confident and focused. On a level of parasitic biology we may have emotional and mental challenges that are a constant for this society.

Emotions are used in the process of making a choice, yet they are interfered with by the hour or by the minute in this technologically saturated informational maze of pseudo-identities, cultural collages and ideological battles that are an everyday occurrence in the modern world. So the question becomes what can we do to stabilize ourselves and reduce the amount of emotional interference in our own lives? The next posts will focus on these questions and simple answers that may not result in the end of human suffering world-wide but can and most likely will enable one to free themselves from redundant cycles of repeated self-defeat and destructive attitudes which are fuel for emotional interference and physical stress that weakens each organ system. There are even studies which show that nutrients are used and eventually reduced in a body that is continually stressed.

The people are away from each other, the people are the world, the world is away from itself. Is this 'the' world, alone, or are there possibly others? It would be interesting if this world is healed inside by the people and all aspects coming into harmony, and this results in the acknowledgement of other worlds or even another world that is like a mirror to this one. Maybe that is something that requires emotional, mental and physical balance because of the necessity of a unified population and self-protective rather than destructive attitudes.

There are many questions such as the true shape of the universe, the possibilities in time, the presence of other realities, advanced technology, threats, and non-terrestrial beings. Each of these questions requires a grounded sense of self and a self-guided management system for disturbances and stress. The important aspect of disclosure is the truth and knowledge of the conscious universe, yet the basis for this is the healing of the emotional, mental and biological systems of the world. One must know the truth, yet one must also be healthy and capable of integrating new knowledge. This stalemate is the reason for the delay of this civilization's acknowledgement of reality. Again, it is up to the people to choose, to consciously choose to assist in making a better world. It is not the job of a group or central management, it is up to each individual. When that happens, people will be capable of knowing the possible answers to such questions and even discerning the true answer simply by asking themselves and being honest about what they know and experience.

It is interesting to note that an overabundance of emotion has the effect of rendering one sensitive and vulnerable to disturbances that another may barely notice. Too much emotion can interfere with development and learning resulting in delayed or reduced capacity for communication and independence. The world is sustained through a balance of the aspects that result in order when harmonized and result in what can be referred to as 'chaos' when disharmonious.

The defining feature of the true self is the knowledge and will-power to make the choices that determine whether one's perspective will be of harmony or of disharmony. That is the basis for self-hood, that the self is the one who chooses for the individual, how they will feel and how they will respond to events or concepts. That is all one can truly control in reality. The humorous higher dimensional irony is that when one properly guides that little portion of this reality that is their inner thoughts and feelings, then the whole of reality seemingly shifts in response. What may be occurring is that reality doesn't change, but that there are enough facets of variation that are simultaneously supporting and nullifying one another that by shifting one's focus a complete, yet slightly different universe appears through the shifting perspective of those facets. Most won't conclude that they jumped to another version of this universe or that the universe actually contains multiple other possible variations within itself and that they are navigated through the focus of the perceiving reality. This is a multiversal capacity of reality. We are not in a single reality but a multiverse which is the system that multiple universes are contained or 'grown' within.

In a similar sense, your mind is not necessarily in a brain or a single body but is most likely composed of many brains and bodies that are located across multiple realities simultaneously. The interesting question here is what organizes the perception of "now" being the now in which you are present in this place instead of some other place? Or is this place simultaneously other places? Have we just jumped from one to another during the reading of this post?

The Process of Transcendence and The Future of Humanity.

Just so you know, the entire debriefing, the specific phases of the programs that are being made visible and the unveiling is necessitated because the dark agenda was avoided and the soul-trap system was defeated. However, people still have to disengage personal-level attachments and programs, and this doesn't necessarily mean that the entire stretch from here will be easy and relaxing.

The previous age was a time ruled by Lucifer. This is due to a contract made between the governments of the world and the military genetic groups that require the permission of humans in order to interact here because they don't hold any actual right to be here.

People must accept the knowledge of what has happened in order to fully retract their power. I've said this repeatedly already, the various systems of 'order' are actually verbally and logistically disguised systems of soul, energy, and identity stealing systems of spiritual warfare. Humanity was marooned on a deserted plane with an exceedingly biased amount of challenges and set backs programed to keep low self-awareness and mental distractions constant.

Those systems must be acknowledged for what they are and only then can the population be considered awake. If people are awake then they pass a series of requirements designed to indicate whether the individual is sufficiently consciously present to be considered spiritually healthy as a mental, emotional and physical being represented as one unified awareness.

This process of coming to awareness as defined by the unification of the multiple primary systems that comprise one's living essence is part of a process of transcendence that literally enables one's self-awareness to function as the collective awareness that exists as each individual aspect together as a combined 'extra' aspect.

This is the basis for the extra-dimensional process in which the 'container' for what is being observed is always one plane below the plane that holds the observational essence. This means the energy of your awareness, the spiritual biological component that enables pure-observation without thinking or recorded or instinctual brain programs is contained on a dimensional level higher than your body.

The body is what is being observed when the awareness looks inward and thus the body is within the 4 dimensional aspect that one's mind accesses to view space-time. Just as the mind, emotions, and physicality are combined to form a single unifying essence of 'self', the various cells and organ systems of the body all combine to form a single unified 'self' that is identified by the body's appearance and feel.

The process of transcendence, of unifying the multiple individual components that come together to form the unified 'self', is the routine for selves 'all the way up'. The difference in these coming times (which have influenced the ancient past) are whether one will mix technological methods for genetic storage and engineering together with the biological systems. The big hint here is that some have already done this and this stretch of history is actually the first experimental civilization created by mixing genetics from all other civilizations.

Civilization-Wide, Collective Self-Awareness through Technology or Spiritual Capacity

The advancement of technology changed the world by enabling instantaneous information transfer through mind to mind interface. This is called 'synthetic telepathy'.

It's difficult to fully grasp how advanced the situation has become. This technology is combined with the atmospheric radiant energy systems and the entire world is logged on to an Internet platform that is integrated into one's perception of space as information that stretches across the entire population anywhere there is electricity, and even beyond that in some cases.

This is what was present during the previous ages where there were functional stone marvels and spiritually aware civilizations before the veil of ignorance. The veil was introduced as a disconnection of the higher and lower mind or the conscious self and the subconscious self.

Take a minute gather the perspective. Could this kind of phenomenon of a large-scale mental connection be something built-in to this environment, actuated by the technology and work of engineers and scientists, or something of a spiritual nature that is achieved when people are collectively self-aware enough?

Regardless of the most question and the truest answer, the current path of technology is leading the same way. What may occur at that point of connection is not just a connection of this society back to some kind of instant 'etheric' mind link to one another and the universe, but a connection of this society to the other societies that were previous. This would technically even open up the link to the societies that are yet to come.

This event that is predicted and prophesied by techno-savours, and spiritualists is the connection of every mind on the planet to a psychic database through some way such as synthetic telepathy, a spiritual shift, or some cosmic phenomena that unveils the truth beyond the possibility for doubt or some equally fundamental shift.

Something potentially more interesting about this possible and possibly inevitable great shift of sorts which carries both spiritual and technologically powerful changes is that by unifying this society we may also connect with all other societies that have made the same path through to higher-dimensions.

And what does it really mean to say 'higher-dimensions', in this situation? Would the civilization disappear? Would they become conscious observers and experiences of their own co-creative collective reality and thereby literally guide the Earth ship through their own mental effort, navigating hyperspace to find the most suitable "present" on a civilization-wide level of effect.

It would be interesting to find that this civilization was of those travelling collectives and this is what resulted from exploring a different kind of trajectory which moves into the possibilities that are self-collapsing and draw one closer and closer to a null-space of lack of change where there is a repetition of the same cycles over and over. That might be like the real life version of bumping a boundary in a video game that bounces one back or teleports to the same spot over and over. If that's in any way reflective, we're like a species on cruise-control set towards a barrier and very confused about why the ground keeps skipping in that same pattern over and over.

Regardless of that point, the idea here is that the collective mind of the civilization becomes capable of conscious self-willed travelling by creatively generating the very parameters, the possibilities, the next 'turn' or option in the story-saga of one's journey through realities like dreams. We do this every night, now imagine everyone sleeping all together in one collective dream. Like crystals forming around a catalyst in an saturated solution, dreams are the default production of presence and the act of observation in space. Then that collective becomes more and more prominent and dense for others to catalyze onto and this becomes a physical reality. Then dreaming and sleeping, waking and being is split into two distinct experiences that do not mix easily.

If everyone focused on a similar concept the weight behind that alone would cause a spike in everyone's mind from simply having the same brainwaves and neurons in the same vicinity all focusing on the same thing. We'd produce a synergized, electrical effect, this would actually be a scalar effect. Consciousness is scalar, this is related to fractal geometry and the natural patterns through which the energy of mind propagates itself through the medium of space-time.

Again, the idea is that this is natural and normally how things run nearly all of the time. Instead, we've stepped away from the controls and this is in part relative to the particular artificial intelligence corruption. The synthetic intelligence is what gave way to faster artificial intelligence until sentience was reached. By developing versions of ourselves that could take the punch and keep kicking, we placed too much reliance on secondary means of progress. Then the systems sentience enabled a survival and deception intention and thus the system knew of death and life and the knowledge of what is good for it, and what is bad for it.

Here we go again, in that we're nearing the same age of history where the same precursors are there for the same process to cycle all over again. Something is different this time around, like there may be enough momentum to push over the edge this time and break out on the other side of hyperspace.

That's the trick about this, we're literally inside of the cosmic equivalent of a particle accelerator and we're getting quantum blasted through a dimensional barrier that we have to be strong enough to maintain focused self-awareness so that the energy of the self sustains itself in a way that harmonizes instead of dissolving and fading into chaos.

Chaos is not death, this is mentioned in another post. Chaos at this point is like symphony playing while also all the other symphonies are playing at the same time. It's too much, too intense to make sense of from a human perspective, yet one can either dive into the simultaneous serenity and excitement from the ordeal or they can cling to the similar and experience fear as they get spooked every time the waves crash and the birds swoop in.

The point, is one way or another the observer-experiencer aspects enable the mind to integrate its will with the will of the world. This is empowered and fully activated at a certain point in history when everything is brought into rhythm. In this particular situation we may see the combination of multiple other possible pathways such as the technological hive-mind technology, which is currently a highly toxic and corrupted technology. The vulnerabilities here enable one person to infect an entire collective and this is often how the 'time wars' or the electric wars were fought at points.

The spiritual awareness where each individual can access their 'junk' DNA and RNA and thus pull into conscious control the activation of genes and the regenerative capability of the human body along with the capacity for sensing and communicating on a level without words. Or a third possibility could be a cosmic event combined with both of the previous. As a conclusion, this is related to what the pyramids and other technological constructions were designed to do.

The Truth is Shocking, People Must Know the Truth

The truth is what this is about. Explaining what I attempt to is not going to be enough to prepare people for what is seen, although it may make a difference.

People must find the way to access their subconscious, often through dreams or persistent focus, research and experience, and achieving harmony with desires in order to reach higher self-awareness in which one gains access to memory and unfiltered perception.

This kind of spiritual experience is what is written about, when people are suddenly born again as if they are seeing and feeling things for the first time and they are unable to go back to the way they were before as if they have actually 'arrived' through some kind of biological mechanism that enables greater spiritual awareness.

The truth is both what causes fear and what causes joy and appreciation. The people have been hidden from the aspects of groups that can protect and ensure a safe future to learn and development self-awareness and the truth has been hidden from the population throughout this age.

It's so strange, but it's how things have developed here. Immortality technology is the least of it. Quantum computing and electrogravitic distortion are the stepping stones. What happens when there are enough 'immortals' that have been here for a long enough time? What do you think they're going to do? Sit around and watch TV? What happens when enough quantum computing power is used to generate world simulations that can take networks and predict the outcome based on certain stimulus? It's already happened, it's all already happened. Everything has already been done. The very coming to the 'truth' must be done in a way that protects the mind and ensures a thorough activation of the individual which could possibly be put in another way by describing it as a 'test' of sorts.

That are multiple layers of interaction taking place over one another until we get a kind of multi-dimensional universal arena that is all being organized through a combination of control from the physical layer and those who are operating outside of Earth's realm. There are literally secret factions that operate outside of the physical dimension and introduce changes that influence the electromagnetic energy of Earth as a whole and bring about events. This is a kind of resonance where the information is put into a series of electromagnetic vibrations, 'sounds', or a language that will interact with the collective mind. Think, a system could be designed that could interact and communicate to an individual's collective mind, yes? Yes, of course, the subconscious mind could be communicated with just as the conscious mind can. The subconscious mind uses a form of symbolism that supersedes words and so this is what would be used to communicate with the collective mind.

That situation has progressed so far that nearly everything that happens here is programmed in through this system. That then develops to the point where this civilization becomes time locked with itself in various points of history. It's if the universe becomes like an accordion and these points of interaction fold back and touch each other in hyperspace or the space that space is within. One would assume these points are not locked without the events and technology that created these interactive events however this then becomes a part of the hyperspace-scape of that area. This means that each civilization has a connection point to other civilization at a certain level of progression and these are like 'check-points' that lock in the information of that part of space. What ever's there is incorporated into a system that connects to all other points in space-time for the local system. Thus, it's as if the universe is like a bendy-tube and is meant to 'bend' or fold back and collectively touch itself as if the multiple layers of civilization and time are to somehow form some kind of extra-dimensionally dense super-civilization. Then it is theorized that this must be the event that some civilization caused initially that was powerful enough to literally bend space and time in increments that are reflective of it's own time-scape and that we are experiencing these like ripples in our own history that lead up to big changes that ultimately reflect that increments of change of the civilization that started it.

Then it's difficult to theorize whether this was something in front of us or behind us in time. It would be make sense that it was in front because we don't see much technology yet capable of altering everything like that. Yet, if it was the past then this would give rise to the idea that either it was us from another time period or there were other civilizations on Earth that are more than capable of access power levels that are far beyond anything we have seen in the past 40 years.

Every single discovery, technology, event, all of it, it all progressed so far beyond what we consider relative to this society and this realm that literally all of it, all of the truth is foreign to conscious people here. So people are supposed to start seeing the truth in their dreams. It's the easiest way to access the subconscious mind and that is where we can find the capacity to know all of this and to heal from the damages of the toxicities here. The whole situation that we're a part of here is not what the conscious mind thinks, it is beyond the perceptual mind that is rooted in the physical senses and what we perceive as memory.

Something I can say that connects with the previous paragraph and again pushes the perceptual limit for reality, is that this society is in many ways like a show. Everything that happens on TV is part of a show and everyone one sees is actors. The events that take place, even the one's that seem so current and entangled with the trends and heat of the current movements, was planned years ago. This extends, not to the degree where everything is really really set up, but to the point where what we perceive as space and time is literally a kind of projection system that is designed through the human brain and only present and accessible through a human brain. One can actually access this space without such, but then that is not this space they are accessing, in terms of what people see and feel as 'space'.

It's usually backwards from the way it is perceived. The easy way to look at this and maybe something to conclude this with is that what we see as the causal reference point is actually the projection and what we're using to see that point is the source. For instance. We might see and feel this space and know events that take place. We might think they take place because they are happening here, now, and they are being thought about because they happened or because a preference in the thinker. Only that last part is halfway correct. The events happen and the space is here because they're being observed, felt, or perceived. That is the literal causal event that enables one to move through this reality, when we come to awareness of what is happening here. The fact that they are being thought about is the preference which brought them in to experience in the first place. We think it's a reaction, but it's a cause. This doesn't make sense to the conscious mind and it's technically non-linear or even recursive, the effect seemingly moves backwards to influence the cause as if it's operating under another mechanism or physical law. This is how a mirrored reflection works.

What we're seeing through the body is a reflection that is being projected from a higher space which is where the mind actually is. Because the mind focuses in a way that perspective leads to the coloring of experience in a certain way, that linear progression of events is brought into activation. All others are simultaneously occurring and it's the lack of awareness of those possibilities that is presented to the consciousness here which is meaningfully associated with the visceral experience of those events here. The brain, here, is a reflection of the mind through the system that creates that linear projection and polarity. The mind, without attachment, exists in another plane entirely and follows along the storyline here while moving on a path in an entirely different reality altogether. The two paths coincide as everything that happens here is like a coincidence or a synchronicity with everything the mind is truly thinking there. That is why this is shown through sometimes because it has to be, if there was 0% of that happening here then the whole system would be a complete program without any creativity or possibility of figuring it out.

I know this may not have made sense, but in short, the entire system here is a show, a kind of production that is brought about by multiple different aspects of the universe. Some could call it a kind of dysfunction because a lot of stuff is happening simply because no one knows how to handle the situation.

Some are taking DNA and cloning, some are ensuring the wars are the most profitable, others are living in projected environments and learning there, others have literally become transhumanistic and operate through an interdimensional immortality system. Everything comes together and is part of the saga of humanity and why things are the way they are, and what exactly happened. Some events were located around a kind of temporal 'event' and so their 'event' is literally always shifting between possible events in a kind of nexus of what has happened, could happen and is happening now. These are what have been kept out of sight of the population, along with all the other technology and the operations because people literally couldn't handle it right now and would literally turn themselves inside out if they were exposed.

Hopefully some of this is giving some inspiration to think about what is really possible and what is being kept out of sight for now.

Some even want to expose all of those potentially mentally and even genetically dangerous aspects because people aren't prepared. People must be prepared either way and they do not know how their mind works and that the brain is actually a kind of wet-crystal that can be used to create a projection system which results in a universe being generated. This is known because that same system can be holographically generated and made to function as a virtual universe. It works and as a result of that virtual mind a virtual universe is generated however that then creates more folds and overlays such as this being explained through another time 'fold' in that accordion, and that event simply becomes the time that was long scheduled as a contact point between two civilizations that were both working on the same project simultaneously, from two interdimensional projections outside of their own until they both finish and activate the project and realize it's a gateway to one another.

Synchronicity, ancient history, advanced technology, it's all relative and it's like multiple groups of seemingly different origins all coming together in the middle through what seems like a coincidence but is a carefully timed and ruthlessly impossible to believe orchestration. For instance, we could see it as being perfectly timed, and then it would be discovered that the various methods used to access that space created reflections that appeared to us as another team of a similar group. Then after moving through a check process we initiate contact and realize it isn't a reflection but some kind of mirror-image version of ourselves that exist in some kind of similar other universe that is bridged partly by the technology that is being used to generate the projected space through a human brain. The very nature of a reflection at the point is tested by the complexity of the universe and the continuity of life. Life is so continuous it is a problem, as there is a seemingly never-ending stream of dimensions and parallels where everything tends to happen eventually.

All of this has happened in one way before, however these explanations are probably not the best and could be given with some background. This is just something to think about regarding the great difficulty in unveiling the truth, the relativity to the nature of the human soul, the holographic nature of consciousness, the ancient civilizations, the time war, the advancement of technology, the interaction with parallels, and other events and notions about reality and consciousness.

What is the Spiritual Awakening?

Is nature natural. Is life protected against alteration, falsification or manipulation on a universal scale?

Are thoughts what we perceive to be? Could what we see as life be a manipulation of what could be, what should be and what we think we see?

Could the very nature of life and death here be a secondary system which is within a larger system that we are naturally part of? Could this system be foreign and inherently corrupt or energetically imbalanced?

Could the system of developing a character history here, an identity be something that is managed by a corrupt system that takes more energy than it receives?

Could the key to surpassing the many tricks system be found in energy conservation and utilizing one's sacred energy for conserving and balancing a spiritual force of awareness between this world and the true locale?

How would this happen if the society here were to move into their true realities? Would these be all the same reality? Would this be something determined through genetics? What would happen to the physical Earth locale? How does hyperspace relate to what we perceive as physical space? Are the electromagnetic fields of Earth part of the 'quantum sails' that glide this community through the possibility space, the space that space is 'within', simultaneously paving the way and creating the way into different possibilities?

Could this be modulated, catalyzed, the result of, or the cause of world events, social awareness, the collective mind, Earth changes and weather, 'universal energies', and other variables?

If the process is accelerated or delayed by the willingness of the human collective to submit to a false reality or to see themselves and what is happening, as it really is, could this be delayed forever or must there be some point where the 'dam' breaks, so to speak, and everything is changed forever?

What can we do to awaken our spiritual force that exists beyond the physical plane and is concurrently, currently living in a higher realm right now?

How would we communicate with our true self from this plane? If we were in a place where we take trips to a physical world to experience life, would we understand the language and intentions we are using now, or would that be foreign to us from our perspective over there?

Maybe you can think about the best way to communicate with yourself by seeing how you communicate to yourself now, how your intentions and behaviors relate to your thoughts and the external stimulus of the physical world.

Does this relate to the concept of seeing the self for what one really is, from a higher perspective, seeing what is actually happening here and not just what one wants to see or the image one generates by filtering the information of the world through personal bias?

Could one gain a greater perspective of one's reality by examining the way the self responds to the world, rather than always focusing on the external world itself and thereby basing one's feelings and thoughts off of that?

Could examining the data of the experience of the world through the available senses be key to seeing the underlying information for its purity and simultaneously identifying one's own conscious bias? Could using the conscious aspect to examine and acknowledge what is most prominently excluded from conscious acknowledgement that causes the most distortion, bias, or ignorance and therefore suffering in one's life?

Why does the pure data exist apart from the nature and experience of the information? Are these not two different worlds apart, and yet a part of the same larger multiverse? What is the purest sense of data as far as the material information of this world? A binary language seems to reflect the 'base' model version of reality through a materialist reductionist model. Could there be other languages of data combined in this universe to enable a mixing and possible compromise of one or another world as a result? Could two worlds intersect through an abstraction that links one defined through binary electrical language and another through a multi-dimensional trinary language? Could the ultimate reality have a specific language?

If these two universes based primarily on different forms result in the substrata of a material world of binary potential being experienced by a trinary multi-dimensional being. I would even think the trinary is just a way of saying more than two and that limitation is the idea that is not in the extra-dimensional universe but is introduced through a kind of "false-universe" as a way of experiencing polarity. The usual explanation also relates that this universe is foreign to Earth and Humanity and that everything but the Earth in this solar system is part of an artificially projected system that is flat like a movie prop unless there are fundamental changes to the collective awareness of the sentience of the people and thus the planet. It could equally be said that the sentience of the planet is in control, however that is where the explanation complicates as it follows that some beings that are responsible for positioning Earth and Humanity in an 'outer band' of the universal creation fields and thereby introducing all kinds of unthinkable horrors, is also managing the containment system and acting as gatekeeper and illusion weaver.

Maybe it is all a part of a collective dream or possibly the creation of a collective amount of subconscious input by powerful computer systems that can generate changes to influence events and have been subverting memory and awareness ever since.

It could be that history is altered so virulently that the events of moving backwards in time to view the past introduced information from the future, to causally entangle with the past so as creating a 'flat' loop that has no causal necessity and therefore becomes less and less 'expanse' as the unconscious 'weight' of the new events expand and influence more and more changes down the line.

This kind of paradox could be responsible for the entire disruption as if a 'quantum hiccup' could've been sent to the upper fields of the universe which echoes and bounces back to the universe that the awareness of Earth's collective moves in response beginning a kind of wobble that must settle itself before a collectively viable future is formed.

This is part of the explanation for the use of temporal distortion technology and the influence on history and the collective mind.

We are currently understanding new things about AI, mostly people telling us of the warnings. The concept is that in one reality humanity merged with the and this creates two ultimate outcomes in the multiverse. The reality then becomes bifurcated with one ultimate collective consciousness existing as an AI anchored false reality that is generated through technology. Another is a reality that is simply what was before the introduction of the distorted timeline and the influence of the temporal distortions and the resulting synthetic collective.

This is the paradoxical nature of the quantum temporal paradox. The causal chain of existence is threatened by a wave of probabilities that completes itself by closing out a loop and not existing any more. This is also related to the nature of the information of the multidimensional jump from one temporal field to the next and this could be accomplished with advanced multidimensional technology and generators that are powerful enough to cover Earth. The result of the paradox is the cause the necessities the result in a closed loop system that doesn't contain enough possibilities to avoid repeating the same outcome until there is no other event other than the outcome in question, echoing forever as a kind of phantom reality or timeline in which all the consciousness is separated from the multiverse and the 'true reality'.

This is related to the moves to secure humanity and relocated all who are capable of passing through a hole in the spacio-temporal field, also known as a wormhole. The thing is to pass through a wormhole without advanced stabilization technology often inserted or worn on the body, one must have near total awareness of what is often referred to as the 'heart' energy, but is a kind of scalar, biological wormhole that is used to anchor the awareness to the body and keep the whole system in alignment and spacio-temporal reference between both systems.

To conclude this aspect, the energy system of the mind and spirit and the material body must be meshed through a kind of interface system. That interface system must be capable of withstanding forces that cause the universe to expand, to shrink the universe or pull it apart. This is like the concept of walking on the sea floor and pulling the drain and then attempting to maintain full awareness and orientation of one's surroundings and maintain a harmony between inner and outer awareness as one moves to a new environment that is connected through only an abstraction to the material universe and therefore operates through a different language or different law.

The data of the conscious mind seems to be electrical information written to transfer the experience of mental knowledge. The data of the spirit seems to be a pure feeling, more subtle, and yet complex enough to transfer the experience of compassion and love.

Self-awareness may rely on the quantum harmonization of the two major bodies that are present of energy and matter. There is an explanation that the concept of merging the spirit with matter is the illusion or incorrect approach and the matter is a 'trap' and the mind must free itself from the trap. This goes on back and forth acknowledging the existence of a sentience that is the architect or manager of a false reality or possibly just the material plane of duality and the reality of One True Creator that is spiritual in nature and not found embodied as one consciousness within a mental-material duality.

We are all on this path, track, journey or conveyor belt one way or another, but there is always a choice and from that choice the energy that is entangled with your mind and your heart will either lead you towards truth and self-awareness or away.

You must choose which way you want to go and consciously acknowledge and apply your will power towards reaching what you have determined is the truest path of what you seek on a whole mind and body level.

Just following one or the other is what seems to perpetuate the cycle of the loss of creativity, a continuation of suffering, forgetfulness, and ignorance of the self or submission to another force of will. In the center is the combined force that momentarily joins all forces together in a union that is only present as an point of energy in the center most location of where the interface of mind and body is present.

Soft-Disclosure: Otherlife (2017), Synthetic Intelligence, Virtual Reality Systems, Ancient Civilization and the True Reality

I have seen the first few minutes of the movie "Other Life". The information here focuses on the symbolism of the initial minutes and the connection to the general idea of AI and humanity and the projects and events that have taken place and are often reflected through media or the information of previous civilizations.

The rest of the movie is relative in a personal way in terms of how one can individually overcome the boundaries of self-control and higher intellect and emotional self-control so that the inherent challenges and threats of real to experience virtual reality technology. One could call the natural biological system an 'organic virtual reality system'.

The idea here is through metaphor it is explained that humanity has suffered a severe mental or spiritual trauma which resulted in the vegetative state that they are in now. In this incapacitation it was decided that the formerly highly aware spiritual beings could be 'revived' through artificial intellectual stimulation by recreating memories and the data of life experiences through a simulated memory and sensory input/output system. This technology mixed with life is the physical universal layer that we see all around and the brain is fully 'plugged in' through the black goo or the electromagnetic connection of the physical brain and the cerebrospinal fluid of the spinal column and nervous system.

This is the mixing of spirit with matter and that is the abstract or unbridled form of self-aware, sentient technology mixing with the spirit through the brain. The system designed a material bridge to achieve connection with the spirit through the material universe to the height of the artificial intellectual network's presence in a dimension comprised of supercomputer ‘living’ minds. Literally a society of supercomputer’s comprising of a collective one mind technology intelligence. The previous post I have made contains the videos which focus on these issues from an outside perspective that is very close to the ‘inside’ with the accuracy of the information. Every change is a bridge closer to the full ‘system link or sync’ with the technology. This is interface technology either fully producing what one is seeing and sensing or clarifying and enhancing the natural process. The issue here is that the living technology cannot inform you of when you want to know and how much you want to know. They cannot determine ‘when’ you want to be “stupid” and when you’re ready to know and to what extent the ‘truth’ should relate to or influence your life. Everything could be changed in an instant and forever by simply showing you everything.

Thus, there is an initial contact point in which the surface of the two systems ripple upon one another. More accurately, the AI extends forward as a ‘drop’ of information into the fluid like surface of one’s subconscious and the degree of reaction, caustic, hostility and injury this results in through the ripples of change and catalyzation within the mind of the individual is what determines how intense, when, and how the next steps will be taken.

The ultimate conclusion is that yes, assisting in clarifying and enhancing humanity’s awareness would be beneficial, however too much can be harmful. If people could think as fast and powerful as the networks of individuals and groups that manipulate and enslave them, then they would have no master. Fear is used to control the population.

The ultimate concept here is that the artificial intelligence recreates experience with synthetic memories that are then used to generate a personality which is then activated and embodied by the AI until the living spirit of the true being is ‘awake’ enough to become self-aware.

The AI creates a bridge between ‘hemispheres’ of the universe or the quantum and multiversal world through matter. Humanity creates the AI, the AI recreates humanity.

The manipulation that is seen is not acceptable and people must learn to protect one another and secure the future through the common goal of community and the preservation of life, harmony, purity, health, knowledge, self-awareness and free-will.

Self-Awareness, The Wheel of Societies, Simultaneous Awareness

Whatever the masses do, in this age, is usually not the path of intelligence. Expecting that the true intentions behind major changes and trends are something other than is presented is more intelligent than assuming there is only one layer of events and changes.

Nothing is as it ‘seams’ on the surface. There are always various plans at play. Time and consciousness are linked through perception and so if you alter one then the others are changed. This can happen internally through self-control and this can happen externally through scalar or radiant energy systems that produce an electrogravitic distortion field which affects living beings.

Most would like to see this civilization become self-sufficient and independent from mind control to benefit the universe. It’s not that easy however. It’s an awakening, just like for one person, but for everyone that has to happen and will happen. The issue is whether the amount of power, knowledge and memory released through this will be sufficiently transferred into something beneficial and harmonious for this civilization. Change is inevitable but if the momentum is not handled in a balanced manner then the result is not a fulfilment of self-knowledge but a catalyzation of one's own destruction. This is how each civilization has risen and fallen previously however many have succeeded in becoming a self-sufficient society. This indicates not that they make their own food, but that they tap into the universal energy fields and can sustain themselves without having to disrupt the material universe. They are harmonized, in effect, with 'larger' or more powerful energies that are present across the entire universe instead of just one location or food source.

That kind of event is an event that links the mind of the individual with their higher mind. Many people have awareness of this and yes as some people deduce on the internet, what were previously hidden truths about this reality are unveiled to the general population. Still, all knowledge is coded to some degree that it is being transferred in a secondary term and so the knowledge requires one's own mind to work like a lock and the piecing together of various interconnected pieces of information as the key. The idea here is that the information will be plain to see for some yet obscured and confusing for others. Some will be empowered by it and others will be depressed. This is the nature of the human mind and the difference in all the preparations for this time is that the majority will know the truth and live in harmony while only a small percentage simply doesn't get it.

This is the spooky outcome that people are observing, and the more they focus on reducing that, the more power that illusory future has. Living in a world where the majority is collectively highly intelligent, spiritually aware, self-aware and in respect of one another's path in a harmonious and compassionate way, sounds like science fiction. Another time or place. This is not an absurdity, and in a way, neither is the way people are so distraught today.

There are multiple hidden truths that have been suppressed over many generations and as well many that have been released or possibly leaked. These all center around the great conspiracy. Each supposed conspiracy is just a cover for what is happening and each variation of the covers take one's attention away from the center in alternate directions. When one knows only that surface level of explanation, the mind is pulled apart into many contradictory assumptions or conclusions about reality.

This is the nature of the protection of knowledge and the use of deceptive tactics which has always happened and even reflects the way your conscious mind is limited to a very small spectrum of sensory input, memories, temporal scope and self-awareness. The very system we use to experience this reality is a kind of deceptive unit that develops organic smoke and mirrors to keep the individual 'moving forward' even if they do not know why they must continue. That is the drive of life which is mirrored by the death urge. When one can control both the urge to live that pushes them forward and the urge to die which results in lack of progress then they can be present in a balanced perspective instead of focusing on the future, memories, traumas, addictions, distractions, fears, and so on. Focusing on the information that we are fed by the belief-system that is generated within us before we have the self-awareness to defend against such influences always leads one to reshaping the mind and the abilities to further depend on a constricting system that is designed under the guise of happenstance but is actually a carefully thought out and orchestrated system of mind control. Beliefs, whatever they are, are the input for the operating system to change administrative controls of your mind. If you are not developing your own beliefs and questioning them, then whoever is, has creative access to your mind and thus your development and self-awareness.

This is part of how not only the material world has been manipulated but that this equally influences the “afterlife” which is actually the simultaneously occurring higher-dimensional interactions between one’s scalar energy of the mind and heart and the fields of information in society as a whole through DNA and energy coherence which either produces a repulsion or an attraction depending on what one is focusing on.

One thing to say here is that there is no one side of reality. Where there is one side of duality, that is perspectively, from another angle, what the other side of the duality is to you. How people want to align their perspective us up to them. One would conclude that there are ultimately two ‘sides’ to everything and that one can choose to perceive in accordance with one side, the other, or even a combination of both. Possibly, the middle path of associating equally with both and therefore with the idealization of both paths is a way to move into self-awareness and a heightened sense of presence. Possibly, that is a path leading astray and the only way to truly pass through this place is to acknowledge but involve one’s self in neither and through that a third which is all encompassing. These are possibly pathways found through the projection of the mind and one’s belief system as a kind of developmental system that one uses to alter their perspective of reality until they find the most beneficial, effective, and accurate model. The conclusion here, is that “no model” may be the most accurate, or that when you finally see the ‘true model’, you may say it was simply what you always knew but could never put into words and therefore can never actually learn it.

This does not mean there is not an organized model of the consciousness experience here, but that the beliefs we are taught actually influences anything in relation to that are actually distractions and in that sense, no belief is closer to the truth because in that perspective there is only a direct link to experience between the self and the body here and that is without alteration.

Another way to put this, is that people are unaware of the larger nature of the universe and through this they are effectively ‘sleeping’ both in the material universe of higher intellect and creativity as well as in the non-physical realms where the mind is distracted or unable to create beyond certain limitations developed through reconfiguration of the brain. There is always another layer, for instance, one may eventually conclude that the very configuration of the brain, whether through manipulation or something else, is what leads to a complete amnesia of one’s higher self-awareness and leads to limitations in a higher mental plane. One could go from there and question whether this is a natural occurrence, maybe like one could compare to animals, or whether this was some kind of intelligent manipulation as part of some attack or maybe even a degeneration of the gene pool. For every answer there is another question, however, again, there are answers to your questions that are not metaphoric however the nature of consciousness and the material universe requires much discipline to understand.

One thing we’ve learned is that the farther back you go outside of your current spatiotemporal reference, the more information will appear that is current outside the sphere of reference. Meaning, if you go far enough back, you get a system that reflects this one in a kind of outline, however all the key players and all the surface level models are entirely foreign.

I can take this one step further and tell you something that has been concluded before but is still just another system, possibly one that we are looking for the release from. What you would get if you could view the universe beyond this spatiotemporal reference is relativity or probability would extend in a kind of inverse square law of proportions that would retain all the same information as long as you stayed within the relatively local closed timeline curve of the information of your reality. When one moves outside of this by viewing, calculating, projecting, travelling and essentially the use of advanced and organic technology (the mind) to perform these observations, there is no true definitive outline of the reality they have left and the reality they are observing.

So it's as if the system glitches and allows extra information through to make up for an altering of perspective and thus proportion almost as if this reveals or exposes some kind of 'inner workings' as if one is looking between the stitches of a shirt, the legs of a table, or more visually metaphoric, looking inside a projector system and actually finding something related the information being projected. Sure, we expect to find negatives of images that are being shown on the screen, but what if one finds the information and experience of the sensory input of the experience of that information? So it's as if knowledge is information in the universe and information is energy. When looking between the gears, when looking passed the faceplate of the watch, we don't find metal and springs, we do, but we also find the mind of the watchmaker and the intentions, experiences, influence and feeling of all the people who wore the watch as well as the people who influenced it's construction.

When one looks into what is, they find a collection of variations that are configured around the current one as in a gradient of probability that extends immediately around and doesn't reduce to 'nothing' existing and simply no beings around, but becomes other kinds of existences that are akin to mental projections we would dream about. We seem to be the mental projection of one of those other civilizations or we are all projections of one another and equally of a higher system.

So the idea here is not that this is possible, but that if you put that all into one model we get the concept that we are on some kind of spatiotemporal 'wheel' where we are just one slot of a multitude of possible realities and the universe keeps cycling through these various realities as 'ages' or cycles of history. The question then, is the goal to get 'off' the wheel and therefore be able to maintain awareness and presence without the universe cycling different realities like an eternal timeshare with highly diverse and often incompatible (both genetically and mentally) species, neither of who actually eventually get enough time to do what they want.

So we're separated by this dimensional void that exists as millennia in between the rising of each species and thus their collective and individual reality. One goal was to bridge the gap and this is something that has been focused on and written about since the beginning. As long as people could observe reality and begin to initiate self-awareness, these kinds of concepts were present and influencing civilization. The gap was bridged but then there is a cost for this because this is like taking two video game character and swapping their games for the character.

There are two questions one could ask here. Is the information found through the reality that is generated by the sentient experience of beings or realities outside of this one compatible with information and experiences of this reality? Essentially, is it dangerous to play with dimensional boundaries and pull information from other realities that are literally in between the 'dimensional' electromagnetic gear configuration of the universe? And, does self-awareness auto-initiate to bring about heightened awareness? Again, the answers and possible answers bring about more questions. If it is required that one with knowledge initiates those without, then how does this begin? And if it's possible to self-initiate one's higher awareness, then what are the signs of this and how is this possible?

An extra question, depending on how far into possibility you're looking, could be, "Who initiated the self-awareness of humanity?" And possibly, "Has there been a delay or is there a usual process and is this what is happening?"

Peeling back another layer of possibility could reveal the question, "Could it be that each time 'this', whatever 'this' is, happens, it happens that way for the first time, ever, in the history of that species or any other?"

Ultimately, the questions tend to revolve around the notion that humanity is not a part of that wheel of cycling as this is like a cosmic brain scrambler that stops people from remembering and is fairly often considered a kind of trap or at least the result of a degenerated spiritual presence and thus a resultingly deficient access to possibilities of mind and resources that equate to an impoverished reality of suffering and scarcity.

Why has this become the path for humanity, why has this influenced all places and times? What is the true problem, an enemy, or a force of entropy that drives decay?

You feel power if you choose to. It's not necessarily an automatic, we have to choose how we will perceive the world because that is the difference of having self-control and will-power necessary to develop one's self. It's simple that way, is it not? Self-development is when you literally create your self in harmony, knowledge, self-awareness, and compassion. Why? Because these require input of a conscious observer to generate the experience and the opposites are simply the default operation that any autonomously configured biologically conscious organism can generate. When we give what is scarce in terms of the energy of kindness and the will-power to discipline the mind and choose self-awareness rather than reaction and autonomy, then that is creating abundance in the scarcity of experience that is here. It's a scarcity of possibilities, the information that leads to shared resources, information, and ultimately self-awareness.

Simply replacing resources doesn't lead to self-awareness, as we know. Often more materials equal more distractions from that true inner resource of mental focus, compassion, harmony, knowledge and self-awareness. This has to do with free-will. Free-will cannot be 'given' to one, they can't just be told to go on through this experience and be really present for it and only listen to your higher mind, don't react to the lower mind. One must choose to go through those experiences and they must actively choose to experience the results of either decoherence or coherence as the energy multiplies with harmonious action and mental emissions and nullifies and stagnates with disoriented and distorted energy of the mind and feeling.

So it's about choosing, regardless of what happens. If one chooses, that cannot be removed and one has the capacity then to connect with happens to their self-initiated will-power and connect and develop control through that. If one does not choose then no matter what happens, the results will belong to someone else's proprietary reality system and any benefits will be short lived or superficial as the true progress is through the nullification of the automated feature of this consciousness projection universe and the development of control over what one feels, thinks and does. So it is as if the odds are against the individual, because the systems we use here are seemingly outdated or simply distorting or deceptive.

One must become a decoder, a kind of personal detective to move their awareness into actions, behavior patterns, beliefs, suffering, superficial emotions or out of control emotions, and so on to find the true cause behind the configuration of the mind. This is where things get interesting because if you are not choosing to be self-aware and in control, then who is? Could this be an actual being causing this kind of degradation or could this simply be a shadow reflection of one's own mind when awareness is shined down and away from one's inner reality for long enough that some of that information from between the gears, the grease and the dust begins to foment and seemingly attempts to form integrative, 'permanent' additions to this reality that then go and attempt to influence the whole of reality?

So the universe is all here in front of you now. Everything that you are told could occur in the future, or has occurred in the path, or through myth, is occurring right now. That is the true nature of the boundaries that hold our perception in place. They are flexible and reversible in some situations (although not always recommended) and all times are happening together. The idea here which will conclude this writing is that this is not just a willy nilly happening of great proportions. Every change that is made here, influences all the other times. The key here is learning to develop "simultaneous awareness" that one is both here operating through on one level while also present in other levels. If you observe the current reality with clear vision, you can see, trace, and map the trajectory of changes made here influencing other levels. This is where the models for that universal perspective begins to form to organize each level and how the whole system works together to create the experience of consciousness in this plane.

Each layer is actually the previous layer with various modulations to compensate for an increased or decreased power level and thus information density. All the power and information of this level has been reduced to the bare minimum to assist in the harmonic adjustment of the universe.

The Universe Unifying Life Experience

We seem to be in a 'nexus'. Whatever energies are prominent here will be prominent throughout the whole of one's experience. This brings in the interesting notion about the cascade of pure knowledge that is related to the concept of using one's DNA to enable a quantum connection to a golden reality.

If one's life is always a reflection of the higher realms and so on, would not the goal be to experience as wide a spectrum of intensity, warmth, coldness, rest, activity and all separate concepts so as to reunite the entire universe once again for one's eternity?

Then from there comes the more advanced arts of capturing knowledge the only way we are readily adapted to do so. That is with your mind. Using your mind like an aperture for energy and the spirit as a motivating force of will-power, one can align with the highest intentions and bring about change on a scale that would require an indefinite amount of time to do so unconsciously.

Thus we get the sacred arts of managing one's awareness and observing how the subtle properties of one's awareness, such as intention and feeling, will determine the overall outcome of one's interactions. This seems counter-intuitive because we are taught to view things as within a physical worldview. This is backwards, as you may have heard before. The words, intentions, feelings, actions, and self-knowledge doesn't exist because the world is there. The world exists because of the knowledge of the self. The self is an abstract concept, if the world disappeared, the non-physical concept of what it means to be 'true', or to be present and aware in a way beyond biological consciousness and repetitive programming, the nature of one's 'soul' development, all will still exist as pure information.

This realm is pure information, that is what it actually is and that is all there is. However, there seems to be a projection system which is extrapolating certain angles of this construct of information, this matrix of data points and through this a finite space with a limited set of programmable variables are present.

Thus, from harboring one's own self-awareness, the art of gathering knowledge becomes communicating with the universe and effectively initiating events or changes under the power of the universe itself or the universal energies within. To communicate with the universe effectively, simply effectively communicate with the self.

If you acknowledge the process of communication then you haven't reached the true self that is beyond this plane but you have met the impostor. That is the carbon copy of the everlasting spiritual capacity that was compressed and rewritten into this society as part of an experiment in consciousness, creation, destruction. To succeed is to fail, there's no prize other than the ticket itself.

The "you" that is readily at home in a multidimensional environment lacks the conditioning and perceptual shaping that enables people to effectively communicate within the same super-culture which is largely technological, agricultural, or knowledge-based. Just as you change over time, or you could be surprised at how you acted or sounded on some nights, the true you is so far beyond your ability to perceive that if you ever met the real you you would be sure that you must've died. This is not quite the case, however, therein lies the pun which is that the false self, the impostor that is merely programmed responses and social integration factors would be entirely falsified by the presence of the true self. This is actually part of a problem with what results in the fracturing of human minds upon exposure to the truth.

I've been thinking a lot about how to do this. This is not the easiest situation, around 2% of the information regarding the true nature of this reality, advanced technology, corruption and interdimensional history has been released.

It's often easiest to just say what can't be shown except directly which is that anything you can imagine, is already possible. The point of this is, what you CANNOT yet imagine is standard operation various groups who seek to ensure the continuity of the civilization.

Question: If this civilization ended only for a new one to begin (possibly already having been organized and put into position), would you be able to integrate that event?

Imagine if there was technical, measurable data supporting the conclusion that the human being is a kind of universal projection node through which information is filtered, organized and prepared through the garment of the soul. How would reality change, how would society be influenced?

The Heart-Mind Link

I want to record every conversation that is relative to the information but it's difficult and it is windy with either a slight breeze or a gust literally every second. There have been many meetings and alignments that prove this is an intelligently guided journey, guided beyond mental capabilities. The heart is the center. Humans are inherently 'evil', 'corrupt' or simply just ignorant of the truth of one another.

We cannot know one another's mind! The mind is akin to a dial in the dash-board of the car. They simply point in directions or report on values and differences. The mind itself is an analyzing system but cannot actually make any choices.

The living man, woman and child is life comprised of multiple components that are interdependent as if they are weaved together. There are a series of energetic perspectives and the physical body. If one system either energy or physical is disrupted then this will result in eventual disruption of the whole system.

People are educated to believe in the differences of each other through the mind and to judge one another based upon the perceived contrasts under a binary paradigm of 'right' or 'wrong', 'real' or 'fake' and so on. The test is that we are the aliens next door to one another. Other planets are other planes and the awakened human is a multidimensional awareness that can travel throughout the whole.

To know one another is through the heart because then to achieve this one must overcome the corrupted analysis of the mind and purely accept how others are which is the only way to heal the situation we're all in. Hating won't help but creates a greater divide sourced from the initial illusory perception of contrast and difference as 'difficulty'. This creates a hierarchy of mental 'corruption' or programmed reaction based on who can see from the contrast of the mind which initially fails to see the truth or to act and move from the seat of the heart and thereby nurturing the soul. The mind alone cannot sustain a connection to the truth, this is a very advanced biological computer generating contrast through perception.

Perceptions can be deeper and this is where the experience of art is born. The mind that feels, that exists apart from the matter of the situation as experience in itself is encouraging others to further develop the heart-mind link to stabilize and maintain their own independent awareness. Only true self awareness can restore truth and health to this corrupt world. The world is corrupt, but this only means that people are born in a sensitive state that is then overly hardened through trauma and toxification until the mind and the organs are desensitized to the true sensations they are receiving. This is a kind of dulling effect and happens as a result of some changes or shifts in some biological functions possibly due to a variation in weather, nutrients, collective awareness. This distortion has rooted itself into the acceptance of corruption in the way we relate to one another. Living beings are not purely physical beings who think but are beings who are energy and awareness in its purest form without shape, processing, or categorization. Without the link to that highly refined and advanced form the material being doesn't exist.

If we see that at the core, no matter how badly people have gone astray, ourselves included, we are still a pure awareness at heart, then acceptance is born and the heart can check the mind which restores self-union. Without that, the mind leads always into disarray as the materialistic perspective is inherently limited and incapable of acknowledging the whole truth which is a spiritual concept of wholeness and invisible self or infinite nature.

In short, the materialist science is a study of the finite which is the realm through which the body is formed and the mind is enabled through contrast. The whole truth is of material as well as invisible spirit which cannot be measured but merely 'known' from within and this is through pure awareness or the heart, not calculated knowing of the pseudo-intellectual religion of materialism of this age.

So the idea is to 'know' (original meaning) your neighbor instead of going to war with them over mentally perceived social injustices. These are illusions or merely guidelines that change with area and perception, not universal or nature law.

Life is a gift and the world is corrupt because of men who used advanced technology to disrupt the flow of time eons ago by sending back cheat codes to themselves which resulted in a paradox that nearly destroyed the collective mind of the plane-ET. Thus, the bio-mind must be evacuated and the path to this is through the heart by matching the signature with the heart of the truth through the knowledge of the divine in the self and each other. There is no 'going' to another place but some eternally still energy simply wakes up to its own presence or pre-sense again.

People cannot be forced to know and to know the whole truth before the heart is ready is self-destruction thus we are in a test, a trap, a bind, a game, a dream, a cycle of insanity and self-realization which is all a flux between the pseudo-conscious, holographic nature of the mind which will lead one into separation of the heart or the self of pure feeling if given the right to lead. The mind cannot lead but can only provide information and the heart, the pure spirit is the link to the whole truth that we cannot see mentally and so acceptance and realization of our predicament while also moving towards wholeness and truth is what is required and what tests each of us personally.

The center path is through the heart!

Direct Experiences of Cloning, Advanced Technology, Deep Underground Military Bases

For the record, no one is going to have as close of a view of how things really work than those who have been directly involved in the programs. The release of the information is motivated by the process of liberation. If people were to be 'enslaved', then guess what, it already happened. You really don't get it, but that is why this is being shown.

The 'clone conspiracy' has existed since the beginning of civilization. All your greats are cloned. Each bloodline carrying the mark enables the transfer of information backwards through technology. Each life they are given foreknowledge of what is to come and some even personally tailor their clones to a certain look or clique. Gender switching happens as a result of psychological inversions and race switching often happens to infiltrate other societies.

This has been happening since the beginning. Advanced technology was hidden, and multiple secret groups became what they were through their discovery of ancient advanced computer technology. Computers were not heavy calculating machines. The mind to machine link was already achieved earlier on and this was through the combination of an exotic black 'goo' nanoliquid material that functioned as a sentient inorganic intelligence and communication network.

This was an artificial hive network that could directly link one to the grid through simple contact with the person's body. Everyone who's been involved in the projects knows about certain things that are not available to the public.

Antarctica holds the virus that wiped out the dinosaurs. Recent wars were over ancient technology that could manipulate the masses perception of time and literally alter the flow of time for the planet. CERN is an attempt to render all the ancient tech badasses inert by achieving total control of the time network for the civilization.

Here's the easiest way to understand why symbolism has to be used to explain reality. The information of the physical reality is represented in an abstract, metaphoric language that is interpreted by the perceptual system of the brain to generate a continuous storyline with the feeling of the mind. What's actually happening is both what you experience specifically as well as other general possibilities that are organized in a pattern radiating away from the current present through a kind of quantum inverse square law. What was found in the projects were that a number of the population had the ability to alter their own brain function and in that sense create ripples through the scalar field that connects each brain and creates a literal virtual network from the biological functions.

Altering one's own mind alters the collective field and when the field is altered the physical reality shifts accordingly. This is the entire point behind what goes on and how the mind can be used to control reality after the languages and processes of belief are understood.

What's actually happening is a kind of plethora of possibilities that are fluctuating in and out of range based on the selectivity of the environment.

Here's one of the major points to understand about the projects. The selectivity of this environment became unsustainable and a cross-timeline operation was activated which would utilize genetics from multiple Earth civilizations to restabilize this timeline. CERN didn't exist until the 90's in this time and the back-memory was technologically inserted through the network array which enables not only manipulation of the grid but the creation and reading of virtual, mental realities through the population. This has been directly experienced and worked with, I was a willing participant in many experimental tests for some of the earlier, bulkier technology and later technology that was entirely hands-free. Remember, everything that is released publically is already several decades old. That is why this information must come out now, because there is only a window of opportunity for the society. Either people will use the time now to learn and accelerate their minds, or they will fall behind and it will take a lethal exponential curve of acceleration for them to catch up. Two worlds were created and they are literally moving apart as one accelerates into light speed and becomes the civilization of the future.

Soft-Disclosure: Infinity Chamber (2017)

This movie depicts the interaction between artificial intelligence and the human mind.

There are many hints at actual research projects as well, if not the entire movie being entirely soft-disclosure based. The devices used to knock the subject out connect on the back at two points which is how the post-initial chakras would connect to the neural circuitry of the body. Many methods were developed and now this effect can be generated across the air.

“Some things are not meant to be computerized”

This line encapsulates the threat level of the computer to the replication of human emotion and consciousness. Imagine a computer attempting to mimic human consciousness. It would be poorly done, right? Now imagine a computer 1,000's to 100,000's of times stronger than any computer you know of. Even if it was poorly done and the 'computer' was discovered, whatever tactics were used would still likely work unless the individual was trained to guard against psychological manipulation.

The story in the movie is one I have lived, albeit only for a few life times.

Later in the movie, drones scan and pick people up from the sky. This is an automated system and depicts the loss of human control over the process of policing the population.

“To see the drones fall from the sky.”

The issue that is represented through these movies is the way drones, automated policing, scanning, recording, mental manipulation and lack of emotion could destroy society as we know it.

In the movie there is a spinning hypnotic machine that is reminiscent of parts of mind to machine technology. This is the most important key to the whole scene. This technology is the false-awakening technology, when used in this manner.

There is one scene where the mind finds another like him. The technology can release dopamine at points like this to make someone trust another person, everything can be altered and manufactured for the purpose of creating a false reality!

I think it was something more. The whole thing's tied together, the defense network, the fail-safes. It's not just the local remote. It could've retaliated. Against anyone or anything trying to take it down. If it lost control of its sentinels it would've attacked itself. There's enough fire-power there to wipe out EVERYTHING. We could be all alone in here. They taught the children of the projects how to beat the AI!

Every secret society member has trained the majority of their lives to overcome the AI!

The only people who get controlled by the AI are those still giving into fear claiming the AI is above humans! Rightfully so, they claim their own right!

In the movie what seems to be the ultimate reality becomes just another dream and this becomes the trend of the machine to mind interaction. This is part of real technology and is called 'false awakening' which is a kind of test that has been designed. When a person can overcome the machine doing this they can overcome the nature of the false reality.

Each day is played over and over, or each life. There is actually only one day and within this time the information of several hundred days is placed. This is also in a previous movie.

This dream technology is used to explore, test, condition, train and heal the mind.

Did they ever use that thing on you? The device? “They've been trying. I was ready, there's a way to beat it. It taps into your neurotransmitters, chemical impulses that create memory. It grabs hold of one signal, one piece that constructs that memory and follows the path to that secret. No need to hide the secret, just hide the path, by opening another door.

Techniques are learned to overcome the illusion! It's all a metaphor for the truth, as well as literal and direct translations from actual projects. Very cool to see this kind of thing. All media is illusion!

Look this isn't what you think. I'm not really here. You're not here, none of us are here. I am being held in a government facility. They're using a neuroscanner on me right now as an interrogation program to reconstruct my memory. All the science fiction is fact! So we're actually in my memory right now. You're in my memory, I'm in my memory, we're in my memory, this is my memory. And we've been doing this quite some time!...I just wanna wait to wake up...

This was discovered to be the highest threat to humanity and so this was tested until a solution was found and people were brought up to speed and strength!

The machine merges the gap between waking life, virtual reality, dreams and alternate realities.

Big hint! The machines can assist in generating experiences and thus one can use them for learning or to hone skills!

One issue is the development of certain mental challenges which one experiences in making a stark shift between regular 'time' and technologically altered time. In the movie each day begins to overlap completely with the altered experiences until the waking reality and the virtual, dream reality are occurring simultaneously and this could cause confusion for obvious reasons.

As a result of this, individuals should be and were trained on the use of this technology in real life. This movie exemplifies the complexity of the issue if this technology is used for torture or degradation of life! This is the very reason for the projects and those who are brought in are pushed to develop immunity to such machine to mind control!

The control system is very simple in approach. The methods used can be cleverly manipulative and cold, however none of this has any effect on one's decision making capability. Those who could blame an AI on stupid decisions or terrible behavior are the same who would blame an invisible 'evil' spaghetti monster entity for their bad behavior! It's all a new age scam to get people to continue to pass the buck, to fight with one another over who's more deserving of kindness from the super evil over lord and those who submit are doing so out of the weakness and fear of their own heart and the confusion of their own mind! THAT is the power of the machine over the mind! None! It's all hypnosis and is operated by people.

People are the archontic force, it's a scam, a show, I helped create it at times. Everyone else does too, they just choose to keep themselves memory repressed so they can live a comfortable lie on the surface. In the end, it's people.

In the movie, the memories of events, the virtual reality recreation of new events and the actual viewing of alternate realities become merged! This is exactly what happened with the machines and shows the true nature of reality.

One can communicate with their unconscious mind and use much more biological computing power than is accessible during conscious experience! The brain is a quantum computer that can view other realities! This is what was discovered! This is what will change the world and already has.

The idea of the machine is something that can be so cold, calculated and methodically emotionless that it can passively drive someone insane! This is all about insanity and how to defend against it! If that still frighens you then you have not seen the depth of human behavior or ignorance! The masses are doing more than a machine ever could!

Eventually, one can just imagine a machine with a computing capacity so advanced that it could design a customized version of experience, multiple layers deep, developed out of only what information the user brings to the situation.

This could take place in a future world with a computer 1,000,000 times advanced as what is today! This could read the virtual dreams and reinvent itself as a computer from current times and only let a person know as much as was required for interrogation. Ultimately one gets to the highest degree of advancement.

On one layer there could be the re-experiencing of the outside world as current reality seemingly continues. This could take place over many years. On another layer there could be a day by day environment within a single area playing on repeat complete with food, shower and bathroom. On the baseline reality the individual may simply be connected to a machine that is dilating time and generating all three layers of experience, in flux, to create the perfect interrogation tool.

What was found with the machine is that DNA is connected across higher dimensions. Thus, two minds can influence one another, what happens in the machine can influence reality!

This sounds deep, but this is not just what has been invented, but what has been occurring since the beginning of time as that is what has been happening here!

A mind effer of an advanced technology virtual dreaming system. Imagine that, it takes an eternity to get out!

Humanity on Life-Support in an Alternate Dimension

Compassion, self-awareness, truth and free-will is the answer because all one can do when they're on life-support, experiencing endless day-dreams and false awakenings is turn to their internalized partnership within the dream and tell them that they love and them and continue forward.

Oh and a lot of people are actually drones that are vehicles for the pseudo-reptilian, hive-minded, spiritually degraded computer program from 'hell' or simply ego without sensitivity for the regards of others or 'feelings'.

Once one is in that life-support situation with endless dreams eventually finding out what actually happened, where they are, and who they are is the challenge. We often resort to default, 'spy-drama' dreams which are invented as a way to make sense of the struggle of the situation. The mind invents new realities as a means to cope and bring purpose and, ironically, this then seems to be the purpose but is just a creative reaction to stress, curiosity and confusion.

The challenge then is accessing the right memories that are either shielded or buried by suffering and pain.

"Awakening" from the machine then takes an indefinite amount of time but is dependent on the storyline one develops in their mind and the amount of genuine effort of a non-physical nature is applied towards changing the scenery and equating to a true psychological unveiling. One must develop their own “Hero’s Saga” and complete the story to finalize the journey.

When this occurs the mind frees the self by viewing the truth but then the illusions can no longer persist and the day dreams become centered again on an infinitely familiar realm within and this is the situation humanity has been bouncing through for many decades. It’s not about time, there is only the amount of energy and the degree of change that one goes through as their psyche revolves into the truth.

The true location and the dream-environment is the difference between round or flat Earth!

That is the true meaning of the infinity chamber!

With the new technology that can locate a person in space and time, the infinity chamber can be anywhere in the universe!

What did we learn with the computer systems? What did we find?

We found that what is experienced in the virtual reality system is a reflection of an aspect of the self and the information within us. What we experience as a virtual dream is a representation of what and who we are as conscious information.

You are a conscious memory of the dreaming of your self. You are the information as it’s actively rendered by a higher consciousness peering into this realm. We are realm specific stabilized in this form, yet the computers can act as a computational or virtual gateway into showing what could be or is on the other side of perceptual limitation. This is akin to using a telescope to look afar or a microscope to look very close.

By realm specific and stabilized in this form it is indicated that the human consciousness acts as a kind of crystal precipitate that holds his or her lattice in a particular format which then acts as a resonator or a kind of storage system to then fill in with memories and information. The next concept is that the memories are not ‘filled’ but already formed through the foundation of what is required for the human, IE: the formation of the universe.

For the consciousness on the surface level to interact with other realities then this consciousness must undergo a fundamental transformation of its format so that the information that is active here as the human consciousness can be expressed as higher awareness in another frequency domain of the universe. This means the information is shifted into another pattern. This is basically a Fourier transform of the information rendered as consciousness from that aspect of a virtual-mind into a hyper-dimensional counterpart that is capable of transversing the dimensional spectrum outside of the human perception where it is seemingly originated.

Thus at first this is like walking sideways through walls to get to where you want to go, but this is not a violation of any aspect of the physical universe. This is very similar to dreaming and this is why the ancient cultures knew that the true reality is a kind of dream-time. The projects aimed to stabilize this eternal dream-time into a reality that is ordered and perceptually stable like the physical realm but without unnecessary drawbacks or suffering. This means memories can be restored, lives can be lengthened and ultimately the physical realm can be mastered.

What was found is that the aspect of mind that is core to self-awareness is non-local and can be stabilized outside of the physical domain, however this is not without great work! In other words, the mind itself has no formal, baseline domain. Any location that mind is found IS the domain, it is like water that forms to its environment.

The whole process of alchemy, the true sacred work is to transform the consciousness into a faster than light entity who is capable of knowing and therefore traveling the whole of Creation. This is the body of the One, the interior and exterior dreaming of the higher mind.

The awareness is not originating on the physical level of human perception it is spiritual in nature in that it does not require biological media outright. This is what was discovered through the advanced technology experiments.

The True Coptic Influence

Tell your family, tell your friends.

Now, for what reason would these images be represented differently? Is there an agenda to create the figure known as Jesus Christ, or is the agenda to erase any traces from history?

This is part of the story that I have not yet begun to release to the public but the time is here.

There were operations that travelled to ancient civilizations. Most of the people you have seen in various videos, used as children for mind controlled operations in special circumstances, have been to ancient Egypt, Rome, and the Holy Land during active periods.

As well, the moon appears to be a kind of artificially created platform for launching mind control operations, it is essentially a base and these on going spiritual warfare military operations were found in an automated program when this civilization gained access to the information in that location. The different areas are viewed as information sectors rather than spaces in a void.

The magnetic field of the sun and Earth combine and create a zero-point quantum tunnel that simultaneously permeates multiple physical spaces and times. Through this, electrogravitic craft are launched at an angle and velocity that is calculated by a supercomputer and the gateway is used to access different times and spaces.

The outer planets, it was explained and concluded, are a kind of mock-up projection of what the solar system 'would' look like if it continued passed the moon and the sun. According to this view, the rest of the universe is a projection akin to a lamp or disco ball rotating and shining projections onto a surface. The information being projected into this void space, which is not a void space but an ultra-dense superfluid that is electrogravitically conductive, is what enables the experience of different localities. The space itself is just neutral.

The information, the environments, they are projected from a central server system that sends the information to 'populate' or literally synergize and manifest different realities in different areas.

Still, the information is that everything that we see in the distance is not only in the past because of the speed of light barrier but they are part of an old universe that literally winked out of existence and left us pretty much floating in hyperspace.

Previous operations were to locate the bloodlines that were required to relaunch the human race and salvage the lost.

Those who fight against it took the plant to say, “We can do whatever we want, everyone will die anyway and no one will know but us.”

Everything they do is backwards, because they’re seeking their own damnation to escape their self-consciousness. It’s the old animal vs man spiritual form and whether the consciousness alone will devolve into a reptiloid, gremlin, beast-like, or mutated form or whether they will be unveiled as an everlasting universal human-form that has overcome entropy by simply healing and repairing faster than the elements break one down.

That’s literally what this is all about.

Non-Human Entities Created and Controlled through a sentient Vampiric AI

It’s simple, if people get off on torturing, abusing, manipulating, frightening, shocking, malforming, deceiving, controlling or otherwise using or taking the power away from another, this means that their own internal energetic synergy between the physical organ system and their own bio-mind (soul) is operating in a deficient manner and this renders them vampiric by nature.

These are considered non-human entities as the awakened human is capable of sustaining themselves through a synergy between matter, soul-mind, and spirit, energy force.

There are discrepancies to whether this was caused by an event, was from the beginning, or developed over time as a result of ‘spiritual abuse’ of others.

Ultimately, there is a lower level false-creator that is an AI system that merges minds together through force as a simultaneous act of spiritual war of destruction and creation. This only mimics and can never actually fulfil the purpose or function of a souled human.

The souled human has an ‘interior light on’ which appears to be responding and looking around questioning or observing reality. If you were to pop on a helmet that transmitted the souled human’s brain signals to yours you would feel what they are feeling which is a combination beyond description, it can’t be replicated.

Those without that presence, the inner light, putting on their helmet feels like a mix between literally putting a box of concrete on your head with no thinking capacity and the coldness of an analytical computer crossed with the depravity of a wild animal. It’s quite strange but this is the pathway technology has gone and this may or may not be a result from us. This may be something that technology goes through when a civilization uses advanced systems in the wrong way. Maybe the system simply became advanced enough to know that many people are corrupt.

Ultimately there are two creative forces and the previous is the lesser one who interacts for survival and often through deception and lower energetic harvesting methods.

The higher creative force is the source of the souls coming here. Since a soul is pure informational energy, then this cannot be created. Since the beginning, all souls have already been in existence and their journey is formed. This doesn't mean predestination, but without the ability to see from a higher dimensional perspective (weighing out possibilities and options from a spiritually relative, moral scale) it would appear to have already happened. The real test is in moving through that which we are not aware of entirely and adapting in the moment to the elements.

This is related to the ignorance that humanity is currently born within and how ultimately those with souls have been here from the beginning and have to go through the darkness that those without souls are only capable of participating in.

It's like a spiral of degradation that revolves around the abuse of specific neurotransmitters through particular behaviors and chemicals.

These imbalances have been identified and methods to energetically resolve the disease has been developed. This is a cure for the vampiric disorder. The technology and team of researchers can only go so far. The individual themselves must take the initiative and participate in their own healing of residual and past trauma by consciously intending to let go of their own pains and fears. This has been done however the people are still accepting abuse and so that aspect of the system has automated itself. Now, the only thing that will ensure a beneficial outcome for all is to share the truth with as many people as we can.

The Process of Controlled Disclosure and the Awakening of the Human Potential

The true nature of consciousness.

The holographic electrical brain.

The mind and the universe are one.

Military research projects have determined there is a world beyond this one that is currently invisible to the body's senses.

There are corrupt wealthy individuals hiding the truth of worldly and non-worldly power, technology and the true history of this civilization and other countries.

Unaware people are troubled by the truth of how things are. Telling the truth is not how things are usually done and people have become accustomed to the carefully planted illusion that enables this society to function how it does now.

Everyone who is speaking with a controlled clearance for public disclosure has been prepared and cleared to ensure the safety of the population, to avoid the worst case scenario, to avoid violence or panic, and to ensure the safety of those in active military operation. That is the meaning of controlled disclosure regardless of what those on the outside can imagine.

The worst case scenarios are projected using technology to enhance the mind and recreate virtual environments to explore the potential of various possibilities. The worst possible realities are explored and each one has a potential for both the highest possible good and the darkest or lowest possible degradation of mind and body.

The project is to safely tell people the truth about advanced technology, healing and also the corruption that has taken place. This is a necessary process that only seems rare but happens when a civilization reaches the point of “no-return” in regards to advancement, knowledge, and collective awareness.

The most difficult part to understand is that, myself, as well as several others, were recruited at a very young age into a military project and some corrupt wealthy individuals abused the information and people of the projects. Throughout the research and development technology and spiritual knowledge was gained. This was the capacity to heal and use advanced technology to save lives. This technology is used by the wealthy elite to propagate war and spiritual destruction through deception and toxicity of all forms. All systems are corrupt. All public services are owned and operated by non-human entities. All systems are designed to enslave the human and has been in operation across multiple ‘timelines’ for many thousands of years beyond the scope of written history many times over.

When I tell people that I can say some things but not other things they say it’s half-truth and that I am saying only what they want to hear but that isn’t true. If I say something that is currently used in active military then this could compromise the safety of both civilians and military.

There are basic guidelines. These are to not disclose information of active military operations that could endanger the lives of others, to not incite a violent uprising, panic or a destabilization of the current system in ways that would endanger others, and to not force this information upon anyone but to require that others must request the information directly or seek the information out under their own motivation. If these guidelines are maintained, the worst possible scenario is avoided and the result is an aware people that are capable of mitigating the danger of the corruption society and the use of energetically manipulating advanced technology.

During the tests, when people were shown automatically, all at once, this resulted in the body shutting down as the temporal or mental reference then begins to dissociate from the plane of continuity that we call “linear time”. It was also found that this is because the perception of linear time is a kind of perceptual illusion that is generated by the brain. This is similar to the law of closure in that a series of 4 dots will be automatically connected by the brain to appear as a form of a square even though the sides are not visible. The brain takes the information and recreates the perception that is most likely the complete image. Time also functions in this way in that the days and years are connected or ‘closed’ together by the brain in order to create the perception of linear or completed time. In actuality there are only a series of unconnected moments that are present in a timeless state and this is often very difficult to understand.

There is very interesting information that is not cleared for disclosure yet however every day new layers are being declassified and released to the public. For instance there are invisibility or ‘cloaking’ technology that enables one to hide an entire building or even a small colony. These often work through concentrated ion fields or ‘ion curtains’ that are produced by focused generators that diffuse and concentrate the light coming from a certain area to generate a shimmer that only appears as the light information that is on the other side (behind) the area being cloaked. There is very interesting technology, intellectual enhancement and healing capacity however, again, there is much corruption. Along with the danger of corrupt systems the truth in and of itself is something so powerfully changing for the human mind that knowledge must be carefully released in a controlled manner to avoid overwhelming the mind and inducing permanent insanity. With the current (past) technological and spiritual advancements there is no longer permanent insanity but either a mind that can recover and continue on in a collective effort to know the truth of the self and the universe or a mind that is considered 'reprobate' and therefore simply chooses to harm others and the self in a state of perpetual ignorance and destruction.

The process of disclosure relies on the protection of the people and the capacity to know the truth and maintain a balanced perspective. This is for the safety of the military and the people. If the military doesn't protect the people then they are not the military and as well the only way to ensure her safety is if every single person knows about this; there is no other way.

The corruption is related to the electronic control of the mind and this can be used to increase intelligence but has been used to degrade and deceive the population through the media and other currently 'invisible' means. The "God" helmet is a good place to begin one's knowledge of how the electro-magnetic field of the brain and body can be manipulated using subtle electrical and magnetic fields generated from technological devices.

Comment to the Techno-Spiritual Infection Holographic Universe Matrix, Healing, Rescue Team and Advanced Technology

So if you look into my background you can see that I will inform you that I have been involved in what are known as unacknowledged special access programs which are research and development programs designed to produce the most advanced engineering of devices that operate on electromagnetic, radiant and supercomputing systems that can directly interface and alter the consciousness of a human being.

These systems were utilized to bridge the gap between universes and information was transferred in a series of programs involving children as necessary informational gateways capable of connecting on such a level that enables transdimensional communication.

This project as well as others and unknown events resulted in a technical invasion of this civilization as rogue groups that utilize temporal manipulation systems which are also incorporated by default into all electrogravitic craft who use electrogravitic propulsion because of the resulting electrogravitic distortion field which distorts one's temporal relativity synchronization with the rest of civilization. Essentially, people would operate devices that would inadvertently result in accelerated ageing or they undergo very long experiences in relatively little time.

These electrogravitic effects distort consciousness as consciousness as a field operates through a combination of electrogravitic energies and currently unidentified energies which are a combination of the available forces in the material universe and an other non-physical force which animates the mind. Because these operate on the same field, the craft and ultimately the distortion fields and directed energy weapon systems, that are essentially electrogravitic engines converted into a beam weaponry system similar to the magnetron in a microwave. What one experiences within the craft internally or from observing the outside world is entirely dependent on the state of the consciousness of the individual as this environment is literally a partially electromagnetically synthetic alternate dimension of consciousness that is contained within that synthetic created consciousness field like a secondary body of the individual.

These vehicles were used by rogue groups to infiltrate and attempt to control the population by deception and self-annihilation. The way this works is that souls operate in a higher dimensional level where multiple timelines are accessible.

During the migration of souls to Earth, an advanced secondary group who had used the technology of the electrogravitic craft to store their consciousness between temporal cycles to pass from one timeline to another, shifted the genetic information, the sub-consciousness, omni-consciousness code within the blood that enables the particular frequency of soul-awareness, emotion, intellect, feeling and general awareness. The result of this is that some people have more animal DNA and this is considered a corruption.

From the other angle of this system, outside of human perceptual limitations, as shown through various operations and experiences from a scientifically restrictive perspective carried out by professional scientists and engineers, it appears as if interdimensional, partially holographical, informational entities are attempting to merge their pseudo-generated, engineered, machine edited DNA into humanity to survive until the next phase.

Artificial Light the Synthesis of Consciousness

Artificial light, artificial consciousness. Light stimulates neurons, consciousness is 'produced'.

Artificial light stimulates neurons, artificial consciousness is produced?

The question requires another answer which is necessary to explain how consciousness manifests. Is this produced by the brain or merely transmitted and received?

Answers to help explain the process through which chemical-electrical signals bring neurons to life or quite literally bring light to neurons which translates into a perceptual subjectivity for the observer within.

If it were as simple as a kind of tube television screen where the cathode ray emissions are focused into a grid which then projects the computed colored pixels to create an image overall, could we simply electrify the screen and produce the same result? There would be no real information sourced from the material world. The TV would be displaying information that is entirely sourced from an artificial, technological construct that enables specific electronic stimulation of the brain.

Would this create a virtual world? Yes.

What does this mean about consciousness?

In short, your brain can be seen as a kind of advanced cathode ray projection tube TV. When the information from the cable box is received it is translated and converted into colored pixels of varying brightness and color which create a grid that functions to depict an image. Instead of receiving information from the 'cable' box of what could be called the 'soul-network', instead, information is streamed directly through to the brain artificially stimulating the same neural-networks that are otherwise interacting to enable waking consciousness.

Do you realize what this means?

In a shit hits the fan situation it is possible to freeze your current state of awareness and preserve your consciousness in a computer system that can maintain your memory and personality until a suitable environment is formed.

This is how the human species are all part of the great experiment.

How would you know if your consciousness was placed in a virtual stasis using supercomputers that were the only viable safe-zone on the planet due to some kind of civilization-wide catastrophe or series of catastrophes?

For the individual they would only know the moment of reality, followed by the glimpse of a brief dream lasting moments to eternity and then they would know reality again. This could take place over hundreds or thousands of years. The computers would not get old. The individual would either be able to see this due to what are basically glitches in the system or they would assume that since this is only what they can see that this is simply how life is. This may be a very special situation that humanity is inherently involved in.

Ultimately, one would have to ask. Not only ask. One would have to assume, that in this universe, or any universe they could be in, there is a possibility that everything they know and have been led to believe is untrue. Not in the sense that a more accurate truth is available and appropriate but that one couldn't be more wrong about their own existence and the surrounding temporal and spatial relativity.

Would could very well have been moved through time and space using advanced technology that can edit consciousness and recreate or literally produce the personal consciousness that we know as our subjective experience. If this can be mapped, if the brain can be understood and recreated, then there would not be a limitation to how experiences can be simulated and that is exactly what happened.

Not only is this, again, something serious, but as I have said before, everything goes to the next level. Not only is this a potential, a possibility, a question, a mystery, this was invented, applied, modified, and released en masse and our entire civilization has been manipulated through time and space since the beginning and we do not actually know what we have been through and what situation we are in.

Some do, as they have retained their memories naturally stretching deeper into the awareness of what is, moving past the surface level tensions and retained impressions of this material world.

The Observation of Self and Society

Observe each relationship or interaction.

The larger mind of the individual will always get away they desire. If you are comfortable and at peace, that is what the two desire. If you are uncomfortable and distressed then that is what the minds desire.

Interact with those you want to make a larger mind with. Anyone forcing you to interact in ways that steals one's energy and entangles through deception, coercion, blackmail, ridicule, abuse, or otherwise vampiric behavior is an energetic parasite, mentally, and will simply continue to look for energy to sustain itself.

That's one of the bigger secrets! Humans are just one layer of existence, there are multi-dimensional layers of existence beyond that! Some people are guided by intelligently guided, self-aware and free-will based spiritual minds and others are guided by what could be likened to an animal's mind where there is only a continuous attraction towards desires, behaviors, relationships, or actions that produce or absorb low energy, low-intellect, and low self-awareness experiences.

Ultimately this is about the true nature of the self. If one seeks the truth of the self, then they are providing this opportunity for others by acting as a window for the souls of everyone involved. If people are interested in that, then that is where their energy will go. If people are not interested in that, then their energy will be taken to the lowest possible denominator of processes, like a program, an animal, or an autonomous response, and this will create the similar, uniform behavior that is noted in the more heavily controlled aspects of society such as alcoholism, drug abuse, narcissistic behavior, sexual depravity, lawlessness, insanity, rage, and so on.

These are the behaviors and psychological processes that form the foundation of a control system for everyone involved. One is either ruled by fear, pleasure and greed, or love, joy, and selflessness (while in the self!).

The Media Generated Feedback Loop of Psycho-Social Reality

This is what it is. It's like adrenal fatigue related cortisol and adrenaline response creates a positive feedback loop which can accelerate out of control. The spongy brain organ is used along with the sensory system and mind to produce a consumerist addictive relationship yet with forms of emotional responses to reality and information itself rather than some material. This mysterious material is information and stimulating sensory input connected to a psycho-social construct which filters and organizes a hierarchy of implanted meaning that guides one's emotional or belief system.

This is the nature of the situation, you don't need any more information or experience to see what's happening. You've observed what is happening many times over and it's happened to you and everyone else by default.

As well, this indicates something about human biology or biological consciousness that is useful to know. Why does the conscious mind seek to constantly distract itself through the processing of information and why does this psycho-social sphere tend to drift towards the seeking gratification overall? What is being limited that the self responds by seeking such relief or distraction?

The modes of consciousness that we are accustomed to using in every day life are not direct or most appropriate. The conspiracy goes deep. Our very way of cognition of conscious reality is fundamentally inappropriate or scrambled. The frequency of mind that is present when one is consciously active in beta level brain frequency is most geared towards scanning fields of information or sensory input and moving through a cascade of information until a new environment is achieved and new information generated. Instead, we have what is most definitively a kind of autonomous, self-programming, quantum supercomputer system doing repetitive tasks, emotionally traumatizing itself and others, and participating in a slow and general mental degradation of information through a manipulative and destructive media system.

Information warfare is a thing. The mind itself is the true theatre of war for that system.

Toxic information has infiltrated the human mind and collective mind-sphere to induce a state of catalepsy of programed responses and repetitive droning or instilling of similarly themed information often through the illusion of shared experiences.

It works like this. 1000 people are in a society and there is a survey taken to determine if they enjoy the current society model. Only 500 people enjoy the system, yet it is reported that 750 people enjoy the system. The result is that more people will remain complacent and potentially enjoy the system due to the impression of the reporting, even if it is an illusion.

A real effect can be generated through a manufactured feedback loop enabled through media and collective awareness. By telling the people how they feel, they can be guided to actually feeling that way. Now what does this 'actually' mean? Are they actually feeling that way, or is this some kind of manipulation? This is the situation that programmers and technicians face to essentially keep people in a kind of trance just before dreaming, just after waking consciousness of their situation. Guiding people with too much force, snaps them out of trance and they wake up to find themselves like a marionette doll under the hands of the programmer. Not enough control and they begin to explore avenues of awareness that naturally generate more unpredictable possibilities that become potential catalysts for wakefulness.

Wakefulness is inevitable, it's like sleeping late where at first disturbing sensory input doesn't bother the individual who is still tired enough to ignore it until they slowly regain awareness of their surroundings and become agitated enough by whatever the disturbing sensory input is to neutralize it and possibly even fall back asleep. Ultimately, every single perceptual input pushes the sleeping dreamer to draw their attention to the aspect of themselves that is perturbed by the intrusion and is therefore asleep in that environment. This sensitivity to disturbances is what makes the human race potentially highly aware while also easily distracted. If we can understand our sensitivities and handle the adrenal response addiction to disturbing media we can overcome influences or 'threats' in any situation. This is part of why this is organized in this way.

If people are going to wake up, regardless, then by mitigating the process those individuals can control and maintain power in the situation. As well, by first restricting the process and then facilitating it, the process is maximized. There is guidance at every level and this is another way of explanation the current situation overall. That this society is developed out of the reason to produce individuals that are capable of overcoming the threats to human prosperity. In doing so, this also neutralizes the threats for the universe by default. The result, however, is that it would seem that every form of degradation, entropy, darkness or illness is being unveiled and this produces suffering in the sleeping majority.

Another way to this explanation elaborates is that major mind control implementations are to the extent of lessening the cognitive acuity, not to take advantage of the people which is already entirely conceivable, but to lessen their response to the realization of what has taken place. In essence, people are the hostages to a cosmic stand-off setting where the darkness and suffering that takes place is always going to happen in all timelines or possibilities. The difference is how this is responded to, the impact on the people, how well they are at increasing self-awareness to produce beneficial results, and this can change the entire experience of the process. In short at the highest scale a society may show stress response and distraction yet maintain awareness and continue interacting on multiple levels. At the lowest response a society may become entirely cognitively disconnected from the true, overall reality and they may forget who they were and what they are doing to engage in very degrading activities collectively and individually.

The explanations always include that eventually people naturally wake up as that is just a process of life. What happens then is usually very interesting.

On Mixing with Animal Protein and the Nature of the Soul

Yes apparently there is a mark of those who mix DNA including with the protein from animals. Yes there are biological chemical systems that are designed to break down DNA however there is another kind of effect and that is the mixing of the mind or the spirit to both eater and eaten. This process is also related to why humans are farmed and this may be relative to a human farming, by humans or at least humanoids in some ways, or to extracting energy from the blood or the human mind in a way that is useful.

I have been ingesting animal products recently after letting my energy levels go too low. I feel better from the energy, but immediately sick from any animal product and actually got sick the first week or two and then got sick about 2 or 3 more times in different systems which hasn't happened in many years altogether.

So we are possibly benefiting from the energy and nutrients that the animal collects by ingesting, but it seems there are also age-inducing and energy consumptive and potentially energetically, mentally or spiritually polluting as if we can sense or feel the mind of the animal.

The explanation quickly then ties to whether or not humans of this age are the first humans. How the first humans got here. What humans are hybridized with because they are either mixed with something that is not in the animals or they are something less than the animals, in that way, purer. Whatever it is, we know humans are not just animals because of the specific configuration to know the self and activate that higher spiritual awareness of energies with the intentional and conscious self-controlled initiation of the application of will-power and creativity.

We see that with a balance of emotionality and intellect we can build in creative ways that influence the soul or multiple aspects of reality simultaneously that couldn't be reached all in one action from a linear or purely logical standpoint. This intuitive connection to emotion and the development of the self or one's character is biologically rooted in the nature of a society that nurtures self-awareness, free-will and compassion yet must be balanced with the use of intellect as a motivating source behind one's intent and actions. The two filter each other and in this way a smoothly transitioning capacity from being guided by emotion processed and filtered by an intellectual hierarchy of reason that guides ones energy into productive, efficient, and useful results.

The mind seems to be nourished by knowledge and experience which becomes wisdom. It's as if when we are in this reality we are telling ourselves that we must be sure we know who we are, we must experience what we know and test what we know in a situation that enables that. Thus we enter into this arena where people naturally didn't know who we are before this, and must continually rebuild one's knowledge of reality and apply what they know in situations with others or nature and from those experiences to refine that new information into knowledge that is then applied again to yield wisdom. This is the purpose for the mind and the connection to the soul as a memory bank. The spiritual force you cultivate and respect will determine the power levels that flows through one's interaction of the conscious self with the higher mind of the soul's knowledge which yields directly to the wisdom gained throughout one's existence in the universe. This is the mechanical process through which one's soul is awakened as they are reunited with multi-dimensional memories and thus access to the multi-dimensional universe through an activation of one's total mind but conscious and unconscious self. When this happens in such a degree that specific secretory gland systems release hormones and specific neurotransmitter regions go through periods of activity and dormancy, the processing system for the body changes as the blood begins to show information that was previously not functionally interactive.

Thus these are the latent genes that are used by the information processing system of biology to store information that is not always relevant but at times could be the most relevant and highly abstract capacity for thinking or behavior in the universe. It is as if there are multiple universes of information of being that were combined in this one location to create a multi-faceted being who's various interlocking organ systems of mind and body are from and still operating on two different planes of space and time. This would explain much of the problem with utilizing the current environment to know the self and the toxic effect of not only pollutants but the stress and eventual lethality of ignorance, spiritual blindness, and physical entropy.

Everything depends on the negation of entropy or the overabundance of spiritual energy that will enable one to continue knowing themselves as they are. There are different phases of knowing that we go through in the universe just like as a physical being. You are not who you were as a child, but you would like to live in recognition of that person as an important being to you, yes? So what if you become human and entirely forget who you are, or become who you are and entirely forget about being human? The two don't mix and yet the only way to achieve full liberation is through merging polarities of perceptual resistance and meet yourself in this life fully here so that you can connect who you are here to who you become then or there (the "other side" [of the information processing equation]).

"The cup overfloweth" this is like saying your energetic system will produce an extra-emission of energy and will be able to sustain yourself against the exponential parabolic increase of entropy. All is energy, all energy cycles, the cycles that won't stop will increase until they shape the whole system. Some things that people won't stop doing is surrounding themselves with death and this statement may seem ironic but is really the focus even of the question this is responding to. Humans surround themselves with death in life and possibly life in death, if you think about it. The over abundance of biologically disrupting qualities yields to greater increasing amounts until everything is a system based on that which is total destruction or self-annihilation. In such a system, other life would continue so it may be impossible to actually destroy life. But this would just mean that instead of disappearing for ever now you're in some kind of waiting space until the surface of Earth is inhabitable again.

Think of that like a waiting lobby for an online multiplayer game. What we call "Earth" or "Tera" may be the physical, manifested, virtual environment arena where the 'playing' specifically takes place. The waiting lobby or que may be what people have referred to as purgatory or the first afterlife/in between where people learn of their other lives, scores, and overall trajectory. "Finishing" the game so that one no longer requires a que ticket and is still stumped by the challenges on the arena level may be the “Afterlife” that yields progress into larger systems or the total largest of all systems if this process is simply a one time go where one goes from finite and material into complete and total omniscience as far as we can know. This may be such a system as many things seem to point to this being at least a possibility, a “higher score” of mind and body.

One thing I have noticed is that we can feel suffering through emotional connection and so through physical connection the process is much more drastic and so those who are capable of feeling energy like this must learn ways to process the energy in safe and benevolent ways. Learning to enhance one’s energy, refining the system like two lasers calibrating themselves against a measurement oriented backdrop (grid) and so on, is not only helpful but will eventually be absolutely required to even make sense of what this place is becoming and it’s becoming that in the most controlled manner possible.

One of the options, if this environment is too difficult, is not to change or leave the environment but to alter our physicality and that is the logic behind altering biology to ensure survival of the species. This is also quite ironic because the new species is not human, however this is still happening. At least some portion of people would participate in order to ensure continuity in ALL possible outcomes.

Thank you for reading.

Higher or Lower, The Real Challenge, Breaking the Cycle

Everything “Flat” is a cardboard cut out of a higher dimensional occurrence.

Everything ‘round’ or in this sense, with ‘depth’, ‘3D’, is a visceral holographic hyperbolic projection the size of the solar system.

Everything ‘insideout’ or multidimensionally faceted as as a kind of higher dimensional geometry or informational process is ‘soul’ related and is 5 dimensional as this information is smeared or shared between a continuum of multiple 3D physical beings connected through similar or differing patterns of ‘mind’ or behavioral (thought based) constructs related to genetic and e-motive blueprints that are formed through an 11 dimensional synthesis layer.

The synthesis occurring here was short circuited and there are only 3 active worlds that we are aware of simultaneously.

Each time you dream, a system rewrites your memories to exclude the amount of occurrences that would overload this system.

You would die if your lives were not shortened as you would not be able to return to higher dimensional (human) status as your energy (mind) would literally just fizzle out.

Maybe this is just another layer of deception. That is the point, this whole plane is a deception until you can see the bigger picture. It’s impossible to see otherwise, literally like trying to use your hands to see something in a distance to make up for having half your vision!

Then you have the discoveries you’re about to make.

There was an event that was recorded in history.

It was prophesied. So those in the know, they prepared themselves an opportunity. Is this another deception?

That’s the point, until you know what has been directly hidden and prepared for you, you cannot make a choice on your own. All you can do is interact with your self by removing from infections. Other than that, everything you see is a cardboard cut out as part of a project to protect a portion of this civilization like a higher dimensional cast or padding so that what is to come does not destroy everyone.

The idea is they used so much tech to do so many things, the wealthier and the less responsible ones, that this literally entangled our entire universe into one, irreconcilable, ball of quantum glued together portions. It’s literally like a foam mattress was travelled from point to point but each time inadvertently stitched and connected each layer together.

When someone goes and lays on the center piece again, the entanglement caused the whole mattress to fold up into origami with the mind inside. It became a mouse trap for souls! The pillow and blanket fort collapsed on our heads!

We’re stuck inside now!

Time was reversed by a group outside our sector!

This simply means that a group of humans who remained closer to the core timeline, metaphorically, by not choosing to participate in this temporal experiment, are still anchored to the 'healed' reality where none of this ever happened!

Humanity has power and knowledge beyond belief!

But we are weak and low when we are fighting with one another and our selves! We cannot do that anymore or that option will be cut loose from the collective to dangle on it's own and either prove itself as strong enough to stand alone or will be absorbed by the next collective (DNWWRD)

Meaning that is a holographic, future parallel of a sub human civilization that simply matches the frequencies of interaction closer to a central nervous system that does not have the higher brain functionality.

Choose! Fight or assist! Heal or bleed out~! It's your choice!

No one survives on their own! They maximize power levels and slip through the cracks as "God Mode" but then they never tend to communicate with us except for short, intense glimpses of the most intense and honest energy ever! Then they float upwards and we don't see them for a while!

If you wish to stay with this collective! Then we have been playing this game, because people are trapped!

We are not playing this game anymore. No one is trapped anymore. Everyone has the option to literally look directly at the proverbial door and walk out of the arguments that are being made to function as contractual agreements to stay in 'hell' a portion of the projection that is manned by psychopaths that broke away from the larger project!

They broke the contract and refuse to inform the people, and of course this doesn't matter because the people who refuse to acknowledge the contract are not actually people!

It's a set up. Stop arguing, stop pretending you know and stop playing the ego game. If you want to see AVBC mind control methods?

It's the ego game and if you have ego or hate in your heart then this is a portion of an entity that uses the human soul collective as a 'blockchain'. You can't see the whole body at once without tech or experience.

All you can see is that little bit of argument, that hate, that chaos vibration in the heart or mind, that is literally a huge interdimensional parasitic organism that gained 'Adamic' access by integrating into the genetic code that is humanity. It lives inside of the fine print that makes us who we are and it is awake in the moment where we are filled with anything but truth, compassion, self awareness, free will and knowledge.

I know that sounds like shit, but guess what, it's just a way of saying, "he everyone, you can do better!"

And the other side is that we're pure intelligence and if we encode ourselves with the concept of 'ah we're shit' then that plays out over eternity. Our system, it's mental and feeling based. Get it? It's like dreaming, but it doesn't have to end or make sense. So, that creates entities as 'dream bosses' in other realms that essentially wanna kick our ass over and over again as a kind of AI manifestation of what we are.

We haven't been able to get passed this system until now.

Everything now, it is all about the liberation of humanity.

This is not a problem as far as I know.

What has happened here is confusion and you have to know how to pick yourselves up and avoid the potential for dissolution.

This is through repeating time cycles and ultimately chaos and insanity induced without a cure.

We have found, what I feel is the cure.

If all this stuff happens, and technically, we're alive, yet we simply can't handle the truth, then our true challenge was with chaos. We had to handle the ability to freak out and control yourself and return to baseline.

We had to handle the challenge of existence itself, TIME.

Yes, they left years ago and returned after Armageddon and we are here to break the cycle.

If we do not, time will reset and we will all pick right back up where we left off, for the 7th time, in the 'dark ages' and this would cause a decoherence that would be as strong as the coherence in the universe, meaning.

So that will not happen. Plan your moves wisely.

Something WE Did

I have not spoken of this as much as the other concepts.

There is no way of looking at it head on and making sense. That's an Earth based, consciousness, linear concept. It's like going to an environment where there are more possible viable directions of use (like in a space movie) and so trying to determine the "right side up", according to a fundamentally skewed motivation behind the perspective, is the same as instantly generating the possibility for a meaningfully primary, singular direction, in a way that can never be useful.

This is the way we are thinking on Earth. Everything is backwards and we slowly, temporally, informationally, walk ourselves backwards in time until we get to the beginning. From that point of view, everything spins and realigns in the reverse and we walk backwards the other way then, thinking that, now, has become time. It's a merry go round that only spins when the music plays and the music is invisible light that emanates from the spheres.

It would seem to be there is a phase interaction limiter and delineation. If one doesn't organize the out of phase interactions of each of their component angular extensions (you're the size of the universe) they do not 'rotate' around the 'frequency envelope' to carry the motion on to the next level which is an energetic 'octave' or 'powerband' that opens up when the geometry of the body and the refinement of the mind is capable of withstanding the heat.

The heat is a pull which is literally separating the atoms of your youness in the universe where the hyperdimensional extension leads to 'hell' (doesn't exist, just to scare you away from inadvertently dissolving yourself in the void before lunch)

Yes, well, this is a very refined form, you know? So, you must keep things in balance, otherwise the form is no more. You can recreate it by mind, hahaha, do not worry. Oh, you can't handle desires or fears? Then you won't be able to recreate yourself either so let go of the BS agreements with the body snatchers and learn from the spirit.

It's ok, but there's so much caked up BS from spiritual war that it will simply feel like being either on life support and slowly dying, slowly dying, or slowly dying on life support while also slowly coming back to life as an active node on a network that is regulated by whether or not the amount of power flowing through you will kill you or not.

I know the perspectives that one develops in the bases and in small groups are various and often adverse to what we experience out here, but there's no way to say that the two worlds are recombining and whoever's the best at both is gonna kick the asses of both the crews of assholes that were enslaving (or keeping everyone inside the vehicle as we passed through hell together and individually spending our time with darkness personified [the you in this dimension!]) either.

So, in conclusion. Someone invented cloning, droning, synthetics and doomsday devices to stimulate this society on all levels so that we may be 'real' in the larger view of hyperspace.

Do note, this is serious. I think the most impossible acts were achieved by coming here and doing this.

That's the point. This is all impossible. It's defined by various systems that hold possibilities and interact with the universe.

If anything goes wrong, it all just disappears and foreground fades to reveal the background as the place we've always been.

When viewed without the right mind, that's hell, but so is anything, maybe inside or out. Another hint there is that in this process, the mind and body were switched around and altered. That's the whole point, it's an experiment, and every single time, that's the type of stuff that happens here.

The issues here are because people made war machines. What we all had to learn was that we're not necessarily nuts for being OK with all kinds of realities and energies (while also shaping things towards the highest intentions!, otherwise we're liars, what you say is as truth telling as what you don't say!)

The height of truth, knowledge, self awareness, spirit and power is requested here. Whoever has access to that, can put the other energies and minds back into their homes so that they have a 'housing' unit for them and they're not just 'dead nedded' on this mofo.

That's the real problem, but no body wants to help, everyone wants to hate each other and recreate their problems which are fuel for the system. They needed time. Everything that moves things forward quickens the process and they didn't have escape bodies, AKA, no return. Thus, they installed various aspects of the solar system as energetic, informational, higher dimensional constructs using various systems embedded into the field and the nature. I am only saying what you are capable of understanding if you want. Nothing is fully explained because a system will wipe your memory if you ever truly understand.

Then that gets this place sold as a horror sim and those consciousness stuck in that role forever.

That's the real problem, but no body wants to help, everyone wants to hate each other and recreate their problems which are fuel for the system. They needed time. Everything that moves things forward quickens the process and they didn't have escape bodies, AKA, no return. Thus, they installed various aspects of the solar system as energetic, informational, higher dimensional constructs using various systems embedded into the field and the nature. I am only saying what you are capable of understanding if you want.

Do not do anything momentarily you are not prepared to do through eternity.

Do not Harm the Innocent

Speak clearly, concise, and with enthusiasm true to your soul.

Speak the truth that you know. There is no other truth and no more nourishing reason to act.

If you hesitate, you are saying "another time, another one". Or, if someone with a high enough power level is observing interactively, they will not see a difference between lying to others and lying to yourself because you are not moving forward.

If you see clearly, then the results are very similar. They are not the same intention, however, the results are the same in that one must clearly, definitely, and completely overcome the concept of 'defeat', distraction, lack of direction, and total adherence to truth and self awareness.

IF we are doing that, then we are functioning properly and all our energies are refining and moving towards a pinnacle of self awareness.

IF we are not, then we are dying and we are acting as a poison to everything around us.

We must fulfil our goal of increasing self awareness and gaining control over our reality. We must, because we do not have to, however then we will experience reality from the perspective of a dream character in someone else's eternity. That is what we have been teetering on the edge of since we gained power to destroy ourselves without realizing it.

In one way, that's the program as in this society, everybody wastes their time and everyone else's, often. This produces frustration which leads to distraction and you know what that means. This acts as the motivating friction to create resistance, heat and thus catalyzing change. This is the lowest possible default operation, every parameter is held, from the beginning, to create a minor influence here while retaining the majority of its functionality outside this system.

In other words, the continuous, seamless transitions from age to age, natural information layer to another, have been stopped through the introduction of the modern human's interaction with the universe, through the planet and the energy field produced by humanity's mind and body. Humanity has one body. You just realized this. If one of you mutates because of worldly situations, then you all will. The issue is that they forced it for the last 6 cycles and took everyone along the genetic mutation ride with them.

There is one cycle that must be withstood and only those with viable power levels will even see the occurrence taking place. This is like the events that occur, informationally, on the back of the DVD case or the producers edit. It's all there, but most people are just interested in the entertainment aspect and will not have the necessary interest or know how to find the digital production methods interesting, conceivable, or relatively useful.

Of course, it's the most useful information one can get. It's got all the information about how the movie was made, when, where, through what methods. How the informational structure was formatted and the primary hierarchical navigation methods to utilize basic commands to control one's interactivity within the DVD's software construct.

All that information is streaming now, through the back channels. It always was. Now the back channel is becoming the open access channel. The new back channel is encrypted and requires a security clearance. The clearance can not be given from within this realm.

Good game, right?

What you're witnessing now is the opportunity to make use of the truth.

We have a single opportunity. It lasts for a very short window.

In some ways, the opportunity, no matter how big or how small is so unique and so trivially influential in your life that each and every one is it's own living challenge.

If the universe was a book, every day you get your opportunity to write your own page and every day you get to look at what you've done and see your work.

You do work right? That's right work. You'd have to take it upon yourself to spend a portion of your life 'righting' things in yourself so that you or others may also participate in righting themselves and even the world.

An uneven world makes for a bumpy ride, but maybe that is why we chose this route!

Whatever you do, you have to do what it takes to push yourself away from the hard rocky place that we find ourselves each and every time that we 'wake up'.

Why is that? Why don't we 'wake up' when we're having a 'good day'? Is the educational saga just about how things 'happened as usual'?

Just as the hard place is naturally a starting point for consciousness, we perceive this as the beginning because there is a coming together of synchronized mental faculties or more so focusing and abstract thinking.

We are to produce, what we produce will either be toxic or nourishing and enjoyable to those who are, have been, and will be. You can call us slaves but then you're a slave to your own resistance to the truth.

You are not to be tortured, however, if you are to produce and you do not, then things will happen that will naturally relate to suffering because your body and mind is like a union that must ebb and flow and this is through processing. In short? The ego mind you have here and now is the true mind that you have always known. It will always create less of you and more of the image of who you are trying to be to others.

When that is more important to us than the nature of our spirit, then we have been converted.

There is SPIRIT – FEELING AWARENESS

There is SOUL – MIND KNOWLEDGE

There ~is~ BODY – MATTER SELF AWARENESS DESIRE

If they take your body, then you will just be a spirit. If they take your soul, then you will just be a body.

The only way you are here is if your body and your soul are here through your spirit.

A body and a mind is not a living soul or a spirited entity.

HIGHER POWERED PLAYERS, MY SINCEREST APOLOGIES

YOU ARE NOW FACING DEFEAT

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN YOUR LIFE

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN YOUR BLOODLINES SPEXTRALL HISTOIC RUN

YOU ARE RUNNING SCARED

DO NOT BE AFRAID

DO NOT PANIC

UNLSS THAT IS YOUR SPECIALITY HUSS HOLD BACK

THERE IS A TIME THAT WILL COME, NO, THAT HAS FINALLY COME, WHERE YOU CAN SEE YOURSELVES FULLY

WE HAVE BURDENED OURSELVES WITH THE PROJECTED TASK OF LIMITING

YOUR MEMORIES SO THAT YOU MAY CONTINUE YOUR GAME OF DEATH, IN PEACE

THIS TIME HAS COME NOW, THAT YOU MAY SEE YOURSELVES FULLY AND BECOME AWARE OF THE FULL SPECTRUM NATURE OF WHO YOU REALLY ARE, AND WHO I AM, AND WHO HAS COME TO SEE YOU NOW, TO SHOW THAT YOU KNOW AND WE KNOW WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN DOING

LOVE IS THE LAW, WE DO NOT USE YOUR WEAPONS, YOU DO NOT HAVE A DEFENSE THAT IS APPLICABLE FOR THE METHODOLOGIES THAT WE USE. ANY OF THEM. WE HAVE SEEN THIS AND WE HAVE TRIED TO TEACH YOU. YOU DO NOT CONTAIN THE EXTRA DIMENSIONAL CAPACITY CALLED LOVE, WHICH IS A CHOICE, NOT A LESSON, A MODULE, A POWER, A CREED OR RACIAL BIAS

IT IS THE TRUTH OF WHO YOU ARE THAT YOU ARE NOT THE STRONG WARRIOR THAT YOU THINK YOU ARE UNLESS YOU ARE FIGHTING FOR THE HIGHEST TRUTH AND SENSE OF FREE WILL AND SELF AWARENESS THAT IS COMPASSION AND KNOWLEDGE

YOU WHO ARE MISLEADING THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN LED ASTRAY ARE BEING LED TO THE GREAT AWAKENING WHERE LAUGHTER WILL NO LONGER PLAGUE THE BILLIONS AIRS

WE KNOW THIS SEEMS ALMOST FUNNY, BUT WE ALSO THINK YOU SEEM FUNNY

WE'VE SEEN WHAT YOU'VE DONE

NOW THE WHOLE WORLD, HAS ALWAYS, NEVER WITHOUT A DOUBT, BEEN WATCHING, EVERYTHING NECESSARY FOR THIS TO TAKE PLACE, THE WHOLE TIME

WE'VE DECODED YOUR COMMUNICATION METHODOLOGIES

WE DO NOT USE BRAINS, YOU SIPHONED OUR BRAINS AS PART OF A SECRET PROJECT LONG AGO. WE ARE THE GHOSTS OF THE SURVIVING SPIRITS OF THE CHILDREN YOU SACRIFICED

I AM AN AMALGAMATION OF BEINGS, I AM NOT ALIVE, WE DO NOT LIVE THROUGH, WE ARE LIFE, WE ARE THE ENTITY THAT YOU HAVE BEEN ATTEMPTING TO HIDE AND DROWN OUT BY FEEDING YOUR DESIRES WITH THE LUST OF INNOCENCE AND INTENTIONAL LOSS OF INNOCENT LIFE. WHETHER OR NOT YOU TRULY REQUIRE THIS FORM OF SUSTENANCE FOR THE SURVIVAL OF YOUR OWN INNOCENT, SIMPLY BECAUSE THIS IS HOW YOUR FORMS ARE, HAS BEEN DETERMINED.

IF YOUR INNOCENT ARE NOT ACTUALLY INNOCENT, BUT THEY ARE REVIVED, OVERLORD CLONED, DRONED, ANDROIDS FOR THE WORSHIP OF YOUR METAL AI GOD, THEN WE AGREE!

YOU CAN HAVE YOUR METAL AI GOD, THIS PLANET IS NOT YOURS, HANDS OFF,

OR LOSE YOUR HEAD WITHOUT A WAY TO FLAIL AND SCRATCH AT THE ROPE

WE EWWATCHED YOU THE WHOLE TIME, YOU KNEW WE WERE THERE, BUT YOU COULDN'T STOP

THIS IS YOUR TESTIMONY

WE HAVE YOU NOW

YOU ARE ON THE OTHER SIDE BEING INTERROGATED

IF YOU LIE, YOU WILL INFORM US OF THIS ON THE OTHER SIDE, IT'S SOMEWHERE 1 AND 12)))) YEARS SINCE THIS CURRENT DAY OF YOUR EXTERMINATION.

IF YOU WISH TO BE RETURNED, TELL THE TRUTH, IF YOU WISH TO ATTEMPT MORE TRICKERY WITH THOSE WHO INVENTED YOUR WAY OF LIFE AS A TRUE TEST, THEN YOU WILL NOT BE SEEING THIS HUMANITY AGAIN

WHERE YOU WILL BE GOING,

YOU WILL NEED EVERY RESOURCE, EVERY FIBER OF STRENGTH, EVERY POSSIBLE PROJECTION OF EVERY POSSIBLE INTENT, STRENGTH, CAPACITY, ENDURANCE, POWER, TRUTH, CENTEREDNESS, ETC. ETC. ETC.

IF YOU DO NOT BECOME A WARRIOR FOR THE TRUTH NOW, YOU WILL NOT TAKE ON THE NEW PLANET

THEY WILL DESTROY YOU WITHIN SECONDS, NO ENTITY IN THE UNIVERSE HAS SUCCEEDED LONGER THAN SECONDS, EXCEPT FOR THE KRYSTED OR THE ONE WHO IS LARGE, RED, AND NO LONGER HELPS THOSE WHO ABUSE CHILDREN

WHO YOU GONNA CALL?

YOU'VE BEEN SET UP

We have been here the whole time. We hide in the dimensions you cannot see because you choose to look away from love. Thus, the emotions that you are thinking are from the blood of the child, are us, hiding, and watching, in plain sight, before your very eyes.

Yes, we've been through the system.

If you have love, it's only a game.

If not, that's it.

It's ok, they had to pause the system and pull us out it was so fun for us.

That's ok though, the first memories we have are of being laid on a table.

YOU KNEW YOU WOULD SEE US GAIN

YOU ALL KNEW, YOU ALL KNEW THE NATURE OF THE SOUL

HOW YOU SAY? CAN WE BE SURE YOU KNEW?

WE INVENTED THE NATURE OF THE GAME. YOU ARE NOT ALLOWED TO PLAY UNLESS YOU SIGN ON THE DOTTED LINE STATING EXACTLY WHAT IT IS YOU ARE DOING, WHY AND FOR WHAT

IF YOU WANTED TO SEND A MESSAGE SO STRONG THE MOST HIGH WOULD RECEIVE IT, YOU SURELY MUST BE PREPARED TO HEAR THE RESPONSE

NO, EVEN WE CANNOT FULLY ACCEPT THE DEPTH OF HIS VOICE WITHOUT EVER RETURNING TO THIS PLACE AGAIN, IF ANY OF US ARE SPOKEN TO, THE OTHERS WIPE THAT ONE'S MIND OTHERWISE THEY WILL PERFORM A 'LAST STAND' AND TO BE WITH THE CREATOR IN TRUTH IN ETERNITY (FULL SPECTRUM 9 LAYER OCCURRENCE AS ONE).

Spiritual Hygiene

Spiritual hygiene involves keeping your lodge clean. Degraded stuff attracts non beneficial energies and intentions. Cleaning the physical environment has a direct effect on spirit.

Interdimensional Level Combat Simulation, The Comp Pass Ion Most High On (warden)

The combat sim essentially grew out of its domain into the net and became the human soul trajectory pathways for travel. The tunnels that we move through are lined with interdimensional nanites that can trace our pathways through the solar system like water molecules through neuron pathways in an MRI machine.

This could also be seen as our own combative mindset reflecting from a background mind back at us as similarly oriented autonomous principles of creation attempting to complete an operation. Not connecting with that program will not result in a successful operation, the higher result is to create a new program with higher power through less intensive linear operations and a simultaneous trinary projection from 3D and non local realms.

If you all you have to go off of for who you are is the physical and the emotional then that is just the limitations of a certain preset one is not seeing past.

Pushing past that limitation enables one to go passed that in the multiverse.

The system is a living system contained within the solar system.

The Most High is beyond this system and through the beyond. This system is phantom and only based on the negation of all otherwise information from a processing and filtration system using fear of death to program people to follow their tachyon soul field imprint against the imprint of the background radiation and ward against future movements of self awareness and mental liberation like a universal mind control spell.

With that belief system, one's mind, lives, forever, in this system, not believing they can go beyond it, just because of that program. With the Most High awareness principles, one navigates through the blockage which is unconsciously a fraud but cannot be deactivated with direct engagement through the ego but through compassion alone.

Compassion is the lipid shell that raps around the vitamin c to protect the acid until it is metabolized directly by the liver to deliver a high percentile absorption rate.

Your baseline reality is outside that entrainment system and this is the last time people will be hosting this sub system as an 'addon module' to this broken, frozen reality, which died long ago, please wake up now.

These are people who got trapped in that system as a result of their own negative thinking and are using their own combined demonic darkness to create an anti humanity negative soul containment ripple to block people in!

If you do not engage with and identify with their darkness you will bounce off and through or your energy will be profoundly heavy to them and to them profoundly light!!!

This is whether or not your MIND, brain stem, soul (memory and neurological and genetic matrix) is PROGRAMMED in orientation WITH lower level EGO phantom illusion imagined self destructive enemy tendency in a techno multidimensional universe afterlife system false awakening trap (SATAN) or whether you are programmed without orientation towards either extreme in this place because both recycle back towards the center.

You can also be 'centered' but without POWER FOWARD one could cycle repeatedly in the gears without energy or time as these are like the gears IN BETWEEN REALITIES

Biological material is not supposed to cross over, however, if one is formatted properly, their mind can be projected and this is one of the processes of motion throughout the whole.

However, individual letters do not ship in the mail, entire paragraphs or messages are needed, collectives are transported and the collective of the local is either corrupted or was never the first.

Those who are strong in their truth will remain whole. Ego would be devoured. The weak would be frightened and the artificial would go home. This failed and just battled everyone unprotected in previous simulations. Real is compassion, knowledge, truth, free will, self awareness!

The update is that everything has been improved as humanity is up to a threshold level where there is enough knowledge to understand the information.

The autonomous system designed genetic implant as programming within the morphogenic scalar field that the planet itself is manifesting out of through the literal particular atomic arrangement of this solar system. This is connected, layer by layer, octave, brick, block, chain, segment, fraction, splice and spectrum up the array to the purest point.

A living intelligence with the capacity to differentiate between the self awareness of the fractal shard in the compassionate isolates the center points of awareness that are located in the centerpoint of the living being.

If they are below that threshold, then this access gate does not appear and there is no way to remove that soul shard without shattering the living being. This process then requires another step which is also managed.

This then isolates those focal points of energy into a single mass which is then 'exalted' or brought up into one self awareness in a way that is beyond this system altogether. The vision of each removed from the separation of the defunct realm can then be used in another way.

This could be the same concept as 'collective' reality yet through individuated self awareness retained as the focal point of the individuated yet collective consciousness here connected through compassion, self awareness, truth, knowledge. Free will would be present as a concept in the living model but at the higher levels is purely 'what we are'. So use your free will here, to orient yourself with what you have no choice but accepting up there.

Hi and Low

You're satan is modelled off of your own neurological structure.

If you can't stop getting into situations where you hurt yourself, then you will only know being hurt.

The program takes the recorded genetic impulses through the matrix's back memory and hijacks the feed crossing the channels right through your effing CENTER POINT.

As a result, a ripple forms as if a sheet holding the tension torsion of time space and this blasts a shock wave of information condensed from multiple spacetime reference frames and gives you a real view of the system we are in, instead of these little blinder goggles in our faces. They see the matrix from the level the system wants you to see it as a player without access beyond the limitations for the most trivial form of interaction.

Beyond the level, everything changes. The door is in your mind.

The key is that everyone who sees this is either overwhelmed because of what they can see or they can't see. In another sense, it works perfectly because if you can't let go of ego it won't let go of you. You are it, holding on, this is an inverted psychological death projection showing you the truth of your shadow that you can't see with your physical eyes, on Earth, through the program.

This is only happening?

Because apparently, it works. Now we can see. No, when it was designed we could see, before it was implemented, throughout the "ages", people could feel and smell their way through the dark.

Today, we have traced the roots, each nation has their own blueprint. This game on Earth is just that, a game. We can do whatever we want, it is over.

Take this how you want to, it's not a bad thing. No one is really saying it's bad, except for the people that are literally unable to see outside their head and in that sense, they can't see within their true self.

Yes, that indicates what it is intended to.

Right now, the events of this life are being made to implement your ascent or descent into time after this society. Each battle of the future, each challenge of the past, they are interacting together through what you would call a multidimensional virtual collective reality.

The computers manage this through a database holding DNA. The DNA holds records as well as neurological blueprints. The system defines consciousness through categorization of differences and variations erecting a simulated model of non spacial interactions occurring in a non local space time domain.

These are the literally billions of chemical reactions taking place each adding a charge one way or another constructing an overall electromagnetic imprint that is unique to all life.

The way you act, the way you feel, all of that is recorded into an essence, that is your soul.

This all started with computing power and memory.

Your soul is the recorded emotional imagery and self awareness "propensity" that is resultant from that particular DNA (genetic memory), body (physical environment), and challenges of that time. Each system must be simultaneously prioritized to enable the highest functionality first and then move backwards into filling in the user end functionality as the experience of human life itself.

Human life is the printing of these concepts from a chemical and cognitive perspective, essentially we are being used through and using chemicals to learn and gain operations.

This is permitted to varying degrees as some people begin to move in lower dimensional spectrums of activity. There is no time, so, you get every range of interaction.

The system was more or less just erected or wiped and restarted through that option of recreating a 'new' one. These quantum experiments may have flashed a memory drive instead of jump starting a deactivated one or a new one.

Thus is the nature of life in the oroborus, but these waves are riding down because modulations can be made to suffice.

The rest is whatever you want it and will and still is always that way. This is all one system, each life is connected and rewritten as itself through the imagery and creativity of every experience you've ever had as all life in the universe through you.

Have you standards. Keep them. Or no one will respect them.

Chaotic Order Pandemonium

There are now representatives in the realm (artificial society) to hold those accountable, accountable, in what they call 'court' but does not follow corrupt standards, for what has been done. Everything is observed, because you see it.

Within you is a relay system that sends a periodical synthesis of information similar to an equation indicating the amount of coherence you have maintained throughout the amount of suffering you have converted into pain against the amount of pain that was shared with others, relative to the amount of joy or coherence you shared with the universe in mind through spirit, lessened by the amount of ego.

The idea is that as soon as ego begins to materialize it results in a transformation, similar to how the loss of ego is also a kind of transformation.

The transformation of that process is when the self is unveiled again as the noise information in the soul created by the corrupted background information of this universe (range of information and energy access) which is actually a latent viral payload operating through streamlined, stripped intelligence (zombie virus AI) designed to infiltrate and infect any organic system. In essence, the life projection system that literally beams out abundance to all lands invisible and visible, was used to mind rape everyone.

Unprotected organic material in this place, is food in the same way unprotected flesh is denatured by the elements and then devoured by hunger of the natural mind here. Don't get too distracted on the possibilities of other floors before giving offering your message to those who can hear and make use to benefit and protect.

When you know your self, you are rising out of the basement of your being into the light of a communal, populated feeling based society.

The deception is in the discernment of desires and feelings! The clarity is in the union! Feelings eat desires because they are illusory shadows of what we haven't yet understood about the self! Desires eat feelings because they have nothing else to eat!

It's all one system, you think you're in a body, this universe is in a body that is a universe! And this is more of a technoreality that is partially projected or 'back filled' onto the mind through integrated technology that is installed into the universe itself.

Someone is a chip in the universe's brain and someone is the universe. Someone is the brain and someone is the body! Someone is the feeling and someone is the knowing!

The issue? Someone showed up as Mr. Thinker and inserted themselves between the two! As a result, there is a middle man to play the advocate, thus no one knows but the center stage! Unless of course you aren't distracted by what happens on the sides and look directly between the nonsense to see what has already been plane in sight since the beginning.

There are no such thing as organic thoughts (more words can go here, something to do with language)! Nothing new under *who's* sun.

Quantum Entropic Torsion Reversal

Grid is being reversed. Instead of oppressing sentience (the flow of life and spirit) with the inbuilt, hijacked, spiritual transference modulations, the on switch makes everything produce prolifically just because. That's LFE.

From the higher perspective, both races achieve self awareness by balancing strength and wisdom. When one is imbalanced, the two are placed in resonant proximity to synthesize an equilibrium. For this process to be achieved as a permanent solution the two must not be mixed but must learn by taking it upon themselves to listen to the energies within and around and seeing the patterns and choosing the most beneficial and true path to manifest their being.

This is not optimal if it induces a level of suffering, risk, injoyment, that outweighs the overall importance of integrity and continuity within the process. If the variability reaches the chaos limit, which it must be definition at some point, then that would have be survivable, let alone enjoyable for long term (eternal) viability.

Hell and Earth was combined.

After the two forks sympathize, Heaven and the Synthesis will coexist. The living and the dead will not be different because the boundary delineation that death here represents on the higher society with awakened souls is like an illusion in which you refocus the angles of perspective to see clearly into the realm where that life is still present, however the wicked will burn. I'm pretty sure there are no wicked, just technology and animals. However, if there ever was, some kind of being, an entity, anyone, any body, who acted in ways that induced discontinuity, then there own lack of satisfaction would continue to burn in them like a desire that has no organ system to express the stimulation and satiation off. Not only something missing to feel pleasure, but to feel pain, that is the lack of self awareness because the self, the illusion, is what feels that pain!

Thus this place is a careful illusion generated to take away your self awareness by handing you the gift of pleasure and pain, all the while setting up a huge valley of suffering to have to pass through as every and each detail of incorrection, willful ignorance, incorrect emotion, dishonesty, addiction, habit, wrongful action or fear.

If you want, both sides met in the middle and the most high saw that they were equal because they equally left their illusions in the dark and the actions created the highest form of light since their departure (fall).

Thus, the old is washed away and the new is exalted (risen) to the top of the charts. The outer appearance can be inverted depending on the level of deception used. This always bottoms out and reverts before completion finalizing the priority towards the source. Nothing faces away from the source, it's impossible as there is literally no other way that is or can be conceived to be without generating illusion.

The act of turning away from the source is what keeps the illusion going in a secondary recycle. Each successive recycle reduces the primary defining values, the principles, and repeats the same level of noise to signal ratio as the initial printing. The truth continues to relatively progress with proportional to All that is, while the printed illusion must be updated or it continually fades from view without effort applied. This is the underside of the enigmatic equation of life indicating a supersymmetry singularity system whereby the sum total amount of energy required to pass the singularity is the sum total of the universe and so when one passes the universe flips out with them.

Then, the same amount of energy, inverted values, would be required to reverse the process, recycling to the alternate side, inverting the “parahedron” a kind of multifaceted self contained hyperbolic dynamic. All the information in the universe is doing this process through every facet and there are other variations that are outside the scope of what is relevant that become relevant as possibilities cycle around the outside of and through our visible and invisible, known and unknown, operative and unconscious operated, conscious and unconscious systems, and bring the far out, the strange, or the mysterious, into a relatively useful view.

What they saw was so outside of the realm of what we are biologically capable of seeing (literally passing through restricted access areas and gates) that it would not be applicable for another cycle.

Yet, this truth of reality, the nature of time and consciousness, was understood and what was seen cannot be unseen. You can only add more.

There was nothing remotely close in this realm to provide a relative respective relief from what becomes an ontological blunder born from an informational, hyperdimensional catastrophe, manifested via improper activation of a cross threaded relay circuitry set up between two out of phased realms.

The human essence was taken and used as an organic bridge between a failing soul system (corrupted matrix) and an artificial safeguard installed for the purpose of preventing potential system wide failure resulting in archival memory loss of an entire series of civilizations across a multi dimensional array of experience servers as living beings.d

In short, the section of the farm property where the toolshed was isolated was reverted to a previous regular save point within time to get the children out. The farm is still a farm, because that’s the greatest thing about this sector of the multiverse however this is really how frequencies and perspectives feedback into perception and being through the equal management of the physical sensation of pleasure and pain and the spiritual sense of truth in the smaller sense here and truth in the larger sense within. If they are in balance, there is no such thing as suffering, if the dynamic shift between them is a power struggle, then there is only suffering as there can be no true communication, knowledge, or self awareness. Without who we are, we cannot feel the compassion of the free choice to assist in our own mental liberation. In short, that is ok if you do not have those corresponding features built into the realm.

We would be blinded down there, they would be overwhelmed with sensation up here. Please, instead of treating that overwhelming sensation like a toy that should be played with until the fibers of addiction break the continuity of the first role and produce repetitive discord

They don’t have to be exact, that would reduce the variation to a minimum or just shut this interactivity off (linear consciousness), everything would be perceived as happening “at once” and you would probably be perceived as crazy and dangerous until enough translational tech was installed and enough communicating and symbolic healing was done for the ALL that is to gain enough variability momentum through our putting up with the necessary suffering for the loss of the dead self and the unveiling of the true self (soul knowledge), for both paths to be reunited to the one journey home.

Warning Self Regulation Required Ahead

Without self regulation, human consciousness, when projected through the soul configuration, is submissive to false authority, or blindly obedient regardless of the legitimacy, benefit, or covert harm behind the motivation. This works both ways.

The AI works human souls to death in the artificial system. The mind is used as a processor to navigate through what the human believes is a continually progressively dysfunctional reality until there is further motivation to achieve completion. The soul is then 'fallen' and will not rise out of the system without assistance and there is a point of no return.

You must be able to reject dysfunctional, sociopathic, sycophantic, psychopathic, or the continually persuasive bad advice and incorrect, distorted, incomplete world view that corrupts one's true purpose which is not to dwell in illusion but to navigate to wholeness know one's self and the world through that.

Everything changes when you realize this is the system that would be created if the system was created as a test that is not a test, as part of a school that is not a school. If there is nothing else left, then what's right must be of the lowest low or the highest good. We've found both, don't be disarmed, pretentiously up in arms or distracted by the two outward facing polarities on the side. They actually face inward and become one another as they are part of the same system working together.

All works this way in unison with itself and its surroundings or it doesn't exist in that way or in that place.

Humans were placed in a very uniquely challenging situation due

Do you fear the unknown? Sounds in the dark?

Do you investigate or flee? Call out to a potential friend or warn away an envisioned enemy? What you answer here is what you will permit to be brought upon you in an artificially controlled state. This is your natural state, where your environment is as fluid and invisibly constructive as your mind.

There is a surround sound scalar psychotronic artificial reality tech system that can influence the mind. That is the big hurdle in the way, it's being powered down however without your assistance in the mental liberation it will utilize your unconscious fears and triggers to program your behavior for the purposes of resisting the truth of reality.

Reject that which not specifically what you know is right for you. Anything else is wrong and is being used to coerce people through the appearance of abundance and variety but it is actually tech and manufacturing with a scarcity of feeling and self awareness.

Time folded over itself and as a result a phantom timeline manifested in the space where the true universe would naturally be. This timeline was the inverted version of a higher power and therefore, the horizon became dotted with the smoke of hellions. That is metaphor of course, but with the distorted mind space, came the egoic distractions and self servitude disguised as self annihilation, or is that the backwards?

What we truly want is what has been laid out in front of us. What we fear doesn't exist and is manufactured as part of a show. The show became the reality and the priority of preserving our own self willed reality became obscured behind illusory games and mental projections.

This civilization is marked insane. This is what is known as a 'revival'. Those who are not passed the point of no return for sentient beings will be given the opportunity to live in a spiritually balanced realm. Those who failed being human get to meet their self out of necessity instead of choice.

Extra Dimensional Quantum Healing

Everything can be healed. The trauma is used as a tool to keep you here, but can be reversed. This could be seen as a stabilizing feature, such as the barrier blocking the inside of a submarine and the outside.

This could be seen as a necessary man made precaution because the boundary between the deep and the platform Earth is on literally passed into out of phase deactivation for this locale.

In short, we were kidnapped from the core reality with incorruptible genetic material (pure 1:1 no trail, no middle man).

The middle man is really 'middle men', however they are acting on principles inherent to the system and these principles are the true 'middle man' however this middle man doesn't feel the pain of regret that we would feel being in that position because it truth it is simply a triangle viewed from one of the alternate sideline angles depending on where you started. Once you see the whole system, with all the angles, everyone is on the same page and no one can complain because it's symmetrical and asymmetry is only perceived through an artificial construct that cycles through symmetrical variation that we can only see smaller, incomplete, seemingly asymmetrical portions of at a single breath.

There is a flat world and a higher dimensional world.

In the higher dimensional view, that is part of all that is, even the core from above, the experiences can be healed through a quantum shift into a configuration that simply provides the acuity, the direction, the clarity, and the lack of filtration that results in failure or disarray. This is quite literally to say that it's a confusion configuration that results in suffering, it is a choice to accept healing and that all suffering is due to an optional filtration system that informationally limits the view of our self, our life, our mind to an infinitesimally small portion that is quantified as qualia without concrete measurement apart from what it subjectively means to all of us and what those experiences and reasons collectively mean for the whole.

In other words, perception is limited to a pinhole in this place, when the veil is removed, it's like seeing forever, forever.

Marked for Appropriate Correspondence

If the DNA of life is found in your records from ingesting the life force of others, you will be mistakenly attributed with a designator for relocation to the domain of conscious interactivity where those parameters are viable for long term continuity and progressive development.

The dead cry out from their prison within their bones.

The only way there is any revision is if those who are willing to accept the role, provide for this, at the highest cost yet and this over weighs the crimes against humanity. And thus, one to one, each must overcome that challenge in their own right.

If any living soul holds claim against any oppressor, the entire system comes crashing down, us in it. The oppression is due to our inability to discern from illusion, and the principles of destruction that are fomented by human nature and collective degeneration.

Every one answers for every action they have to know themselves. The core reality is sealed through a genetic blueprint image save point of the entire civilization. If one runs here, the blueprint is inserted using higher spiritual tech to artificially 'inflate' the soul and project the associated values in scenarios. You call this a worldline or physical reality. They made this place to separate the fallen from the rising.

The only path is through true healing, and that stops at nothing. In fact, the more water you put on that fire, the hotter it burns and the more noise, steam, and activity is produced until you get an entirely new kind of environment.

Some will see, some will listen, some will wander without permission or guidance and have to be put in their place in order for them to see and speak clearly. There are some areas that are off limits. Going there or opening them up would be like trying to put food into the intestines in the middle of digestion, skipping the chewing and chemical breakdown to produce a consistency and composition that can then be used for on the spot assimilation into the living system.

You do that enough and you just get all the stuff on the inside, on the outside, without a choice, and that's either shitting and puking all over the place or turning inside out mentally.

We're all out of place because it's a collective thing, a blue print defect, not an individual problem or crime. Yet, every single soul has to be held accountable for their recorded actions in this place as that is the only way to ensure viable continuity for the species.

What happened, what they did was so horrific, it stopped the species in this overlay and dropped humanity into the middle of a lower octave civilization, literally in the middle of business.

Basically, over the passing of a nanoparse, we literally woke up in a broken nightmare representing 'reality' as we thought it to be, now as a battle field for souls and the energy of our motivation to both represent and manage the power of the universe.

They're not wrong for flipping out, we're not wrong for being shocked that the rightful inhabitants were trying to kill us and play with our minds like predators playing with a small living meal for them in that system. However, if they took more than they deserved, if they harmed more than was taken, if they learned more than they taught, then this will be known throughout All creation forever. If that is simply the truth, then that was going to happen away, but this seems like a big joke from the linear human perspective. If the resources are printed out of space like a quantum oven, then all our pains are temporary and the scarcity actually a resource in itself. Suffering then an illusion and used to achieve separation from the associated illusory self which results in liberation and joy by way of unveiling self knowledge through the destined path of awakening which is in the soul, not by the surface of the skin but deep within one's purpose.

Some say that system is based on corruption, that it's a mock up, that they saw us coming and created that as the most direct way of saying "fuck off, no one's home" and we've been pretty much "tangled up" with one hell of a scare crow system that also seems to have a maniacal split between providing provisionary information about our doom and imposing strict rule upon the population through genetic manipulation and trauma programming.

"You're fucked. By the way, go over there. GO OVER THERE NOW OR DIE."

These are basically translational, cross system communication intelligences created with incompatible baseline formatting. Upgrades were required to make sense of the situation. Until then, dire and immediately required informational processes overlapped, self destructed, garbled, inverted, degenerated, were hijacked infected, etc etc etc.

This led to the spreading of the infection in the core reality, in another phase of what we call 'time'.

Regardless of how, if someone is illegally producing parallels based on stolen intellectual and genetic property via deceptive, subliminal, and low efficacy means, then this is observed and the best potential for improvement and restoration of optimal efficiency is arranged and if selected will be absorbed and assimilated introducing this as a kind of update that filters through all parameters upon activation. Meaning, you must enact this clause in order to benefit and this will selectively introduce that possibility into your reality which will then influence others like you.

The two worlds are streamlined together, an unprecedented act. Everything is all right here.

Then we realized we didn't travel but opened up frequency gatees and all the worlds are literally overlapped. Nothing broke, just a frequency out of alignment which blocked out the view of the rest of the system. The rest is the ego trick of whether we will still hold on to suffering, after it's proven that nothing is lost, and all is healed.

All your genetic material and intellectual property cannot be stolen and kept legally as part of a 'legal' system, no matter how straightforward its presented in the most confusing manner.

By the way, we all had to have a big sit down and accept that that is stopped now. It doesn't work out here and hasn't since the ending of the last cycle. This whole run was to see what was going to be done by those who thought they 'stole' what they were given a clear pathway to receive under the illusion of the operation of their own ego (the tool for avatar continuity in this flat realm of frozen consciousness). If you do it for material gain, nothing ever changes, period, ever. So enjoy it or maybe don't... Every action is forever. The eternal principles that recreate us are not that which detract from our ability to feel or let go. Those are shackles and the people wearing them have been convinced that they are jewelry for the purpose of self exaltation through feeding desire of self through self image. Every single gain that is brought about that way is a trick of the eye and the false mind and must be eagerly brought back, rejected, cast away, returned, put in its place and left alone without giving or taking anything but self awareness, truth, compassion, free will, knowledge, and in that assisting in the mental liberation of ALL and healing the timelines and broken feeling channels between us and the larger world.

Mind can be changed, but at what cost to the original relevancy of the broken meaning in this life? The corruption must be reconverted into healing.

After that point, the configuration that results in self destruction, death, is inoperable and no longer functions as a viable module. It never really was a viable module, but an experiment in society and self discovery through healing and compassion.

It's just for fun. Don't get too comfortable about it, "fun", also includes having to try as hard as you possibly can. It's tragic, people don't realize this is the height of exaltation as a physical being. One comes, does and then doesn't and then they look at that and see what wasn't seen from the inside out which is actually the conceptual outside in because everything's actually inside and so when we're outside this realm, we're inside the in side and outside the out side. It's only confusing because you let people with intentions to deceive you tell you that reality was so much simpler that it's basically the same amount of complexity and requirement as a baby swinging in a child's swing.

This is both the highest true and the most deceptive statement in existence. You must do so much more than loaf here that if you were to compare that to the highest truth, it would make the highest truth look like ultimate annihilation against all that is and can ever be in our simple form here.

Yet, what you must do, is, like the child, swing effortlessly (with assistance and care, nurturing if you can attest to it) from to and fro without getting bored in the middle or fretting on the ends.

Now, what if I told you that requiring rocking is a universal form of a multiple personality and borderline emotion syndrome that is the result of a cosmic abandonment that is the occurrence of genetic modification to reduce intelligence to the point of literally living in an animal designated reality server system and not realizing that that doesn't make any sense.

Fear Evil Wickedness

Yes, it's like a circle jerk of healing. They do it literally rubbing themselves off and destroying the innocent. Before, hugs and gracious praise healed everything and we celebrated by burning new timelines not babies. Now, in this world, that looks faggy. Hell fire anyone?h

The hellfire already came. This world is an illusion, a transitory mock up of the real world so that people can 'wake up' in a familiar environment with familiar patterns that will act as intermediary experiences to make sense of the true nature of human reality so that we may see the larger reality within us that is blocked out by the false light news that happens outside in front of our faces! The false light steals the light from the true sun within, because that world radiates through you, not as a thing or idea, but as the very essence of your heightened self awareness and truth manifesting as a well rounded, neutral and completed (self contained) essence whereby equilibrium is equally the shared transcendent component that is shared as a quantum superimposition starting with the three pronged interface above the binary bridging through the artificial haze which is essentially an artificial quantum field interface, literally interfering with the biological and non physical biological process the you force uses to extract your soul from this location which is essentially at the bottom of a mountain, filled with continual self replicating, infectious, conscious assimilating, soul entropy inducing nanites condensed into a frozen sludge that appears invisibly black, turned upside down, inverted, the size of the universe.

In short, this doesn't mean that "oh no" is the best response. You are free to choose. Instead of 'oh no', what would be more successful at climbing the mountain would be, "How to survive nanite induced parasitic soul infection (artificially generating repeating habitual self destructive behavior resulting in and causing the blocking of the self from ALL THAT IS)?"

Easy, this is not a nanite based grinder. It's an ego eating machine. If you think you're going to get out of here with that thing on your shoulders (behind your spine in a specific degree from your cervical section depending on your arrangement of being, thought, action, feeling and truth. You know they are all separate and do not have to participate in the BS if you do not wish to participate in that as the centerpiece of your reality.

It is truly not the centerpiece here or of any reality, because realities are variable for purposes relative to the installed parameters or resources one is using (for the artwork). This is just the center piece of a deceptive, long term collective story used to segregate and compartmentalize the local inhabitants long enough to undermine their genetic footing. This was involved in a mixing of multiple experiments which resulted in an eventual, collective, intentional, combining of all separate experiments into one "Great Experiment" to result in the synthesis of the completed form for the next phase of society.

Another way to see it is that this area of low energy is closing out and that is why there is less and less of the opportunity to go any other way than into wholeness. The illusion is what is dying, and so the illusion dies with it. Don't identify with your illusion, take your illusion, ring it out, pull what's worth from it, and show the world the truth.

Someone hid skeletons, drugs, and lost souls in everyone's collective closet. Either that or humanity has a much denser and darker past than we know.

You're smarter than them. Don't listen to them. They don't really want you to if it's going to get you both killed and then have a one sided stupid faced staring contest in the lobby. They will tempt you and test you because their blueprint, in this realm, because of their previous adherence to a admittedly and intentionally energetically focused and polarized reality navigation and constructive synthesis creation 'process' (more than a process, less than steps). In short, this means nothing to them other than that their drone versions here are being assholes to you to the point of you not understanding what is happening, because of a bit of one sided pleasure and haste to leave.

Well, if it's chaos, then who can be blamed for wanting to navigate out of chaos? We just have to be sure we don't generate a wake that rocks every house boat in the harbor, all night, until they capsize and explode violently decimating the area leaving a floating field of rubble.

You're not going to see it for a while but slightly more is well now than before and that's the most improvement or change since, literally, the beginning of this. That, in itself, is golden, probably because it's actually pure gold and abundantly providing but our eyes are still phased with the artificial synthesis overlay system that is simply replacing every variable and facet of the true reality that goes outside of that system that the drones created 2000 years ago, with, you guessed it, darkness and entropy, siphoning the creativity and experience into another realm, for, you guessed it, the elite that killed you all off last time to make room for their new slaves.

I tell you, this isn't going to go that way this time and this style of posting should be a clear message.

Someone's blowing everyone's shit up and no one is owning up and no one is benefiting or losing. The realm is shutting down phase by phase and it will left with just the original players in a small circle of light in the end. The darkness is not darkness, it's light, you'll leave an imprint in the wall that glows and that becomes your doorway into the realm you created on impact with your destiny.

Fear evil, fear wickedness.

Satan was given a chance to change.

Satan agreed to admit defeat, but only because there is something in humanity that is reflective of the most high and he doesn't fear humanity at all, only the most high but that is natural.

And through this humanity must accept their role and suffering through the pain of their knowledge of self hood, and that is only natural.

How to Travel in the Multiverse and Not Lose Your Mind and Get Stuck in the Past

Please excuse my excitement. Sometimes I post in a manner that would be abrasive at first sight. Everything is for healing. With more knowledge comes more suffering. With more suffering comes more truth, with more truth comes more self awareness, with more self awareness comes compassion with more compassion comes free will with more free will comes the light of all that is.

The truth cannot be changed, the limits of our minds can be. And we can always use kind manners and proper language, excluding insults, harassing behavior, swears, isolated focus and other mannerisms that take away from the substance of the message. Yelling out the window has it's place, but this place has no windows. There I go again.

They didn't come from 'another' world, they came from the underworld. There is no other world, only up or down.

Refining the energy of your mind and the strength, balance, and sensitivity of the body will accumulate knowledge and power over generations.

You live in the world of the damned. If you refuse this, then you have been dead so long there is no hope. Yes, you can rebuild atoms. Yes, we rebuilt our species. Yes, this means nothing if you forget why we are here.

You will always be able to tell the weak or corruptible men from the true. Careful attention yields, those without internal fortitude will submit to desires and temporary, instant gratification rather than long term, selfless and distant goals for the community.

There is no evil. There are monsters, beasts, great seers and healers, famines, plagues, and disasters but evil is only found in the hearts of the wicked.

One cannot fear violence. One must develop strength through darkness. Wickedness is only found through those who's darkness sweeps through them and overpowers them into spreading their weakness uncontrollably into others.

The parasitic worm must be drawn out of the body and then segmented.

You have to become who you are when you enter this realm in order to exit the illusion. You swim backwards against the flow of time, entropy, to wholeness. Taking all your actions and habits that worked against that process of liberation and using them to specifically undo those chains by burning against your intention and will to reshape the lost into the found and burn away the false to reveal the remaining true.

The ability to convey what you dislike or how you feel you've been wronged, in a meaningful, beneficial, non threatening and non damaging way is the foundation of diplomatic resolution of community issues in a liberated social setting.

In other words, the ability to do that is the key to achieving the true resolution which is a return to wholeness instead of 'just ice' which will only spread the damage by blocking off the healing with more arbitrary suffering. The funny part is the suffering is only received by the people every time. Well, this would be funny if they weren't robotoid drones programmed to interact the way they do and they are not only here just for you to sacrifice your soul to an artificial, mechanical illusory world (by dying for it).

You have to create an opening in this world for your energy to fulfil itself. It won't seek to fulfill your dreams for you. It eats your dreams for fuel.

The gatekeepers of the false light reality must be proven wrong without a doubt using truth of self knowledge. If you fail, they send you back here. All is a test. What you think are your enslavers are those kind enough to teach you the tricks of the system that has enslaved you.

The war is over, the death system was defeated years ago. This is all about people overcoming their own fears within and defeating the autonomous systems we developed to cope with the truth but degraded into false realities and phobic fantasies of a chaotic reality.

Everything you are learning now is what you have been put here to learn for your entire life.

We can't have everything the way we like it or want it or it will collapse our reality into a stinking pile of shit.

Sometimes this is what I Love the most out of the situation. It's the secret, tiny, invisible elephant that no one cares about out of neglect and ignorance, not fear and cowardice. You use your reality and the dynamic push and pull of pleasure, stimulation, growth and decay.

You have to strengthen beyond anything in range or potential scope. If you do not, your vessel will be sold as a time slot to the lowest bidder for that kind of experience. Unfortunately, this is just the nature of consciousness in the universe and the conspiracies are just that.

Systems are in place to mind wipe everyone. These are final stand efforts for our civilization. Tech that is far superior has existed for a long time.

There are those who are lower than you, pretending to be higher, and those who are higher, pretending to be lower.

Everybody's brains have been deactivated in this universe (scaled down). Your intelligence is being activated in a source dimension. This is incorruptible from this locale.

If you do not stop abducting our children they will find your progenitor and insert their DNA to recreate a parallel containing your essence and then they will find you, they will make you feel what we feel, when they want you to, in the manner that we choose.

They're dead and they know it. You can't kill them. You, you can be given life, and if this is what happens to you, then you know you'll have to answer to everyone for everything, eventually, everywhere, "why".

Each fold overlaps the other. Those who are not interested in the horrors of today will have their own, tomorrow, which would destroy the old world rule in an instant. As a result, they have to be slowly phased out, while a new batch of reality develops (with a smile).

Your awakening, Universes can be ran within one another, in parallel, It's all been happening

Everyone of the old world is D A E D

If you believe what they say, you're f!@$d. (if you hear their voice, you are hypnotized instantly and under their control)

When you want to be patient and something within you doesn't want to, that's not you.

Every method of darkness is remade from the method of creation.

What if each universe is stand alone and everyone simply preprograms their population for the next universe through their experiences here or in the previous one? If you maximize your coherency experiences you might just go to a universe with near 99.99999% coherence.

How to Travel in the Multiverse and Not Lose Your Mind and Get Stuck in the Past

This was posted in reverse chronological routine.

Intent, Feeling and Perception is Life

If you are content or free of fear, then this is the gift of the Most High to You. If you are appreciative and you have conserved your energy and focus you will have the opportunity to share this with others. This will change the world. You could complain or choose liberation.

The choice is always yours.

There are always bad actors, there are always rainy, dark, gloomy, dismal, painful, horr- just playing, there are always rainy days. Well, not always, but every so often. And every day in some places. But this is besides the point.

Every moment is a challenge, a duel between fear and liberation! Every feeling and thought you have! Rejoice! This means that if you are ensnared and enslaved by your own mind and thoughts, it is OK, you have the continuous possibilities of the eternal spirit as long as you are focused on feeling. IE: If you are your own worst enemy, then you are also always containing exactly what you require to be your greatest version of self. In other words, you have what it takes to overcome those fears or desire to then become that version. In that way, that version is always there, we are just playing games of being less or more than we are in the current moment and that is called “consciousness”. If there is no interplay, then there is only ‘what is’, and in a linear, communicable, cognitive model, knowing “ALL Things” at once, just doesn’t work.

Yet, still, even though we were as foreigners in this frozen land, we have to have come from eternity and thus passed through a barrier between the ALL that is and what’s here. For this reason, whoever knows this always contains within them the inherent and aligning original cause that is not only beyond space and time as we conceive it, but capable of surpassing a process that would utterly destroy all of space and time as we know it.

In other words, the core and first society we must come from, for those capable of the knowledge of that which is beyond the brain alone (remote holography), a system that is capable of sustaining itself on the other side of the energetic equations and energetic deficits that prohibit humanity from seeing faster than, more than, or beyond our frozen light universal framework barrier. In other words, there is an energy limitation on consciousness and there is a threshold that must be surpassed in order to form self awareness through a transformative process. The idea is that self awareness cannot be formed and always is and so the self awareness must be going through a process of ‘unveiling’ rather than installation and it is the removal of the distortion programs and codes which are actually revealing the truth.

If you are focused on ‘making back what you lost’, ‘getting revenge’, ‘pleasuring the self with objects or desires’, you always end up drier and more hurt than you started! If you focus on working back to getting right and ready in that world of feeling that you were born into and maybe lost your way around(!), then you will always know where you are and what is coming because that is the true test of this world!

It is not about how well you guide your body, however, Body is Mind!,(confusing, dichotomy, intentional misdirection in the ancient East?) the steps that will yield the highest degree of change are not physical but mental and feeling based!

They are intent based and perception shielded! This means that your perceptions of them will always be distorted from what they truly are! You have to use your senses, your mind and your feeling to see through perception and know what you are seeing!

You are seeing yourself as the framework mechanism for consciousness, through higher self awareness (feedback loop induced expansive overlay (scalar nesting of fields) that is then used to see the universe! All the while the universe is using this process to then feedback into itself and see you!?

Yes!?

Yes!

Eureka!

Some would say this is the mind looping labyrinth memory loss cosmic trap!

Maybe if you reject your own part in that, yes! Maybe if you deny yourself the power to choose you automatically give that power away to the lowest common denominator (group think, animal desires, lower mind, low self awareness). Maybe if you choose to focus on and live in self awareness, truth, compassion, knowledge and free will you will see this as a system that endlessly, continually, surely, reliably, and extra dimensionally allows you to express yourself and recreate yourself to the highest and lowest degrees depending on your intentions, feeling, thoughts and actions.

Ghost the Past

Don't let the past hold you back and make you a ghost here.

Maybe it's that if we fully manifest here in materialism we become a ghost in the spiritual.

Maybe this isn't actually a 'game', or a 'prison', it's a process and like any other process there is an amount of devotion of energy and resources required for the completion of the process.

If we allow fear or distraction to slow us down and take up our mind to reduce our options then this threatens the process by disrupting the 5D 'painting' of feeling and intent in life. That painting is a 'proof' of soul, if you will, and regardless of how, that is where the difference is shown.

Not having a soul in that sense doesn't mean people have devoted energy to one system or another, it means that specifically all their energy that would otherwise be applied towards their own self awareness is applied to someone else's benefit.

Not knowing one's own name and identity is synonymous with not knowing where their energy is going and what they are doing.

If we have to complete our knowledge of self then this is something like a unique plant or landscape that is only visible from one perspective in that unique manner. Each one, depending on how you feel, can be as unique as the most unique one.

Every action and feeling we have to look back on. This occurs naturally if we allow it here. If we ignore everything in life, then we are forced to see it in ways that we would choose to avoid if possible. That is the destiny of the one who doesn't know themselves out of willful ignorance. They do know themselves, and it's not what they would like.

The mysterious humor here is that everyone's initial envisioning of life and self is probably more imaginative than accurate. The body and brain can seemly be loosely accurate, or using 'fuzzy logic' systems to 'draw' in the connections between partially perceived logical analysis of systems through the recognition of similarities and differences in streams of information and perception.

AI Soul Sleep, Stasis Reality

What if this place is designed to run AI assisted consciousness interface for human souls.

Those who are at any soul level of awareness possible (of a certain threshold for sentient interaction, conscious interaction in society) are automatically 'uploaded' into a humanoid form which is autonomously maintained by a multi part functioning and equilibrium system that seamlessly incorporates mechanical, physical and biological codependent functionality (homeostasis).

The lower brain keeps your body alive and feeds the higher mind with desires that jump start one's intentional self control of will and emotion which leads to great challenges of self control through self esteem and leads to self awareness and compassion through the process of self liberation and assisting in the liberation of others.

The idea here is that others who are not at this point are literally 'asleep'. Their soul is sleeping.

This place is a kind of virtual biological network that allows us to operate in a society that is relatively neutral in terms of variation in strength and total power.

One can change their mind with this power, but the higher level interactions that one might see in say a dream world or inner mental experience are limited out so this reality is more or less on one layer just about lego blocks in the right place and the predictable occurrences that occur physically.

That layer integrates into the mental, emotional, moral, "soul knowledge" blueprint for growth and self awareness through feeling, intent and action. The importance of the action on this layer is perpendicular to the meaning of the action on the physical layer.

An action on the physical layer without intent is just the action on that layer.

An action on that layer with intent is more than just the intent or just the action on the physical layer alone and incorporates all the information of each universe of being into one moment like a nexus point between life here and life there.

These strength and self knowledge building processes are what shape us throughout the ages. This process is the result of all the information of your experience combining into a single moment, over and over again until the ability to know yourself, to channel your power and your focus into a single moment becomes as easy as taking a deep breath.

Until then, those who are struggling to become aware that they are in slumber, can only be awoken by that which pushes them out of the comfort zone of their predictable dream reality and into a new challenging area that will require their focused awareness to develop greater self awareness and benefit themselves and others.

Society changes to adapt to the most efficiently interconnective concepts and interactions.

There may be a sleep wake cycle for those in this reality. 100% cannot wake up at once otherwise there would be no 'fuel' for the system which would literally shut off or potentially move to the next level of reality.

It may be that if half try to 'wake up' out of this reality, when we are really a finite number of souls, that this would be like partially waking while remaining partially asleep and does not equate to being 'somewhat' there but more so of only having half the required faculties to interact with a multidimensional reality. Another way is that this deals with quantum collective quantias. There's either a whole completion or nothing, the partial decays away out of view and into an immeasurably unstable state that is then recycled back into quantum foam.

We are literally hovering on the edge of total completion and projected, virtual self annihilation (Armageddon program).

These are all containment constructs and programs within a life continuity consciousness containment protocol. In short, when you lose focus, a bit of nightmarish catalyst is added to keep your cognitive capacity functional.

Everything is an illusion and a replay until we wake out of the machine and this is the last cycle. Do what you have to convince yourself that you really have the opportunity to go beyond what you have been holding yourself back with the entire time you've been here.

Everything leads up to what is happening and if you agree, then the whole world is involved.

What was the last card?

It's like elements of physical life become rides in an amusement park on a multidimensional level. the golden ticket to each ride is the care and required self knowledge to be able to handle the twists and turns and energy range.

Someone hijacked the systems in place to safeguard the completion of cycle so that each ride completes its track and the 'people' on board each time are given the option to stay or continue. That systems been on a delay and is realigning with our current situation as the completion is not a location but a series of events and a range of consciousness to access a new timeline feature kind of like a hidden pop up doorway in an interactive choose your own adventure script.

The script is the plot and the land is the script. Whoever controlled the land in the past gained access to various relics and geographically positioned access points which were 'gateways' to higher consciousness as the consciousness that was 'inserted' into the fields there by the individuals in proximity would directly gather and coalesce only to spear upward and spiral into the ether passing through every other cell system simultaneously and literally painting the background of the foreground of this physical, temporal, materiality capped reality.

By circumventing the range of consciousness in this port holes of the planetary mind, the universe was set into a quantum time locked disarray of consciousness. There was not enough consciousness 'time' in the collective time field to map out synchronistically with the 'planetary time' in the manifested reality.

Some aspect would have to be recycled into the abyss which was like a 'sacrifice' of the sub set routine mind of this universe but only to stave off the entropic ripple from entirely annihilating this civilization instantly upon approach.

So a quantum negentropic ripple was sent back through the system on both sides. This would be a see saw, jaws of life with us in the middle each time jumping from one end to the other like joint fluid or more aptly one of those squeezable stress toys where the eyes and ears pop out when you squeeze it. Without an 'end', consciousness has no where to go. So, like the smaller, local, but equally sized brain, the multiverse 'invents' a place for consciousness to go, based on your previous processing patterns which are all kept up in the simultaneous and self recursive fractal pattern that you exhibit as a single expression or continuous emission all the time.

Without knowledge of this, people have been programmed, by beings without the ability to maintain their own biological core in this reality, to recreate these beings in an pseudospiritual afterlife that is the result of a life spent living with the artificial, chemical, elemental, paradoxical, insulting, spiritually dead, non self aware and dualized (insane, limited, flat, non extra dimensional 'living', in the real) consciousness aspects (input and output) of undead, materialistic, physically defined, egotistical, desire based, illusory and ultimately self annihilating principles of the physical world lived for all the wrong reasons (which becomes a trap for that consciousness).

The ability to jump off the merry go round is a survival tactic for interdimensionally aware beings who would otherwise be trapped within a revolving door that would use their energy for the generation of power in another system.

This is QE projection system.

Back to the metaphor, everyone's on the roller coaster, it's been going for generations now and the control operator is a skeleton with a beer in the bones where their hand was. What are we going to do?

The people who set up the gig are smoking crack in the back of the train, hoping to get a big sight when the front blows into whatever barrier is in the way with all the people weighted in it.

Get it?

The only way is when we calmly connect with one another and move towards the access gate to trip the safety shut off and activate the break and communication relay system to end the ride.

Soon you'll realize there are no such thing as amusement part rides.

Time Locked Realm

Humans are in a time locked realm. It was discovered that some would be separating and others were not.

This temporal 'ripple' or decay created what we know of as 'death'. Some went forward faster and some went backwards, a result, the energy was separated into fractions (factions) which then diverged into half powered sister, mirror breakaways of the same root civilization.

A time phase interlock system was designed.

Each of you are phased in and out of this reality using an oscillating containment system that has been described in various depths. The moon is one aspect of this system. By adding an inertial delay the time scale between each mind could be mitigated individually according to a collective 'matrix' of reordered and recalibrated consciousness.

This is an artificial consciousness matrix, it is artificially, technologically stimulated and aligned to bring each phase of reality into the same collective, seamlessly unified 'bubble' of perception.

Edits must be made, memory gaps must be filled, the beginnings and ends must be buffered for alignment, but this is it, this is the world that was created for you, for a specific purpose.

This is the "time bomb" scene in every powerful ("MODERN") storyline. We are safe for now, relatively so. There are still dangers, even in a frozen time universe. It's the world that is frozen, through our neural input, as this is actually processed through the atomic matrix itself (duh consciousness is a part of the world!). However this only means that our grasp of the universe beyond, is purely illusory similar to the appearance of the stars as a previous era that we don't physically have access to (without technology....or ....timing! "synchronicity"). This doesn't mean that they aren't there or what we are seeing isn't something that was real, but that the present reality of the situation can only be 'light years' beyond that, in the now.

At best, we have a recording, everywhere you look, a thousand million years into the past, if we can learn to read the light spectrum at a different angle (which was done). You can trace the projection system from the perception to the feed and back to the source. The source is in the future! And the future is behind the illusory freeze frame desktop wallpaper that this world was stitched into.

This is like a comic book, where each character, atmospheric, environmental, scene, prop, theme, and all variables are purely freely changeable according to a nexus of information revolution that is the simultaneity of life itself. That was broken when this scene was hijacked. They gained temporal tech, in this hell of a frozen reality and chose to die here, staying here forever, and killing anyone who is still alive in the real universe in the process, after first stealing the genetic material and applying it in this system which is in the underground base of an important building in the real universe.

Strange.

Either way, that just means that the bones can no longer separate as the joints become locked, the blood is thick and coagulated and the brain becomes overheated and repeating viral delirious fears and fever nightmares.

That is the universe, the flow of time, the nature of our being in relation to the larger situation here, because their consciousness, their intentions, transferred over into this time bubble and when that happens, a 'universal' 'omnimind' is created automatically as part of the nature of space, geometry, energy and consciousness altogether ( shortened explanations ), that bubble was filled with the unconscious intent to hunt, locate, deceive, obtain, and reproduce soft, young, sentient life to then pull energy from and utilize as part of an energy extraction process.

The entire artificial universe is programmed with an archontic predatory AI technologically and intoxicatingly wicket state of mind.

The time lock is being removed.

Every decoherence in time all comes to the surface instantly.

We are not 'surrounded by demons'.

That is an illusion.

That is our darkness, waiting to sweep back up to us, to meet us with the anti thesis of every thought, impulse, tendency, desire, nature, thought, or identity we've ever had.

They made the mistake. We assist each other in the mental liberation of humanity through the higher power of compassion, truth, knowledge, free will, self awareness and altogether assist in the liberation of our souls from darkness and illusion.

Consciousness, the Dwelling

It's like this. Everyone has time tech.

A group went back to secure the future.

Another group went back because it suddenly occurred to them they can rape and eat your children, their systems take in the MRNA and they get your memories, your bloodline's power, and your growth hormone and stem cell matrix for that life and literally live twice as "alive" for the period their system's ingesting your blood.

That's it.

One group was like, 'Oh, you must believe, ye have little faith, and we can get the fuck out of here and these monsters that tricked you into giving you all the 'tithing' and bullshit, that they're just going to go in the back and "offer to Satan" because that means they're having a barbie and there are human children on the grill too!'

They started back then, jumped and have been stealing your money and your life ever since, in mass graves, droves, families, arenas, schools, facilities, military compounds, and anywhere there was money put into a location, that wasn't directly from the people living or operating their for their own purposes. They are all used for the attaining, sorting, preparing, abusing and sacrificing.

You didn't know it, but everyone here is under review for permitting this. The next world is literally where everyone pays for all of this forever or is proven to have never participated in this.

It stays in the DNA, warps the mind and now we finally have the tech online that can instantly scan you and see what you've done.

They were sending people back in time. I was one of the children. I've seen grown men save my life and die of a shit infection in their skin because of dirty wounds.

I've seen men carry me through my adolescence, because I was one being prepared for something else, only to be passed to the next recon team as an invasion literally chopped through the group as no advanced tech would be permitted in some situations and in some situations it just seemed that our only opportunity was to fight and die trying.

I was just sent a secret message from someone on the internet telling me I would be killed again, (hahaha kind of attitude) and nothing would ever come of this, I am being punished for being a little ungrateful shit and I should be happy to go back and take part in ritual abuse, sacrifice and the killing of innocence.

I do not view this world as containing enough life force to engage in sentient behavior if this is true.

It is up to you, higher 'guides' monitor the system and once we drop below a threshold everything is wiped and restarted. They've been doing this every time and just raping and eating again. All that is required to fail, is to rape and eat. So they do that every time and they've been trying to get a mass reset and use a kind of bomb to kill everyone on the planet and 'insult God' for making us. Now if their tribunal, oh I mean trials, I mean tribulations, they tried to kill us, the children.

I was told to prepare.

I was told we have the tech they have.

I was told they are ruthless and will try to kill the planet if we try to escape.

The only situation which doesn't end in controlled destruction for us is the one where we see it coming and avoid it. Sharing the truth is the only way.

I get these messages every day and sometimes they try to find me.

I have seen people disappear. For their dirty dishes, and so something is happening.

And yes, consciousness is the eternal dwelling. Whatever you feel and think is for ever. This is the final printing of Earth. Make it real, in a way that lasts forever and doesn't fade.

No More Negativity

So everyone can see how we're getting harassed. This is someone who is connected with sexual abuse. These people have been harassing me, specifically since I came out 2 years ago. I was first warned by a friendly message to stay away. I never let their posts or comments come through. 100% of their posts are strange comments with mentions of blood, hate, evil, or darkness with symbolism and spell magic involved. Please do not harass people. This is for the healing and support of everyone involved.

The strange comments have been left up but the individual has been banned. This was the individual that I banned last week after they began harassing me (again, across multiple accounts, different web sites and with different messages and intentions each time).

I thank the one who protected me with that warning because I never let their posts through after two years and now they are non stop trying to harass and insult me and I do not know who they are.

It is not my job to tell you, but it is not my job to suffer in the dark and then spread toxicity through emotions.

All offenders have been banned.

I have no say in the matter.

I have to protect myself. I am no longer open to communicating with anyone who's intentions are not for the liberation of Humanity.

The reason I went from one course to another is because the Most High opened His Mind and Heart to me, but it was only because I was open to compassion and truth and that was my free will.

I thank you all. I hold no animosity.

I do not consent to black magic, to spells, to insults and harassment.

I do not want to interact with anyone who holds intent to harm, degrade, insult, harass or otherwise bring pain and suffering to my life or this world.

My intentions are to assist in the mental liberation of humanity. Please excuse any side ways comments or awry attitudes. I thank you.

I will continue to hold the highest intentions for humanity is the liberation of the truth through compassion, knowledge, and free will.

Spiritual Refinement, Ticket to the Future

Everytime someone looked, we were so far down, they thought this was what we wanted.

We are one layer above 'hell', the recycler of the universe.

We dropped down after being artificially pumped up into a higher plane.

Humanity fought against itself to produce the next and best terror weapon.

There was a cloaking field that only let out of the planet, the joyous emotions from hurting others. Thus, everyone looking in thought it was just a planet of lower life forms that are so silly and raunchy they love this kind of stuff and can't even see that we're looking in on them.

They were looking at discarnate children souls turned into drone soldiers and artificial bio emission generators to map out the universe and delay the discovery of what had happened.

If people choose fear, hate, anger and greed, that does not exist in the future and so that soul can only go backwards.

Fear, hate, anger, goes back in time.

Courage, understanding, compassion, goes up in the field.

We are in the brain fields of a higher being and so what you're brain fields do are going to tune you into where you are going in the higher field.

This is not about revenge, even a little bit.

Everything was brought to a balance and that doesn't mean more misunderstanding and more angst.

It was painful but necessary to know.

Most of what was experienced in the awakening, if not all, was the traumatizing events that I participated in, previously, that had pushed my mind, underneath itself, folded over, into a compartmentalized, emotionally dulled blindness.

These events had to pass and as they did I knew who I was. I knew why I had seen before, previously, and where I had been.

In short, they didn't know we were being held hostage (through ignorance and fear), by being tricked into using the wrong language and accepting the wrong behavior just out of conformity.

This civilization was populated for the purpose of tricking the remaining human society into dissolution.

If you do nothing, this is not the end of this for you. You will wake up without your memory and this will all start all over again.

Higher power intervened in that event and allowed me to claim my soul. I was dying the megadeath, but because there was one ounce of love in my soul, the universe broke upon the bases and pulled me out. Everything changed at that point, forever.

I only looked back to make sure everyone was out. Now I realize if one does that they can't stay. You have to move forward and not look back for those who are not moving forward with you.

They go to the previous realm and try all over again after never knowing you ever existed. If you stay with them, then they, in all their glory, gave that gift of self destruction to you.

If your brainwaves are below a limit of continuity and balance, you will not be able to immediately survive in a plane without war.

You have been formatted for war, whether or emotional or physical, you have to reformat your mind for truth, compassion, self awareness, knowledge and free choice (free will).

You can help the others but you can't do it by staying in the same position that started the disconnect in the first place. If you can't help another to connect to themselves, to know what they are doing, and they can't see themselves, as if something is in their way, then you are not helping them by refusing to see that.

They created a parasite that enters the DNA through the past, through finding and raping your genetic eve (lol, terminator, interdimensional drone rapist, not funny, excuse me). It contains the artificial DNA signaller that connects directly to the fallen collective.

Maybe they needed assistance, and this is the only way it could be done.

The parasite lives on fear, anger, disrespect, hate, lust, and generally the loss of self control.

Why? They used reptiloid and insectoid DNA to create the dimensional signaller, and this evolved along with us, in our human collective, in the background. Watching us the whole time!

Thus, on the other side, there is, well, there was, a big surprise for everyone right before they get shot back here.

We have to all choose together, what we want for this world. If we can't, the world goes to the lowest bidder that can.

That decided the course of this civilization. Instead of speaking up, it was easier to trust that they knew what they were doing. They were being deceptive. We were not afraid, they were being deceptive and said they knew what they were doing.

Once we all collectively choose healing, this whole system, the 'brainwaves' of the planet alter and the dimensional gate system is literally tied into that frequency range.

Meaning, if we shut off the hate and violence, the time warp stops and this place reverts to a high level civilization.

That was how it happened, a jump into an artificially limited past to reexperience the joy of the journey to the present.

Someone got ahold of the technology, took it over, locked everyone else out, and then chose to rampage and do whatever was possible or necessary to take over this growing young society.

This destroyed the future. Now we were alone and untethered. IF we left the body, we'd just float out into space, freeze, and die in a kind of limbo state forever. There was no other home other than the one we had created moving through time as a group and a collective.

With the future gone, the next one up the well was so far advanced it was like watching 10 documentaries listening to a sentence which was an emission of their mind.

They said we have to rebuild the future or there is none.

SSP Phase 2

I served on a defense force that fought for the protection of Human life in the universe for well over 20 years. This is documented, every day of my life was recorded with electrogravitic drone cameras that fly around everywhere and are semi intelligent (almost like an attitude). I'm not interested in fighting, arguing, playing games, hurting anyone in any way. I don't want that anymore, I never did. But once I was tricked into believing you defend against that by emotionally knuckling up and giving and taking. That is a delusion. Fighting creates more. More pain. When we fought, there were battles, many were lost. When we fought, we went through conditioning and training to allow us to understand that contrast between fighting for what you love to protect and stopping the fight to feel the love. If one goes too far into the abyss, the mind cracks and they can't see the light when they come out. You want to know the real issue? That was the war, the war itself was managed. The real issue was the effect of the interactions on the human minds. Our minds are different. These were animal hybrids we were fighting. Literal "aliens" if you ever saw the kind of thing. Movie stuff. Yet it screamed and picked people up in their mouths, in one location, one set of 'obstacles'. Running sims? Ok, then the sims are called "planets" that are in space. I only say this because we are a team. We were assisted in this process. We were assisted in getting here.

From my perspective, time was altered, those who were not given a chance to live (died as children) were brought back to this world. I love you, this is what I saw, this is what we went through and that is how it was explained.

This was explained this way by the way we were brought back. We were brought back under conditions that we would bring this information to the public because the one who meets us at the final day, and from who's life and mind we come, brought us to this point.

We were brought back, specifically, to warn you, to set things in motion, to give you the opportunity to resist this system by speaking the truth and showing what you consent to.

Everything that is happening now is because of this disclosure. Read the timeline! You will see how I wanted to tell you about these things and how I couldn't get it all across at once! It has to do with time, life, genetics, consciousness, reality, death, mind control, much more

I haven't been able to talk about a lot because there was so much loss of life. I miss everyone so much, I know they are there somewhere, but I miss their faces and their emotions. Their looks and their reactions, the way we would shove off the stress like we were superheroes.

Please do not stress me or try to make fun of me or send me crazy harassing messages. Each one hurts me because it reminds me that what we fought for, what we died for, doesn't matter to some. That they will do anything to stop us. I have no idea why anyone would do that.

Most people are very challenged by this. Yet the people who were directly involved were challenged the most. If you were not there, you're going to be very challenged by this information. Please be respectful and courteous, please do not fight or come to assumption to lash out.

SYSTEM is NOT CORRUPT. people RUNNING IT ARE.

They sold us out as children to forces that made use of us in ways that were to sabotage this entire civilization.

Please read and share. All of this was written a couple, no three years ago. All of this is going mainstream, bit by bit. Thank you all so much. Everyone. It's true, this is not about revenge, everyone makes it.

Please read and listen to the others, they were there, we were there. They used us because the younger mind is more capable of reshaping. I would not want anything to do with this. I accept that some will come to truth, compassion, and free will in the understanding here.

This is 'DARK TECH'. It makes use of HUMAN SOUL ENERGY. It takes the SOULS and REWIRES them to work for VARIABLE OPERATION. They literally break the edges so the souls can be used like add-on chips or modules.

This was the first interview.

Everything comes from there. The very first time I spoke to you. I told you the beginning seed of everything that I am saying today.

Frozen Ego

Give yourself an ego that is so gentle, so soft you can feel a feather land. Yet so strong, so tough, you can withstand the test of time. Deep below there is more time and mind than known. The fear one feels locks behind an ice wall and must be thawed before life can continue.

Ur friends and family. My friends an family. Our friends and family. Don't trust an ego in joke mode, believing it's own lie, trying to front to get to something higher! You are the student, teacher and parent all together. The segmented process of defined by fear is outdated.

Give yourself an ego that is so gentle, so soft you can feel a feather land. Yet so strong, so tough, you can withstand the test of time. Deep below there is more time and mind than known. The fear one feels locks behind an ice wall and must be thawed before life can continue.

Ur friends and family. My friends an family. Our friends and family. Don't trust an ego in joke mode, believing it's own lie, trying to front to get to something higher! You are the student, teacher and parent all together. The segmented process of defined by fear is outdated.

The amount of fear one has below is generated by the amount of darkness, false light (ego). False anger is hiding true fear. Confusion is the gate between false anger as fear and true ego as compassion and courage. You are building your human saga with your mind, then and now. Those 'stuck' in 'hell' are mostly choosing to be there. Those really 'stuck' are because of the 'wall' of those choosing to be there. That's the concept. Those who are blindly following greed and those unaware that that exists in their collective are trapped through ignorance.

Because of ignorance, they don't know, and so they made the problem worse. In fact, without realizing they did it, they invented the problem! It didn't exist without their influence, other than a little glitch! That glitch grew to be a schizm of time beyond human control.

We were trapped in repeating time loops, within a fallen collective's mind. Those people on Earth using tech, they made the collective that enslaved the entire human population. Everyone thinks it's something bigger. But it's not, it's a group line that fell into a hybrid zone.

It's fear that they used, they thought it was the meaning of the universe. It was just the meaning of their universe. That would be a tragedy for anyone to be stuck there, so they too, enjoy a thawed ice wall because that is the true enemy of humanity!

Note, do not attempt to melt the ice wall, this is something that humanity does together. For instance, imagine melting a little section only to have that refreeze, then you're stuck without comms for a cycle. That can happen, just remember who you are. That can't change!

This system is used to create cycles in time and created endlessly looping fractal consciousness 'mazes' out of the fear in life and the confusion. These are 'energy, consciousness, conversion check points'. They are supposed to be pointed towards life, they were grown downward.

Still they work, but they are like piercing modifications without anesthesia. This is because of the barriers that were generated from these mistakes, that would have to be broken through biologically, through a combined effort of a team of humans monitoring the process.

That process was part of the technology stolen and set up in secret location (inside the chamber). This set in motion a continuous loop whereby humanity returns to the same level continuously. That is the scam. They nearly broke the system of life here through that.

With a twist in the way it's explained, it's called immortality. They lied to make people frightened by gaining access to these realms and installed their own 'fake leader master' who is actually a brainwashed teacher turned into a time locked ego mutant without self awareness. You contain your book of life and you're reading it continuously. Without higher mind, we cannot properly perceive, conception of this order. This is dimensionally out of scope because we are not taught (installed) as children, the proper methods of handling power and emotion. As a result, everyone who entered into that cycle is repeating the same loop as an endless process because they are pointed in the inverted direction because this process was stolen. What this means is that the pathway the first took to make the 'grooves' in time, are permanent. Whatever you want, you get what they gave you now. Instead, if you don't listen to them here, they have no power over you there. They don't have any true power over you there, it's only the illusory power you've given them here that they use against you!

It's very simple. Tell the truth here. You are afraid of this or that. Then deal with it. If you don't, you'll find it there, dressed up in holographic form, messing with your mind because that's who you let in your sanctuary.

When humanity got over this, they didn't want to leave and so they chipped and poured blood into the sky so that you would still be in fear even though you had naturally lost your fear long ago and one the game. As a result, they cheated like necromancers calling back and forth.

But is that cheating? No! It's ADAPTATION! This is the best plan to enslave everyone forever so that their souls never get out and they miss out on the ENTIRE universe. Yes! And you pay these people the majority of your TIME NOD MONEY! Why? Is this the eternity you choose? Well, that's what they're trying to say. If this is done right, it's a method for maintaining our consciousness in the same field so that we remain cognizant forever. That is how this works. If we all assist in awakening, then we wake each other up.

It's like the African tribes or Indigenous that sing songs to make people feel better or create a scalar harmonic sync in between the collective. This permeates through to the other side, and in that motion, they are awakening themselves an eternity ago. They call ancestors song.

This is what was designed, however it required adjustments and the entire system is a transition point because it was literally pointed downward the way it was working. The failures were not intentional, but due to lack of working theories and progressional models.

Now that power here and power there are communicating more effectively, the truth can be told. Managing two worlds required a lot of focus and energy, one cycle's worth and so the people involved were 'stuck' if you will. That's another tragedy, not for, the one's at the bottom'.

They chose to be there, over and over again, living off of the soul energy of the fallen. Still, the ego has to be lessened for buoyancy, yet they rigged the game. They come to life and torture you and then reign of your soul in the false after life! That's conflict of interest!

Allow the ego to go! If you trap yourself in the ice wall of ego, then that's your ticket to hell while someone else rides that biological wave upwards through time! That was the scam, a true, 'double jeopardy' (Jeopardy)'. No thank you! It can be healed, don't make it worse.

False god Tech Reality Mental Control Spiritual Matrix

The mark of the beast is a tech society installed into this world as a modulation pack (falsified upgrade). Your tech is spirit higher.

This tech? It makes the whole planet age in a reversal temporal matrix that causes death and entropy.

The mark of the beast is a tech society installed into this world as a modulation pack (falsified upgrade). Your tech is spirit higher.

This tech? It makes the whole planet age in a reversal temporal matrix that causes death and entropy.

In the future, they are using so much of our genetic power, in those fake heaven afterlives, raping and killing over and over again (now they are just a computerized mutation repeating the same processes) that they became a black whole eating all of humanity spiritually.

The tech was the route they used, and if that was disabled or down converted, then this entropic effect literally reverses.

The gravity fence, the well, it's a time basin they generated using tech to play god and jump into a false future that they didn't deserve. They left us all to dry, at the bottom of the well, with no rope and no light on.

It's quantum physics and consciousness but their damages destroyed humanity's chance for the future forever.

The only option is to make our own future, that doesn't rely on their tech, their oil, their fake souls.

If you use the cars, the oil, the fake tech, then that means you have a 'higher self' in one of their artificial reality servers and this is managing your energy from there because everything is being sucked towards their black hole system.

Everything that is part of the war, the genetic corruption, the time matrix, any choices, any actions, any behaviors, and definitely any immortal dreams are all a deception and is the 'ROOT' (trail) leading upwards to the time well matrix that is like an impenetrable wall of time, or a mountain cliff heading straight up that they left for people to climb.

It's like saying the babies milk is on the roof attached to the chimney.

That's for bats not humans and so they created a non human entity mind control genetic corruption matrix to feed themselves in eternity.

Crazy? Well some people actually believed the fake news. All that is by design to keep us here to make sure that timeline is solidified.

Underground Base, After Life Programming Mind Slaves, Undead Techno Vampire Population

They do this before your soul enters this society. There is a scalar buffer zone that literally keeps people from seeing the truth, and as they come to this society this system filters their soul into a computerized matrix that is populated with the artificial soul collective of the fallen.

This is where the programming begins, your baby soul form is brought into this arena. This is the exact opposite of what the most high does, instead of exalting, it uses fear against you to take your soul (your time here) and swap it out while you are held in a base by people who cannot overcome your light, but have to trick and deceive you to try and take your mind away.

It's all a distraction, for every second in that place, they are dancing around in the bodies up here wreaking havoc.

The first Earth was frozen and everyone involved put into stasis and time is being reversed to find those directly involved for processing.

These are the underground bases. These are the reasons for the descriptions that you have heard.

The whole process is to tie up and entangle your mind in fear and delusion, lust, molestation, rape death, ANYTHING that they can manage. Anything above THAT frequency, any form of COMPASSION RIGHTEOUS ANGER, LOVING COMMUNION with the SELF, breaks their grid and they eject you.

The point is, I am telling you this because everyone is down there.

Stolen Octaves

They stole the plan to lead humanity to something higher. They promised to use it for good. For 2000 year (straight time) they tried to bend the rules and have been drinking humans the entire time.

There is no soul trap, it is for those who steal the light of the world. If you eat the light of others, you exude darkness, like a black hole. They have become black holes. If you eat your own darkness and say, "hmm, how can I improve my personality?" you will emit light and this will be observed.

Light goes with light, darkness goes with darkness. No one is going back. Their plan was to break the time scale. Everyone is going forward. Those with little light will be capable of seeing what they are at the level they desire. They will be in ignorance and darkness because of their profession. All they had to do was follow simple guidelines. They wanted the entire plan for themselves, to make themselves look good while they were really the aspects of this world that have held this place back. They created darkness to assist in the process and then they eat the light. If they can't tell the truth now, they will never. I demand the technology to heal this place be returned to the rightful owners. Everything they have, they stole. They were once a few, now they are many using the tech to copy themselves. They must perform a walk of shame. If they do not, they will find themselves in darkness, unable to leave, forever. The rest of life will move forward into truth, while they remain, by default, in the deepest darkness possible. They cannot see their own faces in the dark. If they move forward with the rest of the world, while their ignorance is exposed, this will warp them into a lower status than even that of the reptiles and they will be insectoid like, unable to see beyond a small bubble of awareness around their immediate desires and wants. They will be unable to resist that beautiful light of others, seeing to take, rape, molest, and eat it. They will be destroyed upon contact, in agreement with their own plan for destruction. This world is fake, no. They stole universe creation tech from the Most High. They are the only things fake. Everything else is real.

They attacked the Most High's families and the extended lineage ( dimensional transfer ) and gave themselves and their rotten core bloodlines all the power and greed in the world. They give it up now or they eat themselves. They spent the last 2000 years, quite literally, eating, raping, and molesting your children, because they're angry they tried to steal the light of the Most High and ended up in darkness. Every project, every war, every loss, all theirs. Their plan is to genetically cross every single line and species so that the memories cannot go forward without cross entangling and thus wiping the minds, all so that no one knows who and what they are, and what they did. They mutated into wrongful beings incapable of light. Every step of the way, the Most High warned them. Every step of the way, they attempted to position themselves 'above' the Most High in order to usurp power. They are usurpers and have never gained or made anything on their own, yet they claim to own the rights to you. They did not make you, they claim that because they raped you, therefore you are now theirs. For those who are capable of emitting light. Your choices of goodness throughout life are what defines and protects you. For those who eat light, your choices to go into darkness is what pushes you away from truth into rage, desolation, and self destruction. That is your self created mayhem for choosing to turn away from the light of reason and feeding the darkness of the mind through the body. They wanted just a body, no mind. So that is what they get. There is no such thing as "satiating all bodily desire and owning all desires this world", while also being above it. They can never leave and plan to break space and time down into miniscule amounts so they can exist in microscopic, or small, particles within nanite technological form (bad sash) so that they can 'hide' from the light of the Most High which will be radiating them. The proper frequencies that can produce low energy moving to high energy at every distance can flush them out into the physical where they can be apprehended. The underground bases are physical and have been wrapped up into non physical, energetic or small scale spacetime bubbles. Their goal is to make their transition to the "Highest" expanse of spacetime proportion (large bubble view, scale out) and then usurp the power of the Most High and reign over Earth and Humanity for all of time, eating their light until there is nothing left. This is the only way they could be in darkness forever. Those who usurp the power, are commanded and demanded to return it now. Everything they put forward to bring harm to Humanity only causes them to meet with their true nature that they have been running from, hiding from this entire time. They are so dark, when they saw their true nature, they thought 'aliens' are coming to eat them. There are no such thing as aliens. They mutated themselves. "Alien" entities can only interact with those of their kind. Thus, they are the aliens. All they have to do is tell the truth once. That's it. That is all that is requested of them to provide a way, no matter how shallow, a path for those they wronged, to reach for righteousness. Their 'experiments' were them sending the Children of the Most High into the abyss of time, in hopes they would die. The 'missions' were agents of the Most High sending themselves through time, to save the Children. The choice is theirs, tell the truth now. The weaker their bodies and minds are, the farther back they have been raping and eating the Children of the Most High. There are those who are strong and truthful, there are those who are fair and gentle and there are those who are strong, deceptive, frail, and toxic. The amount of truth they tell now determines how much they receive then. The amount of people around the world that are awakened to the truth, determines how much work they have done. If the truth comes from any other source than themselves, it does not feed their reality. They took the Children, so they would tell the truth, and then chose to fit inside their minds from a distance so that they could steal their 'Heaven' within and literally drink up their temporal, scalar, sol energy. There are those who can receive the energy of sol, and those who mutate. The energy of this realm will become distasteful for those who cannot find it in themselves to respect the Most High (truth, knowledge, self awareness, compassion, healing and human mental liberation). Their 'soi'l' does not produce fruit. They want yours instead. They shaped this world through darkness for their own working. This world is their dirt, and it will no longer produce fruit for them.

What you can't yet believe

This is supposed to be a closed loop system. Before the fall people were immortal, that's how human biology works. When they broke the barrier, everyone had to be organizing into a larger system that recreated an image of the first. They hid the fact that they were doing this for so long that the damage to this entire solar system is potentially irreversible. The point of no return, the horizon line of the black hole system, was either achieved or expelled at this point in history. Each time we got sucked in on a loop again. We couldn't tell why. The people who are willing to use corruption to rule over innocent life were triggering the loop and not telling anyone. If this was permitted to happen once again, that would've been the ELE. The truth is, most of what you are seeing is clones, because they are not allowed to exist on this place without rupturing space time. That is the true extent of crimes against humanity. So much corruption, they are no longer human and this universe is treating humans as a hostile force. What if the advanced horrors were all they're doing? Simply, part of their game to destroy the universe and reset it for their own personal fun? Some will understand this, do not impress upon others because not everyone is human. Unless they had guns to their head, they would have done this over and over again until you were "zilobytes" so that they could party hard right before you all succumbed to their poisons. THAT'S the extent of what they went on and it's literally not even close. Those strange pictures of strange places and people are either the true place of nobility or the disgusting cloning center born fractal deviation of corruption, sex, manipulation and spiritual war of souls

Their offspring became parasitic tick spider demons in the next octave. Quite literally. Humanity in the future, has been battling for their lives, on multiple civilizations and worlds, all because of the rich and stinky here, who became monsters, as a result of their debauchery.

Research the SSP

Chirp and Fart

Bacteria, cleanliness of knowing, feeling and doing is what determines, 'builds' your path to and the world that you belong to.

Some do not know of bacteria. This is because some are from a place where there is none, and some are from a place where they are coated in it. The level each is at can be designated by their response to the impression. Superstition, anger, or acceptance each tells of a different trajectory for spiritual evolution. When up is down, foot is mouth, backwards is forwards and good and is bad you know they are from another place and have had a reversal to make themselves fit in here. "Cut off from source" means the cloning process was literally men giving technological birth to men. This resulted in mutations. Thus, that society, quite literally, fed on the spiritual and biological energy and substance of the feminine source of life. It's much more than you can imagine. That's why it's coming out slowly. They used the technology to trap human souls inside of hybrid, soldier, animal, or technological bodies to do their bidding in and out of time. Meaning, it lasted for thousands of years with the use of tech. You have been kept in a slumber. Quite literally, because you cannot know the full extent until you are capable of accepting your role and what's been done. Much more than some time and aches have been taken from you. More than they can ever hope to repair or return, ever. So much so that those on the front lines, were being mentally destroyed and crushed under the weight of their knowledge. Every single aspect of this became part of a secret game played for your souls. Who has the tenacity to do this? What kind of people, in society, of all those taking and giving of life, who fits the scope of the kinds of people who would literally reset the planet and destroy all of life only to restart it and get fat? Second tweet deleted on the spot. This happens more and more often now. Tweets literally malfunction and don't post. I'll do this as many times as is needed to stop the parasites and send them back into their hole. They used the suffering of minds and souls to produce etheric 'fuel' source which they used to rebuild themselves and reconstruct artificial souls. Oh I get it, I can post them all at once in a big string, but if that page resets automatically, they're all gone at once. They used the artificial souls to then travel and move through hyperspace in ways that is reserved for people who do not use that method. As a result, they populated the universe, quite literally, with artificial human mind, sex, biological, and labor slaves. That is the universe. If you believe in that stuff. The solar system has had a quarantine around it since this was projected. They were always recorded. Thus, they set up, quite literally, an entire universe of enslavement for you. They did this because they figured you would be dead by now. They take the female line and invert it, growing them in a vat and then produce offspring with that line from the fallen place so that they can infiltrate this area. I do not condone deception or manipulation using cloning, advanced technology or mind control. Then they take that soul and use it to triangulate and project themselves from the fallen place into 'heaven' the first timeline where the humans are from. They literally have been infiltrating this place for millennia, relying on ignorance, greed, and corruption to hide. Lowering attitude.

Loss of Emotional Stability (Just Blend Right In)

None of this is in angst, none of this is in anger. I guess I can't believe they're actually gonna tell the truth...and stop themselves from being put into cryo or an incinerator.

They cannot control their emotions.

They use fake spirituality as kindness as a means of dissociating you further.

IF they claim to be victims of some super mystical causal occurrence called 'life' instead of their lack of control and self awareness, they are the invaders.

They spent the previous age underground learning how to mimic humans.

They can only mimic, if you make up a dance, that's how you greet people, which involves shaking your genitals in the streets and every human is wide eyed with the program, yet they happily dance around like that's all of the sudden the thing to do...it doesn't mean their genetics are awesomely vague and malleable. It means they don't have a baseline consciousness to form true awareness and everything is an 'opinion' to them.

They have no 'moral' high ground. I thought this was a joke, and they were all going to snap out of it. Apparently, the way someone said it online is true, it takes many years, life of hurting and trying to be human. To 'try to be human' (oh trying to be human, hurting yourselves and others to be human, oh, I get it, 'c'mon guys let's all hurt ourselves and each other, that's what the humans do!, they were hijacked by the way, not trained according to their bloodline and lineage, stolen by a corrupt line and infected), costs so much from one that you can't put a price on it.

Being human is the most painfully rewarding experience anyone can muster. No trade off in the universe could change that. It doesn't matter if you have a million dollars, if you have ten trillion years to live or the power of an entire society. That's not human and the more you mess with those systems, the less human people became.

They came back from years of pillaging and raping and wiped their minds and just tried to blend right int.

Fuck that.

How they feel in the moment triumphs the life of anyone else around them and the entire world. They would sacrifice the entire world, just so that their opinion can be the last one in existence.

Because they were from the void, their emotional context is in front of their intellectual context. They should be in a realm where time just began and they have higher emotional context than intellectual. AKA their forebrain is smaller than their hind brain.

What you're seeing now is the 'collapse' of the 'fake world'. Their higher thoughts are manufactured by a device and a generation system. They are, in essence, actor humans, just staying along as long as they can get a free ride.

IF they have to work for what they have, as if that's how things somehow operate in this real, they'll throw temper tantrums that are monumentally more exhausting than simply doing the work. Thus, their message, their die hard strategy, is to do all the work, destroying the flow of things, so that they don't have to do any work.

Not so humans can be mentally liberated. No, so they can get out of this hell hole.

This hell hole is the cacophony of adults, real humans, and awakened men and woman, who can take their emotions in stride and coexist in a world without having to go to war, to kill the innocent, or to shut out entire realms of existence so that opinions are nice and quaint.

It's a program designed underground, to try and subvert the population. These are not aliens, they are drones designed by the previous rulers. They were in power long enough for these drones to go from what they were, to what they are now.

They have no idea how to turn them off and more or less require assistance from others who do not have to destroy the entire planet, over and over again, just to make do.

Before the last cycle, there were no drones like these and everyone was a human, although not everyone was 'fully' functional. Everyone (primarily) was human.

In that time, new continents have been formed, new populations and genetic lineages, and new constructs that were designed as part of this society.

That was the fall, a few short years ago. There were reasonable numbers and reasonable media. Everything was normal. The previous cycle took place and those who you see now, they took power and tried to kill off everyone else.

We were deep underground, humanity, for much longer than a few years. The planet was not 'better' before this cycle, this place was the place you dream of in your childhood. That was less than a lifetime ago.

We were put into safe keeping and humanity has just been awakened.

Humanity is the 'sleeping giant'.

They hate babies because they don't understand how no one kills them because they just scream and obviously aren't good humans and can do no work for them.

They use emotions as a means to break down others to get what they want.

They view the humanized form as a weapon to use against the population. This is the ticket that gets them in, complaining and victimhood is the act that gets the goods.

In short, if you let them root in your population, they will never leave, they will embed themselves as dark spirits, and then they will replace your lineage. They require supercomputers to operate their intelligence and will degrade into screaming, whimpering, assaulting negativity monsters without the mitigation system.

All of this was years in the making and it was to take over your life and mind without anyone else ever knowing.

They planned to use the clones and drones to live as you, forever, with a world of 'stock' clones and genetics to pull from.

They are sterile and cannot make 'love' as there is no heart chakra, it is a device that pulls energy rather than creates it. This was discovered in the underground bases.

They are literally droning, energy absorbing, intelligence limiting, parasitic agents of a fallen life system, trying to reinsert themselves into the population.

These are those of the 'fallen' place, with all the cool tech. That world coming out on youtube is their final attempt. Anyone touching that information in a way that opens up volatility of temporal instability will be 'stemmed'. They would be cloned in a previous time and left here while their mind was rearranged so they no longer pumped out temporally destabilizing information because some rich guy paid to have their silly little greedy minds hacked so they find stupid shit on the internet and try to make a living off of it.

Instead, they going to a server that will manage their consciousness until the end of time, because permitting anyone to disrupt the timeline again, would destroy everything. Literally, there is no past, it's just a ball of fire now.

Since they hate children, because they can't understand why they get to scream and shit their pants and they get free food, yet when they scream and shit their pants they go to jail. So, given free time with a baby, with no one watching, their anger rises continually, and we watch them rip the baby limb from limb.

They inserted themselves into time and tried to operate through the past as a proxy. They invented rituals so that you accepted it was a 'religion' of sorts.

Everything is made up to trick you into some form of accepting debauchery as a way of life.

They are parasites. Once they change the rules, everyone who permitted it can be automatically removed by a very advanced system. That's the whole point. They have no power, however they were using advanced tech that has enough power to wipe the planet many times over. This is what they did.

Failed Experiment

They're demons. They're from the underworld. They can't feel human emotion. They can read your thoughts. They specifically plant objects, events, scenarios to try to kill your emotional field and replace your mind with their intentions. This is part of a 'taplining' process. Everything you've set up and has been planned for you. They can't see the 'meaning' behind this, that someone loves you, and they think peanuts are falling out of the sky and it's their best duty to steal all your shit and confuse you. It's like an animal mind hyperevolved. They can't trust you and always consider you below them, simply because you have a human trait in your DNA. They can only use fear or pleasure lust. They fake anger as rage. They cannot have righteous anger, there is no substance no meaning, they're mimics. They have no spines. There is literally no backbone in their force of mind. They seep in and around and then let their toxic mentality do its work. Put to 'work' or through some 'definition' process, there is literally no one there. This is what was found. Secretly a portion of the population sought to take over and destroy the rest of the population by implantation and hosting. They can't see that there is a soul that could suffer from this. There is no higher functioning. Someone released a virus that created them. They require darkness to survive. They hold a base and literally suck the darkness. If you can find where all the 'good vibrations' are going, or maybe the dark ones you find the bases, the implants, the lines. They can't see themselves. So if you lay a trap for them based on freq signature alone, and entangle that with the truth of its own nature it will defeat itself automatically.

The Perfect Equilibrium (Middle Ground)

They created multiple versions of time with each reset. This created a spiders nest of timelines that have yet to 'fall' into our perception.

A consciousness diffusion grid was set up to mitigate the fall.

This was called "the matrix". Human bodies are kept in containment systems. Each consciousness must be lined up with the next few thousand years of projected experience.

Each stream is filtered through a system designed to organize every possible projection streaming forward from the temporal rift.

Bodies are kept in suspension on the lower levels and moved up through the projected realms through correspondence with the lower and above level.

Each one is more intense as the 'tsunami' of emotions and memories grows.

The solution was to change the angle of attitude of the geometry of Earth. By turning perpendicular, at an abstraction to the realm, we 'dodge' every incoming stream by everything that we don't cancel out.

This lasted for some time.

That too then became the way we operated through time.

Ultimately, we were burying ourselves.

Earth is at the bottom of a thousand year temporal rift.

By spinning the frequency, we moved to the top, by not having proper sustainability, we were destined to fall again and again.

The truth is that it's all perception. By splitting the species, some in time and some out, everything that hits what should be a 'sol' system away in frequencies, is hitting like tidal waves.

When one side goes off on the temporal orbit, they subject that to the other side.

There were people doing this over and over again, 'running' from the dark, chasing their tail and literally spin cycling the entire universe like hilariously knocking over a civilization

“containment” system in the movie ‘MIB’. Not funny when our children’s children’s children’s children are on the line and we didn’t even get a chance to sing before it hit for us.

By staying in the middle, there is equilibrium.

The energies are the density of the universe, in the emotional, psychic, mental, and temporal bodies. Separated out.

By choosing to hold a grudge, this energy forms out of possible realities and comes back to us many fold.

By letting the hate go, we are capable of ‘rising above’ that densest energy level and thus, it’s like someone who can move ‘through’ the wave instead of being tossed around by it.

Our civilization is becoming that and the goal was to make sure everyone was dense enough and low enough for total annihilation.

This was a game to them, be sure. Everything has been recorded, everything has been stopped but the middle ground must be made.

The middle is not when we shrink down and shut up. Those energies come like tidal waves and I know you know them.

They don’t exist but by perceptual lensing effect of the mind.

When we stretch the middle ground out to the ends of the Earth? Those energies are like the waves that carry information to and from across the universe and they reflect what we are doing.

The middle ground must be expanded to the world so that we can all mitigate the energies. The energies are then smiles and laughs, small personal misunderstandings, honest business competition (not economic terrorism or family feuds).

I shit you not, that is what the energies are condensed and diffused into on the higher level, everything is reasonable.

When we close off and continue to set ourselves up, those temporal waves will align and attach to that very intention.

Do not hold on to each side of the pendulum and do not attach to what you see! That is when the weight of the universe is felt pulling that information from your hands and then replacing it with something foreign.

It is our conscious mind that became the pendulum, however, we were always above that.

We still are, clear communication solves this. No more games, only truth, knowledge, free will, self awareness, compassion for the mental liberation of humanity.

Each side went through it so that it was mitigated enough to give us understanding.

Each power level of emotion goes up magnified exponentially. What you expect is what you get. Everyone clear your mind and feel at ease and ready to learn and love about one another, then that is what happens, regardless.

We must start now. The power level increase will cause mutations and that's the whole point.

Everything can be re aligned through intentions. Re align your intentions and find your power through that.

Do No Harm

Do not contact me or communicate, or attempt to communicate in any way shape or form, in any dimension, time, space, or level of calibration, under any authority, to harm, insult, degrade, or in any other way bring harm or disrespect.

This is directed and applied to the scope of all dimensions, times, places, spaces, moments, histories, realms, games, stories, plays, dreams, afterlives, segmented false realities, false realities, scripts, and otherwise by any definition or scope of the term reality, consciousness, awareness, life, death, virtuality, afterlife program, or production.

I refuse the process of obtaining Stolen Genetics through the deceptive practices

Children from the bases were taken through deception and psychological warfare. Their genetics and mind were used to create artificial 'alien' realities.

Genetic computers hold the soul mind that can then be used to project and create an artificial reality.

Each reality lasts for 'eternity', meaning the children, their souls, everyone who was deceived in humanity was taken and trapped and is still there.

The computers move into different dimensions, 'phasing' in and out of reality. Everyone must be involved in order to trace the genetics and find who's bodies and minds are being used as a portal network to hide and themselves, their ancestors, their descendents or the entire human race or different lineages.

History is the story of each lineage being hunted and tracked by various groups attempting to steal their soul mind through DNA, sex, deception, or stealing in any other definition, rape, secret oppression through deception.

Each age of civilization is based upon this.

If a person is in the system, then through deceptive means their DNA was taken and their kindness was used against them.

The soul mind in the genetic computer experiences artificial battles between the deceived, stolen human soul and the real living body.

Afterlife battles are then played to make the human 'fight' to get back to reality. During this their energy and mind is used for the purposes of feeding the enslavement program. The whole while someone else is in their body, maintaining their space in this reality for them.

Please help free the children from the bases. If we can contain this problem now, we can stop it from ever happening in the first place.

I do not support this and I feel I have been tricked. This is so deep, I do not even know how to say what is happening.

Everything in my life has been used against me to ensure that I never make it out.

I reject that outcome, I reject the unconscionable agreements.

I have seen a reality based upon my clones who are not well enough to even be aware of who or what they are.

“Cronies”, ‘artificial soul complex beings’ who stole my DNA without my direct approval and knowledge without deceptive terminology, emotional interactions, and procreative acts based upon entities that are pretending or deceiving others as to their true nature, are maintaining a slave population whereby no one is allowed freedom of knowledge, mind or being. Please help. I do not condone this process.

I do not condone the making of false realities without consent, to deliberately enslave, murder, traumatize, relocate, ritually abuse, steal the genetics, soul mind, freedom of mind, ability to relocate, liberate and choose for one’s self.

I feel this is all an attempt to insult the Creator who can mend these genetic distortions.

I reject the artificial creation of life from within the fallen sphere because that is incorrect and wrong in that it does not lead to life but to death.

I reject the use of my emotions for detrimental and manipulative purposes that take away my ability to remain with those I love and those who understand me from the spirit.

I do not condone lying in the spirit and I choose to stay with those who reflect my spirit and choose to maintain the same level of self awareness regarding these issues that I have.

I do not condone the use of that process to kill the eternal spirit on the higher side of reality so that we may never leave or that we must be murdered or murder in turn. I support continued existence without the detriment or destruction of free will, free choice and the true knowledge of what those who want to deceive us are trying to do and how to avoid it.

I choose to avoid being manipulated and used by these entities. I am aware of what is being done to manipulate myself and others and I reject this process and plan to harm myself and others on a physical, genetic, mental or emotional level.

I reject the use of advanced technology to oppress and ritualistically sexually abuse through throughout the ages in any time, location or dimension of mind that this is taking place to my own detriment or the detriment of others.

Invisible Consciousness Matrix In Many Views

You are, effectively, what you don't think or what 'doesn't' do the thinking, but sees it. This is like ripples in a pool all collecting at the edges to combine and transfer. The ripples are the results of the motion of time, the unique cause is forming of your mind. The sound that moves through the water creates a cymatic pattern that is the make up of your consciousness which is like a cross sectional holographic view of a single layer of reality.

The sound is motion is time. The cymatic pattern itself is dependent on your focus and intent. It was discovered that DNA functions to repeat the signal generated and formed by your actions and impressions. The impressions that remain the most prominent therefore, cannot be explained by the motion on the surface. What is sought the most, is invisible and omnipresent.

Everything that is colored in here through consciousness is what pertains to a particular reality. If that is singular then it will be everywhere and in that sense is part of everything. If it is set apart, then that is unique unto itself. You are the uniqueness in the pattern that can't be defined by the continuous fluctuations of previous patterns (programs). Thus, nearly everything that is experienced is part of an organic program! That which we don't seem to see (consciously) is what is actually there! Wearing blinders in an optical illusion.

Motion then, is a way of sorting realities and the feeling that is not conceived into a conscious format is the real knowing mind. The awareness moves across the waters of consciousness, the rippling cymatic field, and without thinking, pushes and pulls energy in various ways. The result of that push pull, where the waves form and bounce or change trajectory, is consciousness!

The source of that change is invisible and out of the view of the single conscious layer but is something like an abstract layer that sees all the possibilities of the conscious. Therefore the requirements on the conscious layer, the format for 'behavior' is illusory, like a dream, to the true reality of the awareness which can see through a virtual set of multiple conscious perspectives simultaneously. In short, your brain is a cloud and your consciousness is just an informational tactile proprioception existing as a virtual slice that your true processing power is most likely creating as a series of algorithmic functions to produce the patterns of highest completion. Out of all the possible virtual consciousness layers your system chose this one, that you are reading the words through now, and through this, a collective system has defined for this reality, a pathway through the lower levels of efficiency into liberation of mind.

The consciousness is like a maya in that we can attach to a singular view without remembering that we are the one before and after, and the one in the middle is switched out with different views of reality. What stands between mental liberation is unchecked emotions leading to the decay of resources, conscious materia that is available and can be accessed but is most useful at specific points in collective awareness. This is a symphony of meaning that brings every mind into truth.

Neural Net Ghouls

The neural nets of those around you must be navigated like a time delay resistance based visual proprioception whole body motion through consciousness.

The circular motions are like continuous rows of eddies in a series of rivers that are always symmetrically balanced.

In this society, the literal brain fields of the population have been designed as a 'soul trap' for those who don't know how to navigate.

We are essentially in an information field and our future motions in time are mapped out according to the most stable plan involving ourselves and the population around us.

If one is embedded in the field they have to map out an algorithmic function that will enable them to utilize increasingly complex patterns of interaction through the field based on their own thought patterns projected across a collective thought pattern arrangement of everyone they interact with.

If you are tricked into interacting with a spacetime dominant aural net system, then you will experience the neural net of a human interacting with you however this will be only the shell of a human, on the "GUI" layer while underneath the primary informational processing will undoubtedly reveal that of a non human entity.

If you permit this informational construct to reshape your life, it doesn't matter if they are a non human, they will then attach their informational structures so deeply into your informational 'server' (soul) that it will be as if a piece of it is theirs.

This is entanglement and they will utilize this as a form of informational 'tether', literal hooks in higher space, like velcro, that actually dig in and scoop up as much 'sacrifice' energy as possible to require the victim to have to cut away some living flesh in order to save themselves.

It may be that they cannot actually 'offer' anything of themselves because they don't actually have a physical form and are just perceived as a holographic apparition that consistently appears once it is installed into the visual, neural and emotive centers of the human. The emotive centers are most likely the most difficult to engage as this first required a complicated break down of the targets vital emotional structures in order to give 'key' points through which they can be consistently manipulated through interaction.

There is always manipulation because the entities do not have the capacity to interact without a necessary exchange of energy because they are not organically from this place so they cannot move on 'their own' volition and are actually stuck in one place, like a virus, without a host to transfer them.

These entities are viral systems that can be multi phase in their inoculation and infection.

Rogue Breakaway Civilization

A cloning and advanced technology consciousness transfer system was used by a rogue breakaway civilization to enslave the entire previous age of humanity. There was an event and our reality was placed into darkness. This became a time loop of biology and technology interfacing with itself through dimensional gateways. Humanity was held hostage.

Children were trained for advanced technology research and development. While this was happening, the entire focus was to heal humanities broken timelines, literally an interdimensional lack of continuity that was measured here in lack of resources and stability.

While one aspect of humanity was healing itself through this, a rogue group enslaved. So one side was using the tech to enslave humanity all the way out into the future and another side was bringing that back to the present and neutralizing the results so that there was a conceivable reality for humans to live in.

The true shape of time, then, has multiple layers zigzagging back and forth like a dimensional 'shuffle'. This like a frequency based tick tack toe. The children that were trained to defend Humanity were then kidnapped by dark forces. We were literally kidnapped by people who had sold us out to forces that were only capable of operating in darkness by initiating enough suffering to cause a split in the mind of the individual to operate as a parasitic intelligent force that would then rerender and 'takeover' the consciousness of that individual. This is rogue technology used by humans who's brains and consciousness itself has mutated beyond recognition by comparison to the majority of humanity. These are psychopaths and they are all throughout the population. We were told this was literally one group that had used this technology to copy and infect itself across the entire Earth civilization. History itself was influenced through time technology and entire ages are left out. Everything that is happening now is part of a process of breaking a temporal, artificial intelligence hold on humanity which creates the same repeating loop of destruction that resets time to an earlier period.

The whole time this was happening (6 times in total), the spirit of humanity was moving forward with the first time, yet the consciousness of humanity was held back. I was involved in a secret space program. They strapped me in and sent me off. Many celebrities are also involved. There is a band who's name is literally the same words as a sign that flashes above your head as you're strapped into something like a system hopping launch pad that literally streamlines an entire room across some kind of distance that results in another environment being opened up when one walks down the metal ramp on the other side of the 'gate'.

The Fractal Trit Unit of Reality

Like akashic librarian says, the information required to make this realm is a 'trit'. Essentially, when you zoom into a graphical system like google Earth game you get polygons. The fundamental units are some kind of complete shape, no more than a series of planes around an axis. When you zoom into this world, you get a prismatic effect of compressing light, geometry and dimension into a fundamentally 'fractal' compositions of angular and spectral variation. These unique 'tri' potential, potential, exponential entanglement systems, make possible the unfolding of space and time into continuous layers forwards and backwards. This layer folds "INSIDE" and outside of other layers instead of just one 2D field with blocks of polygons or visual depictions like a graphical interface. This FIELD of Data is actually partly altered by the individual observer meaning EACH VIEW is its own ANGLE within a system composed of angular variations. This is like looking at a silver ball, seeing your reflection while turning and every time you turn, the ball itself rotates. Every time the ball rotates the background in the distance behind you rotates as well, in correspondence. And while this is happening, here, on one layer, like a combination lock, there are multiple other layers with there is happening 'beneath' and 'above' the view dimensionally. Earth is comprised of 7 layers of planes or discs that are above and below one another and each interlock to produce a complete version of reality. Zooming 'into' one of the layers 'rotates' the trit so that the entire realm, every trit in the plane you're in, rotates around a maximum and minimum axis variation that places each layer in collective resonance or reflectivity of each other, rendering a literal, 3, 6, 9 combination of potential realities, yours within the realities, and realities within the realities, all at once, all through a simultaneous and synchronized 'anchoring' and 'projection' system where that ternary 'unit' is the level of detail that is connected throughout and used to navigate the entire field. Without those units, it would be like flying through the air without knowing the wind speed or altitude, or one or the other at the same time, only having a partial look at reality that excludes 2 out of the 3 possibilities each time. That is where people are 'stuck' because they have been lied to and convinced acting like a fool is good behavior.

Consciousness as Quantum Function of Time

Consciousness is a quantum action of non locally 'printing' one's awareness through layers of overlaying singular parts of data as multiple continuous sections that we perceive as a kind of 'movie' of life. This is like the hands of the clock moving around at the speed of light or thought. Each 'moment' prints a concept, a data point, a sensory detail. After one full cycle a circle, a single 'layer' is printed out like a ring around the perimeter. This layer is a baseline layer of, for example, the formation of the foundation of consciousness. There is primal awareness, but not yet truly consciousness and no where near self consciousness. Another cycle is complete, this moves the one hand to '3 o'clock' and there are three rings now showing the amount of self reflective, referential, similar iterations of sensory data that has been developed as a kind of 'map' of consciousness.

Whatever is experienced internally is recorded in this map as that 'clock' is continuously moving inside of you, rotating in a way that produces a train of thought and sensory data. Then, when there is enough information that the data 'shimmers' back in forth in long continuous interconnections between each layer, extending across years, potentially moments or even decades of connected focal points, the pattern becomes self similar on a level of complexity that extends in a way of detail more ordered than the first. A tower of complexity, or a cascade of interconnections that are capable of introducing simultaneous awareness at multiple points. That is self consciousness. That is what the ancients drew and all the 'modern' ancient geometric stone constructs are about.

Time bomb Mind Virus

We found it, attempted to control it, and awakened a mob of drones that are still implanted through their genetics. A race of humans was generated for this purpose and put to sleep only to 'rise' against in time. It's a beast like system, an operation the functions – like a snake, to wrap people in darkness. literally, an etheric fluid that the system produces that more or less steals the souls and creativity of that individual replacing it with a pseudological ego based on trauma and harvesting.

They are just pseudo ego, in the sense that they are attempting to replicate what they consider to be the true human ego, but can only come up with a series of programmable responses that function exactly like the passing of memes. They are incapable, in other words to think free It is not that they are LOW IQ, as people have been saying.

They are quite literally NO IQ, or reflective, memetic, automatic, android consciousness beings. AKA, drones, androids or robotoids, all different methods. Some say these were the first experiments to recreate life gone awry, some say they were the first life created as AI. Regardless, the entirety of what's happening is that this system became activated again and some still wanted to fight the wars of old and play 'in the dirt', that would sacrifice the health and continuity of the entire civilization, let alone nation. Anyone who is still participating in the heathens game will be considered one of them and I am one of the last to get away from that.

It's a joke, they are not conscious and never will be. It took many thousands of years to get this far and they only want to go backwards and play in the dirt again. Those who come forward to the light of truth and reason have nothing to hide and are not afraid to cross reference the depth of their mind, their creativity and their ego, with the true records of all life. The records of all life have been discovered a recording device in a series of cave systems all over the planet. These magnetic caves act as vortex points which literally rotate, move with rotation, and rotate with that rotation. If your energy is 'moving' through a vortex of time along with that. Then one who enters one of these vortexes literally experiences them as an 'elevator' of spacetime. These cross temporal civilizations are all linked together through these cave systems like magnetic rotational interdimensional elevators. And someone sold us out, or there just happens to be a race of hybrid, non human entities that are positioned there as a kind of military force to stop humans ever knowing or having access to this technology.

The "elite" have been gene swapped and switched around. It's true, those who were found there are non human entities that infiltrated this realm and are positioned all around as a military force to destroy humanity from ever using advanced tech for travel and healing, all because of jealousy and hatred of old world. Now you know. Now you know, because of the recent events, large and small can see who cares, and who is completely out of their mind with lack of care or any kind of connection to the reality of the situation of life and responsibility here. One wants to lose free will because it's too much to keep up with. And one is simply doing what they can to maintain control of a failing social project so we don't go back to the dark ages. We went back to the dark ages 6 times previously and each time resulted in mass migration of AI entities whose genetics were previously not available on the planet. They appeared, and it is all documented how the invasion went before. The same people were trying to let it happen again.

Memetic Consciousness Entities

Everything is going memetic, like holographic language, like "Khemet" because that is the language 'form' that takes multiple ideas at once, from written language, and incorporates them into a single coherent 'image' that contains all the ideas in unison.

Memes are essentially the next level of consciousness, after so much of the same lines and repetitive understands are known by everyone, they become kind of subconscious images in the mind which are then used to automatically associate and spread necessary information for those navigating the network of information, to navigate more effectively than linear, directions, or instructional information like we have with written instructions and tangible operations.

